UNITED STATES WILL RUSH MEN

"Last Reserves" to Crush Prussian Military Machine Are to Be Quickly Transported.

TONNAGE IS AVAILABLE

Considerations of Gomemrce and Trade Will Be Laid Aside for Transporting Troops and Munitions to the Battle Front.

Washington, April 30.—The United States is to furnish the "last reserves" that will give the final decision against the Prussian military machine. This important announcement regarding the war was made here.

"Men, men, more men!" on the western front in the present great crisis of the war is the cry from all quarters that has been ringing in the ears of the American people.

"Ships, ships, more ships!" for the transportation and maintenance of American troops abroad is the echo of that appeal that has stirred the United States Shipping board from day to day.

Two Million Men to France.

The decision has now been reached. The supreme effort is to be made to get troops abroad. Considerations of commerce and trade have been indefinitely put aside. The business of winning the war is the only buisness that will be recognized from this time on.

Two million men and more are going to France as soon as they can be loaded on transports and shipped away.

It is not a matter for a shipbuilding program or of negotiations for tonnage. The necessary tonnage is now under the control of the United States, and to the last ton it will be devoted to the transportation of troops and war supplies unil the "last reserves" of American troops have been placed in fighting position on French soil.

Congress will be asked to authorize an army of 3,000,000 men available for service abroad and a reserve army at home, both for home protection and to make up the wastage at the front.

Ready to Vote to Five Million.

Congress is ready to vote an army of five million men. It is waiting the estimates of the war department. The war department has been waiting upon the shipping board. The board promised at an important conference early in the week, to supply all the shipping that would be required to take every available man to the front in France.

Quartermaster General George W. Goethals, in supreme command of the transport of troops and supplies, later furnished the Shipping Board with an estimate based upon the number of men the United States was prepared to send to the front. It caused the officials of the board to pause, but now the members have made their answer. They will meet the shipping requirements of the estimate of the number of troops supplied by Gen. Goethals. It is the last words. It is reported that the estimate is in excess of 2,000,000 men; in fact, that it is close to 2,500,000 men.

New Plan Is Advanced.

In its announcement the Shipping Board puts forward an entirely new plan. It is estimated that two and and one-half deadweight tons of shipping will supply a soldier's needs in France for a year. Departmental estimates have been as high as six or eight tons of shipping for each soldier.

The Shipping Board has tonnage enough afloat under its absolute direction and control to transport the necessary number of troops to France to make up a force of 2,000,000 American fighters without waiting upon new shipping, and to sustain them after they are landed in France.

ARRANGE NAVAL PLANS

High Officers of Allied Nations Confer at Paris.

American Warships Are Expected to Play An Important Part in Future Operations.

Washington, April 29.—Conclusions reached at the inter-Allied naval conference at Paris are expected to be followed by important operations by the Allied fleets.

A formal program in which definite and important parts are assigned to the American naval contingent abroad is an expectation of the naval authorities at Washington. This contingent now includes all types of craft, from submarine chasers and destroyers to dreadnoughts of the most powerful class.

Rear Admiral N. R. Twining, chief of staff to Vice Admiral Sims, is representing the United States in the Paris deliberations.

Invented Big Gun.

At one time Admiral Twining was chief of the bureau of naval ordnance here. It was he who drew the plans of the giant 16-inch rifle that is to be a prominent feature of all American dreadnoughts of the future.

There is an air of restfulness in naval battle betokening big things to come. A naval official of high rank declared that the recent exploits of the British in the Cattegat, at Zeebrugge and Ostend and in the Adriatic, may be regarded as the forerunner of comprehensive work for the extermination of the enemy U-boats. The 15th of July is fixed among officers at the navy department as the date when the submarine menace will have been practically obliterated.

Stockholm, April 30.—Reports from Finland say the new Russian government will refuse to recognize the Bolshevik peace treaty with Germany and rumors persist that the monarchy is again in existence.

The rumors would be disregarded here were it not for the fact that a report from Vasa, Finland, last Thursday declared that the transportation of Russian civilian prisoners had had to be suspended "because of current disorders in Russia."

ACCUSED OF SEDITION

Millionaire Railway President Is Is Under Arrest.

William Edenborn Is Being Held By Department of Justice Agents for Investigation.

New Orleans, April 30.—Charged with violation of the espionage act, William Edenborn, president of the Louisiana Railway and Navigation company, and a naturalized citizen of German birth, was arrested by department of justice agents at Shrewsbury, La.

The arrest followed a meeting here of the National Security league, Louisiana section, at which resolutions were adopted characterizing alleged utterances by Edenborn at an Americanization meeting of citizens of German descent last Friday night as "seditious treason against the United States and its Allies."

Taken Away Secretly.

Edenborn, who is 70 years old, and reputed to be many times a millionaire, was taken into custody as he stepped from a train of the road of which he is president. He was removed to a place the location of which the federal agents refused to divulge.

The resolution adopted by the Security league committee quoted Edenborn as having said at the Americanization meeting:

"There has been much talk of Germany coming over here and attacking the United States. We need have no fear that Germany will ever attack the United States.

Hits "Certain Prime Minister."

"It would take a maritime nation to do that because America is surrounded by water. America can look to other countries for any possible attacks in the future. Edenborn, founder of the American Steel and Wire company, now a part of the United States Steel corporation, has been referred to as "Father of the wire industry in America," having erected mills and produced wire in 1870, three years after he came to the United States from his birthplace, Westphalia, Prussia.

High Cattle Prices Accompany High Beef Prices

If consumers are to pay less for beef, live-stock raisers naturally will receive less for cattle.

If farmers are paid more for live stock, consumers will necessarily pay more for meat.

Swift & Company pays for cattle approximately 90 per cent of the price received for beef and by-products. The remaining 10 per cent pays for dressing, freight to market, operation of distributing houses, and in most cases, delivery to the retailer. Net profits also have to come out of this 10 per cent.

This margin cannot be squeezed arbitrarily without danger of crippling the only effective means of performing the complex service of converting cattle into meat and distributing this meat to the fighting forces and to consumers.

Swift & Company's net profit on beef during 1917 was only ¼ of a cent per pound. On all products, it was a little less than four cents on each dollar of sales. Complete elimination of these profits would not affect appreciably retail prices of meat, or farm prices of live stock.

Swift & Company will be glad to co-operate in devising methods that will improve conditions in the meat and live stock industry.

Big Red Cross Diamond.

One of the finest and largest diamonds in the world has been presented to the Red Cross sale by the Diamond syndicate of London. The stone, which is of the tint known as "pale canary" weighs 205 karats and is practically twice as large as the Kohinoor (106 karats), it is highly phosphorescent, and after brillian illumination emits the rays it has absorbed, thus becoming self-luminous in the dark.

The stone, which originally weighed 370 karats and was discovered in 1901 in the Des Beers mines in Griqueland West, has been cut in very original and beautiful form at Amsterdam, a feature of the cutting being that a Maltese cross is visible in the facets. This peculiarity is only shared by the Pitt diamond.

Some idea of its value may be gained from the fact that a yellow diamond of 86 karats, belonging to the crown jewels of Austria, is valued at £110,000, and from the model of this one which was shown recently is far inferior to the "Red Cross" diamond.—London Crdonicle.

Henderson.—Five fishermen were arrested here for illegal fishing in the Minnesota river. One was sentenced to 30 days, the rest paid $25 fines.

Melrose.—Governor J. A. A. Burnquist and Bishop Joseph Busch will be the speakers at a loyalty meeting to be held here Sunday, May 5.

Fairmont.—Livestock men of this county have started a movement for better stock by organizing the Martin County Livestock association. County Treasurer John Haeckel was elected president.

Minneapolis.—A conference of macaroni manufacturers of the United States will take place in Minneapolis July 8, 9 and 10, according to J. T. Williams, president of the National Macaroni Manufacturers' association.

Hibbing.—Captain David Owen Williams, commander of Battery B, 125th Field Artillery, Camp Cody, N. M., died in the army and navy hospital at Hot Springs, Ark., of Bright's disease. Every flag in Hibbing is at halfmast.

Red Wing.—Dr. E. J. Colberg, of the Swedish Lutheran church, was chosen at a meeting of the senior class of the high school to deliver the baccalaureate sermon to the graduates of 1918, in June. He addressed the class of 1917.

Waseca.—Lieutenant Bernald J. Gallagher, reported as missing in action March 29 in the war department's casualty list of April 20, is "safe and well," according to a cablegram just received from him by his father, B. M. Gallagher of this city.

Hastings.—Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Stuart of Hastings celebrated their 58th wedding anniversary here. They were married in 1860 and came to Minnesota seven years later and have resided here since. Mr. Stuart was for many years an architect and contractor.

Stillwater.—Failing in his attempt to enlist in the army or navy on account of his youth and afraid to return home after running away, Hollister Demo, 16 years old, Newport, Minn., who disappeared on April 11, was found in a shoe factory at Red Wing and brought home.

Minneapolis.—Homer C. Clark, vice chairman of the ninth district Liberty Loan committee estimates 800,000 as the minimum number of subscribers in the district to the third loan, compared with 621,770 in the second campaign. All figures are subject to later revision, Mr. Clark said.

St. Paul.—The proposal to unify telephone service and eliminate dual service in Minnesota is being generally indorsed by commercial clubs and other civic organizations and by independent telephone companies throughout the state, Chairman Ira B. Mills of the state railroad and warehouse commission, said.

St. Cloud.—All time freights which have been running over the Willmar division from and to St. Paul and Minneapolis have been routed over the Fergus Falls division for an indefinite period beginning Tuesday. This will throw a great deal more traffic through St. Cloud. The change is temporary and is necessitated by construction work on the Willmar line.

Jackson.—County Attorney Herbert Nicholas will submit to the State Safety commission the question of Iowa bootleggers obtaining liquor at Comfrey and hauling it acrss the line. Six men have been arrested, two in Jackson and four near the state line. It is said they had two automobiles loaded with liquor. Four of the prisoners, all of whom were from Spencer, Iowa, were turned over to federal authorities at Mankato. They are charged with attempting to take liquor into a dry state.

St. Paul.—The State Public Safety commission has refused to sanction the leases of state timber purchases for the storage of timber cut, but not removed before June 1, as the law requires. The statute specifically provides that all timber remaining on state lands on expiration of the cutting contracts shall revert to the ownership of the state, and pleas that railroad ties and other products affected are necessary to the prosecution of the war were deemed insufficient to warrant treatment of the plan as a military necessity.

Hastings.—The common council has raised the saloon license from $500 to $1,000. Hastings went dry two years ago. Recently it was voted wet. Under the old ordinance, when there were fifteen saloons, the $500 license was effective. The new restrictions allow only eight drinking places. [illegible]

Milaca.—The dates for the chautauqua season in Milaca for 1918 have been definitely fixed for June 15 to June 20 inclusive. [illegible]

Winona.—The quadrennial state convention of the Equitable Fraternal union was held here today with nearly 100 delegates attending.

East Grand Forks.—Three squads of the local home guard went to Tabor to act as military escort for the remains of John Palya, who served on the Mexican border.

Hastings.—Mrs. M. Gossing, a pioneer of Dakota county, died at her home here at the age of 78 years. She is survived by her husband and several sons and daughters.

New Richland.—A community service flag, bearing 50 stars, sold for $3,180 at a Red Cross auction sale here. The total proceeds of the sale were nearly $6,000. Henry Deutsch of Minneapolis made a stirring speech.

Sauk Rapids.—The county has voted bonds for $25,000 for road work this year. Three bridges will be built, one at the outlet of Little Rock in place of the old Gordon bridge, and the others at Maywood and Granite Ledge.

Moorhead.—Moorhead may become affiliated with the proposed Red Cross baseball league organized in this section. At a meeting of Moorhead fans the question was quite thoroughly discussed, and the local field is being canvassed to determine the financial support available.

Minneapolis.—The Minnesota Transfer Railway company handled during March a total of 1,361 cars loaded with immigrant movables of which Minnesota received 588; North Dakota, 229; Canada, 210, and Montana, 116. Minnesota made a substantial gain during the month.

Moorhead.—The Moorhead elementary department of the Minnesota Normal school, located here, has established an employment bureau. One of the leading reasons for the bureau is to furnish work for school children, after school hours. The bureau was successfully inaugurated.

St. Peter.—Oscar Nelson told the draft board that he should be exempted because of the care which his wife and baby needed. Mrs. Nelson said they needed care all right, but that Oscar had not supported them for 16 months. She recommended that they put her husband in the "shock troops."

Crookston.—Authorities are investigating the conditions under which a bomb filled with high explosives was placed in the Ada Milling company's building. The bomb was hidden in a suitcase found by workmen. It is believed a defective fuse saved the building from destruction. Manager Bodding said he thought the bomb had been set by some pro-German sympathizer.

Winona.—Investigation of a series of boxcar robberies in the Burlington railroad yards here recently resulted in the arrest of Joseph Cizewski, Peter Weaver and Joe Mlynozak of this city, charged with stealing and selling large quantities of food supplies consigned to the war department by a local packing house for use in the United States army in France, according to Chief of Police Huck.

St. Cloud.—Dr. E. F. Green of the state reformatory at St. Cloud, died at Walker of pulmonary tuberculosis. He was a recognized authority in this state on the Binet-Simon system. He applied it to every English-speaking inmate of reformatory and the plan worked out successfully because the man was not only judged by the crime he committed, but by conditions which prompted his act.

Minneapolis.—Gross margins for retail coal dealers of Minnesota outside the three large cities have been fixed by an order of Judge J. F. McGee, federal fuel administrator for Minnesota, made immediately effective. The margins allowed are 25 to 40 cents a ton higher than those permitted to city dealers. The explanation is that small town dealers have a smaller volume of business and hence a greater percentage of "overhead" costs.

Winona.—After continued signaling to Engineer William Mann, 52, to proceed after a stop at North Tomah, Wis., and receiving no response, a brakeman on a Northwestern way freight investigated to find the engineer dead in his cab, and the fireman shoveling coal, unconscious of the death of his engine mate. The train was brought to Winona by the fireman and the body of the engineer was sent to his home at Baraboo, Wis., where a wife and children survive.

Minneapolis.—Consumers in Minnesota are buying more potatoes as a result of the federal food administration's "potatriot" campaign, officials said, but the marketing of potatoes has fallen off, due, it is supposed, to the fact that farmers are busy with their spring planting. "Potatoes must go onto the market now," said J. A. Vye, of the food administration, "and must get to the tables of Minnesota homes if they are not to be wasted, and if we are to save the wheat for which the potatoes will be substituted."

International Falls.—Hammond Astils, alleged assailant of Floss Cody, Rogers school teacher, was run down by armed citizens and deputy sheriffs. He was arrested at the home of a man named Erickson, about 40 miles from Little Fork, after eluding his pursuers for nearly a week. He was placed in the county jail after making a futile attempt to escape.

Democracy and Liberty Undergoing the Supreme Test

Americans Face Great Duties in Providing Food Products and Aiding Our Soldiers and Our Allies in War.

(By HAPSBURG LIEBE of the Vigilantes.)

Democracy and Liberty are not always synonymous, perhaps, but they mean the same to us now, certainly. A military autocracy, after more than forty years of thorough and cunning preparation, a great part of it by means of weapons of our own invention, has thrust our Democracy and our Liberty into the crucible to test it out, to see whether it would hold good. They did not believe it would hold good, those Prussian militarists; they do not believe it yet. We believe it will, but our belief has been made up heretofore largely of egotism and blindness.

Democracy and Liberty, the world's, with our own, is now undergoing the supreme test. Of course there is dross, and it is coming to the top rapidly. There is inefficiency, mismanagement, grave mistakes that even our national leaders have made; there has been some graft, no doubt; there has been some playing of politics; there has been profiteering, but all this is only the dross floating to the top of the crucible. We were never a military nation, you know. The biggest of our mistakes, I think, was in our shipbuilding program, but we were never a shipbuilding nation, either. However, this dross is all being cleared away.

Fully 80 per cent of the winning of this war depends upon us here at home. We have three great duties upon us now as we never had them upon us before—those of us who can grow food products must grow more than ever; we must all aid in the saving of foods, and especially wheat, meats, and sugar; and all of us who can, though it may necessitate some sacrifice, must buy these new Liberty bonds. Properly carried through, these three great duties will prove the overbalancing power in the winning of the war, beyond a doubt. The growing of great crops and the conservation of food, and the buying of Liberty bonds, quickly mean enough food for our soldiers and our allies, and enough ships to carry it. If we fail in this the die of destiny is quite likely to fall with its skull-and-crossbones upward for us; if we do not fail, then Democracy and Liberty will come out of the crucible covered with glory. The result is inevitable.

WHO FIGHTS AT HOME? SAY I!

(By ROLAND G. USHER, of the Vigilantes.)

We cannot fight a war and still do business as usual. This means you and not other people. You might as well come to it first as last. The war is unusual and we shall have to have unusual business to deal with it.

The gist of it is this: The nation has just so many hands and just so much energy—just so much raw material and labor. There are only 24 hours in the day and 365 days in the year. We can make only so many things in a given time with a given supply of time and material. If we make some things we cannot make others. If we put sugar into candy to stuff idle women we cannot have jam to feed the soldiers. If we make autos for pleasure only, we cannot use that material, labor and energy for tanks and airplanes. If we burn the gasoline on Sundays, the boys in France cannot use it in battle.

The whole truth is that we must stop business as usual. And—this is where you come in—you must stop spending as usual. Do it now. Put your money into gunpowder and not face powder; into tanks and not limousines; into food for the trenches instead of spending it in hotels and restaurants. But you cannot buy directly for the army. The government must do it. Give the government the money and BUY A LIBERTY BOND.

Your Bond Buys Explosives.

Many farmers here in America have used giant powder or dynamite in blasting out stumps and rocks and in preparing a hillside for an orchard. Explosives are dangerous to handle and we all duck our heads and run when the charge is to be set off. Over in France today our sons are having the stuff hurled at them every minute of the day and night with an occasional volley of gas shells that choke and strangle to death and they don't dare run. With the boys looking death in the face over there, we can do no more than look the issue squarely in the face here at home and buy Liberty Bonds and see that they are provided with ammunition to return the kaiser just as good as he is sending across to our trenches.

We Are at War! Buy Bonds!

Do many farmers, far removed from the war, realize the seriousness of our present predicament? The very fact that the farmer is not immediately in touch with the war makes the danger more imminent. Russia is made up of farming population, probably three-fourths of which knew very little of what the war over there meant. As a result the army was not provisioned and money not kept in circulation and the military machine col[illegible]

PROVEN SWAMP-ROOT AIDS WEAK KIDNEYS

The symptoms of kidney and bladder troubles are often very distressing and leave the system in a run-down condition. The kidneys seem to suffer most, as almost every victim complains of lame back and urinary troubles which should not be neglected, as these danger signals often lead to more dangerous kidney troubles.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root which, so many people say, soon heals and strengthens the kidneys, is a splendid kidney, liver and bladder medicine, and, being an herbal compound, has a gentle healing effect on the kidneys, which is almost immediately noticed in most cases by those who use it.

A trial will convince anyone who may be in need of it. Better get a bottle from your nearest drug store, and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

OUR BOYS "OVER THERE" ENJOY TOASTED CIGARETTES.

Through the patriotism of the citizens of this country thousands of smoke kits are being distributed to American soldiers in France. Authorities agree that men in the trenches need cigarettes almost as much as food and munitions.

Doctors, nurses, and commanding officers all join in the demand which has awakened in this country a great movement to keep our boys supplied with smokes.

Millions of the famous LUCKY STRIKE Cigarettes are "going over" all the time. There's something about the idea of the toasted cigarette that appeals to the men who spend their time in cold, wet trenches and billets.

Then, too, the real Kentucky Burley tobacco of the LUCKY STRIKE cigarette gives them the solid satisfaction of a pipe, with a lot less trouble. Adv.

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

It is easy enough to see that the tremendous German Army that is now charging the western front of the allies comes from Russia. Some of them are Germans and some of them are the remanents of those Russian Socialists, who wanted peace so bad, that they let the Germany come in and take their country and face them about and put them into the front ranks to fight the allies. The best way to meet this condition of affairs of the combined armies of Russia and Germany is to turn Japan and China onto them on the eastern front with all the power of the Jap army and navy. Such weak minded people as those Russians have shown themselves to be are not worth considering. Let Japan and Germany fight for the possesion of Russia, which will promptly stop old Kaiser Wilhelm from throwing the combined strength of Russia and Germany against America and her allies.

A. D. Stephens, food administrator for Polk County, announces that the state food administrator has modified the flour holding order, so that in cases where a holder will take a statement to the County Food Administrator giving the amount of wheat flour on hand and agreeing not to use more than 6 pounds per person per month of this flour, and to use the substitutes required, such householder may retain at least enough flour to last, under the method of consumption until December 1, 1918. If this is done in each instance, the person having the flour will be allowed to give a receipt to the government stating the amount of flour, and will not be required to bring it in for sale until same is called for by the government officials. —Norman County Index.

This would certainly be a great help for the farmers, as it would not compel them to spend time taking a hundred pounds of flour to town and selling it for $5.40, and going back in a week or so, and paying the middle man dealer $5.80 for the same flour. Time is precious to the farmers this year, and the government should not compel them to waste their time running back and forth from town with a few pounds of flour.

James Cummings, of East Grand Forks, Polk county, a member of the Nonpartisan League, has declined their indorsement, and will run for State Senator on the old line politicians loyalty platform. All right Mr. Cummings, we will promise you two things, as an old resident of Polk County.

First: That the farmers of the Nonpartisan League are just as loyal as you are, or the interests that would corrupt you to desert your neighbors. Second. That you will be badly defeated at the November election, as the men who have induced you to betray your neighbors would not have respect enough for you to vote for you. Good-bye Mr. Cummings, you are a candidate for the dump heap, where all corrupt matter is thrown, instead of a candidate for State Senator.

CITY LEAGUE FOR FARMERS

Thief River Falls Citizens Organize to Help Non-partisans Carry Out Their Program.

Declaring that the farmer and the laborer have nothing in common with the capitalist and exploiter, citizens of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, have formed a voters league to work in harmony with the Non-partisan league in electing officials that will legislate for state ownership and operation of the larger industries.

Thief River Falls is the city which recently entertained Mr. Townley in the Commercial club rooms after he addressed a patriotic meeting which contributed $185.50 to the Red Cross.

NULLIFIES ALASKA COAL ACT

Section in Walsh Bill Would Put National Resources in Jeopardy.

In Section 2 of the Walsh mineral lands bill, which has passed the senate and is pending in the house committee on public lands, has been inserted an amendment which wipes off the statute books the Alaska coal lands act.

This was done by Senator Jones of Washington, who offered the simple amendment, "or territory" to the Walsh bill. It was accepted without debate, and it is claimed that most of the senators were in ignorance of the fact that it would wipe out the Alaska coal lands bill under which half of the coal of the territory is reserved for government development and the other half is safeguarded by laws which define labor conditions under which it may be mined.

To destroy this act would be a betrayal of the nation's property right in $1,000,000,000 worth of coal and it would be a repudiation of the whole purpose of the building of the government railroad.

Fear is expressed that this provision in the Walsh bill which repeals the Alaska coal lands act is the first step towards destroying the effects of the great fight for conservation that was won in the Roosevelt and Taft administrations by Brandeis, Pinchot and those associated with them and that it is the opening wedge by which the resources of the north will again be at the mercy of the Morgan and Guggenheim interests.

A determined fight will be made in the house to remove this objectionable amendment now that the attention of the public has been called to it.

Lawyers Not Necessary.

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo announces that neither soldiers, sailors or their dependents need to employ lawyers to collect insurance. The government furnishes simple blanks and will assist any person in filling them out. Iowa farmers, who employ mostly lawyers as legislators, should take the hint, and do their own law making.

CATTLE PRODUCERS OBJECT TO PRICES

United States Faces Meat Famine Congress Is Told By Stock Raiser.

That the United States faces a meat famine and that farmers must have more representation in the councils of the nation are two important points from the testimony given recently before the Senate Agricultural Committee by President A. Sykes of the Corn Belt Live Stock Producers' Association.

He pointed out how the delay in fixing the minimum price for hogs has caused many raisers to part with their breeding animals and how the present price is not profitable when more than $1 a bushel is paid for corn.

Chicago prices for beef cattle, he said, were averaging $12 per hundredweight, whereas the producers would need at least $2 more to break even under present conditions.

Mr. Sykes estimated that not less than 75 per cent of the stock ready for the market in the corn belt could not be sent in for lack of cars, and that the farmers were bearing a tremendous burden in unnecessary feeding. At the same time when the car shortage is relieved, the rush to the market will be such that the packers will have an excuse for forcing down the price. The live stock situation was never so serious.

At the same hearing Dwight B. Hurd, former president of the American Live Stock Producers' Association recommended the adoption by the Department of Agriculture, the Food Administration and a live stock commission to be appointed by the President.

NOTICE OF SALE

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Four and 43—100 Dollars which became due on the first day of December, 1915 and is due and claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage executed by Eddie Hyland, unmarried, mortgagor, to The Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Oklee, a corporation, mortgagee, bearing date the 28th day of June 1915, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, on the 24th day of July, A. D. 1915, at 8 o'clock A. M. in Book Three of Mortgages on page 466 thereof; and whereas pursuant to the terms and conditions of said mortgage, by reason of said default, the whole principal sum of said mortgage to-wit: the sum of Fifty-two and 50—100 Dollars [$52.50] became at once due and payable, and was and is hereby so declared by said mortgagee; and that there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of Fifty-two and 50-100 Dollars [$52.50] with interest thereon at the rate of Ten per cent per annum since the 28th day of June, 1915.

And whereas, the power of sale in said mortgage contained has become operative, and no action or proceedings having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof,

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage, contained and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage above described will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, to-wit: The South half [S½] of the South-west quarter [S W¼] of Section No. Four [4], in Township No. One Hundred Fifty-two [152] North of Range Forty (40) West of the Fifth (5) P. M., in Minnesota, containing Eighty (80) acres according to U. S. Government survey, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Pennington County, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County and State, on Friday May 31st, 1918, at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at Public vendue, to pay the said debt and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and an attorney's fee of twenty-five Dollars as stipulated in and by said mortgage, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of said sale as provided by law.

We do not think there is much danger of much food being wasted by people of ordinary means at its present prices.

Hay seems to be scarcer this year than it was last year, and our farmers will either have to cut more of that hay that goes to waste every year, or keep less stock.

The warm rains of the past week have caused the young wheat to stool out, and it now covers the ground with a rich coat of green. We have never seen a better prospect for a big crop than there is this year.

The basket social held last Saturday evening for the benefit of Mr. Sigurdson netted about $45.00. A list was also passed in Thief River Falls and Goodridge, and a goodly sum raised that will help the family to buy bedding and clothing.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

With the large number of our young men that have been called to the colors, there is bound to be a shortage of farm help, to properly save the crops, and our county farm agent should devote more of his time in an endeavor to supply this shortage from city idlers, instead of hustling the farmers up to do more work.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

This week about completes seeding in this locality except flax. There will undoubtedly be and increased acreage of flax, but there would be more sown if horse feed was not so high. All kinds of feed have reached pretty near a prohibitive price for a farmer to buy, and they will soon turn their team out to green grass, until this crop of feed grows.

Had we done this last year for one night we would have raised a fine crop of beans instead of losing the [illegible]

GROW FLAX

One of the best crops to grow this year is flax. With the present short supply of farm labor and the high prices which must be paid for it, farmers must plan to grow crops which require little labor. They must also plan to grow a variety of crops so that the work of men and machinery may be utilized as fully as possible. Where wheat, oats, and barley are important crops, a part of the time between seeding and harvesting may be well used in preparing land, particularly new land, and sowing it to flax. As the flax is not ready to harvest until other small grains are cut, it does not interfere in any way with growing the largest possible acreage of these crops.

Prepare now for a larger wheat acreage in 1919. Break new land and sow it to flax before June 15. The investment in seed will be small and there is every reason to believe that flax will bring a profitable price next fall and winter. If you do not have seed and do not know where to get it, call on County Agent Ross P. White, Thief River Falls, Minn.

Great Wheat Stocks Isolated.

It's the shortage in ships that is putting the Allies and the United States on wheat rations. Great stocks of wheat are isolated in India and Australia. At great sacrifice in ship space and use the Allies are forced to secure some wheat from Argentina.

On January 1, Australia had stored 100,000,000 bushels of wheat that was ready for export—but there were no ships. Then came the new crop with an exportable surplus of 80,000,000 bushels. Now Australia has approximately 180,000,000 bushels waiting for ships.

India, at the same time, had 70,000,000 bushels of wheat stored for export. During April 60,000,000 bushels more out of the new crop will be added to the pile.

Argentina closed the last shipping season with 11,000,000 bushels of wheat left in the stock available for export. The new crop will add 13,000,000 to the left over.

It is not a problem that the wheat does not exist in the world—[illegible]

To drive a tank, handle the guns, and sweep over the enemy trenches, takes strong nerves, good rich blood, a good stomach, liver and kidneys. When the time comes, the man with red blood in his veins "is up and at it." He has iron nerves for hardships—an interest in his work grips him. That's the way you feel when you have taken a blood and nerve tonic, made up of Blood root, Golden Seal root, Stone root, Cherry bark, and rolled into a sugar-coated tablet and sold in sixty-cent vials by almost all druggists for past fifty years as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This tonic, in liquid or tablet form, is just what you need this spring to give you vim, vigor and vitality. At the fag end of a hard winter, no wonder you feel "run-down," blue, out of sorts. Try this "Medical Discovery" of Dr. Pierce's. Don't wait! To-day is the day to begin! A little "pep," and you laugh and live.

The best means to oil the machinery of the body, put tone into the liver, kidneys and circulatory system, is to first practice a good house-cleaning. I know of nothing better as a laxative than a vegetable pill made up of May-apple, leaves of aloe and jalap. This is commonly sold by all druggists as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, and should be taken at least once a week to clear the twenty-five feet of intestines. You will thus clean the system—expel the poisons and keep well. Now is the time to clean house. Give yourself a spring house cleaning.—Adv.

Arranges Compact Nautical Chart.

Economizing time, space and paper, Capt. Fritz E. Uttmark, head of a government nautical school in New York, has devised a new chart for finding a ship's position at sea. A vessel's position by the present method can be ascertained only after a protracted calculation on about 200 square feet of charts. This difficulty has been overcome by a plotting chart less than one square foot in area.

BALLOON WENT RIGHT ALONG

And in Its Flight Carried With It Astonished and Indignant Cowboy and His Pony.

Flying Cadet Reber, during the course of his spherical balloon training at San Antonio, Tex., while on his solo flight and proceeding along about 12 miles an hour on the guide rope, saw a cowboy and pony crossing the field ahead of him. The cowboy without invitation, leaned down, caught the guide rope and tied it to the horn of his saddle. This was the signal for the pony to plant his front feet.

Much to the surprise of the cowboy and more so to the pony, the balloon proceeded along its way. After being dragged across the field the cowboy threatened to shoot the pilot unless he stopped.

The situation was finally relieved by the cowboy exchanging his revolver for a knife and cutting away the guide rope, leaving a knot on the horn of the saddle as a souvenir.—From Flying.

"Absolutely. Aren't you pleased?"

"Yes, I'm pleased. The only thing is that the youngster will get over being rather red faced and bald-headed and I probably won't."

"What is the mean temperature of this place?"

"About as mean as it can be, sir."

THIRD LOAN IS GREAT SUCCESS

About Seventeen Million Persons Purchase Liberty Bonds.

BEATS SECOND ISSUE

Treasury Statement Says Bond Flotation Is Probably the Most Successful Every Undertaken By Any Nation.

Washington, May 7.—Careful analysis of Liberty Loan reports indicate that probably 17,000,000 persons purchased bonds in the campaign just closed—7,000,000 more than in the second loan and 12,500,000 more than in the first.

Latest tabulations showed $3,316,628,250 reported subscriptions but the treasury now believes the actual total, which may run to $4,000,000, will not be definitely known until May 13.

"Whatever the money totals," said a Treasury statement, "the loan just closed probably is the most successful ever floated by any nation. The marvelous distribution of the third Liberty Loan indicates one out of every six persons in the United States may have participated in this loan."

Banks' resources, it was pointed out, were drawn on comparatively little to make the loan a success, and the prospects for future loans are brighter as a consequence. An added reason for jubilation among Treasury officials is the indication that the government bond-buying habit is becoming stronger among the people of small means.

The total of $3,316,628,250 reported by the Treasury included subscribers as follows:

New York, 4,000,000; Chicago, 2,498,000; Cleveland, 1,561,979; Philadelphia, 1,200,000; Boston, 1,200,000; San Francisco, 1,000,000; Atlanta, 1,000,000; Minneapolis, 1,000,000; Kansas City, 900,000; Richmond, 900,000; St. Louis, 866,342; Dallas, 850,000.

Partial returns showed New York will lead all states in number of individual subscribers, with 4,000,000 and the state also leads in actual money totals. Pennsylvania probably will be second in number of subscribers and Illinois third with nearly 1,250,000. Iowa, with 520,000 subscribers out of a population of a little more than 2,000,000, made one of the best subscription percentage records. Indiana's individual subscribers probably will be about 400,000, Michigan's 275,000 and Wisconsin's 280,000.

Far west states report subscribers as follows: California, 524,462; Washington, 150,312; Oregon, 95,695; Idaho, 56,500; Utah, 55,800; Arizona, 19,098; Nevada, 12,377. Managers of the campaign in the San Francisco district wired that subscriptions there would exceed $250,000,000 and that every state district and virtually every county had reached its quota. The Atlanta district, which has been at the bottom during the most of the campaign, made the most sensational finish of any district and the managers predict the district may eventually show an oversubscription of 50 per cent.

FOCH'S COMMAND EXTENDED

Military Authority of Leader Now Includes Italian Front.

Paris, May 4.—The military authority of General Foch as a result of the Italian adhesion, has been extended to all the Western fronts and the general now becomes commander in chief of all the Allied armies in the West, says Marcel Hutin in the Echo de Paris.

M. Hutin saw Premier Clemenceau on his return from the meeting of the supreme war council at Abbeville. The premier, without going into details, expressed satisfaction with the results of the conference.

"And the situation at the front?" asked the writer.

"General Foch is very optimistic, that's all I can tell you," was the premier's reply.

Foresees Failure of Russ Peace.

London, May 4.—There is grave uneasiness in Germany over the news from the East, where apparently the Germans shortly will be confronted with overwhelming difficulties that will shatter the whole fabric of the Brest-Litovsk peace, says an Amsterdam dispatch to the Daily Express. From Finland to the Ukraine there is ever increasing opposition to German oppression. Vienna reports, it is added, say most Ukrainian crops were ruined by peasants who would rather starve than feed Germans.

Dried Fruit Contracts Changed.

Washington, May 6.—Contracts for the sale of dried peaches, apples, prunes or raisins from new crop fruits cannot be made before June 1 under a ruling by the Food Administration. The administration originally ruled that dried fruits could be sold by May 1 of the year in which the crop is produced. The change was made to allow the various interests affected voluntarily to agree on a reasonable basis on which business could be done, protecting the producer, manufacturer and consumer.

News of the State

Condensed for Busy Folks

Winona.—The quadrennial state convention of the Equitable Fraternal union was held here today with nearly 100 delegates attending.

Henderson.—Five fishermen were arrested here for illegal fishing in the Minnesota river. One was sentenced to 30 days, the rest paid $25 fines.

Melrose.—Governor J. A. A. Burnquist and Bishop Joseph Busch will be the speakers at a loyalty meeting to be held here Sunday, May 5.

Minneapolis.—A conference of macaroni manufacturers of the United States will take place in Minneapolis July 8, 9 and 10, according to J. T. Williams, president of the National Macaroni Manufacturers' association.

Cloquet.—With State Superintendent C. G. Schulz delivering the dedicatory address, the new high school erected here at a cost of about $100,000, was dedicated. Frank Nelson, president of the Minnesota college, also spoke.

Sauk Rapids.—The county has voted bonds for $25,000 for road work this year. Three bridges will be built, one at the outlet of Little Rock in place of the old Gordon bridge, and the others at Maywood and Granite Ledge.

Hibbing.—Captain David Owen Williams, commander of Battery B, 125th Field Artillery, Camp Cody, N. M., died in the army and navy hospital at Hot Springs, Ark., of Bright's disease. Every flag in Hibbing is at halfmast.

Waseca.—Lieutenant Bernald J. Gallagher, reported as missing in action March 29, in the war department's casualty list of April 20, is "safe and well," according to a cablegram just received from him by his father, B. M. Gallagher of this city.

Moorhead.—Moorhead may become affiliated with the proposed Red Cross baseball league organized in this section. At a meeting of Moorhead fans the question was quite thoroughly discussed, and the local field is being canvassed to determine the financial support available.

Stillwater.—Failing in his attempt to enlist in the army or navy on account of his youth and afraid to return home after running away, Hollister Demp, 16 years old, Newport, Minn., who disappeared on April 11, was found in a shoe factory at Red Wing and brought home.

Moorhead.—The Moorhead elementary department of the Minnesota Normal school, located here, has established an employment bureau. One of the leading reasons for the bureau is to furnish work for school children after school hours. The bureau was successfully inaugurated.

Minneapolis.—Homer C. Clark, vice chairman of the ninth district Liberty Loan committee estimates 800,000 as the minimum number of subscribers in the district to the third loan, compared with 621,770 in the second campaign. All figures are subject to later revision, Mr. Clark said.

St. Peter.—Oscar Nelson told the draft board that he should be exempted because of the care which his wife and baby needed. Mrs. Nelson said they needed care all right, but that Oscar had not supported them for 16 months. She recommended that they put her husband in the "shock troops."

St. Cloud.—All time freights which have been running over the Willmar division from and to St. Paul and Minneapolis have been routed over the Fergus Falls division for an indefinite period beginning Tuesday. This will throw a great deal more traffic through St. Cloud. The change is temporary and is necessitated by construction work on the Willmar line.

Minneapolis.—Gross margins for retail coal dealers of Minnesota outside the three large cities have been fixed by an order of Judge J. F. McGee, federal fuel administrator for Minnesota, made immediately effective. The margins allowed are 25 to 40 cents a ton higher than those permitted to city dealers. The explanation is that small town dealers have a smaller volume of business and hence a greater percentage of "overhead" costs.

St. Paul.—The State Public Safety commission has refused to sanction the leases of state timber purchases for the storage of timber cut but not removed before June 1, as the law requires. The statute specifically provides that all timber remaining on state lands on expiration of the cutting contracts shall revert to the ownership of the state, and pleas that railroad ties and other products affected are necessary to the prosecution of the war were deemed insufficient to warrant treatment of the plan as a military necessity.

Stillwater.—John Burns, a Northern Pacific switchman, arrested on the charge of stealing five sweaters shipped by the Washington County Red Cross society to the Red Cross supply bureau at Minneapolis, from an express package in the care of the Northern Express company, was bound over to the grand jury when he appeared in municipal court here.

Minneapolis.—John Finley Wilcox, Minneapolis resident since 1867, died here after a long illness. Mr. Wilcox was a sash and door manufacturer [illegible]

Winona.—Mrs. Agnes [illegible], police woman, has resigned to take similar work at Grand Forks, N. D.

Rochester.—Bishop James H. McCoy of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, had an operation performed here.

East Grand Forks.—Three squads of the local home guard went to Tabor to act as military escort for the remains of John Palya, who served on the Mexican border.

Hastings.—Mrs. M. Gossing, a pioneer of Dakota county, died at her home here at the age of 78 years. She is survived by her husband and several sons and daughters.

New Richland.—A community service flag bearing 50 stars, sold for $3,180 at a Red Cross auction sale here. The total proceeds of the sale were nearly $6,000. Henry Deutsch of Minneapolis made a stirring speech.

Fairmont.—Livestock men of this county have started a movement for better stock by organizing the Martin County Livestock association. County Treasurer John Haeckel was elected president.

Red Wing.—Dr. E. J. Colberg, of the Swedish Lutheran church, was chosen at a meeting of the senior class of the high school to deliver the baccalaureate sermon to the graduates of 1918 in June. He addressed the class of 1917.

Hastings.—Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Stuart of Hastings celebrated their 58th wedding anniversary here. They were married in 1860 and came to Minnesota seven years later and have resided here since. Mr. Stuart was for many years an architect and contractor.

Minneapolis. — The Minnesota Transfer Railway company handled during March a total of 1,361 cars loaded with immigrant movables of which Minnesota received 588; North Dakota, 229; Canada, 210, and Montana, 116. Minnesota made a substantial gain during the month.

St. Paul.—The proposal to unify telephone service and eliminate dual service in Minnesota is being generally indorsed by commercial clubs and other civic organizations and by independent telephone companies throughout the state, Chairman Ira B. Mills of the state railroad and warehouse commission, said.

Crookston.—Authorities are investigating the conditions under which a bomb filled with high explosives was placed in the Ada Milling company's building. The bomb was hidden in a suitcase found by workmen. It is believed a defective fuse saved the building from destruction. Manager Bodding said he thought the bomb had been set by some pro-German sympathizer.

Winona.—Investigation of a series of boxcar robberies in the Burlington railroad yards here recently resulted in the arrest of Joseph Cizewski, Peter Weaver and Joe Mlynozak of this city, charged with stealing and selling large quantities of food supplies consigned to the war department by a local packing house for use in the United States army in France, according to Chief of Police Huck.

St. Cloud.—Dr. E. F. Green of the state reformatory at St. Cloud, died at Walker of pulmonary tuberculosis. He was a recognized authority in this state on the Binet-Simon system. He applied it to every English-speaking inmate of reformatory and the plan worked out successfully because the man was not only judged by the crime he committed, but by conditions which prompted his act.

St. Cloud.—Walter Smith, former state treasurer, who was transferred some months ago from the prison at Stillwater to the state sanatorium for consumptives at Walker because he had developed tuberculosis, is recovering and walks eighteen miles a day, according to members of the state board of visitors, who returned from a visit to the sanitorium. Smith is very anxious for a parole that he may have another chance to make good, members said.

Jackson.—County Attorney Herbert Nicholas will submit to the State Safety commission the question of Iowa bootleggers obtaining liquor at Comfrey and hauling it acrss the line. Six men have been arrested, two in Jackson and four near the state line. It is said they had two automobiles loaded with liquor. Four of the prisoners, all of whom were from Spencer, Iowa, were turned over to federal authorities at Mankato. They are charged with attempting to take liquor into a dry state.

Minneapolis.—Consumers in Minnesota are buying more potatoes as a result of the federal food administration's "potatriot" campaign, officials said, but the marketing of potatoes has fallen off, due, it is supposed, to the fact that farmers are busy with their spring planting. "Potatoes must go onto the market now," said J. A. Vye, of the food administration, "and must get to the tables of Minnesota homes if they are not to be wasted, and if we are to save the wheat for which the potatoes will be substituted."

Hastings.—The common council has raised the saloon license from $500 to $1,000. Hastings went dry two years ago. Recently it was voted wet. Under the old ordinance, when there were fifteen saloons, the $500 license was effective. The new restrictions allow only eight drinking places.

Milaca.—The dates for the chautauqua season in Milaca for 1918 have been definitely fixed for June 15 to June 19 inclusive. Frank B. Willis, former governor of Ohio, will be one of the headliners [illegible]

Loving Silence.

Mr. John Oxenham, the novelist, speaking recently at the City Temple, London, on his visit to the western front, said that the British spoke little about their hardships except among themselves. A padre described their reticence to the folks at home as "the most wonderful conspiracy of loving silence the world has ever known."

Mr. Oxenham added that if by a wonderful stroke on our part, or by an extraordinary default on the part of the enemy, we had won this war two years ago, it would have been the very worst thing that could have happened to us as a nation. He felt that, in spite of all the horrible sufferings, we were not ready to win. We hadn't learned our lesson, and he was not sure if we had learned it even now.

THRILLING STORY OF HAIG RETREAT

Illinois Officer Relates Experience of Hun Attack on the British.

TEN DIVISIONS AGAINST ONE

Despite Overwhelming Number of Enemy, His Losses Were Great—Miraculous Escape From Baptism of Shell Fire.

First Lieutenant Roswell T. Pettit, M. O. R. C., of Ottawa, Ill., in a letter to his father, Dr. J. W. Pettit of the Ottawa tuberculosis colony, and published in the Chicago Tribune, relates the thrilling story of the great battle in Picardy. The American officer was in the thickest of the fighting for nine days, during the retreat of the British Fifth army from before St. Quentin. Lieutenant Pettit's account of the battle thrills with the stress of the conflict, as it was written immediately after he had passed through the tremendous experiences and before his impressions had been in any way dulled by time. His letter follows:

Lieutenant Pettit's Letter.

March 30.

Dear Father: Now that the show is over for me for the time being, and I have time to breathe and sleep and eat and write, I'll try and tell you about the battle. Before you receive this you will have had the whole story from the papers, but I know you will be interested in knowing what I did in the affair.

Of course, the things I saw were but an infinitesimal part of a gigantic whole and it would be impossible for me to give a correct description of the battle. And as I write this, I do it with no knowledge whatever of what has been going on even a few miles from me.

I have not seen a paper in eight days; I have received no mail, and the only information we have received has been by word of mouth, and most of what we hear must be wild rumors. For example: The French have advanced 20 miles at Verdun, the Americans have taken Ostend, and are on their way to Zeebrugge, and a great naval battle has been fought in the North sea.

All I know is that on this part of the front the Germans attacked us in overwhelming numbers, in places ten divisions to our one; that they suffered terrible losses, but finally broke through our lines of defense, one after another, and fighting for the most part, a rear guard action, we have retired about 15 miles in a straight line.

For a week before the battle started we had been expecting it; we were ready to move on 30 minutes' notice. I had been out with combatant as well as medical officers on tours of reconnaissance, definite methods of evacuation of the wounded had been worked out, and our plans of counter-attack been made. After four or five days of waiting, the storm finally broke.

The Boche opened up on us at 5 a. m., March 21, with the heaviest barrage I have ever heard. "Stand to," was sounded, we turned out dressed, and had all our equipment packed in 30 minutes. Then we sat down and waited for orders to move. The barrage kept up continuously, sometimes heavier and then of less intensity, sometimes it seemed to be to the north of us and then suddenly it switched to the south.

Our balloons were up as soon as it was light and the airplanes were buzzing over our heads. The ground mist gradually cleared and the Germans put a hail of shrapnel on our camp and we all took cover, but three men were hit. Why it is a fellow always feels safer with a roof over his head, even if he knows bullets and shrapnel and pieces of shell will go through boards and corrugated iron just like paper.

Ordered to Move.

Our orders to move finally came and we marched off to the brigade assembly point several miles away. This assembly point was in a little bunch of trees about the size of Allen park and behind and separated from a larger wood in front. In the larger wood there was a battery of heavy artillery and shells were dropping in there two or three to a minute, and it was heavy stuff, too.

Sometimes they overshot the big wood and shells were landing in the open around the little wood where my brigade had its assembly point. As we approached our little copse we could make all this out from some distance away and it wasn't a pleasant sensation to feel that we were marching straight into it.

All the battalions arrived and in that little copse there must have been at least two thousand men. What a chance if the Germans only knew! But the shells continued to drop in front of us and on either side but none landed among us, and after waiting there for three hours, expecting to be blown to bits any second, we finally moved forward. Just as we left the copse, from behind us, up over a ridge came a stream of galloping horses.

"It's the cavalry," someone shouted, but soon I made out limbers and field guns.

They galloped past us, going like mad, took up a position to our right, swung into position, unlimbered and in two minutes were blazing away. It was a thrilling sight.

Torn by Shells.

In going forward we went around the end of the larger wood in front of us, over ground that was torn to bits by the heavy shell fire that had just preceded, over another edge, across a valley and under the crest of a hill. And here we found the tanks going over the top of the hill to take up their position. At this point we were still about a mile from the front line.

At this place I opened up an aid post under the crest of the hill to take care of what wounded came in while we were getting into position.

Shrapnel was bursting in the air, shells were whizzing overhead, and our guns behind me were belching forth the fire. The noise was deafening.

A railroad ran through the valley and an engine pulling a couple of flat cars was going by. A couple of soldiers were sitting on the rear truck swinging their feet. A shell burst on the track and only missed the last car about fifteen yards. Neither man was hit and the train went blithely on.

By this time it was getting along toward evening, the sun was sinking in the west and finally went down a great ball of fire. At the time, I remember, I noticed its color. It was blood red and had a sinister look. Was it my imagination, or might it have been a premonition? At any rate, I shall never forget the color of the sun as it set that night at the end of the first day of probably one of the greatest battles in history. It certainly didn't look good to me.

The drumming of the guns continued, twilight gradually deepened into night, the signalers stopped their wigwagging and took up their flash signals, a fog dropped down on us and put the lights out of business, and when we left to go forward under the cover of darkness they were busy putting out their telephone lines—signalers and runners don't have an easy time.

Shell Dump Goes Up.

Behind us a shell landed in an ammunition dump and it went up with a roar; then the rifle ammunition started going off like a great bunch of firecrackers, and great tongues of flame lit up the sky.

It is reported that the Germans had broken through our line and we were to counter-attack in the morning. We got into positions without a single casualty. I opened an aid post in an old dugout and settled down to sleep until morning. You may think it funny that one could sleep under such conditions, but I had been up since 5:30, had tramped about six or seven miles, had had a rather trying day and was dog tired.

Just like some of the warm days we get the last of March at home. In going forward it was necessary for us to march seventy-five yards in front of three batteries of field guns. There are six guns to a battery. They shoot an eighteen-pound shell and while we were there each gun was shooting twice to the minute. You can imagine the racket when I tell you that the discharge of one gun can be heard about four miles. In addition the Boche was trying to knock out this battery and he was dropping his six inch shells a little too close for comfort.

Nearly in a Trap.

Then I made a lovely mistake. I was to establish an aid post near battalion headquarters and went blithely on when I met a company commander and asked him where to go.

"Back there about a quarter of a mile," he replied. "This is the front center company. If you keep on in the direction you are going you are going up over that ridge and Fritz will be waiting for you with a machine gun."

So my sergeant and orderly and myself didn't waste any time in clearing. On the way back I found a gallon can full of water, got into a corrugated iron shelter and had a wash and a shave. It certainly felt good. I don't believe I had washed for thirty-six hours. It was warm and bright. I could look out of my shelter and see our support lines digging themselves in several hundred yards away. The cannon fire ceased, the machine guns settled down to an occasional fitful burst and it was midday of a beautiful spring day.

A couple of partridge flew over me. What did they know or care about all this noise and racket and men getting up in line and killing each other?

Along about three o'clock things began to liven up again. In the meantime headquarters had been established in a sunken road with banks about fifteen feet high on either side (later this cut was half filled with dead). My aid post was in a dugout near by and gradually things got hotter and hotter.

Our men had dug themselves in and were popping away with their rifles. The field batteries behind us were putting up a barrage, airplanes were circling overhead, both ours and the Germans. The Germans put up a counter-barrage, the machine guns were going like mad. I was standing with the colonel on a little rise of ground above the sunken road when the Germans broke through about a mile to the north of us. They could be plainly seen pouring over the ridge in close formation.

Tanks Get Into Action.

Then the tanks came up, and you should have seen them run! Just like rabbits! The tanks retired, the Boches reformed and came at it again. They tell me that at certain places our men withstood fifteen successive attacks and that the Germans went down in thousands. One Welshman told me that his gun accounted for 775 in three minutes during one wave.

Machine gun bullets were whipping around me, the shell fire was getting horrible, and even though it was a wonderful sight to watch, I decided discretion was the better part of valor, or something like that, and got down in my dugout. [illegible]

[illegible] I went back to the advanced dressing station through the hottest shell fire I ever experienced. More than once I went down on my face when a shell burst and the pieces went whizzing over my head. I spent the night in a mined village where the advanced dressing station was located, and all night they shelled it to blazes. It was remarkable how few casualties we had.

About eleven o'clock the morning of the third day a shell blew in the side of our post, but luckily no one was hurt. We stuck to it until about four in the afternoon, when we saw our men retiring over a ridge in front of us, keeping up a continuous machine gun and rifle fire, and we beat it back to another village and opened another post.

The Begrimed Lord.

About ten o'clock on the morning of the fourth day, Lord Thyme, my colonel when I was with the battalion, stumbled into the shack where I was sitting. He looked like a ghost. He had lost his hat, his face was covered with a four days' beard, the sweat had traced tracks in the dust from his forehead to his chin. His sleeve was torn and bloody and he had a gash in his arm where he had been struck by a piece of flying shell case.

"My God, doc, are you here?" he said. "You got out just in time. The battalion is all gone. The sunken road is filled with dead—mostly Huns, damn 'em. The line broke on the right; we were surrounded, and at the last we were fighting back and back. Only thirty of us got away."

So we knew the Boche had broken through to our right and our left, and it was a question of how long it would be before we, too, were surrounded, but we wanted to stick it out as long as we could.

But not more than an hour later a medical officer rushed in from one of the battalions and between gasps for breath told us the Germans were on the edge of the village, had shot him through the sleeve with a machine gun bullet (luckily that was all), and for us to beat it.

Let me tell you we did. I threw my knapsack and made the first hundred yards in nothing flat and then settled down to a walk because I was so out of breath I couldn't run any more.

The incessant scream and crash and bang of the shells kept up and the rat-tat-tat of the machine guns never ceased. The village immediately behind us was a seething mass of brick dust, smoke, flame, and bursting shells. We were told on our way back that a stand was to be made behind this village, so we circled around it and took up a position about a half mile behind it at a crossroads.

Unfortunately for us, a six inch battery came into action about fifty yards from us and, aside from the harassing effect of the terrific noise, batteries are always unpleasant neighbors, as they invite shell fire. We stopped here until about 10 o'clock at night, when we were ordered to retire.

There was no way of getting out the wounded that we had collected, so the stretcher bearers carried them on their stretchers for six or seven miles. In fact, we all helped, and when we arrived at our destination at 4 o'clock in the morning of the fifth day we were all in.

I could hardly move, but after two big bowls of hot tea and some hard tack I turned in on the floor and slept like a log for four hours, when we moved to another place and opened a dressing station.

Hun Plane Crashes.

On the way a German airplane came down and crashed near the road, but neither the pilot nor observer were hurt. They were a couple of rather neat looking lads about 19 years old.

And so it went for three days more, open a dressing station, retire (sometimes on the run), long marches, very little to eat except what we foraged from abandoned camps and dumps, dog tired, sleeping when and where we could, and finally the division was relieved. We now saw our first civilians, and last night I slept in a bed. It wasn't much of a bed, and the mattress was full of humps, but to get my boots off my sore and aching feet, to stretch out, and know I wouldn't be routed out in fifteen minutes—well, you couldn't have bought that bed from me for $100.

Did you ever read Robert W. Service's description of the retreat from Mons? Well, that's the way I felt:

> Tramp, tramp, the grim road, the road
> from Mons to Wipers,
> I've 'ammered out this ditty with me
> bruised and bleeding feet;
> Tramp, tramp, the dim road—
> We didn't 'ave no pipers—
> All bellies that were 'oller was the > drums we 'ad to beat.

The ninth day, sitting around the fire in our mess after the best dinner we had had in days, the commanding officer handed me some papers and said: "Here is something that will interest you, Pettit. I want to say we shall be sorry to lose you."

And this is what it was: "Lieut. Roswell T. Pettit, M. R. C., is relieved from duty with the British army and will proceed to the A. E. F., where he will report for duty."

I leave for Paris in the morning. This has been a long tale, but the half of it hasn't been told. I hope I haven't strung it out too much.

I have just been informed that all my kit had to be burned to prevent it falling into the hands of the enemy. I shall probably want you to send me some things from home but will see what I can get here [illegible]

Why Keep It.

Emile's eldest and most prosperous brother had invited him for a motor trip in his new car. As they were alighting from the car upon their return home Emile said in a tone filled with intense longing:

"I say, Fred, I wish I had an automobile."

"Hm," returned his brother, "you couldn't afford to keep it if you had it."

"No, more's the pity," replied Emile sorrowfully, "but I could afford to sell it."—Exchange.

Proposed Seaplane Service.

The well-known Swedish airman, Captain Dahlbeck, recently proposed a scheme to the Swedish government for the establishment of a seaplane service between Sweden and England. The idea is that the seaplane shall start and finish at the mouth of the Gulf of Finland. The seaplanes will carry both passengers and mail. The journey from Stockholm to Finland via Haparanda now takes three days and three nights. By means of seaplanes it will be possible for the journey to be covered in a few hours.

Castor Oil for Airplanes.

The Italian minister of agriculture has appealed to the province of Catania to go into the business of cultivating ricinus (castor-oil seed) on a large scale, offering to supply the seed free and to buy the shelled product at 250 lire per quintal (about 22 2-3 cents a pound). The oil is to be used for airplane engines.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879

The Nonpartisan League have endorsed Frank M. Barton of Mahnomen for Congressman from this district in opposition to Congressman Steenerson. He is of course a stranger to about 99 per cent of the voting members of the League in this district. Of the endorsement the Thief River Falls Times says:

"The failure of the Nonpartisans to endorse Congressman Steenerson will be regarded as a serious mistake by a very large proportion of the farmers in the Ninth district. An opponent for the Congressman had been spoken of but the farmers themselves were understood to be opposed to such action preferring that no endorsement be made for this office at this time."

It will be remembered that we expressed our opinion of this matter of endorsing a Congressman some two months ago, and this endorsement places the common members of the League in an enbarrassing position, as they either have to vote to defeat their staunch friend Steenerson or the endorsee of the League, and it now looks like they will "stick" to Steenerson.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

Illinois Socialists have demanded that our troops be recalled from France and this country turned over to loot, murder and rape, the same as Russia has been. Those Socialists certainly have some queer ideas, but they are not going to get the Nonpartisan League to endorse them. They have gone clear up to the line with their endorsements of rabid Socialists for office, but they are likely to fail to deliver the votes, especially their endorsement for Congressman from this district. We have been rubbing our throat all the spring to keep swallowing, but that last endorsement gagged us.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

Germany's peace talk falls on deaf ears, when they talk peace to either England, France or America, as they are not looking for peace with a German army invading France, and headed toward England and America. Old Kaiser Wilhelm's peace tools are not dealing with poor ignorant Russian socialists now, but with nations who have become determined to win this war by force of arms, and are not listening to any peace talk.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

Hon. D. P. O'Neill has filed as a candidate for re-election to the State Senate. Dan made a fairly good record in the senate, but failed of endorsement by the Nonpartisan League. It is hard to say just how the members of the League will take his filing in opposition to their chosen candidate, but it is the principal of the League, that this is a free country, and every man has a right to be heard.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

Hon. Knute Nelson has been endorsed by the Democrats for re-election, which is a good idea as this state should not run any chances of electing a man of the LaFollette stripe to that position at this time. Nelson will stay with us for another term and he will be sure to be elected.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

Governor Burnquist filed for the Republican nomination for governor Monday and Fred E. Wheelon filed for the Democratic nomination. This gives the self appointed loyalty party two chances at the real loyalty party of the people, led by Congressman Lindburg. If Lindberg defeats Burnquist for the nomination, the Republican papers like the St. Paul Dispatch and Minneapolis Journal still have a chance to place the [illegible] in power, by supporting the Democratic nominee next November, and they might as well prepare to do it now, as Lindberg will be the Republican nominee by an overwhelming majority.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

Former County Auditor A. H. Fazel has been indorsed by the Nonpartisan League for State Treasurer. He is well qualified for the position and will add strength to the ticket from the northern part of the state.

ALLIED FOOD SHIPMENTS REACH LARGE TOTAL

A general idea of the quantity of food sent to European allies by the United States from July 1, 1914, to January 1, 1918, is given by figures just announced by the U. S. Food Administration. In that period the United States has furnished complete yearly rations for 57,100,933 people. In addition there was enough extra protein to supply this portion of the diet for 22,194,570 additional men.

The total export of wheat and wheat flour to the three principal allies is equivalent to about 384,000,000 bushels. Pork exports for the 3½ years amounted to almost 2,000,000,000 pounds. Exports of fresh beef totaled 443,484,400 pounds. The amount of food exported to Russia is negligible compared with that sent to the western allies.

BOTH PARTY HEADS UNITE IN COLORADO

Interests Use Republicans and Democrats to Gain Their Sinister Ends.

Conditions in Colorado similar to those that have called into being the National Nonpartisan league in other states are described by Jesse R. Moler, in a letter resigning the secretaryship of the Colorado Democratic state central committee.

Colorado is described by him as in the grip of a gang of politicians of both parties who would stop at nothing to serve faithfully the big business interests.

Moler, who was on the inside where he could see the working of things, became so disgusted that he threw up his job and addressed an open letter to the people of the state in which he tried to awaken them to the danger in the old party combine.

Reactionaries in Majority.

The Democrats had a majority in the Colorado legislature, but instead of enacting the pledges of their state platform a minority of them formed a combine with the Republican minority and were thus able to do the bidding of the interests. By this means, declares Moler, the Friend bill, the only measure introduced in the legislature to meet the food and high cost of living problem, was slaughtered.

Coal regulation bills, he continues, introduced by the so-called insurgents were laughed to scorn.

Several administration Democrats in the house and five in the senate united with the Republicans and tried to wipe out every progressive measure that had been put on the statute books in the last twenty years. Only by a mighty effort were their insurgents able to save to the people the initiative, referendum, direct primaries and [illegible]

[illegible]

The former secretary of the Democratic organization declares that a revolution is brewing in that party in Colorado, that the Democrats are determined to clean out the gang and restore rules to the people or defeat the Democratic party at the polls.

The people of Colorado need to take a political lesson from the people of North Dakota, where the farmers overcame a somewhat similar condition by sticking together at the polls and electing a legislature of their own pledged to remedy the conditions of which they complained.

DESTROY MONOPLY FOR SOLDIERS AND FARMERS

Why not squeeze the water out of these land values and throw the land open to our boys by taxing land values and exempting all improvements from taxation? That would help not only the boys, but the struggling farmers already on the land, whose taxes increase in proportion as they make the land productive and serviceable.

The government has two obvious duties to these two million youngsters. Destroy land monopoly, and destroy the transportation, storage, and marketing monopolies that suck the vitality out of agriculture for the benefit of the few who own our railroads, grain elevators, cold storage warehouses, and banks. The first can be accomplisheed by the taxation of land values; the second, by public ownership of transportation, storage and marketing facilities.

M., in Book Three of Mortgages on page 466 thereof; and whereas pursuant to the terms and conditions of said mortgage, by reason of said default, the whole principal sum of said mortgage to-wit: the sum of Fifty-two and 50—100 Dollars, [$52.50] became at once due and payable and was and is hereby so declared by said mortgagee; and that there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of Fifty-two and 50-100 Dollars [$52.50] with interest thereon at the rate of Ten per cent per annum since the 28th day of June, 1915.

And whereas, the power of sale in said mortgage contained has become operative; and no action or proceedings having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof,

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage, contained and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage above described will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, to-wit: The South half [S½] of the South-west quarter [S W¼] of Section No. Four [4], in Township No. One Hundred Fifty-two [152] North of Range Forty (40) West of the Fifth (5) P. M., in Minnesota, containing Eighty (80) acres according to U. S. Government survey, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Pennington County, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County and State, on Friday May 31st, 1918, at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at Public vendue, to pay the said debt and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and an attorney's fee of twenty-five Dollars as stipulated in and by said mortgage, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of said sale as provided by law.

Herman Smuck, a prosperous German farmer, of Gully, Polk County, was arrested and taken to Fergus Falls, last week, for making the remark, "that he was going to try and have his son enlist as a cook, so he could put poison in the food of the American soldiers." We know this man Smuck, and he took a valuable homestead in Edon township, and proved it up after obtaining citizen papers. MORITORIUM FOR SOLDIERS.

It seems strange that no general news story was carried by the press associations in regard to the passage of the moritorium for soldiers and sailors. The bill was passed by the Senate March 8, having previously been adopted by the house. It protects soldiers in service from foreclosures of mortgages, prevents the seizure of articles on which partial payments have been made and suspends financial obligations in the case of necessity for the defenders of Uncle Sam while they are in the service.

WHAT IS WORSE THAN WAR?

Consumption Four Times More Deadly Than Bombs and Machine Guns.

Pierre Hamp, a French medical authority, estimates that of the 38,000,000 people of all ages still living in France 4,000,000 must die of tuberculosis. The war will have killed about 1,000,000. This means that man with all of his inventiveness is far less efficient than Nature as a man killer. There have been over 400,000 new cases of consumption in France since the war began. This is why, despite the number of new hospitals, there is still not sufficient space available for tuberculosis cases.

The Question of Pensions.

Of course first consideration is accorded to the ever popular wounded men. Therein lies the tragedy of the consumptive soldier. With the new cases coming in daily from the trenches the consumptives are not as helpless as the wounded men. When discharged from the army the severely wounded are allowed a pension by the government. The consumptives, however, receive no allowance unless they can prove that their illness is entirely due to their service in the army. This is not an easy thing to do, and consequently comparatively few consumptives receive governmental assistance.

Until the American Red Cross began to extend its aid the plight of most of these men was often pitiful. When discharged from the hospital they are given certain instructions which would eventually bring them back to health. But conditions are hard. They are usually unable to earn much and so do not get proper or even sufficient nourishment. Very often they are in no condition to look after themselves, still less to safeguard the health of others. To meet this difficulty local committees have been formed to look after the discharged patients and see that they do not pass on their disease to members of their families. The task is well nigh hopeless. Even if proper living quarters are to be had sanitation and hygiene cannot be taught overnight. They sleep in air tight rooms, kiss their babies, drink out of the same cups and use the same towels as the rest of their families.

In spite of these appalling difficulties, however, the rapid spread of the disease must—simply must—be checked. Even to attempt this would be an impossibility without the tremendous facilities and aid of the American Red Cross. No other agency [illegible]

HOT DRINKS FOR TIRED FIGHTERS

The Red Cross Rolling Canteen.

In six months the American Red Cross supplied a million French poilus with hot coffee, tea, chocolate, bouillon, at the time they needed it most—just as they were entering the communication trenches for a tour of duty under boche fire or coming out, tired and worn, after their grueling vigil. If you were dragging the tiredest pair of feet in France through the mud, and if you were greeted by a cheery voice and a steaming pint of beef tea, wouldn't it be "a grand and glorious feelin'? Oh, boy!"

Now, this is the work of the "rolling canteen," and some day a Kipling will sing "the story of the tanks"—tanks of broth and bouillon that the Red Cross "Special Front Line Service" trundles up to the lines. The Military Sanitary Service supplies the wagons and utensils. The Red Cross unit does the work. It supplies these hot drinks at a cost of 50 francs ($10) per thousand men, a cent apiece!

Think of that—the penny your little girl sends the Red Cross can buy a big hot cheering drink, a good natured greeting, for a fighting man who desperately needs just that! One penny!

Red Cross Rolling Canteens to the number of 15 are now behind the lines in continuous service. Their crews are exposed to shell fire and often have to put on gas masks.

Eugene Hale, brother of United States Senator Hale, served six months with a rolling canteen in France, and he says:

"While the men are glad to have the hot drinks, their chief satisfaction consists in the sense this service gives them of a friend being there with a helping hand in a critical hour.

"And now the American army has asked the Red Cross to maintain this front-line service directly in touch with the medical relief stations near the Yankee front and this the Red Cross [illegible]

How Much This Year?

The Gisbolt Manufacturing company of Wisconsin has filed a sworn statement required by the laws of Wisconsin showing that it made 100 per cent profits in 1915 and about 200 per cent in 1916. We await patiently the report for last year and this. In the natural order of increase it should be along toward 400 per cent now.

HOT DRINKS FOR TIRED FIGHTERS

The Red Cross Rolling Canteen.

In six months the American Red Cross supplied a million French poilus with hot coffee, tea, chocolate, bouillon, at the time they needed it most—just as they were entering the communication trenches for a tour of duty under Boche fire or coming out, tired and worn, after their grueling vigil. If you were dragging the tiredest pair of feet in France through the mud, and if you were greeted by a cheery voice and a steaming pint of beef tea, wouldn't it be "a grand and glorious feelin'? Oh, boy!"

Now, this is the work of the "rolling canteen," and some day a Kipling will sing "the story of the tanks"—tanks of broth and bouillon that the Red Cross "Special Front Line Service" trundles up to the lines. The Military Sanitary Service supplies the wagons and utensils. The Red Cross unit does the work. It supplies these hot drinks at a cost of 50 francs ($10) per thousand men, a cent apiece!

Think of that—the penny your little girl sends the Red Cross can buy a big hot cheering drink, a good natured greeting, for a fighting man who desperately needs just that! One penny!

Red Cross Rolling Canteens to the number of 15 are now behind the lines in continuous service. Their crews are exposed to shell fire and often have to put on gas masks.

Eugene Hale, brother of United States Senator Hale, served six months with a rolling canteen in France, and he says:

"While the men are glad to have the hot drinks, their chief satisfaction consists in the sense this service gives them of a friend being there with a helping hand in a critical hour."

And now the American army has asked the Red Cross to maintain this front line service directly in touch with the medical relief stations nearest the Yankee front and this the Red Cross is eager to do.

WOMAN'S NERVES MADE STRONG

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Winona, Minn.—"I suffered for more than a year from nervousness, and was so bad I could not rest at night—would lie awake and get so nervous I would have to get up and walk around and in the morning would be all tired out. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and thought I would try it. My nervousness soon left me. I sleep well and feel fine in the morning and able to do my work. I gladly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to make weak nerves strong."—Mrs. ALBERT SULTZE, 603 Olmstead St., Winona, Minn.

How often do we hear the expression among women, "I am so nervous, I cannot sleep," or "it seems as though I should fly." Such women should profit by Mrs. Sultze's experience and give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial.

For forty years it has been overcoming such serious conditions as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, dizziness, and nervous prostration of women, and is now considered the standard remedy for such ailments.

Tree That Wouldn't Die.

One of the giant redwoods in Mendocino county, California, has shown that in spite of its combined foes, the wind and the forest fire, it has made up its mind to keep right on living in the same spot where it has stood for dozens of years. During a terrible storm on the mountain the top of this big tree was broken off, and later the trunk was nearly destroyed by a forest fire; yet enough vitality remained for a young tree to rise from the roots of the older one and to grow up within the wide trunk which serves as a protection against the wind. The original tree was a magnificent specimen more than 11 feet in diameter, towering high in the air, and its youthful successor should be of goodly size when the old stump is ready to fall away.—St Nicholas.

Sounded Like That.

The nurse in a well-to-do family overheard the little son of the house telling his sister how he had hid behind the portiere and spied on big sister and her beau.

"Oh, tell me what they did," cried little sister.

"It was such fun," chuckled the boy. "The big chump flopped down on his knees and then he said: 'Answer me, Clara. I can stand this expense no longer.'"—Boston Transcript.

Reverse Effect.

"Why are you always warning me against loose methods?" "Because they generally end in tight places."

Paradoxical as it may seem, the cradle of the deep is on top of the ocean bed.

Good intentions would be worth more if a man could get them cashed.

MEMORIAL DAY IS PROCLAIMED

President Sets May 30 For Public Humiliation, Fasting and Prayer.

WANTS SPEEDY PEACE

Protestant Churches Will Prepare Common Service Program and Catholic Churches Will Issue Message to Parishioners.

Washington, May 13.—President Wilson designates Thursday, May 30, as Memorial day in a proclamation issued as a day of public humiliation, prayer and fasting.

The people of the nation are asked to gather in that day in their places of worship and pray for the victory of the American arms, which will bring a peace founded upon mercy, justice and good will.

The proclamation, issued in response to a resolution by Congress, follows:

"By the President of the United States, A Proclamation.

"Whereas, the Congress of the United States on the second day of April last, passed the following resolution:

"Resolved, by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), that it being a duty peculiarly incumbent in a time of war humbly and devoutly to acknowledge our dependence on Almighty God and to implore His aid and protection, the President of the United States be and he is hereby respectfully requested to recommend a day of public humiliation, prayer and fasting, to be observed by the people of the United States with religious solemnity and the offer of fervent supplications to Almighty God for the safety and welfare of our cause, His blessings on our arms and a speedy restoration of an honorable and lasting peace to the nations of the earth:

"And whereas, it has always been the reverent habit of the people of the United States to turn in humble appeal to Almighty God for his guidance in the affairs of their common life,

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim Thursday, the thirtieth day of May, a day already freighted with sacred and stimulating memories, a day of public humiliation, prayer and fasting, and do exhort my fellow citizens of all faiths and creeds to assemble on that day in their places of worship and there, as well as in their homes, to pray Almighty God tha He may forgive our sins and shortcomings as a people, and purify our hearts to see and love the truth, to accept and defend all things just and right, and to purpose only those righteous acts and judgments which are in conformity with His will, beseeching Him tha He will give victory to our armies as they fight for freedom, wisdom to those who take counsel on our behalf in these days of dark struggle and perplexity and steadfastness to our people to make sacrifice to the utmost support of what is just and true, bringing us at last the peace in which men's hearts can be at rest because it is founded upon mercy, justice and good will.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done in the District of Columbia this eleventh day of May in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and eighteen and of the independence of the United States, the one hundred and forty-second.

"WOODROW WISON.

"By the President:
"ROBERT LANSING,
"Secretary of State."

The Federal council of the Churches of Christ in America, the general secretary, the Rev. Charles S. MacFarland, announced would contribute to carrying out the President's proclamation by preparing a common program for all Protestant churches for use on Memorial day. The Roman Catholic churches will issue a message to their parishioners.

SEVERELY RAPS WAR SECRETARY

Sculptor Borglum Asks President to Investigate Fully Aircraft Statements.

ABUSE OF CONFIDENCE

Several Military and Division Members Are Accused of Responsibility for Chaotic Conditions in the Service.

Washington, May 13.—Another letter to President Wilson has been made public by Gutzon Borglum, storm center of the aviation controversy.

Borglum begins his statement by denying that he had betrayed the President's confidence, renewing his assertions of grave misconduct in the government aircraft production organization, and insisting that the Senate Military committee should conduct openly and thoroughly the investigation which, he says, he was prevented from making "by the War department under Secretary Baker."

In regard to the documents put into the Senate record Friday which were designed to show that the sculptor attempted to capitalize his friendship with the President by secretly organizing a corporation to produce airplanes, the letter says Secretary Brandegee of Connecticut will submit to the Senate Tuesday or Wednesday detailed affidavits and evidence relating to "this deliberate frameup."

"It is a matter of the gravest concern to me," the letter adds, "that credence could be given to charges of such nature, or that they could have been in your possession, and I have received no intimation of the falsehood until Mr. Marshall intimated that there was some sort of a charge or charges of disloyalty to you. This is so unthinkable that I dismissed and declined even to discuss them."

Mr. Borglum repeats his published answer to the charges and continues:

"It is absurd to state that pro-Germans are clamoring for investigations while the Secretary of War is a party to statements, untrue and unfounded, issued to deceive the nation and serving no other possible purpose except to warn Germany to hurry her own airplane production, as we are forever and forever 'just at the peak of production.'

"Never, I believe, in the history of the country, has a group of men been given so completely a nation's resources, together with the Administration's and the people's confidence, as have the aircraft group, and never has such confidence been more wantonly abused.

"I refer here to Major General Squires, Howard E. Coffin, Colonel Deeds and Colonel Montgomery. These division and military members appear everywhere in the program planned to meet our military needs—and they appear everywhere in the deliberate and elaborate machinery that placed and held the colossal contracts among a few—they appear everywhere in the fine network of falsehood and camouflage, and they include Mr. Baker as their partner in the common statements to the public—they deliberately lied to you and framed up their statements, particularly their failures, and misled Congress before the Senate Military committee, and they directly are responsible for no engines, no planes, no propellers and our vanished appropriations.

WILSON NAMES RED CROSS WEEK

President's Proclamation Designates Week of May 20 as Time For Contributions.

TO RAISE $100,000,000

American People Called On To Make Another Gift For Work of Mercy Organization—Previous Contribution Exhausted.

Washington, May 9.—President Wilson has issued a proclamation designating the week beginning May 20 as "Red Cross Week" and calling upon the American people to contribute generously to the second $100,000,000 war fund of the American Red Cross for the alleviation of suffering among the American troops in France and their dependents at home and among the fighting forces and civilian populations of the allied countries.

The proclamation follows:

"Inasmuch as the war fund of 1917, so generously contributed by the American people to the American Red Cross for the administration of relief at home and abroad, has been practically exhausted by appropriations for the welfare of the men in our military and naval forces and for those dependent upon them and for the yet more urgent necessities of our allies, military and civilian, who have long borne the brunt of war;

"And inasmuch as the American Red Cross has been recognized by law and international convention as the public instrumentality for war relief;

"And inasmuch as the year of our own participation in the war has brought unprecendented demands upon the patriotism and liberality of our people and made evident the necessity of concentrating the work of relief in one main organization which can respond effectively and universally to the needs of humanity under stress of war;

"And, inasmuch as the duration of the war and the closer and closer co-operation of the American Red Cross with our own army and navy, with the governments of our allies and with foreign relief organizations, have resulted in the discovery of new opportunities of helpfulness under conditions which translate opportunity into duty;

"And inasmuch as the American Red Cross war council and its commissioners in Europe have faithfully and economically administered the people's trust;

"Now, therefore, by virtue of my authority as President of the United States and President of the American Red Cross, I, Woodrow Wilson, do hereby proclaim the week beginning May 20, 1918, as 'Red Cross Week,' during which the people of the United States will be called upon again to give generously to the continuation of the important work of relieving distress, restoring the waste of war and assisting in maintaining the morale of our troops and the troops and people of our allies by this manifestation of effort and sacrifice on the part of those who, though not privileged to bear arms, are of one spirit, purpose and determination with our warriors;

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done in the District of Columbia this fourth day of May in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and eighteen and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and forty-second:

YANKS MAKE BOCHES UNEASY

Manifested About Verdun Sector Which U. S. Troops Hold.

With the American Army in Lorraine, May 8.—The enemy is showing uneasiness along the left bank of the Meuse (Verdun sector). This is manifested every night by the use of brilliant lights and by much artillery and machine gun firing and aerial activity.

In the sector northwest of Toul there is heavy firing in the vicinity of Seicheprey, which the Germans temporarily captured recently, but from which they were driven out by a Franco-American counterattack.

American patrols report the German lines are sparsely held on all American sectors, indicating the enemy has drawn all men possible from the entire front to make up their losses in Picardy. This probably accounts for their uneasiness.

It's Poor Economy to Endure a Bad Back

IN these days of rising prices, we need every ounce of strength and the ability to do a full day's work every day. The man or woman with weak kidneys is half crippled. Sore, aching kidneys; lame, stiff back, headache, dizzy spells and a dull, tired feeling and urinary disorders are daily sources of distress. You can't afford to neglect kidney weakness and make it easy for gravel, dropsy or Bright's disease to take you. Get a box of Doan's Kidney Pills today. They have helped thousands. They should help you.

Personal Reports of Real Cases

A MINNESOTA CASE.
Mrs. Henry Zumach, Hutchinson, Minn., says: "A terrible sharp pain caught me in the small of my back and from that time on I had a constant backache night and day. I often got so dizzy that I thought I was going to faint. I got so weak I couldn't lift anything. The doctor said it was from my kidneys but the medicine I took didn't help me. Finally I used Doan's Kidney Pills and after the third box all the pain was gone. I can now do any kind of work without suffering and the bloating and other ailments left me."

A WISCONSIN CASE.
Charles Silberzahn, 7th Ave., West Bend, Wis., says: "My kidney trouble began with a dull, dragging pain in my back, that bothered me day and night. I got so sore and lame at times, I could hardly get up. I tried different kidney remedies but with little help until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They fixed up my back and kidneys in good shape and removed all the ailments. I still take Doan's occasionally and they keep my kidneys regulated."

Floating debts may sink a corporation.

Both Ends
(Producer and Consumer) Against The Middle
(The Packer)

The consumer wants to pay a low price for meat.

The farmer wants to get a high price for cattle.

The packer stands between these conflicting demands, and finds it impossible to completely satisfy both.

The packer has no control over the prices of live stock or meat, and the most that can be expected of him is that he keep the difference between the two as low as possible. He does this successfully by converting animals into meat and distributing the meat at a minimum of expense, and at a profit too small to be noticeable in the farmer's returns for live stock or in the meat bill of the consumer.

Swift & Company's 1917 transactions in Cattle were as follows:

	Average Per Head
Sold Meat to Retailer for . . .	$68.97
Sold By-products for	24.09
Total Receipts	93.06
Paid to Cattle Raiser	84.45
Balance(not paid to Cattle Raiser)	8.61
Paid for labor and expenses at Packing House, Freight on Meat, and Cost of operating Branch distributing houses	7.32
Remaining in Packer's hands as Returns on investment	$ 1.29

The net profit was $1.29 per head, or about one-fourth of a cent per pound of beef.

By what other method can the difference between cattle prices and beef prices be made smaller, and how can the conflicting demands of producer and consumer be better satisfied?

ON GUARD

At this time of the year people feel weak, tired, listless, their blood is thin, they have lived indoors and perhaps expended all their mental and bodily energy and they want to know how to renew their energy and stamina, overcome headaches and backaches, have clear eyes, a smooth, ruddy skin, and feel the exhilaration of real good health tingling thru their body. Good, pure, rich, red blood is the best insurance against ills of all kinds. Almost all diseases come from impure and impoverished blood. It is to be noticed in the pale or pimply face, the tired, haggard appearance or the listless manner.

Drink hot water a half hour before meals, and for a vegetable tonic there's nothing better than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the old-fashioned herbal remedy, which has had such a fine reputation for fifty years. It contains no alcohol or narcotics. It is made from Golden Seal root, Bloodroot, Oregon grape root, Queen's root, Black Cherry bark, extracted with glycerine and made into tablets and liquid. Tablets sixty cents, at most drug stores.

AN ATTACK OF GRIP USUALLY LEAVES KIDNEYS IN WEAKENED CONDITION

Doctors in all parts of the country have been kept busy with the epidemic of grip which has visited so many homes. The symptoms of grip this year are often very distressing and leave the system in a rundown condition, particularly the kidneys which seem to suffer most, as almost every victim complains of lame back and urinary troubles which should not be neglected, as these danger signals often lead to dangerous kidney troubles. Druggists report a large sale on Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root which so many people say soon heals and strengthens the kidneys after an attack of grip. Swamp-Root, being an herbal compound, has a gentle healing effect on the kidneys, which is almost immediately noticed in most cases by those who try it. Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., offer to send a sample size bottle of Swamp-Root, on receipt of ten cents, to every sufferer who requests it. A trial will convince anyone who may be in need of it. Regular medium and large size bottles, for sale at all druggists. Be sure to mention this paper.—Adv.

Red Lake Falls.—Sheriff Charles Fellman arrested John Pope here charged with evading the draft.

Albert Lea.—The Brite Lite factory here was destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at more than $50,000.

St. Peter.—County schools will hold a public graduation for eighth grade pupils on June 5. There will be about seventy graduates.

Hastings.—The Red Cross auction to be held here is expected to attract more than 5,000 persons. Governor Burnquist will be the principal speaker.

Brainerd.—Crow Wing county's call for the National Red Cross war fund is $15,000. D. D. Schrader has been named chairman of the county committee.

Princeton.—Mille Lacs county went clear "over the top" in taking third Liberty Loan bonds. The quota was $150,000, yet the subscription total was $254,000.

St. Peter.—The German Methodist church of Le Sueur is to be known hereafter as the First Methodist Episcopal church and the services are to be conducted in "American language," it was announced.

Minneapolis. — Gardner Stevens, born 62 years ago in the first house erected in Minneapolis, died at his home here after a long illness. He was a son of the late Colonel John H. Stevens, the first settler in the town of St. Anthony.

Carlton.—Dr. J. G. W. Havens of Cloquet, who has served as medical examiner on the Carlton county draft board since its beginning, has resigned, as he is leaving. Dr. James Fleming of the same city has been appointed to fill the vacancy.

Moorhead.—Mrs. R. C. Peterson of Fargo has brought a suit against M. O. Valan, of Rustad, for $900 damages alleged to have been caused March 23 when the cars of Mrs. Peterson and Mr. Valan collided. It is alleged by Mrs. Peterson that Mr. Valan had no lights on his machine.

Mankato.—Fred Marka, writing to relatives here, describes the taking of a German spy on the ship he sailed aboard to the Philippines with his regiment. Marka says the man was found sending a wireless message from the ship when they were about three days out of Manila, and those aboard considered themselves lucky to reach port without being made target for a submarine attack.

Minneapolis.—Ninety-nine per cent of the men and women in Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana who are of German birth are good loyal citizens. They never were disloyal, though at the outset of the war they did not understand. This was the statement made by Prof. Alfred E. Koenig, himself of German nativity, who has just returned from a speaking tour for the Northern division of the Red Cross.

Minneapolis.—Everett G. Engelin, charged with having violated the espionage act, was found guilty on two counts by a jury in Federal district court here. The first count charged him with attempting to incite mutiny in the armed force of the United States and the second with having obstructed recruiting and enlistment service. The indictment was based on an address made by Engelin on a farm near Winsted, Minn., last August.

Anoka.—State authorities are investigating a fire here which destroyed the barn on the farm of Mrs. P. Gorham, burning 15 head of cattle, five horses, some pigs and a new automobile. Mrs. Gorham has been outspoken in her loyalty and evidence found by local investigators pointing to incendiarism, indicates that persons not so outspoken in their loyalty may have resented Mrs. Gorham's attacks on Germanism. The fire, according to officials, started in several places at once.

Winona.—Rev. Father Leo P. Devlin, a young priest who has been assistant at the Winona Cathedral, has returned from Fort Snelling, where he changed his garments of the priesthood for a United States army uniform. Father Devlin applied several weeks ago for a commission in the army as a chaplain. He received his commission this week as a first lieutenant and reported at Fort Snelling. There he was equipped as a soldier and assigned to Fort Shelby, Miss., where he will be assigned to his duties this week.

St. Paul.—The dairy industry of Minnesota and of America has reached a point where increased consumption of milk and milk products is necessary during the next four or five months if this industry is to be maintained sufficiently to supply our absolute needs, in the opinion of Prof. H. H. Kildee of the dairy division of University Farm school. Mr. Kildee has just returned from a dairy conference in Chicago, where plans were outlined that it is hoped will bring the consumption of dairy products up to normal times.

Anoka.—State authorities are investigating a fire which destroyed the barn on the farm of Mrs. P. Gorham, a short distance from here, burning fifteen cattle, five horses, some pigs and a new automobile. Mrs. Gorham has been very outspoken in her loyalty.

Little Falls.—Edward Rolph, who has been stationed at Camp Deming, N. Mex., has been honorably discharged and has returned to his home here. Mr. Rolph was ill for some time with spinal meningitis and has not as yet fully recovered from the disease.

St. Cloud.—Forty candidates will be admitted into the St. Cloud lodge of Elks on June 7.

St. Peter.—The rural school in district 45 realized $500 from a box social and entertainment for the Red Cross.

Morgan.—More than 150 enlisted men took the oath of Home guardsmen when mustered into service by Major Brennan.

Crookston.—George W. Wareham, formerly of Crookston, is dead at St. Paul, where he has made his home for several years.

Deerwood.—Loris Smythe of Bay Lake has made seventy gallons of maple syrup this spring. It took 240 trees to product this amount.

Rochester.—Rochester officials are greatly disappointed over their inability to locate Farmer Armstrong, who murdered his wife and shot his stepson.

Minneapolis.—More than fifty seniors and seventeen graduate students at the University of Minnesota have taken positions as teachers so far this spring for next year.

Thief River Falls.—Mr. and Mrs. Everett Jacoby of this city have gone to Grand Forks, N. D., to make their home. Mr. Jacoby was assistant mechanic at the Soo roundhouse until a couple of months ago and has accepted a position with the Great Northern as engine inspector at Grand Forks.

Red Lake Falls.—The patriotism of the Red Lake farmers is being shown by the way in which they are joining the "Service Acre Club." The club already has 104 members, each of whom have promised to give the crop raised on an acre plot to the Red Cross, Y. M. C. A. or Knights of Columbus war work.

Cambridge.—A. B. Hallin, local banker, chairman of the Isanti county Liberty Loan committee, announces that Isanti county oversubscribed the third Liberty Loan over 60 per cent. He says: "Instead of meeting the county's allotment of $215,000, the amount has been increased to more than $345,000, an oversubscription of more than 60 per cent.

Brainerd.—A. P. Cardle, deputy game warden, was one of a party of four wardens who tramped miles into the wilds out of Two Harbors and arrested Fred Johnson on a charge of illegal trapping. It took five days to find Johnson's camp and it is alleged $200 worth of skins were seized. The furs were confiscated and Johnson, who was brought here, was fined $50 and costs.

Sandstone. — Unfounded reports have been circulated that the Kettle River company planned to discontinue its local quarry, but recent events prove them unfounded. At a meeting of the directors at Minneapolis Monday it was decided to complete all contracts, and some new contracts were accepted. One is for a large amount of cement material for the Great Northern, and also an order for several thousand feet of paving blocks.

Minneapolis. — Following France and England, where manpower has been greatly diminished because of the war, women munition workers will soon appear in this city, replacing men called to the colors. The plan, inaugurated by the Minneapolis Steel & Machinery company, which has large government contracts, will be experimental in its initial phases. Thirty women, who are to receive the same pay as men, thus far have been accepted as employes.

Winona.—There will be packet service between St. Paul, Winona, and Rock Island, according to announcement by Captain Hames Richtman of the steamer Minnesota. He brought a message here from Captain Walter Blair, of the Northern Steamboat line which operated the Morning Star for several years. It is probable that Captain Blair will operate the steamer Helen Blair in the St. Paul-Tri City trade but there are reports that he will have a new boat.

Hinckley.—The work on the state road is now well under way south of Pine City and north of Sandstone. One mile of road south of Rock creek is said to be about completed and crews are at work on both the north end and the south end of the road between Sandstone and Rutledge. Between Pine City and Hinckley work is expected to begin during the coming week. The road between Pine City and Hinckley will be closed during the process of building and the old government road will be used.

St. Paul.—Minnesota can answer all charges of disloyalty and point with pride to the record established by the Minnesota Recruiting District during the month of April. In the thirty day period 1103 men were accepted for service in various branches of the army. Previous to last month, February was the banner month with a record of 909 accepted recruits for the army. The increase is due, Major J. D. Yost, recruiting officer for the district, says, "to hard, untiring work by recruiting committees, to the wide publicity given the needs and demands of the army by the newspapers of the state, and to the cooperation of the authorities in the "Enlist or Work" campaign.

Brainerd.—Fire from burning grass spread to the Brainerd City pumping station, burned the roof, damaged the stack and for a time endangered the city supply of water. The steam pumps were saved. They are shortly to be replaced by electric pumps which were ordered months ago by means of a priority order of the government.

International Falls.—The executive committee of the new Koochiching county farm bureau is to meet on May 16 to outline the work of the league and County Agent Abbott for the coming season.

Reading Pa.

Lord Reading, the British ambassador, is as young looking as he is talented, and his youthful appearance got him into an amusing adventure last week.

He had lunched at a Washington hotel, and when his bill was brought, he told the waiter he would have it charged.

"Indorse it, then, please," said the waiter.

So Lord Reading wrote "Reading" at the foot of the bill, and the waiter snatched it up and hurried away.

He returned in a moment and said contemptuously:

"Here, young feller, sign your name to this. We don't care nothin' about where yer from."

Too Late.

"Hello! Is this Senator Blanks?"

"Yes. What do you want?"

"I want to be appointed postmaster of Breezeville."

"Who are you?"

"I am the son of the present incumbent. Father is very ill, and the doctor says that he cannot last another day. As no one else outside the family is aware of the seriousness of his illness I thought I would call you up to make sure that I was the first—"

"I'm sorry, but some one has anticipated you."

"What! Who was it?"

"The doctor!"—Judge.

Where His Doubt Lay.

Mr. George Robey dearly loves a joke.

Recently a certain well-known brother comedian whom he met casually in the street remarked to him that he had a great mind to write a book.

"I doubt it," replied George.

"Doubt what?" said his friend in an injured voice; "that I can write a book?"

"Oh, no," was the reply; "that you have a great mind."

Knowing G. R.'s reputation for being a bit of a wag his friend readily forgave him.

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUB.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

$1.00 a year, in advance.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879

HARD TO UNDERSTAND.

It has been stated that Pennington county, in proportion to population, has more farmers who are members of the Nonpartisan League than any other county in the state. The Times does not know whether or not this is true, but one thing is certain: A very large percentage of the membership of the league here is dissatisfied with the action taken with regard to the endorsement of a congressional candidate. A considerable number of these members have already expressed their intention of sticking by Steenerson in spite of the fact that some have seen fit to turn him down.

They reason this way: Steenerson has been the friend of the farmer during all of the fourteen years he has been in congress. He is responsible for more legislation of actual benefit to the farmers of the Northwest than any other one man. Whenever the agricultural interests of the state have had a grievance Steenerson has been the champion of their cause—the one man to whom they could always turn with the certainty that their case would be understood. He has never failed them.

Pennington county members say that even though a farmer had been chosen to oppose Steenerson the defection from the ranks of the League on this one particular issue would have been considerable. The man endorsed is not a farmer, however, and certainly has not the knowledge possessed by Mr. Steenerson of the condition confronting farmers of this district.

The League's endersement was but recently made and the attitude of the membership generally has not been sounded. But there is not the slightest doubt of what the verdict will be. The farmers of the Ninth district will stick by their friend.—T. R. Falls Times.

NOT HARD TO UNDERSTAND.

Mr. Barton's record is, twenty five years employment by the railroads. He must have been a faithful employee to have held his job so long, and obeyed the orders of his corporation employers to the letter, and would without doubt continue to do so in Congress. Steenerson has a record of over thirty years fighting corporations and trusts in the interests of the common people. Which one of these two men do you farmers want to represent you in congress? We shall devote considerable space to fighting this congressman fight, for we as a farmer and member of the League do not propose to sit idly by and see the interests of the farmers of this district handed over to the railroad companies.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

ROOT FOR BURNQUIST.

St. Cloud Times: "Fred E. Wheaton, who was recommended by the recent Democratic conference as a candidate for governor, filed on Monday with the secretary of state. As heretofore stated, this is in a sense an insurance nomination. If C. A. Lindbergh, by some inconceivable circumstance, receives the Republican nomination in the primaries, the loyal citizens of Minnesota will still have an upright man of integrity and of undoubted loyalty to vote for in Fred E. Wheaton.

However, the Times, Democratic though it is, is advocating the nomination of Governor Burnquist. Every loyal citizen, no matter of what politics, should support the governor."

The above article shows the hand of the "interests" V.S. the people. Lindbergh will be nominated, and Lindbergh WILL BE ELECTED. The people are in line. He will defeat Burnquist at the primaries, and "skunk" Wheaton in November. Lindbergh is the next governor of Minnesota.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

At the rate that America is now sending men across the water, they will soon be able to take their proper place beside France and England. We should think that Germany would grow tired of any further attempts to fool America by Kaiser Wilhelm being insane and Hindenburg dead. Any rulers of a nation that will march their people up to be slaughtered at the rate of six hundred thousand at one battle, in an attempt to invade another country is certainly crazy. But until the German people realize that fact, the allies will continue to slaughter them, until there are so few of them left that Kaiser Wilhelm will not need any additional territory. If they keep up their fight to invade France, there can be but one end to the war, and that is the annihilation of the German army, and America has the ability to do it, and are now rushing men to the front for that purpose. Of course it seems too bad to wipe them off the face of the earth, but if there is no other way to stop that gang of butchers, they will have to be killed.

Feeding the Army.

An army travels on its stomach. The farmers who are standing behind seeing that food is produced to go forward regularly are as useful in a war as the fighting men.

SECRET FIGHT ON FARMERS' LEAGUE

South Dakota Paper Exposes Underhand Campaign by Big Business.

What appears to be a part of an organized campaign by Big Business to injure the Nonpartisan league came to light in a secret meeting called at Aberdeen, South Dakota, by representatives of a Philadelphia organization. This is in line with the Carpenter incident in Minnesota, in which a Minneapolis capitalist is charged with having attempted to corrupt a league employe; it is of the same order as the fight being waged against the farmers' organization by the Greater Iowa Association, and by the great interests that control the daily press of Montana.

The Mitchell Republican tells of the secret attempt to harm the league in South Dakota as follows:

From the outset, the National Nonpartisan league has done its work entirely in the open.

Why, then, should there have been a SECRET meeting of over 100 South Dakota men in the city of Aberdeen last week for the purpose of plotting the overthrow of the league?

If there is good reason for opposing the league, why isn't it done openly and frankly and above board?

Again, we in South Dakota have a right to know why an organization with headquarters in Philadelphia is coming into this state to say to the farmers that they cannot organize in support of a publicly advocated legislative program.

Philadelphia Interested.

When did Philadelphia acquire the right to dictate to us here in South Dakota what we should do and what we should not do?

How much does Philadelphia care about the welfare of the farmers or the merchants or the bankers or the newspaper men of South Dakota that it should attempt to besmirch and befoul them all in a secret, underhanded, contemptible campaign to break down the league?

What is more, who is back of this nation-wide alliance that was disclosed at the Aberdeen meeting as CARRYING ON the subsurface campaign against the farmers of South Dakota [illegible]

The former secretary of the Democratic organization declares that a revolution is brewing in that party in Colorado; that the Democrats are determined to clean out the gang and restore rules to the people or defeat the Democratic party at the polls.

The people of Colorado need to take a political lesson from the people of North Dakota, where the farmers overcame a somewhat similar condition by sticking together at the polls and electing a legislature of their own pledged to remedy the conditions of which they complained.

Taking Them at Their Word.

For years the farmer has been told what he should do to be successful, how much more he should raise, how he should diversify, what was best to do and best not to do—in fact, the farmer has been overwhelmed with free advice how to get down to business. And now that he is getting down to business in real earnest—and wants to have a say in making the laws he has to do business under—he becomes a "kicker," a "traitor" and other vile names in the eyes of the same fellows who have so long been trying to teach him how to run [illegible]

NOTICE OF SALE

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Four and 43—100 Dollars which became due on the first day of December, 1915, and is due and claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage executed by Eddie Hyland, unmarried, mortgagor, to The Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Oklee, a corporation, mortgagee, bearing date the 28th day of June. 1915, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, on the 24th day of July, A.D. 1915, at 8 o'clock A. M. in Book Three of Mortgages on page 466 thereof; and whereas pursuant to the terms and conditions of said mortgage, by reason of said default, the whole principal sum of said mortgage to-wit: the sum of Fifty-two and 50—100 Dollars [$52.50] became at once due and payable, and was and is hereby so declared by said mortgagee; and that there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of Fifty-two and 50-100 Dollars [$52,50] with interest thereon at the rate of Ten per cent per annum since the 28th day of June, 1915.

And whereas, the power of sale in said mortgage contained has become operative, and no action or proceedings having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof,

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage, contained and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage above described will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, to-wit: The South half [S½] of the South-west quarter [S W¼] of Section No. Four [4], in Township No. One Hundred Fifty-two [152] North of Range Forty (40) West of the Fifth (5) P. M., in Minnesota, containing Eighty (80) acres according to U. S. Government survey, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Pennington County, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County and State, on Friday May 31st, 1918, at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at Public vendue, to pay the said debt and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and an attorney's fee of Twenty-five Dollars as stipulated in and by said mortgage, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of said sale as provided by law.

In ten years the meat trust has grown into the food trust. Now the question is, what sort of an all comprehensive trust will it be in ten years more, if let alone?

Selling Cost One Cent.

The selling cost on a barrel of fuel oil is estimated at one cent. All the rest that the company gets above the cost of production is profit.

How Much This Year?

The Gisbolt Manufacturing company of Wisconsin has filed a sworn statement required by the laws of Wisconsin showing that it made 100 per cent profits in 1915 and about 200 per cent in 1916. We await patiently the report for last year and this. In the natural order of increase it should be along toward 400 per cent now.

ONE HUNDRED MERCIFUL MILLIONS

By HERBERT KAUFMAN

ONE Hundred Millions for the Red Cross and not one penny of it for red tape.

The mightiest charity, the noblest and broadest volunteer movement of history.

The Red Cross shares no enmities, serves no flag but its own. It is God's agent, His healing, merciful will—the answer of twenty ever-gentler centuries to red barbarism.

Twelve million orphan children are wandering about Europe—twelve million frightened little boys and terrorized little girls, sent adrift to sob alone and perish in the wastes—to live like swine and die like curs, unless magnificent America ransoms them from death—and worse.

How many of your pitying dollars will search the desolations and save them for Tomorrow's works?

The Red Cross needs another Hundred Million, to glean the battle areas for this precious seed before it rots in mind and body—before grief and horror and disease and unrestraint irrevocably blight them.

One Hundred Millions to prevent famine and stifle pestilence, to stamp out hideous fevers, to check an earth-wide wave of tuberculosis, to destroy shuddering filths where verminous plagues feed and breed and threaten all the universe.

One Hundred Millions to found hospitals and build rest stations, to send nurses to the Front and refugees back, to forward surgical units and furnish artificial limbs, to buy medicines and operating instruments, to re-educate the mutilated and show the blind where Hope still shines.

One Hundred Millions to maintain communication with detention camps, to provide war prisoners with food and decencies, to take messages out and bring letters in, to negotiate comforts and privileges for the captured, to buy blankets for them and clothes and books and tobacco.

One Hundred Millions for No Man's Land—for stretchers and ambulances, for anesthesia and bandages and antiseptics, to train nurses and orderlies, to outfit and transport skilled specialists, to make sure that a dear one shall have a clean, sweet cot and a sweet, clean girl from home beside it.

One Hundred Millions to keep the world sound and wholesome while the armies of Justice hold it safe.

COUNTRY HAS TWO DUTIES BEFORE IT

PRESIDENT WILSON EXPLAINS WAR AIMS IN NOTABLE ADDRESS AT NEW YORK.

OPPOSES INSINCERE PEACE

More Than Five Million Men, if Necessary, Will Be Sent to France for the Purpose of Defeating the Central Powers.

New York, May 21.—President Wilson called upon America in a speech at a great Red Cross rally in the Metropolitan opera house here, to make war to the limit of its resources and manpower.

Germany's peace moves he declared insincere and designed to give her a free hand for conquest and exploitation in the east.

"If any man in Germany thinks we are going to sacrifice anybody for our own sake," he said, "I tell them now they are mistaken.

"Our first duty is to win the war," the president asserted at the outset of his speech, 'and the second duty is to win it greatly and worthily."

Why Limit to 5,000,000?

"I have heard gentlemen recently say that we must get 5,000,000 men ready. Why limit it to 5,000,000.

"I have asked congress to name no limit, because congress intends, I am sure, as we all intend, that every ship that can carry men or supplies shall go laden upon every voyage with every man and every supply she can carry. And we are not to be diverted from the grim purpose of winning the war by any insincere approaches upon the subject of peace.

"I can say with a clear conscience that I have tested those intimations and have found them insincere. I now recognize them for what they are, an opportunity to have a free hand, particularly in the east, to carry the purposes of conquest and exploitation.

"Every proposal with regard to accommodation in the west involves a reservation with regard to the east.

Will Sacrifice None.

"Now, so far as I am concerned, I intend to stand by Russia as well as France.

"The helpless and friendless are the very ones that need succor, and if any man in Germany thinks we are going to sacrifice anybody for our own sake, I tell them now they are mistaken. For the glory of this war, so far as we are concerned, is that it is, perhaps, for the first time in history, in an unselfish war. I could not be proud to fight for a selfish purpose, but I can be proud to fight for mankind. If they wish peace, let them come forward through accredited representatives and lay their terms on the table. We have laid ours and they know what they are.

May Show Character.

"But behind all this grim purpose lies the opportunity to demonstrate not only force, which will be demonstrated to the utmost, but the opportunity to demonstrate character and it is that opportunity that we have most conspicuously in the work of the Red Cross; not that our men in arms do not represent our character, for they do, and it is a character which those who see and realize, appreciate and admire; but their duty is the duty of force. The duty of the Red Cross is the duty of mercy and succor and friendship.

"Have you formed a picture in your imagination of what this war is doing for us and for the world? In my own mind I am convinced that not 100 years of peace could have knitted this nation together as this single year of war has; and better even than that, if possible, it is knitting the world together.

Day of Duty Comes.

"My friends, a great day of duty has come, and duty finds a man's soul as no kind of work can ever find it.

"May I say this? The duty that faces us all now is to serve one another, and no man can afford to make a fortune out of this war. There are men amongst us who have forgotten that, if they ever saw it. Some of you are old enough—I am old enough—to remember men who made fortunes out of the Civil war, and you know how they were regarded by their fellow citizens. That was a war to save one country—this is a war to save the world.

Relief From Stigma.

"And your relation to the Red Cross is one of the relations which will relieve you of the stigma. You can't give anything to the government of the United States; it won't accept it.

"There is a law of Congress against accepting even services without pay. The only thing that the government will accept is a loan, and duties performed, but it is a great deal better to give than to lend or to pay, and your great channel for giving is the American Red Cross.

"Down in your hearts you can't take very much satisfaction, in the last analysis, in lending money to the government of the United States because the interest you draw will burn your pockets; it is a commercial transaction and some men have even dared to cavil at the rate of interest, not knowing the incidental commentary that constitutes upon their attitude.

"But when you give, something of your heart, something of your soul, something of yourself goes with the gift, particularly when it is given in such form that it never can come back by way of direct benefit to yourself. You know there is the old cynical definition of gratitude, as the lively expectation of favors to come.

No Favors to Come.

"Well, there is no expectation of favors to come in this kind of giving. These things are bestowed in order that the world may be a fitter place to live in; that men may be succored; that homes may be restored; that suffering may be relieved; that the face of the earth may have the blight of destruction taken away from it, and that wherever force goes, there shall go mercy and helpfulness.

"And when you give, give absolutely all that you can spare, and don't consider yourself liberal in the giving. If you give with self-adulation you are not giving at all, you are giving to your own vanity; but if you give until it hurts, then your heart blood goes into it.

Scope International.

"And think what we have here we call it the American Red Cross, but it is merely a branch of that great international organization, which is not only recognized by the statutes of the world, but is recognized by international agreement and treaty as the recognized and accepted instrumentality of mercy and succor. And one of the deepest stains that rests on the reputation of the German army is that they have not respected the Red Cross.

"That goes to the root of the matter. They have not respected the instrumentality they themselves participated in setting up as the thing which no man was to touch, because it was the expression of common humanity.

Emblem of Christianity.

"We are members, by being members of the Red Cross, of a great fraternity and comradeship which extends all over the world, and this cross that these women bore today is an emblem of Christianity itself.

Tribute to Women.

"It fills my imagination to think of the women all over this country who are busy tonight and every night and every day doing the work of the Red Cross, busy with a great eagerness to find out the most serviceable thing to do, busy with a forgetfulness of all the old frivolities of their social relationships, ready to curtail the duties of the household in order that they may contribute to this common work that all their hearts are engaged in, and in doing which their hearts become acquainted with each other.

Into One Family.

"When you think of this, you realize how the people of the United States are being drawn together into a great intimate family whose heart is being used for the service of the soldiers not only, but for the service of civilians, where they suffer and are lost in a maze of distresses and distractions.

Liberty's Servants.

"And you have this noble picture of justice and mercy as the two servants of Liberty.

"For only where men are free do they think the thoughts of comradeship; only where they are free do they think the thoughts of sympathy; only where they are free are they mutually helpful; only where they are free do they realize their comradeship in a common interest and common necessity.

"But after all, although there is no party purpose in it, he got it right as far as the word 'party'; to make the whole world democratic in the sense of community interest and of purpose, and if you could read some of the touching dispatches which come through official channels—for even through these channels there come voices of humanity that are infinitely pathetic—if you could catch some of these voices that speak the utter longing of oppressed and helpless peoples all over the world to hear something like the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," to hear the feet of the great Hosts of Liberty going to set them free, to set their minds free, set their lives free, set their children free, you would know what comes into the heart of those who are trying to contribute all the brains and power they have to this great enterprise of liberty.

"I summon you to the comradeship, I summon you, in this next week, to say how much and how sincerely and how unanimously you sustain the heart of the world."

REPULSE SILENT RAID

Americans Inflict Heavy Losses on German Force.

Enemy Fails in Attempt to Make Surprise Attack and Is Beaten Back in Hand to Hand Fight.

With the American Army in France, May 20.—A vigorous silent raid on one of the American combat groups in the Luneville sector was attempted by the Germans, but they met with defeat.

The raid was a complete failure and cost the enemy considerable losses. None of the Americans are missing. The fight was carried on with hand grenades, rifles and revolvers and it was virtually hand to hand. The Germans beat a hasty retreat after 10 minutes, carrying dead and wounded with them. One dead German, however, was left behind.

The scene of the encounter was about a mile and a half houthwest of Bremenil.

Prisoners taken recently are all under 20 years of age.

Committees have been apppinted for the joint observance of Memorial day.

CAMPAIGN IN EAST AFRICA

British Defeat Germans in Battle Lasting All Day.

London, May 20.—British troops campaigning against the German East Africa forces have won another success; after heavy fighting, and inflicted heavy losses on the Germans, it is officially announced.

The engagemnet began when a small body of British African riflemen surprised an important German camp and set the huts on fire. The Germans counter attacked and the British force fell back, fighting heavily all day long. Before the day was over, however, the British rallied their forces and the fighting ended with the defeat of the Germans, who sustained heavy losses.

HEAVY BRITISH CASUALTIES

List for Last Week Shows 39,889 Men Killed, Wounded and Missing.

London, May 20.—British casualties compiled from official lists published during the past week totaled 39,889.

The casualties were divided as follows: Officers killed, 322; wounded, 1,024; missing, 447. Men killed, 4,333; wounded, 20,701; missing, 13,032.

Star Distance Runner in Draft.

Melrose, Mass., May 20.—Clarence H. De Mar, one of the best known long distance runners in the country, has been ordered to report at Fort Slocum, N. M., May 27. De Mar first attracted attention in 1906, when he won the Boston Athletic association marathon race, Ashland to Boston, a distance of 25 miles, lowering the record made by Tom Longboat, the Indian runner. De Mar was one of the team which represented the United States in the marathon at the Olympic games at Stockholm.

BLASTS WRECK CHEMICAL PLANT

Series of Explosions Kills and Injures Several Hundred Persons at Oakdale, Pa.

HEAVY PROPERTY LOSS

Dwellings for Miles Around Are Shaken From Their Foundations, Trees Uprooted and Many Windows Shattered.

Oakdale, Pa., May 20.—About 200 men were killed, over 300 persons, including several women, were injured, hundreds of families were made homeless and property worth about $2,000,000 was destroyed by a series of explosions that wrecked the plant of the Aetna Chemical company here.

Soda, trinitrotolul (T. N. T.) and trinitro ammonia (T. N. A.), the last an even more powerful explosive than the terrible T. N. T., were the agents of destruction. Federal and state authorities are investigating the cause.

Many of Victims Rescuers.

Many of the killed and injured were rescuers, crushed by masses of burning debris when they were caught in a trap by the fourth explosion, which came without warning more than an hour after the first three blasts.

Several rescuers perished when the fourth explosion hurled from its piers a bridge over a small stream which they were crossing. Blazing ammonia had converted the stream into a river of fire and the persons on the bridge were flung into this and burned.

Scores Die in Hot Debris.

Scores of injured workmen burned to death while the intense heat from flaming debris held an army of would be rescuers at bay.

One woman nurse, terribly injured while trying to give aid to a wounded negro, begged that her life might be saved so that she could go to France for service on the battlefields.

Oakdale is just outside Pittsburgh.

The plant was completely demolihed with a loss of $1,500,000.

Houses Wrecked Miles Around.

Houses for miles around were shaken from their foundations, trees were uprooted and windows shattered. It is believed that the total loss will aggregate in the neighborhood of $2,000,000.

Horror was added to the explosion when the debris caught fire. The embers ignited houses at Fort Pitt and Rennerdal, adjoining boroughs and the occupants rushed to Oakdale. There they were warned that several large tanks of T. N. T. might explode at any minute and frantically fled to the hillsides for safety.

British Destroyer Torpedoed.

London, May 20.—A British destroyer was sunk by a German submarine, the admiralty announces. The announcement reads: "One of the British destroyers was torpedoed and sunk by an enemy submarine on May 14. Two men were killed."

Gives $500,000 to Charity.

Chicago, May 20.—Mrs. Potter Palmer's will, disposing of her personal estate valued at $1,600,000, and her dead husband's trust, valued at $15,000,000, has been filed for probate here. The former society leader divided Mr. Palmer's estate equally between their two sons. Of her own estate she left $525,000 to various charities, $100,000 to the Chicago art institute, gifts of from $500 to $8,000 to servants, annuities to relatives and $100,000 each to her sons' wives.

SHIPS BEING CHANGED

All Available Vessels Will Be Made Into Transports.

High Speed Engines Necessary to Make Them a Success Are Being Installed.

Washington, May 20.—Whether originally intended so or not, every ship suitable for carrying troops to France will be fitted out with the necessary high speed engines to make it a transport.

The remark of President Wilson at the opening of the Red Cross drive in New York: "Why limit our army to 5,000,000 men?" was not so much an expression of hope as a reflection of preparation for a colossal army in France as quickly as ships can get them there.

The United States Shipping board, it was learned, has ordered every troop ship in every stage of construction rushed, and has given orders to change the program whenever possible to turn ships out as tranports instead of Cargo carriers.

That was the reason behind the board's request to the Navy department through General Goethals for some of the turbine engines made for th new destroyers. It was thought by Edward N. Hurley that the War department could get the transports its new army plan calls for by putting these high horsepower engines into suitable ships not now equipped for rushing troops to Europe.

NINTH DISTRICT LEADS ALL

Has 172 Per Cent Surplus in Third Liberty Loan.

Washington, May 20.—The total of the third Liberty Loan is $4,170,019,650, an oversubscription of 39 per cent above the three billion minimum that was sought. The number of subscribers was about 17,000,000. Every federal reserve district oversubscribed, the Minneapolis district going to 172 per cent, the highest, and the New York district to 124 per cent, the lowest.

The treasury explained that the total may be changed slightly by later reports from reserve banks.

"This is the most successful loan the United States has offered, both in number of subscribers and in the amount realized," said Secretary McAdoo in a statement.

DANGER IN GERMAN PEACE

Former Socialist Leader Advocates Defeat of Teutons.

New York, May 20.—John Spargo, former member of the national executive committee of the socialist party, told the Economic club here that even if Germany gave up Alsace-Lorraine, northern France, Serbia and Rumania, and remained master of the economic resources of Russia, it would not only be Russia that had become the vassal of Germany, but America, too, would find herself under the yoke of the Central Powers.

"We have less need to fear the German legions of war than the whisper of German monitors suggesting peace," declared Mr. Spargo. "I am not so much afraid of the Prussian making war as I am of the Prussian prating peace."

Plans Woman's Police Reserve.

New York, May 20.—Orders for organization of a woman's police reserve force of 10,000 members and of a women's police training corps, as recommended by Rodman Wanamaker, special deputy police commissioner, have been issued by Police Commissioner Enright. Every precinct captain in the city was directed to recruit in his district a unit of womenreserves and to assign as its commander a competent woman, whose duties will be equivalent to those of a police reserve captain.

AMERICANS ARE IN FRONT LINE

Indications Are German Preparations For Another Great Blow Are About Complete.

PLACING HEAVY GUNS

Allied Soldiers Are Convinced That Enemy Cannot Obtain Any Advantage Except by Paying a Fearful Price.

London, May 20.—While the Germans in Picardy and Flanders are keeping up incessantly their preparations to resume the spring drive, there is no indication that an advance on a large scale will take place immediately.

London, May 20.—Although the Germans in Flanders and Picardy are keeping up incessantly their preparations for a resumption of their spring drive, there is no indication that an attack on a large scale is immediately emminent.

For several weeks the enemy has been engaged issiduously in bringing up guns and supplies of all kinds, with new forces to reconstitute the units which the American, British and French guns cut to pieces as he tried at various points to break the Allied line. The feeling now is that this work is fairly well done and that any day may witness the opening of another great offensive on the Western front.

Americans Rushed to Front.

As ready as is the enemy for the battle, the Allied armies stand, so far as men and gunpower are concerned, and confident that no advantage will be gained over them except, as has been usual by the payment of an awful price in men fed to the guns. Large numbers of Americans daily are being brought to the front, ready for immediate service, or are reinforcing the units under intensive training immediately behind the battle line.

Meanwhile, the big guns continue to roar in mighty duels on various sectors, and here and there small bands of infantry constantly are leaving their trenches in raids or small attacks with the object of capturing pieces of terrain which may be of strategic value when the big fight begins.

British Capture Village.

The latest of these small affairs where a bit of ground wes required has been sucessfully carried out by the British in the capture of the village of Ville-Sur-Ancre, in the Amiens sector.

Not only was the position taken, but with it 360 prisoners and 20 machine guns fell into the hands of Field Marshal Haig's troops, whose own casualties were slight.

In raiding operations northwest of Albert and near Hamel, the British also were able to take additional prisoners and machine guns.

AMERICA IS PROUD TO HELP

President Wilson Sends Message To People of France.

Paris, May 20.—On the eve of the great German offensive, says an official note issued here, President Wilson, anxious to address a message to the French people, has asked one of his personal friends, James Kerney, director of the Franco-American committee on public information, to convey the following to them: "The people of the United States is happy to find itself in the brotherhood of arms with the people of France in war in which every man who loves right ought to be proud to take part."

TURNING OUT WOODEN SHIPS

American Yards Launching Over One Vessel a Day.

Washington, May 20.—Wooden ships have been launched at the rate of more than one a day for the past four weeks.

The shipping board announced that just 17 wooden craft aggregating 60,000 tons burden had been added to the American merchant marine in the first 17 days of this month.

Cadet Flier Is Killed When Plane Crashes to Earth.

Wichita Falls, Tex., May 20.—His machine bursting into flames while 1,000 feet in the air, as he was flying as one of a formation of five, Jerome T. Auken, cadet, 22 years old, met death at Gall field when the plane crashed to earth on the flying field. Auken was an advanced student in the solo class.

Woman Surveys War Plants.

Chicago, May 20.—Miss Florence King, president of the National Association of Business Women, has just completed a survey of war plants for the ordnance department of the army to determine the kinds of work for which women are fitted. She inspected plants in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Indiana, where 2,000 women have replaced men. She declares that registration of women for work in war industries to take the places of drafted men soon will begin in Chicago and other big industrial centers.

News of the State

Condensed for Busy Folks

Pillager.—Pillager had a big Red Cross sale and picnic which was a huge success from every standpoint.

Brainerd.—Rev. William B. Riley, pastor of the First Baptist church of Minneapolis, will deliver a course of lectures here next month.

Stillwater.—Vital statistics show 377 children were born in Washington county from January 1 to December 31 last year, 180 females and 197 males.

Stillwater.—Ernest Hopkins, a farmer of Withrow, has the distinction this year of being the first farmer in Washington county to have his corn planted.

St. Paul.—Public dance hall proprietors in Minnesota have been notified by the state public safety commission that dances in the state on Sunday are forthwith forbidden.

St. Paul.—Running out on the street alone for the first time in her life, 3-year-old Margaret Horrigan, daughter of a city fireman, met death under the wheels of a huge five-ton loaded truck.

St. Cloud.—Apparently on the road to recovery from a severe siege of diphtheria, Henry Theisen, 37, well known farmer residing near the city limits north of St. Cloud, dropped dead in his barn on the farm.

St. Cloud.—Dr. Fred H. Stangl, who will be graduated from Rush Medical college in June, is twelfth highest among the 300 students taking the civil service examination for an internership in the Cook county hospital, one of the largest of its kind.

Hallock.—The Kittson county farm bureau and county farmers' clubs are figuring on a big county picnic this summer to be given under the auspices of the Red Cross society. The date has not yet been definitely settled upon, but it will be some time in June.

Mankato.—Viola Tolzman, 7 years old, of Belle Plaine, had two of her fingers shot off while playing with a dynamite cap. With the younger brother, she found two of these explosive caps and they proceeded to play with them.

Crookston.—The Bygland branch of the Red Cross was organized a month ago and a few days ago had an auction sale of different farm products which the farmers donated. The sale netted $464, which is considered a success considering the size of the community.

St. Paul.—The German language will not be taught in St. Paul public schools in 1919 and all teachers of that language must seek other positions. This announcement was made by Commissioner Albert Wunderlich of St. Paul, following dismissal of Miss Ilse G. Probst, teacher of German, for pro-German sympathies.

St. Paul.—Several men were slightly injured and two girls fainted when a crowded street car with passengers stalled astraddle a railway crossing as a freight train rapidly bore down on the car. Men and girls jumped thru the car windows in a panic. The street car cleared the crossing just as the freight train reached them.

Aitkin.—Carl Elmer Carlson, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Carlson of Grayling, Aitkin county, was drowned in Sandy river a few yards from the child's home. When missed a search was made and the body was in the water five hours before it was discovered. Coroner W. H. Kast of Aitkin considered an inquest unnecessary.

Minneapolis.—John H. Ray of this city is a new member of the state board of law examiners in a list of appointments announced by the State supreme court. C. J. Traxler, secretary of the board, is retired. Other members receiving reappointments are Frank L. Cliff, Ortonville, Frank E. Jutnam, Blue Earth; Newe H. Clapp, St. Paul; Stephen H. Somsen, Winona, and Charles Lorins, Crookston. The court order is effective June 1.

St. Paul.—The entire output of Minnesota flour mills from now until the next harvest, can be shipped to the allies so far as Minnesota is concerned, A. D. Wilson, state food administrator, announced. Mr. Wilson said that the investigation by county administrators proved there was enough flour on hand to serve the state, provided it is properly re-distributed and used according to regulations issued by the national food administration.

Moorhead.—Miss Alice Peck has been engaged to assist A. C. O'Banion, county agent, in supervising boys' and girls' club work in Clay county, and will supervise the bread-making contest to be held in the domestic science rooms of the state normal school here on May 25. The contestants will be the winners in the local contests held throughout Clay county. Miss Peck was formerly supervisor of boys' and girls' work in New York state.

St. Paul.—Attorney Charles Donnelly, former assistant general counsel of the Northern Pacific railroad, has been made general solicitor, President J. M. Hannaford announced. The new position was created chiefly because General Counsel C. F. Bunn is forced to spend most of his time in Washington.

Northome.—J. Garrison was severely injured while trying to lift a hay rack alone, when it slipped, knocking him down, his head striking a stone. After lying unconscious for some time he finally crawled to the house and medical aid was summoned.

Perham.—Fire destroyed the Catholic church and high school here.

Bemidji.—F. B. Lamson has left for Marshfield, Wis., at the solicitation of the chamber of commerce of that city to investigate a tentative offer to act as secretary of that organization.

Moorhead.—Dr. W. P. Green, representing the state board of health, will hold an infantile paralysis clinic in the Clay county courthouse on Friday, June 17.

St. Cloud.—J. L. Schling was convicted on a charge of having kept liquor in his cottages at Clearwater lake without having a license and given sixty days.

St. Paul.—Archbishop Ireland celebrated the thirtieth anniversary of his ordination as archbishop. Three weeks ago Archbishop Ireland was critically ill. He is rapidly regaining his health, it is announced.

Red Wing.—Seven young ladies will receive their diplomas as graduate nurses of St. John's Hospital School for Nurses at graduation exercises to be held at St. John's church. Among the graduates is Miss Emma Plolum, Maddock, N. D.

Little Falls.—The service flag ordered by the Relief Corps of the G. A. R. has arrived and will be dedicated and put up in the postoffice. The flag has 140 stars and a few more will be added before its dedication. The flag is 15x9 feet.

Fosston.—Herman Schmoke, a well-known resident of Gully, was taken to Fergus Falls by Federal officers, having been arrested on the charge of making seditious utterances. He also refused to buy Liberty bonds or assist Red Cross or Y. M. C. A.

International Falls.—County Auditor Fraser conducted the state land sale at which six or eight forties were disposed of. Considerable of the best land listed has been withdrawn by the state auditor for improvement purposes under amendment No. 1.

Minneapolis.—S. E. Clemmings, 26 years old, son of a wealthy local restaurant proprietor, was arrested here by agents of the department of justice as an alleged draft evader. Clemmings, who is a Yale student, admitted failing to register, according to the police.

Ada.—Theodore Pinske of the town of Strand, Norman county, one of the most prosperous farmers in Norman county, has been bound over to the grand jury, charged with making seditious remarks and abusing President Wilson when he was asked to buy Liberty bonds.

Brainerd.—The jitney ordinance adopted by the village council of Deerwood, and which was fought by the bus drivers, was declared unconstitutional and void by Judge W. S. McClenahan in district court. The village will refund the license money collected, about $450.

Fergus Falls.—Nine freight cars were demolished near here when two freight trains collided. The wrecked cars were loaded with pianos and automobiles. All trains were routed around by Breckenridge until the track was cleared. None of the crew was seriously injured.

Mankato.—George W. Fulton and Albert B. Fox, manager and publicity man of the Minnesota Leader, were arraigned here on a charge of criminal libel. It is alleged that they printed articles assailing Sheriff Charles Livingston of Rice county. Pleas of not guilty were entered for both.

Stillwater.—Another star has been added to the Minnesota state prison service flag for J. Clarence Fitzgerald, making thirteen stars. Other boys from the prison serving the colors are Justin V. Smith, Walter Nelson, Thomas Stanek, J. R. Haefner, J. A. Ryan, C. R. Kilty, Oscar Anderson, George Miller, Willard Kienholz, and B. F. Hood.

St. Cloud.—A boy found a carrier pigeon, believed to belong to the United States navy, and the matter was reported by the police to the department of justice. An aluminum disk tag had been attached to its leg. On this tag was printed the figures 1175 and on the outer circle were the characters A1, in horizontal form, with the figure 17, in parallel, and the letter E, in horizontal.

St. Paul—First Minnesota fire losses of 1918 caused by lightning have been reported to George H. Nettleton, assistant state fire marshal. Two fires occurred in an electrical storm in Lincoln county. George J. Lang's general merchandise store and dwelling at Ivanhoe were destroyed. The loss was estimated at $35,000, the insurance $26,700. The second fire destroyed the farm dwelling of Chris Jorgensen, near Lake Benton, with $1,400 loss, fully insured.

Stillwater.—United States Marshal Joseph A. Fessel came here after Mrs. Gertrude Modical and James Fritchie of Janesville, Wis., arrested here some time ago on the charge of the woman's husband, who charged them with violating the Mann white slave act. The Federal officer took them to Superior, Wis., where they were turned over to the Federal officers of Wisconsin. The couple have been held in the county jail for the last three weeks awaiting the arrival of Federal authorities.

Hibbing.—Fire starting in the home of a miner at Carson Lake caused the destruction of a store, a theater and 25 homes. A strong wind spread the fire rapidly and it was stopped only by dynamiting three buildings in its path. The total loss is estimated at $75,000.

Crookston.—The Central avenue bridge over the Northern Pacific [illegible] open to traffic after being closed for the past several weeks for [illegible]. The grade has been lowered and sharp dropoff has been filled [illegible] bridge now being in first-class condition.

Heals Running Sores and Conquers Piles.

Also Stops Itching of Eczema as Soon as Applied.

"I feel it my duty to write you a letter of thanks for your wonderful Peterson's Ointment. I had a running sore on my left leg for one year. I began to use Peterson's Ointment three weeks ago and now it is healed."—A. C. Gilbrath, 703 Reed St., Erie, Pa.

I'd rather get a letter like that, says Peterson, than have John D. Rockefeller give me a thousand dollars. It does me a lot of good to be able to be of use to my fellow men.

For years I have been selling through druggists a large box of PETERSON'S OINTMENT for a trifle. The healing power of this ointment is marvelous. Eczema goes in a few days. Old sores heal up like magic; piles that other remedies do not seem to even relieve are speedily conquered. Pimples and nasty blackheads disappear in a week. 30 cents a box.

MARCH TO VICTORY

Courage is a matter of the blood. Without good red blood a man has a weak heart and poor nerves.

In the spring is the best time to take stock of one's condition. If the blood is thin and watery, face pale or pimply, generally weak, tired and listless, one should take a spring tonic. One that will do the spring house-cleaning, an old-fashioned herbal remedy that was used by everybody nearly 50 years ago is still safe and sane because it contains no alcohol or narcotic. It is made up of Blood root, Golden Seal root, Oregon Grape root, Queen's root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark—extracted with glycerine and made into liquid or tablets. This blood tonic was first put out by Dr. Pierce in ready-to-use form and since then has been sold by million bottles as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If druggists do not keep this in tablet form, send 60 cents for a vial to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Kidney disease carries away a large percentage of our people. What is to be done? The answer is easy. Eat less meat, eat coarse, plain food, with plenty of vegetables, drink plenty of water between meals, and take an uric acid solvent after meals for a while, such as Anuric (double strength), obtainable at almost any drug store. It was first discovered by Dr. Pierce. Most every one troubled with uric acid finds that Anuric dissolves the uric acid as hot water does sugar. You can obtain a trial package by sending ten cents to Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute in Buffalo, N. Y.

Don't Be Afraid of Your Meals

Take "Eatonic" and Laugh At Stomach Troubles

H. L. Kramer, the man who originated Cascarets, has discovered a sure, safe, quick-acting relief for bad stomachs. He named it EATONIC for your stomach's sake.

You can eat anything you like now and digest it in comfort, for stomach ease is positively assured if you eat an EATONIC tablet regularly after each meal.

EATONIC acts directly with the food the moment it enters the stomach. It immediately checks any tendency toward too much acid and enables the food to pass from the stomach into the bowel in a sweetened condition, and thus prevents the formation of sour, distressing gases that upset digestion and cause a bloated, dull, lumpy feeling that makes your FOOD REPEAT.

EATONIC enables you to eat your fill and laugh at indigestion, dyspepsia, heartburn, "sour stomach" and all the other bugaboos of "the-man-afraid-of-his-stomach."

Kramer says: "EATONIC should be in every home ready for use after every meal. An EATONIC tablet will aid you naturally to easily digest and assimilate—your food can be thoroughly enjoyed without the slightest danger of misery from acid stomach. I strongly advise every one to take EATONIC after meals. To correct bad stomachs and keep them in perfect condition, it is a most wonderful discovery."

If EATONIC fails to give you prompt stomach relief, your money will be refunded; 50c buys a large box at any drug store. Or write to Eatonic Remedy Co., 1018 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago, U. S. A.

Louis F. Post, assistant secretary of labor is out with a long statement advising the farmers how to run their business and what salary to pay their hired help. He concludes his article by saying: "Finally, better housing and better food are needed. These are things the government expects from the farmer."

The above looks all right in print, to a town or city dude that never saw a farm, but it looks ridiculous to an actual farmer. How can you expect an actual farmer to give his hired help better food, when he is forbidden to do so by the government? It ordinarily takes about eighteen pounds of flour a month to properly feed a hard working farm hand. The government now says feed him only twelve lbs., and Mr. Post says, feed him better. How can we feed him better, when we are forbidden to buy enough flour to feed him by the government? It is all right for those wise type writer pounders to give advice to the farmers how to run their business, for this article is to inform them to save their wind, for the United States farmers fully understand the situation, and the appeal of President Wilson for a greater production, and we are going to deliver the goods, and no further advice is needed.

Peter C. Wold, commissioner from the First district, yesterday filed for re-election. No man has as yet given an indication of contesting for the place and it would not be surprising if Mr. Wold be chosen as his own successor without having to make a contest.—T. R. Falls Times.

It was a surprise to us that Mr. Wold had cheek enough to file for re-election. There will be opposition all right, and you bet we are going to put his record as County Commissioner before the voters of this district. After they read it in actual figures from the record, if they want to re-elect him we are satisfied, but we will bet you they wont. And by the way: You will now all know how you came to get a bridge at Highlanding, who fought for it, and who opposed it, all from actual records on file in this office.

Eugene Debbs has come out and denounced the German brand of socialism, which places Kaiser Wilhelm first and socialism second. The deal that was worked on the poor Russian deluded socialists is enough to make America sit up and take notice. After the German socialists had sent their agents among them, and got them to talk peace and disarm, they, the German socialists picked up their guns and followed Kaiser Wilhelm to invade and destroy their country. They tried the same tactics in America, but it failed to work, and we are now rushing our armies to the front in France, and they are not going there to talk socialist peace but to fight for Democracy.

There is no change in the race between Governor Burnquist and Charles A. Lindbergh of Little Falls, the candidate indorsed by the Nonpartisan league and labor unions, except that a good many of the old line politicians are beginning to privately admit that Lindbergh probably will win the nomination. It is practically conceded that the labor vote will be against Burnquist and the growing strength of the Nonpartisan league and the disposition of many non-league farmers to vote for the candidates endorsed by the league, is awakening some of the most obtuse reactionaries who have steadily pooh-poohed at the idea of the farmers cutting any figure in the election. Lindbergh is also said to be surprisingly strong in many of the smaller cities of the state. He had a splendid record in Congress and many progressive business and professional men think that a man of his constructive vision will be needed in dealing with war and after war problems.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

It is no excuse for a German in America to say he has relatives in the German army, and can not help being in sympathy with them. The time for such talk is past. Brother fought brother, and fathers fought sons, in the war of the Rebellion. This is war! Get into the fight! If your sympathies are with Kaiser Wilhelm get over there, and help him fight, not be shooting off your mouth about peace, peace in America.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

The politicians who are fighting the Nonpartisan league do not have much of an opinion of the intelligence of the farmers, judging from the method they use in their assault.

SMALL BUSINESS MAN SHOULD LINE UP RIGHT

"You are fighting monopolistic big business; not competitive little business. I wish the small business men of the state and the nation could come to see that. Few of them make the distinction, but it is vital. In spite of the fact that they are being pinched tighter and tighter every year till they have become practically selling agents for the big fellows at their own risk, they still continue to think somehow that they are independent business men like their fathers were. But they are not—and in this great struggle they belong with the masses and not with the classes.

"The league sees that to fight monopoly successfully there must be a bigger monopoly—that the only one possible now is that of the whole people acting through their government. If the little business men do not see this and remain between the lines and get run over they have no one to blame but themselves. The producers of the nation cannot maintain the present system of excessive profit and economic robbery for the convenience of the men between the people and the trusts. The old system must give way to the new."—From Speech of Judson King at St. Paul convention of farmers and workers.

750 Children Herded In Dirty Dilapidated Building Typical Red Cross Case

An official of a French city that was being filled with gas bombs by the Germans found himself confronted with the problem of looking after 750 children. He telegraphed the American Red Cross in Paris for help. Fifteen trained workers were rushed to the relief of these children.

Here is what the Red Cross workers found: Twenty-one tiny babies under one year old, and 729 children under eight years. They were herded in an old, dirty, unfurnished building without a suggestion of sanitary convenience. It was the best and safest the French official could find,—such as [illegible] that you would not think it [illegible] American Red Cross workers did in two days: They thoroughly cleaned and transferred to new buildings outside the city the entire 750 children. Red Cross doctors attended the sick; nurses were secured for the babies. Suitable food was provided for all, and they were so classified as to provide against the separation of families; also an organization for the permanent care of these children, including their education, was started and has since been put into operation.

So much for the 750. But how about the thousands upon thousands of others? Right now, the little children of France are at your doors, crying for food, shelter, protection against German brutality and dying as they cry.

MACHINERY PRICES STILL GOING UP

Farmers Must Pay Increased Costs Regardless of Set Price on Wheat.

While the farmers have accepted the set price on their 1918 crop of wheat and gone right ahead preparing to raise the largest amount of grain ever grown in the history of the country, advances have been steadily made in the things they will have to buy, so that the purchasing price of a bushel of wheat will take another shrinkage by the time the season is over.

Indisputable evidence is being furnished the federal trade commission of a general raise in the price of all machinery and supplies needed on the farm for the season of 1918, and the commission is asked to take action to protect the farmers from this unnecessary exploitation.

Want Prices On Commodities Fixed.

Senator Curtis of Kansas made an appeal on the floor of the senate the other day for a spirit of fairness with relation to the things the farmer has to buy and sell. He wanted some plan provided where the farmer, whose wheat prices has been fixed, could have protection as well in the quantity of machinery he is required to buy this spring.

He called attention to an exchange of letters between Ed Hockaday of Oklahoma, and Victor Murdock, of the Federal Trade commission. Hockaday is one of the largest machinery dealers in the south, owning several large stores throughout that section. He charged in his letter that the manufacturers were making unjust advances in prices on machinery and farm supplies, and Mr. Murdock wrote and asked him if he could give specific information.

Concerns Are All Named.

Hockaday responded with a list of the firms who are raising prices over those of a year ago and named enough direct instances to satisfy the most curious. He mentioned the John Deere Plow Co., Emerson-Brantingham Co., Rock Island Plow Co., International Harvester Co., Oliver Plow Co., Parlin & Orendorff Plow Co. In 1916 they put on a small advance of 10 per cent or 15 per cent; in the early part of 1917 they made several advances, and later they put on 25 or 30 per cent more.

For instance, let us take a gang plow weighing 700 pounds, which during 1916 cost $53 to $55. The price is $100 to $105 now, and the same old say, is still the limit. Take a seven-foot wheat binder, including tongue-truck and transport. In 1916 the retailer paid $120. In the fall of 1916 it advanced $10. In the spring of 1917 there was another advance of $16, and last fall there was a $57 advance, making a total of $83 and bringing the cost to $203. This is 70 per cent.

It is now up to Federal Trade commission to act and act soon.

Next week we shall take up the records of the building of the Highlanding bridge, and publish enough of them to convince any man that there is no credit coming to P. C. Wold for the building of this bridge, and after the bridge was built, he would not try to have the approaches to it completed last fall, but W. G. Hunt had to attend to that, or we might have been climbing up on the bridge with ladders all winter.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

The thriving little village of Goodrigde gave a celebration last Monday to open their creamery. There was a large number present from Thief River Falls, and addresses were made by County Agent White and Professor J. H. Hay, who made the statement, that if the patrons of the Goodridge creamery are tempted to ship their cream to an outside creamery because they can at the present time get a cent more a pound for it, they are making a bad mistake, for by doing so they would close the doors of their home creamery. The above applies to the Highlanding creamery at this time.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

We take the position, that at least the greater part paid into the county road and bridge fund from a township had ought to be returned to them to build and improve roads in their own township. Of course this cannot always be done every year, but if the practice of not giving them anything back is continued year after year, it simply robs one part of the county for the benefit of another part. Do you think this is fair? If you do, vote for P. C. Wold for county commissioner, and give your share of the road and bridge funds due you, year after year to some other part of the county. TO THE VOTERS OF PENNINGTON COUNTY:

For 28 years I have been a resident of what is now Pennington County.

I have at different times, been Village Recorder, City Clerk, Mayor and for 18 years member of the Board of Education of the city of Thief River Falls, from its organization.

With others I have taken an active part in the affairs of the county and city in the upbuilding of local public utilities and educational institutes.

The compensation in money for this work has been small or none at all.

In seeking the office of Register of Deeds, considered a good paying office, I refer the voters to my public services. I am willing to stand or fall on my record of the past 28 years.

I am under no political obligations to any party and have formed no combinations with others running for office.

Your vote and support will be greatly appreciated.

Yours Respectfully,

Pennington County's third annual Community Picnic will be held on Flag day, June 14th. This year the picnic will be held on the S. L. Holm farm, at Highlanding. This beautiful location is one half mile south of the Highlanding bridge on the bank of the river. Splendid boating, fishing and swimming is to be had on duty all day and evening.

PROGRAM.

Miss Holliday of the Northwest School at Crookston will be present to render vocal selection and to lead in chorus singing. Miss Holliday is a rare artist and is worth going miles to hear. Judge F. T. Wilson of Stillwater will be the speaker of the day. He will give his famous lecture on "Community Life and Community Spirit." Mr. Wilson is one of the orators of the day. He comes with a message that will be an inspiration to all who hear him. The remainder of the day will be taken up with a ball game, racing, boating, fishing and resting. Let's all forget for one day all the trying cares of life, and take in the picnic, where we can meet old friends and acquaintances and make new ones. Forget our troubles and have a splendid good time together.—Let's go.

THAT CHANGE IN WOMAN'S LIFE

Mrs. Godden Tells How It May be Passed in Safety and Comfort.

Fremont, O.—"I was passing through the critical period of life, being forty-six years of age and had all the symptoms incident to that change—heat flashes, nervousness, and was in a general run down condition, so it was hard for me to do my work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me as the best remedy for my troubles, which it surely proved to be. I feel better and stronger in every way since taking it, and the annoying symptoms have disappeared."—Mrs. M. GODDEN, 925 Napoleon St., Fremont, Ohio.

Such annoying symptons as heat flashes, nervousnsss, backache, headache, irritability and "the blues," may be speedlly overcome and the system restored to normal conditions by this famous root and herb remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Something to Learn.

There was until recently one college girl in this broad land who did not know the meaning of "pep." She secured a government position in Washington, coming from Mississippi. Her duty was to fill out 300 cards a day, but she couldn't do more than about 200, although she tried her best. Her brother, who lived in Washington, told her what she needed was more "pep" and added, "Get some pep, sis." "Sis" went to a drug store and asked for "pep," inquiring whether it came in bottles or at the soda fountain. The Washington Star says this is a true story and almost anything may happen in Washington these days.

RAIL EMPLOYES GRANTED RAISE

General Pay Increase Affecting Nearly 2,000,000 Persons Is Announced.

TAKES EFFECT JUNE 1

Director General McAdoo Carries Out Substantially the Recent Recommendations of the Railroad Wage Commission.

Washington, May 27.—Director General McAdoo has announced general pay increases for nearly 2,000,000 railroad employes, effective next Saturday and retroactive to Jan. 1 last, carrying out substantially recommendations of the railroad wage commission.

The aggregate of the increases probably will be more than $300,000 a year, half of which will be distributed within a few weeks as back pay in lump sums ranging from about $100 to nearly $200 each.

The director general departed from the wage commission's recommendations in the following particulars:

The principal of the basic eight hour day is recognized, but owing to exigencies of the war situation, hours of employment are not actually reduced and overtime is to be paid pro rata. Future adjustments of pay are to be made on the basis of eight hours.

Day Laborers Affected.

In addition to the ordinary scale of increase, day laborers, employed mainly on track work, are to get at least 2½ cents an hour more than they received last December 31.

A minimum of 55 cents an hour is established for the shop trades, including machinists, boiler makers and blacksmiths.

Women are to receive the same pay as men for the same work, and negroes are to get the same as white men for similar employment.

All increases now ordered will be determined according to a percentage scale based on pay received in December, 1915, and any increases which have been allowed within that time willl be deducted. In many cases raises in pay in the last two and a half years are about equal to the increases now approved, and consequently those employes will get little or no more. To correct just such situations when injustices are apparent will be one of the principle duties of the new wage board, whose creation was suggested by the railroad wage commission. In no cases are wages to be reduced.

Brotherhoods Get Theirs.

Men working on the monthly, daily, hourly, piece work and train mile basis, will benefit by the new allowances, and members of the four leading railroad brotherhoods whose pay was raised through operation of the Adamson act are to receive from 10 to 40 per cent additional, a smaller increase than they had asked of the railroads shortly before the government took control.

The wage order applies to all employes of the 164 roads now under federal management, but not to the socalled short lines unless they are retained by the government after July 1.

DRAFT EVADER SLAYS FOUR

Slacker Sroots Men Who Reported Him to Authorities.

Huntington, W. Va., May 27.—Four men paid their lives and another was wounded at Olive Hill, Ky., near here, as penalty for reporting Melvin Collins, taxi driver of Huntington, who failed to register for the draft.

Collins shot the following men dead:

H. Carpenter, John Howard, Cleve Sparks, and John Shields. Lee Spell was wounded.

Collins gave himself up to a Kentucky sheriff immediately after the battle. He was lodged in the Catlettsburg, Ky., jail.

Collins had failed to register last June. The five men had reported him to his local draft board here.

MANY BROWNING GUNS MADE

Enough to Equip Division Are Being Sent to Camp Meade.

Washington, May 26.—Enough heavy Browning machine guns to equip a division have been manufactured, the War department announced, and are in process of shipment to Camp Meade, Maryland.

Enough of the same guns for instruction purposes, it was said, have been shipped to every national guard training camp and national army cantonment where troops are in training.

Must Pay Freight in Advance.

Washington, May 27.—Railroad transportation charges must be paid in advance after July 1, as result of an order issued today by Director General McAdoo, abolishing the present system by which many large shippers and consignees are given credit on their freight bills for weeks or months, while small patrons are required to settle on a cash basis. This means that under government management railroads will collect each day the charges on goods shipped or delivered on that day. [illegible]

News of the State

Condensed for Busy Folks

Aitkin.—The houses and other buildings on the E. E. Moricle farm, two miles south of Aitkin, were destroyed by fire.

Pine City.—Private Louis E. Patzoldt of this city, previously reported missing, was announced in today's casualty list to be a prisoner.

Detroit.—From reports reaching here it is said that the recent freeze did considerable damage to growing field crops, particularly barley and oats.

Brainerd.—Damage amount to several thousand dollars was caused here by a heavy storm. The $3,000 barn of William Hildebrandt was blown down.

Fergus Falls.—A rain fall of 2.15 inches was registered here Saturday night. This is the heaviest fall in more than a year and is of immense benefit to crops.

East Grand Forks.—Word has been received here from Maj. Loring that the battalion parade of the Home Guards from Crookston, Ada, Thief River Falls and East Grand Forks will take place in this city on Sunday, May 26.

St. Cloud.—A communication has been signed by local firemen and members of the labor unions, denying recent reports that these organizations were working against the candidacy of George Magnuson of St. Cloud for clerk of the supreme court.

Winona.—The first drowning of the season occurred here, when George Knauf, 16 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Knauf of this city, fell off a boom while fishing in the Mississippi river. A swift undercurrent prevented companions from going to his rescue.

St. Cloud.—Robert Simmons was washed from a log wad while working near the Watab Pulp Mill. His body has not been recovered. Simmons, a middle-aged man, lived at Eau Claire. This was the last chute of logs for the year and Simmons was employed as a log driver.

Trosky.—The only bar in Pipestone county—a bar which has been an oasis for thirsty persons from three states—has been closed. It may never again be opened and there is sadness among certain circles in Minnesota, Iowa, and South Dakota. The village council closed the drinking emporium recently.

Virginia.—Mrs. J. Karon, wife of a local junk dealer who is absent in North Dakota, told the police that seven armed men, all masked and large, entered her room, bound her to a rocking chair and gagged her and took $50 in cash from a pocket book and $45 from a buffet. A little girl sleeping with her was the only other person in the house.

St. Paul.—Official orders for the registration on June 5 of all Minnesota men who have attained the age of 21 years during the previous 12 months were received at state draft headquarters from Provost Marshal General E. H. Crowder. Major John P. Snyder, chief draft aid, said that each local board in the state will be required to make arrangements for registration in its district.

Greenbush.—The disappearance of Peter Peterson from his home near here nearly ten years ago was cleared up a few days ago, when Walter Guderain discovered human bones in a swamp on his farm, two miles from where Peterson disappeared. A jackknife, some buttons and a pair of shoes were identified by Mrs. Peterson, the young man's mother, as being those of her lost son.

Duluth.—Forest fires, fanned by high winds, wiped out homes of a score of farmers at Swan Lake, south of Hibbing. Similar fires swept a trail eight miles long and two miles wide northwest of Duluth, causing loss of timber, cabins and settlers' property. Brush flames swept through valuable timber on the Little Brule river, Wisconsin, taking toll of summer homes along the stream.

Winona.—Winona city women are determined a policewoman shall be employed as a regular member of the police force. Money is being raised among boys and girls to finance the plan. Throughout the city women's clubs are taking united action to bring about the employment of a policewoman without delay, since, they say, the situation here demands there be prompt measures to prevent a return of former conditions.

Winona.—Two persons were killed here when a passenger train on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad crashed into a street car. The engine struck the street car squarely, piled it up on the tender and hurled a portion of the wreck against a freight train which was approaching from the opposite direction. Mrs. George Easty, 20 years old, and Mrs. Anthony Johnson, 31 years old, were killed. The seriously injured are Miss Pearl Dixon, internal injuries, and Anthony Johnson, back crushed.

Duluth.—A cloudburst and a hailstorm caused losses in Duluth. Freshets swept numerous outbuildings, while wind and hail damaged numerous windows. Part of a street was washed out. During the electrical disturbance Jerome Shannon, an operator at the naval radio station, was knocked unconscious by lightning. The radio station was struck four times and the operators vacated.

St. Cloud.—A St. Cloud auxiliary of the Home Folks Association of Battery D, One Hundred and Fifty-first field artillery, has organized [illegible]

Red Lake Falls.—Milton Converse has been named chief of the local fire department.

Brooks.—Fire damage estimated at $26,000 was caused by flames starting in a vacant building which wiped out virtually half the business section.

Little Falls.—Peter Juba has accepted the cashiership of the First State bank of Flensburg to fill the vacancy of Anton J. Bandura, who is now in the National service.

Brainerd.—Four persons were injured when an automobile in which they were riding turned over at Neutral. Oliver Wunderlich, one of the passengers, was severely injured. He was crushed beneath the car.

Winona.—The steamer Helen Blair will re-open packet service on the Upper Mississippi river, between St. Paul and Davenport, June 22. This boat replaces the Morning Star and is in command of Captain W. A. Blair.

Rush City.—The organization of Chisago county for the Council of National Defense, woman's committee, Minnesota Commission of Public Safety, is about completed through the chairman, Mrs. Marilla Stone of Rush City.

Bemidji.—Roy Bailey, while fishing in Red Lake, landed a 189-pound sturgeon, said to be the largest ever caught in that water. The same day another fisherman brought in a sturgeon, weighing between 160 and 170 pounds.

Aitkin.—This city entertained Governor J. A. A. Burnquist on the occasion of the Red Cross day, when an auction of donated articles was held. The governor spoke on "The War." The Aitkin and Deerwood bands furnished music.

Brainerd.—The Brainerd Water and Light board has received the first unit of the electrical pump equipment and installation is under way. The plant probably will be completed by next week and is to supplant the old steam affair which was unsatisfactory.

Spring Valley.—The defeat of autocracy in this war will benefit the German people, our own people and the people of all the world, said Governor J. A. A. Burnquist, at a loyalty rally here. More than 6,000 persons were in attendance. Captain G. F. Richards of the Canadian army also was a speaker.

St. Cloud.—While driving from Minneapolis to St. Cloud an automobile driven by Alfred May of St. Cloud went into a ditch and turned turtle. There were six men in the car, but all escaped uninjured, except May, who sustained a compound fracture at the base of the skull. His condition is critical.

Brainerd.—A message from General Pershing was delivered at a Red Cross mass meeting here by Corporal Harry Welcome of the regular army, who returned to Brainerd after spending eight months in France. Welcome is one of the fifty men sent to the United States by General Pershing to tell of conditions at the battle front.

Bemidji.—As the result of the effective recruiting machine developed in Bemidji, and the individual efforts of Sergeant Clarence E. Foucault, who has left to enter the third officers' training camp at Camp Grant, Ill., Bemidji has sent nearly 1,000 men to the service. Of this number, it is estimated 800 are from Beltrami county.

Minneapolis.—A wind storm that swept the Lake Minnetonka district caused one death, unroofed houses, uprooted trees, demolished small buildings and inflicted heavy damage to telegraph and telephone poles and wires. John August Thor of Carlton, Iowa, was drowned when he set out to cross Stubbs bay and was caught in a squall.

Pine City.—Fire destroyed the barn at the home of S. E. Frazier, a traveling man, on the St. Croix road, east of here, and the two Frazier boys, Morse, 8, and Emmett, 5, were burned to death. The origin of the fire is not known, but as the boys were inside alone it is presumed that they started the fire that claimed their lives.

Sleepy Eye.—An unidentified bandit was shot and killed here after he had robbed the saloon of Fred Landstrom. He was shot by Edward Cutting, after Cutting had been fired on. The man entered the saloon and looted the safe and cash drawer. The sheriff and a posse started in pursuit. Edward Cutting, who led the posse, was fired on and replied with a shotgun, wounding the bandit, who disappeared. Later he was found dead from loss of blood just outside the city limits.

St. Paul.—Twenty persons were injured, some seriously, when a tornado late Saturday night demolished the new barn on the Elof Nelson farm, 13 miles east of St. Paul, where 250 men and women were gathered for a barn dance. The barn was left a mass of debris. Automobiles parked in the farmyard were damaged by flying timbers. The festivities of the night were at their height when the gale struck the barn, lifting the roof and walls from the floor. With the barn scattered in all directions, the dancers were forced to take shelter in other outhouses and stables, the house not being large enough to hold all of them.

St. Paul.—Sales of timber from state lands yielded $1,525,000 in the last year, according to a report made recently by Oscar Arneson, superintendent of timber, in the office of J. A. O. Preus. Railroad ties made the largest single item, $393,000, having been collected on 562,000 pieces cut. Pulp wood sales made the second largest item, 48,719 cords having netted the state $380,000. Next was 18,703,270 board feet of logs for which $374,000 was collected. Other items are $250,000 from 165,000 posts and $3,000 from 610 cords of mixed cordwood.

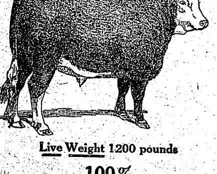
Only About Half the Steer is Beef



Live Weight 1200 pounds

100%

56%

When Swift & Company buys a steer weighing 1200 pounds, only about 672 pounds goes to market as beef; the other 528 pounds consists of hide, fats, other by-products, and waste.

When the packer pays 15 cents a pound for a steer, he sells the meat to the retailer for about 24 cents. But the packer gets only about 6 cents a pound for the other 528 pounds.

This means that the packer gets about 16 cents a pound for all the products from a steer for which he pays 15 cents.

The difference of 1 cent per pound covers the cost of dressing, preparation of by-products, freight on beef to all parts of the United States, operation of distributing houses, and leaves a net profit of only about ¼ of a cent per pound on all dressed beef sold.

Large volume of business and utilization of parts that were formerly wasted, make this achievement possible.

INCREASE IN WESTERN CANADA LAND VALUES

But Forty and Fifty Bushels of Wheat to the Acre.

During the past year there has been a greater demand for farm lands in Western Canada than for a number of years past. The demand is for good farm lands improved or unimproved. And at an increase of from ten to fifteen dollars an acre more than the same lands could be had for a couple of years ago.

The rise in the price of every kind of produce grown on these Western lands, in some cases to double and in others to treble the price prevailing before 1914, have attracted and are attracting in ever-increasing proportions the men who are anxious to invest their money, and apply their energies in the production of wheat for which the allied nations are calling with voices which grow louder and more anxious as the months roll on, and the end of the war still seems distant. Beef, and more especially bacon, are required in ever greater quantities, and the price of all these things has soard, until it is not a question of what shall we produce, but how much can we produce. Even should this world calamity be brought to a close in six months from now, it will be years before normal pre-war prices prevail, and meantime self-interest if not patriotism is turning the minds of thousands back to the land. The inevitable consequence has been the rise in values of land, especially wheat land.

The Calgary Herald, commenting on these conditions says:

"From inquiries made from leading dealers in farming and ranching properties, and from the information gathered in other ways, it is known that the value of all land—wheat land, mixed farming properties, and even good grazing land—has risen in the last two years 40 per cent. Wheat lands in some districts have practically doubled in price. One dealer in farm lands recently sold three sections for $70 an acre, one extra good quarter went as high as $90, and another brought $100. These are, of course, large prices, but that they will be equaled or even surpassed in the near future is beyond question. There is a feature about this rush to the land from which the most solid hope can be drawn for the success of the movement. The proper tillage of land, to produce large crops in a climate like, ours is now understood and practiced as it never was in the early days of the province. It would seem too that with the increase of land under cultivation, the seasons are changing and the rainfall becoming greater and more regular.

"Crops are being harvested, especially in Southern Alberta, which would have seemed impossible to the old-time farmer, with his old-fashioned ideas of breaking and seeding. And at the price now set by the government for wheat and which possibly may be increased during the coming season, the return to the practical skilled agriculturist must necessarily be very large.

"What matters $10 or even $20 an acre extra on wheat land when a return as high as 50 bushels and even more may be taken from every acre sown? With hogs bringing $20 a hundred pounds; beef on the hoof at $12, and mutton $16, while wool under the new government arranged system of handling and sale brings 65 cents a pound (and these values cannot fall to any great extent for some years) the demand for land will continue and values increase in a corresponding degree.

"There has never been in the history of Canada a time so favorable for the farmer as the present; self-interest, the inspiration of patriotic feeling, the aid freely extended by the government, who are permitting the import of certain agricultural implements free, all these tend to still further raise the price of Alberta land."—Advertisement.

British Vessel Torpedoed by Submarine Had American Troops on Board.

FIFTY-SIX MEN LOST

London Admiralty Statement Says Americans Missing Were Probably Killed in One Compartment at Time of Explosion.

Washington, May 27.—The Red department has given out the names of 53 members of Company B, 58th United States infantry, Fourth Division, missing from the torpedoed British steamer Moldavia. The Moldavia carried 450 American soldiers.

Included in the list are the following from the northwest: Privates Geo. D. Boosalis, Fargo, N. D.; Leslie C. Bracken, Loyalton, Minn.; Walter G. Bracken, North St. Cloud, Minn.; Geo. N. Buchanan, Marrette, Wis.; Jos. P. Callan, Milwaukee, Wis.; Edw. L. Clausing, Grafton, Wis.; Wm. G. Croatt, Port Washington De Pere, Wis.; Conrad Eckel, West Allis, Wis.; Edw. L. Gerl, Manitowoc, Wis.; Redwald Gottenberg, Pigeon Falls, Wis.; Isador M. Kniepp, St. Paul, Minn.; John Kohus, South Milwaukee; Rudolph Mikle, De Pere, Wis.; Emil J. Bosh, Lankin, S. D.; Frank Roux, Rice Lake, Wis.; Joseph Sherman, Fort Totten, N. D.; Lewis P. Spies, Nelson, Wis.; Willow Trapp, Arbor Vitae, Wis.; Edward N. Weber, Tolley, N. D.

London, May 27.—The Admiralty announces that the British armed merchant troopship Moldavia, with American troops on board, has been torpedoed and sunk.

The text of the Admiralty statement follows:

"The armed mercantile cruiser Moldavia was torpedoed and sunk Thursday morning.

"There were no casualties among the crew, but of the American troops on board 56 have up to the present not been accounted for. It is feared they were killed in one compartment by the explosion."

The Moldavia was torpedoed without warning. It was a moonlight night and although a good lookout was kept the attacking submarine was not sighted before the torpedo struck.

Most of Men Caught in Hammocks.

Most of the men aboard were in their hammocks when the explosion occurred amidships. The sailors and soldiers alike showed no panic, although many were injured.

They fell calmly into line and awaited orders. When it was seen that the Moldavia was settling down, all on board were taken off by the escorting ships.

The men lost all of their belongings, but were supplied with new clothing at the different naval ports where they were taken.

Overtaken by Inrush of Water.

It is believed that the American soldiers missing from the Moldavia were sleeping on the bottom deck and were overtaken by the great inrush of water, after the explosion, when they were trying to reach the main deck. It also is presumed that some of the ladders were destroyed.

The vessel was struck below the bridge. She steamed ahead for some time after being struck and at first it was hoped that the water-tight compartments would enable her to reach port.

The Moldavia is of 9,500 tons gross and owned by the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation company. She was built at Greenock in 1903 and is 520 feet long.

DROP RAIL CHIEFS

M'ADOO ISSUES SWEEPING ORDER REMOVING PRESIDENTS OF ALL ROADS.

U. S. DIRECTORS TO MANAGE

To Retain Positions Officials Must Sever All Connections With the Transportation Systems and Become Government Employees Solely.

Washington, May 22.—Director General McAdoo has removed every railroad president in the United States from active duty as executive manager of his respective road. A federal director will be appointed for each road, to be responsible only to the railroad administration.

In many cases the president of the road may be named federal director.

As another step in the reorganization of railroad management, the director general ordered the creation of two operating districts—the Allegheny region, consisting of the principal trunk lines east of Pittsburgh, excluding the New York Central, managed by C. H. Markham, now regional director for the South, and the Pocahontas district, consisting of the east and west trunk lines terminating at Hampton Roads.

Statement by McAdoo.

The following statement was issued by Director General McAdoo:

"In view of the direct responsibility for the operation of the railroads of the country placed upon Director General McAdoo by the act of congress and by the proclamations of the president, he has been unable to escape the conclusion that it will be advisable to place in direct charge of each property for operating purposes a representative to be known as the federal manager, who will report to the regional director.

"As far as practicable this federal manager will be chosen from the operating officers of the particular property who are entirely familiar with its employees and its conditions.

"Except so far as may be necessary to meet the emergency conditions which compel the government to take control of the railroads, the federal manager of each railroad will endeavor to avail himself to the fullest extent of the advantages incident to the operations of the particular railroad as a unit and the preservation of its identity.

Seeks Best Results.

"This is believed to be of essential importance not only to secure the best results during the period of government control, but also to give the greatest degree of reassurance to the officers and employees that the railroad careers upon which they have entered will not be narrowed, but if anything, will be broadened, and to give the greatest possible reassurance to the stockholders that their just interests in the properties will be respected and that nothing will be needlessly done to have even the appearance of impairing their just rights."

Under the radical plan outlined by Mr. McAdoo, the board of directors will operate in purely an advisory capacity.

Why are any but vegetable preparations unsafe for infants and children?

Why are Syrups, Cordials and Drops condemned by all Physicians and most laymen?

Why has the Government placed a ban on all preparations containing, among other poisonous drugs, Opium in its variously prepared forms and pleasing tastes, and under its innumerable names?

War and Birth Rates.

In his recent presidential address to the Royal Statistical society, Sir Bernard Mallet declared that the United Kingdom has lost by the fall in births during the war more than 500,000 potential lives. During the same period he estimates that Germany has lost 2,600,000 and Hungary 1,500,000. The great decline in the birth rate in the central powers is ascribed to the fact that the poorer classes in those countries have suffered greatly in health and vigor on account of the war, while the corresponding classes in Great Britain have actually enjoyed more favorable conditions than in time of peace.—Scientific American.

WAR SAVINGS STAMPS.

There will be no hit or miss method connected with the great drive to enable Minnesota reaching it's quota of War Savings Stamps purchases during Pledge Week, which starts June 6th and continues one week. This is evidence from the fact that citizens of this county will be allotted certain quota for the purchase of such of these government war securities during the campaign early next month.

The allotment basis is the only safe way for this county pledge it's quota. There are a good many residents here who are able to buy $1,000 worth of stamps, which is the limit, and they are expected, as loyal citizens, to buy that many stamps for themselves, and will also be asked to pledge the purchase of $1000 worth of stamps for each of their dependents.

"Then there are other citizens whose allotments will be placed at $500 for themselves. Smaller quotas will also be made. These allotments are based on a maturity value basis.

"The methods that will prevail for this June War Savings Stamps drive will be similiar to the Third Liberty Loan, when allotments for every resident were made. When the amount of the quota this county is expected to raise is considered, the duty of every patriotic man, woman and child in this county will become evident.

"The United States must win this war. War Savings Stamps provide the machinery for the purchase of thousands of guns and an immense quantity of munitions, through which our soldiers can fight the enemy. Surely our citizens are not going to overlook pledging their portion of War Savings Stamps purchases.

"At a meeting held in Carver county the other day, which was attended by Vice Director J. H. Myering, and George N. Bauer, director of Minnesota War Savings Societies, the 200 workers of that county's War Savings force unanimously agreed that the allotment plan was the only feasible one to follow. The same condition applies in this county.

"If the United States cannot raise the required money through the sale of War Savings Stamps, our citizens will be obliged to pay increased taxes to defray the expense of the war. There is no doubt that each person would prefer to loan their government money on the soundest security in the world at 4 percent interest compounded quarterly, than to pay out an equal amount of money for taxes, which money would never be returned. The duty of each man, woman and child is plain.

"Our county has an opportunity to pledge it's full quota on the opening day, which is June 6th, and, therefore, set a record that will compel other counties in Minnesota to be followers."

It is rather amusing to see and read how desperate the supporters of Burnquist have grown to get campaign timber against Lindbergh. They first claim he is pro-German, then that he is a county optionist, then that he is being supported by the liquor interests. Why can they not tell the truth, that he is supported by the farmers and laboring men of Minnesota, who will [illegible] their votes on June 17th, just to show the Burnquist political ring that we are loyal [illegible] cannot be [illegible]

For County Commissioner.

I hereby announce to the voters of the First Commissioner District that I am a candidate for election as county commissioner from this district. I respectfully solicit your votes and support at the Primaries and General election.

My platform, is, equal rights to the tax payers of this district. In looking up the records of the treatment of the people of this district, we were determined to place the facts before them from actual figures.

During the years of 1915 and 1916 the township of Goodridge paid in the road and bridge funds of this county $692.11. They never got a dollar of their money back to help their town build roads.

The town of Highlanding paid in during the same year $806.45. They got back in 1916 one hundred and fifty dollars, leaving these two townships short $1,348.56, in these two years. Where has this money been expended? Let the echo reply, where has it gone to. Let P. C. Wold answer. Would you all not liked to have had part of it to put gravel on that mile of road by Morgan Vaughan's farm going to Goodridge? We shall publish a complete list of the money paid into the road and bridge funds of Pennington county for the past four years, and the amount you got back, and if you want four years more of that kind of service, go to election and vote for P. C. Wold for county commissioner. If you want a square deal vote for, Yours Truly, W. G. Hunt. It is up to you!

NORMAN COUNTY SOLDIER RECOMMENDS STEENERSON.

Headquarters Detachment, Marine Barracks, St. Thomas, Virgin Islands of U.S., May 13, 1918.

It is with great pleasure to note in the columns of this paper that the Hon. Halvor Steenerson has filed for the re-nomination as representative to Congress from the Ninth district. There could be no greater benefit to the Soldiers and Sailors of this district, than to have him re-elected.

During my stay in the training camp in Philadelphia, Mr. Steenerson considered it his duty to do me a great favor. He went so far as to personally assist me. It is without a doubt that other men from this community have been similarly treated. You will do us an injustice, to fail to support him.

In this great crisis we cannot afford to make mistakes. Let experience lead us. One blunder may prolong this frightful war to an indefinate period. We are the fighters; you are the backers. CITY LEAGUE FOR FARMERS

Thief River Falls Citizens Organize to Help Non-partisans Carry Out Their Program.

Declaring that the farmer and the laborer have nothing in common with the capitalist and exploiter, citizens of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, have formed a voters' league to work in harmony with the Non-partisan league in electing officials that will legislate for state ownership and operation of the larger industries.

Thief River Falls is the city which recently entertained Mr. Townley in the Commercial club rooms, after he addressed a patriotic meeting which contributed $185.50 to the Red Cross.

Moving West.

Westward the seat of power takes its way. It is shifting from Wall street to Chicago, the home of the packers, but it will soon move again. Farmers of the west are reaching after the prize through organization.

We wonder if the people of Goodridge have forgotten two years ago this spring, when they asked Commissioner Wold for twenty-five dollars out of the road and bridge funds of the county to buy planks to fix the approaches to the Highlanding ferry, and he told them there was no money for them. At that time there was six hundred ninety-two dollars and eleven cents in that fund that was paid in by Goodridge during the years of 1915 and 1916, and their town had never got a dollar of it back. If Goodridge likes that kind of treatment they should rush to the polls and vote for P. C. Wold for County Commissioner [illegible]

HOARDING CAUSE OF ADVANCE IN SHOES

Packers Store Hides While the Price of Leather Soars out of Sight.

War Doesn't Excuse Prices.

The frequent excuse for high shoe prices, namely, the large government orders for our soldiers, evidently had little or nothing to do with the prices to the public. The Trade Commission went behind the publicity of the packers and the leather and shoe companies to get the facts, and again found that their widely circulated reports covered up unjustifiable and vicious profiteering.

Although stocks of hides are abnormal and there is little or no market for country hides, the leather companies are working at far from capacity. The people, therefore, not only suffer from famine prices for shoes and other leather goods, but are threatened with real shortage as soon as the present manufactured stocks are used up. The big leather interests are not only asking monopoly prices but are reducing production.

Huge Leather Stocks Held.

"The quantity of hides," says the report, "stored by the five large Chicago packers increased 45 per cent during 1916 and the first half of 1917. These five concerns are undoubtedly the chief factors in the hide market in the United States, and the Swift and Armour interests are among the important leather manufacturers.

"The increase in the values which the packers have placed on their hides is much greater than the increase in the price they have paid for cattle. Thus, at the five principal plants of Swift & Co. the price paid for cattle in nine months of 1915-16 compared with the same nine months of 1916-17 increased approximately 17 per cent, but the value which Swift & Co. put on the hides from these same cattle increased 25 per cent."

Excessive Profits Revealed.

Financial reports secured by the Commission from Swift & Co. and Armour & Co. show phenomenal increases in the profits of their leather business in 1915-16 compared with the previous year.

Reports of the larger companies show that net profits in 1916 were in several instances two, three, four or [illegible]

SMALL BUSINESS MAN SHOULD LINE UP RIGHT

"You are fighting monopolistic big business; not competitive little business. I wish the small business men of the state and the nation could come to see that. Few of them make the distinction, but it is vital. In spite of the fact that they are being pinched tighter and tighter every year till they have become practically selling agents for the big fellows at their own risk, they still continue to think somehow that they are independent business men like their fathers were. But they are not—and in this great struggle they belong with the masses and not with the classes.

"The league sees that to fight monopoly successfully there must be a bigger monopoly—that the only one possible now is that of the whole people acting through their government; if the little business men do not see this and remain between the lines and get run over they have no one to blame but themselves. The producers of the nation cannot maintain the present system of excessive profit and economic robbery for the convenience of the men between the people and the trusts. The old system must give way to the new."—From Speech of Judson King, at St. Paul convention of farmers and workers.

WILSON ASKS CONGRESS FOR JUST TAX BILL

President In Address to Congress Demands War Tax Revenue Legislation.

QUIT POLITICS IS PLEA

Consideration Dominating Every Other Now is Winning of War Says Executive—Profiteering Must Be Crushed By Taxation.

Washington, May 28.—President Wilson appeared unexpectedly before Congress and demanded that it remain in session until it has enacted new war tax laws to finance the growing cost of the war and prepare the country for the burden it must bear. He spoke as follows:

The President's Message.

Gentlemen of the congress:

It is with unaffected reluctance that I come to ask you to prolong your session long enough to provide more adequate resources for the treasury for the conduct of the war. I have reason to appreciate as fully as you do how arduous the session has been. Your labors have been severe and protracted. You have passed a long series of measures which required the debate of many doubtful questions of judgment and many exceedingly difficult questions of principle as well as of practice. The summer is upon us in which labor and counsel are twice arduous and are constantly apt to be impaired by lassitude and fatigue. The elections are at hand and we ought as soon as possible to go and render an intimate account of our trusteeship to the people who delegated us to act for them in the weighty and anxious matters that crowd upon us in these days of critical choiice and action. But we dare not go to the elections until we have done our duty to the full. These are days when duty stands stark and naked and even with closed eyes we know it is there. Excuses are unavailing. We have either done our duty or we have not. The fact will be as gross and plain as duty itself. In such a case lassitude and fatigue seem negligible enough. The facts are tonic, and suffice to freshen the labor.

Additional Taxes Needed.

And the facts are these. Additional revenues must manifestly be provided for. It would be most unsound policy to raise too large a proportion of them by loan and it is evident that the four billions now provided for by taxation will not of themselves sustain the greatly enlarged budget to which we must immediately look forward. We cannot in fairness wait until the end of the fiscal year is at hand to apprise our people of the taxes they must pay on their earnings of the present calendar year, whose accountings and expenditures will then be closed. We cannot get increased taxes unless the country knows what they are to be and practises the necessary economy to make them available. Definiteness, early definiteness, as to what its tasks are to be is absolutely necessary for the successful administration of the treasury. It cannot frame fair and workable regulations in haste. And it must frame its regulations in haste if it is not to know its exact task until the very eve of its performance.

The present tax laws are marred, morever, by inequities which ought to be remedied. Indisputable facts, every one; and we cannot alter or blink them. To state them is argument enough.

Would Prevent Inflation.

And yet perhaps you will permit me to dwell for a moment upon the situation they disclose. Enormous loans freely spent in the stimulation of industry of almost every sort produce inflations and extravagances which presently make the whole economic structure questionable and insecure and the very basis of credit is cut away. Only fair, equitably distributed taxation of the widest incidence and drawing chiefly from the sources which would be likely to demoralize credit by their very abundance, can prevent inflation and keep our industrial system free from speculation and waste. We shall naturally turn, therefore, I suppose to war profits and incomes and luxuries for the additional taxes. But the war profits and incomes upon which the increased taxes will be levied will be the profits and incomes of the calendar year 1918. It would be manifestly unfair to wait until the early months of 1919 to say what they are to be.

It might be difficult, I should imagine, to run the mill with water that had already gone over the wheel.

Politics Is Adjourned.

That is the situation, and it is the situation which creates the duty, no choice or preference of ours. There is only one way to meet that duty. We must meet it without selfishness or fear of consequences. Politics is adjourned. The elections will go to those who think least of it, to those who go to the constituencies without explanation or excuses, with a plain record of duty faithfluly and disinterestedly performed. I for one, am always confident that the people of this country will give a just verdict upon the service of the men who act for them when the facts are such that no man can disguise or conceal them. There is no donger of deceit now. An intense and pitiless light beats upon every man and every action in this tragic plot of war that is now upon the stage. If lobbyists hurry to Washington to attempt to turn what you do in the matter of taxation to their protection or advantage the light will beat also upon them.

There is abundant fuel for the light in the records of the treasury with regard to profits of every sort. The profiteering that cannot be got at by the restraints of consequences and love of country can be got at by taxation. There is such profiteering now and the information in regard to it is available and indisputable.

Asks Share in Responsibility.

I am advising you to act upon this matter of taxation now, gentlemen, not because I do not know that you can see and interpret the facts and the duty they impose just as well and with as clear a perception of the obligations involved as I can, but because there is a certain solemn satisfaction in sharing with you the responsibilities of such a time. The world never stood in such case before. Men never before had so clear or so moving a vision of duty. I know that you will begrude the work to be done here by us no more than the men begrudge us their's who lie in the trenches and sally forth to their death. There is a stimulating comradeship knitting us together.

And this task to which I invite your immediate consideration will be performed under favorable influences if we will look to what the country is thinking and expecting and care nothing at all for what is being said and believed in the lobbies of Washington hotels, where the atmosphere seems to make it possible to believe what is believed nowhere else.

Have you not felt the spirit of the nation rise and its thought become a single and common thought since these eventful days came in which we have been sending our boys to the other side? I think you must read that thought, as I do, to mean this, that the people of this country are not only united in the resolute purpose to win this war, but are ready and willing to bear any burden and undergo any sacrifice that it may be necessary for them to bear in order to win it. We need not be afraid to tax them if we lay taxes justly. They know that the war must be paid for and that it is they who must pay for it and if the burden is justly distributed and the sacrifice made a common sacrifice from which none escapes who can bear it at all, they will carry it cheerfully and with a sort of solemn pride.

I have always been proud to be an American, and was never more proud than now, when all that we have said and all that we have foreseen about our people is coming true. The great days have come when the only thing that they ask for or admire is duty, greatly and adequately done; when the only wish for America is that she may share freedom she enjoys; when a great, compelling sympathy swells up in their hearts for men everywhere who suffer and are oppressed and when they see at last the high uses for which their wealth has been piled up and their mighty power accumulated and, counting neither blood nor treasure now that the final day of opportunity has come rejoice to spend and to be spent through a long night of suffering and terror in order that they and men everywhere may see the dawn of a day of righteousness and justice and peace. Shall we grow weary when they bid us act?

Present Congress May Appropriate Over $35,000,000,000.

Washington, May 28.—Financial experts, settling down to prepare the greatest tax bill in the country's history—$8,000,000,000—estimate that appropriations of the present Congress will shatter all records for any country in the world for a corresponding period.

Great expansion of the army program is chiefly responsible for the stupendous total. Nearly $21,000,000,000 is in appropriations and authorizations for the army and for fortifications.

That the total will be sent up to or beyond $35,000,000,000 seems certain.

ALL IDLERS MUST FIGHT OR LABOR

GENERAL CROWDER ISSUES ORDER COVERING VARIOUS SPORTS AND TRADES

EDICT IN FORCE JULY FIRST

Amendment to Selective Service Regulations to Make Nation Efficient in War Takes Registrants Out of Deferred Class.

Bulletin.

Washington, May 23.—General Crowder's new "work-or-fight" regulations may require professional baseball players either to engage in some useful occupation or to join the army. Baseball players, as well as jockeys, professional golfers and other professional sportsmen, General Crowder said today, will be affected by the regulations if strictly enforced. General Crowder said he did not desire to make specific rulings at this time and would make rulings only when cases came to him from local boards after July 1.

Bulletin.

Washington, May 23.—Theatrical performers have been excepted from the new draft regulations at the direction of Secretary Baker, who is said to feel that the people cannot do without all amusement in war time and that other amusements could be dispensed with more readily.

Washington, May 23.—Every man of draft age must either work or fight after July 1, under a drastic amendment to the selective service regulations announced today by General Crowder, provost marshal general. Not only idlers, but all draft registrants engaged in what are held to be nonuseful occupations are to be haled before local boards and given the choice of a new job or the army.

Gamblers, race track and bucket shop attendants and fortune tellers head the list, but those who will be reached by the new regulation also include waiters and bartenders, theater ushers and attendants, passenger elevator operators and other attendants of clubs, hotels, stores, etc., domestics and clerks in stores.

Deferred classification granted on account of dependents will be disregarded entirely in applying the rule. A man may be at the bottom of class 1, or even in class 4, but if he fails within the regulation and refuses to take useful employment he will be given a new number in class 1 that will send him into the military service forthwith. Local boards are authorized to use discretion only where they find that enforced change of employment would result in disproportionate hardship upon his dependents.

May Solve the Labor Problem.

It has been known for some time that some form of "work or fight" plan has been submitted to President Wilson, but there has been no intimation that it was so far reaching in its scope. Both the military authorities and department of labor officials believe that it will go a long way toward solving the labor problem for farmers, shipbuilders and munition makers and will end, for the present at least, talk of conscription of labor. The announcement today gives notice significantly that the list of nonuseful occupations will be extended from time to time as necessity requires.

The statement of the provost marshal general's office is as follows:

"Provost Marshal General Crowder today announced an amendment to the selective service regulations which deals with the great question of compelling men not engaged in a useful occupation immediately to apply themselves to some form of labor, contributing to the general good. The idler, too, will find himself confronted with the alternative of finding suitable employment or entering the army.

"This regulation provides that after July 1, any registrant who is found by a local board to be a habitual idler or not engaged in some useful occupation shall be summoned before the board, given a chance to explain and, in the absence of a satisfactory explanation, to be inducted into the military service of the United States.

"Any local board will be authorized to take action, whether it has an original jurisdiction of the registrant or not; in other words, any man loafing around a poolroom in Chicago may be held to answer to a Chicago board even though he may have registered in New York and lived there most of his life.

"The regulations which apply to idle registrants will be deemed to apply also to gamblers of all description and employees and attendants of bucket-shops and race tracks, fortune tellers, clairvoyants, palmists and the like, who for the purpose of the regulations shall be considered as idlers.

New Rule Is Sweeping.

"The new regulation will also affect the following classes:

"(a) Persons engaged in the serving of food and drink, or either, in public places, including hotels and social clubs.

"(b) Passenger elevator operators and attendants, doormen, footmen and other attendants of clubs, hotels, stores, apartment houses, office buildings and bathhouses.

"Men who are engaged as above or who are idlers will not be permitted to seek relief because of the fact that they have drawn a later order number or because they have been placed in class II, III or IV on the grounds of dependency. The fact that he is not usefully employed will outweigh both of the above conditions.

To Extend Nonuseful List.

"It is expected that the list of nonuseful occupations will be extended from time to time as necessity will require so as to include persons in other employments.

"Temporary absences from regular employment not to exceed one week, unless such temporary absences are habitual and frequent, shall not be considered as idleness. Regular vacations will not be considered as absences in this connection.

"The regulation throws a further safeguard around men not usefully employed by providing that where there are compelling domestic circumstances that would not permit change of employment by the registrant without disproportionate hardship to his dependents or where a change from nonuseful to useful employment or occupation would necessitate a removal of the registrant or his family, local boards may give consideration to the circumstances.

"The regulation further provides that where such a change of employment would compel the night employment of women under circumstances which a board might deem unsuitable for such employment of women the board may take such circumstances into consideration in making its decision."

General Crowder Explains Plan.

Explaining the new regulation and the necessity for it, General Crowder said:

"The war has so far disorganized the normal adjustment of industrial man power as to prevent the enormous industrial output and national organization necessary to success.

"There is a popular demand for organization of man power, but no direct draft could be imposed at present.

"Steps to prohibit idleness and noneffective occupation will be welcomed by our people.

"We shall give the idlers and men not effectively employed the choice between military service and effective employment. Every man, in the draft age at least, must work or fight.

"This is not alone a war or military maneuver. It is a deadly contest of industries and mechanics.

Must Copy German Machine.

"Germany must not be thought of as merely possessing an army, we must think of her as being an army—an army in which every factory and loom in the empire is a recognized part in a complete machine running night and day at terrific speed. We must make of ourselves the same sort of effective machine.

"It is not enough to ask what would happen if every man in the nation turned his hand to effective work. We must make ourselves effective. We must organize for the future. We must make vast withdrawals for the army and immediately close up the ranks of industry behind the gap with an accelerating production of every useful thing in necessary measure. How is this to be done?

"The answer is plain. The first step toward the solution of the difficulty is to prohibit engagement by able-bodied men in the field of hurtful employment, idleness or ineffectual employment, and thus induce and persuade the vast wasted excess into useful fields.

"The very situation we are now considering, however, offers great possibilities in improvement of the draft as well as great possibilities for the composition of the labor situation by effective administration of the draft. Considering the selective service law, we see two principal causes of detriment of the call to military service—exemption and the order numbers assigned by lot.

Exemptions in Two Categories.

"The exemptions themselves fall into two conspicuous categories—dependency and industrial employment. One protects domestic relations, the other the economic interests of the nation. Between the two there is an inevitable hiatus, for it is demonstrably true that thousands, if not millions, of dependency exemptions have no effect of industrial protection whatever.

"One of the unanswerable criticisms of the draft has been that it takes men from the farms and from all useful employments and marches them past crowds of idlers and loafers to the army. The remedy is simple—to couple the industrial basis with other grounds for exemption [illegible]

WESTERN CANADA'S CROPS

Got an Excellent Start. Big Yields Now Assured.

Never in the history of Western Canada did the seed enter the ground under more favorable conditions. The weather during the month of April was perfect for seeding operations, and from early morning until late at night the seeders were at work, and every acre that could be profitably sown was placed under requisition. Farmers entered heart and soul into the campaign of greater production. There was the time and the opportunity for careful preparation, and as a consequence with favorable weather from now on there will be a vastly increased yield. They realized it was a duty they owed to humanity to produce all that they could on the land, not only this year but next as well. In addition to the patriotic aspect, they are aware that the more they produce the greater will be their own return in dollars and cents.

In many districts wheat seeding was completed by the 1st of May, after which date oats and barley on larger acreages than usual were planted.

As has been said, favorable weather conditions made possible excellent seed-bed preparation, and the seed has gone into the ground in unusually good shape. The available moisture in the soil has been added to by rains, which have not been so heavy, however, as to interfere long with the work in the fields. The grain is germinating readily, and on many fields the young green blades of the cereal are already showing.

An optimistic feeling prevails among farmers that Western Canada will reap a record harvest. If the season from now on is as favorable as it has begun, these hopes should be realized. Mr. J. D. McGregor of the Federal Food Board, who is also an old and successful farmer in Western Canada, asserted a few days ago at Calgary that crop conditions throughout the Prairie Provinces were excellent. "Speaking generally," he said, "the crops have never gone into the ground in better shape than this year, and with an even break of luck as far as the weather is concerned, there should be an enormous crop." His present duties in connection with the Food Control Board, taking him in all parts of the West, Mr. McGregor has exceptional opportunities of observing conditions all over the country.—Advertisement.

You Can Now Eat Your Favorite Food Without Any Fear

Kramer Says: "Eatonic" Rids Weak Stomachs of Acids, Gas, Heartburn, Food Repeating and Stomach Miseries

What miserable feelings are caused by an upset stomach! That dull, heavy, "bloated" sensation that follows a full meal, robs good living of half its pleasures. Is there any way out for you sufferers with stomach weakness?

Yes; H. L. Kramer, the man who originated Cascarets, has found a sure, quick, relief for indigestion, dyspepsia, "sour stomach," heart-burn, formation of painful gases, "bloating," etc., etc.

He calls his stomach relief EATONIC, and it certainly is making a wonderful record. Countless thousands of people who formerly approached their meals with dread, now eat their fill of their favorite foods without fear of the after-effects.

Mr. Kramer says: "My EATONIC tablets are the solution of the age-old problem of indigestion and all forms of stomach misery.

"EATONIC neutralizes the acids, that form the painful gases, "sweetens" the stomach, and gives the gastric juice a chance to do its work as it should.

"To promote appetite and aid digestion, take EATONIC tablets—one or two after each meal. They are perfectly harmless. Eat them just like candy.

"For distress after eating; sour, "gassy," acid stomach, vertigo, nausea and belching, and that wretched, puffed-up, "lumpy" feeling, after over-eating; there is nothing to compare with EATONIC Tablets."

All druggists sell EATONIC — 50c for a large box. Watch out for imitations. The genuine bears the name EATONIC on each tablet—guaranteed to do all that is claimed; or if your druggists don't carry EATONIC—send to Eatonic Remedy Co., Chicago, Ill.

THIS WEAK, NERVOUS MOTHER

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was very weak, always tired, my back ached, and I felt sickly most of the time. I went to a doctor and he said I had nervous indigestion, which added to my weak condition kept me worrying most of the time—and he said if I could not stop that, I could not get well. I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my husband wanted me to try it. I took it for a week and felt a little better. I kept it up for three months, and I feel fine and can eat anything now without distress or nervousness."—Mrs. J. WORTHLINE, 2842 North Taylor St., Philadelphia Pa.

The majority of mothers nowadays overdo, there are so many demands upon their time and strength; the result is invariably a weakened, run-down, nervous condition with headaches, backache, irritability and depression—and soon more serious ailments develop. It is at such periods in life that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will restore a normal healthy condition, as it did to Mrs. Worthline.

BRING THEIR OWN WELCOME

Advent of Twins Not Displeasing to English Father, for Somewhat Peculiar Reason.

Capt. Norman Thwaites of the British intelligence department said in New York the other day:

"The sugar shortage is felt keenly over the water. It's odd how you miss your sugar over there. You long for it as you'd long for tobacco.

"A Bayswater special constable hurried home from his beat at the Marble Arch the other evening to be present in a very interesting occasion, and, as he sat in his library in the small hours, the nurse came in and said:

"'It's all right, sir.'

"The Bayswater man swallowed; he moistened his dry lips; then he asked:

"'Is it a boy?'

The nurse smiled soothingly.

"'One of 'em's a boy, sir,' she said.

"And the Bayswater man, instead of turning pale or smothering an oath, as he'd probably done in peace time, uttered a cry of joy.

"'Thank heaven!' he exclaimed. 'That gives us two extra sugar rations.'"

General Bridges Discusses Present Battle Situation on French Soil.

AMERICANS ARE IN LINE

British Military Authority in Washington Says the Yankees May Hold the Balance Between Victory and Defeat.

Washington, June 3.—General Bridges, head of a special military mission to the United States, said here in discussing the renewal of the German drive that American troops have become a vital factor in the great battle in France and may hold the balance between defeat and victory.

This statement followed news from the front that the American troops have already been shifted into position to defend Paris.

Foe's Three Objectives.

The objectives now before the Germans, the general said, appear to be three-fold—the capture of Paris, the division of the main Allied armies by an advance through Amiens, and the capture of the channel ports.

In concealing their preparations so as to make a surprise attack, General Bridges said, the Germans were aided probably by four factors—their preponderance of divisions, a good railway system, the proximity of woods to their first objectives where large numbers of troops could be concealed and the fact that this front line had been organized for attack.

While now on a narrow and dangerous salient the general said, the Germans will be in a favorable position for advance on Paris should they be successful in pushing out the west leg of the salient and joining it up with the Amiens salient. That, he said, appeared to be their intention, and they could be expected to call a halt at the Marne.

Battle to Continue Weeks.

The Allies must now be prepared either to see the offensive resumed in the north soon, or else to see German divisions from the north sent down to exploit the new successes.

The battle, he added, is likely to continue for weeks and will become a long drawn out struggle of man-power, with the first duty of the Allies to husband their resources by giving ground for men where possible.

"As the Germans began the attack with only 16 divisions," he said, "it would appear that it has been more successful than they anticipated. It is probable that it was at first intended either in the nature of a secondary operation in order to draw Allied reserves from the well protected Amiens salient, or to strike a heavy blow for the Marne—in order to cut the main communications between Paris and Chalons—and to widen the too narrow Amiens salient by a fresh operation.

"The German higher command probably considered in this case that the presence of large forces in front of such vital points as Ypres and Amiens had pinned the bulk of the Allied reserves to these positions."

TWENTY-FOUR MEN MISSING

Were Probably Drowned When Transport Lincoln Sank.

Washington, June 3.—Announcement was made by the Navy department that four officers and 20 men are believed to be missing in the sinking of the President Lincoln transport.

This is the first intimation of any loss of life aboard the transport since it was torpedoed by an enemy submarine last Wednesday, and is the first news of the disaster excepting the bare announcement.

Only a brief announcement to this effect was made public by the Navy department. As soon as a list of the missing is received and checked, it will be made public, it stated.

MAY LOSSES ARE 166,802

Heavy British Casualties Reflect German Drive in March.

London, June 3.—Casualties in the British ranks reported during the month of May reached a total of 166,802. The losses were divided as follows:

Killed or died of wounds—Officers, 1,536; men, 20,518.

Wounded or missing—Officers, 6,182; men, 138,566.

The total reported during April was only 52,475, as the lists apparently did not begin to reflect fully the effects of the casualties sustained in the German offensive in March.

Military Law for Ireland Hinted.

London, June 3.—A dispatch to the Central News from Dublin says a proclamation was saying that the counties of Limerick and Tipperary will be proclaimed special military areas if unlawful drilling and assemblies continue.

Cadet Aviator Killed.

Montgomery, Ala., June 3.—George H. Lacoske, 24 years old, cadet aviator, was killed at Taylor field when his plane went into a nose dive. The plane fell about 200 feet.

News of the State

Condensed for Busy Folks

Pine River.—The funeral of John Zelka, 62, killed near here by a tornado, was held from the M. E. church, Rev. Abbott conducting the ceremony.

Moorhead.—Joint funeral services were held at Dale for Lottie Steen and George Selin, the children killed by the Northern Pacific coast train at Dale.

St. Cloud.—St. Cloud honored the heroes of other wars and those of the present here today with a Memorial day parade and exercises. The graves of soldiers were smothered under flowers.

Hibbing.—At a special meeting of the village council the Mesaba Transportation company was awarded the contract to furnish the village with a White police patrol car, at a cost of $7,200. There were eight bidders.

Hastings.—Memorial day was celebrated here. Following general church services in the morning the graves of the heroes of other wars were decorated. Judge Albert Schaller, of St. Paul, was the speaker at a mass meeting.

Red Wing.—Men working along the Wisconsin shore of Lake Pepin prevented Mrs. A. W. Burdick, 50, of Bay Cit, Wis., from taking her life when she waded out into the lake and was being swept away when they rescued her. It is said she has been in poor health.

Moorhead.—Three barrels labeled "soft drinks," seized in the Northern Pacific railroad station here by Sheriff McDonald of Clay county, who reported the findings to the Federal officials, contained 360 pints of whisky, shipped from La Crosse, Wis., and were consigned to the Allen hotel in Moorhead.

Rochester.—Rev. Father G. P. Murphy was elevated to the rank of monsignor. The purple robes, indicating membership in the papal household, were worn by the priest. The ceremony of investiture was in charge of Bishop P. H. Heffron. Priests were in attendance from all over the Winona diocese.

St. Cloud.—H. E. Collins, who lives with his son, A. L. Smitten, at Sartell, has just celebrated his 94th birthday. He is unusually active, walking half a mile daily and eagerly reading the war news, as he served in the civil war. He was born in Springfield, Mass. Before retiring from active work he was engaged as a farmer.

Stillwater.—The ferry between Prescott, Wis., and Point Douglas, Minn., has been discontinued. The ferry was operated for forty-two years by J. W. Coffman of Prescott, who was obliged to relinquish his license by reason of ill health. Mr. Coffman was the oldest ferryman in continuous service on the Mississippi or St. Croix rivers.

Detroit.—Following an attack of pneumonia, Rev. B. Modin for three years pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church here, died. He had just accepted a call to the pastorate of the West Union church. He was for nine years pastor of the Vasa Swedish church of Goodhue county. He is survived by his wife and four children.

Spooner.—Two recent attempts have been made to wreck Canadian Northern trains near here. A few days ago some cars were mysteriously run from a switch and left on the main line just north of here in Canada and the day following ties were found piled on the track on an embankment curve, but both attempts were discovered in time to prevent wrecks.

Pipestone.—A windstorm played havoc at the farm of William Lubke, three miles northeast of Pipestone. All of the outbuildings were totally destroyed and the windows in the house were broken. Lubke had been watching the clouds and saw the funnel form come to the earth about a hundred rods from his buildings. He ran to the house and got his family into the cellar and they were uninjured.

Brainerd.—Indian Agent E. G. Boyd and Chief of Police Leo Frazer of Trommald searched the home of Anton Vogel of Trommald and seized a sack containing several bottles of whisky, a .44 Winchester rifle and three shotguns. Vogel has taken out first papers. The home of Frank Burstaler, claiming to be an Austrian, was searched and some liquor found. Both cases come up before the village authorities.

St. Paul.—Insurance Commissioner John B. Sanborn will give the representatives of the fire insurance companies doing business in Minnesota a hearing on June 6 on their proposal to levy a surcharge of 10 per cent on all policies written during the period of the war, and also on the question of equalizing the rates on residence property in the country and in the cities are now too low, and those in the small towns and the country too high, and has called for the filing of experience tables by the companies.

Winona.—Herman Eden, a farmer of Pine creek, Winona county, was found guilty by a jury in Federal court on a charge of violating the espionage act. He is declared to have told registrants that they would be fools to register. Judge Page Morris sentenced him to a year and a half in the Federal penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth.

St. Cloud.—Miss Emily Mosford of Clear Lake, accepted by the government as a war nurse some time ago, and who is now at Long Island, N. Y., has been notified that she may be called to the front at any minute.

Hallock.—A chautauqua will be held here beginning Thursday, June 20, and continuing for five days.

Red Lake Falls.—All Red Lake county participated in the observing of Memorial day here. Charles W. Cummins, St. Paul, was the principal speaker. There was a parade with veterans and Red Cross workers.

Virginia.—A monument honoring Virginia's four victims of the present war was unveiled here as the climax to the Memorial day exercises. A. B. Christofferson of St. Paul was the principal speaker of the patriotic program.

Red Wing.—Memorial day services here included an address by Senator George H. Sullivan, a parade and the decoration of soldiers' graves. With hundreds of Goodhue county boys in the service the ceremonies were more impressive than ever before.

Winona.—Charles W. Anding, auditor of Winona county, who was convicted of a violation of the espionage act in Federal court here, resigned at a time when the Minnesota Public Safety commission and Winona county commissioners were taking steps for his removal.

International Falls.—Following petitions, the state railroad commission has ordered the M., D. & W. railroad to run at least three trains a week on the Loman branch, and the service began yesterday. The order directs that tri-weekly trains operate on schedule instead of at any old time.

Winona.—David A. Taylor, alias George Miles, wanted in many Northwest cities on charges of forgery, was arrested here for passing worthless checks on local business firms. The police say Taylor has confessed to having passed several forged checks in Minneapolis last week

Hibbing. — State owned mines shipped 161,015 tons of ore last week as follows: Leonidas, 3,285; Deacon, 4,961; Hanna "A," 3,311; Helmer, 12,784; Woodbridge 4,558; Frantz, 9,045; Shiras, 6,486; Pool, 37,600; Hill Annex, 23,575; Wanless, 3,220; Majorca, 2,000; Smith, 1,350; Philbin, 10,920; Missabe Mountain, 37,920.

International Falls. — The insane asylum and not the penitentiary may be the eventual landing place of Astels, being held here awaiting an opportunity to plead guilty to an attempted assault upon a teacher of the Rogers school; as he has developed strong symptoms of insanity.

Fergus Falls.—Martin Fiedler of Perham, who drew a gun and threatened to shoot N. I. Lowry, agent of the Public Safety commission, when questioned as to his loyalty, pleaded guilty in the district court here and Judge Parsons sentenced him to Stillwater for a term of not to exceed a year and three months.

St. Cloud.—One hundred and sixty-four graduates of the state normal school here for the year 1917-1918 are announced by President J. C. Brown. Graduation exercises will take place on June 5. The address will be delivered by President Marion Le Roy Burton of Minnesota university.

Brainerd.—Nels Johnson, a farmer living on the Thirteenth street road, pleaded guilty in municipal court to running an unlicensed drinking place after being arrested upon complaint of County Attorney S. F. Alderman and was fined $75, and the court ordered that 103 quarts of beer be destroyed.

Sandstone.—Sandstone is mourning the death of its postmaster, Charles Reinholdson, aged 62, who died very suddenly of heart failure while apparantly in good health. About 9 o'clock in the evening he was reading a newspaper, when he suddenly fell off the chair and never regained consciousness, passing away at about 11 o'clock.

Minneapolis.—Lieut. Irving Haskell of this city, a member of a medical corps in France, has been awarded a British military medal for bravery. Karpel Haskell, the young man's father, is lying on his death bed and probably will never know of the honor won by his son, relatives said. Lieut. Haskell is a graduate of the University of Minnesota medical school.

St. Paul.—Salary increases and other added expenditures practically exhausted the funds provided by the last legislature for the maintenance of the old and new state capitols. The army of janitors and other employes face forced vacations without pay. State officials are expected to pledge the credit of the state for about $25,000 to tide the department over June and July, after which new funds will become available.

Buhl.—Dr. A. W. Shaw, deputy coroner, is looking into the killing of George Zonich, 23, Montenegrin miner employed at the Kinney mine, who was almost instantly slain at his home in the Spina location. Mrs. Mary Stephanich, 39, said to have been divorced, who has been keeping house for Zonich and his father, is alleged, following a quarrel, to have fired a bullet into her victim's breast just to the left of the nipple, resulting in death in a few minutes after Zonich had staggered to a back porch. The woman has been indicted.

Winona.—Edward Warloe, 40 years old, of White Plains, N. Y., leaped from a Burlington passenger train at East Winona, Wis., after leaving three Liberty bonds and $135 in cash with the conductor. He was caught by the police. Warloe said he was going to Duluth to visit his parents. He is held pending an investigation of his sanity.

East Grand Forks.—Prof. R. A. Sproul, instructor in history, bookkeeping and commercial law in the local schools has accepted a position as teacher in the high school of Leadville, Colo., for the next year.

Certain-teed Roofing

Better than metal

Certain-teed is fast taking the place of metal roofs, not only because of the scarcity and high cost of metal, but because Certain-teed is superior in every important roofing quality.

Metal easily rusts and disintegrates from atmospheric gases. Certain-teed cannot rust and its asphalt base makes it practically immune to any form of corrosion.

Metal absorbs heat and transmits it to the interior of a building. Certain-teed insulates against heat and cold, and makes the building cooler in summer and warmer in winter.

Metal must be painted frequently. Certain-teed gives years of weatherproof service practically without any upkeep expense.

Metal is noisy in wind or storm. Certain-teed completely deadens sound from such sources.

Metal is not and cannot be safely guaranteed. Certain-teed is absolutely guaranteed 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness, and actually gives longer service than its guarantee.

Metal is a direct drain on military materials. Certain-teed is made principally of waste rags and asphalt — materials which have no military use whatever.

Certain-teed has proved its efficiency and economy for every kind of roofing service—for factories, warehouses, hotels, stores, farm buildings, out-buildings, etc. Certain-teed is more economical and more efficient in service than metal or any other type of roof. Certain-teed is the best quality of roll roofing — it costs no more to lay than ordinary roll roofing and lasts much longer. For sale by good dealers everywhere.

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

The thousands of U. S. farmers who have accepted Canada's generous offer to settle on homesteads or buy farm land in her provinces have been well repaid by bountiful crops of wheat and other grains.

Where you can buy good farm land at $15 to $30 per acre — get $2 a bushel for wheat and raise 20 to 45 bushels to the acre you are bound to make money —that's what you can do in Western Canada.

In the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta you can get a

DULUTH'S DISGRACE.

The action of Duluth in denying C. A. Lindberg a right to speak in that city shows to what extent the interests have been driven to prevent the nomination of Lindberg for governor. They were not at all afraid of Lindbergh's unpatriotism, but they were afraid to let him carry his message to the common people. So far as votes are concerned Lindbergh is a big gainer by being denied the right to speak at Duluth, as every move of this kind, made by the opposition, to him, only serves to open the eyes of the people to the fact, that there is something wrong with the management of the affairs of state, and they will vote for a change.

From present indications there will be no call for Republican state primary ballots, by old line Democrats, as they have a warm fight in their own party for the nomination for governor. Here is hoping that Judge Comstock wins, so the Nonpartisan voters will have another crack at Burnquist, if he defeats Lindbergh in the Primaries.

For County Commissioner.

I hereby announce to the voters of the First Commissioner District that I am a candidate for election as county commissioner from this district. I respectfully solicit your votes and support at the Primaries and General election.

My platform, is, equal rights to the tax payers of this district.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

The Red Cross must have more nurses! The demands from the front are increasing daily. Thousands of our boys are going "over there" each week, and it is the duty of the Red Cross to leave nothing undone that will bring back to us.

We must have more nurses! The lives of your sons depend on it. We have the best medical service in the world, but without an adequate number of trained nurses it cannot do its work.

We must have more nurses! The boys go "over the top" with twice the fire if they know that back of the lines there are hospitals and nurses to care for them if they fall.

There are nurses in your town who ought to go! It is the duty of the Red Cross—it is your duty—to find them. A general appeal will not bring them results. They must be reached by individual appeal. Hand picking is necessary.

Nine hundred nurses must come from the Northern Division before July 1. This will mean sacrifice on your part, as well as theirs. You must do without nursing care in order that your wounded boy may have it.

Start the work at once.

Republicans, who are not members of the Nonpartisan League should remember that Charles A. Lindbergh is as much a candidate of that party as A. A. Burnquist, and is just as much entitled to their vote. The campaign against Burnquist is being made on the issue that he has not made good as governor and fulfilled his promises made before he was elected, and should be defeated for re-election.

THE HIGHLANDING BRIDGE

In loooking up the correspondence and bills passed, petitions drawn and letters written regarding the building of the High Landing bridge, we find that they are too long for publication in full, but anyone who has any doubt of the statement of these facts can convince themselves that the following statements are true by a visit to this office, and looking over our bridge files.

In 1915 we took the matter up with Congressman Steenerson to get permission from the war department to construct the bridge that we now have. After a long line of correspondence about the kind of a bridge to be built, with lots of offers for pantoon and draw bridges, we finally got him to consent to try to pass an act to get permission for the present bridge. It was then necessary for the county or township to sign an application to have the act passed. Of course our County Commissioner would not think of asking anything of this kind, as they naturally hated to lose their excuse for building the bridge by having permission granted by the war department. Then was the time that the county commissioner from this district should have taken the matter up, and got the act passed. But you bet he never tried to do a thing to get it passed. We then got Congressman Steenerson to draw an application for the town supervisors to sign, and we got D. A. Kolestrand, Ole Sundsdahl and E. P. Heggestuen to sign it. It was then necessary for plans and specifications to be drawn of the bridge, and we got that work done by the Hennepin Bridge Co., of Minneapolis, and if you want to see a copy of the first blue print of the Highlanding bridge call at this office. On August 22nd, 1916, Congressman Steenerson notified us that he had passed the bill granting permission to build the bridge. The next move was to turn our permission over to the county, as a free present from the town of Highlanding. Then there was no money to build the bridge, but when the Legislature passed a law giving the commissioners permission to bond the county for the construction of one bridge on the petition of twenty-five real-estate owner. We immediately got out the petition. Then Mr. Wold got busy. He sent word to me by every one he could get to carry it, to be sure and not get up the petition. I sent word to him that I would not get signers, but Mr. Tvedt of Goodridge was at the same time getting the signers, on a copy I had furnished him, and the petition was filed, and they were compelled by LAW to appropriate the money for the bridge. After the contract was let there was the delaying of construction started, and we never heard that Mr. Wold tried to urge it any. But we took the matter up with County Auditor Anderson and got the work of construction started. After the steel part of the bridge was nearly completed, the season was getting late, and there had been no start made to build the approaches. We again took the matter up with County Auditor Anderson, and got the work of grading the approaches started in time to have them completed last fall. After all the bridge was finished The Times of Thief River Falls came out and blowed about how hard P. C. Wold had worked to get this bridge. We have a letter from Congressman Steenerson stating that P. C. Wold had never wrote him about getting the act passed. Now give the credit where it belongs. To Congressman Steenerson for getting the bill passed, and to W. G. Hunt for pushing the matter until they were COMPELLED to build the bridge.

HALVOR STEENERSON

Representative in Congress

Ninth District of Minnesota

Candidate for renomination, at the Primaries, June 17, 1918.

Sixteen Years of Faithful Service

To the Farmers of the Nation

It was Halvor Steenerson who first established the principle that the people can regulate railroad rates—by winning the Steenerson Grain Rate Case in the Supreme Court.

It is Halvor Steenerson who has always defended the dairy industry against the olemargarine interests' attempts to sell their product as butter.

It was Halvor Steenerson who was called on as spokesman for the grain growers in their fight for honest grades and better prices.

It is Halvor Steenerson who has been most active of all men in Congress in building up the rural mail delivery system.

It is Halvor Steenerson who is now most active in trying to clear the toll gates from the channels of the grain trade, in order that the producer may get full value for his products. He will succeed in that, if you give him time.

A congressman, though he has the very best intentions, can be no good to you unless he has the experience and ability to carry through what he undertakes. For sixteen years Steenerson has been elected to congress by the farmer vote of the Ninth District. All those years, and before that, he has stood by the farmers on every issue in which they were interested, and the farmers have always stood by him.

He offers to renew the partnership for another two years. It's up to you.

Respectfully, STEENERSON COMMITTEE.

For years the farmer has been told what he should do to be successful, how much more he should raise, how he should diversify, what was best to do and best not to do—in fact the farmer has been overwhelmed with free advice how to get down to business. And now that he is getting down to business in real earnest—and wants to have a say in making the laws he has to do business under—he becomes a "sucker," a "traitor" and other vile things in the eyes of the same fellows who have so long been trying to teach him how to run his business.

Fighting to make the world safe for democracy is the noblest task to which a nation ever consecrated itself, so let's make a thorough job of it at home and abroad.

The farmers have to organize to get their share of representation in government because the other fellows are organized to monopolize government.

The most patriotic man is the man who is most concerned in making this best country to live in on earth.

LEAGUE STATES LEAD IN LIBERTY LOAN CAMPAIGN

The Third Liberty Loan drive in the Ninth Federal Reserve Bank district brought out the fact that the leading League states were first "over the top," the rural districts led the cities and the farmers themselves made a better record than the townspeople.

Montana, the best organized League state outside North Dakota, and North Dakota controlled by the league, both reported their quotas surpassed on the night of April 18, and were first over. It was reported from the headquarters of the district Liberty Loan committee that the Montana subscription would reach at least $14,000,000 on a quota of $9,000,000, and North Dakota at least $10,000,000 on a quota of $6,500,000.

Sixty-five Minnesota rural counties had "gone over" before one of three big Minnesota counties had completed their quotas. Nearly all these counties were strong league counties, while the big cities control the wealth and political power of the state and are ruled by the anti-farmer gang, which has tried to make an issue of its patriotism and the "disloyalty" of the National Nonpartisan league.

The remedy for all social ills is democracy.

Over The Top

The farmers made a good showing in the Lindbergh parade of the county on Tuesday of this week. The main traveled roads were lined with autoes displaying flags and banners for Lindbergh. Every auto was loaded with farmers swinging their hats and cheering for Lindbergh. TO DECIDE NEXT MONDAY.

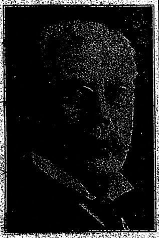
It is time for sticking to tried and true servants. Those who have proven their worth should be retained. The retention of the men who have from the beginning been a part and parcel of the war congress is not only good ordinary business sense, but also a patriotic duty.



For this reason Congressman Steenerson should be re-elected. He should be re-elected for the further reason that in him the farmers of the Ninth district have a man representing them in congress who has proven his concern for their welfare on every occasion where anything pertaining to their interests has come up. He has fought valiently to secure a reasonable price for their wheat. He has demanded the adjustment of the grading laws so that the farmer shall receive in full what he is entitled to for his crop.

Steenerson has never failed in his duty toward soldier, sailor or settler. He is lending all his support and influence to the administration in the prosecution of the war. He refuses to come home for the purpose of making a campaign, believing that the people have the first call upon his time and that their interests demand that he shall remain on the job. To fail to give him an indorsement at the primaries would be like penalizing him for doing his duty too well.—adv.

HAIL LOSSES MET BY STATE SYSTEM

Two Canadian Provinces are Providing Protection at Low Cost.

The 1927 report of the State Hail Insurance Commission of Saskatchewan recently published, contains interesting information for farmers who believe in State Hail insurance. Of the funds collected for the 1916 crop season only 6.12 per cent. was needed for expenses and the remaining 93.88 per cent. was available for paying hail losses, or to be more explicit, for every $100 of revenue, $93.88 were returned to farmers suffering hail losses. The Province of Alberta which also has a state hail insurance has had an even more favorable experience. Its cost of administration over a period of 4 years was only $4.38 per $100 of revenue annually.

No private company does business on such a small margin. Generally the private companies must have from $25 to $50 or more to pay field agents, general agents, officers, office expense, advertising, and private profits. The records of the Insurance Department of North Dakota, for instance, show that over a space of 6 years the private companies operating in that state paid back to farmers who had suffered hail losses only $69 out of every $100 of premiums collected. Their margin of $31 was over [illegible] the amount needed for conducting business in Saskatchewan and 7 times the margin [illegible] in Alberta.

Politeness is good nature regulated by good sense.—Sydney Smith.

Methods of Operation.

By the Saskatchewan plan an extra tax of 4 cents an acre is levied, with few exceptions, on all the land of the municipality (county) which has decided to accept the state insurance. The plan thus recognizes the fundamental principle that the idle land gains in value by whatever promotes the success of farming in the locality and should in fairness to the men actually working their land, bear a part at least of the cost. The maximum loss paid is $5 an acre.

Previous to 1917 Alberta levied only a flat tax on all assessable lands, but in that year the act was amended to provide (1) a flat tax of 5 cents an acre on all land; and (2) an additional levy on crop area only. The tax put on the crop lands last year was 35 cents an acre. But this means the Alberta plan assures the payment of crop losses in full, in important advantage over the Saskatchewan method which not only limits the payment of losses to $5.00 an acre but provides for prorating the payments if there are not enough funds to cover all the obligations. The Alberta farmer is thus always insured in full, and the act provides for temporary borrowing if the losses in a bad year exceed the funds collected. The borrowed money is then paid back in the good years.

League Advocates State System.

From the beginning the Nonpartisan League has advocated state hail insurance similar to that of Saskatchewan and Alberta as a simple, easy method of cutting down one of the expenses of farming. Private insurance against hail is, of course, better than no insurance at all, but its methods are too wasteful, too costly, to be tolerated by an enlightened farming community. Only a state system, for instance, can shift part of the burden at least to the land held out of use for speculation. Only a state system can make the great savings possible when every farmer subject to the risk is taken in automatically.

Minnesota is depending entirely on inefficient private companies.

CITY LEAGUE FOR FARMERS

Thief River Falls Citizens Organize to Help Non-partisans Carry Out Their Program.

Declaring that the farmer and the laborer have nothing in common with the capitalist and exploiter, citizens of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, have formed a voters' league to work in harmony with the Non-partisan league in electing officials that will legislate for state ownership and operation of the larger industries.

Thief River Falls is the city which recently entertained Mr. Townley in the Commercial club rooms, after he addressed a patriotic meeting which contributed $185.50 to the Red Cross.

Moving West.

Westward the seat of power takes its way. It is shifting from Wall street to Chicago, the home of the packers, but it will soon move again. Farmers of the west are reaching after the prize through organization.

Farmers Have One Voice.

The farmers have one voice in congress on which they can depend. [illegible] voice belongs to J. M. Baer, the [illegible] representative of the [illegible] Nonpartisan league.

SMALL BUSINESS MAN SHOULD LINE UP RIGHT

"You are fighting monopolistic big business; not competitive little business. I wish the small business men of the state and the nation could come to see that. Few of them make the distinction, but it is vital. In spite of the fact that they are being pinched tighter and tighter every year till they have become practically selling agents for the big fellows at their own risk, they still continue to think somehow that they are independent business men like their fathers were. But they are not—and in this great struggle they belong with the masses and not with the classes.

"The league sees that to fight monopoly successfully there must be a bigger monopoly—that the only one possible now is that of the whole people acting through their government; if the little business men do not see this and remain between the lines and get run over they have no one to blame but themselves. The producers of the nation cannot maintain the present system of excessive profit and economic robbery for the convenience of the men between the people and the trusts. The old system must give way to the new."—From Speech of Judson King, at St. Paul convention of farmers and workers.

EXPERT'S TRIBUTE TO WESTERN CANADA SOIL

That there is good reason for the wonderful crops of grain grown in Western Canada, which have made thousands of former residents of the United States wealthy, is not always given the thought that it deserves is quite apparent. But that there must be a reason is quite evident. Probably more than one—but the one that requires emphasis—is that the soil is of the nature that will produce good crops. It was not long since that the farmer selected his land in the most haphazard way. He need not do so today. He will select it on the soil analysis plan. Soil from Western Canada was submitted to Prof. Sievens, soil physicist of the State College of Washington, at Pullman, Wash. His report should no doubt further encourage settlement in Western Canada. It reads as follows:

"We have analyzed this sample and find that it runs high in lime, very high in potash, phosphorus and in nitrogen; that it has a splendid supply of organic matter and is in the best of physical condition. There is nothing wrong with this soil from the standpoint of crop production, and I am satisfied that it will give splendid results wherever put under cultivation."

It is soil like this properly worked, and on scientific lines, as is the rule today, that gives the opportunity to quote the experiences of farmers who have increased their incomes from $500 to $30,000 in two seasons, and whose story would read as follows:

"I have threshed altogether 7,000 bushels of No. 1 Northern wheat from 200 acres, which went from 24 to 56 per acre—sod breaking 24, spring plowing 36, back setting 56 bushels—the average being 35 bushels per acre."

The newspaper giving an account of this man's experience says: "When he disposed of his 1,600 acres from north of Brooks, Alta, to four Oak Harbor men, he was worth $30,000. Two years ago he came here with $500 and a few horses."

It is the soil of Western Canada, and the knowledge of what it will do that brings to Canada the hundreds of settlers that are daily arriving at the border. A growing enthusiasm for the fertile prairie lands of Western Canada is spreading all over the continent. This enthusiasm is the recognition of the fact that sufficient food could be produced on these prairie lands to feed the world. From the south, east and west, hundreds of men, too old for military service, are pouring into Western Canada to take up land or to work on the farms. A great many of the incoming settlers have arrived at such central points as Calgary, Edmonton, and Lethbridge, Alberta, and at Regina, Moose Jaw, and Saskatoon, Saskatchewan. Judging from the bulk of their household effects, the number of their horses and cattle, and the quantity of implements they are bringing with them, most of the new arrivals also seem well blessed with the world's goods.

Reports from North Portal, Saskatchewan; Coutts, Alberta, and Kingsgate, British Columbia—the principal gateways into Western Canada from the United States—indicate that the present influx of farmers is in such volume as has not been witnessed for many years. From Vancouver, British Columbia, people are going to the prairies for summer farm work, many with the intention of taking up land themselves at the end of the summer.

The influence of this tide of farmer settlers on greater food production will be more readily appreciated when it is considered that the average settler takes up at least twice as much land as he has hitherto been farming—and land which, acre for acre, produces better and larger crops.—Advertisement.

Father's Generosity.

"How are you getting along, my son?" asked the father visiting the camp at Yaphank.

"Treat you well, do they?"

"Oh, yes; first rate."

"Let you smoke?"

"Certainly they do."

"Well, come and have a cigar with me."

"I must ask the captain, father."

"Why, certainly; but I didn't know he smoked. Ask the general to come along, too and have one!"

Number of Men Killed in Action Is 1,033 and Deaths From Disease Figure Up 1,192.

Washington, June 10.—The war department announces, in making public the first of regular weekly summaries of casualties, that the losses among the expeditionary forces thus far reported by General Pershing total 7,315.

Deaths in action and from wounds, disease, accidents and all other causes, number 2,927, while 4,046 men have been wounded and 342 are missing in action, including men held prisoners in Germany.

The department's recapitulation follows:

Killed in action (including 291 at sea), 1,033.

Died of wounds, 310.

Died of disease, 1,192.

Died of accidents and other causes, 392.

Wounded in action, 4,046.

Missing in action (including prisoners), 342.

Totals, 7,315.

While no official explanation was given for the decision of the department to advise the country weekly of the exact total of casualties since the landing of the first American forces in France last June, it is understood that it resulted largely from widespread reports that casualties had been very heavy and that total figures were being withheld from the public.

It has been explained at the department that the daily lists sent by General Pershing are issued with as little delay as possible.

THIRTY ARE KILLED IN ACTION

Six Soldiers From Northwest Among Those Who Died.

Wahington, June 10.—The last war department casualty list, contained 108 names, divided as follows: Thirty killed in action, 10 dead from wounds, 6 dead from disease, 4 dead from airplane accidents, 6 dead from accidents and other causes, 35 wounded severely, 17 wounded (degree underdetermined).

Names of soldiers from the Northwest appear as follows: Carl Sandman, Brown Valley, Minn.; Fred H. Almos, South Heart, N. D.; Knut Ellingson, Rothsay, Minn.; Martin Erickson, Arcadia, Wis.; Preston V. Woll, Beach, N. D.; Jack Humphrey, Waterloo, Wis.; killed in action; George W. Peter, Mountain Lake, Minn.; Russell S. Servain, Hinckley, Minn.; Lorin Ernest Ross, Delaware, Wis.; Gerhard W. Thilgren, St. Peter, Minn., severely wounded.

CANADA IS CALLING 100,000

Ottawa, June 10.—Eighty-eight thousand men have been called to date under the military service act and 73,900 have complied, according to figures available.

There has been a great increase in the number of recruits in Quebec. It is now believed that the 100,000 to be raised under the act will be with the colors before parliament convenes.

Information Leaks Stopped.

Washington, June 10.—Government agents now feel sure they have stopped all means of clandestine cable or radio communication between the United States and Germany. After investigation they have found that it takes usually four or five weeks for information published generally in this country to be published in Germany or Austria. This is about the time required to carry newspapers or small matter to Germany through the North European neutral countries.

STEAMER PINAR DEL RIO IS SUNK

Submarine Destroys American Ship Seventy Miles Off Marryland Coast.

EIGHTEEN MEN MISSING

Boat Containing Captain and Seventeen Members of Crew Is Unaccounted for—Another Boat With 16 Men Lands in Virginia.

Washington, June 10.—A German submarine has sunk the American steamer Pinar Del Rio 70 miles off the Maryland coast.

One of her boats with the captain and 17 members of the crew is missing. Another with 16 men has landed on the Virginia coast.

A brief dispatch to the Navy department announcing the sinking did not say whether the ship was shelled or torpedoed. Hope is held that the missing boat either has been picked up by some passing vessel or will turn up at one point along the coast.

The Pinar Del Rio was a freighter of 2,504 gross tonnage and was built in South Shields, England, in 1895, being christened the Saba. She was bought by an American firm some time ago and placed under American register. It is assumed here she was either engaged in the coastwise or West Indian trade.

All sinkings reported to the Navy department since the submarines left the New Jersey coast district have occurred off the coasts of Maryland and Virginia with several of them due east of Cape Henry. This indicates that the U-boats are operating over a very limited area, probably of not more than a few hundred square miles, but in a very important shipping lane.

U-Boat Lets Whalers Go.

New Bedford, Mass., June 10.—Two whalers which arrived here reported they had been held up by a German submarine of Cape Hatteras. Capt. J. T. Gonzales of the schooner A. M. Nicholson, said that on his pleading with the captain of the U-boat that he was a poor man and that the loss of his vessel meant ruin, he was allowed to proceed with his ship and $30,000 cargo of sperm oil unharmed.

U-Boats Here to Get Transports.

Amsterdam, June 10.—The Nord-Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, commenting on the U-boat raid off the American coast, says:

"It is the first big and carefully planned action of our undersea warfare, undertaken against the war prolonger in the Far West. It is linked up with our offensives on the European battlefields.

"The U-boats have brought the war to the American shores to catch American transports near the point of departure, because it is not always easy to deal with them in the open sea or in European waters."

English Alone Urged in Nebraska.

Lincoln, Neb., June 10.—The English language as the sole medium of communication in Nebraska is requested by the State Council of Defense in a proclamation issued.

Waiting for Larger Prey.

Washington, June 10—Belief that the German submarines which early in the week successfully attacked coasting schooners and steamers off the New Jersey coast now are lying in wait for larger prey in one of the trans-Atlantic travel routes of the Virginia capes was expressed in official circles here. This theory was strengthened by the torpedoing Wednesday of the British steamer Harpathian, 100 miles off the Virginia coast, news of which was announced in a Navy department statement.

SUGAR SUPPLY SHORT

Two Vessels Carrying 24,000,000 Pounds Sunk by U-Boats.

Loss Is Not Serious Enough to Cause Food Administration Worry in Supplying Allies.

Washington, June 10.—Food Administrator Hoover announced that German submarines oeprating on this side of the Atlantic are responsible for the loss of 24,000,000 ounds of sugar.

As a result the supply of sugar for manufacturers of soft drinks again will be curtailed.

Practically all of the sugar was lost aboard the Carolina and the Vinland, Mr. Hoover added.

The Carolina was bringing almost her entire cargo of sugar, while the Vinland carried nothing else.

Varying smaller amounts were aboard some of the other vessels.

The loss, while a comparatively heavy one, is not serious enough to cause the food administrator great worry over keeping up the supply of the Allies. By further conservation and cutting down on the manufacture of luxuries using sugar, particularly the soda and soft drinks industry, it is believed the amount may be made up without any hardship to the people generally.

WIN RESPECT FOR GERMANY

Kaiser Says He Daily Watches "Giant Deeds of Brave Troops."

Amsterdam, June 10.—"With pride and thankfulness I daily watch the giant deeds of my brave troops, which will secure respect for the German name for all time."

This is one of the striking phrases used by the German emperor in sending a contribution of 5,000 marks to the Ludendorff fund initiated by the national committee for the care of disabled soldiers. The emperor added:

"I also see suffering borne by the German soldier in a manly and resolute manner; I see him bleed and die for the fatherland's greater honor; I gain an insight and knowledge of the innermost life of the wounded warrior."

50,000 ARE MADE HOMELESS

Flames Sweep Mohammedan Section of Constantinople.

Amsterdam, June 10.—Fifty thousand persons are homeless as a result of a fire at Stamboul, Mohammedan section of Constantinople, which devastated the whole eastern part of the Sultan Selim quarter, according to the semi-official Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung of Berlin.

Buildings on both sides of the mosque in that district were destroyed, but the mosque was spared.

AMERICAN "ACE" WOUNDED

Father Receives Word That Campbell Is Slightly Hurt.

Goldendale, Wash., June 10.—Professor W. W. Campbell of Lick Observatory, Mount Hamilton, Cal., who is here to study the phenomena of the solar eclipse, received a cablegram from France stating that his son, Lieutenant Douglas Campbell, was slightly wounded. Campbell is the first American "ace."

Chaos Exists in Austria.

Berne, June 10.—Austria is about to undergo an experience similar to that of Russia, when the czar was dethroned, according to statements made by travelers returning from Vienna. They declared it is significant that innumerable attempts have been made against military works and establishments. In the Adriatic region Slavs have destroyed mines in the ports and canals of Dalmatia and on the Croatian coast. In Bosnia-Hungarian patrols have been massacred and railways seriously damaged.

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

Jones—Are you good at mental arithmetic, Brown?

Brown—Pretty fair.

Jones—Well, listen to this: A train starts on a journey with 70 passengers on board. At the first stop it drops ten and picks up 15. Have you got that?

Brown (calculating) Yes, 75.

Jones—At the next stop it drops 25, and picks up 11. Shortly after it stops again and picks up 17 passengers and drops nine. Got that?

Brown—Yes; well?

OLD PRESCRIPTION FOR WEAK KIDNEYS

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says, "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy that I know of has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmers' Swamp-Root is due to the fact that, so many people claim, it fulfils almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Adv.

Most Startling Endorsement Ever Published

Mr. A. W. Cramer, Registered Pharmacist and Druggist of Plano, Illinois, writes under date of December 12, 1916:

"Eatonic Remedy Co.,
Chicago, Ill.

Gentlemen:—The following incident which happened in my place of business I know will be of great interest to you, and, I hope, of great benefit to humanity, morally and physically.

I keep a quantity of EATONIC piled on my show case. I recently missed a box, and knowing neither myself nor clerk had sold it, I could not account for its disappearance. Yesterday morning a man walked into my store and said: "Mr. Cramer, I owe you fifty cents for a box of EATONIC which I stole from your show case. I am bothered with stomach trouble and, not having the money to spare to get a box, I took it. EATONIC has done me so much good my conscience bothered me until I had to come back and pay for it."

This is the most wonderful testimonial statement in all my experience in the interest of any preparation. It is positive proof, to my mind, that EATONIC is all that is claimed for it. If it had not helped this man his conscience would have left him unmolested. Very truly yours,
A. W. Cramer."

HOW MRS. BOYD AVOIDED AN OPERATION

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well.

"My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MARIE BOYD, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

Sometimes there are serious conditions where a hospital operation is the only alternative, but on the other hand so many women have been cured by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after doctors have said that an operation was necessary—every woman who wants to avoid an operation should give it a fair trial before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

If complications exist, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of many years experience is at your service.

MADE SCHWAB LOOK FOOLISH

Carefully Coached Witness Had Forgotten for a Moment Just Where He Was.

An illuminating sidelight on the manner in which large business enterprises used to seek to influence legislation in congress was uncovered by Charles M. Schwab, now of the United States shipping board, in a speech delivered recently at a luncheon of advertising men in Washington.

Mr. Schwab was apologizing for assuming to speak for the shipping board in Mr. Hurley's absence. He said:

"I feel a little like a foreman who worked for me once, who had come here to Washington to appear before a committee that was investigating something, and I had him pretty well coached; I thought I had him well trained what to say.

"I sat in the corner and watched him and presently found that he was straying a little from the training, and I shook my head at him, and in old-fashioned mill style he looked at me and said, "Well, d—— it, Charlie, that's what you told me to say.'"

Getting Rich Off Coyotes.

The champion coyote killer of the Black hills, South Dakota, is George Waters, Jr., living near Crow Park. Several weeks ago he brought in 11 hides, which netted him $73, including the bounty and the price received for the hides.

Brief Items of State News

Sauk Rapids.—The farmers around Sauk Rapids are planning a big picnic June 21 at the fair grounds.

St. Cloud.—Three Held brothers, who recently enlisted here, were said by the recruiting officer to be the finest physical specimens he ever examined. Their father will also get into the game as a shipbuilder.

St. Cloud—John L. Dominik has resigned as county auditor after being in the auditor's office for the past fifteen years and is now a candidate for the office of clerk of court.

International Falls.—The local recruiting officer has received a telegram authorizing him to enlist fifty young men between the ages of 18 and 21 for a course in the government industrial training school.

St. Paul.—Mark Skinner, vice president of the First National Bank of this city, has been appointed Twin Cities representative of the wool division of the Federal war industries board, under Director Lewis Penwell.

Rochester.—The body of Henry W. Fuchs, high school graduate, who was drowned at Oronoco, has not yet been found, although scores of searches followed the river banks down for miles and also dragged the river for a distance.

Minnesota Lake.—Governor J. A. Burnquist was the principal speaker on the program at the three day state firemen's tournament held here. Referring to the world war, the governor urged the necessity of all citizens uniting to defeat the German military machine.

Bemidji.—Walter Garrity, a transient, is serving a jail sentence of ninety days for insulting a member of the Bemidji detachment of the Fourth Minnesota infantry. Garrity was arraigned in municipal court charged with saying to the soldier, "I wish you and your dirty uniform were in h——l."

International Falls.—Every resident of this town will sing "America" at 7 p. m. every day, according to a movement just started. The women have become particularly active in promoting interest in patriotic songs. The latest venture is a women's patriotic chorus, which sings at moving picture theaters twice each day.

St. Paul.—Senator Kellogg has been informed by the War department that the request of Governor Burnquist, presented to Secretary Baker, that National guard troops be not used as replacement units has been denied. Military necessity has dictated that this be done and the practice will be continued so long as the military demands make it necessary.

St. Paul.—An order making idleness a crime punishable for fine has been adopted by the state public safety commission. The order is based on the necessity of utilizing the maximum man-power toward the prosecution of the war and particularly to provide labor to take the places of man who have left food production and other civilian occupations to enlist in military service.

St. Paul.—Investigations of the price of ice and foodstuffs and other necessities in Brainerd and Minneapolis will be made by Colonel C. H. March of the State Public Safety Commission. The inquiries were ordered by the commission. The Colonial cafe, Minneapolis, made complaint that the price of ice in that city within a few months has advanced $1.50 a ton and is now fixed at 22½ cents a hundred pounds.

St. Paul.—Ruling that 1,600 acres of pine land in Itasca park was taken by selection under a railway grant before land for the park was given to the state, the United States supreme court dismissed proceedings brought by the state to enjoin the secretary of the interior from permitting the Immigration Land Co., St. Paul, from taking the tract under the railway selection. State officials say the piece is covered with an unusually fine stand of virgin pine and has been valued at $75,000.

Duluth.—Members of the United Commercial Travelers Association of the northwest held a two days' convention here. Delegates were here from the twin cities, southern Minnesota and several North Dakota and Wisconsin cities. Knights of the grip went sight-seeing in automobiles. At night the members formed in parade and marched to the Billy Sunday tabernacle for the evening service. They displayed lodge emblems.

St. Paul.—George Relmers, enemy alien, Brownton, McLeod county, was arrested today under a Presidential warrant issued to United States Marshale Joseph Wessel, "charged with being dangerous to the peace and welfare of the nation." Relmers was taken to the Ramsey county jail by Frank L. Bradley, deputy United States marshal to await the order for his internment. He is alleged to have told officials that he hoped he would have chance to get back and fight for Germany.

Mahnomen.—About 1,000 sheep and 500 lambs, driven through from Akeley, arrived at the Schemmerhorn ranch, east of Beaulieu. The sheep were shipped from Wyoming to Akeley and sold to Mr. Schemmerhorn. It took about two weeks to drive them through from Akeley, but they arrived in good shape.

International Falls.—At a meeting of the fire department it was decided to go after the 1921 convention and a delegation of members and a number of boosters went for the Monte-

Wadena.—Six hundred dollars have been subscribed for the purpose of beautifying the grounds at the Wadena-Todd county sanatorium, located here.

Hibbing.—George F. Gandsey, the first Hibbing boy to enter the Merchant Marine is now in service, according to a letter received by T. C. Congdon.

Winona.—Harry J. Webster, aviator, who was killed when his airplane caught fire on the Fort Worth, Texas, flying field, was a former student at the Winona high school, graduating in the class of 1913.

Bemidji.—Dr. G. M. Palmer has received a telegram ordering him to report at New York, June 17, prepared to leave for France for important duty with the Y. M. C. A. in war work in the battle zone.

Bemidji.—On the last day of school the totals were footed in the Thrift Stamp sales by the seventh and eighth grades of the high school building and showed $1,043.25 collected.

Brainerd.—Graduation exercises were held at the opera house. The commencement speaker was C. W. Burns. The class numbered sixty-two, the largest graduating class in the history of the Brainerd high school.

Mankato.—Steps have been taken for a county option election in Blue Earth county the coming summer. At a meeting of 100 men at the armory an organization was formed to get the necessary petitions circulated and to take charge of the campaign afterwards.

Sauk Center.—The Central Minnesota division of the National Parks Highway association will hold its annual meting here June 14. The association cares for the interest of the National Parkway of the "Red Trail" from New York to Seattle.

St. Cloud.—Threee race meets each day will form one of the features of the big patriotic celebration to be held July 4 and 5 under the auspices of the Benton County Fair association and the Business Men's associations of St. Cloud and Sauk Rapids.

Minneapolis.—All previous records for collection of internal revenue in Minnesota were broken in May, and Minnesota is probably first in collections of Western and Northwestern states. A total of $28,628,395.15 was collected, $26,834,980.92 of which is income and excess profit taxes.

Brainerd.—The council, 6 to 1, passed the amendment to the gas ordinance premitting the Brainerd Gas & Electric company to raise the price 35 cents a thousand for the duration of the war and not to exceed two years after peace is declared, when the older cheaper rate automatically takes effect again.

Mankato.—While under the influence of liquor a man, giving the name of Johnnie Johnson, set fire to a mattress and bed clothes in the Wilson rooming house. The flames were extinguished without calling the fire department and Johnson was locked up for the night in the police station, then released on condition he pay the damage.

Virginia.—Mike Pelar and Frank Frekovich, employed in the Missabe Moutain mine pit, were taken from work by police and locked up on the charge of making seditious statements during an argument with another mine worker. They were boosting Germany's cause in the war, saying that the kaiser's crowd would win, Americans could not fight, etc.

Welcome.—Welcome is dry for the first time in 25 years as the result of a ruling by County Attorney, A. R. Allen. Mr. Allen held that legal notices in the applications for renewal of licenses were improperly worded and ordered the three saloons closed for three weeks. Two of the saloons will not apply for renewal of licenses, it is said. With Welcome's saloons closed only one saloon is in operation between La Crosse, Wis., and Sioux Falls, S. D.

Moorhead.—After drawing the fire department from its headquarters on a false alarm, an incendiary set fire to the city building. The city building, a three-story frame structure was destroyed. The Fargo fire department, across the river was called on a second alarm. Suspicious letters in German, some on letterheads of a german consulate which had been closed since war was declared in Germany, were found under a barn here.

St. Paul.—For the fifth successive month the Minnesota recruiting district has bettered its record for the previous month. Gradually climbing from an obscure position near the bottom of the list of sixty-four recruiting districts in the country in April, the Minnesota district bettered San Francisco district, which has been leading the country for the last two years. In April, 1,103 recruits were procured in the state, which is believed to be the highest record in the country. When the final count was mad for May, however, it was found that 1,240 recruits had entered the service. A rush of men during the last few days of the month netted 175 men May 31, which was the banner day for the month. The rush was largely of men 21 years of age, who would be compelled to register June 5.

Hibbing.—The latest draft call will not take many from the range as it affects only Class 1 men and there are very few left in either Hibbing or Chisholm. There will be special calls for men to induct themselves and this will probably afford an opportunity for men in lower classes to get into service before they are called.

St. Paul.—Governor Burnquist has issued a proclamation designating Tuesday, June 18, as Good roads day in Minnesota. People of the state are urged by the governor to contribute

APPEAL FOR THRIFT

President Asks Citizens to Buy Only Essentials.

SYSTEMATIC SAVING URGED

People Requested to Pledge by June 28 to Invest in War Savings and Thrift Stamps, or Other Government Securities.

Washington, D. C.—To save materials and labor for necessary war purposes, President Wilson appealed to Americans "to buy only those things which are essential to the individual health and efficiency," and to volunteer on or before June 28, National Thrift day, to invest systematically in War Savings and Thrift Stamps, or other government securities.

"This war is one of nations—not of armies," said the president, "and all of our 100,000,000 people must be economically and industrially adjusted to war conditions if this nation is to play its full part in the conflict.

Pledge Is Sought.

"The problem before us is not primarily a financial problem, but rather a problem of increased production of war essentials and the saving of the materials and the labor necessary for the support and equipment of our army and navy. Thoughtless expenditure of money for nonessentials uses up the labor of men, the products of the farm, mines, and factories, and overburdens transportation, all of which must be used to the utmost and at their best for war purposes.

"The great results which we seek can be obtained only by the participation of young and old in a national thrift movement. I therefore urge that our people everywhere pledge themselves, as suggested by the secretary of the treasury, to the practice of thrift; to serve the government to their utmost in increasing production in all fields necessary to the winning of the war; to conserve food and fuel and useful materials of every kind; to devote their labor only to the most necessary tasks, and to buy only those things which are essential to individual health and efficiency.

"Buy More U. S. Securities."

"The securities issued by the treasury department are, so many of them, within the reach of every one that the door of opportunity in this matter is wide open to all of us.

"I appeal to all who now own either Liberty bonds or War Saving stamps to continue to practice economy and thrift and to appeal to all who do not own government securities to do likewise and purchase them to the extent of their means. The man who buys government securities transfers the purchasing power of his money to the United States government until after this war, and to that same degree does not buy in competition with the government.

"I earnestly appeal to every man, woman and child to pledge themselves on or before June 28 to save constantly and to buy as regularly as possible the securities of the government.

"The 28th of June ends this special period of enlistment in the great volunteer army of production and saving here at home. May there be none unenlisted on that day."

SAMARITAN RACE NEAR END

War May Wipe Out Remnant of Ancient Tribe in the Holy Land.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—The last remnant of the ancient Samaritan race may be wiped out of existence, according to E. K. Warren, president of the International Sunday School association. Mr. Warren, in his Sunday school labors in the Holy Land, found the little band of people whose ancestors made up the great northern division of the kingdom of the Jews. There were 162 persons in the group, and he has not heard a word from them in 18 months. Mr. Warren said the race dwindled down because it would not intermarry. Two-thirds of the group were men and of these 24 were drafted by the Turkish government for military service.

GIRLS DO OWN GARDENING

Will Raise Vegetables Needed by Student Body of Mount Holyoke College.

South Hadley, Mass.—Mount Holyoke college, one of the large girl's colleges of the East, will be self-supporting as far as its vegetable supply is concerned, if plans of the student farmers succeed. The needs of the student body for the year is estimated at 2,000 bushels of potatoes and 5,000 cans each of corn, beans and tomatoes. The girl farmers are planting gardens to cover this demand.

Bridging the Gap From Steer to Steak

Live stock is raised on the farms and ranches of the West.

Meat is eaten in the large cities of the East, and by our boys in France — thousands of miles away.

The day of transporting live animals from ranch to seaboard and overseas has passed. There was too much waste. The modern packer locates his large and specialized plants in the producing regions. He ships the dressed beef in refrigerator cars, and holds it in his own refrigerated branch warehouses until delivered to the retailer. For shipment to foreign ports, he transfers the meat to refrigerated ships.

By means of his nation-wide organization the modern packer maintains a continuous flow of meats to all parts of the country, so that each retailer gets just the quantity and quality of meat his trade demands, and at the time he wants it.

Swift & Company recently shipped 1,000 carloads of meat products in one week to our Armies and to the Allies.

Bridging the gap from ranch to consumer can be done successfully—and at low unit costs and profits—only by large business organizations.

Swift & Company's profit on meat, always so small as to have practically no effect on prices, is now limited by the Government to about 2 cents on each dollar of sales.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3,1879

Do not forget to put an X opposite the name of C. A. Lindbergh for Governor.

Governor Burnquist made a patriotic speech at Thief River Falls Saturday evening. It seems too bad that the governor of this state has given us such a rotten administration that he is ashamed to mention it in public, but has to confine himself to the patriotic issue. The people of Minnesota are just patriotic enough, so they will put him out of business at the primaries.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

The town of Goodridge have got four ciphers for their road and bridge funds, for the past four years. If they want four more they should vote for P. C. Wold for County Commissioner.

There is no danger but what Mr. Wold can explain to you what has become of your road and bridge funds, and the only question for you to decide, is if you want four years more of it, or part of your cash back to put into repairs on your main traveled roads.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

WHERE OUR MONEY GOES.

We note by looking up the records that the greater part of the money due the different townships on their road and bridge funds has been sunk in building state roads, and lots of them are built where it is not so necessary as are the other main roads. For example, the road and bridge funds belonging to the towns of Highlanding and Goodridge, which is so badly needed to repair their own roads may be sunk in a cut off county road, unning in an oblique direction outh east of Thief River Falls, while we with our straight secion line main traveled roads, ave our road funds taken from s year after year to s ink in any wamp where our commissioners ay out a road. We deny the ight of any board of county ommissioners to do this, and we re making our fight for county ommissioner on this issue, and elected, we will use our utost energy to see that these ownships get their just share of ne road and bridge funds to iprove and keep in order their ain traveled roads.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

Judging from the amount of erature gotten out by the backs of the candidates for the Reublican nomination for goverr, anyone reading one fourth rt of it is likely to conclude at Minnesota is going to the gs, if either one of them is cted for governor. But do not t excited you common people en the politicians get to howl, as Minnesota will come out right no matter which one ts this nomination. The only ference is that Burnquist repents the best interests of the corporations and trusts, who like fleas that suck the blood m the people to fatten their nk accounts.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

he arrest of C. A. Lindbergh, publican candidate for goverfor attempting to speak to a npartisan meeting in Martin nty was only another boom him for the nomination for governor. When it comes to the pass that an American citizen is placed under arrest for saying that he was going to address a public meeting, it is getting time for the people to clear the decks for action at the ballot box. It must have made that gang do a little thinking when two responsible farmers stepped forward and signed Lindbergh's bonds for one thousand dollars, and informed them that they had just joined the League that day. Did they suppress the League? No, they simply gave it a big boost, as the people of Minnesota will not stand for that kind of high handed work.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

WHERE HAS THE CASH GONE?

During the years of 1915 and -16 the following statement will show what was paid into the road and bridge funds of Pennington Co. by the following towns:

In 1917 Goodridge		$374.16
Highlanding		494.05
Reiner		282.86
Star		259.78
Silverton		497.01
Cloverleaf		442.82
In 1915, Goodridge		$317,95
In 1916		$374,16
Highlanding, in	1915	$312,40
In	1916	$494,05
Reiner In	1915	$174,22
In	1916	$282,86
Star In	1915	$175,53
In	1916	$259,78

The following table will show how much you got back, and remember that these figures are taken from the County Auditors RECORDS.

In 1917 Goodridge got	0
Highlanding got	$75.00
Reiner got	125.00
Star got	250.00
Silverton got	0
Cloverleaf got	0
In 1915, Goodridge got a	0
In 1916, Goodridge got another	0
In 1915, Highlanding got a	0
In 1916, Highlanding got	$150
In 1915, Reiner got	0
In 1916, Reiner got	$125
In 1915, Star got a	0
In 1916, got	$250

Look over the above figures carefully, and note the discrimination between townships. It will be remembered that the townships of Goodridge and Highlanding did not give Mr. Wold a very flattering vote four years ago, and the above figures show that he was rather inclined to teach them better, Star township through a political trick gave him a big vote, but they wont do it again next Monday.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

If we have not published enough facts to convince anyone that P. C. Wold has no credit coming for the building of the Highlanding bridge, we can convince you, if you will call at our office, that if you had depended on P. C. Wold, for this bridge you would be no nearer to having a bridge to-day, than you were in 1915.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

Lots of people in Thief River Falls will tell you that you could not possibly get a better commissioner than P. C. Wold. We don't blame them any as they get about all the road and bridge funds, while we wade through the mud. We wonder if the town of Goodridge want four more 0. for their share of the road and bridge funds. We wonder if Goodridge township would not like a few $ that they have paid into the road and bridge funds to fix that road by Morgan Vaughan's farm, instead of a 0 year after year, and a lot of praise from Thief River Falls, about what a fine commissioner they have got.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

HALVOR STEENERSON

Representative in Congress

Ninth District of Minnesota

Candidate for renomination, at the Primaries, June 17, 1918.

Sixteen Years of Faithful Service
To the Farmers of the Nation

It was Halvor Steenerson who first established the principle that the people can regulate railroad rates—by winning the Steenerson Grain Rate Case in the Supreme Court.

It is Halvor Steenerson who has always defended the dairy industry against the olemargarine interests' attempts to sell their product as butter.

It was Halvor Steenerson who was called on as spokesman for the grain growers in their fight for honest grades and better prices.

It is Halvor Steenerson who has been most active of all men in Congress in building up the rural mail delivery system.

It is Halvor Steenerson who is now most active in trying to clear the toll gates from the channels of the grain trade, in order that the producer may get full value for his products. He will succeed in that, if you give him time.

A congressman, though he has the very best intentions, can be no good to you unless he has the experience and ability to carry through what he undertakes. For sixteen years Steenerson has been elected to congress by the farmer vote of the Ninth District. All those years, and before that, he has stood by the farmers on every issue in which they were interested, and the farmers have always stood by him.

He offers to renew the partnership for another two years. It's up to you.

Respectfully, STEENERSON COMMITTEE.

BOTH PARTY HEADS UNITE IN COLORADO

Interests Use Republicans and Democrats to Gain Their Sinister Ends.

Conditions in Colorado similar to those that have called into being the National Nonpartisan league in other states are described by Jesse R. Moler, in a letter resigning the secretaryship of the Colorado Democratic state central committee.

Colorado is described by him as in the grip of a gang of politicians of both parties who would stop at nothing to serve faithfully the big business interests.

Moler, who was on the inside where he could see the working of things, became so disgusted that he threw up his job and addressed an open letter to the people of the state in which he tried to awaken them to the danger in the old party combine.

Reactionaries in Majority.

The Democrats had a majority in the Colorado legislature, but instead of enacting the pledges of their state platform a minority of them formed a combine with the Republican minority and were thus able to do the bidding of the interests. By this means, declares Moler, the Friend bill, the only measure introduced in the legislature to meet the food and high cost of living problem, was slaughtered. "Coal regulation bills," he continues, "introduced by the so-called insurgents were laughed to scorn. [illegible]

MR. SIMPKINS PAYS HIS INCOME TAX

By ROBERT McBLAIR.

Mr. Simpkins gazed at the portrait on the wall till his eyes filled with tears. It was a portrait of his father, Colonel Simpkins, who had four times been promoted for valor during the Civil War and had died bravely on the field of action. Mr. Simpkins' throat ached now for two reasons: First, he reverenced and adored the memory of his father; secondly, his age and his eyes and his game leg wouldn't let him go to war himself. And as he observed the martial bearing and uncompromising gaze of Colonel Simpkins he saw, in imagination, the khaki clad lads of the new generation marching forth and crossing three thousand miles of sea to fight, maybe die, for liberty.

Mr. Simpkins peered around to make sure that neither Bess nor John (who were at the teasing ages of sixteen and seventeen) were where they could see him, then he straightened and threw his right arm up for a salute. But his gouty shoulder twinged, and he groaned. He couldn't even salute.

"Damn!" said Mr. Simpkins, and with his other hand fiercely twirled his white mustachios.

He turned and limped into the library and sat down creakily before the mahogany desk on which were lying the blanks for his income tax statement, blanks which he had rather grumpily got from the Internal Revenue officer only that day after luncheon on his way home from the club.

Mr. Simpkins' income for 1917 had amounted to just about $15,000, and he had been rather snappy on the subject of taxes ever since he had discovered that the more income a man has the greater the percentage of it he pays in taxes. He could think of several men who, like himself, were married and had two children, and yet, although their incomes were nearly half of his, they would pay only a small fraction of the amount he paid. He gloomily drew the blank nearer and began filling in the information that it asked for.

As Mr. Simpkins' income was $15,000 he had to figure out the amounts payable on each of the successive smaller classes of incomes in order to arrive at the total due from himself. He passed over the first class who must pay taxes, that is, single men making over 1,000. His calculation for married men then showed up as follows:

First, they pay 2 per cent. (under the 1916 law) on all income over $4,000, deducting $200 for each of their children under eighteen years. In Mr. Simpkins' case this was $212, which he put down in the "payable" column.

He saw next that, under the 1917 law, married men pay an additional 2 per cent. on all over $2,000—with the same allowance for children. This added $252 to his "payable" column.

He then observed that for every $2,500 jump in his income over $5,000 he had to pay a Surtax, the percentage growing larger with each jump. This was $250 more added to his burden. And on top of all this came an "Excess Profits" tax of 8 per cent. on all "occupation" income over $6,000, making $720 more.

The total, then, he must pay was fourteen hundred and thirty-four dollars.

"Whew!" exclaimed Mr. Simpkins angrily. "There's young Henry Wa[illegible] every afternoon to make bandages for the Red Cross and that Henry, who was a lawyer, was aiding the Local Draft Board with its questionnaires.

"Well," he admitted to himself, "that makes a difference."

He thought next of Judge Willoughby, whose income was about $3,000.

"He only pays $20," commented Mr. Simpkins, not quite so angrily this time; and then a thought struck him and he sat up rigidly in his chair.

Judge Willoughby's son had been drowned on the Tuscania when it was submarined with the loss of two hundred soldiers.

"Judge Willoughby gave his son to America," muttered Mr. Simpkins.

He leaned forward suddenly and put his face in his hands.

For a long time Mr. Simpkins sat very still in that position. There was no sound in the library except the ticking of the tall clock and an occasional trill of laughter from the children skylarking upstairs. The square of light on the carpet gradually withdrew itself through the window, and first twilight and then darkness settled in about the quiet, white haired, sometimes irascible old man.

Mr. Simpkins was thinking things which he would never afterward speak of, he was thinking things that were too sacred ever to be put into words. But some inkling of his thoughts may be found in his rejoinder to Mrs. Simpkins when that placid lady came in and turned on the lights, and asked him whether he was ready for dinner.

"Judge Willoughby's only son was worth as much as fourteen hundred and thirty-four dollars, wasn't he?" Mr. Simpkins demanded of her.

As his wife, who was not unused to his superficial irritations, watched him in mild astonishment, Mr. Simpkins limped out to the hall and took his old felt hat and silver-headed cane from the hat rack. Letting himself out into the foggy evening, he tapped his way down to the corner, and mailed his income tax statement and check with his own hands.

"Now, God be thanked," said Mr. Simpkins as the lid clanked shut over his missive. "I can do this much for my country, anyhow."

An Old Truth, Still Good.

"No men can act with effect who do not act in concert; no men can act in concert who do not act with confidence; no men can act with confidence who are not bound together by common opinions, common affections, and common interests."—Burke.

Old Battlefields Will Have to Be Worked With Care to Avoid Countless Unexploded Shells.

A great deal of careful spade work will be required in the northern part of France. Old battlefields covered with wild flowers, as I have seen them, observes a Paris correspondent, are in wide stretches a slumbering menace. Months after the war is over, naval men have told me, mines will still make voyages perilous in certain sea areas. For perhaps many months more it would be equally as perilous for a farmer to plow these once fertile fields in the great war's battle swept areas.

Here and there are danger signals indicating unexploded mines. And the immense power of these mines is easily gauged by looking at the enormous craters where some of them have been "blown." The war has gone on its way and left these souvenirs of its intensity and deadliness. Here, there and everywhere are unexploded shells, German "minnies," or Boche "jam-pots."

What can a "jam pot" do? I was talking with an officer who was in a first line trench early in the war when one of these infernal machines was lobbed over from the German lines. It stuck its nose in some soft mud and did not explode. It was permitted to rest in peace by the battalion then in that part of the line. Another battalion came, and one man decided to fire into it with his pistol to explode it, and thus remove the ever present menace. The bullet pierced it, but it did not explode. He moved closer and fired another shot, and they found nothing of him after the second shot

THE MAKING OF A FAMOUS MEDICINE

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Is Prepared For Woman's Use.

A visit to the laboratory where this successful remedy is made impresses even the casual looker-on with the reliability, accuracy, skill and cleanliness which attends the making of this great medicine for woman's ills.

Over 350,000 pounds of various herbs are used anually and all have to be gathered at the season of the year when their natural juices and medicinal substances are at their best.

The most successful solvents are used to extract the medicinal properties from these herbs.

Every utensil and tank that comes in contact with the medicine is sterilized and as a final precaution in cleanliness the medicine is pasteurized and sealed in sterile bottles.

It is the wonderful combination of roots and herbs, together with the skill and care used in its preparation which has made this famous medicine so successful in the treatment of female ills.

The letters from women who have been restored to health by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which we are continually publishing attest to its virtue.

Perhaps, Some Day.

Patriotism and local pride may sometimes be stronger than geographical knowledge, and perhaps it is as well they should be. Such is the view, in any case, of the teacher of the 5B grade in one of the schools of Indiana in which a young miss was required to name the capital of the United States. "Indianapolis," she replied. And the capital of Indiana came next. That was easy, too. "Jeffersonville." She had "Washington" in her mind, all right, however, for another question elicited the information that he is the president of the United States. "Well," she said, "he still keeps his picture on our stamps."

Propaganda.

There is a movement on foot to start an educational propaganda within the German empire, to inform the people of those countries of the real demands that the other nations of the world make. One writer suggests that the best thing to be done in that direction is to print two or three million copies of the Ten Commandments in the German language and distribute them over the whole of the country by airplanes.—Omaha World-Herald.

Rights in Grass.

The fact that the tenant does not have the right to walk off and take the lawn with him when he moves from the premises was made clear in a decision handed down by Vice Chancellor Leaming in Camden, N. J., the other day, deciding against a tenant who had created a lawn by spreading a layer of top soil, and who attempted later to carry it away.

SAYS AGE LIMIT MUST BE RAISED

General Crowder Says Class 1 Will Be Exhausted Soon After Jan. 1.

ARMY GROWS STEADILY

Three Million Men Will Be Under Arms By Aug. 1—First Six Months of 1919 Are Expected to Witness Heavy Draft Calls.

Washington, June 17.—Provost Marshal General Crowder told the Senate military committee that 3,000,000 Americans will be under arms Aug. 1st next.

Extension of the age limits in the army draft will be necessary, General Crowder said, if the present rate of draft calls continued. He estimated that all the men in Class 1 would be exhausted soon after next January.

General Crowder said that 1,347,000 of the 2,428,000 men placed in Class 1 already had been called to the colors. He estimated that somt 400,000 additional men for the first class will be obtained from the men who registered June 5, and that another 200,000 will be added by the reclassification of men in the re-examination of the questionnaires now being made.

Heavy Calls in 1919 Intimated.

Requisitions from the draft to complete the 3,000,000 total by Aug. 1, General Crowder said, have been made. Of these 2,000,000 will be draft registrants and the other volunteers and national guardsmen.

"Everybody things there will be heavy calls during the first six months of 1919," was a significant statement made by General Crowder.

General Crowder approved the general principle of the bill introduced by Senator France of Maryland, extending the registration ages to from 18 to 45 years, thereby providing additional men for military and industrial service.

Objects to Limits.

He did not, however, approve the age limits fixed in the bill.

After outlining the plans of the war department for additional calls, General Crowder said that at the present rate class one will be exhausted by the end of the present year, and that unless the age limits are extended and another registration held, it will be necessary early next year to call men in class two and probably soon thereafter in class three.

General Crowder submitted figures showing the progress of the draft this year. A total of 1,347,512 men, all from class 1, will have been called by the end of July divided by months as follows:

January, 23,288; February, 83,779; March, 132,484; April, 174,377; May 360,230; June, 283,354; July, 290,000.

744,865 IN 1918 DRAFT CLASS

Includes Men Who Became of Age Since June, 1917.

Washington, June 17.—Nearly complete reports to the provost marshal general's office show 744,865 Americans who have become of age during the last year registered for military service June 5. This is 266,724 below the estimate of the census bureau, but since more than 200,000 unregistered 21 year olds already are enlisted, the census bureau apparently missed the number approximately 13,000.

Among the 1918 registration totals by states are: Iowa, 18,032; Michigan, 25,700; Minnesota, 21,029; Montana, 4,255; North Dakota, 5,086; South Dakota, 5,197; Wisconsin, 20,599; Wyoming, 1,831.

BIG BLASTS DAMAGE KIEV

Twelve Explosions Leave Smoldering Masses of Debris.

Amsterdam, June 17.—Much damage was caused in Kiev, the Ukranian capital, by an explosion in a munition works there June 8, says the Lokal Anzieger of Berlin. There were 12 big explosions and several smaller ones. Shells fell in all directions over the city. The Svjerinetz cathedral collapsed like a pack of cards. Houses were blown over and streets turned into smoldering masses of debris, while the neighborhood of the munition plant was a sea of fire. The Toiski convent was destroyed.

Lenine to Visit Berlin.

Zurich, via London, June 17.—The Vossiche Zeitung says the Bolsheviki premier, Nicolai Lenine, will probably visit Berlin shortly.

President Approves Movement.

Washington, June 17.—President Wilson has approved a nationwide compusory work movement to supplement Provost Marshal General Crowder's "work or fight" regulations. In a letter to Governor Harrington of Maryland, just made public, the president indorsed adoption by other states of the Maryland compulsory work or fight law, under which the "work or fight" principle is made applicable to all men between the ages of 18 to 50. AMERICANS MUST CONSERVE THE MEAT SUPPLY

This photograph illustrates one of the conditions that make necessary the conservation of the meat supply by Americans. It shows the line outside a butcher shop in London where five pounds of bones are sold for one shilling, the stock of beef in the British isles being kept very short by the feeding of the armies.

U-BOATS STILL BUSY

Two Norwegian Vessels Are Sunk Off Virginia Coast.

Total Number of Ships Destroyed Since German Raiders Arrived Now Twenty.

Washington, June 17.—Two more neutral vessels have been sunk by Germany's sea wolves in American waters.

The latest victims of the raiders which first made their appearance off the Atlantic coast some three weeks ago are the sailing ship Kringsjaa and the bark Samoa, both Norwegian. The crew of the former has been picked up by an American warship, which is bringing them to an Atlantic port, and that of the latter was landed at Norfolk.

Both vessels were sent down 90 miles off the Virginia coast. The Samoa was sunk by shell fire, the navy department announced, but the time and manner of the sinking of the Kringsjaa had not been reported to the department.

Its announcement concerning the Kringsjaa said:

"A United States man of war has picked up all of the survivors of the bark Kringsjaa, which was sunk about 90 miles off the Virginia coast. They are being brought to an Atlantic port."

Since the Kringsjaa was sent down in the same general locality as the Samoa, it was believed that the same submarine had accounted for the two ships.

The Kringsjaa brings the total of vessels sunk by the German U-Boats off the American coast to 20, six of which were Norwegian, four steamers and two sailing craft.

BURGLARY ON THE INCREASE

Crime Shows Enormous Growth in German Empire.

London, June 17.—"Public security in Germany is declining from one month to another and thefts in the post office and on the railways have become of daily occurrence," says the Frankfurter Zeitung.

"The growth in burglaries, the newspaper adds, can be estimated by the amount that one insurance company, the Frankfort General Insurance company, has had to pay out in settlement of burglary claims. In 1914 the amount was 87,405 marks. By 1917 the amount had risen to the extraordinary figure of 2,125,309 marks while in the first three months of 1918 the claims already have amounted to more than 1,000,000 marks."

Twenty-eight Foe Divers Sunk By U. S. Navy Since January 1.

Pemberton, Mass, June 17.—"Since Jan. 1 our navy has sunk twenty-eight German submarines and our sailors should have the credit for it," declared United States Senator John W. Weeks, member of the Senate military affairs committee, in addressing the Massachusetts Laundry Owners' association here.

"I believe when a heroic deed is done it should be made public," he added.

New Insignia for Air Service.

Washington, June 17.—Adoption of a new collar insignia for the army air service to distinguish it from the signal corps has been announced. The design consists of a pair of horizontal bronze wings in shape of a colonel's insignia with a silver two-bladed propeller placed vertically on the wings. The insignia will be worn by officers and enlisted men of the military aeronautics service and of the bureau of aircraft production. The [illegible]

American Troops Take Part In Series of Local Operations In France.

Small Engagements Are Apparently Preparatory to Resumption of Hostilities on Vast Scale—French Deliver Assaults.

London, June 17.—Since the failure of the fourth German offensive to make further advances the fighting in France has become a series of local operations, battles of no small importance in themselves in that they are preparatory to resumption of fighting on a large scale.

Repulse Germans Near Toul.

In the Toul sector, the Americans repulsed a raiding battalion of German shock troops who had penetratted the town of Xivray, only to be driven out by the return blow of the Americans.

In the newest part of the line held by the Americans, in German Alsace down near the Swiss border, the Yankee machine gunners and riflemen repulsed another determined German raid.

Northwest of Chateau Thierry three raids by the Germans on American outposts were defeated.

In the famous Toul sector, where the Americans checked the German shock troops and then expelled them from the village, German prisoners were taken. The Germans in anger over their repulse "strafed" villages in the rear with their artillery throughout Sunday.

French Attack Violently.

Southwest of Soissons the French have delivered several violent attacks against the Germans holding territory captured last week.

Where the enemy a week ago was throwing thousands upon thousands of men against the Allied lines between Montdidier and Noyon, worn out with his useless efforts and his forces sadly depleted through men killed and wounded, unwilling or unable further to give battle.

In Macedonia the operations daily increase in importance. Along the greater part of the front there have been heavy reciprocal bombardments and Bulgarian troops several times have endeavored to penetrate the Allied lines. All their efforts, however, met with ill success.

London, June 16.—Charles Alfred Vernon, who is said to have been employed in an important capacity in the ministry of munitions, has been charged in Bow street police court, with conspiracy with Sir Joseph Jonas former lord mayor of Sheffield, who was recently arrested on the charge of having communicated information useful to the enemy.

Many Germans Weary of War.

London, June 17.—Private letters from Germany that have come into Allied hands indicate the heavy weight the war has imposed upon the poor in that country. Anxiety for peace finds frequent expressions, as well as anger with the militarist element in the nation. MAY BE SIX BILLIONS

Government Is Preparing for the Fourth Liberty Loan.

Financial Program for Next Four Months Is Disclosed by Secretary McAdoo.

Washington, June 17.—Secretary McAdoo has disclosed the government's financial program for the next four months in preparing for the fourth Liberty Loan, to be floated probably in October. About $6,000,000,000 certificates of indebtedness will be issued.

They will be offered in blocks of $750,000,000 each, every two weeks beginning June 15.

Every national bank and trust company is asked to assist the government by subscribing 5 per cent of its gross resources monthly. The certificates will bear 4½ per cent interest like those preceding the third Liberty Loan, and will have varying maturity periods, none exceeding four months.

Tax Certificate Issue.

In addition, an undetermined quantity—perhaps $2,000,000,000 of tax certificates will be issued during the summer for use in paying taxes a year from now.

The announcement of this program indicated that the fourth Liberty Loan will be for at least $6,000,000,000, the exact amount depending on government expenditures in the next few months. The treasury already has estimated these roughly at about $12,000,000,000 between July 1 and next January 1.

Borrow from Banks.

The sale of certificates under the plan in effect during the past year amounts virtually to borrowing in advance from banks on projected popular war loans or tax collections, and periodically refunding these short term obligations in long term Liberty Loan bonds. Depository banks make 2½ per cent net, the difference between the 4½ per cent interest paid by the government and the 2 per cent collected for deposits.

LOSES MONEY ON RAILWAYS

Decreased Revenue Is Shown Under Government Operation.

Washington, June 17.—Net operating income of American railroads in the first four months this year was $143,454,000, or about $100,000,000 less than in the same period last year.

This reduction represents in a general way the temporary loss to the government in operation of the railroads, since the four months' proportion of the annual guarantee to the railroads is more than $100,000,000 greater than the actual income.

OCCUPY SECTOR IN ALSACE

Americans Took Up Their New Position on May 21.

With the American Army in France, June 17.—It now is permissible to announce that American soldiers are occupying sectors on the battle front in Alsace. They first entered these positions on the 21st of last month.

Private Cars Are Banned.

Washington, June 17.—Use of luxurious private cars has now been discontinued by the railroad administration, except in a few cases of serious illness, when a patient must be moved with unusual care. In addition, railroad executives have their office cars for business uses. The private cars now are idle on sidings and few applications for their use are received from wealthy persons. Hauling of the cars was abandoned because of the great tax on railroad facilities for so [illegible]

Doan's Kidney Pills Effected Wonderful Recovery After Other Medicines Had Failed.

"I don't believe I would be alive to give this testimony if it weren't for Doan's Kidney Pills," says Mrs. Julia A. Thomas, 1125-A Missouri Ave., East St. Louis, Ill. "I was in a serious condition with kidney trouble; my feet and ankles were terribly swollen and the kidney secretions caused agony in passage. I had terrible rheumatic pains and often got so dizzy I dared not walk for fear of falling. I felt as if I would go frantic. I grew weak as a baby and often had to grasp something to keep from falling. My nerves were all unstrung and the least noise startled me. Nothing benefited me and I was discouraged. A neighbor happened to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills and I began using them. The swellings and pains were soon eased up and it was but a short time before my kidneys were in good shape again. They have never bothered me since nor have I had any backache or other kidney trouble. I have gained 55 pounds since I was cured and can do all my own work without suffering."

Don't twist your tongue to say pretzel in Indianapolis dairy lunchrooms, as the girls working at the counters have put a ban on the word. Patrons of a dairy lunch in East Washington street, who have been accustomed to ordering coffee and a "pretzel," are being admonished by the counter "men" to say tea ring. "You're an American, aren't you?" the girls say. 'You have seen on the movie screens what the Germans are and what they have been doing, haven't you? Then, don't say pretzel, because it's German and no German goes in here."—Indianapolis News.

Foggy in Camp.

It was an unusually foggy morning at Camp Grant. The soldiers were in line as usual ready for drilling, but the sergeant noticed that somebody was out of place, he being quite a distance away. He called to him to get in line, but no answer was received nor did the object stir. After calling and motioning to him several times he walked up to him, when to his dismay he found he had been talking to a post.

Substitute for Lycopedium.

An interesting method is being employed to provide a substitute for lycopedium, the vegetable material formerly obtained from Russia for coating molds in foundries to prevent sand from clinging to the castings. The substitute is the dust obtained from the gas discharges of drying apparatus in works where coal or lignite is briquetted, a centrifugal process being employed to precipitate it.—Exchange.

St. Paul.—The state will receive royalties estimated at more than $1,500,000 under a lease of mineral rights to Syracuse lake, in St. Louis county, made to a Minneapolis syndicate. The lease was issued under a new law authorizing the governor, attorney general and state auditor to dispose of ore in lake beds in the name of the state.

St. Paul.—Walter J. Smith, former state treasurer, now serving an indeterminate sentence in state prison for misappropriation of state trust funds, will no be paroled before fall. The state board of parole will not act this month on the former treasurer's application and the board rules prevent action before fall on cases continued at June hearings.

St. Cloud.—There were 332 registrants for District No. 1 of Stearns county on June 5. This is much above the estimate which had been made based on the former draft and which was placed at 290.

RESERVES TO WIN THE BIG BATTLE

General Foch Says Offensive Is Necessary for Victory.

SURPRISE, MASS AND SPEED

Final Attack With These Characteristics by Troops Carefully Prepared and Then Thrown In Without Regard to Losses.

London.—Battles can be won in the end only by the army which takes the offensive. This is the significant declaration made by General Foch, commander in chief of the allies, in an article contributed by him to the weekly journal, the Field, in which he discusses the problem of the soldier and the way to victory.

"Modern warfare, to arrive at its end and to impose its will on the enemy," General Foch says, "recognizes only one means—destruction of the enemy's organized forces.

"War undertakes and prepares this destruction by battle, which brings about the overthrow of the adversary, disorganizes his command, destroys his discipline, and nullifies his units as far as their fighting power is concerned.

No Victory in Defense.

"Our first axiom must be that to achieve its object a battle must not be purely defensive. A purely defensive battle, even well conducted, does not result in a victor and a vanquished. It is simply a game that must be begun over again.

"From this it is an obvious corollary that an offensive, whether started at the beginning of an action or whether it follows the defensive, can only give results, and, in consequence, must always be adopted at the finish.

"To maintain our position is not synonymous with being victorious and even prepares for a defeat. If we remain where we are and do not pass to the offensive to fix the direction of attack, to guard against the plans of the enemy, and prevent him from carrying out the same maneuver, we must undertake to carry on and sustain numerous combats, each with determined aim.

All Depends on Reserve.

"But since there remains no doubt that decisive attack is the very keystone of a battle, all other actions which make up a battle must be envisaged, considered, organized, provided with forces in the measure in which they will prepare, facilitate, and guarantee development of a decisive attack characterized by its mass, its surprise, its speed, and for which, in consequence, it is essential that there shall be the maximum reserve force possible of troops of maneuver.

"The reserve—that is to say, the prepared bludgeon—is organized and kept carefully instructed to execute the single act of battle from which results are expected—namely, the decisive attack.

Surprise, Mass and Speed.

"Reserves must be husbanded with the most extreme parsimony so that the bludgeon may be strong enough to make the blow as violent as possible. Let loose at the finish, without any lurking idea of saving them, with a well thought out plan for winning the battle at a point chosen and determined, reserves are thrown in all together in an action surpassing in violence and energy all other phases of battle, an action with proper characteristics—surprise, mass, and speed. All our forces really participate, either by preparing it or by carrying it out.

"In this, our supreme aim, we must not be deceived by appearances. Although theory fails when applied by feeble hands and when accessories obscure the main principle, history and reason show us that in battle there is a single argument which is worth while—namely, decisive attack, which is alone capable of assuring the desired result—the overthrow of the adversary."

Praying for a Miracle.

Thomas A. Mott, superintendent of the city schools at Seymour, tells the story of a little girl who had been taught to believe in miracles. One night, following a hard examination at school, she went to her room and before climbing into bed she offered her customary prayer. Her mother was standing near and was surprised when the girl prayed: "Please make Boston the capital of Maine." When the prayer was finished her mother asked her why she wanted Boston the capital of Maine.

"Well, mother," she replied, "I wrote it down on my examination paper that way this afternoon, and I want to have it correct."—Indianapolis News.

Belgian Queen Visits Hospital.

"There is never a day when the queen of Belgium does not visit the hospitals and comfort the wounded at the front. She encourages all ambitious among the soldiers and has organized a symphony orchestra for their entertainment." A cablegram says:

"Paul Ginisty, of the Petit Parisian, just visited a Belgian school at the front where 600 little war victims find refuge. These children have suffered greatly and everything is done to make them happy. The hours of work are arranged in accordance with their years. In the dormitories over each bed [illegible]

DOG A PROBLEM IN ENGLAND

Diminishing Food Supply Makes Canine Industry Difficult One From War Standpoint.

The British government is wrestling with the problem of what to do with dogs, in view of the rapidly diminishing stocks of food. It seems settled that the number of dogs is to be reduced. There are hardly any dog biscuits left, and no more will be manufactured, as the low grade flour from which they are made is wanted for the textile trades.

Bonar Law, Chancellor of the exchequer, refused to include a heavy tax on dogs in his budget, which he introduced in the last week of April. His friends said that such a tax would kill dog breeding as an industry, and would work unequally between rich and poor. The poor man's dog would be sacrificed, while the pampered Pekinese would flourish.

Now the alternative proposal is to prohibit the breeding of dogs during the war except under license. The effect of this would be to allow the perpetuation of pedigreed breeds, which have taken many years and large sums of money to produce, and also useful dogs, like sheep dogs and army dogs. The breeding of mongrels and probably of purely fancy dogs would be prohibited.

There will be no interference with people who already have dogs. They will in the future need all their ingenuity to keep pets fed.

U. S. Insures Fighters.

In all our war measures and activities there is nothing wiser, better and fraught with more good to our fighting men and the nation than our soldier and sailor insurance. Members of the military and naval forces of the United States for whose benefit the insurance was established are availing themselves of it. More than 2,000,000 members of America's fighting forces are now insured by the government for more than $16,500,000,000 by the United States government.

Smoking in France.

Tobacco cards have made their appearance in France. The town of Aubin has taken the initiative and it is expected that many other towns and cities will follow suit. No card will be delivered to youths under sixteen years of age. No provision is made for women. There has been a shortage of tobacco in France during the last three months.

German Soldier Uses Paper Mattress.

School children in Germany are being organized for the purpose of collecting paper which is to be used to fill mattresses for the soldiers. The necessity of conserving the supplies of straw in Germany has forced the authorities to this action.

Flying Mileage Fatality.

In 1908 it was estimated that for every 300 miles flown one life was sacrificed. By 1910 the mileage per fatality had risen to 3,500. In 1911 the distance had increased to 4,900. Statistics for France last year gave the mileage as 62,500 per fatality.

Farmers! Watch Your Stomachs In Hot Weather

We and Our Allies Are Depending Upon Your Strength To Supply Our Armies With Food.

You men who work long hours in the fields under a blazing sun—you've got to be big eaters, because your food is your strength, and now, more than ever, your strength is badly needed. So guard your health. Be sure and watch your stomach, for in the summer time nearly all illness can be traced to stomach and bowel complaint. You, yourself, know how liable a man is to sunstroke if he goes in the hot sun too soon after eating a hearty mid-day meal, and also how liable he is to sudden attacks of stomach miseries. So cool off in the shade before going back to work. Don't take chances.

Take care of your stomach, friend. You know you can't work well with your stomach out of fix. "Safety first," must be your motto, so send to your druggist and get a big box of EATONIC, enough for yourself and family, yes, and the hired folks, too. It's the wonderful new compound for the quick relief of stomach and bowel miseries. It was originated by H. L. Kramer, the man who made millions of people happy with his first great remedy, Cascarets.

Now, all you need do is to take a tablet or two of EATONIC after your meals. It's good—just like eating candy. Enjoy the quick, sure relief it brings—how almost instantly it relieves indigestion, heartburn, food-repeating, sour stomach, and that painful, puffed-up, bloated, lumpy feeling after eating. EATONIC will help you all to a pain-free stomach—a sweet, cool, comfortable stomach—in fact, those who take EATONIC say it makes them forget they have stomachs. They never dreamed that anything could bring about such quick and wonderful results. Don't wait until the summer sickness of stomach and bowels weakens you—but start using EATONIC today! Just one or two after meals; that's all.

Your health—your folks' health—is a matter of vital importance, not only to yourself, but also to the nation. And you know one can't be too careful of one's stomach and bowels during the hot spells.

EATONIC only costs a cent or two a day to use it—a big box 50 cents—no more. That is the price; and remember, EATONIC is absolutely guaranteed to do all we claim—in fact, more. It's the best Stomach Remedy you ever used.

You know your druggist; trust him then to make our guarantee good; if EATONIC fails in any way, take it back; he will refund your money. If your druggist does not keep it, drop us a postal and we will send it; you can pay when you get it. Address H. L. KRAMER, Pres. EATONIC REMEDY CO., 1018 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUB.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

$1.00 a year, in advance.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3,1879

We have been in a good many political campaigns, but the primary election campaign closed this week in the Republican party is the most bitter one that has ever been fought in this state, and makes the Dunn and Collins fight of 1904 look like fifty cents on a dollar. The dirty part of it was started by the Burnquist crowd of politicians who started the cry of disloyalty against the farmers and laboring men, and has grown every week in bitter feeling. We are glad it is over, and that the November campaign will be a more honorable and gentlemanly fight for supremacy.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

Peter O. Wold seems to be the only politician of eastern Pennington county who has a steady campaign for office manager. His manager from this League voting precinct made a desperate effort to land the endorsement for state senator for him, and came within one or two votes of doing it, in the convention of the League in opposition to Mr. Naplin. Failing in that he filed for County Commissioner, so as to be sure to try and land something in the office line. We wonder if the common privates in the League are not opposed to this steady office seeking by men who when they fail to get one office immediately reach out after another one, while the rest are supposed to take off their hats and go way back and sit down.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

Judge F. T. Wilson in his speech at the community picnic last Friday explained the necessity of the conservation of food to the farmers, so they better understood it. The judge appealed to their patriotism to save every pound of wheat flour possible for the supplying of our own and our allies armies in the war. Our farmers are nobly responding to this call by the using of as much substitutes for flour as possible. We note from our personal experience that there can be a saving in wheat flour that will make a tremendous increase in the world supply by using flour carefully and using as much other substitutes as possible. It has been the costume for the average housewife to use her supply of flour in anyway best suited to her convenience, and when the supply gets exhausted simply order more, and when the bread got about a certain age to dump the surplus into the pig slop, and bake a new supply, which of course was all right as long as there was no restrictions on the use of flour. Now it is an appeal from your government to save flour, and it is your duty to save every possible pound you can. This does not mean that you are to save and starve your family or yourself, but to save the waste and win the war.

When Letters Were a Luxury.

In our modern speed of railroad travel, and the consequent facilities in the transmission of mail matter all over the civilized world, it is well enough to look back to the time when letter writing was a luxury indulged in only by a few, and communication between friends at a distance well nigh an impossibility. In its first application the word "post" meant a courier or carrier of messages.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

RIGHT MUST TRIUMPH IN WORLD WIDE WAR.

"This war must be won and will be won, not for the safety of political democracy alone, but for the triumph of right over might, for the supremacy of every moral principle that distinguishes a civilized man from a savage. Kaiserism is going to be kicked off the planet—and some other things as well. King Privilege will go, King Booze and King Superstition.

"Every day we are demonstrating the superiority of the principle of co-operative effort over the old system of individualism by which each man grabbed all he could get, with no care for the common good. For the safety of the very life of the civilized world governments, and ours among the rest, have been compelled to sieze and operate great utilities. It has opened wide the eyes of the world. Men everywhere are saying if this is good in war time, why not in peace time? For example—we have taken over the railroads, and they are never going back to private ownership. A war within the war is in progress. The Tory rich are playing their old game to enrich and entrench themselves. But they will lose.

"It is because President Wilson, Secretary Baker, Secretary Daniels, and men like them, are for DEMOCRACY and a democratic settlement of the war that they are being hated and maligned by the Big Rich."—Judson King of Washington before Nonpartisan League rally at St. Paul.

WHO PAYS THE BILLS?

The farmer member of the Nonpartisan League knows who pays the bills for the newspapers, pamphlets and other educational material being sent out by the League. He doesn't have to ask, as he has paid his membership fee in the movement with the full knowledge of what was going to be done with it. But he wonders where the money comes from to supply the countless thousands of booklets, letters, papers and pamphlets that are being sent out to attempt to defeat the League and prevent its program from being put into effect. Is it coming from real friends of the farmers, or from those who exploit him and fear that the Nonpartisan League program will end their domination.

Why Farm Machinery is High.

The report of the J. I. Case Threshing Machine Company for the year ending Dec. 31, 1917, shows a surplus earning of $1,506,272, equal to 18.15 per cent on the common stock as compared to 9.06 per cent earned in 1916. The showing is made after the company had retired $2,488,000 of bonds purchased during the year. Without the purchase of these bonds the company would have shown a surplus of $4,147,587, or 50 per cent on the common stock. There were $692,608 of extraordinary charges deducted from the income, besides the addition of $800,000 to contingent reserve. The total sales for the year were $17,657,000, an increase of $4,000,000 over the previous year.

Which Should Rule.

The monopolistic corruptions and conspiracies of the packing magnates is a sample of "private enterprise;" the exposure of them by a government investigation is a sample of "public enterprise." Which do you like best? Which kind of enterprise ought to rule in the nation?

MR. SIMPKINS PAYS HIS INCOME TAX

By ROBERT McBLAIR.

Mr. Simpkins gazed at the portrait on the wall till his eyes filled with tears. It was a portrait of his father, Colonel Simpkins, who had four times been promoted for valor during the Civil War and had died bravely on the field of action. Mr. Simpkins' throat ached now for two reasons: First, he reverenced and adored the memory of his father; secondly, his age and his eyes and his game leg wouldn't let him go to war himself. And as he observed the martial bearing and uncompromising gaze of Colonel Simpkins he saw, in imagination, the khaki clad lads of the new generation marching forth and crossing three thousand miles of sea to fight, maybe die, for liberty.

Mr. Simpkins peered around to make sure that neither Bess nor John (who were at the teasing ages of sixteen and seventeen) were where they could see him, then he straightened and threw his right arm up for a salute. But his gouty shoulder twinged, and he groaned. He couldn't even salute.

"Damn!" said Mr. Simpkins, and with his other hand fiercely twirled his white mustachios.

He turned and limped into the library and sat down creakily before the mahogany desk on which were lying the blanks for his income tax statement, blanks which he had rather grumpily got from the Internal Revenue officer only that day after luncheon on his way home from the club.

Mr. Simpkins' income for 1917 had amounted to just about $15,000, and he had been rather snappy on the subject of taxes ever since he had discovered that the more income a man has the greater the percentage of it he pays in taxes. He could think of several men who, like himself, were married and had two children, and yet, although their incomes were nearly half of his, they would pay only a small fraction of the amount he paid. He gloomily drew the blank nearer and began filling in the information that it asked for.

As Mr. Simpkins' income was $15,000 he had to figure out the amounts payable on each of the successive smaller classes of incomes in order to arrive at the total due from himself. He passed over the first class who must pay taxes, that is, single men making over 1,000. His calculation for married men then showed up as follows:

First, they pay 2 per cent. (under the 1916 law) on all income over $4,000, deducting $200 for each of their children under eighteen years. In Mr. Simpkins' case this was $212, which he put down in the "payable" column.

He saw next that, under the 1917 law, married men pay an additional 2 per cent. on all over $2,000—with the same allowance for children. This added $252 to his "payable" column.

He then observed that for every $2,500 jump in his income over $5,000 he had to pay a Surtax, the percentage growing larger with each jump. This was $250 more added to his burden. And on top of all this came an "Excess Profits" tax of 8 per cent. on all occupation income over $6,000, making $720 more.

The total, then, he must pay was fourteen hundred and thirty-four dollars.

"Whew!" exclaimed Mr. Simpkins angrily. "There's young Henry Wilkins, who married Jake Johnson's girl; he makes $2,000 and he doesn't pay a cent of taxes. I guess this is his war as well as mine!" [illegible] every afternoon to make bandages for the Red Cross and that Henry, who was a lawyer, was aiding the Local Draft Board with its questionnaires.

"Well," he admitted to himself, "that makes a difference."

He thought next of Judge Willoughby, whose income was about $3,000.

"He only pays $20," commented Mr. Simpkins, not quite so angrily this time, and then a thought struck him and he sat up rigidly in his chair.

Judge Willoughby's son had been drowned on the Tuscania when it was submarined with the loss of two hundred soldiers.

"Judge Willoughby gave his son to America," muttered Mr. Simpkins.

He leaned forward suddenly and put his face in his hands.

For a long time Mr. Simpkins sat very still in that position. There was no sound in the library except the ticking of the tall clock and an occasional trill of laughter from the children skylarking upstairs. The square of light on the carpet gradually withdrew itself through the window, and first twilight and then darkness settled in about the quiet, white haired, sometimes irascible old man.

Mr. Simpkins was thinking things which he would never afterward speak of, he was thinking things that were too sacred ever to be put into words. But some inkling of his thoughts may be found in his rejoinder to Mrs. Simpkins when that placid lady came in and turned on the lights, and asked him whether he was ready for dinner.

"Judge Willoughby's only son was worth as much as fourteen hundred and thirty-four dollars, wasn't he?" Mr. Simpkins demanded of her.

As his wife, who was not unused to his superficial irritations, watched him in mild astonishment, Mr. Simpkins limped out to the hall and took his old felt hat and silver-headed cane from the hat rack. Letting himself out into the foggy evening, he tapped his way down to the corner, and mailed his income tax statement and check with his own hands.

"Now, God be thanked," said Mr. Simpkins as the lid clanked shut over his missive. "I can do this much for my country anyhow."

Girl Workers in Japan.

The number of factory girls newly recruited every year in Japan is 200,000, of whom only 80,000 go home. The remaining 120,000 never return. They go from one factory to another or go into other occupations, never thinking of going home.—World of Labor.

Skiing on the Water.

The ski is recommended as both a life saving device and a pleasure craft, combining safety with novelty. It [illegible] not sink, makes better speed than a swimmer and does not tire the rider as swimming does. It is more practicable for long distances and can go through water where there is a heavy undertow, as it sits so high in the water that it is not caught in the grip of the undercurrent as the legs of the swimmer are. It doesn't take a long time to master, as the surf board does; requires no skill in balancing and sticking on and has the great advantage of being equipped with a motive power, whereas the ordinary surf board must be pushed and paddled out to sea before it can be ridden in.—Outing.

MUST USE SPADE CAREFULLY

Old Battlefields Will Have to Be Worked With Care to Avoid Countless Unexploded Shells.

A great deal of careful spade work will be required in the northern part of France. Old battlefields covered with wild flowers, as I have seen them, observes a Paris correspondent, are in wide stretches a slumbering menace. Months after the war is over, naval men have told me, mines will still make voyages perilous in certain sea areas. For perhaps many months more it would be equally as perilous for a farmer to plow these once fertile fields in the great war's battle swept areas.

Here and there are danger signals indicating unexploded mines. And the immense power of these mines is easily gauged by looking at the enormous craters where some of them have been "blown." The war has gone on its way and left these souvenirs of its intensity and deadliness. Here, there and everywhere are unexploded shells, German "minnies," or Boche "jam-pots."

What can a "jam pot" do? I was talking with an officer who was in a first line trench early in the war when one of these infernal machines was lobbed over from the German lines. It stuck its nose in some soft mud and did not explode. It was permitted to rest in peace by the battalion then in that part of the line. Another battalion came, and one man decided to fire into it with his pistol to explode it and thus remove the ever present menace. The bullet pierced it, but it did not explode. He moved closer and fired another shot, and they found nothing of him after the second shot.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

PLOT TO ABSORB DUAL MONARCHY

Germany Is Preparing to Add Austria-Hungary to the Kaiser's Empire.

PLAYS SHREWD GAME

Berlin Seeks Vengeance for Austria's Peace Intrigue Wtih the Entente Powers and Is Taking Advantage of Present Internal Disturbances.

Rome, June 24.—The vision in which the military Machiavellis in Berlin revel as one of the most "glorious victories of the whole war" is Austria, starving and defeated, or that, with not a friend outside to turn to, absolute submission to Prussian dominion will be the last straw.

For then, and not until then, will be fulfilled the two aims that the Prussian overlords have been of late planning and plotting with super zeal and that are haunting Emperor Charles like nightmares in the midst of his hopeless battle with the raging sea of revolt at home. These two aims are:

1. Fulfillment of the kaiser's oath to wreak vengeance for his ally's peace intrigue with the Allies.
2. Compete absorption of Austria-Hungary as part and parcel of the German empire with elimination "even of the boundaries," as vice chancellor von Payer recently was uncautious enough openly to put it.

Germany's New Policy.

But there is a larger issued involved in Germany's plan towards Austria-Hungary than the lust for vengeance. It is a new policy, so far played shrewdly in the dark, underhandedly, but evidently destined to reveal itself in the full light of day.

These ideas, this new policy, no longer culminate, however, in the aim of "breaking loose" from Austria, but in the plight of the new circumstances find their ultimate goal in absorbing that country altogether and wiping her out as an independent power.

All doubts that Ludendorff is actually Germany's dictator, not only in military respects, but in the economic field as well, were removed by the news that it was he to whom the Vienna mayor addressed the plea for food. Ludendorff's answer too, is significant. It is another pointed to the ultimate objects, outlined above.

Ludendorff Another Bismarck.

In the midst of the Franco-Prussian war, Bismarck worked and fought tooth and nail for what he thought more vital even than victory in the field—the amalgamation of the German states into a federation dominated by Prussa, the keystone to the dream of world power. Ludendorff who shows all the earmarks of trying to play a Bismarckian ro'e in the affairs of the visioned Mitteleuropa, thus appears in the light of Austria's executioner "when the proper time comes," to add the Hapsburg realm to Prussia's domain.

10,000 GOPHERS ARE CALLED

Drafted Men To Go To Southern Training Camp In July.

St. Paul, June 23.—The July draft call, ordering 10,000 Minnesota men to Camp Wadsworth, Spartanburg, S. C., on July 22 and four following days has been received by Adjutant General Walter F. Rhinow. Special interest was manifested in the call when members of several draft boards made it known that pro rata demands on them in filling the call would probably exhaust their Class 1 registration.

Several of the boards said they might be unable to fill the call unless they were permitted to classify at once the men just 21 years old who registered June 5, and use them in filling the quota. Many other boards said they had more than enough Class 1 men for this call.

PLAN BUREAU FOR BIDDERS

Officials May Give Contract Information to Manuacturers.

Washington, June 24.—A new bureau to supply information on war orders to prospective bidders may be established by the government as a result of the department of Justice's fight for discontinuance of the contingent fee agency system.

Representatives of departments negotiating contracts will confer to work out means of facilitating direct negotiations between manufacturers and the proper government officials, and render middlemen unnecessary.

Export Central Body Named.

Washington, June 24.—To regulate the flow of freights to ports for export and distribute this traffic equitably between ports, an exports control committee has been created by the War and Navy departments and the railroad administration, and consists of Major Goethals, Rear Admiral Peoples, George D. Ogden, representing the railroad administration; P. A. S. Franklin, representing the Shipping board, and W. D. Cook, representing the traffic committee in charge of Allied shipments.

SIXTY-TWO ARE DEAD

Awful Loss of Life Occurs In Circus Train Wreck.

Most of the Bodies Are Mangled and Charred So that Identification Is Impossible.

Gary, Ind., June 24.—While circus officers made frantic efforts to compile an accurate list of the victims, sixty-two bodies of Hagenbeck-Wallace circus employes, who perished in the wreck six miles west of here, rested in temporary morgues here and at Hammond.

Only 24 of the bodies had been identified. Most of the other corpses are charred and mangled beyond recognition. Edward M. Ballard, general manager of the circus, issued a statement saying figures compiled indicated that the death list would total 85. He said that a hasty check of the scattered employes showed a list of 60 missing in addition to the 25 identified dead.

It is said that most of the 60 missing were "razorbacks" a number of whom were negroes.

Train Master Believed Dead.

F. S. Whipple, trainsmaster, also has been given up as dead. Parts of two bodies cremated in the furnace of tangled steel and timbers that resulted when a Michigan Central equipment train crumbled the flimsy circus coaches were dug out. The authorities said that if the death list was as great as estimated by circus men, the additional bodies probably were reduced to ashes.

The list of injured in hospitals was reduced to 58 here and 20 in Hammond. Only three or four of these are expected to die.

ARCHBISHOP KEANE IS DEAD

Well Known Prelate Passes Away at Dubuque Home.

Dubuque, Iowa, June 24.—The Most Rev. John Joseph Keane, former rector of the Catholic University of America and retired archbishop of Dubuque, died here.

Archbishop Keane was born in Ballyshannon, County Donegal, Ireland, Sept. 12, 1839. He came with his parents to the United States in 1846 and received his elementary education in the public schools of Baltimore.

APPROVES RATE INCREASE

Commerce Commission Allows Advance in Express Rates.

Washington, June 24.—Ten per cent increase in express rates has been approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission and will add about $22,000,000 to the gross annual revenues of the American Railway Express Co., the consolidated concern which takes over the Interstate Express transportation business of the country July 1.

U-BOAT LOSSES INCREASING

Divers Are Being Sunk Twice as Fast as Foe Can Build.

Paris, June 24.—Two-thirds of the German submarines launched are already at the bottom of the sea, according to a statement made to the deputies of the under-secretary of the navy.

"And," continued the under-secretary, "we are destroying them twice as fast as they are building them."

Desires Aid for Russia.

Paris, June 24.—Basil Maklakoff the Russian ambassador to France reiterates in an interview printed in the Petit Journal his appeal to the Allies for intervention in Russia, saying that such action is absolutely necessary.

"The future of Russia," says M. Maklakoff, "depends on victory for the Allies, which will be the salvation of humanity. Allied intervention is necessary to allow disarmed and betrayed Russia to resist the Germans. To help the Bolsheviki would be to play Germany's propaganda game."

YARDS PLANNING FOR BIG SPLASH

At Least Eighty-nine New Ships Will Be Launched On July 4th.

HELPING TO WIN WAR

Celebration of Independence Day Will Be Made Notable by American Builders Breaking All World's Records for New Tonnage.

Washington, June 24.—The launching of the largest number of ships of the greatest aggregate tonnage ever put into the water in one day will make celebration of July 4 this year notable for all time.

Independence day's contribution to the merchant fleet on which the world is depending for victory over the Germans will be at least 89 vessels with a capacity of 439,886 deadweight tons. In addition enthusiastic workmen are straining every nerve to complete six other hulls in time for them to join in the splash that will be heard around the world, which would make the total tonnage 470,886.

The conservative estimate of launchings to take place on the day Americans venerate more than any other is one-third more than the entire production of seagoing tonnage in United States yards in the fiscal year of 1915-16 and exceeds by 42,050 tons the launchings for 1901, the record prewar year in American shipbuilding. The Shipping board's banner, construction month of May will be eclipsed in one day, both in number of ships and in tonnage.

Thirty-seven of the hulls, expected to be launched will be steel, with a tonnage of 254,686. They will include the 12,500-ton cargo carrier, William Penn; the 12,000-ton Challenger, of the same type; the three sisters, Independence, Victorious and Defiance, all of the 11,800-ton class; three refrigerating ships of 9,400 tons each, and eight of the 8,800-ton freighters.

The Lake Pearl, a 2,300-ton vessel, which is to take to the water on Lake Michigan, will have the baby honors of the day. The average tonnage of the steel vessels is 6,883.

With the exception of the 7,400-ton Beechland and two others of 4,000 tons, the 52 wooden hulls which are to be launched are of the 3,500-ton type. Their total tonnage is 185,200.

The Pacific coast vessels, totaling 250,700 deadweight tons. The East will be a close second to the West, making ready for 38 launchings from yards on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts, 27 of which will be wooden vessels, 11 steel vessels, totaling 76,486 deadweight tons, making a grand total of 172,186 deadweight tonnage. The Great Lakes will launch 14 steel ships totaling 47,700 deadweight tons.

TO BOYCOTT GERMAN GOODS

American Defense Society Asks for 20,000,000 Signers.

Washington, June 24.—Inaugurating a movement to boycott German-made goods, the American Defense society issued an appeal here for 20,000,000 signatures to a pledge not to buy anything with the German mark.

Russia Loses Siberian Grain.

Moscow, June 24.—Czecho-Slovack control of sections of the trans-Siberian railroad has completely cut all rail and wire communications between Siberia and Russia and has resulted in depriving European Russia of the Siberian grain supply. The Czecho-Slovaks now control the southern section of the trans-Siberian railway from Samara on the Volga river to Tchelyabinsk and the Siberian main line on the east to Novo Nikolayevsk, also the northern branch from Tchelyabinsk to Ekaterinburg.

BILLION FOR BIG GUNS

Government Preparing to Turn Out Heavy Artillery.

War Department Is Expecting Change From Trench to Open Style of Warfare.

Washington, June 24.—Though approval by the house appropriations committee of the largest fortifications program ever submitted by any government, it was disclosed that the new $40,000,000 government plant for production of heavy artillery at Neville Island, in the Ohio river near Pittsburg, is to equal the famous Krupp plant in Germany.

The bill carries a total of $5,435,096,224, the principal expenditure being more than a billion dollars for heavy artillery. Of the entire sum, $2,000,000,000 is asked as a cash appropriation and the remainder for contract authorizations.

Heavy Guns Chief Need.

Plans of the War department for carrying the warfare on the Western front beyond the trench stage by a vast production of heavy mountain siege and field guns are revealed in detail.

All of the new heavy guns provided for in the bill will be mounted on railway cars or motorized for rapid transportation, showing the War department, as was recently intimated, is expecting a change from the trench to the open style of warfare.

Based on an American army of 3,000,000 men, the plans which the measure supports have been approved by the Inter-Allied War council, through General Pershing, it was stated by Representative Borland of Missouri, chairman of the sub-committee which framed the bill. The total appropriation for heavy guns is $1,229,731,295.

100,000 GO ACROSS IN WEEK

900,000 Americans Now in France and U. S. Five Months Ahead of Program.

Washington, June 24.—Nine hundred thousand men have been shipped across the seas, General March told newspaper correspondents at the weekly conference. These include the troops shipped from all American ports of embarkation. The United States is five months ahead of its program for placing an army in France, General March said.

The figures on American troop shipments are significant since General March at his first conference last week fixed the number shipped at more than 800,000, the addition of 100,000 during the week showing the rate of progress that is being made.

WAR LOAN PROVES FAILURE

Turkey May Resort to Issue of New Paper Money.

Washington, June 24.—Failure of the latest Turkish loan was reported in a dispatch from Switzerland announcing that only $60,000,000 was obtained of $100,000,000 sought.

Germany already has advanced to the Ottoman empire nearly $900,000,000. The Swiss dispatch says it is predicted the Turks will now have to issue new paper money, which will further affect the rate of exchange.

Will Oust German Music.

Chicago, June 24.—An American wedding march to displace those by Wagner and Mendelssohn is in process of composition by Lieutenant John Philip Sousa, bandmaster at the Great Lakes Naval Training station, it was announced. Bandmaster Sousa is now at work on the hymeneal procession at the request of various musical organizations, it was said, because of a disposition in many quarters to regard the foreign marches as part of kultur.

Pipestone.—Esther Olson, 11 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Olson, farmers of Cottonwood county, was smothered to death in a sand pit on her father's place. With several other children the little girl was playing hide-and-seek and she laid in the pit, the bank caving and burying her alive.

Eveleth.—The school gardens located near the junior high and Spruce schools, are showing signs of production, and good results seems evident. The gardens are cared for by the school children, under the supervision of O. H. Schmidt, who has general charge of all school gardens. More than 400 school children are raising vegetables and potatoes on these plots, and the produce realized at the close of the growing season will amount to no small item.

Minneapolis.—The reunion of the "Old First" Minnesota Volunteers, the first regiment from any state tendered to President Lincoln in the Civil war, will be held here June 21. The members will be guests of the city at a complimentary dinner and a tour of the city and environments will follow in the afternoon. In the evening a patriotic meeting will be held at the First Baptist church. Among the speakers will be Mayor Hodgson of St. Paul, and Daniel W. Lawler. Edwin F. Kenrick, of Merriam Park, state bank examiner, was unanimously elected commander of the Minnesota department, at the annual G. A. R. encampment here. Other officers elected were: John R. St. Cloud.—The memorable Cold Spring dam case, which involves a large number of issues, will be up for hearing again in district court on June 24. The case will be heard before Judge Parsons, who will come here from Moorhead for that purpose.

Thief River Falls.—Jacob Pfeffer of the Northern Construction company of this city is in a serious condition at a hospital in Hibbing as the result of an accident which happened about three weeks ago, the details of which have just become known here.

Albert Lea.—The annual joint picnic of the Holstein and Guernsey breeders, is to be held at the fair grounds on June 22. Among speakers will be E. A. Onsrud, field man for the Guernsey breeders; J. C. Cort, representing the Holsteins; W. A. McKerrow and H. H. Kildee of the extension division of Minnesota.

Moose Lake.—Passages from the Bible, quoted by James Wimmer as sufficient reasons for not subscribing to the Liberty loan, the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A. war work, did not appeal to Sheriff Rodey Hawley of Pine county, who placed Wimmer in the county jail. After two days in jail Wimmer declared he had had enough and donated $100 in cash to the Red Cross.

Duluth.—The county attorney's office has been notified that Edwin R. Cooper of Duluth was arrested at Kansas City on the complaint of the Kansas City Light and Power Co., which charges the loss of $20,000 in six per cent bonds which were floated in Duluth. District attorney Forbes, Duluth, has made out extradition papers since Mr. Cooper refused to return to Duluth.

Hibbing.—Kathryn Kritz, 10, daughter of Mrs. Anna Kritz, of 101 West Sellers street, died in a hospital of burns sustained while attending a school picnic at Bennett park. With schoolmates she was toasting marshmallows at an open oven, when her clothingh ignited. Before assistance could reach her she had suffered serious burns about the face, arms and body, and was hurried to a hospital, but could not be saved.

Thief River Falls.—One building was totally destroyed and five others severely damaged by fire which started here and for a time threatened the major portion of the business section of the city. The estimated loss is $12,000. The fire started in a pile of paper near the Oen Mercantile company's warehouse. Investigation as to the cause of the fire is being made. It is believed that boys playing with matches caused the blaze.

St. Paul.—Requests by the national and state food administrators that use of new potatoes be postponed until the old crop is consumed are bringing results. A. D. Wilson, state food administrator, said. Merchants in most of the mining towns of St. Louis county have pledged to defer purchases and sale of the new potatoes until after July 20. "Last year's crop of potatoes should be entirely consumed," said Mr. Wilson. "Any other action would be a food waste, and a food waste is criminal."

Deer River.—The loyalty of the Indians in this section in subscribing for Liberty and other loans to the country is surprising. These people have not been solicited by any committee at any time, and it is learned that at Coffey, ten miles from here, the natives have deposited with Postmaster Coffey about $1,500 for their donation to the Red Cross fund, and at Bena the deposit made with the agent amounts to more than $2,000. One Indian at Coffey contributed $350, and at Bena one gave $500.

Virginia.—The largest class in the history of the local high school was graduated at exercises held in the Curling rink, the address of the evening being delivered by Dean L. D. Coffman of the University of Minnesota. There were sixty-two students in the class, eight of whom are in the service.

International Falls.—A carload of beer went into sewers there when Sheriff White of Koochiching county, who seized about a month ago on a siding near Rainer following orders to get rid of it poured the fluid into the sewers.

Canned Ostrich Eggs.

Signs reading "Newly canned ostrich eggs for sale" may soon meet the eyes of the housewife looking into the windows of grocery stores in London, says the Popular Science Monthly. This statement is based on the fact that ostrich eggs are being packed experimentally in South America for shipment to England in liquid form. One ostrich egg is equal to about two dozen hen's eggs. If the canning of these eggs proves successful, it will mean the salvation of the ostrich-growing industry as a result of the war. It will take a large family to consume one breakfast egg.

Post Cards First Used in Austria.

Post cards were first used in Austria. They became a part of that country's postal service in 1839. They cost less than half a cent to send and the first were limited to 25 words. They were taken up by England a year later. The first picture post card is said to have been sent in England in 1891. Some two or three years later the first view cards made their appearance. Post cards came into use here in 1877.

The Mathematical Mind.

"What was the answer to that investigation?"

"It turned out," replied Senator Sorghum, "like some of these sums in decimal fractions. The problem seemed simple enough, but you could prolong the answer indefinitely."

Put Into Practice

Conservation means the use of foods requiring less sugar, less fuel, and the minimum of wheat.

Grape-Nuts

"There is one thing I can't understand," he started to say.

"Only one?" she asked, without waiting for him to finish.

"There was one. Now there are two. The second is, why some girls never learn that it is only the pretty ones who can afford to be impertinent."

WOMEN SUFFERERS MAY NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmers' Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

REMARKS BY NOTABLE MEN

Forceful Expressions Frequently Heard From Prominent Personages in the Public Eye.

Ezra Pound—Go out and defy opinion.

John Galsworthy—We are awakening to the dangers of Gadasening.

General Foch—A battle is never lost until its loss is acknowledged.

Clarence Rex—It is all right for a girl to marry for money if she is worth the money.

Rudyard Kipling—Nine-tenths of the atrocities that Germany has committed have not been made public.

Billy Sunday—Germany lost out when she turned from Christ to Krupp and from the cross of Calvary to the iron cross.

Lloyd George—There is no time for ease, delay or debate. The call is imperative, the choice is clear. It is for each free citizen to do his part.

T. C. O'Donnell—A stanza or two from "America" sung whenever opportunity and time permit, will bring oxygen into your lungs and strengthen the muscles of the abdomen and breasts.—New York Independent.

Jewelry or Munitions.

A high official in the British ministry of munitions says that there are several reasons why people should not buy platinum jewelry. In the first place, it is very expensive; then the world supply has almost been exhausted, and also the men at the front need more munitions, and platinum is required for the manufacture of explosives wherewith to win the war.

Sure to Win the War.

The great strategy of war is to think quick, and shoot straight and fast.

The worst sorrows of life are not its losses and misfortunes, but its fears.—A. C. Benson.

WHEATON WINS EXCITING RACE

Defeats W. L. Comstock for the Democratic Nomination for Governor

RECEIVES LARGE VOTE

J. A. A. Burnquist Eliminates C. A. Lindbergh for Republican Nomination by About 50,000 Majority—Senator Nelson Wins 3 to 1.

Minneapolis, June 21.—Interest shifted from the victory of Governor Burnquist over C. A. Lindbergh to the close race between Fred E. Wheaton of Minneapolis and Judge Willard L. Comstock of Mankato.

On the face of returns, it seemed almost certain that Wheaton would be the nominee to oppose Governor Burnquist next fall. Comstock's early lead of more than 5,000 had been overcome by Wheaton. The latter's gains were small but steady. The vote stands: Wheaton, 14,483; Comstock, 14,194.

Another Hot Race.

One other "neck and neck" race is attracting attention. In the Seventh congressional district, the contest between Congressman Andrew J. Volstead and Dr. Henrik Shipstead of Glenwood, Non-partisan league candidate, is very close. Volstead was reported as having a very slight lead. The Seventh district was strong league territory.

Governor Burnquist got a big vote in the strictly rural precincts, despite predictions by League leaders to the contrary. The Governor maintained his lead of nearly 50,000 votes over Charles A. Lindbergh, Townley's candidate for governor. The vote was: Burnquist, 184,187; Lindbergh, 135,154.

Senator Nelson's victory over Jas. A. Peterson, is three to one. Senator Nelson received 186,527 and Peterson 69,495.

The vote in the Republican primaries has surprised every one. The total vote will run nearly 350,000. Two years ago the total vote in the Republican primaries was approximately 185,000.

The small vote in the Democratic primaries shows where the big increase came from. Democrats went into the Republican primaries to help check the "political prairie fire" which was sweeping down from North Dakota.

Caswell May Lose.

It was by no means certain that Irving A. Caswell, clerk of the supreme court, would be renominated, although he slightly increased his lead. The vote stands: Caswell, 84,489; Magnuson, 61,954; Mueller, 77,572.

Clifford L. Hilton, attorney general maintained his lead over Thomas V. Sullivan, Nonpartisan league candidate. For a time Sullivan pushed Hilton very close and friends of the present attorney general expressed grave concern.

Thomas Frankson, lieutenant governor, continued to increase his lead. On account of the three cornered fight, Frankson has been in jeopardy. The vote was: Frankson, 97,157; Crane, 87,954; Stephens, 51,416.

Julius Schmahl, secretary of state, got a vote of 150,073, while his opponent, Carl G. Malmberg of Forest Lake polled 70,547.

J. A. O. Preus, state auditor, had almost the same size vote as that of Schmahl. Preus had 150,022 as against Tjosvold's 86,375.

F. W. Putnam, railroad and warehouse commissioner, received 126,186 votes, and Tillquist, his opponent, got 93,363.

Henry Rines, state treasurer, had 139,773 votes and his opponent, Fasel, had 90,144.

MISS LUSK GETS 19 YEARS

Sentenced for Second Degree Murder at Waukesha, Wis.

Waukesha, Wis., June 19.—Grace Lusk, who was found guilty of murder in the second degree for slaying Mrs. Mary Newman Roberts, wife of Dr. David Roberts, former state veterinarian, was declared by a board of alienists to be sane and was sentenced by Judge Martin Luck to 19 years' imprisonment.

When sentence was pronounced Miss Lusk fell backwards in a faint and was caught by one of her attorneys.

Alaska Farm Bill Passed.

Washington, June 20.—A House bill facilitating patents to homesteaders on scattered farms in Alaska has been passed by the Senate and now goes to President Wilson for his approval.

Zeebrugge Remains Blocked.

Amsterdam, June 20.—The entrance to the harbor of Zeebrugge is blocked, according to Lieutenants George Coward and John Read of the British royal air force, who landed in the province of Zeeland and are to be interned at The Hague. In an interview published in the Telegraaf they say the Germans are working day and night to clear the passage, but each night British aviators demolish the German's progress. The cement ships sunk in the harbor are still there.

ARRANGE FOR SELF-DEFENSE

Scandinavian Countries Find Themselves in Precarious Situation Because of the War.

The recent meeting of the three kings of the Scandinavian countries, so unexpected and so unusual, was practically a meeting in self-defense, forced on them by the precarious situation in which the war has placed their countries, writes Maurice Francis Egan in the Yale Review. Sweden had prided herself on her militarism copied from the German system. Norway relied on its coast line, its shipping, its fisheries and the firm belief that it was practically independent of the world, with an assured future made by its own brains and its natural resources. Denmark, never free from the fear of the German Colossus, believed that England and Russia might save her from extinction at the crucial moment, and the preponderance of American opinion at the various Hague conferences made her hope that the moral force of our opinion might prevent her national extinction. These hopes are gone. Denmark fed England, she exported certain products to Germany, she had made herself the foremost scientific agricultural nation of the world, she was the freest, she was working out the ideals of her national life without desiring to acquire territory or to infringe on the rights of others; but the moment the United States entered the war she and the other Scandinavian nations gave up hope of any protection or help, and they have now determined to band together in an industrial, economic union. The world has deserted them and they have determined to do their best to become independent of the world.

What "Good-By" Means.

"Good-by" is simply a contraction of "God be with you." To say "adieu" is another way of saying, "To God I commend you." The literal meaning of "farewell" is "May you journey well," or "Fare you well."

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

JUDGE DECIDES STOMACH REMEDY A GREAT SUCCESS

Commissioner of Mediation and Conciliation Board Tries EATONIC, the Wonderful Stomach Remedy, and Endorses It.

Judge William L. Chambers, who uses EATONIC as a remedy for loss of appetite and indigestion, is a Commissioner of the U. S. Board of Mediation and Conciliation. It is natural for him to express himself in guarded language, yet there is no hesitation in his pronouncement regarding the value of EATONIC. Writing from Washington, D. C., to the Eatonic Remedy Co., he says:

"EATONIC promotes appetite and aids digestion. I have used it with beneficial results."

Office workers and others who sit much are martyrs to dyspepsia, belching, bad breath, heartburn, poor appetite, bloat, and impairment of general health. Are you, yourself, a sufferer? EATONIC will relieve you just as surely as it has benefited Judge Chambers and thousands of others.

Here's the secret: EATONIC drives the gas out of the body—and the Bloat Goes With It! It is guaranteed to bring relief or you get your money back! Costs only a cent or two a day to use it. Get a box today from your druggist.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR.
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUB.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3,1879

The Democrats have certainly shown themselves to be shrewd politicians in this Primary election campaign. They run about 100,000 Democrats into the Republican Primaries to help beat Lindbergh for the nomination, and now they have easy picking to defeat Burnquist in November as you could not find a Nonpartisan League farmer in three days travel that would be caught voting for Burnquist. The Democrats worked the Burnquist Republicans up to do the dirty work against the League, and then turned in to help them vote them out of power, and now the League will turn in and help the Democrats vote Burnquist out in November. Burnquist stands about an equal chance with Lindbergh to day, so far as being elected the next governor of Minnesota is concerned, as he will be so badly defeated in November that he won't know he is in the race.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

Present indications are that Congress will soon take action to change the draft age limits from 21 to 31 years, so that the draft will include all men between the ages of 18 and 45 years. Strong pressure has been brought to bear on Congress for an increase in the draft age limits, and the general belief among men in close touch with the situation is that speedy action will be taken in the matter.

War industries in all parts of the country are lagging because of a shortage of labor. Various branches of the United States Army, particularly the Engineers and Signal Corps, are in need of skilled mechanics and artisans of all kinds. The "Work or Fight" law is expected to relieve the situation somewhat, but it is doubtful if it will bring enough men into the Army and into the hundreds of government workshops to make army officers change their plans. Secretary of War Baker, and Provost Marshall General Crowder are both emphatically in favor of the change, and have gone so far with their plan that a bill already is practically ready for introduction in the House.

Voluntary enlistments in the Army have taken a marked slump since the first of June, and strenuous efforts will be necessary in Minnesota during the next week if the state is to maintain its present position in relation to the other recruiting districts in the country. The Minnesota District has been the banner district for the past three months, and Major John D. Yost, Recruiting Officer for the District, does not want to see this state supplanted by another.

Single men within the age limits of the proposed new draft regulation are urged to get in touch with their nearest Army Recruiting Office and get placed before the new order is in force. All branches of the service are open at the present time and afford excellent opportunities for advancement.

KANSAS FARMER INTERNED

A county food administrator in Kansas reported to the federal administrator of that state that John Sattler, a wealthy farmer near Emporia, Kansas, has been feeding his wheat to hogs and chickens and that when the local county administrator protested against such use of wheat the farmer replied with disloyal remarks. The Government brought Sattler to trial for revocation of his first papers on the ground that when he swore he would renounce the sovereignty of Germany he did not do so in good faith, which contention was upheld by the court. After the trial Sattler was arrested and taken to Topeka for internment.

The driving in France and Italy is beginning to start the other way, and it will not be long now before the German invading army will be started to retreat to their own lands. Now is the time for every true American to push, to the full extent of his ability. If you cannot afford to buy a Liberty Bond buy a War Savings Stamp. If you cannot afford to buy a War Savings Stamp, invest at least twenty-five cents in a Thrift Stamp. All take hold and push and help our boys across the seas to drive that German Army back across the Rhine.

BIG BUSINESS HIT BY FOOD EXPERT

"Hindering the Big Job" for Private Profits, Says Dr. Wiley.

Declaring that "We should include all commodities in the price-fixing statute," Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the best known food expert of the United States, gives emphatic indorsement of the position of the organized farmers in the current issue of Good Housekeeping. Those who oppose general price fixing, he says, are "Hindering the Big Job."

"As an illustration of how not to do things in accordance with this formula," says Dr. Wiley, "I may call attention to the fact that congress authorized the fixing of the price of wheat, but did not authorize the fixing of the price of flour or bread. Nor did it authorize the fixing of the price of anything the farmer employs in cultivating his crop.

"Thus, as the president says, the farmer justly complains of an artificial price fixing which limits his income and does not in any way protect him against the greed of those who have things to sell to him. He feels that he is entitled to this protection. He also feels that the consumer of the bread made from his wheat is entitled to protection."

Dr. Wiley says that on his way to the office recently he stopped at one of the best retail grocery stores in Washington to ask the price of a five-pound package of whole-wheat flour. It was 50 cents, or 10 cents a pound. The farmer got 17 cents at the most for the wheat needed to make it, leaving a margin of 33 cents. "I pay at a mill near my farm 10 cents a bushel for grinding wheat. For grinding five pounds of wheat the charge would be not quite one cent, which leaves 32 cents for the container, the cost of transportation and the profit of dealers."

As the Nonpartisan league has frequently shown, this proportion of one-third for the farmer and about two-thirds for the middlemen is almost universal. It represents an inefficiency in marketing which no nation, even the rich United States, can long endure. This is what Dr. Wiley means by "Hindering the Big Job."

We cannot prosecute the war to best advantage with such wretched means of marketing the food for our people and the Allies. Who is hindering? Not the farmers, but the big interests who are making money from this inefficiency. According to Dr. Wiley, they are using congress to do it. "I think," he says, "that congress should without any delay authorize the president to correct the inequities of which he so justly speaks."

Mr. Alfred McCann, another well known expert, fearless in the fight for the people, declared last fall that the misery and deaths in Belgium were due solely to the fact that grain gamblers palmed off [illegible] spoiled grain on the Belgian relief commission for full market [illegible]

[illegible] people know also that the wheat which we set apart for the Allies must, through the influence of the milling interests, be ground here.

"It is well to remember," declares Wiley, "that if the 90,000,000 bushels of wheat were to be sent to England in the berry and milled there, they would make 756,000,000 pounds of flour more than will be made here. It is true that this would keep some millions of dollars out of the pockets of the millers here, but it is [illegible]

Like Shakespearean Character.

When Shakespeare wrote about the man "dressed with a little brief authority," who "cut such fantastic tricks before high heaven as make the angels weep," he undoubtedly had in mind a prototype of Albert R. Allen, a backwoods attorney of a backwoods Minnesota county, who has caused the arrest of Mr. Townley for alleged sedition. So long as the constitution is suspended in our sister state one can expect to hear of almost any fantastic proceeding. The action of Mr. Allen demonstrates [illegible]

GET THE RED CROSS HABIT

By EDWARD HUNGERFORD
Of the Vigilantes

The United States has now been at war for more than a year. But up to the present time the Red Cross has made but one national appeal for help—its $100,000,000 drive in the summer of 1917. Now it is about to make another appeal—its second. And upon the heels of the Third Liberty Loan. For, great as are the responsibilities and the opportunities of the institution whose blazing symbol is recognized by civilized nations the world over as a symbol of peace and of comfort, its expenditures are but a small fraction of those required for our governmental expense for the conduct of the war.

Organization of Service.

The Red Cross has never permitted itself to encroach upon the functions or the necessities of the government, although there are many times when it might justify itself in so doing. In the single important instance of transportation it has refused to burden the army or navy with the carriage of its vast supplies of stores, even though these were destined for the relief and the lives of the soldiers and the sailors themselves. On the contrary, after it had builded and fully equipped a great dispatching depot on the West Side of New York for the preparement of its stores for shipment overseas, and the war department found itself so pressed for warehouse facilities that it was compelled to take the Red Cross plant for army needs Davison and his fellows of the Red Cross gladly moved out and quickly assembled and builded another dispatching depot for their own needs. The spirit of the organization is that of service. And I have seen enough of its workings to convince me that it is something a little more than mere service—perhaps service plus efficiency would best describe it.

It seems to me that the time has come when there should be an even larger national appreciation of the Red Cross. Today it has only begun to touch the surface of the American people. Continued fighting and extended casualty lists will force it far beneath the skin. It cannot be embarrassed for lack of funds. You and I cannot afford to have it embarrassed, to be compelled to turn any of its energies from the saving of human life to mere grubbing for cold cash.

It is time that America formed a new habit. We have some big and fairly expensive national tastes already, movies and motoring, for instance, to say nothing of smoking and drinking. A little reduction on all of these and the proceeds turned to an entirely new habit would be a mighty good thing at this time. And for that fifth habit I am going to propose the Red Cross—the Red Cross habit, if you please. It will be a habit the gathered money of which will go to the credit, not of yourself, but of the greatest charity that America ever has known, which makes this new habit more than a habit—a real virtue—the virtue of self sacrifice.

Our Country the Richest.

Try being ready for the Red Cross collector—not merely the next time he comes but on each subsequent call. Do not face him with the reproachful suggestion that he has seen you before. Our country is a big land, in many ways the biggest and richest in the world, but it is not big enough nor rich enough that folks with money can escape with but a single invitation to contribute.

That is why I suggest the Red Cross habit—the continuous setting aside of definite sums of money by patriotic Americans against the Red Cross drives. It is a habit which I cannot commend too heartily to you.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

Judging from the yelps that came from the Singer kennel, the change in that mail route must have hurt.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

A letter received from C. S. McReynolds this week states that he is now located at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, and is teaching motor cycle school.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

Judging from the tremendous amount of free matter being sent through the mails, it is no wonder they had to raise rates on newspapers.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

We received a letter from Clarence Mennes this week, who left for the army training camp last week. The Pennington county boys who went in the last call are all located at Camp Grant, Illinois, and had just had one days training when Mr. Mennes wrote. He said it was a little hard at first, but he thought the boys would like army life after they got a little more used to it.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

We have nine acres of wheat growing in a former lake bed, that if it fills out good, will go forty bushels an acre. The field of wheat is growing on land that we reclaimed from a lake by drainage at our own expense, and yet some dirty skunk wrote the Department of the Interior, that we were not living on and improving this land.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

There seems to be some hitch in the way the boys have been called to the colors from Highlanding township. One who was in the first draft, is still left at home, while about all the boys lower down have been called and some of them are now in France. There is likely to be an investigation made of this at an early date, as one of the boys is no better than another, if his father does happen to hold an official position.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

As it seems to be fashionable by certain parties to look up records to see that no fraud had been committed on homestead lands, we are looking up the record of the duck that filed a homestead on the north east quarter of section 20, town of Deer Park in 1904. When we get the records completed we will submit them to the Department with a copy of the birth certificate of the filer. Keep on digging into Hunt you fellows, but this is to inform you that I won out in my land case before the Department, and get a credit mark for [illegible]

THE CIRCUS CLOWN.

Fifty Funny Men Are Connected With Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus.

The modern clown is a paradox. He is the same as in the days of Dan Rice away back in the last century, and yet he is a different clown. The same in that he paints his face in vermilion and white, and adheres to the time-honored ridiculous pattern in his dress; different because of the fact that his work to-day is practically all pantomime, whereas that of the ancient clown used to be composed of singing, reciting and telling jokes, at which time no other act worked in the big show.

There are more than fifty clowns with Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus. There are clowns with one, two and three humps. There are clowns who impersonate policemen, prize fighters, baseball players, farmers, etc. There are six French clowns, headed by Marceline St. Vaquin and Art Adair. The Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus will give two performances in Thief River Falls on Wednesday, July 10th.

Better Mail Service.

The change made by the post office department to change the Highlanding and Kratka mail route into a loop route, and give the people daily instead of tri-weekly service, is highly satisfactory to nearly all the patrons of that route. The change was petitioned for over a year ago, but for some reason action was not taken to make the change. As the route was run before, it had the appearance of being run in the interests of the postmaster at Kratka, instead of the people. The mail went from Highlanding to Kratka by the south road one day, and returned the same way. It went by the north road the next day, and returned the same way, thus giving the people only a three times a week service, with exactly the same distance traveled by the mail carrier, as he travels now to give them daily mail service. Of course this change is not satisfactory to postmaster Singer, or his main push Mr. Wold, who so far as we can learn are about the only ones that are not pleased with the change. We understand that they openly accuse us of assisting the patrons to get the change, as it seems we have got the reputation of working for the best interests and upbuilding of eastern Pennington county, and as this is a move in that direction, maybe we did have something to do with it. But we think we have as good a right to stick our nose into the mail routes on the north side of the river, as Mr. Singer had on the south side.

"BUCK-UM" TO A STANDSTILL

If you want to be appreciated by the people of your community with the same appreciation that a wolf is appreciated in a neighborhood, turn in and "buck" every public enterprise, that the people try to get up to benefit the country. If they are trying to run a co-operative creamery to build up the country in which we live, "buck" it to a standstill.

If the enterprising people of our local village of Goodridge put up their cash to build a creamery, take your auto and go out in the country and gather up cream to ship to Thief River Falls. "Buck" them to a standstill. Go to it and fight the interests of your own locality.

The Highlanding and Goodridge creameries are co-operative creameries built and run by the people of your home locality. "Buck" them to a standstill. Use all your energy to tear down your home village, and your home township, but be careful not to be wrecked yourself [illegible]

OUST BARBERRY; SAVE THE WHEAT

State and Federal Agents Will Enforce Public Safety Commission's Order.

PLAN VIGOROUS DRIVE

School Children and Patriotic Citizens to Co-operate on Arbor Day, April 19—Barberry Is Vicious Ally of Black Rust.

If you have barberry bushes—any kind of barberry bushes except the Japanese (Berberis thunbergii)—on your place, whether it be a city lot or a farm, prepare to dig them now.

In accordance with an order recently issued by the Minnesota Commission of Public Safety, barberry bushes of all kinds, except the Japanese, are to be dug up and destroyed. A. G. Ruggles, state entomologist, has been commissioned to see that the order is carried out "forthwith," which means right now. He is already at work.

The reason for the order is seen in the fact that barberry bushes are the vicious allies of the black stem rust of wheat and other grains. This disease in 1916 caused a loss of 30,000,000 bushels of wheat in Minnesota alone—about $30,000,000 as wheat prices stood then, about $60,000,000 worth of wheat as prices stand now.

That the barberry bushes are allies of the black stem rust is seen in the fact that the winter spores of the rust, formed on wheat or grasses at harvest time and remaining on the straw until spring, cannot infect the wheat, oats, or grass plants directly, but must pass to the barberry plants, from which they are redistributed to the grains and grasses in condition to do mischief again. In this way, at least in part, the rust plague is repeated from year to year, especially if the weather conditions are favorable.

Safety Commission's Order.

The public safety commission's order for the eradication of the barberry was issued in order to bring the state into close co-operation with the federal government in a campaign against the black stem rust under the general direction of E. C. Stakman of the Minnesota experiment station in the central west, and under the special direction of E. M. Freeman, dean of the Minnesota college of agriculture, in Minnesota.

The order in part reads:

"All barberry bushes except the species and variety known as Japanese barberry (Berberis thunbergii) are hereby declared to be, and the same are, a public nuisance and a menace to the public welfare, and their maintenance, propagation, sale or introduction in the state is forbidden. It shall be the duty of every person owning or having charge of any premises on which barberry bushes of the rust producing varieties are grown or at any time found growing, to forthwith destroy such bushes. The state entomologist is authorized [illegible] within the state of Minnesota to be eradicated [illegible] it shall be the duty of the county [illegible] of every county in this state to order and cause the eradication of all such rust-producing barberry bushes within their respective counties under the instructions and according to the directions of the state entomologist."

Eradication on Arbor Day.

In compliance with this positive order, arrangements have been made to interest the schools and communities of the state in the large eradication of barberry plants on Arbor day, April 19.

The spring is chosen as the time for the eradication campaign, because it is then that the spores of the rust pass from the old straw to the barberry to gain a fresh lease of life before passing on to the new crop of grains and grasses. If the barberry bushes are destroyed at this time, therefore, there will be no new lease of life for the winter spores developed late last summer.

Japanese vs. Common Barberry.

The Japanese barberry is usually from 2 to 4 feet in height and has somewhat spreading, reddish brown stems, while the common barberry grows to a height of from 4 to 8 feet, with its stems mostly upright and of gray or grayish green color. The spines of the Japanese barberry are mostly single, while on the common barberry they are usually in groups of three. The spines on the former are generally smaller than on the latter, also. The buds and leaf clusters on the Japanese variety are about one-half inch or less apart; on the common variety they are about an inch apart. The leaves of the Japanese plants are spoon-shaped, smooth around the edges, and green, whereas those of the other kind are large and broad, have spiny teeth along the edges, and are either green or purple. The Japanese flowers and fruit grow singly or in small clusters, while those on the other grow in long clusters.

How to Destroy the "Spiny Huns."

To destroy the common barberry, dig it up, being careful to get the whole crown and the large roots, so that it may not sprout again.

Girl Workers in Japan.

The number of factory girls newly recruited every year in Japan is 200,000, of whom only 80,000 go home. The remaining 120,000 never return. They go from one factory to another or go into other occupations, never thinking of going home.—World of Labor.

Skiing on the Water.

The ski is recommended as both a life saving device and a pleasure craft, combining safety with novelty. It cannot sink, makes better speed than a swimmer and does not tire the rider as swimming does. It is more practicable for long distances and can go through water where there is a heavy undertow, as it sits so high in the water that it is not caught in the grip of the undercurrent as the legs of the swimmer are. It doesn't take a long time to master, as the surf board does, requires no skill in balancing and sticking on and has the great advantage of being equipped with a motive power, whereas the ordinary surf board must be pushed and paddled out to sea before it can be ridden in.—Outing.

MUST USE SPADE CAREFULLY

Old Battlefields Will Have to Be Worked With Care to Avoid Countless Unexploded Shells.

A great deal of careful spade work will be required in the northern part of France. Old battlefields covered with wild flowers, as I have seen them, observes a Paris correspondent, are in wide stretches a slumbering menace. Months after the war is over, naval men have told me, mines will still make voyages perilous in certain sea areas. For perhaps many months more it would be equally as perilous for a farmer to plow these once fertile fields in the great war's battle swept areas.

Here and there are danger signals indicating unexploded mines. And the immense power of these mines is easily gauged by looking at the enormous craters where some of them have been "blown." The war has gone on its way and left these souvenirs of its intensity and deadliness. Here, there and everywhere are unexploded shells, German "minnies," or Boche "jam-pots."

What can a "jam pot" do? I was talking with an officer who was in a first line trench early in the war when one of these infernal machines was lobbed over from the German lines. It stuck its nose in some soft mud and did not explode. It was permitted to rest in peace by the battalion then in that part of the line. Another battalion came, and one man decided to fire into it with his pistol to explode it and thus remove the ever present menace. The bullet pierced it, but it did not explode. He moved closer and fired another shot, and they found nothing of him after the second shot.

OPERATORS WILL STRIKE ON JULY 8

Western Union Employes Are Called Upon to Quit Their Posts.

AFFECTS 38,000 MEN

Grievances Are Said to Be Locking Out of Union Men and Opposition of Company to Telegraphers Organizing—Electricians to Help.

Chicago, July 1.—A call for a strike of members of the Commercial Telegraphers Union of American empoyed by the Western Union Telegraph company, effective at 7 a. m. eastern time oMnday, July 8, has been issued by Sylvester J. Konenkamp, president of the union.

The announcement declared that the grievances to be adjusted were the reinstatement of union men who are alleged to have been locked out by the company and to enforce the right of the men to organize.

Announcement Published.

The announcement in part follows: "The strike against the Western nion Telegraph company will be effective at 7 a. m. eastern time, and at the corresponding hour of 6 a. m Central time, etc., Monday, July 8. Official announcement of the time has been sent to the order of Railroad Telegraphers and the International Brotherhood of Electrical workers for their information and guidance.

"The grievances to be adjusted are those set forth in President Wilson's letter to the Western Union Telegraph company, as: (1) The reinstatement of over 800 Western Union employes locked out contrary to the terms of his proclamation of April 8, 1918, and (2) To enforce the decision of the National War Labor board, dated June 1, 1918. In this letter to the Western Union, President Wilson asked officials of that company to cooperate with him by accepting the Labor board's decision. This the company declined to do. Similar letters addressed to the Postal Telegraph company and to your union brought forth an expression or their willingness to comply with his request.

To Save Organization.

"The strike against the Western Union alone is necessary because of that company's determination to destroy our organization. As Americans we have no desire to be subjects of tyranny and this strike will be justified to the boys at the front because of its purpose. It is the last resort to preserve our organization from annihilation."

President Konenkamp said he expected 5,000 of the 20,000 commercial telegraphers to quit. E. J. Thomas, chairman of the railroad telegraphers' committee, said that 33,000 of his men would be affected. The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, President Konenkamp said, had pledged its assistance.

SENATOR TILLMAN VERY ILL

South Carolinan Is Suffering From Paralytic Stroke.

Washington, July 1.—Benjamin R. Tillman, the veteran Democratic senator from South Carolina, and chairman of the naval affairs committee, is seriously ill at his home here and his recovery is regarded by his physicians as doubtful. His left side is completely paralyzed and he has been suffering from a severe recurrent cerebral hemorrhage since last Thursday.

About 10 years ago Senator Tillman had a similar attack which paralyzed his right side, but he recovered to a great extent.

About Fifty Persons Killed When Building Collapses.

Firemen and Volunteers Recover Thirty-nine Bodies From Sioux City Store.

Sioux ity, Iowa, July 1.—Firemen and volunteers have recovered 39 bodies from the ruins of the Ruff building here and it is estimated that probably 50 persons were killed when the building collapsed, carrying down with it two smaller adjacent structures.

Thirty-three persons were injured, probably none fatally.

The majority of the victims were burned to death, rescuers said. Only in a minority of cases were the bodies crushed.

Twenty-five bodies have been indentified.

Police are compiling a list of missing, it being feared that some of the vicims' bodies had been incinerated.

The cause of the accident has not been determined. An investigation is in progress.

Increased activity by the enemy artillery and airplanes in the Marne sector on June 26 and 27, and the heavy shelling of the American positions in the Chateau-Thierry region on the same days when the American troops advanced their line a third of a mile also were reported.

BRITISH LOSSES FOR JUNE

List Shows 141,147 Men Killed, Missing or Wounded.

London, July 1.—British casualties reported during the month of June totalled 131,147. This compares with total casualties reported during May of 166,802.

The losses for June were divided as follows: Killed or died of wounds Officers, 816; men, 17,494.

Wounded or missing—Officers, 3,619; men, 119,218.

The losses reported during the last eight doys, rounding out the weekly reports for the month were: Killed or died of wounds—Officers, 142; men, 4,773. Wounded or missing—Officers, 553; men, 32,244.

FARM WORKERS ARE EXEMPT

RUSSIAN LEGION IS AUTHORIZED

Army Bill Carrying Over Twelve Billion Dollars Is Passed By Senate.

ACTION IS UNANIMOUS

Measure Gives President Wilson Unlimited Authority to Increase the Army by Further Draft Calls So As to Insure Success.

Washington, July 1.—The Senate has passed the army appropriation bill, carrying more than $12,000,000,000 for the prosecution of the war and conferring authority on the president to raise as large an army as may be necessary to insure final victory.

There was not an opposing vote. The bill had been before the Senate almost continuously for five days.

Russian Legion Authorized.

An important amendment added to the bill authorized the President to raise a Russian legion in the United States to be composed of friendly aliens of that nationality.

As the amendment was originally presented by Senator King of Utah, it proposed the raising of this legion for service only in Russia, eihter independently or with any American troops that might be sent there. But the provision limiting the field of service of this proposed mission to Russia was withdrawn by its author after objection by Senator McCumber of North Dakota.

Specific Draft Defeated.

None of the appropriations for the army's part in the war for the fiscal year, beginning July 1, was reduced by the Senate. Instead it increased many items, approved without change the House clause clothing the President with unlimited authority to increase the army by further draft calls and added scores of important legislative riders.

A futile effort was made by Senators desirous of specifically ordering an army increase. An amendment by Senator McCumber of North Dakota, proposing to "direct" the President to enlarge the army to 5,000,000 enlisted men as speedily as equipment and clothing could be obtained, was rejected, 45 to 19, and an amendment by Senator Fall of New Mexico, proposing an increase of 3,000,000 men went out viva voce.

Many senators, however, fearing this action, and the rejection of the Fall amendment to extend the draft age limits to 20 and 40 years would be misinterpreted, declared in voting they were only temporarily postponing action in accord with the War department's request for two or three months time to submit the enlarged program.

"However, I have since then made a comfortable fortune by flower growing," wrote the minister, who was not present in person but whose letter to officers of the organization was read aloud to the delegates.

GREED ON LARGE SCALE

Federal Trade Commission Investigates War Profiteering.

Report to Senate Accuses Flour Millers and Meat Packers of Excessive Charging.

Washington, July 1.—The Federal trade commission, as the result of an exhaustive investigation, reported to the Senate that profiteering on a tremendous scale in practically all the basic commoodities of life was prevalent.

"Inordinate greed and bare-faced fraud," as well as "war pressure for heavy production," the commission reported as the causes.

Reappraisements of properties were made by the great concerns, when it became evident that the government was about to fix prices on a basis of return on investment, the report says, and salaries, allowances and expenses were in many instances padded to show increased cost of conducting business.

Millers and Packers Scored.

The outstanding feature of its investigation the commission reported, was the evidence of a tendency to increase and maintain prices against the forces of competition.

Of all the big profits disclosed by the investigation, the report says, the profits of the meat packers and those allied with them and of the flour millers stand foremost, despite the fixing of prices by the government.

Manipulations of the market by the five great packers—Armour, Swift, Morris, Wilson and Cudahy—the commission asserts, embrace every device that is useful to them without regard to law.

The report charges that the five concerns have monopolistic control of the meat industry and "are reaching for like domination in other products."

During 1915, 1916 and 1917, the report says, these companies "pocketed," $140,000,000.

Los Angeles, July 1.—Mrs. Idell Kennedy and Dr. Frank T. Howenstine, an optometrist, were found guilty here of having conspired to keep men out of the selective draft by means of eyeglasses which temporarily would impair their sight. Joseph Leroy, Jr., was alleged to have paid $1,000 for subjecting his eyes to treatment so that he could evade military service.

Gives Crowder Higher Rank.

Washington, Juy 1.—The Senate voted to confer the title of Lieutenant General on Provost Marshal General Crowder in recognition of "distinguished service in connection with the draft act."

Paper Makers Given Raise.

Washington, July 1.—Award of a general wage increase of 10 cents an hour for workers in the wood pulp and newspaper print industry, with equal pay for men and women doing the same work, was announced by the War Labor board, which at the same time made public a letter to the Federal Trade commission recommending that news print paper prices recently fixed be reconsidered to determine whether there should be a further increase to cover higher cost of production.

ITALIANS MAKE DASHING ATTACK

Capture Sasso Rosso and Monte di Val Bella From Austro-Hungarians.

HOLD NEW POSITIONS

Assault on Mountain Front Results in General Diaz Gaining Strong Positions at Vital Points and Also Hampers Enemy Plans.

London, July 1.—The Italians, in an attack on the Austro-Hungarian lines on the Asiago plateau, have captured Monte di Val Bella, taking 809 prisoners, and are holding their new positions against repeated enemy counter thrusts.

The French in an attack over a front of nearly two miles south of the Ourcq and north of the little Clignon river, penetrated the German lines for nearly half a mile, taking the advantageous crest between the villages of Mosloy and Passy-en-Valois.

The sudden turn from the defensive to the offensive by the Italians came as a surprise to the Allied world, for it had been believed that General Diaz would be content to hold his lines in the mountains against a great new offensive, intended by the Austrians and Germans to take away the sting of defeat of the Austrians along the Piave river two weeks agoe.

Italians Capture Sasso Rosso.

Nor was the Italian attack limited to the positions on Monte di Val Bella. Farther east, on the Brenta river, they captured the height of Sasso Rosso, just north of the village of Valstagna.

These two actions may explain the failure of the Italians to pursue the Austrians across the Piave when, on June 23, the enemy fled from the west bank wiht a haste that indicated something of demoralization.

General Diaz probably has executed the heaviest enemy blow to be launched along the mountain front, which is the key to the whole Italian situation. In attacking there himself he has carried the fight to the foe, gained strong positions at vital points and broken up some of the preparationsmade by the enemy for an offensive in that quarter.

The French are continuing their "nibbling" tactics northward from the Marne.

British Repulse Attack.

The British have repulsed an enemy assault in the neighborhood of Merris, near where the Germans were driven back east of Nieppe forest. The British official statement mentions heavy German artillery fire before Amiens, near Albert, north of the Scarpe, near Arras, and in the region of Festubert, northwest of Lens.

The official statement issued at Berlin says artillery firing has increased between the Yser and the Marne, which includes virtually all of the active battle zone.

In the air, too, the Teutons suffered telling reverses. Between them the British and French put 33 German airplanes out of commission on the western front. Allied fliers also scored important successes in destructive raids over and behind the German lines.

EXPORTS HAVE FALLEN OFF

Trade Balance for Past Year Is About $3,000,000,000.

Washington, July 1.—The United States closes its fiscal year as a participant in the great war with a trade balance of approximately $3,000,000,000.

Exports for the fiscal year will total $6,000,000,000 as compared with $6,290,048,394 in the twelve months ended June 30, 1917. Imports increased from $2,659,355,135 last year to about $3,000,000,000 this year.

Such a showing was regarded as very gratifying by government experts and no uneasiness is felt because the trade balance declined $630,693,209 as compared with 1917.

Doan's, However, Restored Mr. Roulston to Good Health. Results Have Lasted.

Mr. Roulston

"Mornings I was so stiff and sore I could hardly get up," says A. C. Roulston, prop. blacksmith shop, 2840 Washington St., Roxbury, Mass. "The sharp pains through my kidneys were so bad I often thought I wouldn't be able to get to work. I couldn't rest comfortably and turned and tossed from one side to the other, with a dull, dragging backache. There were puffy spots under my eyes and I felt worn out all the time. The kidney secretions passed too often and were otherwise unnatural. Four or five boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills cured me. I can honestly recommend Doan's for they have surely done me a world of good.

Mr. Roulston gave the above statement in 1915 and in March, 1917, he said: "My cure is still lasting. I take Doan's occasionally, however, to keep my kidneys in good working order. One can depend upon Doan's to cure kidney ills."

TO CAMOUFLAGE A HOME

Just a Few Simple Suggestions That May or May Not Be Exactly Followed.

Hang the crayon portrait of Aunt Anastasia over the bad place in the living room wall paper.

Back the sideboard up against the place where the wainscoting was blistered during a chafing dish party given by your predecessors.

By keeping the player-piano going you can easily overcome the banging of the faulty radiator in the living room.

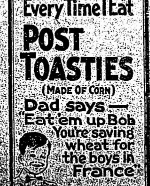
The temperature may be made agreeable by constant exercise with wall weights, dumb bells and rowing machines. On heatless days you can thus fool your landlord and yourself at the same time.

Place a large Japanese umbrella up against the ceiling in the library where the radiator upstairs has leaked through.

Where you have too many pictures, hang them one over the other, the picture of your relatives on the bottom and those of your wife's relatives on top.

Hang a towel rack over the place where the genuine marble has peeled off the bathroom wall.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Fortune never smiles on a man who stares her out of countenance.



News of the State

Condensed for Busy Folks

Duluth.—Ten thousand Finns and Americans of Finnish descent here pledged enthusiastic loyalty to the American flag at a demonstration at Eveleth.

Dilworth.—50 Fargo automobilists bound for Minnesota Lake, ran into a speed trap near here. Each paid $10 to a justice of the peace who held court in a restaurant.

Red Lake Falls.—A call for sixteen Red Lake county drafted men to entrain for Camp Grant at Rockford, Ill., has been received by the local draft board and the men have gone.

Baudette.—Mrs. J. L. Banford, living on a claim near Wayland, sixty miles south of here, broke her leg when she stepped into a chimney hole in the second story of her home.

Stillwater.—A special election will be held here on Monday, Aug. 5, to vote on whether or not city property will be assessed 23 mills on the dollar for school purposes or whether the assessment will remain where it now is at 15 mills.

Bemidji.—A thief entered the Bemidji hotel through a basement window, and gaining entrance to the safe, stole $256. When the robbery was discovered the safe was found with the door open and $300 worth of Liberty bonds and other valuable papers scattered about the floor.

Moose Lake.—Three sons serving in the army, one on his way to report for military duty and two registered in the last registration, is what Mr. and Mrs. August Johnson of Moose Lake are giving to the United States. Oscar Johnson, the fourth son to serve the Stars and Stripes has gone to St. Paul to report for military training.

St. Paul.—Back taxes of $3,938 on earnings $78,759 omitted by the Rock Island road and $5,499 on $133,363 earnings omitted by the Illinois Central road are alleged due to the state in reports filed yesterday on examinations made by Andrew E. Fritz, state public examiner. The omissions are blamed to clerical errors and incorrect apportionments of earnings to Minnesota and minor details.

Brainerd.—Urged by Fred Lincoln secretary of the chamber of commerce and the Northern Minnesota Development association to help farmers in the hayfield, business men are going to don overhauls, seize pitchforks during the haying season and go to nearby farms and help farmers put up their hay. Many patriotic citizens propose to put in their vacation that way.

Duluth.—While hurrying home from Pike lake late at night and within a mile of the city, Dr. E. D. Betinghauser and party were attacked in their speeding automobile by a bull moose. The moose struck the right forward fender, its head and neck crashing through the windshield. The force of the impact threw the machine out of the course. The animal's neck was broken and Dr. Bettinghauser shot it.

Baudette.—James, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Coulter of Rainey river, Ont., was drowned here. He and three small playmates were playing on a raft. The current carried them into the swift part of the river and James fell off. The others, becoming frightened, swam for the shore, and, as the little fellow could not swim, he was left to his fate. His body was found about a half hour later, but life was extinct.

St. Paul.—Arrangements for the convention of the Northwestern Hotel men's association in St. Paul, August 8 and 9, were made at a conference between Walter A. Pocock, president, I. A. Medler of Duluth, secretary, and Richard N. Gray, of the Ryan, Charles Roth of The St. Paul and Frank E. Turgeon of the St. Francis. About 250 hotel men from Nebraska, Iowa, North and South Dakota, Wisconsin and Minnesota will attend.

Dennison.—The village of Dennison after the state election ballots were counted, was shown to be one of the most loyal voters in the state. Of the fifty-nine ballots cast, the vote for governor stood: Burnquist 59, Lindbergh 0. The voters evidently were of the same mind with regard to Knute Nelson for United States senator. The vote for Nelson against James A. Peterson resulted in a whitewash for Peterson, Nelson getting 59.

St. Paul.—The first flivver recruit has yet to enlist in the Minnesota State Motor Corps, according to reports at headquarters of the organization. Nearly 500 big cars are enrolled, it was said, but the first Ford has yet to chatter his owner into joining the corps. The first battalion in Minneapolis is the largest in the organization, with 192 members. The second in size, with 186 owners and cars enrolled. The third battalion, 120 strong is made up of units at Rochester, Eyota, Kasson, Zumbrota and Plainview.

Grand Rapids.—The twelfth girl to be born to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Niska of the Round Lake country came a few days ago. The Niska family has been noted throughout the country for the large number of beautiful healthy little girls, the family now numbering twelve, ranging from a girl of 17 to the baby girl.

St. Cloud.—The library of the late George Raynolds, a prominent member of the Minnesota bar, has been donated to the public library by Mrs. Raynolds. The gift includes 588 volumes of fiction, history, science, law and travel.

International Falls.—A number of applicants for citizenship papers were turned down here by R. K. Doegodemus, agent, their cases being continued until the January term of court.

Moorhead.—Splendid progress is being made in the Clay county fight against the sow thistle, according to A. H. Larson of the Minnesota farm school of St. Paul, who is in charge of the campaign.

Red Lake Falls.—Because of business and other reasons, P. B. Gaass has found it necessary to resign as county chairman for Red Lake county for he war savings committee. R. H. Bourdon and V. H. Higinbotham have been named joint chairmen for the county.

Moorhead.—In the Red Cross drive the Moorhead chapter's territory exceeded its allotment by $7,824.09. The amounts reported by the banks of the county aggregate $22,824.09. Of the total, $13,964.34 was paid in cash and the total of the pledge cards is $8,859.75. The allotment was $15,000.

Blooming Prairie.—The three saloons here which reopened two weeks ago after a temporary injunction had been obtained against the Minnesota Public Safety commission's orders closed again when Judge W. E. Hale vacated the order. There are four saloons at Blooming Prairie.

Graceville.—A patriotic address by Governor Burnquist was the feature of the fortieth anniversary of the founding o Graceville, which was celebrated here. More than 2,500 people were present. The governor paid tribute to the old settlers and their patriotism in the carrying on of the war.

Fairview.—Martin county and the city of Fairmont have lost their county superintendent of schools, city superintendent of school, war savings chairman and food administrator to the war through the enlistments of C. J. Timms and Horace E. Wolfe for Y. M. C. A. service in France. The two men are in the east waiting to sail.

Floodwood.—Local crops are looking good. The rye on C. B. Wilder's field stands nearly five feet, all in bloom, the heads being long and healthy. Wheat, barley and oats have good color and are growing rapidly. Clover and timothy promise unusually heavy yields. The grasses are taller right now than they were in July last year.

Washington.—Spencer T. Rudd, Granite Falls, Minn., clerk to Representative A. J. Volstead of the 7th Minnesota district, has joined the Marine corps and will enter at training camp in South Carolina. Rudd is the third clerk that Mr. Volstead has lost by enlistment in the military forces since the United States entered the war.

St. Cloud.—Lieut. Da Costa, recruit-station inspector, announces that he has recommended that the local recruiting station be made permanent. The station at Alexandria which has been the headquarters for this district, will be closed in accordance with this plan, and St. Cloud will be the leading station. A new office will be opened at Fergus Falls.

Little Falls.—While returning from a Red Cross meeting at Gilbert the car driven by J. J. McCann was hit by another car near Topeka and two occupants of the McCann car injured about the face and Miss Laura Brannen was so injured that she was unable to leave her bed Wednesday. Miss Madeline Slimonet and J. J. McCann were both uninjured.

Winona.—Among speakers at the summer meeting of the Southern Minnesota Medical association held here were Major Jump, U. S. A. Patriotism was the dominant note of the gathering, a special patriotic session being held, with addresses by Maj. Jump, Pierce Buttler of St. Paul, Maj. C. H. Mayo, Rochester, Maj. T. C. Witherspoon and Maj. Joseph Miller, Camp Dodge; Col. Henry Greenleaf, Fort Snelling and President Burton, University of Minnesota.

Minneapolis.—A Minnesota farmer, who had read that grains of wheat had been found in the wrappings of Egyptian mummies, set out twenty-one years ago to beat the Egyptian record for the storing of grain. The government's order requiring marketing of all wheat reserves by May 15 caused him to give up the attempt. A car of wheat was received by the Atwood-Larson company, Minneapolis, in which, according to a letter from the consignor, was one load from the 1897 crop.

Minneapolis.—There will be no objection on the part of the government to the division of territory by the Northwestern and Tri-State Telephone companies, according to word received by companies officials. This attitude removes the last obstacle in the program for the separation of territory as ordered and approved by the Railroad and Warehouse commission. Guy H. Pratt, general commercial superintendent of the Northwestern company, said that normally it would take eighteen months to effect the one unit phone system, but said that owing to war conditions it may be many more months before the plan is put in operation.

St. Paul.—Consideration of states that will respond to the demand for foodstuffs with a record yield must include Minnesota. Crop experts, who have been inspecting the condition of grains and garden produce, report with increasing optimism the prospects of a big harvest.

Pipestone.—When the annual commencement exercises at the Pipestone government Indian school were held recently a service flag with 35 stars was raised. Each star represents an Indian youth from the school who is serving this country. Ten students were graduated.

BRINGS IN 83 PRISONERS

They Surrender in Body to One Yankee Private.

With the Americans on the Marne, June 27.—Private Frank P. Lennart of Chicago marched into headquarters here in charge of 78 German privates and five officers, all of whom surrendered voluntarily to him after they had first taken him prisoner. Lennart insisted he had promised his captain he would take them in alone and had obtained consent to lead them out of the woods.

HERE IS NEW IDEA

Woman's View of What Masculine Dress Should Be.

Possibility That the War Will Bring About Such a Transformation as She Seems to Think Would Be Desirable.

The war has brought many changes in the world, and it is certainly hoped that mere man will now take a tumble and let the uniform of the soldier suggest to him a new mode of dress. We see daily the trim figures of "our boys," with the neat-fitting uniform coat, baggy trousers to the knee and the leggings that so well set off the leg.

Man's present dress is always a matter of ridicule, is unsightly and should be changed to something more sensible and economical.

Let us build for Mr. Man a new kind of suit, a woman writes to the editor of the New York World. At first he will howl and say no, but if women will persevere and say you must, he will, and in the end be happy.

First, his figure. The abdominal belt is man's only excuse for the corset. He wants it and he needs it far more than woman, and if only for support alone. Put him into a regular woman's corset of waistline height and long hip and reduce that ugly stomach several inches.

He will not look foppish, but will have that military cut we all admire. He will naturally feel ill at ease and compressed for a few days, but that will disappear and a feeling of real living will follow, for his lungs will expand, the muscles be tightly supported and vim replace langour. The corset was originally worn by men, so let us put them back into their own garment. Women are on the average far healthier than men, and they are daily incased in a corset.

Now we have a figure to work on. Next, put him back into knee pants and long stockings. Is anything more becoming than the knickers of old days?

Think of the cloth saved and that ugly bag in his long trousers forever eliminated. Then the coat tailored to curve to his figure, lapels a thing of the past, and instead the military collar effect.

Coats to be cut shorter and vests done away with entirely. Think of the saving of cloth in the suit alone. Even his shirts, while in effect the same as now worn, could be shortened as in a woman's shirtwaist, and of far less material, so as to conform to a narrower figure. Make a change in his shoes and go back to the old colonial type of narrower lines and a higher heel. What is prettier than the old colonial shoe and buckle?

Prevailing cloths would make up becomingly for business and street wear, but the possibilities for evening dress are unlimited. His evening clothes are hideous. Silken breeches, flowing waists, etc., lend untold possibilities at a dinner or function.

And the comforts on a hot summer day. Let him have several pairs of white duck knickers and an array of shirts. White pumps and stockings to match, and thousands of yards of wool saved. And a far better dressed man in the bargain.

Every man down in his heart wishes he could change to something more becoming and with greater possibilities of variety. And every man who reads this will fervently hope that someone will start the ball rolling, for he has not the nerve himself to captain the movement.

Nine out of ten will quickly fall into line and dress accordingly and feel happy to think that someone started a dress reform.

I trust the world will air a woman's views about man's dress and that wives and sweethearts will follow your lines and shame the man into a well-dressed being.

Reforest Bare Hillsides.

The scarcity of lumber for mine pillars and other mine uses has led to the creation of a forestry department by several of the large mining companies, one of which has just reforested Bear creek watershed with 5,000 white pine and 5,000 Norway spruce trees.

Thirty thousand more trees are in process of cultivation at Hauto, Pa., in the Panther Creek valley. When timber is ready to cut in the vicinity of the mines troublesome waits and long hauls will be eliminated.

More timber in the anthracite region would stop floods, add to the water supply, reduce the drought periods and enable the anthracite industry to add to its output. Many thousands of acres are available about the mines for reforestation.

English Meat Cards.

Meat can be purchased in metropolitan districts in England only under the card system, which is to be extended throughout the United Kingdom. The child's meat card is for children under ten years of age, who are entitled to only half as much meat as adults.

Horse meat, bones, suet and offal are included among the products for the purchase of which cards are necessary. No one is exempt; even the royal family is on a meat-card basis. The rigidity of control may be judged from the fact that forgery of cards is punishable by heavy fine and that in case of death the card must be surrendered before a burial permit is granted.

An Up-to-Date Atlas.

Mrs. Flatbush—Your husband always looks to me as if he thought he carried the world on his sholders.

Mrs. Bensonhurst—Well, he dosen't, but as a matter of fact, if you saw my carpets, you'd believe that he carried a large part of the earth on his boots.

One woman seldom calls on another unless she has a secret to tell.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Red-Hot Weather! Stomach Off?

No Appetite? Mouth Dry? Tongue Stiff and a Fierce Thirst? Here's Relief!!

Hot, heavy foods and iced drinks often play havoc with bad stomachs in hot weather. The weak ones haven't got a chance. A quickly chilled or overworked stomach is a starter of untold misery for its owner.

When you have that dull, depressed feeling after eating—stomach pains, bowel disorders, heartburn or nausea, belching, food repeating—it is the danger point. You want to look out—and be quick about it in this hot weather.

A way has been discovered to make sick stomachs well and to keep them cool and sweet. It is a commonsense way. No starvation plan of diet is needed. Make this test and see how quickly you get a good appetite in hot weather and enjoy the things you like without misery to follow.

EATONIC Tablets have amazed people everywhere with the marvelous benefits they have produced for thousands of stomach sufferers. Start the test today and let your own stomach tell you the truth.

EATONIC works quick—it absorbs and neutralizes hurtful, poisonous acids, juices and stomach gases caused from undigested foods. If it doesn't rid you of stomach and bowel miseries most common in hot weather—you get your money back at once, right from your own druggist whom you know and can trust. No need of your taking a chance of suffering. Start EATONIC today. You will see.

"Canada made me Prosperous"

—that's what thousands of farmers say, who have gone from the U. S. to settle on homesteads or buy land in Western Canada. Canada's invitation to every industrious worker to settle in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta is especially attractive. She wants farmers to make money and happy, prosperous homes for themselves by helping her raise immense wheat crops to feed the world.

You Can Get a Homestead of 160 Acres Free

or other lands at very low prices. Where you can buy good farm land at $15 to $30 per acre that will raise 20 to 45 bushels of $2 wheat to the acre—it's easy to become prosperous. Canadian farmers also grow wonderful crops of Oats, Barley and Flax. Mixed Farming is fully as profitable an industry as grain raising. The excellent grasses, full of nutrition, are the only food required either for beef or dairy purposes. Good schools and churches; markets convenient; climate excellent. Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879

Should the Nonpartisan League petition for a candidate for governor, we wonder which one of the old party candidates would be willing to withdraw from the governor race, so as to work the combination that worked so slick at the primaries. The League has got either one of the old parties beat to a "frazzle" in this state, as was shown by the primary election returns, but they can hardly defeat a combination of the old parties, but neither Wheaton or Burnquist would sacrifice their chance to be governor to defeat the League candidate, who would surely win out in a square three cornered fight in November.

MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES

The Nonpartisan League will have a majority in the next Legislature, if they elect all of the members that they nominate, but they must make it an issue to be sure to sidetrack Burnquist in November. With him in the governor's chair, there would likely be a veto put on all measures that League members passed, as the corporations will lean on him with the same confidence that a sleeping child would lay on the breast of a wet nurse.

MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES

There is always a difference in the time of a man having money. For instance when private individuals asked P. C. Wold to vote four thousand dollars of the tax payers money to build a hospital in Thief River Falls for the benefit of private interests, he had plenty of money and voted aye. But when the people of Goodridge asked him for an appropriation of twenty-five dollars to buy planks to repair the Highlanding ferry, so people could get across Red Lake River he had no money for that purpose.

MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES

German prisoners say, "that the Americans fight like demons," Well, they went over there to fight, and not to play pinochle.

MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES

The farmers of Todd county bought a newspaper plant and hired a man to run a Nonpartisan League paper. They carried Todd county with a big majority for Lindberg.

There were only thirty thousand Democrats showed up in the primary election, but look out for the Dems in November, who are likely to show up stronger than ever.

French Officers Made Thrifty.

The French army officer has to be a thrifty man to make ends meet on his salary of a very few francs a day, and borrowing or running into debt is an offense against military law. An officer convicted of debt is suspended by the war office for three years, and at the end of that time his reinstatement or dismissal from the service is decided by a kind of court martial, comprising five officers of his corps, one of them of his own rank.

STORIES vs FACTS

The ridiculous statements have been made that the county commissioners of Pennington county were instrumental in getting that law passed allowing county commissioners to bond the county for one necessary bridge. As a matter of fact, which we have the record to prove it, that this law was passed by Senator Mc Gerry, of Walker, Minn. The bill passed the senate on February 21st 1917, and received the vote of Senator O'Neill from this district. The bill passed the House on March 2nd, 1917, and Mr. Stenvick is not on record as voting for or against the measure. Now if Mr. Wold took any interest in getting this law passed, where was his desciple Stenvick, that he worked so hard to elect, that he was not there voting for it? As a matter of fact, we don't believe that Wold ever knew the law was passed until he heard that W. G. Hunt was getting up a petition for the Highlanding bridge, and discovered that we had a full clearance from the government for the construction of this bridge. Then Mr. Wold got busy and tried to stop the petition being gotten up, so as to delay the construction of the bridge. This is Mr. Wold's part in getting the bridge, and any stories sprung to the contrary will be promptly answered from actual records.

We did not become a candidate for county commissioner from this district, because we sought office, as we have never had the reputation of being an office seeker. But we became a candidate, because we were dissatisfied with the way the tax payers of this district had been used, and we propose to publish enough facts from the records to prove to the farmers and tax payers of this district, that the voters of the town of Highlanding knew what they were about, when they gave us a clean majority vote over both of our opponents at the June primary election for county commissioner from this district.

BAKING POWDER LOAF BREADS

(Using no Wheat)

All measurements are level—In the following recipes the weights given are accurate. The measurements are approximate; that is, they are given in the nearest fraction of a cup which a housewife ordinarily uses. It is convenient to remember in measuring unusual fractions that two level tablespoons are one-eighth cup.

Method.

Mix the melted fat, liquid, sirup, and egg. Combine the liquid and well mixed dry ingredients. Bake as a loaf in a moderately hot oven (206 degrees C. or 400 degrees Fahrenheit) for one hour or until thoroughly baked.

Nuts, raisins or dates may be added making the bread more nutritious and very palatable.

OAT AND CORN FLOUR BREAD

50 Per Cent Ground Rolled Oats.
50 Per Cent Corn Flour.
1 cup liquid.
3 to 4 tablespoons fat.

The Story That Private Leach Told

"I say, there," called Private Leach, sitting up wearily, "where you goin' with me blinkin' 'at?"

The dog cast a look back across his shoulder, wagged his tail pleasantly and continued to trot away, carrying Private Leach's cap in his jaws.

"'E's got a bloomin' cheek, not 'alf!" observed Private Leach and lay down again. What difference did it make? He had clicked a bullet in his right thigh, and, what with the loss of blood and pain and hunger and all, a chap might as well "go west" without a cap as with one. Now that he'd managed to get a dressing on the wound and a bandage to hold the dressing in place, the bleeding was less, but the end of the smashed bone was grinding in the torn flesh. It wasn't a bit cushy, out there in No Man's Land, six hours in a shell hole with a busted leg.

The dog had popped up from nowhere at all, with his alert eyes and sensitive, searching nose. Girt tightly about his body was the broad white band bearing the flaming sign of the Red Cross. He stood quite still while Private Leach painfully unfastened the first aid package from his back and still more painfully applied the disinfectant, gauze pads and clean cotton tincture. Looking up, he whined a friendly, sympathetic whine, and the soldier patted him gratefully.

"Good old chap," said Private Leach. "You've been knocked about a bit yourself, eh?" He touched the dog's ear where a recent hurt had left a scarcely healed scar.

And then the rascal had seized Private Leach's cap and made off with it toward the lines, paying no serious attention to the wounded man's remonstrances.

"Rum little bloke!" remarked Private Leach and fainted.

Private Leach sat on a sunny bench in the small courtyard of the convalescent hospital and explained matters to a compatriot, likewise recovering from the effects of boche courtesy.

"And the bloomin' surgeon, 'e says them dawgs is trained like that. The one that found me, 'e don't mind bullets no more than buns, 'e don't, a-w'izzin' past 'is 'ead. And when 'e finds a wounded chap 'e tykes 'is cap or anything that's loose 'e can get 'is teeth in, and away 'e goes to report to 'is K. O. like a good soldier. So then the stretcher bearers, they goes out and brings in the chap, same as they did me, d'ye see? Red Cross trains dawgs by 'undreds. Great, eh, wot?"

"Righto," agreed Private Leach's companion. "'Spect you'd like to meet that fellow again. Dawgs'll look a bit different to me when I gets back to Blighty. Bli-me, I awlways 'ated dawgs, but not now I don't."

"Look!" said Private Leach. "'Ere comes one of the little beggars."

A wiry, short haired dog with a deal of bull in his makeup came limping along on three legs, the fourth held stiffly in front of him by an ingenious arrangement of sling and bandage.

"Clicked a bit o' Fritz's lead 'is bloomin' little self, 'e did, eh, wot? 'Ere, Bill. Nice old blokey."

The dog went and laid his head, friendly fashion, on Private Leach's knee and looked up into the soldier's face, whining sympathetically.

"'E knows 'ow it feels," observed Private Leach. Then, "I say, there, old timer, look at that ear!"

"Scar," said his companion. "Been fightin', like as not."

"Bli-me!" cried Leach. "'E's the syme chap. 'Ere, now, where you goin' with me blinkin' 'at?"

The dog, holding Private Leach's cap at a provoking distance, viewed the two convalescents with a mischievous eye.

"'E's a cute un. Wish 'e was goin' back to Blighty wit me, not 'alf. Eh, wot?"

"Sure," agreed the other. "I always 'ated 'em, but not now I don't. Red Cross dawgs is bloomin' humans. Strafe me if they ain't!"

[illegible] people know also that the wheat which we set apart for the Allies must, through the influence of the milling interests, be ground here. "It is well to remember," declares Wiley, "that if the 90,000,000 bushels of wheat were to be sent to England in the berry and milled there, they would make 60,000,000 pounds of flour more than will be made here. It is true that this would keep some millions of dollars out of the pockets of the millers here, but it is commonly supposed that we are in this war to win it in the most expeditious manner [illegible]

Like Shakespearean Character.

When Shakespeare wrote about the man "dressed with a little brief authority" who "cut such fantastic tricks before high heaven as make the angels weep," he undoubtedly had in mind a prototype of Albert R. Allen, a backwoods attorney of a backwoods Minnesota county, who had caused the arrest of Mr. Townley for alleged sedition. So long as the constitution is suspended in our sister state one can expect to hear of almost any fantastic proceeding. The action of Mr. Allen demonstrates again that at this time Minnesota is not safe for democracy.—Michigan (N. D.) Arena.

We shall not publish anything only from actual records for that makes the opposition mad enough to take us into court if they had any chance to prove that we publish one line that was not facts. There will be at least three quarter sections of land on the south side of Red Lake River in this township that the hay will not be cut this year. The crop of wild hay is very light, and the bankers who own or control the land are asking about three times what the hay is worth, and the farmers who have not hay land enough of their own, have made arrangements to get their hay in eastern Hickory township and on the reservation.

DOING GOOD WORK IN WAR

English Church Army Has Accomplished Great Things for the Men in the Field, Says Message.

"The English church army is doing a noble work in the war," was the message received in this country by the Episcopal church from the Church of England. "Fully equipped recreation huts, open to men of all creeds, have been established in all training camps in England and Wales. On the French front, huts, tents and temporary churches are provided. In all more than 800 of these huts and tents are in use, some in remote places in the north for the men of the navy; others in Malta, Egypt, Palestine, Macedonia, Mesopotamia, East Africa and even in India. Frequently last letters have been written from these huts, bearing the heading 'Church Army Hut'—letters now treasured by those at home. The bill for writing paper alone is over $60,000 a year.

"Close to the front line trenches the church army keeps several kitchen cars to supply the men with hot coffee. In England hotels having all the advantages of a club are being maintained, where men are cared for during their furloughs. Prisoners in the hands of the Germans are also cared for by the church army."

Recently General Pershing addressed an appreciative letter to Prebendary Carlile, head of the church army, thanking him for the help the army had been to American soldiers passing through England. It is proposed to maintain a hut to be known as the "General Pershing Hut." The cost of one of these huts equipped, is $2,500.

America's First Steel Rails.

In 1865, as an experiment, the North Chicago Rolling Mill company manufactured six Bessemer steel rails from steel produced at Wyandotte, Mich. They were the first made in America, the modest beginning of a great industry. A New York mill, using material turned out at Troy, made further experiments, and in 1867 the Cambria company began to roll Bessemer steel rails as a regular business, says an exchange. The first rails of this type were made and used in England. They were introduced into America by the Pennsylvania railroad, which, in 1863, imported and put into service 100 tons of steel rails. The price paid was $150, gold, per ton, equivalent in Civil war times to $200 in American currency. These rails were made of crucible steel and contained a high percentage of carbon, rendering them brittle. For this reason many broke during the next winter, but despite this fact the railway company placed orders for large quantities in Great Britain, paying from $185 to $162.50 [illegible]

Food

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

BREAD

Is bread as important to the American as to the Frenchman?

No; only 9⅛ per cent of the average American income spent on food goes to bread and flour, and these articles form only 39 per cent of the average American diet.

How important is bread to the Frenchman?

It is the basis of his nourishment; bread constitutes 67 per cent of the total food consumption during normal times in France.

Is European bread now made of wheat flour entirely?

No; it is heavily admixtured.

What is the percentage of admixture?

In England, France and Italy bread must be admixtured with at least 20 per cent of some other cereal flour, and it is permitted to use a large percentage of other cereals. The extraction of flour is also very much higher in other countries than here.

Why is bread cheaper in England?

Because the British government has subsidized the bread.

How much does it cost the British government?

$200,000,000 annually.

Is not this money ultimately obtained by taxation?

Yes.

Is corn bread used in the army?

Corn is not acceptable as an army ration because it can not be made into a transportable loaf for trench use.

Are other cereals just as nourishing as wheat?

Generally speaking, yes.

What is the advantage of ordering bread 24 hours in advance at the stores?

The baker or grocer can then estimate correctly the amount of bread to have on hand, and thus eliminate waste.

What percentage of wheat flour substitutes does the Food Administration require bakers to use in bread and rolls?

Twenty-five per cent.

Why has the Food Administration standardized the size of the bakery loaf of bread?

To reduce the cost of baking and distributing, to give the public a square deal, and to fix competition upon price.

What are the standard weights of bread loaves?

Three-fourths of a pound, 1 pound, 1½ pounds, 2 pounds, and other pound weights.

Why does the Food Administration advocate the use of the ¾ pound loaf?

As a wheat conservation measure, in the hope that the ¾ pound loaf may do the work the 1-pound loaf did before.

How many 1-pound loaves of bread can be made from a barrel of flour?

Two hundred and seventy loaves.

Is graham bread as wheat bread?

Yes, but it also contains 26 per cent bran, shorts and middlings which are included in the list of wheat-flour substitutes.

What is whole wheat bread?

Bread which contains varying quantities of bran, shorts or middlings. To comply with the Victory rule it must contain at least 25 per cent of these products.

May graham bread and whole-wheat bread be used on wheatless days?

As a general rule, no. Public eating places can not well do without these and Victory bread, but in the home, no wheat should be eaten on wheatless days.

What is Victory bread?

Bread baked with at least a 25 per cent admixture of other cereals than wheat; the bread that will help win the war.

What other cereals can be mixed with wheat to make Victory bread?

See answer to 197, which gives list of wheat-flour substitutes.

May bread made entirely of graham flour or whole-wheat flour be called Victory bread?

Yes, if it contains 25 per cent of bran, shorts and middlings.

Was rye flour used in making Victory bread?

Yes, until March 31, when it was withdrawn from the substitute list because a shortage of rye flour for rye-bread baking was threatened.

How else may the name Victory be used?

The name Victory may also be given by bakers to sweet yeast-dough goods, crackers, biscuits, cakes, pies, fried cakes, and pastry, provided one-third of their flour or meal content consists of wheat-flour substitutes.

COMBINATION SUBSTITUTE MUFFINS.

75 Per Cent Barley.
25 Per Cent Oats.
1 cup liquid.
1 tablespoon fat.
2 tablespoons sirup.
1 or 2 eggs.
4 teaspoons baking powder.
1 teaspoon salt.
2¼ cups barley flour (6 ounces).
½ cup ground rolled oats (2 ounces).

CORN FLOUR AND BUCKWHEAT BREAD.

50 Per Cent Corn Flour.
50 Per Cent Buckwheat.
1 cup liquid.
2 to 4 tablespoons fat.
4 tablespoons sirup.
2 eggs.
6 teaspoons baking powder.
1 teaspoon salt.
1¼ cups (5 ounces) corn flour.
1 cup (6 ounces) buckwheat.

BARLEY AND OAT BREAD.

50 Per Cent Barley Flour.
50 Per Cent Ground Rolled Oats.
1 cup liquid.
2 to 4 tablespoons fat.
4 tablespoons sirup.
2 eggs.
6 teaspoons baking powder.
1 teaspoon salt.
1⅞ cups (5 ounces) barley flour.
1½ cups (5 ounces) ground rolled oats.

BISCUIT.

(Using no Wheat)

METHOD.

Sift dry materials together. Work in fat well. Combine liquid and dry materials, handling lightly. Roll or pat ½ inch thick and cut as biscuit. Bake in a hot oven.

Use a coarse sifter or mix instead of sifting if the flours are coarse, so that none is wasted.

Biscuits made of the substitutes are less like the normal wheat flour product, particularly in texture, than are the muffins, loaf breads, and cakes. If one-fourth more liquid is used, a biscuit having better texture is the result.

Brazil in the War.

Because not much has been heard about Brazil's share in the war, it must not be presumed that she is doing little or nothing. As a matter of fact conscription is in force and every possible preparation is being made to strike a heavy blow in Europe. Brazil's ships are patrolling the coast of South America and other ships have gone to European waters, where they are operating with the allied navies. The Brazilian navy includes several dreadnaughts of good speed and heavy offensive power.—Scientific American.

15,000 POUNDS MEAT A MINUTE GOING TO ALLIES

One Hog Out of Every Four Being Sent Abroad.

Shipments of meat have been going to the allies for some time at the rate of 15,000 pounds a minute. As the shipments are kept up during a ten hour day they amount to 9,000,000 pounds daily. The meat goes to soldiers of the United States and the allies and to the civilian population of all the countries at war with Germany.

These statements were made by a prominent representative of the United States Food Administration.

No industry in the country has played a more important part in helping to win the war than the American livestock and meat-packing industry.

Swift & Company alone has been forwarding over 500 car loads of meat and meat products per week for overseas shipment.

Decides to Aid Allies in Fighting German Influence in Russia.

KEEP PLANS SECRET

Conference at White House Outlines Plan of Action—Military Men Believe Expedition on an Extended Scale Is Impracticable.

Washington, July 8.—At a conference at the White House between President Wilson Secretaries Lansing, Baker and Daniels, Admiral Benson, chief of naval operations, and General March, army chief of staff, America's waiting policy in regard to military action in Russia is understood to have ended.

There was no announcement after the conference and probably will be none for the present, but it was said unofficially an important decision had been reached.

Urgent appeals from the Allied governments for American approval of and co-operation in joint measures to meet the German menace throughout Russia have been before President Wilson for several days.

Until now, however, there has been no intimation he had changed his position, based on recommendations of his military advisers that a successful military effort in Russia was not feasible.

For military reasons strictest secrecy is observed concerning the exact nature of steps proposed by the Allies.

American and Allied naval forces are guarding war supplies both at Vladivostok, terminal of the Trans-Siberian railroad, and Kola, terminal of the railroad on the Arctic coast, which is reported threatened by German forces in the interior.

Belief among the majority of American military men that no expedition on an extended scale should be undertaken in the East apparently has undergone no change. In fact, one official more than intimated that the decisions did not mean the embarkation of any great military force across the Pacific.

As to whether it meant operations by an international force of Japanese, French and British, with Americans in sufficient numbers to demonstrate participation of the United States, no one would say.

Regardless of the secrecy observed however, the plain intimation was given that the White House conference marked the end of the period of waiting which began on Bolshevikl acceptance of the Brest-Litovsk treaty whereby Germany gained control of a large section of Russia and paved the way for extending her influence eastward far into Siberia.

Camp Dodge, Iowa, July 8.—Three Negro soldiers, convicted by court-martial of assaulting and outraging a 17 year old white girl on the cantonment grounds the night of May 24, were hanged here with virtually the entire division witnessing the execution.

The three traps were sprung simultaneously and death was almost instantaneous in each case. The negroes marched on the scaffolds singing "God Have Mercy on My Soul."

STATES ALLIED WAR AIMS

English Press Likes Tone of President Wilson's Address.

London, July 8.—London papers indorsed President Wilson's speech at Mount Vernon, pointing out its similarity to Winston Churchill's address before the Anglo-American fellowship meeting here.

"President Wilson restated, with solemn authority, the war aims of the Allies," the Express said.

The Mail said the President stated the Allies' war aims with force and directness.

IMMENSE PROFITS ON FOOD

Some Concerns Made as High as 2,183 Per Cent in 1917.

Washington, July 8.—Excess profits as high as 2,183 per cent were made by some businesses in 1917, a Treasury department report submitted to the Senate showed.

The report is a partial answer to Senator Borah's resolution asking for data on profiteering. The 2,183 per cent example was that of a food dealer.

A Great Responsibility.

THE responsibility attached to the preparing of a remedy for infants and children is undoubtedly greater than that imposed upon the manufacturer of remedies for adults whose system is sufficiently strong to counteract, for a time at least, any injurious drug. It is well to observe that Castoria is prepared today, as it has been for the past 40 years, under the personal supervision of Mr. Chas. H. Fletcher.

What have makers of imitations and substitutes at stake? What are their responsibilities? To whom are they answerable? They spring up today, scatter their nefarious wares broadcast, and disappear tomorrow.

Could each mother see the painstaking care with which the prescription for Fletcher's Castoria is prepared: could they read the innumerable testimonials from grateful mothers, they would never listen to the subtle pleadings and false arguments of those who would offer an imitation of, or substitute for the tried and true Fletcher's Castoria.

N. E. Calmes, of Marion, Ky., says: "You have the best medicine in the world, as I have given your Castoria to my babies from first to last."

Mrs. Albert Ugusky, of Lawrenceburg, Ind., says: "As I have had your Castoria in use for nearly three years, I am pleased to say it is just as represented. My children are both well and happy—thanks to Castoria."

R. P. Stockton, of New Orleans, La., says: "We began giving your Castoria to our baby when he was eight days old and have kept it up ever since, never having had to give any other medicine."

Mrs. Dolph Hornbuckle, of Colorado Springs, Colo., says: "We commenced giving your Castoria to our baby when she was four weeks old. She is now seven months and weighs 19½ pounds. Everyone remarks: 'What a healthy looking baby.' We give Castoria credit for it."

Prisoner's Remark Not Exactly Complimentary to the Lawyers in the Courtroom.

The conversation in the lobby of a Washington hotel turned to the budding lawyer when this little anecdote was smilingly related by Representative Edward E. Brown of Wisconsin:

Recently a man was arrested on a minor charge, and on the appointed day was haled into court for trial.

"Just a moment," remarked the judge, interrupting the preliminary proceedings. "Has the prisoner at the bar no counsel?"

"No, sir," spoke up the prisoner, "I couldn't afford to employ a lawyer."

"In that event the court will appoint counsel for you," returned the judge, glancing at a group of budding lawyers who were seated in the courtroom. "There are Mr. Jones, Mr. Smith, Mr. Green and Mr. Brown, and also another fellow out in the corridor. Which do you prefer?"

"If it's all the same to you, judge," was the startling rejoinder of the prisoner, "I will take the fellow that's out in the corridor."—Philadelphia Evening Telegram.

KIDNEY TROUBLE NOT EASILY RECOGNIZED

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected

An examining physician for one of the prominent life insurance companies, in an interview of the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

We find that Swamp-Root is strictly an herbal compound and we would advise our readers who feel in need of such a remedy to give it a trial. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

President Wilson Pledges the United States and Allies to No Compromise

FLAYS MILITARY RULE

Chief Executive Forcibly Outlines Aims for Which America and Associates Will Not Sheathe the Sword Until They Are Accomplished.

Washington, July 5.—In his Fourth of July address at Mount Vernon, President Wilson said:

Washington, July 5.—President Wilson in his Fourth of July address at Mount Vernon said:

Gentlemen of the diplomatic corps and my fellow citizens: I am happy to draw apart with you to this quiet place of old counsel in order to speak a little of the meaning of this day of our nation's independence. The place seems very still and remote. It is as serene and untouched by the hurry of the world as it was in those great days long ago when General Washington was here and held leisurely conference with the men who were to be associated with him in the creation of a nation. From these gentle slopes they looked out upon the world and saw it whole, saw it with the light of the future upon it, saw it with modern eyes that turned away from a past which men of liberated spirits could no longer endure. It is for that reason that we cannot feel even here, in the immediate presence of this sacred tomb, that this is a place of death. It was a place of achievement. A great promise that was meant for all mankind was here given plan and reality. The associations by which we are here surrounded are the inspiriting associations of that noble death which is only a glorious consummation. From this green hillside we also ought to be able to see with comprehending eyes the world that lies about us and should conceive anew the purposes that must set men free.

It is significant—significant of their own character and purpose and of the influences they were setting afoot—that Washington and his associates, like the barons at Runnymede, spoke and acted, not for a class, but for a people. It has been left for us to see to it that it shall be understood that they spoke and acted not for a single people only, but for all mankind. They were thinking, not of themselves and of the material interests which centered in the little group of landowners and merchants, and men of affairs with whom they were accustomed to act, in Virginia and the colonies to the north and south of her, but of a people which wished to be done with classes and special interests and the authority of men whom they had not themselves chosen to rule over them.

Lofty Inspiration Found.

They entertained no private purpose, desired no peculiar privilege. They were consciously planning that men of every class should be free, and America a place to which men out of every nation might resort who wished to share with them the rights and privileges of free men. And we take our cue from them—do we not? We intend what they intended. We here in America believe our participation in this present war to be only the fruitage of what they planted. Our case differs from theirs only in this, that it is our inestimable privilege to concert with men out of every nation what shall make not only the liberties of America secure but the liberties of every other people as well. We are happy in the thought that we are permitted to do what they would have done had they been in our place.

There must now be settled once for all what was settled for America in the great age upon whose inspiration we draw today. This is surely a fitting place from which calmly to look out upon our task, that we may fortify our spirits for its accomplishment. And this is the appropriate place from which to avow, alike to the friends who look on and to the friends with whom we have the happiness to be associated in action, the faith and purpose with which we act.

There Can Be Only One End.

This, then, is our conception of the great struggle in which we are engaged. The plot is written plain upon every scene and every act of the supreme tragedy. On the one hand stand the peoples of the world—not only the peoples actually engaged, but many others also who suffer under mastery but cannot act; peoples of many races and in every part of the world—the people of stricken Russia, still among the rest, though they are for the moment unorganized and helpless. Opposed to them, masters of many armies, stand an isolated, friendless group of governments who speak no common purpose, but only selfish ambitions of their own by which none can profit but themselves, and whose peoples are fuel in their hands; governments which fear their people and yet are for the time their sovereign lords, making every choice for them and disposing of their lives and fortunes as they will, as well as of the lives and fortunes of every people who fall under their power—governments clothed with the strange trappings and the primitive authority of an age that is altogether alien and hostile to our own. The past and the present are in deadly grapple and the peoples of the world are being done to death between them.

There can be but one issue. The settlement must be final. There can be no compromise. No half-way decision would be tolerable. No half-way decision is conceivable.

Why U. S. and Allies Are Fighting.

These are the ends for which the associated peoples of the world are fighting and which must be conceded them before there can be peace.

First—The destruction of every arbitrary power anywhere that can separately, secretly, and on its single choice disturb the peace of the world, or, if it cannot be presently destroyed, at the least its reduction to virtual impotence.

Second—The settlement of every question, whether of territory, or of sovereignty, of economic arrangement, or of political relationship, upon the basis of the free acceptance of that settlement by the people immediately concerned, and not upon the basis of the material interest or advantage of any other nation or people which may desire a different settlement for the sake of its own exterior influence or mastery.

Third—The consent of all nations to be governed in their conduct towards each other by the same principles of honor and of respect for the common law of civilized society that govern the individual citizens of all modern states in their relations with one another; to the end that all promises and covenants may be sacredly observed, no private plots or conspiracies hatched, no selfish injuries wrought with impunity, and a mutual trust established upon the handsome foundation of a mutual respect for right.

Fourth—The establishment of an organization of peace which shall make it certain that the combined power of free nations will check every invasion of right and serve to make peace and justice the more secure by affording a definite tribunal of opinion to which all must submit and by which every international readjustment that cannot be amicably agreed upon by the peopels directly concerned shall be sanctioned.

Deathless Effort Against Foe.

These great objects can be put into a single sentence:

What we seek is the reign of law, based upon the consent of the governed and sustained by the organized opinion of mankind.

These great ends cannot be achieved by debating and seeking to reconcile and accommodate what statesmen may wish, with their projects for balances of power and of national opportunity. They can be realized only by the determination of what the thinking peoples of the world desire, with their longing hope for justice and for social freedom and opportunity.

I can fancy that the air of this place carries the accents of such principles with a peculiar kindness. Here were started forces which the great nation against which they were primarily directed at first regarded as a revolt against its rightful authority, but which it has long since seen to have been a step in the liberation of its own people as well as of the people of the United States, and I stand here now to speak—speak proudly and with confident hope—of the spread of this revolt, this liberation, to the great stage of the world itself.

The blinded rulers of Prussia have roused forces they knew little of—forces which, once roused, can never be crushed to earth again; for they have at their heart an inspiration and a purpose which are deathless and of the very stuff of triumph.

"BEST MEDICINE FOR WOMEN"

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did For Ohio Woman.

Portsmouth, Ohio.—"I suffered from irregularities, pains in my side and was so weak at times I could hardly get around to do my work and as I had four in my family and three boarders it made it very hard for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me. I took it and it has restored my health. It is certainly the best medicine for woman's ailments I ever saw."—Mrs. SARA SHAW, R. No. 1, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Mrs. Shaw proved the merit of this medicine and wrote this letter in order that other suffering women may find relief as she did.

Women who are suffering as she was should not drag along from day to day without giving this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial. For special advice in regard to such ailments write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of its forty years experience is at your service.

REALLY WAS SILLY OF HER

But Mrs. Pruke Seemed Somehow to Have Got the Wrong Idea Altogether.

"Pound of margarine, two pounds of cheese, a——" commenced Mrs. Pruke.

The proprietor of the village store hastened to interrupt the lady. "You'll really have to cut your order down," he said. "I can't supply peacetime quantities. There's a war on, you know."

Mrs. Pruke did some lightning calculations on a piece of sugar paper.

"Right-o," she answered blithely. "Two ounces o' margarine, quarter o' cheese, four inches o' white tape, and half a pair o' number five carpet slippers. Thanks for reminding me about the war. It had quite slipped my memory. I'd got the idea into my head that m' husband and my two boys had gone to France looking for mushrooms."—London Tit-Bits.

Japan Wants Sheep.

With a view to ultimately making Japan self-supporting in regard to supplies of wool, the Japanese government has set aside in the budget of the next financial year a fund of $150,000 for encouraging sheep breeding. According to an explanation made in the diet the sheep at present in Japan are not of good stock, being bred from those imported into Japan many years ago. Moreover, they number less than 4,000 and the annual output of wool is very small.

Quite Enough.

Hot Weather Poisons Hit The Stomach First

How to Keep Your Stomach Strong, Cool and Sweet

Hot weather always starts those quick chemical changes which produce poisons in meats, fish, fruits, vegetables, milk and food products.

Such summer poisons in foods not only make well stomachs sick but develop with dangerous rapidity in sensative, sick or ailing stomachs and bowels.

These poisons not only generate gases and fluids which cause that bloated, lumpy feeling, heartburn, sour stomach, belching, acidity, but endless other stomach and bowel miseries.

A sure, safe, quick acting relief has been found which absorbs and neutralizes these poisons, too much acid and harmful gases. EATONIO Tablets, one or two taken after every meal, will keep your stomach sweet. You will have a good appetite to eat what you like, when you want it and be free from all those bad effects liable to come after a hearty meal in summer.

EATONIO Tablets are hot weather protectors for the stomach. They guard against the germs that lurk in the things you eat and drink. They rebuild listless appetites, promote digestion by aiding proper action of the stomach functions and insure speedy relief from indigestion and all stomach distress.

EATONIO is good to eat like candy. People from all oversend grateful testimonials. Tens of thousands are obtaining relief with EATONIO every day but the best evidence is to let your own stomach tell you the truth. Go to your druggist and get a big box of EATONIO. Tell him you want it for the prevention and sure relief of stomach and bowel disorders produced by hot weather poisons.

Then if EATONIO fails to satisfy you—return it to your druggist, whom you know and can trust. He will cheerfully refund your money. If your druggist doesn't keep EATONIO—drop us a postal. It will be delivered to your address and you can then pay for it. Address, H. L. Kramer, Pres., 1018 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Are the Packers Profiteers?

Plain Facts About the Meat Business

The Federal Trade Commission in its recent report on war profits, stated that the five large meat packers have been profiteering and that they have a monopoly of the market.

These conclusions, if fair and just, are matters of serious concern not only to those engaged in the meat packing business but to every other citizen of our country.

The figures given on profits are misleading and the statement that the packers have a monopoly is unsupported by the facts.

The packers mentioned in the report stand ready to prove their profits reasonable and necessary.

* * *

The meat business is one of the largest American industries. Any citizen who would familiarize himself with its details must be prepared for large totals.

The report states that the aggregate profits of four large packers were $140,000,000 for the three war years.

This sum is compared with $19,000,000 as the average annual profit for the three years before the war, making it appear that the war profit was $121,000,000 greater than the pre-war profit.

This compares a three-year profit with a one-year profit—a manifestly unfair method of comparison. It is not only misleading, but the Federal Trade Commission apparently has made a mistake in the figures themselves.

* * *

The aggregate three-year profits of $140,000,000 was earned on sales of over four and a half billion dollars. It means about three cents on each dollar of sales—or a mere fraction of a cent per pound of product.

Packers' profits are a negligible factor in prices of live stock and meats. No other large business is conducted upon such small margins of profit.

Furthermore—and this is very important—only a small portion of this profit has been paid in dividends. The balance has been put back into the businesses. It had to be, as you realize when you consider the problems the packers have had to solve—and solve quickly—during these war years.

To conduct this business in war times, with higher costs and the necessity of paying two or three times the former prices for live stock, has required the use of two or three times the ordinary amount of working capital. The additional profit makes only a fair return on this, and as has been stated, the larger portion of the profits earned has been used to finance huge stocks of goods and to provide additions and improvements made necessary by the enormous demands of our army and navy and the allies.

If you are a business man you will appreciate the significance of these facts. If you are unacquainted with business, talk this matter over with some business acquaintance—with your banker, say—and ask him to compare profits of the packing industry with those of any other large industry at the present time.

* * *

No evidence is offered by the Federal Trade Commission in support of the statement that the large packers have a monopoly. The Commission's own report shows the large number and importance of other packers.

The packers mentioned in the statement stand ready to prove to any fair-minded person that they are in keen competition with each other, and that they have no power to manipulate prices.

If this were not true they would not dare to make this positive statement.

Furthermore, government figures show that the five large packers mentioned in the report account for only about one-third of the meat business of the country.

They wish it were possible to interest you in the details of their business. Of how, for instance, they can sell dressed beef for less than the cost of the live animal, owing to utilization of by-products, and of the wonderful story of the methods of distribution throughout this broad land, as well as in other countries.

The five packers mentioned feel justified in co-operating with each other to the extent of together presenting this public statement.

They have been able to do a big job for your government in its time of need; they have met all war time demands promptly and completely and they are willing to trust their case to the fairmindedness of the American people with the facts before them.

THE SUNBEAM.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam, Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3,1879

Since the committee on public information has said that calling the farmers' league disloyal is aiding the enemy, there has been less loose talk going round. It will not do to say that the entire state of North Dakota and 150,000 farmers in Minnesota are against the government. Since the Supreme court has ordered the dismissal of all cases against Townley, there has been very little talk of the League's disloyalty by the daily papers that are leaving no stones unturned to help big business to hold their grip on the people. The big Republican dailies of the Twin cities are now advising the Republicans to indorse the Democratic nominee for governor in North Dakota, so as to unite all the votes opposed to the re-election of governor Frazer. But when the Minnesota League swings their independent state ticket into the field for the November election, these big business dailies will have plenty of work to do to try and hold this state from joining the farmers of North Dakota and electing their governor. The League could easily run Lindbergh by stickers on the fall ticket as they are so well organized that there would not be a mistake of a hundred votes in the state.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

There is but one way to win the war and that is for all to pull together. Some day the people will rise up and rebuke those politicians who are trying to set the city against the country at this critical time.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

Numerous inquiries have been received at the various recruiting offices throughout the state in regard to the advantages a man enlisting now has over the man who waits to be drafted. An erroneous impression seems to be prevalent that registered men can enlist at any time, and avoid being called by their local boards. Such is not the case, however. Registered men, regardless of what class their local board puts them in, and regardless of the fact that their local board is willing to give them a release, can not enlist in the Army. Enlistments in the Army must come from men outside of the draft age, namely from 18 to 21 and from 31 to 40 years of age.

The only advantage the man enlisting has over the man who goes into the Army by means of the draft act is that he has a choice of the branch of the service he likes best. A man enlisting in the Regular Army is trained more rapidly, as the U. S. Regulars are able to absorb from 35 to 50 percent of their enlisted strength in new recruits. The men train side by side with veteran soldiers, and in consequence make much more rapid progress than they would if surrounded by raw recruits, with little or no previous military training.

The big advantages, in the Army, as in civil life go to the man who is there first, to the man who is best trained and most efficient. The sooner a man gets into service, the better are his chances of winning the stripes of a non-commissioned officer. Increased rank means increased pay, and the pay for enlisted men in various branches of the service ranges is from [illegible]

Where Is Our Share?

There are some of Mr. Wold's enthusiastic supporters that claim that this district got more than their share of road and bridge funds last year in building state roads. How about this wad gents? Where has our share of it gone to? The following letter and answer will best explain it, for be it known that W. G. Hunt, was looking up cash to build a bridge at Highlanding, at that time.

Sunbeam, Minn.
April 24, 1917.

Hon. D. P. O'Neill,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

Dear Sir:

Will you please inform me what amount Pennington county will get out of the state road and bridge fund this year off the so called "pork barrel" and oblige.

Yours Truly,
W. G. Hunt.

His Answer:

$14,327. This is within a few dollars, if not correct. In haste.
D. P. O'Neill.

Where has the First district's share of that $14,327 been put? Please arise and answer some of you fellows that claim this district has got been "did." Free space for reply.

Food
QUESTIONS ANSWERED

The Organization for and Purposes and Methods of Food Conservation in the United States.

1. What is the United States Food Administration?

A government organization created as a war measure to meet all food problems, national and international.

2. How was it created?

Congress gave the President power to create it by Executive order.

3. When was it created?

August 10, 1917.

4. What work was begun before this date?

On May 17, 1917, the President requested Mr. Herbert Hoover to take over the proposed task of food administration and on June 12 he urged Mr. Hoover to begin assembling the voluntary forces of the country to save food.

5. What is the purpose of the Food Administration?

(a) To secure sufficient food for our civilian population, for our soldiers, for the soldiers and civilians of our associates in the war.

(b) To maintain an even supply of essential foods.

(c) To stabilize prices by abolishing speculation, hoarding and profiteering.

6. What does the Food Administration ask of the American people? [illegible] save transportation; to eliminate waste; to substitute other foods for those we are asked to save; to eat only as much as we need.

7. How can these things be accomplished?

By increased production, proper distribution, control of exports and checking of speculation; but chiefly by the voluntary effort of every man, woman, and child in the United States.

8. Is the entire work of the Food Administration done from the central office in Washington?

No, the work is decentralized. Every state has its own Federal Food Administrator recommended by Mr. Hoover and appointed by the President.

9. What is the meaning of the term "decentralized"?

Removing some of the functions of an organization from the central authority to local authorities.

10. Why can not all administrative work be done in Washington?

Because the state laws and local conditions vary so greatly, but the central authority remains there and all policies are decided by the United States Food Administration.

11. How is the work in each state decentralized?

Through the appointment by its Federal Food Administrator of a county chairman or administrator for each county.

12. What assistants has the Federal Food Administrator in his work?

State and county administrators are aided by home economic directors, by merchant representatives, who look after the stores, by hotel chairmen, who supervise hotels and restaurants, by library directors, who render service through the public libraries, by educational directors.

13. Do the Federal Food Administrators of the various states keep in touch with the United States Food Administration in Washington?

Yes.

14. How?

By frequent conference and constant interchange of information relating to national policies and local conditions.

15. What salaries are received by the United States Food Administrator and the Federal Food Administrators of the different states? [illegible]

16. Why does the Food Administration seem to change its policy in many of its rulings?

Because, although the purpose remains the same, new factors constantly arise in our present disturbed condition which make necessary a readjustment of method and policy to that purpose.

(Questions on Bread and Beef answered in a later issue.)

Sugar Purchases Limited—Two Pounds in City—Five in Country.

Under regulations announced by the Food Administration this week and effective at once, single purchases of sugar by the consumer for regular household purposes, exclusive of canning, are limited to two pounds in the city and five pounds in rural communities.

Consumers will also be required upon making this purchase to sign and leave with the retailer a pledge to use the sugar thus purchased according to food administration regulations, and in quantity not exceeding 3 pounds per month for each member of the household.

Sugar for canning purposes is obtainable as heretofore—25 pounds at a purchase upon signing of a certificate. After four purchases have been made for canning no more will be allowed except on special certificate issued by the county food administrator.

Roast beef, whether hot or cold, is to be served only on Monday at the midday meal; stewed, boiled or beef hashes are to be served only on Wednesday and Saturday at the midday meal, and steaks in any form, including hamburger, on Thursday only at the midday meal, according to recent regulations for hotels, restaurants and public eating places, announced by Walter A. Pocock, hotel representative of the food administration for Minnesota, with the approval of A. D. Wilson, state food administrator.

These regulations for the saving of beef require that the householder use not more than [illegible] pounds of clear beef per person per week, or [illegible]

When Letters Were a Luxury.

In our modern speed of railroad travel, and the consequent facilities in the transmission of mail matter all over the civilized world, it is well enough to look back to the time when letter writing was a luxury indulged in only by a few, and communication between friends at a distance well nigh an impossibility. In its first application the word "post" meant a courier or carrier of messages.

Habitual Tendency.

"This show was written for the tired business man," remarked the manager. "The production cost a fortune."

"That's the one thing," replied Mr. Dustin Stax, "that bothered me. I'm a tired business man myself, and I got so busy figuring how you are going to pay interest on your investment that I couldn't keep my mind on the performance."

Wheatless Recipes

Tested in the Experimental Kitchen of the Food Administration (Conservation Division) and the Department of Agriculture.

COMBINATION MUFFINS.

(Using no Wheat)

METHOD OF MIXING.

Add to the cup of milk the melted fat, sirup, and slightly beaten egg; sift the salt, baking powder, and flour together. Use a coarse sieve so that no part of the flour is wasted. Combine the two mixtures, stirring lightly without beating. Bake in a hot oven (437 degrees F. or 225 degrees C.) for 20 to 30 minutes, depending upon the size of the muffins.

These recipes make 24 small muffins (3 of which make a 2 ounce serving) or 8 very large muffins.

The ground rolled oats are the same as rolled oats ground in a food chopper. When using oats, mix them with the other sifted dry ingredients.

When corn meal is used, mix—do not sift—the ingredients.

Suggestions: The wheat substitute recipes given below show that a wide variety of combinations is possible even when limited to the use of a few substitutes.

All of the combinations are good. In nearly all cases a combination of substitutes makes a better product than the use of only one substitute.

Muffins containing oats have a particularly pleasant flavor.

Other substitutes used with buckwheat will modify the color and improve the flavor of the product. The use of molasses will also do this.

COMBINATION SUBSTITUTE MUFFINS.

50 Per Cent Barley.
50 Per Cent Oats.
1 cup liquid.
1 tablespoon fat.
2 tablespoons sirup.
1 or 2 eggs.
4 teaspoons baking powder.
1 teaspoon salt.

To Be Pitched Only in the Morning.

Many years ago, when Connie Mack was the Milwaukee catcher and manager, the club opened the season with several sore-arm veteran pitchers. There was one youngster with the club who did not complain of this trouble, so they sent him to the slab. Milwaukee was beaten something like 16 to 4. The kid pitcher was downcast. "The umpire didn't give me any the best of it," he said by way of an alibi.

"No," replied Joe Cantillon, who had overheard the remark, "neither did the opposing batters give you any the best of it."

The kid walked off in a huff. Connie Mack turned to Cantillon. "I'll say this for the boy," he said. "I've worked out with him every morning for the last two weeks, and he looked mighty good."

Cantillon pulled a schedule out of his pocket and glanced over it rapidly. "The next morning game is on Decoration day, Connie," he remarked. "Save the kid pitcher for then."

WILL HELP THE FARMERS

The offer of Thief River Falls business men to assist the farmers during harvest to save their crops is very generous indeed. But we would be a little skeptical from our past experience with getting help through the Commercial Club, to trust to them for help when it comes to rushing the grain into the stack to save it. Some of them may be all right to pitch bundles, as they are large enough and strong enough. G. Howard Smith could undoubtedly throw the bundles to the top of a grain stack with a little farmer training, but we would consider C. A. Pitkin rather light to do anything but tread down loads of hay and stack hay after it was pitched to him. But if we had the choice of men that might volunteer to help stack grain we believe we would take C. L. Hanson, and if he concludes to lock up the First National bank, and go out stacking he can be sure of securing work on the Sunbeam farm. But laying joking aside, if you are badly in need of help, write to Mr. Ross White, who may be able to send you out a man to help you stack and save your grain.

FOUND MAN TO COOK CORN

Lucky Find Solved Big Problem for One of Hoover's Helpers in Hard Times in Belgium

A cargo of corn sent to the commission for the relief of Belgium early in 1916 was a problem to dispose of until Robinson Smith, one of Hoover's helpers, ran into luck on a dusty Belgian road one day.

None of the Belgians had ever used American corn. The cargo was useless unless some one could be found who knew how to cook it. Smith was thinking over the problem as he drove along in his car, he related the other day. He espied a ragged-looking negro sitting by the roadside. He drew up his car.

"Are you an American citizen?" he asked the bundle of rags.

"I done know, boss," the bundle answered. "I comes from Norfolk. All I knows is I ain't got no business heah, sah."

"But you can cook, can't you?" Smith asked with rising hope.

"Bes' thing I do, sah."

Without a pass for him, Smith was perplexed as to how he could get the find back to Brussels. He took a chance and put the negro in the rear of the machine under a blanket and drove him off to the C. R. B. kitchens.

They put him in a chef's uniform and brought in the corn. The way the Belgians ate corn pone, corn bread and corn cakes made that cargo go so quickly the C. R. B. soon had no problem on its hands.

"As Good as Yours."

Recently there arrived at one of our Atlantic ports an American who recently managed to get out of Russia. He tells an amusing story illustrative of the chaos and the lack of respect for government which recently have come into existence in Russia.

The Kerensky government, it seems, at one time put out an issue of forty-ruble notes. They were about the size of a large postage stamp, and quite artistic in design. Almost immediately they were copied by a band of counterfeiters, who in an ecstasy of frank contempt for the government, printed across the face of their notes:

"Ours are just as good as yours."

As an example of Slavic humor, it must be admitted that this has its merits. And as things are turning out, the words of the counterfeiters were apparently as true as they were amusing.

Migration of Mosquitoes.

Some surprising facts regarding the migration of mosquitoes and other insects have been discovered by Prof. S. C. Ball, who spent a month at Rebecca Shoal lighthouse last summer. This lighthouse stands out in the ocean 12 nautical miles from the nearest land, which is Key West, Tortugas, while the nearest region on which any considerable number of mosquitoes can breed is Marquesas Atoll, 24 miles distant to the eastward. Breezes from the north and east brought mosquitoes to the lighthouse and in one case a strong southern wind brought them from Cuba, [illegible] miles away. Indeed, in some instances there was evidence that they were brought by favorable winds from [illegible] more distant points, perhaps from Tampa bay, [illegible] miles distant. [illegible] flies and various other [illegible] also captured [illegible]

"While you were out west did you meet with any typical bad men?"

"I should say so! I spent a week in a camp full of the toughest customers you ever saw—real cowboys who spent most of their time firing pistols and careering on their bronchos at breakneck speed."

"Didn't you tremble for your life?"

"I was a trifle uneasy at first, but when I saw how a motion picture director bullied those fellows I plucked up considerable courage."

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT IS SEEKING TO PREVENT THRESHING LOSSES

A national grain threshing division has been created under the federal food administrator, Herbert C. Hoover. The division is attached to the National Grain Corporation, which is headed by J. H. Barnes, former grain buyer of Duluth, and Capt. K. D. Hequembourg, with offices at 42 Broadway, New York, will direct the affairs of the division.

The aim is to organize the threshermen of the various grain states for the purpose of saving every possible kernel of grain in harvesting and threshing operations.

D. B. Bassett of University Farm has been appointed by the federal food administrator for Minnesota to have charge of the work in Minnesota. Mr. Bassett requests the federal food administrator of each county and the county agricultural agent to select a competent thresherman to act with them as a county committee.

Threshermen to Sign Cards.

One of the first duties of the county committee will be to furnish the state office with a complete list of threshermen who are actively engaged in threshing in their county. Every thresherman will be asked through the county committee to sign a pledge card and mail it to the federal food administrator. In return he will receive a certificate of membership signed by Herbert C. Hoover, the national food administrator. The pledge card and certificate will indicate that the thresherman agrees to do all he can to save grain and co-operate with the administration.

Every man who expects to operate a threshing rig in Minnesota this fall is urged to get his machine in first class repair before starting to thresh. Repairs will in many cases have to be ordered from the factory. If the threshermen will go over their machines this next week and get the machines in first-class running order, they will be doing their part. Threshing manufacturers and implement men are very desirous that orders for repairs be sent in immediately so as to give them time to get the repairs out. Any trouble in securing repairs should be reported to the county committee. If the county committee cannot handle it, it should then be [illegible] to the state office. [illegible] manufacturers [illegible] to help [illegible] ers have all pledged themselves to do all in their power to assist. There may be some machines that will need expert attention. If this be true, application should be made to the county committee and if the committee cannot furnish experts they should ask assistance of the state office.

Application for extra labor should be made to the county office and if they cannot furnish it they will in turn take it up with the state office.

Fuel Situation Watched.

A ruling has been secured from the department at Washington placing fuel for threshing on the preferred list. This means that the railroads, now under the supervision of the government, will be asked to rush the fuel supply for threshing through even though it means the delay of other freight.

The state department is taking steps to urge the farmer to shock his grain properly, rake the stubble field where much loose grain is left, and if the grain is to be stacked have it stacked properly so that the thresherman can do a good job. Suggestions regarding the handling of separator and shocking and stacking of grain will be mailed from time to time to the county committees and published in the county papers.

The whole object of this campaign is to awaken the thresherman and the farmer to the necessity of saving every kernel of grain possible.

Annual Loss Is Large.

If the average loss is 2 per cent only, the loss of wheat alone in the state of Minnesota would be more than one million bushels, which would be worth more than two million dollars at the present price of wheat. If half this can be saved, the farmer and thresherman can save for Minnesota in wheat alone over one million dollars worth of grain. A similar saving of other grains may be made.

The county committees will receive full instructions as to method of action in case of trouble, and threshermen are requested to apply first to the county committees. If the county committees cannot help, appeal should be made to the state office. All correspondence to the state office should be addressed to D. B. Bassett [illegible]

MEALS AT NOMINAL PRICE

Emergency Kitchens in Dutch Capital Have Been Found to Be of Great Value.

Emergency kitchens were not known in Holland before the war, but are now established in all the larger cities for the purpose of supplying the poor, as well as persons and families of small means, with one warm and wholesome meal a day at a nominal price. In The Hague are three such kitchens, which are well patronized and have accomplished a great amount of good.

One was established by the municipal government and is mainly intended for the use of the really poor of the city. It furnishes to all callers one meal daily for the price of four cents.

The menu for one week follows: Monday, oatmeal, milk, butter, and sugar; Tuesday, potatoes, carrots, onions, and beef; Wednesday, potatoes, red cabbage, and beef; Thursday, pea soup, with pork; Friday, potatoes, sauerkraut, and edible fats; Saturday, potatoes, beets, and edible fats. No meals are served on Sundays.

Another kitchen was established by "The Dutch Society of Housewives," and is intended for the use of small-salaried persons. Dinners are served in the restaurant for 12 cents, and for 10 cents if sent for. The dinners consist of meat or soup, vegetables, and potatoes.

The third kitchen was also started by private initiative and is patronized by the better salaried persons, such as teachers, clerks, officers of the army, etc., who here get a good square meal for 30 cents.

National Prayer Days.

The first time the people of the United States were called upon to observe a day of national prayer was May 9, 1798, by proclamation of President John Adams. A controversy had arisen between this country and France and all Americans were called upon to pray for a continuation of peace. In 1815, when the United States was about to make war on Algiers, President Madison proclaimed a day of prayer. During the Civil war three presidential proclamations were issued appointing days of prayer for peace. In 1865 the authorities called upon the people to pray for Lincoln, and in 1881 President Arthur proclaimed a day of prayer to mark the burial of President Garfield. In the autumn of 1914 President Wilson issued his proclamation for prayers on "Peace Sundays."

Shoveling Out Gas.

Weighing considerably more than the atmosphere, the poisonous gases employed in modern warfare always seek lower levels. Thus the gas clouds penetrate trenches and deep dugouts, and in most cases it is a matter of many hours before they become sufficiently diluted with the atmosphere to permit of safe breathing. So the matter resolves itself into a problem of driving the poisonous fumes out of the trenches and underground shelters, or at least thinning them out until the air is again made safe.

For this reason American soldiers now in France literally "shovel" poisonous fumes out of their trenches. Attached to a shovel is a sort of canvas scoop or "flapper," which permits the men to heave the heavy gases over the parapets and beat the fumes and dissipate them in the surrounding air.—Scientific American.

LAUNCH ATTACK IN MACEDONIA

British Attack Bulgarians to Conform With Italian and French Drive.

AIM AT RAILWAY LINE

Outflanking of Enemy Positions Northeast of Monastir Is Another Objective—Morale of Austrians Said to Be Very Bad.

London, July 15.—British forces, after landing on the Murman coast, have occupied the port of Kem, on the White sea, the Frankfurter Zeitung says, according to a Rotterdam dispatch to the Daily Telegraph.

London, July 15.—An operation against the Teutonic powers which may develop westward along the battle front and eventually conform with the successful drive being carried out by the French and Italians in Albania has seemingly been started by the British troops in Macedonia.

West of the town of Doiran, which lies on the railroad north of Saloniki, the British have delivered a blow against the Bulgarians which was productive of good results. Details of the operations are lacking, but it is not unreasonable to assume that it had in view the ultimate capture of the railroad line running northward from Zuskub and the outflanking of the enemy lines northeast of Monastir.

Austrian Morale Extremely Bad.

Meanwhile, in Albania the French and Italians are giving the enemy no rest, pressing him back daily, mile after mile over the trackless country and capturing strategic positions and villages. The latest French official communication shows that the French troops have taken the villages of Narta and Gramshi, which brings their eastern flank appreciably nearer Lake Ochrida.

The morale of the Austrians is declared to be extremely bad and surrenders of the war-worn soldiers are reported constantly to be taking place.

Bad Weather on French Front.

Bad weather conditions continue to prevail on the greater part of the battle front in France and Flanders and the military operations are still far below normal. Nowhere have there been any engagements ranking in importance above trench raids and patrol encounters.

On several sectors, however, the big guns are constantly hammering away at opposing positions, particularly on the American front along the Marne, where the activity of the long range pieces has increased perceptibly, on the sectors held by the British near Albert, Kemmel hill and Ypres, and near Corcy, where the French face the enemy.

Big Battle Waits Clear Skies.

As yet there is no indication that the date for the commencement of the expected grand offensive by the Germans—the battle which it is thought will prove the greatest effort the enemy has yet made—is at hand. The military observers, however, still incline to the belief that with a cessation of the rains, the drifting away of the low lying clouds and a return of clear skies an attempt at a big drive for the piercing of the Allied front will be made.

CHINA WILL BUILD VESSELS

Shanghai Yard to Construct Four Ships for United States.

Washington, July 15.—China has been added to the list of nations building merchant ships to help defeat Germany.

The Shipping board has awarded to the Chinese government yard at Shanghai contracts for four cargo vessels of 10,00 tons each and took options for the building of 80,000 more tons.

The entire program will involve the expenditure of perhaps $30,000,000. Approximately 35,000 tons of steel will be shipped from this country, but the engines and other equipment will be built in China.

SPANISH INFLUENZA RAGES

Illness in Germany Is Due to Hunger and Exhaustion.

Amsterdam, July 15.—The illness from which thousands of persons in German industrial districts are suffering and which has been described as Spanish influenza is really an illness due to hunger and consequent exhaustion, the Telegraf says it has learned.

In various industrial towns in Westphalia and the Rhine provinces, the newspaper reports, many deaths are occurring daily and the hospitals are full of patients suffering with this malady.

May Probe Alien Press.

Washington, July 15.—Disclosures showing use of huge sums of German money to influence and control the press in the United States have stirred up a demand in Congress for thorough investigation of the whole foreign language press. Fear that German money may still be keeping alive many papers printed in the German and Austrian languages is felt by members of Congress. Several congressmen have evidence that German money did help materially to keep some of these papers going.

REPLIES TO GERMANY

David Lloyd George Scorns Peace at Expense of Russia.

British Premier Says Colonies Will Have Voice in Determining Final Settlement.

London, July 15.—Premier David Lloyd George answered Germany's recently renewed peace offensive with the declaration that the war must not end with one square yard added to Germany's territory.

"The god of brute force must this time forever be broken and burnt in its own furnace," the premier declared.

This was taken as England's reply to recent efforts of German statesmen by which the war would be ended with concessions to the Western Allies, provided Germany was left free to exploit her conquest in Russia.

"There must no hugger-mugger peace," Mr. Lloyd George said. "It must be a real peace. We are not waging war for the sake of killing or being killed, but for the sake of establishing a just and durable peace for the world. You cannot make peace unless it is both just and likely to endure."

The prime minister, who spoke at a dinner given in his honor by Canadian editors who are visiting England, announced that governments of British dominions will have a voice in determining the terms of peace.

TROLLEY CAR JUMPS TRACK

Eight Men Are Killed and About Two Score Injured.

San Francisco, July 15.—The lives of eight workers in San Francisco shipyards and other plants were crushed out here when a crowded street car, in which they were riding to work, jumped a curve and was overturned in a suburb south of the city.

More than two score were injured, three of whom are not expected to live.

Passengers told the police a shipyard blacksmith was running the car at the time of the accident. The blacksmith was not seen after the accident and was believed by the police to have fled.

SENDS TROOPS TO SIBERIA

British Forces Will Aid Czecho-Slovaks at Vladivostok.

Washington, July 15.—News of the dispatch of British reinforcements to Siberia to support the Czecho-Slovaks and Russians controlling Vladivostok and a long stretch of the trans-Siberian railroad was received here through official channels.

Apparently whatever may come of plans for Allied and American military intervention in Russia on a great scale, the hard fight Czecho-Slovaks are to be given by the Allies the aid necessary to prevent them from being crushed by Bolsheviki forces operating with released German prisoners.

DELAYS DRY LEGISLATION

Senate Will Take Up Prohibition Plan on August 26.

Washington, July 15.—National prohibition legislation was postponed by Congress until Aug. 26, at least.

In arranging for a midsummer vacation, a formal unanimous consent agreement was entered into by the Senate to defer until Aug. 26, further consideration of the $11,000,000 emergency food production bill, containing the amendment for "bone dry" wartime prohibition effective New Year's day.

GENERAL CADORNA RETIRED

Italian Commander Loses Rank and Pay as Result of Defeat.

Rome, July 15.—A military bulletin decrees the retirement, with loss of rank and pay, of Generals Cadorna, Parro and Capello.

General Diaz, commander-in-chief of the Italian armies, has been decorated with the grand cordon of the military order of Savoy.

General Cadorna was commander-in-chief of the Italian armies last year when the Austro-German drive forced them back to the Piave river following the Caporetto disaster.

MAY INTERVENE IN RUSSIA

Germany Fears Civil War Will Menace Her Interests.

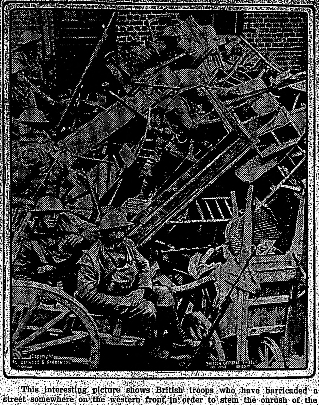
Amsterdam, July 15.—German official circles are of the opinion, says a Berlin dispatch to the Rhenische West-Faelische Zeitung of Essen that in event of civil war breaking out in Russia, the vital interests of Germany would force her to act on her own account in order to eject the British in the North.

The reference here is evidently in the Murman coast region where Allied forces have been landed for the protection of supplies sent to Russia by the Entente.

Two American Seamen Lost.

Washington, July 15.—An American naval launch, after aiding a French destroyer in towing a disabled American seaplane to safety, was sunk by German shore batteries, losing two of her crew, probably drowned, and two taken prisoner by the enemy. Seamen Charles Joe Tatulinski, Cleveland, and John Peter Vogt, New Orleans, are missing. Three others in the boat swam for shore with life preservers and were picked up unhurt on Allied territory.

BARRICADED STREET IN FRENCH VILLAGE



This interesting picture shows British troops who have barricaded a street somewhere on the western front in order to stem the onrush of the enemy.

GIVES HINT OF PEACE

Vienna Will Soon Announce Its Foreign Policy.

Austrian and Hungarian Parliaments Are to Be Scene of the Announcements.

Amsterdam, July 15.—According to a telegram from Vienna, it was announced at the Austrian capital, with reference to the impending sessions of the Austrian and Hungarian parliaments, that "important statements regarding the foreign policy will be made by the government."

Anti-German Paper Demands Peace.

Paris, July 15.—The Arbeiter Zeitung of Vienna, the official organ of the Austrian Social Democracy, demands, according to a dispatch received by the Havas agency, that the Austrian government come to an agreement with President Wilson.

The German imperial chancellor announced in the Reichstag last month that the Arbeiter Zeitung of Vienna had been barred in Germany by the government, in full accord with the government of Vienna, because the paper was "considered every day more and more a perverted newspaper."

Hertling's Trickery Unmasked.

Amsterdam, July 15.—Commencing on the speech in the Reichstag last Thursday of Count von Hertling, the German imperial chancellor, the Telegraaf says:

"It is as if a burglar says to the judge: 'I will return part of my booty if you acquit me.'

"The judge's reply to such a criminal would be the same as will be the Allies' reply to Hertling."

300,000 MEN ARE CALLED

August Summons Takes 1,000 Draftees From Minnesota.

St. Paul, July 15.—A call for 1,000 Minnesota draftees for entrainment to Jefferson barracks, Mo., the five days beginning Aug. 5, has been received by Adjutant General Rhinow from Provost Marshal General Crowder. It was the smallest regular call received in Minnesota since the operation of the selective draft.

Washington advices were that 300,000 men are to be inducted into the service in August.

DESTROY 3,856 FOE PLANES

British Army Fliers on Western Front Drop 3,233.

London, July 15.—In one year on the British Western front the royal air force has accounted for 3,233 enemy airplanes.

In the same period the naval airmen shot down 623, a total of 3,856.

During this period, 1,904 British machines were missing. Ninety-two of these were working with the navy.

Lansing on Vacation.

Washington, July 15.—Secretary Lansing has left for a vacation trip into Northern New York, where he will spend his time hunting and fishing.

Desire Bolsheviki Recognized.

Washington, July 15.—Official recognition of the Bolsheviki by this government, as part of the American aid plan, is again being urged on President Wilson, it became known. Raymond Robins of Chicago, former Bull Moose leader, recently back from Russia, where he had intimate knowledge of Lenine, Trotzky and other Bolsheviki leaders, is the chief proponent of this plan, which is being preached by persons in President Wilson's confidence.

CAN TAKE OVER ALL WIRE LINES

Senate Passes House Resolution Giving the President That Authority.

ACTION IS UNCERTAIN

Cabinet Officers Intimate That Government May Soon Take Advantage of the Powers Just Granted.

Washington, July 15.—President Wilson's request for authority to take over and operate telegraph, telephone, cable and radio lines has been granted by congress.

By a vote of 46 to 16—the minority all Republicans—the Senate adopted, without amendment, the House resolution granting such power for the period of the war.

All Amendments Defeated.

All attempts to amend or modify the administration measure which passed the House July 5 by a vote of 221 to 4 were defeated. Amendments by Senator Watson of Indiana to except telephones and press wires from the resolution were defeated respectively, 41 to 20 and 39 to 21.

An amendment by Senator Gore of Oklahoma, Democrat, to limit action regarding telephones to long distance wires was voted down, while an amendment by Senator Reed of Missouri, designed to secure unrestricted use of public facilities was twice rejected.

Although the statements of the cabinet officers indicated that the powers might be used as soon as granted, there has been no announcements as to just what the President intends to do or when.

During debate on the resolution it was said the government would take over only trunk lines and connecting systems, leaving to their own managements the thousands of rural and small independent systems throughout the country.

TOBACCO RATIONING SOON

Needs of American and Allied Soldiers May Force Move.

Washington, July 15.—Government control of the tobacco industry of the United States may result from the heavy requirements of the Allies and the American military forces abroad. Rationing of the American population is believed to be a possibility.

Quartermaster Corps to Expand.

Washington, July 15.—Increased personnel and additional shops are planned by the quartermaster corps for enlarging its activity in salvaging and repairing clothing and equipment for the armed forces. An announcement by the War department said during May 7, 370,465 pieces of clothing were handled and the issue of new clothing materially reduced.

How Insurance Is Paid.

Washington, July 15.—Widespread impression that insurance of men in the military service is paid in lump sum after their death led the War Department to make the announcement that payments of benefits are made over a period of 20 years. The insurance is payable on the death of the insured on the basis of $5.75 per month for each $1,000 of insurance for 240 monthly instalments. For the maximum of $10,000 the beneficiary would receive a payment of $57.50 per month for 20 years.

GERMAN POLICY MAIN OBSTACLE

Lord Robert Cecil Discusses World's Trade Problems After Present War.

NATIONS FORM PACT

Twenty-Four Governments Join an Economic Association—Germany Must Abandon Military Ambitions to Secure Admission.

London, July 15.—Lord Robert Cecil, under secretary of state for foreign affairs and minister of blockades, in a comprehensive statement regarding the world's trade after the war declared that an economic association of 24 nations, comprising the Allies, already is in existence.

Whether Germany eventually shall be admitted to this economic association, declares the British minister, will be determined by the test established by President Wilson, when the President said on Dec. 4 that if the German people should still, after the war was over, "continue to be obliged to live under ambitious and intriguing masters interested to disturb the peace of the world," it might be impossible to admit them to the partnership of the nations, or to free economic intercourse.

Lord Robert described this statement by the President as a definition of the qualifications for membership in the association of nations, and added:

"To these declarations we give our warmest assent."

Germany One Obstacle.

"Germany is the one obstacle to this economic association of nations," said Lord Robert. The Germany described by President Wilson—a Germany living under ambitious and intriguing masters.

"Germany's economic policy toward all the groupings of peoples from the Arctic ocean to the Black sea," he continued, "is absolutely contrary to our principles. Economic independence and free choice are the last things which Germany will ever allow to the peoples within her reach.

"So long as this is the policy of Germany, how can we admit her to membership in the free association of nations to which we already belong?" asked Lord Robert. "Before we can offer her any participation in our resources we must release her victims from the economic slavery that she is imposing upon them."

Wilson States Principles.

With regard to the economic principles of this association of nations, Lord Robert said President Wilson had on Jan. 8 "stated them in memorable words when he advocated the removal, so far as possible, of all economic barriers and the establishment of an equality of trade among the nations consenting to peace and associating themselves for its maintenance."

ADOPTS "MONROE DOCTRINE"

Australia Opposes Return of German Pacific Possessions.

London, July 15.—"Australia is committed to a 'Monroe doctrine' policy toward the Southern Pacific," W. M. Hughes, premier of Australia, declared in an address at a luncheon to the dominion government heads at the Pilgrims club.

"Australia dare not assent to the return to Germany of her former island possessions in the Pacific. It would give Germany control of Australia."

AUSTRIA ABOUT TO CRUMBLE

Rome Military and Political Observers Are Confident.

Rome, July 15.—"Austria is about to crumble away," is the opinion of political and military observers here after the publication of the latest reports from Albania and the Balkans, where the Allies have succeeded in perfecting a single front, extending from the Adriatic sea to Salonki, on the Aegean sea, a distance of some 200 miles.

1,100,000 U. S. TROOPS ARE NOW IN FRANCE

Washington, July 14.—In announcing that American troops already abroad or in transit have passed the 1,100,000 mark, General March, chief of staff, also disclosed that three army corps of American troops now have been organized in France. Each contains from 225, to 250,000 men of the regulars, National Army and National Guard.

More than 90,000 troops were transported last week alone.

Waterways to Cost $2,500,000.

Washington, July 15.—Approximately $2,500,000 will be expended by the railroad administration in the establishment of a system of branch lines on the inland waterways provided by the Mississippi and Black Warrior rivers, it was learned officially. Expenditures of the money will be in the hands of M. J. Sanders, New Orleans, who has been named federal manager for these waterways. Operations of barges between St. Louis and New Orleans will relieve the rail lines of 30 per cent of their burden.

DOCTOR URGED AN OPERATION

Instead I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Was Cured.

Baltimore, Md.—"Nearly four years I suffered from organic troubles, nervousness and headaches and every month would have to stay in bed most of the time. Treatments would relieve me for a time but my doctor was always urging me to have an operation. My sister asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before consenting to an operation. I took five bottles of it and it has completely cured me and my work is a pleasure. I tell all my friends who have any trouble of this kind what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—NELLIE B. BRITTINGHAM, 609 Calverton Rd., Baltimore, Md.

It is only natural for any woman to dread the thought of an operation. So many women have been restored to health by this famous remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after an operation has been advised that it will pay any woman who suffers from such ailments to consider trying it before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

BRAVER THAN ANY SOLDIER

"Y" Secretaries on the Battle Line Calmly Face Death Without the Clamor of Fighting.

The first wave billows over the crest, dropping its dead as it goes. The second wave meets an answering storm from the Boche, a pelting of shells which converts the slope into a field of death, plowed by gigantic maniacs. Officers order their men to lie down in the captured trenches, in the shell craters, to lie down anywhere, everywhere, until the opposing batteries can be smothered.

One man disobeys; one solitary figure keeps his feet. He carries no bayonet, flashes no sword, flourishes no banner. From crater to crater he moves calmly about his work.

"Who is that hero? Is he some great general encouraging his soldiers by such splendid gallantry?"

Not a bit. He's no hero; that's nothing but a Y. secretary serving hot coffee to the men.

When the smoke of the Big Push had cleared away two secretaries were found among the slain and ten among the wounded. And chaplains, too, were lying dead upon the field.

As Tommy puts it: "If you like that sort of sport, it's fine to go over the top with a bayonet; but it takes some nerve to go over with a pot of coffee, or a hymn book in your hand."—Harris Dickson in Collier's Weekly.

What Dorothy Said.

Little Dorothy always lunched with the family and was rather awestruck when she heard that a real live bishop was to be of the company; when she found that she actually had to sit next to the famous man she became almost paralyzed.

She contemplated her plate of beef (rationed) for a minute or two in embarrassed silence; then, feeling that there must be some special mode of address for so exalted a cleric, and determining to have a shot at it, she turned to the bishop and said:

"Oh, for heaven's sake, pass the salt!"—Pearson's Weekly.

It is estimated that 70 per cent of the residents of the United States use electricity in some form every day.

WOMEN FARMING IN WESTERN CANADA

Success Has Followed All Their Efforts.

On the train from Edmonton to Winnipeg the writer took a seat beside a soldier who had returned from the front. On his breast he wore the beautiful distinguished service medal. One coat sleeve was armless, and on his left cheek he bore a scar that he would carry to his grave. He had served his country faithfully and well. At the first call for soldiers in August, 1914, he hastened to the recruiting office, leaving his 320-acre farm, with its crop ready for harvest, a full equipment of farm implements, plenty of horses, and a wife. The wife should not be last on the list for she proved the master of the situation, and loyally took hold of the question of production, while her husband was on his way to fight the Hun. And she succeeded. In 1915 she succeeded, and again in 1916, and when her husband returned in 1917 she was able to show some contemplated farm buildings completed, the indebtedness of the farm paid off, a considerable addition to the stock, and the land ready for a 1917 crop. This was the story told by the soldier, and wasn't he a proud man! He was now ready to do what he could to keep up the period of prosperity and provide food for the allies. The women of Canada have done nobly during the struggle.

Among the most successful farmers of the Oak Lake district, Manitoba, are the Misses Clara and Beatrice Forward, who, for the past fourteen years, have farmed their own land, doing all the regular work on the farm, such as plowing, seeding, summer fallowing and reaping. They have been especially successful with stock, and have a splendid herd of shorthorns, both purebred and grade. At the recent Brandon sale they purchased a new purebred stock bull for $700. Their herd was last year increased by 23 calves.

Miss R. M. Hillman of Keeler, Saskatchewan, is another successful woman farmer. She has gone in extensively for grain growing, and farms 1,120 acres. She also owns some of the finest Percheron horses in Saskatchewan.

The prairie now boasts of many women who have had more or less success, though few are farming on the same large scale as Miss Hillman and the Misses Forward. These women have demonstrated, and are still demonstrating, that a versatile woman may be just as good and successful a farmer as her brother.

There are other women, too, on the Canadian prairies, who, though they have not had thrown upon them the responsibilities of "running a farm," have been decided factors in making the farm a success. They assist their husbands by keeping the farm accounts, reducing the grocer's bills by their management of the poultry and butter, taking care of the house, and, very often, proving good advisers in the economic management of the men and general conduct of the farm work. The man who moves to Canada carries with him a wonderful asset in a good managing wife.—Advertisement.

Why He Liked the Eclipse.

Eugene Kelley, former deputy city clerk of Muncie, was highly interested in the justly celebrated eclipse of the sun recently. After gazing at it a considerable time through a friend's smoked glass and returning the glass, he asked to gaze again on the phenomenon.

"You seem greatly interested in the eclipse," the friend suggested.

"Sure I am," was the reply. "It's the first thing I've seen since the war began that hasn't cost me anything."—Indianapolis News.

News of the State

Condensed for Busy Folks

Brainerd.—Six Crow Wing county boys called to the colors leave for Dunwoody institute of Minneapolis to perfect themselves in mechanical training courses.

Minneapolis.—With the exception of Hennepin and St. Louis, all the counties in Minnesota have pledged their Thrift Stamp allotments, and some have gone over their quota.

Rochester.—Much damage was done by a hail storm that swept an area two miles wide, running south from Rochester to the Iowa state line. Some farmers report a third to a half of their crops destroyed.

Faribault.—A 12 by 36-foot United State flag, presented by W. N. Cosgrove to the local Red Cross, was displayed on the drop curtain of a theater here and sold for the benefit of the Red Cross society.

Winona.—John R. Milne, former Winona boy, who has been successful in the electrical field, has been appointed city electrician, succeeding E. Finkelnburg, resigned. Mr. Milne has moved his family to Winona.

St. Cloud.—J. P. Bellanger, who held the position of electrician on board the United States ship President Lincoln at the time it was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine a short time ago, is in the city on a furlough visiting his brother.

Virginia.—Miss Mamia Pauna, 23, well known local school teacher, died yesterday at Nopeming sanatorium following an illness of several weeks of tuberculosis. She is survived by her mother, one brother and a sister. The body has been brought to Virginia for burial.

Winona.—A government fleet of six barges is now being loaded at St. Louis with heavy freight and will probably pass through here soon, according to information from St. Louis. The fleet's cargo capacity is 4,500 tons. It will ply the Mississippi between St. Louis and St. Paul.

St. Peter.—Mr. and Mrs. Peter G. Peterson, residents of this county for fifty years, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Mr. Peterson was a member of the Fourth Minnesota infantry in the Civil war and marched with General Sherman to the sea. He is now 77 years old.

Hawley.—Miss Astria Folden, who was the victim of a brutal assault here, and is now in a Detroit hospital as a result of severe hurts suffered in the encounter with her assailant, is recovering. Her assailant will be arrested. Miss Folden was attacked near the farm home of her parents, her cries attracting the attention of neighbors, who came to her rescue.

Fergus Falls.—George Tanner, a saloon keeper of Sauk Center, and Martin Hagen, formerly of Fergus Falls, were sentenced to forty days in jail by the municipal judge here for violating the order prohibiting the importation of liquor into dry territory. It was charged that Tanner and Hagen drove from Sauk Center to the dry town of St. Olaf and sold five quarts of whisky.

St. Paul.—A dividend of 70 per cent has been sent to creditors of the First Pearson, state superintendent of banks, by whose order the bank was closed July 18, 1917. The superintendent said an additional dividend of 15 or 20 per cent on the liquidation of the bank probably will be paid later. A new state bank now operating at Federal Dam is the Federal Dam State bank.

Minneapolis.—Dedication of the new $175,000 building of the International Christian Bible college at Fifteenth and University avenues southeast was the principal event of the closing day of the congress. Rev. D. E. Olson, president of the college, delivered the dedictory address. The congress voted to raise $1,000,000 for financial and benevolent purposes during the next five years.

Mnkato.—Mankato is to have four military organizations, under the new plan of organizing the national guard. C company of the Home Guards is being re-organized into a national guard company with 103 members; a headquarters company of fifty-nine members, including the Second regimental band and drum corps, is being organized. There also will be a machine gun company of 57, and a supply company of 39.

St. Paul.—In addition to sending out questionnaires throughout Minnesota to ascertain the labor needs of farmers during the harvest season, the United States employment service also is making a survey to determine common labor needs for the next three months in war industries. With August 1 as the date on which independent common labor recruiting by war industries will cease, the employment service is hurrying the completion of its national labor recruiting and placing machinery.

Hibbing.—Professional "dips" reaped a harvest here on the Fourth. Operating on trains entering Hibbing on the evening of the Fourth and on street cars, the pickpockets managed to get away with at least $250 from different Greek and Austrian miners who came to the biggest village to spend the day.

Blue Earth.—The question of granting a franchise for the purpose of constructing a central heating plant was carried by a majority of 27 votes at a special election here. Work will be started on the project this summer.

Mankato.—The Northern States Power company has notified its local patrons of an increase in its rates from $1.21 a thousand feet to $1.50. The minimum charge for gas and electricity was increased from 50 cents to $1.

Clinton.—Farms, pastures and gardens have been greatly revived by the rains. This district had been without rain for thirty-five days. Some damage was done by the heavy wind and a little hail was reported in the eastern part of the county, but crops sustained only slight damage.

Warren.—Rev. S. W. Swenson, recently of Evansville, Minn., has moved his family to Warren and they are now domiciled in the new parsonage that adjoins the Swedish Lutheran church. Rev. Mr. Swenson will have charge of the Swedish Lutheran congregations in Warren and Vega.

Red Wing.—O. A. Ulvin, for eleven years connected with the Goodhue County National bank as assistant cashier and manager of savings department of the institution, has resigned his position there and on July 15 will become engaged in work connected with the Lutheran Church of America.

Lewiston.—After making a boast that he had planned to end his life, Fred Steinbauer, 57, a farmer, threw himself beneath a passenger train at the Northwestern railway station here. His body was badly mangled in full view of a large number of persons who were awaiting the train. He gave no reason for his act.

Red Lake Falls.—Red Lake county people have to date pledged $138,000 of the $153,680 needed to complete the county's quota in the War Savings Stamp drive that is being held under the direction of the joint chairmen, V. M. Higinbotham and R. L. Bourdon. The city of Red Lake Falls is already more than $2,000 over the top.

Thief River Falls.—Gust Olson, a well-known farmer residing near Argyle, was found dead under an overturned Ford car about five miles east of Warren on the Thief River Falls road. The discovery was made by Dr. O. F. Melby of this city, who was returning from a visit at the Marshall county seat, accompanied by his family.

Bemidji.—Judge J. F. McGee of Minneapolis, fuel administrator for Minnesota, was one of the members of Governor Burnquist's party which visited the state-owned fisheries at Red Lake, and while in the city he met with the local fuel committee to inform them of the necessity of the conservation of coal and why it should be saved to help win the war.

St. Cloud.—Matthew Boll, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Scheuer, was seriously hurt. The young man, who is 16 years old, is employed at the factory. He wished to operate the elevator and in attempting to do so was caught in the mechanism. The elevator, which he started, went up, carrying him with it. His jaw was broken and he was otherwise cut and bruised.

Minneapolis.—Agricultural experts, millers and food administration officials have expressed increased optimism regarding Minnesota's wheat crop during the past few days. Dozens of county reports have been received up to today. The expression "wheat is good" has become pleasantly monotonous. A bit of warm weather seems to be all that most wheat growers are asking for.

Bemidji.—Chippewa Indians of Minnesota, representing tribes on five reservations held their annual council in Bemidji this week. Nine reservations were represented and 12 delegates were in attendance. The meetings were held at the city hall. Delegates came from White Earth, Cass Lake, Nett Lake, Red Lake, White Oak Point, Grand Portage, Leech Lake, Fond du Lac and Mille Lacs reservations.

St. Paul.—Herbert Hoover, national food administrator, will be asked by the St. Paul association to aid in the effort to have homeseekers' rates made effective immediately. High passenger fares have halted the entry into the Northwest of prospective settlers, a survey of the association Northwest development committee showed. Mr. Hoover will be told that the effort to increase crop acreage is being seriously hampered by absence of the low rates.

Minneapolis.—A scaling down of the nonessentials in business is going to be effected, but it will be done so as to occasion little jar, and it will be a matter of gradual readjustment without disturbing trade. Theodore Wold, governor of the Federal Reserve bank, made this statement yesterday upon his return from Washington, where he attended a meeting of the governors of all the reserve banks of the country at which the problem of the nonessential business was discussed. The forthcoming $6,000,000,000 Liberty Loan probably will mean that the ninth Federal reserve district will have to be allotted not less than $200,000,000 of bonds.

Bemidji.—Bemidji is soon to have another industry in the form of a potato flour mill and Saratoga chips factory. Morris Kaplan, promoter of the proposition, has purchased the big plant of the Bemidji Brewing company, which was closed by the Indian department in the fall of 1914, when the treaty of 1855, prohibiting the introduction of liquor into this territory, was enforced. Mr. Kaplan says that it is his intention to have the flour mill and Saratoga chips factory in operation in time to take care of the potato crop next fall and that machinery will soon be installed.

ALL HAD TRAGIC HISTORY

Carolina the Last of a Quartet of Ships That Seemed to Be Doomed to Misfortune.

"The sinking of the Carolina by a German U-boat removed the last of a quartet of ships that have had a tragic history," remarked Brooks Amiss of Baltimore, a former resident of Washington, at the Willard, according to the Washington Post. "The Carolina was formerly the Grand Duchess, built for the Plant line in 1896. She made her first trip from Boston to Halifax and two years later she was taken over by the government to be used as transport in the Spanish-American war. Her maiden voyage in the transport service was from Charleston, S. C., carrying a regiment of Wisconsin troops and high army officers to Porto Rico.

"General Miles a short time before had been placed in command of the American army and he left Washington with members of his staff early in July. At Charleston General Miles went on board the Yale, which had been the City of Paris of the American line. He left Gen. Roy Stone of his staff at Charleston to recruit a gang of laborers for the army in Porto Rico. General Miles proceeded to Cuba on the Yale and after staying there a few days went to Guanica on the southern coast of Porto Rico. It was while he was lying in the wonderful little harbor of Guanica on board the Cherokee, the Yale being too large to enter the harbor, that he was joined by members of his staff who had sailed on the Grand Duchess. The Cherokee, another Plant liner, took the staff to Ponce, and among others on that vessel was the late Richard Harding Davis, who had sailed from Cuba on a dispatch boat. The Cherokee arrived off Ponce the next morning to find that the city had been taken the previous day by an ensign of the navy in a dispatch yacht.

"A few days later the protocol ending the war was declared and most of the members of the Miles party sailed back for the States on the Obdam, a transport that had been purchased from the Holland-American line.

"The curious part of the thing is that the Yale was sunk in some manner; the Obdam ran ashore off the coast of Cuba while in the transport service; the Cherokee foundered somewhere in the Atlantic and now the Grand Duchess, rechristened the Carolina, has been sent to the bottom by a German U-boat."

To Save Vessels From Sinking.

Interest has been aroused by an apparatus that has lately been developed to save ocean vessels from sinking after being torpedoed or damaged by collision. The contrivance, which is shown in Popular Mechanics Magazine, comprises a laminated steel disk, to the center of which is attached a series of rubberized canvas cone shaped buckets. In use, the end cone on the chain would be lowered into the water in the vicinity of the hole in a ship's hull. Upon being caught by the inrushing water, it would be pulled through the opening. The whole string of buckets would then be lowered along with the disk so that the latter would be pulled in place over the break. The cones, being of flexible material, would be able to pass through an aperture, regardless of its shape. The disk, once in place, would be held by the pressure of the water against the hull.

Improved Soldering Process.

A form of the Schoop metal-spraying process is claimed to be effective in soldering. The soldering pistol does not require the compressed air jet, as the fuel gas used is under pressure and gives the flame sufficient driving force to spread the solder over the surfaces to be soldered. A small driving mechanism feeds the wire solder continuously into the flame. The method is convenient, rapid and inexpensive and is free from the tedious and disagreeable features of soldering by hand.

Want Technical Training for Women.

At a joint meeting of the Birmingham and Atlanta sections of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers resolutions were adopted requesting the colleges and technical schools of the country to provide special courses of technical instruction for women and girls in order that they may be able to take the places of men who have been or may be called into the service of the country during the war.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

True Patriotism.

The services of a physician were required recently at the breakfast and reception for the Blue Devils of France at the Hotel Severin. When the fighters arrived one of them was carrying a finger wrapped in a handkerchief, the result of an accident on the sleeper during the night.

The finger was badly smashed and the soldier was in great pain. Dr. F. E. Manker came in response to a call from the hotel. After the wound was dressed A. Bennett Gates, president of the Severin, who speaks French with some difficulty, assured the soldier he would take care of the physician's bill. The young man smiled his thanks and sat down to his breakfast. The doctor was requested to step to the cashier's window and receive his fee.

"What's that—charge a French soldier?" he replied with warmth. "There is no charge. Say, I've got a nephew over there and for all I know he's fighting today at the side of a Frenchman. No French soldier can pay me for anything."—Indianapolis News.

An English Failing.

"The fiends! The pitiless Hun barbarians!"

And Humorist Ring Lardner of Chicago tossed down his newspaper and rose and paced the floor with long, agitated strides, puffing feverishly the while on his cigarette.

"The Hun fiends!" he resumed. "Have they no chivalry, no compassion? Think of it—their latest device, when they are about to drop bombs on London, is to paint their Gothas all over with jokes, so that the English can't see them."

Knew From Sad Experience.

Mother said Buddy would have to sprinkle the lawn and flowers every evening till it rained; he had been doing it for over a week, and was getting pretty tired of his job, as the water pressure was low, and it took him quite a little while till he had everything watered. Finally one evening he said to his mother, "Let's all have a picnic tomorrow, and it will be sure to rain."

Cold Drinks Bad for Your Stomach

How to Avoid the Digestive Miseries That Hot Weather Brings

Cold drinks in hot weather are bad enough for any stomach but doubly so, in fact, dangerous—when the stomach is out of fix and you suffer from indigestion, acidity, food-repeating, heartburn, sour stomach, and that awful puffed-up, bloated condition after eating. In fact, all stomach and bowel miseries are greatly aggravated in hot weather. You can't be too careful. Sunstroke can be traced in many cases to poor digestion. Everyone should watch their stomach in hot weather. Keep it sweet and cool. Here is an easy and pleasant way to correct stomach ills. A compound has been discovered which surely takes up the harmful juices and gases from the stomach, leaving it sweet, clean, cool and comfortable. You won't know you have a stomach if you take one or two EATONIC tablets after your meal, so light and pain-free you will feel.

There is not a harmful thing in EATONIC tablets. They taste fine! Just like eating candy. Druggists will tell you that EATONIC users say they never dreamed anything could give such quick and wonderful results; you can insure yourself a good, cool, sweet stomach, you can eat what you like, and always have the appetite to eat it.

EATONIC is absolutely guaranteed. Get a box from your druggist today. Use it to get rid of and prevent the stomach and bowel troubles that are bound to come in hot weather. If EATONIC fails, return to your druggist and get your fifty cents back. If you cannot obtain EATONIC where you live drop a card to Eatonic Remedy Co., Chicago, Ill. They will mail you a box at once.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR.
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUB.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

$1.00 a year, in advance.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879

That the Thief River Valley will be blessed with one of the largest crops in it's history is practically assured and it now becomes the patriotic duty of every man, woman, and child if necessary to do his or her part in seeing that not a grain of wheat or other product is lost to the extent that every other line of business or endeavor must be a secondary consideration and if necessary be closed rather than to loose to the farmers, to the County, to the Nation and to the boys fighting in France one kernel of grain from lack of farm labor.

Under the direction of Charles Pitkin, Pennington County, representative of the Public Safety Commission all persons in the County will be requested to enlist in performing some task in helping to save the crop and it is expected that each one will respond to this call as they have done in the past. And it is especially hoped that all retired farmers living in this community that can possibly assist in harvesting this years crop, look up either the ward chairmen or Mr. G. Howard Smith and sign the enlistment blank.

Mr. Ross P. White, County Agent, has charge of the application for help and the farmers are requested to put in their requests for farm labor as soon as possible.

The following blank will be used in securing enlistments.

ENLISTMENT FOR FARM HELP.

In consideration of the scarcity of Farm Labor, I hereby offer my services for a period of two weeks as a harvest hand when needed in this vicinity. I have had .... years in experience in farm work. For the past .... years I have been engaged as follows; ....

I will go whenever called to assist in harvesting and saving the crop of grain, hay or other crops now growing and agree to work for the going wages, leaving my business whenever requested to do so; Saturdays excepted.

The vetoing of the $2.40 a bushel for wheat, will not cause any great complaint, by the wheat producers, when they realize that the raise must be paid by the consumers, the greater part of whom are paying as high prices as they can afford now. So far as we can understand the situation among the wheat producers, they are not so much dissatisfied with the price of wheat that they have to sell, as they are that they are not allowed enough for themselves and families to [illegible]

Old Von Hindenberg, the Kaiser's big driver is reported dead or seriously sick. We think he has got the belly ache, because he has struck a gang on that western front that he can't drive. Drive them out of Belgium and France is the principal of America, and our troops are sent there for that purpose, and this nation is a united people backing them up to the limit, and Germany might as well whistle against the wind as to talk peace, until they are driven back to Berlin, where they started from to conquer the world, and subject them to the will of old Kaiser Bill.

Don't Get Tired So Easy.

In American Magazine an author says:

"The thing that makes the tired business man tired is his belief that he is tired. Believe the contrary. There have been times when you worked all day and all night on a stretch. It did not kill you.

"Work itself, as the modern business world is organized, cannot possibly tire out the man of average normal health. If it could, Edison would have been dead at the age of thirty-five, Bell would never have produced the telephone. Henry Ford would not be now a king of the automobile business, Herbert C. Hoover would not be controlling and directing the nation's food supply today, Woodrow Wilson would be in a sanitarium, and General Pershing would be taking a rest cure instead of commanding American soldiers in France."

ENDS ONE NOISE OF CITIES

Invention of Philadelphia Man Does Away With Racket When Cars Cross Intersection.

The problem of suppressing the noise and shock of the street car in passing over an intersection has been attacked in a novel manner by a Philadelphia inventor, Samuel B. Meeker, who accomplishes the object without the use of any of the moving and interlocking parts which characterize most of the inventions for this purpose, and without making any great changes in the design of the crossing itself. The latter is constructed in one piece or unit, and at a point slightly in advance of the intersection of the rail sections.

Each rail section is formed with the face of the rail cut away in an incline which allows the weight of the vehicle to pass from the base of the wheel to the flange on which it continues for a few feet, until the wheels have passed entirely over the intersection, when the weight of the car again passes to the base of the wheel. This change is so gradually accomplished that it is not noticeable to the passengers and the car passes over the crossing without jolt or noise. This latter [illegible]

GROCERS HELP IN 50-50 PLAN

SIGN PLEDGE TO CARRY OUT FOOD ADMINISTRATION PROGRAM.

POST CARDS IN STORES.

Explain New Wheat Ruling to Thousands of Customers—Insures Greater Food Saving.

Grocers of the nation have accepted enthusiastically the 50-50 basis for the purchase of wheat flour and are doing their utmost to explain the new regulation to the housewife. This ruling by the U. S. Food Administration requires each purchaser of wheat flour to buy one pound of cereal substitute, one kind or assorted, for every pound of wheat flour. It was necessary to restrict the use of wheat flour in order that the allies and our fighting forces abroad might be assured of an adequate supply of wheat to meet their vital needs. This supply must come from our savings because we have already sent our normal surplus.

Wheat saving pledge cards were forwarded by the Food Administration to all retail food merchants, and these are being signed and posted in stores throughout the country. This card states: "We pledge ourselves loyally to carry out the Food Administration program. In accordance with this order we will not sell any wheat flour except where the purchaser buys an equal weight of one or more of the following, a greater use of which in the home will save wheat: Cornmeal, corn flour, edible corn starch, hominy, corn grits, barley flour, potato flour, sweet potato flour, soy bean flour, feterita flour and meals, rice, rice flour, oatmeal, rolled oats and [illegible]

[illegible] states that the consumer in purchasing flour shall "buy at the same time an equal weight of other cereals."

One exception to this ruling is concerning graham flour and whole wheat flour which may be sold at the ratio of three pounds to five pounds of wheat flour. This provision is made because approximately 25 per cent more of the wheat berry is used in the manufacture of these flours than standard wheat flour.

Another exception is that concerning mixed flours containing less than 50 per cent of wheat flour, which may be sold without substitutes. Retailers, however, are forbidden to sell mixed flours containing more than 50 per cent of wheat flour to any person unless the amount of wheat flour substitutes sold is sufficient to make the total amount of substitutes, including those mixed in flours, equal to the total amount in wheat flour in the mixed flour. For instance, if any mixed flour is purchased containing 60 per cent wheat flour and 40 per cent substitutes it is necessary that an additional 20 per cent of substitutes be purchased. This brings it to the basis of one pound of substitutes for each pound of wheat flour.

A special exemption may be granted upon application in the case of specially prepared infants' and invalids' food containing flour where the necessity is shown.

Some misunderstanding seems to exist on the part of consumers in assuming that with the purchase of wheat flour one must confine the additional 50 per cent purchase to one of the substitutes. This is not the case. One may select from the entire range of substitutes a sufficient amount of each to bring the total weight of all substitutes equal to the weight of the wheat flour purchased. For instance, if a purchase of 24 pounds of wheat flour is made a range of substitutes may be selected as follows:

Cornmeal, 8 pounds; corn grits, 4 pounds; rice, 4 pounds; buckwheat, 2 pounds; corn starch, 1 pound; hominy, 2 pounds; rolled oats, 3 pounds.

These substitutes may be used in the following manner:

Cornmeal, 8 Pounds.—Corn bread, no flour; corn muffins or spoon bread, one-fourth flour or one-third rice or one-third hominy; 20 per cent substitutes in whole bread.

Corn Starch, 1 Pound.—Thickening gravy, making custard, one-third substitute in cake.

Corn Grits, 4 Pounds.—Fried like mush, used with meal in making corn bread.

Rolled Oats, 3 Pounds.—One-fourth to one-third substitutes in bread, one-half substitute in muffins, breakfast porridge, use freely; oatmeal cookies, oatmeal soup.

Buckwheat Flour, 2 Pounds.—One-fourth substitute in bread, buckwheat cakes.

Hominy, 2 Pounds.—Boiled for dinner, baked for dinner, with cheese sauce.

Rice, 4 Pounds.—One-fourth substitute in wheat bread, one-third substitute in corn bread, boiled for dinner (a bread cut), as a breakfast food, to thicken soups, rice pudding instead of cake or pie, rice batter cakes.

Several grocers have stated that their customers who strictly observe the 11 wheatless meals each week find it unnecessary to buy substitutes in addition to those ordered under the 50-50 plan.

We were certainly well repaid for our trouble, although we arrived so late that we could only obtain small space standing room at the fatherest end from the speaker, and were unable to hear all he said, as there were some ladies near us that seemed to be of the opinion that they had met to discuss how to make war bread, and we would first hear Kaiser Wilhelm said so and so, and the remark that "I always scald my corn meal," or "I mix mine into a stiff dough and set it over night." However we heard enough so we wished we could have got there earlier so as to [illegible]

The threshers held a meeting at Thief River Falls last week but there seems to be no threshers from this part of Highlanding or Deer Park township. The past poor crop years have driven them out of business. Any thresher that will put in a good threshing machine in southwestern Highlanding and Deer Park townships, would be sure of a big threshing run. Any inquiries about the crops will be answered by addressing a letter to W. G. Hunt, Sunbeam, Minn. There is plenty of grain in this locality to give two good threshing rigs a good falls run.

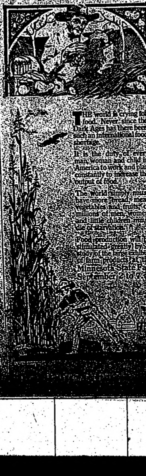
WILSON URGES CREAM STATIONS BE CLOSED.

The statement sent yesterday to the State Public Safety commission by James Sorenson, state dairy and food commissioner, recommending the closing of 1,600 cream buying stations in Minnesota as non-essential, was heartily approved today by A. D. Wilson, state food administrater.

This means that all shipments of cream is to be stopped, and that the cream must be manufactured into butter at the local creameries, which can make a better quality of butter from the cream.

Andrew Ellingson has had a large and fine field of wheat almost entirely destroyed by a neighbor's cattle. Some men seem to make a practice of keeping about twice the number of stock that they have got pasture for, and seem to purposely allow them to get out and get fat on their neighbors crops. They will tell the neighbors that they are not doing much damage when they are eating all the heads off of wheat that would go twentyfive bushels to the acre. The herd law had ought to be vigorously enforced on people of this kind, until they will find that it don't pay them to keep more stock than they can pasture on their own lands. Of course it is no damage to them for their stock to destroy their neighbor's grain, and they will continue the practice, until they are prosecuted and compelled to pay cash for all damages, and then they will take care of their stock.

With our present crop prospects, it looks as if the government would have more trouble in taking care of the grain, as fast as the farmers will market it, than they will in urging them to market it.



THE world is crying for food. Never since the Dark Ages has there been such an international food shortage.

It is the duty of every man, woman and child in America to work and plan constantly to increase the output of food.

The world simply must have more bread, meat, vegetables and fruits, or millions of men, women and little children must die of starvation.

Food production will be stimulated greatly by a study of the large exhibits of farm products at the Minnesota State Fair, September 2 to 7.

U. S. Must Cut Use Of Wheat by One-Half

America Consumed 42,000,000 Bushels Monthly. From Now Until Harvest Must Use Only 21,000,000.

RATION PER PERSON IS 1½ POUNDS OF WHEAT PRODUCTS WEEKLY

Military Necessity Calls for Greater Sacrifice Here—Allied War Bread Must Be Maintained—Our Soldiers and Sailors to Have Full Allowance.

If we are to furnish the Allies with the necessary proportion of wheat to maintain their war bread from now until the next harvest, and this is a military necessity, we must reduce our monthly consumption to 21,000,000 bushels a month, as against our normal consumption of about 42,000,000 bushels, or 50 per cent. of our normal consumption. This is the situation as set forth by the U. S. Food Administration at Washington. Reserving a margin for distribution to the army and for special cases, leaves for general consumption approximately 1½ pounds of wheat products weekly per person. The Food Administration's statement continues: Many of our consumers are dependent upon bakers' bread. Such bread must be durable and therefore, requires a larger proportion of wheat products than cereal breads baked in the household. Our army and navy require a full allowance. The well-to-do in our population can make greater sacrifices in the consumption of wheat products than can the poor. In addition, our population in the agricultural districts, where the other cereals are abundant, are more skilled in the preparation of breads from these other cereals than the crowded city and industrial populations.

With improved transportation conditions we now have available a surplus of potatoes. We also have in the spring months a surplus of milk, and we have ample corn and oats for human consumption. The drain on rye and barley, as substitutes, has already greatly exhausted the supply of these grains.

To effect the needed saving of wheat we are wholly dependent upon the voluntary assistance of the American people and we ask that the following rules shall be observed:

1. Householders to use not to exceed a total of 1½ pounds per week of wheat products per person. This means not more than 1¾ pounds of Victory bread containing the required percentage of substitutes and one-half pound of cooking flour, macaroni, crackers, pastry, pies, cakes, wheat breakfast cereals, all combined.

2. Public eating places and clubs to observe two wheatless days per week, Monday and Wednesday, as at present. In addition thereto, not to serve to any one guest at any one meal an aggregate of breadstuffs, macaroni, crackers, pastry, pies, cakes, wheat breakfast cereals, containing a total of more than two ounces of wheat flour. No wheat products to be served unless specially ordered. Public eating establishments not to buy more than six pounds of wheat products for each ninety meals served, thus conforming with the limitations requested of the householders.

3. Retailers to sell not more than one-eighth of a barrel of flour to any town customer at any one time and not more than one-quarter of a barrel to any country customer at any one time, and in no case to sell wheat products without the sale of an equal [illegible]

4. We ask the bakers and grocers to reduce the volume of Victory bread sold, by delivery of the three-quarter pound loaf where one pound was sold before, and corresponding proportions in other weights. We also ask bakers not to increase the amount of their wheat flour purchases beyond 70 per cent. of the average monthly amount purchased in the four months prior to March 1.

5. Manufacturers using wheat products for non-food purposes should cease such use entirely.

6. There is no limit upon the use of other cereals, flours, and meals, corn, barley, buckwheat, potato flour, et cetera.

Many thousand families throughout the land are now using no wheat products whatever, except a very small amount for cooking purposes, and are doing so in perfect health and satisfaction. There is no reason why all of the American people who are able to cook in their own households cannot subsist perfectly well with the use of less wheat products than one and one-half pounds a week, and we specially ask the well-to-do households in the country to follow this additional programme in order that we may provide the necessary marginal supplies for those parts of the community less able to adapt themselves to so large a proportion of substitutes.

In order that we shall be able to make the wheat exports that are absolutely demanded of us to maintain the civil population and soldiers of the allies and our own army, we propose to supplement the voluntary co-operation of the public by a further [illegible] tion of distribution, and [illegible] restrictions [illegible] time to secure as nearly equitable distribution as possible. With the arrival of harvest we should be able to relax such restrictions. Until then we ask for the necessary patience, sacrifice and co-operation of the distributing trades.

TAUGHT INSECTS TO THINK

Remarkable Act of Scientist That Hardly Seems Worth the Time It Must Have Taken.

John W. Coghlin has demonstrated what patience and perseverance will accomplish, and has also exploded the old-time theory that it was impossible to teach insects to understand the human voice and action. Some time since he had the good fortune to discover a hill of Madagascar neuroptera, or marching ants, says the Pittsburgh Press. They were about the size of the common June bug and of a dirty brown color, and he says that they are numerous in India and South Africa—that he can account for finding a hill of them in Maine by being brought there on some vessel. Mr. Coghlin invited some of his friends to his camp at Patten's Pond, where he amused them by putting the neuropiereans (as he called them) through a course of sprouts. The way he caused the little army to go through their evolutions was a marvel to all present. Marching by twos and by fours, over inclines and bridges made of toothpicks, with the regularity of trained troops, he finally caused them to break ranks by lighting a match before the leaders. He says that artificial lights will confuse them; therefore they can be made to perform only in daylight.

When a Prisoner Is Exchanged.

Ivan Rossiter, captured by the Germans and later exchanged, says in the Farm and Fireside: "Then I lay down, not to sleep but to think. I thought of the day when I enlisted in Canada, of leaving home, the training camps, the trip overseas to England, the training in England, going across the channel to Flanders, the terrific fighting at Ypres, of the many friends who fell on that bloody battlefield, how I was wounded and captured, the inhuman treatment I received at the hands of the German surgeons, who had four husky Germans hold me down while they cut five bones out of my wrist and amputated my middle finger at the second joint when I was wounded in the palm of the hand, the kicks and the cuffs from prison guards and the terrible stuff the Germans called food in the prison camps."

Looked Like Decorations.

A huckster drove out into one of the suburbs with a load of produce late the other night and his horse wandered into a road where repairs were being made. The horse was on the edge of a deep sewer trench when a suburbanite called to the driver and warned him of his danger.

"Didn't you see the red lanterns?" the suburbanite asked.

"[illegible]," replied the huckster, "but thought they were part of the decorations."—Detroit Free Press.

FOE DIVER SHELLS AMERICAN SHORES

ALSO SINKS THREE BARGES AND SETS FOURTH AND A TUG ON FIRE.

CREWS ESCAPE IN LIFEBOATS

Airplanes Attack German Submarine Without Result Off Coast of Cape Cod—Campaign Is Merely Case of Teuton Frightfulness.

Orleans, Mass., July 22.—An enemy submarine attacked a barge tow off the easternmost point of Cape Cod, sank three of the barges, set a fourth and the tug on fire and dropped four shells on the mainland.

The action lasted an hour and was unchallenged, except for two hydroairplanes from the Chatham aviation station, which circled over the U-boat, causing her to submerge for only a moment. Then the submarine reappeared and resumed firing.

The crews of the tow, numbering 41 and including three women and five children, escaped amid the shell fire in lifeboats. Several were wounded, but only one seriously. This happened to be John Botovich, an Austrian, of the crew of the tug. His right arm near the shoulder was torn away by a fragment of shell. The minor injuries of the others were from shell splinters.

Thousands See Encounter.

The barges were in tow of the tug Perth Amboy, owned by the Lehigh Valley railroad, and were bound from Gloucester for New York. One was loaded with stone, but the others were light, being on their return trip after bringing coal to New England. The attack was without warning and only the poor marksmanship of the German gunners permitted the escape of the crews.

The one-sided fight took place three miles south of the Orleans coast guard station, which is located midway between Chatham, at Elbow, and Highland Light, at the extreme tip of the cape.

The firing was heard for miles and brought thousands to the beach, from which the flashes of the guns and the outline of the U-boat were plainly visible. Possible danger to the onlookers was not thought of until a shell whizzed over their heads and splashed in a pond a mile inland. Three other shells buried themselves in the sands of the beach.

Survivors Lost Their Clothes.

The survivors of the tow, with the exception of two injured, were taken to the Orleans coast guard station, communication with which by telephone was not permitted under navy regulations. No information could be obtained from official sources on the cape.

Botovich and another man from one of the barges, both of whose arms had been injured, were removed to the private hospital of Dr. James McHugh. Later Botovich was taken to a hospital in Boston.

The survivors lost all their personal effects and some of them who were having their turn in their bunks when the U-boat appeared came ashore in their night clothing.

MINNESOTA LABOR COMMISSIONER DEAD

William F. Houk Was One of Best Known Men in Trades Union Circles.

Minneapolis, July 22.—William F. Houk, state commissioner of labor for the past six and a half years, one of the best known men in organized labor circles in the Northwest, died suddenly at Menomonie, Wis., where he was spending a vacation.

Mr. Houk was first appointed to head the state labor department in 1911 by Governor Eberhart. At the time of his appointment he was day foreman of the Minneapolis Tribune's composing room. He had served in that capacity for 12 years and had been an employe of the Tribune for 22 years.

HOOVER GIVEN TRIBUTE BY ENGLISH CHILDREN

Thousands of Letters Thank Him for Efforts to Save Food for Allies.

London, July 22.—Herbert C. Hoover, the American food administrator, has arrived in England.

Two wagon loads of mail awaited Mr. Hoover on his arrival in London, including several thousand letters from school children, as a result of a campaign organized in the public schools for a tribute to the efforts of the United States to save food for the Allies.

Queen Reviews Woman's Army.

Aldershot, Eng., July 22.—The first review of a women's army ever held here took place when Queen Mary, as colonel in chief of the Women's Auxiliary Army corps, inspected over a thousand women in this command. There were cooks, waitresses, sailmakers, carpenters, bakers, machinists, tailors and other workers from 15 units and they made a fine show going through their drill with neatness and precision. A squad of Americans helped to keep the ground clear so that nothing could disturb the drill.

SENATOR W. H. KING

Senator W. H. King of Utah, protested vehemently against Senator Lewis' plan to have printed in the Congressional Record a petition asking congress and the administration to insist on the immediate independence of Ireland. Mr. King said it was an attempt to insult one of our allies.

BAKER AGAIN GOING ABROAD

WAR SECRETARY TO PAY SECOND VISIT TO EUROPE.

Planning Inspection Tour of American and Allied Battle Fronts in France.

Washington, July 22.—Secretary of War Baker soon will make another inspection trip of the American and Allied battle fronts in France.

Included in this trip probably will be meetings with the Inter-Allied war council and with several of the diplomatic war representatives of the Allied countries.

Accompanying Secretary Baker will be Mr. and Mrs. Schall, of Minneapolis. The blind representative plans a trip to all of the battle fronts and will visit much of the devasted region recaptured from the Hun invaders.

During Mr. Schall's tour he will visit France, England and Italy.

No definite date has been set for Secretary Baker's departure and it is probable disposal of numerous matters now before the war department will delay the voyage.

TWENTY-ONE YANKEES KILLED IN BATTLE

Army and Marine Corps Casualty Lists Give 105 Men Wounded and 30 Missing.

Washington, July 22.—The last army casualty list shows: Killed in action, 16; died of wounds, 15; died of disease, 11; died of airplane accident, 1; died of accident and other causes, 13; wounded severely, 57; wounded, degree undetermined, 1; missing, 6; total, 120.

The Marine corps casualty list shows: Killed in action, 5; died of wounds, 1; died of disease, 1; wounded severely, 45; wounded slightly, 2; missing, 22; in hands of the enemy, 2; total, 78.

Northwest names appear on the lists as follows: Private Phillip H. Benton, Minneapolis, died of wounds; Private Joe Aft, Sharons, Wis., died from accident; Musician Lewis A. Sisson, Inkster, N. D., severely wounded.

7 TONS OF SURGICAL GOODS SENT TO FRONT

American Red Cross Forwards Supplies to Storehouses in the War Area.

Paris, July 22.—The American Red Cross has sent seven tons of surgical dressings and five tons of special diet foods to the principal evacuation hospitals of the American army. The Red Cross medical officers, storehouses and pharmacy, will operate night and day during the drive of the French and Americans.

BRITISH LOSSES FOR LAST WEEK 16,981 MEN

About Fifteen Hundred Were Killed and the Balance Wounded or Missing.

London, July 22.—British casualties reported in the week ended July 20 total 16,981, compared with the aggregate of 14,911 reported in the previous week.

These are divided as follows:

Killed or died of wounds: Officers, 91; men, 1,411. Wounded or missing: Officers, 291; men, 15,188.

Boy Kills Grizzly Bear.

Jackson, Wyo., July 22.—The most successful youthful bear hunter in Wyoming is Charles Sowers, 14, of this place, who is displaying the hide of a female grizzly which he shot on Sheep creek and two cubs which he captured after the mother had been slain and the father had retreated. The boy, hunting alone with two dogs, ran upon the grizzly family in a berry patch. His first bullet killed the mother, but his second shot missed the father and the latter plunged into the thick brush and escaped.

News of the State

Condensed for Busy Folks

Crosby.—Louis Oreskorich, 23 years old, was killed here by falling rock at the Gutherie mine.

St. Paul.—When the July requisitions for service in the army have been met there will be but 17 men left in class 1 in Pennington county.

Red Wing.—Thousands of young people from all parts of the United States and Canada will assemble here Aug. 22-25 for the annual convention of the Young People's Luther league. Speakers of national repute are on the program.

Winona.—Y. M. C. A. men will accompany all of the draft quotas in cantonments in the future, according to information received by C. A. Boyd from E. W. Peck, state secretary of the association.

Moorhead.—Two hundred threshing machine operators of Clay county, at a conference here, adopted plans for the season's operations. Clean grain threshing was emphasized. A schedule of threshing prices soon will be announced.

Virginia.—Approval of woman's suffrage was voted by the Minnesota Federation of Labor in session here. The convention indorsed votes for women and enacted a resolution urging the passage of the Federal amendment to make woman's suffrage nation-wide.

Winona.—Mystery enshrouds the burning out of the electric apparatus at the Bay State Milling company. The fire, which was not serious in property loss because of quick action by the fire department, necessitated the suspension of operation of the entire plant. An investigation is being made.

St. Paul.—Definite steps to be taken to secure a convalescent hospital and surgical annexes here for the care of wounded soldiers and sailors and provision for their vocational training will be determined at a meeting of the board of directors of the St. Paul association next Thursday.

St. Paul.—Gustav Lindquist, secretary to Governor Burnquist, has been chosen chairman of the Republican State Central committee. Fred L. Gray of Minneapolis was named secretary and Hugh E. Leach of Alexandria was made treasurer. The committee is to be made up of 35 members.

Fairmont.—The executive committee of the Martin County Dry league has announced that a county option election will be held in Martin county on August 5 with the object of banishing saloons from the last wet county in the southern tier and making a dry strip along the Iowa line, which will prevent liquor from being taken into the state from Minnesota.

Duluth.—It took a jury in federal court just 20 minutes to find a verdict of not guilty for Joseph Ahlin, former mayor of McKinley, who was arrested, charged with violation of the espionage act. Immediately after the verdict, Ahlin was again arrested on a federal warrant on another charge. It is charged Ahlin said: "If I met President Wilson in the woods, I would shoot him. He had no right to declare war on Germany."

St. Paul.—Breaking up a concerted attempt by Brown county farmers to defy food regulations by hoarding their wheat, the food administration has uncovered 3,000 bushels of wheat held by 90 farmers, has forced the offending farmers to give $5,800 to the Red Cross and to buy $1,395 in War Savings stamps. The campaign in Brown county was handled by Vivian B. Vye, a special field representative of the food administration.

Fairmont.—Rev. C. A. Larson, pastor of the Lutheran church near Monterey, who with his wife was arrested on charges of disloyalty, agreed to plead guilty today if the charge against his wife was dropped. County Attorney A. R. Allen consented and Larson was given a six months' suspended sentence and a $100 fine. Larson is charged with making seditious utterances and his wife is said to have worked against the Red Cross.

Ada.—Ada business men are going to the harvest fields to help save the crops. Eugene Herring, county director of the Public Safety commission for Norman county, and C. C. Allen, chairman of the county labor commission, called a meeting of business men to discuss the proposition. Fifty men met in the Commercial club rooms and most of them offered their services to any farmers in the community needing help for harvest. A total of 60 weeks time was offered.

International Falls.—Under orders from the Minnesota Public Safety commission and Carlos Avery, state game warden, American and Canadian game wardens and police returned here today after a three-day raid in the Rainy Lake district in the Canadian patrol boat Seagull. A score of Canadians and Americans were arrested and the boat was loaded with contraband wine, whisky and beer and the meats of game animals which are protected by game laws.

Moorhead.—All man power in Clay county must enroll for service in the harvest fields as a result of an order issued by the county labor agents in accordance with regulations laid down by the State Safety commission. In small towns arrangements will be made to close places of business at 4 p. m., giving the men from one to five hours' time for field work.

Delhi.—Until victory is won the bell in the Presbyterian church belfry at Delhi will ring each day at [illegible] for two minutes. All persons within the environs at that time will reverently bow their heads in silent prayer.

St. Cloud.—Five priests in Stearns county have volunteered as chaplains in the United States army.

Mankato.—William Wandersee, who attempted suicide by shooting himself twice in the head and once in the arm, died at a local hospital.

Rochester.—"Billy" Sunday, in his room at St. Mary's hospital, autographed six baseballs which will be sold for the benefit of the Red Cross.

St. Paul.—Inheritance taxes of $123,522 were paid to the state by the estate of Mathew G. Norton, a Winona millionaire. The estate was valued at nearly $5,000,000.

Albert Lea.—The fourteenth annual convention of the United Spanish War Veterans, Department of Minnesota, was held at Camp Lakeview, Lake City, Monday and Tuesday.

St. Cloud.—The stock which P. J. Fosse of St. Cloud exhibited at the North Dakota state fair at Fargo captured twenty-seven prizes. The list included twelve first awards.

Rochester.—While Hans Hagge was figuring his coal bill, Mrs. Emma Hagge, his wife, took poison. She died later. It is believed that the act was prompted because her brother had gone to war.

Camp Dodge.—Private Albert Steiner of Fairmont a member of the depot brigade at Camp Dodge, tried by general court-martial, was sentenced today to 15 years at hard labor. Steiner deserted Sept. 27 last.

Thief River Falls.—The crops in Pennington county, Minn., could hardly be better. The rains of last week practically placed the grain where even a protracted dry spell can have but slight effect on them.

Fairmont.—A son of John Wolf, living between Fairmont and Welcome, was terribly injured when he caught his arm in the gearing of a windmill at the Wolf farm. The gears crushed the arm below the elbow.

St. Paul.—A campaign to recruit 1,000 young women as student reserve nurses will be carried on between July 29 and August 11 under direction of the state woman's committee of the Council of National Defense.

Northfield.—Following years of agitation and the presentation of numerous petitions, students at St. Olaf college have finally won out in the efforts to have the institution represented in intercollegiate football contests.

Moorhead.—Mrs. M. L. Jacobson, wife of M. L. Jacobson, superintendent of the Moorhead public schools, who suffered a split lip and had her right cheek punctured by a sky rocket which hit her in the mouth July 4, will be disfigured for life.

St. Cloud.—K. M. Stokes of Smithmill was elected president of the Minnesota rural carriers' convention, which closed its annual meeting here and dedicated a service flag with forty-three stars. The address was made by Bishop Joseph Busch.

Sauk Center.—Private William Nye of Camp Dodge is in custody here on a charge of desertion. He soon will be returned to camp to face court-martial. Nye went to Camp Dodge with the June contingent. It is said he thought he was going to be discharged and took a train home.

Virginia.—The village of Biwabik was threatened by a prairie fire which bore down rapidly before a stiff northeast wind. The entire population, together with crews from surrounding mines, turned out to fight the flames and succeeded by backfiring to prevent damage to the town.

Moose Lake.—After ascertaining the sentiment of the recent grand jury and consulting citizens of Barnum, county authorities have decided not to prosecute Carl Miller, who was held in connection with the Barnum school bus accident last winter in which seven children met their death.

Warren.—The timely discovery of a blaze in a large pile of binding twine in the warehouse of the Warren Machine & Iron Works company averted a fire that would have been very disastrous. By throwing blazing bundles out on the street the fire was readily stopped. The pile contained about $30,000 worth of twine.

St. Paul.—Governor Burnquist has granted the request of St. Paul Rotarians to issue a proclamation designating the week of August 11, as Marine Corps recruiting week in the state, in furtherance of the campaign to enlist 1,000 men in Minnesota, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota and Western Wisconsin.

Stillwater.—When the buttermakers, ice cream manufacturers and large users of other dairy products of Washington county meet here, the initial step along the line of beginning an educational campaign this fall and winter for the purpose of keeping dairy products from being crowded off the market by substitutes will be taken.

St. Paul.—An address by Lord Reading, British ambassador in Washington, one of the foremost lawyers of the world, consideration of much proposed legislation covering court procedure and the practice of law, and final determination of the case of Albert Pfaender of New Ulm, charged with disloyalty because of his participation in the New Ulm anti-draft meeting a year ago, will feature the meeting of the Minnesota State Bar association at Faribault Aug. 13, 14 and 15.

Crookston.—Visiting day at the Northwest Experiment Station was regarded as a complete success. Farmers from eight counties attended the annual gathering. Many demonstrations and several addresses were made. The forenoon was spent in discussing and viewing live stock, poultry and trees.

Crosby.—The village council proposes to operate a municipal fuel yard this winter and has a committee arranging for wood. If the state safety commission gives its consent the yard will be opened at an early date. Some 1,000 cords of wood will be purchased.

Don't Neglect a Bad Back!

It's Mighty Poor Policy to Worry Along Thus Handicapped When Health and Strength is So Needed

THE man or woman handicapped with a bad back in these times when physical fitness is so necessary, is indeed crippled. It's mighty poor policy to worry along with an aching back day after day; work is neglected and the simplest duties are a burden. Plowing, planting, harvesting, churning, the daily housework all throw a heavy strain on the kidneys and kidney ills, with attendant backache, are a common result. Don't wait! Neglect may mean gravel, dropsy or Bright's disease. Get a box of Doan's Kidney Pills today. They have helped thousands. They should help you.

Personal Reports of Real Cases

A MINNESOTA CASE.

Mrs. Harry Peers, Box No. 232, Mora, Minn., says: "I had a bad case of kidney trouble. For two and a half months I was down flat on my back. The kidney secretions were unnatural and I often got so dizzy that I fell. I doctored for a long time and was finally told that my case was hopeless and I decided to stop doctoring and take Doan's Kidney Pills. I noticed a good effect in a short time. The kidney secretions cleared up, I regained my strength and my back got strong. I was soon able to get about. I kept on taking Doan's for a while and now I am free from every sign of kidney trouble."

Another Minnesota Case.

P. F. Ruge, real estate and insurance dealer, Central Ave. and First St., S., Faribault, Minn., gave the following statement August 10, 1910: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills with satisfactory results and can recommend them as an ideal kidney and backache remedy. My experience with Doan's Kidney Pills goes back several years ago. I had trouble with my back, especially when I would take cold, a soreness then being felt over my kidneys. My kidneys also acted irregularly. Doan's Kidney Pills relieved the difficulties and never failed to give me positive relief when occasion has required their use off and on."

On December 4, 1917, Mr. Ruge said: "I am pleased to say the cure Doan's Kidney Pills effected when I had kidney trouble still proves lasting. I gladly repeat those statements I made in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills."

Concerning "Jums."

A portly mother and her crumb of a boy boarded a crowded car and, naturally, had to stand. The boy caught hold of the brass loop of the nearest seat. The woman made him let go.

"Don't tech that handle, son; it's got jums on it. I don't want you ketchin' any disease jums on this car."

"I ain't goin' to catch any jums, momma."

"I know you ain't. It's the jums that ketches you."

MR. UMSON AT HIS WORST

Uncalled-For Food Criticism That Could Only Be Properly Answered by Flying Crockery.

Umson leaned back in his chair at the dinner table, held a cooky between the thumb and finger of his right hand, and eyed it closely.

Mrs. Umson looked, but did not smile.

Pinching the cake and moving it up and down as if to carefully ascertain its weight, Umson continued his inspection.

By this time Mrs. Umson was glowering.

"Well, she said, "I suppose you are going to poke fun at my cooking again?"

"Far from it," her husband answered.

INITIATIVE FALLS TO ALLIED FORCES

HIGH WATER MARK OF GERMAN OFFENSIVE IN FRANCE HAS BEEN REACHED.

GENERAL MARCH IS JUBILANT

American Chief of Staff Says Direct Objective of General Foch's Counter Stroke Has Been Attained.

Washington, July 22.—The high water mark of the German offensive movement in France has been reached and the initiative now is passing to the Allied and American armies.

This is the lesson drawn by American military leaders from General Foch's sudden counter attack on the Aisne-Marne front, General March, chief of staff, told members of the Senate Military committee.

Later he announced American troop shipments had now exceeded 1,200,000 men, insuring the manpower to hold the initiative on the Western front.

The direct objective of General Foch's counter stroke, General March told newspaper men in his weekly conference, is the railway that feeds the German forces in the Chateau Thierry region. Already it has been attained, for the French and American forces are either astride the line at certain points or have it under direct gunfire at short range, rendering it unusable.

Hear of Retreat Over Marne.

Even as General March spoke reports flashed over the cables telling that the German withdrawal from the sector south of the Marne had begun under the onrush of General Mangin's attacking army in the enemy's rear. The withdrawal was foreseen by General March when French and American shells began raining on the railway.

The American chief of staff told, with evident satisfaction, of the fact that six American divisions are battling with the French on the line of Soissons-Chateau Thierry, and for the first time revealed their identity.

The American troops engaged on this front are the First, Second, Third and Fourth regular divisions and the Twenty-sixth (New England) and Twenty-eighth (Pennsylvania) National guard. The Forty-second National guard (Rainbow division, of which the 151st Field artillery, formerly the First Minnesota, is a part) is stationed in the Champagne, east of Rheims in the army of the famous French General Gouraud, who conducted a stone wall defense against the German drive.

The Seventy-seventh National army division, composed largely of New Jersey troops but including New York and Delaware men, is in line near Luneville. It is operating as a division under its own commander.

Two regiments of American negro troops also are known to be engaged.

"Ted wounded. Not seriously. Here with me. Not any danger. No cause for anxiety."

Major Roosevelt was recently cited for gallantry after having been gassed about three weeks ago.

FORMER RUSSIAN CZAR EXECUTED BY URALS

Shooting Was Hastened to Prevent His Capture by Czecho-Slovak Forces.

London, July 22.—The execution by shooting of former Czar Nicholas of Russia by order of the Ural regional council July 16 was hastened to prevent the former emperor being taken from the Red Ural forces by the Czecho-Slovaks, a wireless message from Moscow announced. The execution has been approved by the Central Russian council.

The execution will prevent the trial of the former czar before a tribunal for "his crimes against the people of Russia" which was to have been based on evidence found in the diaries of the former ruler and members of his family, which now are safe in Moscow.

Covered with the Red Cross blanket they go to the nearest hospital. Many shipments of these pajamas are made every month. [illegible]

ADVANCEMENT IN WESTERN CANADA FARM LAND PRICES

Stories of phenomenal advancement and prosperity in Western Canada have been told the reading public for some years past. The stories were told when there were hundreds of thousands of acres of splendid land adjacent to railways and projected lines, which could be had on the payment of a mere $10 entry fee, and under cultivation and living conditions. As was prophesied then, the day has come when these are few. There are still available thousands of these; they are some distance now from the railways. The land is as good as ever, but pioneering conditions will have changed. A great many are still taking advantage of this free offer from the government. The story was told, when good lands near lines of railway could be bought for from $8 to $10 per acre and the prophecy made that these prices would double in a few years, for the intrinsic value was far more than that. That day has come more quickly than expected. The immense crops of grain that could be raised has brought about the change, and the demand for low priced lands with maximum returns has prompted the keen purchaser as well as the owner of higher priced land from which no greater return could be looked for. Prices of land in Western Canada are still advancing, and will continue to advance until, of course, the limit is reached—when returns will warrant no further increase. That day is not far distant. But, in the meantime, there are large tracts of land owned by land companies and private individuals that have not felt the advance that has been shown in other districts. The opportunity to purchase these should not be lost sight of, and if there are those amongst the readers of this article, which is authorized by the Canadian government, who wish cheap land, such lands as produce from 25 to 40 bushels per acre, and will pay for themselves out of one year's crop, advantage should be taken of the present opportunity.

Coming to Alberta with his family thirteen years ago, his assets consisting of a small outfit and $20 in cash, Mr. O. F. Malmberg has accumulated by farming and live stock raising assets to the value of more than $300,000, and has a personal credit, worth on demand, $100,000. He has not speculated in land, but bought only to farm. Near Blackie, Alberta, he operates 3,100 acres of wheat land. He has just purchased an additional 11,500 acres near Cardston, in Southern Alberta. His personal credit enabled him to finance this deal in Calgary in a little over three hours. The ranch just purchased is a fully equipped stock and grain ranch. At the present time it carries a thousand head of cattle and several hundred horses, and is fully equipped with buildings, machinery, corrals, sheep sheds, dipping vats, etc. That is a story from one district. Let us select one from a district some hundred or more miles from that.

"Peter A. Klassen, who recently moved to Herbert, Sask., from Kansas, has purchased a section of prairie land in the Hillsboro district, about 24 miles northwest of Herbert, for which he paid $12,000 cash. He is erecting temporary buildings to live in while putting the place in cultivation, and this summer plans to erect good buildings on the farm and equip it for a home. Mr. Klassen recently sold his 80-acre farm in Kansas for $15,000 and is investing the proceeds in Canada."

With the proceeds of the sale of his land in Kansas, this farmer purchased in Saskatchewan a piece eight times as large as he had previously been farming, and had a balance with which to purchase equipment, stock, etc., of $3,000. Moreover, as land in Saskatchewan may be expected to yield twice as much grain per acre, he will be able to produce sixteen times as much as formerly.

"The average value of farm land for the whole of Canada, including land improved and unimproved, together with dwelling houses, barns, stables and other farm buildings, is approximately $44 per acre as compared with $41 in 1916, according to the latest report of the Census and Statistics branch at Ottawa. The average value of land in the Prairie Provinces is as follows:

Manitoba	$31.00
Saskatchewan	26.00
Alberta	26.70

It is the low prices at which land can be obtained in Western Canada which is rendering this country such an important factor in the production of foodstuffs at the present time. It is enabling men who have been farming small areas in older districts to take up and farm with the same capital areas not only many times as great, but which are also capable of producing considerably larger crops to the acre.—Advertisement.

Save the Babies

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. There can be no danger in the use of Castoria if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher as it contains no opiates or narcotics of any kind.

Hot Weather Hits Us Hardest in Stomach

Keep a close watch on your stomach this summer. We need all our fighting strength. War work—change of diet—will make us all easier prey to stomach and bowel trouble than ever before. It is so easy to become overheated on a blazing hot day, especially after eating a hearty meal. And then the excessive heat makes us flood our stomachs with all kinds of cold drinks. That's bad at any time; much worse—even dangerous—when there is the slightest feeling of stomach trouble.

Keep the stomach sweet and cool and free from too much acid—that's about all that is necessary. It's not so much the diet as to keep the poison from starting trouble. You can easily do this if you will just take a tablet or two of EATONIC after your meals.

EATONIC is the wonderful new compound that absorbs the harmful gases and juices and almost instantly drives away stomach misery.

Instead of sudden and painful attacks of indigestion, after you begin using EATONIC you'll forget you have a stomach. And there will be no more heartburn, food repeating, sour stomach, gas pains, or that lumpy, bloated feeling you have so often experienced after eating. Then your appetite—you know how hard it is to satisfy in hot weather—eat one or two EATONIC Tablets a half hour before meals—and you will enjoy the results and feel better in every way.

These are a few reasons why you should start using EATONIC today and fortify your stomach against the chance trouble this summer. It costs only 50c for a big package. Your druggist whom you know and can trust, will promptly refund your money if you are not more than satisfied.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR.
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUB.

Published every Friday at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

$1.00 a year, in advance.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office, at Sunbeam Minn under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879

January 1 will be the greatest swearing-off day in history, if the prohibition measure now before congress is enacted. The new amendment to the food production bill would stop all wine and beer manufacture on Nov. 1, by way of gentle preparation, and then forbid the sale of any form of alcoholic beverage beginning with the first of the year.

Russia swore off once upon a time. But that was not teetotalism, for it referred only to vodka. It was not done, either, in so spectacular a way as this. Here we have an ancient, private moral ceremony which is more or less of a joke given legal sanction and enforced on a national scale that is very far from being a joke. Uncle Sam will swear off. A hundred million people will celebrate New Year's day by taking a pledge of total abstinence from alcohol.

The public, with all its discussion of the liquor problem, has already begun to realize the imminent possibility of such a performance, and the momentous consequences it entails.—Crookston Times.

The law has already been passed by Congress, and will soon be up to President Wilson to sign or veto. That is the only kind of prohibit that will prohibit. If it is not manufactured it can't be drank. Let the whole nation quit January 1st, or repeal all County Option laws, and let them all drink. As long as the breweries are allowed to manufacture liquor they will find a market for it, and all the county option laws that were ever passed will not prohibit its sale.

Senator Knute Nelson is right in the position that he takes that there is no use to divide our war strength by sending troops to Russia. Keep going with all our power on the western front, is the Senator's idea, and when we get them properly licked they will have nothing to say about what shall be done with Russia. America is now in that war to win, with millions of men and money, and the food to feed the men, and when peace is declared President Woodrow Wilson will dictate the terms, and one of the important conditions will be that Germany get back onto their own land, and stay there and behave themselves. This will also mean that they will have to give back the territory to France that they stole from them in 1871, by the power of arms, as they are at war with a nation now that they can't lick, that did not go into the war for territory, but for justice and right, and the longer they fight the madder they get, and they will clean up that German aristocracy from cellar to garret before they quit.

Germany will not let the common people know that it is the Americans that are routing their armies on the western front, but they will soon find out, as the Americans are going after them, not by thousands, but by millions, and you bet they will keep them going until they get out of Belgium and France.

As there are now quite a number of colored regiments in France, we would suggest that the government furnish each one of them with a good heavy Wade and Butcher razor as they might come in handy in a hand to hand encounter with the [illegible]

ALLIES DEMAND MORE CEREALS

American Meat Restrictions Relaxed to Effect Greater Wheat Savings.

ARGENTINE ARRIVALS SHORT.

Meat Supply Made Considerably Enlarged — Food Administration, However, Warns Against Waste.

The allies have made further and increased demands for breadstuffs, these enlarged demands being caused to some degree by shortage in arrivals from the Argentine. It is therefore, necessary for the U. S. Food Administration to urge a still further reduction in the consumption of bread and breadstuffs generally if we are to meet our export necessities. The Food Administration has issued a statement explaining the situation in detail, particularly the reasons which lead it, for the purpose of centering effort for the time being upon the cereal situation to relax temporarily the restrictions on meat consumption.

Experience shows, this statement says, that the consumption of breadstuffs is intimately associated with the consumption of meat. For various reasons our supplies of meat for the next two or three months are considerably enlarged, and we can supply the allies with all of the meat products which transportation facilities render possible and at the same time somewhat increase our own consumption. In these circumstances the Food Administration considers it wise to relax the voluntary restrictions on meat consumption to some extent with a view to further decreasing bread consumption.

Conservation of food must be adjusted to meet necessities from time to time, for neither production, nor allied demands are constant factors nor can any of these factors be anticipated for long periods in advance in the disturbed conditions in which we at present live. While the world situation is not one that warrants any relaxation in the efforts to eliminate waste or to relax economy in food, the Administration desires to secure better adjustment in food balances.

So long as the present conditions continue the only special restrictions we ask are the beefless and porkless Tuesday.

The meatless meal and the porkless Saturday are no longer asked.

The farmers of the United States are responding to the national call to increase hog production. Their increase, to all appearances, is being attained more rapidly. Of more immediate importance, however, are several complex factors which have [illegible] early in February, the large percentage of immature corn in the last harvest and the necessity of feeding this corn as rapidly as possible to save it from decay, have not only resulted in backing up the animals—particularly hogs—on the farms for a longer period of feeding, but have resulted in a great increase in their average weight and will result, with improved transportation conditions, which already appear, in larger than normal arrivals at market for the next two or three months. The weight of hogs coming to the market for the past two weeks indicates an increase in weight of from an average of 203 pounds last year to the almost unprecedented average of 232 pounds, or a net increase in their meat value of over 15 per cent. This is a distinct addition to the nation's meat supply. It therefore now seems certain that we have such enlarged supplies for at least some months to come that we can not only increase our exports to the allies to the full extent of their transportation facilities, but at the same time can properly increase our domestic consumption.

The response of the public to our requests for reduced consumption of meat during the past few months has been most gratifying, and this service alone has enabled the government during this period to provide such supplies as transportation to the allies permitted.

The Administration also suggests that in those parts of the country where the old fashioned home preservation of pork is still the custom this practice should be extended at the present time, as it will relieve the burden upon transportation to and from the packing houses and is economically sound in saving the cost of packing operations and at the same time will provide home supplies of pork to last over the months of decreased supplies.

The Food Administration desires to repeat that it does not want to give the impression that there are times when simplicity and moderation of living are not critically necessary, but that its sole desire is to secure an adjustment of [illegible]

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

BEEF.

Why is beef one of the meats we are asked to save for the Allies?

Because it is a concentrated food and keeps well.

Is there a shortage of beef in Europe?

Yes, there has been a large decrease of cattle in Europe since the war began.

Why is it difficult to raise cattle there?

Because of lack of men to tend cattle, insufficient fodder, and no means of growing enough fodder because much land has to be plowed up for grain or other human food.

Why is cattle shortage particularly serious?

Because it means not only less meat but also less milk.

Calorie.

What is a calorie?

The amount of heat needed to raise the temperature of one pound of water 4 degrees Fahrenheit.

How can we think of a calorie?

As a unit of measurement, just like a foot or a quart or a pound.

What does a calorie measure?

Heat energy.

What is a unit of energy?

Another name for calorie.

What food value does the calorie measure?

Its fuel value to the body.

Is it possible to have the right number of calories in the diet and yet not have the proper diet?

Yes, the calorie amount may not be properly distributed among the different necessary classes of food needed by the body.

What are these classes of food?

See answers to questions 204 and [illegible]

What are daily calorie needs?

For a workingman [illegible] 3,500 to 4,000
For an active woman [illegible] 2,800 to 3,000
For a sedentary man [illegible]
For a sedentary woman [illegible]

Candy.

How much money is spent annually in the United States for candy?

About $400,000,000. This is almost double the amount needed to keep Belgium supplied with food for a year.

Ought children to give up candy?

They may well do so, if they get the sugar they need from other sources.

If we do eat candy, what kind ought we to confine ourselves to?

Conservation candies, such as chocolate-covered nuts and fruits, candies with corn syrup, honey, maple syrup, or molasses. The object is to save the cane and beet sugar.

Is there plenty of chocolate?

Yes, it is plentiful and pure, and wholesome food.

Children.

Should children obey the instructions issued by the Food Administration?

Yes. These instructions are based on sound principles of health and take the special needs of the child into consideration. The Food Administration constantly emphasizes the fact that children should be properly nourished.

Should children have butter?

They should.

Should children have milk?

It is essential that children be given plenty of whole milk.

Should fruit and vegetables be included in the child's diet?

Children should have either fruit or vegetables, preferably both, every day. A healthy child between three and six may have almost any vegetable that he will chew thoroughly.

Do children need sweets?

They need some form of sugar in their diet.

Where else besides in candy can children get sugar?

In fruits, especially in the dried ones, and in fruit pastes, jams, jellies, honey, corn syrups, and maple sugar; also from cereals and other foods with which sugar is commonly used.

Ought children to give up soda water and other sweet drinks?

Yes; or their use should be greatly cut down.

How much milk, sugar, fats, and meat should children have daily?

Child of 10—
Milk, 1 pint.
Sugar, 3 ounces.
Fats, 2 ounces.
Meat, 4 ounces.

Demand For Trained Food Teachers and Demonstrators Far Exceeds Supply.

The division of home economics of the University of Minnesota has been able to supply applicants for but 37 per cent of the demands made upon it for teachers of home economics this year. Calls for teachers numbered 175, of which seven were filled temporarily and 64 were filled for next year, leaving 111 for which the university could supply no candidates. Every girl in the graduating class of this year who prepared herself to teach both food and clothing questions is employed. Teaching, both in the high schools and as special home demonstrators, dietitians' positions, home-making, and the management of institutions are the occupations which have in the main claimed the services of graduates of the department of home economics of the state university.

Effect of French Language.

A writer in Scribner's Magazine speculates at some length on the effect the French language will have on our own when the soldiers come back. He says: "One of the most prolific sources of new words in a language is an attempt to name new ideas. American soldiers in France will absorb many new ideas from their contact with the French and British; there will be many new shades of meanings for ideas denoted by old words. To express these the men will inevitably adopt French words or use English words with a new shade of meaning. NEED FURNITURE IN GERMANY

Problem of Its Supply Has Added One More to the Troubles of the Government.

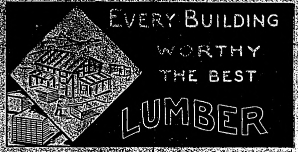
The German government has so far been unable to find any substitute for furniture, and has not yet had the temerity to ask its subjects to follow the example of their Turkish allies and sit on the floor. The result is a scarcity that has caused second-hand dealers to reap enormous profits.

A second-hand kitchen chair that formerly cost about 50 cents now sells for $5. An old bedstead that used to sell for $5 now brings $30. Second-hand dealers have scoured the country and old tables and chairs have been brought from cellars and garrets, but the demand still outruns the supply and prices already 1,000 per cent above normal, threaten to go higher.

The problem is likely to become more acute as soon as the war ends. Thousands of couples that married when the men were called into the army will wish to establish homes of their own. The government has provided many houses in advance, but these will be of little use without furniture.

Some urge that the government make the same rule regarding second-hand furniture as is now in force in the old clothes trade, put the private dealers out of business, fix lower prices and make it a crime for anyone to sell the second-hand articles except to the state.

A number of capitalists and furniture manufacturers have formed an association to make new furniture and sell it at four per cent above cost on the installment plan, requiring one-third of the purchase price as first payment. The cost of new furniture, even under this arrangement, is almost prohibitive, because of the scarcity of materials and the high cost of labor.



IT doesn't pay to put inferior building materials into any building.

It is Difficult to Pick Out Best

Many Getting Ready for Show

Corn, the leading American crop, is needed so badly for the production of meat that every effort is being made to encourage the raising of record crops this year and next year. This is the reason why such generous premiums are offered for good exhibits of corn at the Minnesota State Fair, September 2 to 7.

America produces more than three-fourths of the world's crop of corn. Four-fifths of all the farmers in America grow corn. One-third of all the land in cultivation is in corn. In 1917 the corn crop amounted to over three billion bushels, and was valued at more than four billion dollars.

Corn is not only good for live stock but for human beings too. For many years the American people have been accustomed to eating cornmeal mush, hominy, grits, breakfast flakes, canned corn, popcorn, and corn bread. Still, until the entrance of the United States in the Great War, corn did not constitute as much of the human diet as might be imagined.

Corn Popular.

Since it has become necessary to substitute corn for wheat, that shipments of wheat may be sent to Europe to feed the wheat-hungry people there, corn has become more popular than ever as a part of our diet. Until now only one bushel of every thirty bushels has been used for human food.

The local corn show will emphasize the necessity of using none but the very best varieties and types of corn, that our output per acre may be increased tremendously.—Copyrighted.

BEEF ONCE A DAY IN PUBLIC EATING PLACES UNDER NEW RULE.

Favorable developments in the beef situation have made it possible for the food administration to ease up somewhat on the rather complicated and stringent rule regarding the use of beef in public eating places and these are now permitted to use beef for the mid-day meal every day in the week. The mid-day meal hours are set at from 11 o'clock a. m. to 2:30 p. m.

Householders are permitted to purchase no more than 1½ pounds of clear beef or 2¼ pounds with bone per week per person.

Conserve Surplus Food.

Increased planting of vegetables this year almost certainly will mean an unprecedented yield of all kinds of fresh vegetables.

This will mean plentiful supplies for summer tables and a large surplus.

This surplus, to be useful to America, must be conserved.

It must be canned, dried, brined or stored in the homes of America.

Home-conserved food means that the home will be more nearly self-sustaining and that the burden on transportation will be lightened.

Women who have never canned should now learn how; women who know how should prepare to do more. —United States Department of Agriculture.

CAPTURE GERMAN SUPPLY STATION

FRANCO-AMERICAN FORCES CONTINUE THEIR PRESSURE ON RETREATING ENEMY.

OCCUPY FERE-EN-TARDENOIS

On Extreme Wings of Gradually Decreasing Pocket the Foe, Heavily Reinforced, Is Holding Tenaciously to His Ground.

London, July 29.—The Franco-American troops, continuing their pressure on the Germans in retreat from the Marne, have reached and crossed the Ourcq river and penetrated the town of Fere-en-Tardenois, one of the great German supply bases for the enemy troops inside the Soissons-Rheims salient.

Meantime, on the center of the Allied right wing southwest of Rheims, violent attacks by the French have forced the enemy to give more ground and enabled the French to capture several towns of strategic value and to draw their front appreciably nearer the high road which runs northeastward from Dormans to Rheims.

Germans Fight Desperately.

On the extreme wings of the gradually decreasing pocket—near Soissons and Rheims—the enemy, heavily reinforced, is holding tenaciously to his ground, realizing that successes there would result in a general crumbling of his plans of defence against the locking up of his entire armies inside the big bag.

In addition to the large number of troops for reinforcement that have been thrown in these two sectors, the German long range guns from the region north of Soissons and north and northeast of Rheims are keeping both wings of the salient under a heavy enfilading fire.

Under the battering tactics of the Americans and Frenchmen, the German line on the south has now been driven back more than 12 miles from the point south of Chateau Thierry—where the Allied troops locked the door to Paris against the enemy July 18, and themselves became the aggressors in what has turned out to be one of the greatest battles of the war.

Use Cavalry, Tanks and Airplanes.

The crossing of the Ourcq, even if only by advanced elements of the Allied forces, presages a general crossing later on. The French official communications thus far during the battle have been remarkably conservative in their estimates of the gains that daily have been made, and it is indicated in unofficial dispatches that Allied troops are considerably in advance of the line as announced officially.

Where the Germans are in retreat from the south the cavalry has been brought into the fighting and numerous tanks and machine guns in profusion are everywhere harrying the enemy, whose losses are heavy.

Meantime airplanes are flying over the retreating hordes dropping bombs, while the big Allied guns from the sides of the salient are keeping up their intensive firing from all angles into the densely congested area.

SEAMEN TELL STORY OF GERMAN CRUELTY

Submarine Places Men On Deck, Dives and Leaves Civilians to Drown.

London, July 29.—The survivors of two sailing trawlers, one British and one Belgian, just brought into a British port, tell a terrible tale of German cruelty.

The British trawler was sunk before dawn Friday by a bomb and the crew was taken aboard the submarine. Three hours later the Belgian trawler was sighted and sunk and the crew, consisting of a father and son, also was taken aboard.

All were kept on the submarine's deck near the conning tower and when a patrol boat appeared the submarine submerged without warning, leaving the fishermen to drown. The Belgian skipper and his son and three Englishmen perished and only two of the English crew were saved.

CLEMENCEAU PAYS U. S. SOLDIERS NEW TRIBUTE

Paris, July 29.—Admiration for the spirit of the American soldiers at the front and the part America is taking in the war was expressed by Premier Clemenceau on receiving the delegates of the Social Democratic League of America, who are visiting France.

He also expressed his high appreciation of the support that the delegates are giving the Allies and the work they are doing in this country.

Buy Motor Patent Rights.

Copenhagen, July 29.—The Dutch inventor, Ellehammer, recently sold his patent rights in a new motor engine to Norway and Sweden. The sum he received is reported to be greater than has ever been paid in Scandinavia for an invention. The feature of the new motor is steam. It is claimed that it will supersede the ordinary explosion engine, that it is neither heavier nor bulkier than the benzine motor in common usage and can use the cheapest raw oils.

OFFENSIVE ON GRAND SCALE

BRITISH GENERAL SEES ALLIES MASTERS IN THE AIR.

Wants Flying Forces Organized on Basis Independent of Land and Sea.

New York, July 29.—Although the Allies have the ascendancy of the air, the possibilities of aerial warfare are yet far from realization, and an aerial offensive on a grand scale carried to cities of Germany remote from the battle line, including Berlin, is in the realm of certainty in the not distant future, provided the Allies organize and co-ordinate their resources.

This is the conviction of Maj. Gen. W. S. Brancker, controller general of equipment of the British air ministry, who has been in this country several weeks in consultation with government officials in charge of aviation.

Urges an Air Secretary Here.

Major General Brancker in a statement on this subject, laid strong emphasis on the necessity for the organization of the air forces on a basis quite independent of the land and sea.

General Brancker believes that eventually the United States will be obliged by the pressure of military necessity to create a secretary of air forces, or the equivalent, under whom air fighting, airplane production, equipment and personnel will function as a separate branch of the combat. For the success of the Allied cause, he feels strongly that the quicker air independence is established in this country the better.

STRIKE OF SEAMEN IS DECLARED OFF

CHAIRMAN HURLEY OF SHIPPING BOARD ADJUSTS DISPUTE ON GREAT LAKES.

WAGE QUESTION COMING UP

Lake Carriers' Association and Independent Companies Are Willing to Arbitrate, and Concessions Made Avert Walkout.

Washington, July 29.—Orders calling off the threatened strike of seamen and firemen on the Great Lakes were issued by Victor A. Olander, secretary of the Sailors' Union of the Great Lakes, and other union leaders following a conference with Chairman Hurley of the shipping board.

In meeting all grievances given by the men for a strike, Chairman Hurley ordered the Lake Carriers' association and all its members to sign the nation's appeal for men for merchant ships "as originally drafted and without any changes." He also ordered the association not to require seamen to register in its shipping offices or assembly rooms, pending further negotiation.

Conference Set for Wednesday.

Independent ship owners on the Great Lakes and the unions were called upon by Mr. Hurley to send representatives to Washington next Wednesday for a conference on the pending wage demands of seamen, firemen and stewards. Both union leaders and officials of the shipping board said that wage questions could not provoke a strike, as employers and men are said to be willing to arbitrate.

The decision to call off the strike followed a two-hour conference between the union leaders and officers of the shipping board. It was pointed out again to the men that a tie-up of lake shipping would interrupt food shipments to the soldiers overseas in addition to hampering war operations.

Ordered to Sign Up.

Insistence by union leaders that ship owners and their association sign the appeal was met by Mr. Hurley's sending to William Livingstone, president of the association, this telegram:

"United States Shipping Board hereby directs the members of the Lake Carriers' association and the Lake Carriers' association as an association to sign the nation's appeal for men to man its merchant ships as originally drafted and without any changes."

The other complaint of the men that the registration of seamen at the association's shipping offices and assembly rooms permitted the ship owners to discriminate against the men and compel them to join the association's welfare plan, was met by Mr. Hurley's asking that the practice be suspended pending further negotiation.

UNREST AT HOME MAY FORCE GERMANS TO GIVE BATTLE.

Military Officials at Washington Will Not Venture an Opinion on Enemy Plans.

Washington, July 29.—Harassed on the flanks by Allied infantry and with advanced positions directly north of the Marne swept by Allied artillery, the German army in the Soissons-Rheims salient has retreated to a new line of resistance, where another attempt will be made to meet the attack of the French, American, British and Italian troops.

Thus was the German withdrawal, reported in advices from Paris, viewed by military officials here.

The retirement of the enemy did not alter the widespread belief in official circles that the enemy still contemplates fighting it out in the region north of the Marne. Officials were not prepared to venture an opinion as to the location of this line.

Military wisdom, it was pointed out, dictated complete withdrawal from the salient between Soisson and Rheims. The internal situation in Germany and Austria, it was suggested, may have forced the general staff to make only a partial retirement and to accept again the challenge of battle.

SHIP IS LAUNCHED IN FOURTEEN DAYS

Michigan Yard Sets New Record in Building 3,500-Ton Cargo Carrier.

Philadelphia, July 29.—According to information received by the Emergency Fleet corporation, the Ecorse plant in Michigan launched a 3,500-ton cargo carrier that had been only 14 days in the building. This is said to be a new record for this class of boat.

The corporation announced that contracts for 23 vessels had been awarded to the Bethlehem Steel corporation. The plant at Sparrow's Point, Md., will build three of the ships, of 7,400 tons each. The Elizabeth yard will construct three tankers of 7,500 tons and seven cargo boats 6,100 tons each.

ALL BELGIUM WITHIN RANGE OF GERMAN GUNS

Belgians Have Taken Seven Times as Much Territory in German East Africa.

Paris, July 29.—Less than 2½ per cent. of Belgian territory is still free from the invader. All the unoccupied communes are within range of the German heavy artillery which has fired upon Dunkirk, but all are inhabited.

On the other hand, Belgian troops have occupied seven times as much German territory in German East Africa as the total area of Belgium.

Asks Home Guard to Harvest.

Lincoln, Neb., July 29.—The 30,000 members of Nebraska Home guard organizations have been appealed to by Gov. Keith Noville and Adjt. Gen. H. E. Clapp to aid the farmers in harvesting the state's crop.

Noted Critic Is Killed.

Babylon, N. Y., July 29.—Gustay Kobbe, widely known author and a critic of music and the drama, was killed when a naval seaplane swooping down to the surface of the Great South Bay struck a small boat in which Mr. Kobbe was sitting. The seaplane, which was said to be traveling about 60 miles an hour, hit Mr. Kobbe's catboat squarely, carrying away the mast. One of the wings struck his head, crushing his skull just as he was about to jump overboard.

UNITED STATES HAS 118 YARDS EQUIPPED

GREAT CHAIN OF SHIPBUILDING PLANTS IS APPROACHING COMPLETION.

ERECTING 44 MORE PLANTS

Hog Island, the Greatest of All Shipyards, Is 90 Per Cent Complete and Will Launch Its First Ship Next Month.

Washington, July 29.—America's great chain of ship manufactories is approaching completion.

There are now 118 fully equipped yards in the United States and 44 others partly complete, of which 23 are more than 75 per cent finished and only six less than 25 per cent ready to begin building tonnage. Many have been built from the ground up, while the others have been extended and enlarged to such a degree that many of them amount almost to new yards.

Thirty-seven steel yards which the United States had when the war began have grown to 72. The old yards have been increased from 162 ways to 195 and more are being added. Eighty yards for building wooden ships now are in operation or nearing completion. The remainder of the total number of yards are for building concrete ships, a new industry developed by the war need.

Hog Island, the greatest of all shipyards and one of the four government fabricating yards, is 90 per cent complete and will launch its first ship next month, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson acting as sponsor.

Wherever expansion can be made efficiently, the shipping board is lending its aid to increase the capacity of existing yards. Within the month, 18 new ways have been ordered added to the country's ship manufactories—as Chairman Hurley prefers to call them, for America is getting ready to "manufacture" ships instead of building them.

The Alameda plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation has been authorized to add 10 new ways at an estimated cost of $20,000,000. The same company's yard at Sparrow's Point, Md., is adding three additional ways at a cost of $3,000,000. The New York Shipbuilding corporation at Camden, N. J., is building five new ways at a cost of $7,000,000.

The 118 yards which are complete are distributed sectionally as follows: Pacific coast, 48; Atlantic coast, 38; Great Lakes, 16, and Gulf coast, 16.

GERMAN SOLDIERS SEIZE RUSSIAN CROPS

Peasants Are Allowed Only Such Quantities as Troops Decide They Need.

Washington, July 29.—The food situation between Germany and Russia has reached an acute stage, according to advices received at the State department. There is not enough food for both countries and the question as to who will get what provisions there are has reached a critical stage.

High-handed methods have been adopted by the Germans, it was said. Soldiers with threshing machines are sent into the grain countries and the grain requisitioned. The Russian peasants are allowed only such quantities as the soldiers decide they need.

AUTHORIZES WAR CREDIT OF 6,000,000,000 KRONEN

Lower House of Austrian Parliament Also Passes the Provision Budget.

Amsterdam, July 29.—The lower house of the Austrian parliament has passed the provisional budget for the ensuing six months by a vote of 215 to 196, as well as authorizing a war credit of 6,000,000,000 kronen. The majority was composed of Christian Socialists, German Nationals and Radicals, Roumanians, members of the Polish section, and some Italians.

AMERICAN FIGHTING TROOPS REACH ITALY

Appearance of Large Body of Yankees Occasions the Greatest Satisfaction.

With the American Army on the Italian Front, July 29.—American fighting troops are now on the Italian front. They are being billeted with the Italians.

Heretofore the only combatant American troops were aviators, and the appearance of this large body of fighting men from the United States at the present moment has occasioned the greatest satisfaction.

Chemist Admits War Plant Plot.

Newark, N. J., July 29.—Federal officials claimed they had obtained from Dr. Frederick W. Bischoff of Irvington, a dentist and chemist, a confession that he made the bomb employed in a frustrated attempt to blow up the plant of the Gould & Eberhardt Machinery company at Irvington, near here. Bischoff was arrested with William Heineman, a chauffeur, on the charge of attempted sabotage in having planted the bomb near the factory.

HUSBAND SAVES WIFE

From Suffering by Getting Her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"For many months I was not able to do my work owing to a weakness which caused backache and headaches. A friend called my attention to one of your newspaper advertisements and immediately my husband bought three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me. After taking two bottles I felt fine and my troubles caused by that weakness are a thing of the past. All women who suffer as I did should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. JAS. ROHRBERG, 620 Knapp St., N.S., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Women who suffer from any form of weakness, as indicated by displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, backache, headaches, nervousness or "the blues," should accept Mrs. Rohrberg's suggestion and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a thorough trial.

For over forty years it has been correcting such ailments. If you have mysterious complications write for advice to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Where He Was.

Two blind men were walking in a street on the outskirts of the city where there were no cement sidewalks. At some places there was not even a clearly defined path. All went well, however, until one of them strayed away a little from his companion into an adjoining lawn. Close to the sidewalk was a small cluster of rose bushes, which he was soon in close relation with. After trying for a time to avoid them, he called to his companion:

"Where are you?"

"Over here," answered the man on the sidewalk. "Where are you?"

"I guess I've gotten into a blackberry patch, or something," he said, as he finally disentangled himself and worked his way out.

Advice.

Ignatz was standing at the corner of Euclid avenue and Mount Union, East Cleveland, the other day, and he saw a soldier boy waiting for a city-bound car. After he had waited for a reasonable length of time, then for an unreasonable ditto, a policeman passed. The soldier addressed the minion of the law:

"How long will I have to wait," he asked, "to get a car downtown?"

The cop looked with interest at the rookie.

"How long a furlough have you got?" he asked, with apparent irrelevance.

"Ten days."

"Well," said the patrolman, "you'd better walk."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A scar nobly got is a good livery of honor.

News of the State

Condensed for Busy Folks

Crookston.—Willard S. Fey died as the result of blood poisoning caused by a sliver in his thumb. He had been at the hospital for the past two weeks.

Moorhead.—Thirty-six summer term students received diplomas at the midsummer graduation exercises of the Moorhead normal school last Friday evening.

Baudette.—J. A. Kennedy is rapidly recovering from the effects of the accident he sustained when he did a nose dive from a height of fifteen feet after being thrown from an auto which hit a sign post near Roseau.

Bagley.—Le Roy Gordon, the 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hans L. Gordon, who was accidentally kicked by one of their horses, died a few minutes after the parents had reached the hospital at Fosston with him.

Winona.—Frank Webber, 48 years old, assistant chief of the Winona fire department, died as a result of burns he received while fighting a fire in an automobile. Three other firemen who were burned in the explosion are recovering.

Cass Lake.—George Prior and his team of horses were instantly killed during a terrific electric storm in this section. Prior was driving home with a load of hay when the lightning struck. The hay was set on fire and the body of Mr. Prior burned to a crisp.

Fairmont.—Girl machinists will be employed by the Fairmont Gas Engine company to help relieve the shortage of men. Eight girls are wanted at once to start learning this trade. If they stick to the job and become as proficient as the men, they will receive the same scale of wages.

Minneapolis. — William Jennings Bryan will return to Minnesota during the latter part of September or early part of October, to assist in making the state dry, and in the election of a dry legislature, according to Senator Richard Jones, campaign manager for the Minnesota Dry Federation. Mr. Bryan is president of the National Dry Federation.

St. Paul.—John O. Gardiner, assistant labor commissioner for the past six weeks, has been named labor commissioner to succeed the late William F. Houk of Minneapolis. Mr. Gardiner is a machinist by trade. He was at one time business agent of the Machinists' union and was located at Brainerd. For some time he served as an inspector in the state labor department. He lives in St. Paul.

St. Paul.—The Democratic state candidates spent two hours in discussion and then adjourned. They will meet again in the next two weeks at the call of Fred E. Wheaton, candidate for Governor, who presided over the meeting. D. D. Daly of Minneapolis was elected chairman of the committee; John A. Pearson of St. Paul, secretary, and Louis Betz of St. Paul, treasurer. The vice chairmanship was left open.

St. Paul. — Cream collecting and shipping stations are branded an unessential industry by James Sorenson, state dairy and food commissioner, in a statement to the State Public Safety commission. Mr. Sorenson takes the side of the local creamery as opposed to the centralization plan. He says there are about 1,600 cream buying stations in Minnesota which ship cream to central plants, instead of permitting local handling and manufacture of creamery products.

St. Paul.—Gross business transacted by the state during the seven months ending July 31 will be the greatest in history, according to figures made public at the office of State Treasurer Rines. Up to closing, a few days since, the volume of business was $54,460,061.84. Last year the figure for the complete seven months was $49,092,006.01. The cash balance was $7,868,213.61. August 1, 1917, it was $7,584,075.13. Receipts to date this year have been $27,372,100.16. Disbursements have been $27,087,961.68.

St. Paul. — Seventeen forty-acre tracts in St. Louis county are offered in a sale to be conducted by the state of Minnesota on Aug. 19 and 21 of farm home sites in the timber section of the state for a payment of $45 down and the balance at any time within forty years at the option of the purchaser. Aliens are barred.

St. Paul.—Deposits of the 211 state banks of Minnesota fell $16,150,438 from $259,277,135, between the calls of May 1 and June 29, according to figures made public by F. E. Pearson, state superintendent of banks. Loans increased from $252,594,816, to $255,815,414, while cash reserves decreased $16,500,000, an excess over legal requirements of $12,784,238. Rediscounts increased $4,200,000. "The decrease in deposits is probably due to the lack of activity on local stock and grain exchanges at this season and the withdrawal of funds for investment in government securities," said Mr. Pearson. "It is perfectly normal and not at all alarming. The fall crop movement doubtless will bring a reaction."

Little Falls.—An accident which may prove serious took place on the Jefferson highway when the car of Nels Swanson, aged 63 years, of Park Rapids, went into a ditch a couple of miles this side of Randall. The car turned over a couple of times, pinning Mr. Swanson under it. His hip is dislocated and perhaps fractured.

Minneapolis. — Mrs. Esther Gunstrom was drowned in Lake Fanney near Cambridge, Minn., while attempting to rescue a girl bather from drowning. Mrs. Gunstrom and Gladys Parmin sank before help reached them. Mrs. Gunstrom was 27 years old.

Red Wing.—Paul Arens, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Helmut Arens of Oak Center, was drowned in a water hole at Claybank, where he had gone for a swim.

Minneapolis.—Burglars entered the university car agency plant, and breaking open the safe with sledge hammers, made away with $950 in Liberty bonds.

Minneapolis.—The twentieth annual meeting of the Minnesota Baptist summer assembly has opened at Mound, Lake Minnetonka, to continue until August 4.

St. Cloud. — Francis Rutherford, aged 9, and Harry Sippers, aged 8, have been picked up by the police on charges of stealing between 900 to 1,000 pounds of iron from a local iron works.

International Falls.—With the muzzle of the weapon resting on his foot, Thomas Dion of this place accidentally shot himself in the foot, losing the toe next to the small one on the right foot.

St. Paul.—Gathering the harvest, as one of the important agencies in halting the Hun will be aided by the St. Paul association through the establishment of a farm labor registration bureau. The bureau opened Saturday.

Glenwood. — Lightning totally destroyed the Norwegian Lutheran church of Walden. The fire began in the tower and burned slowly downward, but there was nothing with which the fire could be extinguished.

Little Falls.—While helping transport the heavy wagons from the grounds to the depot, Leo O'Brien, an employe of the Hagenback-Wallace circus, fell off the tractor and under the machine. He received serious injuries.

St. Paul.—Governor Burnquist has designated the week of August 11 as "marine recruiting week," in a proclamation in which he called upon all citizens, especially Rotary club members, to aid in the drive for recruits to be made throughout the state.

Minnesota City.—In a disastrous fire here for a time it was feared the greater part of the North side of the village would be destroyed. The residence building of John Gainey was totally burned after being struck by lightning. The loss was several thousand dollars.

Sabina.—Charles Hauck of St. Paul, his wife, his son and his mother-in-law were all injured when their automobile, a light machine, overturned. Mrs. Hauck has a fractured right arm; Mr. Hauck suffered serious injuries to one arm and his neck and has serious bruises, while the boy was badly bruised. Mrs. Hauck's mother was less seriously hurt.

Duluth.—Public Safety Commissioner Silberstein has declared war on Oliver, Wis., the only wet spot at the Head of the Lakes. Thus far he has failed to close this suburb, so far as booze is concerned, but he still is trying hard. He has now refused to issue licenses to jitneys covering the mile from the end of the car line in the saloon. Of course, he can't stop pedestrians.

Crookston.—Polk county has sent 200 more men in the July draft call to Camp Wadsworth, S. C. Crookston was again the mobilization center for the northwestern counties. Four hundred and twenty-nine men were mobilized here from the counties of Polk, Beltrami, Roseau, Pennington, Red Lake, Clearwater, Kittson and Marshall. Beltrami will send 50, Roseau 65, Pennington 25, Red Lake 10, Clearwater 35, Kittson 10 and Marshall 34 men.

St. Paul.—Local commission men have received authoritative information from various cities in the Northwest that housewives are doing a whole lot of cold storage work this summer. Thousands of dozens of eggs are being "put up" for the winter, because of the soaring prices of eggs last winter. In some districts "strictly fresh eggs" sold for more than 80 cents a dozen last winter. Various preparations have been used as preservatives.

St. Paul.—In order to minimize the effort that must be put upon the preparation of meals for men doing heavy work in haying and harvesting upon the farms, the state food administrator, A. D. Wilson, has raised the six-pound-per-month flour limit to farm workers during the season. County food administrators are authorized to grant permission to farmers employing extra labor and working long days, to purchase up to twelve pounds per capita per month of wheat flour, provided they purchase this on 50-50 basis as they have in the past.

St. Paul.—The wages of several thousand young girls in Minnesota have jumped to $6 a week. On July 26, the order of the state minimum wage commission, long contested in the courts, went into effect. Girls of more than 18 years who have worked less than six months in their present occupation will have to be paid at least $6 a week. Those who have worked more than six months will get $9, if employed in office, store, or restaurant; $8.75 if employed elsewhere. Those under 18 years will have to work a year at one occupation before they are entitled to the full minimum wage.

Mankato.—Colonel G. A. Lewis of the Second regiment, Minnesota National Guard, has returned after a trip to southern Minnesota cities in the interest of the formation of the regiment. Companies are being formed at Faribault, Austin, Owatonna, Rochester and Winona.

Winnipeg. — Senator Hackney of Minnesota, who a year ago purchased a large farm at Benard, Man., 30 miles west of Winnipeg, has sold it to a Menonite colony, and it will be divided up into small plots and settled on by 1,500 people from the United States. The price was $400,000.

PRO-GERMANS AIDED VIERECK

FURNISHED NEW YORK EDITOR ABOUT $100,000.

After the United States Entered the War Viereck's Direct German Help Ceased.

New York, July 29.—Evidence that George Sylvester Viereck, whose claim to Americanism is being investigated, obtained $100,000 for his own uses from pro-Germans who believed they were contributing to improve the status of enemy aliens has been obtained through examination of witnesses and of his bank accounts, it was announced at the office of Merton E. Lewis, state attorney general.

About half of this sum was invested in German war bonds and municipal securities.

Revenue Source Cut Off.

After America entered the war and Viereck changed the name of his publication, the Fatherland, to Viereck's Weekly, his source of revenue, which was the German government, was cut off. To carry on his alleged German activities, it was charged by Alfred L. Becker, deputy attorney general, he employed agents to collect funds under the representation that the money was to be used to finance the agricultural and industrial labor relief bureau, which he said was organized to aid unemployed enemy aliens. These agents, called as witnesses, told of their work in all parts of the country and of obtaining sums ranging from $5 to $800.

According to Mr. Becker, the evidence indicated that Viereck paid himself a salary of $700 monthly.

SIXTY-FIVE YANKEES KILLED IN BATTLE

Army and Marine Corps Casualty List Gives Sixty-seven Men Severely Wounded.

Washington, July 29. — The last army casualty list shows: Killed in action, 64; died of wounds, 20; died of disease, 5; died of airplane accident, 1; wounded severely, 60; wounded slightly, 2; wounded, degree undetermined, 14; missing, 2; total, 168.

The marine corps casualty list today: Killed in action, 1; wounded severely, 7; missing, 4; total, 12.

Northwest names appear on the list as follows: Lt.-Col. Clark R. Elliott, Minneapolis; Corp. G. E. York, Minneapolis; Serg. W. B. Johnson, Minneapolis; Serg. L. W. Leck, Minneapolis; Serg. A. E. Nelson, Hopkins, Minn.; Wagoner C. Rowe, Witten, S. D.; Private E. A. Mauss, Rice Lake, Wis.; Private L. F. Osborne, Minburn, Iowa, killed in action.

WILLIAM ALDEN SMITH OUT OF SENATE RACE

Four Candidates Are Left on the Republican Ballot for Michigan Primary.

Lansing, Mich., July 29.—Unless there are more withdrawals before the ballots are printed there will be four candidates for the Republican nomination for United States senator from Michigan at the primary election Aug. 27.

Just before the time limit for filing nominating petitions expired, Senator William Alden Smith announced that he would not be a candidate for renomination. His withdrawal leaves Henry Ford, Truman H. Newberry and William G. Simpson of Detroit, and Chase S. Osborn of Sault Ste. Marie, in the race. Henry Ford's name will also appear on the Democratic ticket, where he will be opposed by James W. Helme, of Adrian.

ZEEBRUGGE, BRUGES AND OSTEND BOMBARDED

Fifteen Tons of Explosives Are Dropped With Good Results—Foe Destroyers Attacked.

London, July 29.—An official statement by the British admiralty says:

"Our bombing formations have attacked military objectives at Zeebrugge, Bruges and Ostend, more than 15 tons of bombs being dropped with good results.

"Enemy destroyers and trawlers have been attacked, a direct hit being obtained on one trawler which was subsequently observed to be in a sinking condition."

Acquitted, Then Arrested.

Bismarck, July 29.—J. W. Brinton, manager of the Consumers' Stores company, charged with making seditious utterances, was acquitted in federal court here after the jury had been deliberating three hours. Within half an hour after the verdict was reached Brinton was again arrested on a charge of assaulting a local newspaper publisher in the latter's office. Brinton, it is said, objected to publication of a letter which was made the basis for the indictment against him.

Army Makes Record Meat Purchase.

Chicago.—The largest single order for bacon and canned meats in the history of the world—99,560,000 pounds of bacon and 134,000,000 pounds of canned meat—has just been placed by the Quartermaster's Department, U. S. A., for the American Army overseas.

Louis F. Swift, in commenting on this today, said the order will take the bacon from approximately 1,900,000 hogs, and if other work were dropped to produce it, would be equivalent to the total bacon production of the five largest Chicago packers for nearly five weeks. However, six months will elapse before delivery is to be completed, Mr. Swift said.

"At the current prices on the day last week when the purchase was made, the packers would pay the live stock producers about $80,000,000 for the necessary hogs and over $50,000,000 for about 900,000 cattle required. The cattle will cost us twice as much, and the hogs two and one-half times as much as in the pre-war period.

The whole order will be made up before the first of the year, despite the fact that, even before this purchase, one-fourth of the packers' facilities have been devoted to filling military demands. In order to get out the canned goods the packers will find it necessary to employ night and day shifts of canners. Notwithstanding the fact that the products are being rushed forward thus hurriedly, not a single complaint has been received on meats delivered to the armies abroad. The five packers are now killing about 360,000 hogs weekly to keep abreast of martial and domestic needs."

"Bucks" for Dollars Not New.

Many a parent has reproved his son for using the word "bucks" for dollars because it's slang. But Otto Stoll, register of deeds, has found "bucks" written in the records of Detroit. In the transfer of a piece of Lake St. Clair frontage from the chiefs of the Chippewa tribe to James May, Patrick McNiff and Jacob Harsen, March 7, 1779, the expression was thus used: "We, the said chiefs and leaders of said nations for and in the consideration of the sum of $6,000 or bucks to us consent to transfer," etc.

Then There Was Silence.

The members of a certain local exemption board shrugged their shoulders cynically when a young man appeared and asked for exemption on the ground of physical disability.

"Fell down on the ice and hurt yourself, I presume?" one of them suggested.

"No," said the candidate, flushing, "I lost one leg at the battle of the Somme."

Then there was a large silence.

Percival in the Suburbs.

After several years of hotel life, Percival's parents took up their residence in a city's suburb.

"What were you doing, son?" the mother asked him, when Percival came into the house one afternoon.

"I was just out on the front porch," replied Percival, "listening to a man with a pushcart paging blackberries."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Kicking at portions of bread and sugar in the restaurant will not win the war.

WEAK KIDNEYS MEAN A WEAK BODY

When you're fifty, your body begins to creak a little at the hinges. Motion is more slow and deliberate. "Not so young as I used to be" is a frequent and unwelcome thought. Certain bodily functions upon which good health and good spirits so much depend are impaired. The weak spot is generally the bladder. Unpleasant symptoms show themselves. Painful and annoying complications in other organs arise. This is particularly true with elderly people. If you only know how, this trouble can be obviated.

For over 200 years GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been relieving the inconvenience and pain due to advancing years. It is a standard, old-time home remedy, and needs no introduction. It is now put up in odorless, tasteless capsules. These are easier and more pleasant to take than the oil in bottles.

Each capsule contains about one dose of five drops. Take them just like you would any pill, with a small swallow of water. They soak into the system and throw off the poisons which are making you old before your time. They will quickly relieve those stiffened joints, that backache, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, gall stones, gravel, "brick dust," etc. They are an effective remedy for all diseases of the bladder, kidney, liver, stomach and allied organs.

GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules cleanse the kidneys and purify the blood. They frequently ward off attacks of the dangerous and fatal diseases of the kidneys. They have a beneficial effect, and often completely cure the diseases of the bodily organs, allied with the bladder and kidneys.

If you are troubled with soreness across the loins or with "simple" aches and pains in the back take warning, it may be the preliminary indications of some dreadful malady which can be warded off or cured if taken in time.

Go to your druggist today and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Money refunded if they do not help you. Three sizes. GOLD MEDAL are the pure, original imported Haarlem Oil Capsules. Accept No Substitutes.—Adv.

Watch Your Stomach In the Summer Time

Hot summer days upset the strong stomachs as well as weak ones.

Your vital forces reach their lowest level when the weather is the hottest. Then the danger is the greatest.

You can't guard your stomach and bowels too carefully through the long, hot season. Don't take any chance. Indigestion, sour stomach, that wretched, bloated feeling, belching, food repeating, pains that claw at stomach and bowels and an endless train of stomach ills that make life miserable are greatly aggravated in the hot weather.

This year of all others—it is vital that we keep our strength and full power at work. The extra war work, change of diet—all must be looked after because they hit us in the stomach. And now it is good news to tell you that tens of thousands are now using EATONIC—for all stomach and bowel ailments caused by too much acidity with such truly wonderful results that every one should always have it in the house.

EATONIC Tablets stop the cause of indigestive and dyspeptic ailments by neutralizing the poisonous fluids, acids and gases largely the result of superacidity. This makes the stomach pain-free and ready to perform its proper work.

You can have a good appetite in hot weather to eat the things you like when you want them if you take one or two EATONIC Tablets after each meal. Such quick, wonderful relief would seem unbelievable but for the fact that thousands of sufferers everywhere have received marvelous results from EATONIC. Obtain a large box of EATONIC Tablets from your own druggist who you know and can trust. If they fail, go back to him and he will gladly refund your money. Do this today. You will then know what real stomach comfort means in hot weather.

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

The thousands of U. S. farmers who have accepted Canada's generous offer to settle on homesteads or buy farm land in her provinces have been well repaid by bountiful crops of wheat and other grains.

Where you can buy good farm land at $15 to $30 per acre—get $2 a bushel for wheat and raise 20 to 45 bushels to the acre you are bound to make money—that's what you can do in Western Canada.

In the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta you can get a and other land at very low prices.

During many years Canadian wheat fields have averaged 20 bushels to the acre—many yields as high as 45 bushels to the acre. Wonderful crops also of Oats, Barley, and Flax. Mixed Farming is as profitable an industry as grain raising. Good schools, churches; markets convenient, climate excellent. The Kind You Have Always Bought

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUB.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County Minnesota.

$1.00 a year, in advance.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

No pie, cake or fancy pastry of any kind will be exhibited at the coming Minnesota State Fair, Sept. 2 to 7, this year.

Since the Fair is a "War Exposition," it is believed that frills in cooking must be discouraged everywhere.

"Altogether too much sugar, lard and other ingredients needed elsewhere in winning the war are required for pie and cake," says Mrs. Bertha Dahl Laws. Superintendent of the Woman's Work Department. "You won't catch the Fair encouraging things of that nature this year."

A big bread exhibit is to be shown. Not a single loaf of bread made entirely from wheat flour, however, will be accepted. Only bread made either wholly or in part of wheat flour substitutes can be exhibited.

The canning exhibit will be a big feature. Canned fruit and vegetables of all kinds will be shown. Demonstrators will explain how canning can be done scientifically in the home, so that the Northwest may cut down its waste in fruit and vegetables in seasons of plenty in the near years to come.

It will be a wonderful exhibit.

Despite most valient efforts to keep the number of recruits secured in the Minnesota District this month up to the usual thousand mark at least, it was unavailing. Army recruiting slumped off during the month of July almost fifty percent and, while Major John D. Yost, Recruiting Officer for the District, looked for a slight falling off during the summer months, he states that he will look to Civilian Recruiting Committeer throughout the state to make up the loss in the months to come.

Major Yost attributes the slump to the fact that urgent calls for harvest hands from all sections of the country and the "Work of Fight" order have sent thousands of men to the farms; The slump has affected states west of here to an even greater extent than in Minnesota.

All signs point to a change in the draft age limits as soon as Congress reconvenes next month The concensus of opinion is that the ages will be lowered as well as raised and will in all probability require the registration of men from 19 to 21 years and from 31 to 40 years of age. Such changes prove a boon to recruiting as there is always a rush of recruits previous to the registration of new classes for the draft.

The victorious advance of American troops on the western front has done much to stir the fighting spirit of Young America and the greater proportion of men enlisting at the present time are men under the draft age limit. Men under 21 years must present satisfactory evidence to establish their age before they will be accepted. Consent of parents or guardian is not necessary for enlistment if over 18 years of age, but before applicants will be accepted documentary evidence of the fact must be presented to the recruiting officer.

Good news is now beginning to arrive from the front in France. Our boys have got that German army of invasion turned into an army of defense, and America will continue to rush the men over there until they have enough to conquer them [illegible]

An order has been issued by the United States government that all babies shall be registered weighed and measured. The Council of National Defense has charge of this work and each county has a chairman. It is not only in Pennington County that this work is to be done, but in every county of every state in the United States, and is a war measure for better future citizens. The draft has shown many physical defects that might have been corrected in early childhood and since the war it has also been discovered that the rate of deaths from needless causes among young children is greater than that of the men in the trenches. By the method of registering, weighing and measuring the government secures a record upon which to base future observation of the child's growth and development. These registration cards are sent to the children's bureau at Washington. The work in Pennington County has been delayed in the hope that a permanent county nurse might be secured, but as this has been again been postponed by our commissioners, the Pennington County Health Association have offered their reserve fund for this purpose, and a nurse will be here to begin work about August 15th.

The school buildings in the county will be used for this work to make it convenient for parents and a schedule of the time this work will be done in each district and ward will be published in the county papers. No individual notices will be sent to parents, but they are requested to watch for the announcement as to when to bring their children, and includes all children up to five years of age.

ESTATE OF Camilla McCarty.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF PENNINGTON IN PROBATE COURT.

In the Matter of the Estate of Camilla McCarty, Decedent.

THE STATE OF MINNESOTA To J. J. McCarty, Harvey McCarty and all persons interested in the granting of administration of the estate of said decedent:

The petition of J. J. McCarty having been filed in this Court, representing that Camilla McCarty, then a resident of the County of Pennington State of Minnesota, died intestate on the 9th day of May 1912, and praying that letters of administration of said estate be granted to J. J. McCarty, and the Court having fixed the time and place for hearing said petition.

THEREFORE, YOU, AND EACH OF YOU, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court at the Probate Court Rooms, in the City of Thief River Falls, in the County of Pennington State of Minnesota, on the 12th day of August 1918, at 10 o'clock A. M., why said petition should not be granted.

WITNESS, the Judge of said Court, and the Seal of said Court this 12th day of July 1918.

HOW TO PRESERVE WITHOUT SUGAR

FRUITS SHOULD BE SAVED IN SPITE OF THE SUGAR SHORTAGE.

Preserves Needed for Future Food Supply—Sugar Not Necessary to Preservation.

The Federal Food Administration for Minnesota emphatically denies the report that housewives should not put up any fruit this year because of the scarcity of sugar. If Uncle Sam is going to have sufficient supplies for his fighters and enough to spare to the Allies every housewife in America who possibly can, must put up enough for her family's needs this winter. The problem of [illegible]

Canning fruit in water.
Canning fruit juices without sugar.
Canning fruit in fruit juice.
Canning fruit butters without sugar.
Drying fruit.

Canning in Water.

(a) Open kettle: Gently simmer the fruit in very little water, allowing the water to evaporate as much as possible. Fill sterilized cans with the boiling hot fruit and seal. Do not expect the fruit to keep its shape. This will make excellent pie filling.

(b) Cold pack: Pack the fruit very closely in the cans. Fill with water, cover and steam from twenty to thirty minutes, according to the hardness of the fruit and the degree of ripeness. The skins will burst, and peeled fruit will drop shreds to the bottom of the can, but the shape will be kept.

(c) Hot pack for small sour fruits such as cherries: Pack the fruit quickly in a hot jar. Fill the jar at once with boiling water. Clamp and set quickly into a boiler or large pail containing boiling water enough to cover. Remove the boiler at once from the stove and let the jar cool in it. Success in this method depends on promptness. The fruit will remain unbroken.

Canning Fruit Juices Without Sugar.

Any fruit juice extracted for jelly may be canned without sugar by reheating to the boiling point, filling sterilized jars and sealing. This juice may be used for flavoring sauces, for beverages or for jelly making. If space must be saved, the juice may be evaporated to one-half its volume before canning.

Fruit juices may be canned without sugar now. There may be sugar later for jelly making. If not, the juices will keep till next season.

Canning Fruit in Fruit Juice.

Any fruit sweet enough to be eaten without sugar may be canned in its own juice. This gives a product of finer flavor than can be produced by the use of sugar syrups. Divide the fruit into two equal parts, selecting the best for the canning, and leaving the poorer for making the juice. Extract the juice as for jelly making and can the fruit in it using the cold pack or open kettle method. The fruit will stay whole and keep its shape. [illegible] through a puree sieve make a good foundation for relishes and for cake and pie fillings. Pick the fruit over carefully; cut large fruits, such as apples, in pieces. Add as much water as would be used in extracting juice for jelly and simmer till fruit is tender. Rub through a sieve to remove skins and seeds. Simmer the pulp in a shallow pan over hot water or directly over the stove, until it is as thick as cake dough. If direct heat is used constant stirring will be necessary.

Adjust rubbers to the preserving can, fill it with the fruit butter, adjust the cover but do not clamp. Boil 15 minutes in a closely covered steamer. Clamp cover and invert jar.

RECIPES.

Cherries Canned in Cherry Juice.

4 quarts cherries, ½ pint water.

Pick out 4 quarts of the best cherries. Simmer the remaining cherries with the water till they are thoroughly soft (about one-half hour). Drain through a jelly bag. Return juice to the kettle, place the remaining cherries in it. Simmer until soft (about 10 minutes). Adjust rubbers on sterilized jars, fill with fruit, seal and invert.

Raspberries Canned in Raspberry Juice.

4 quarts raspberries, ½ cup currant juice or 1 pint currants.

Select 2 quarts of the best raspberries. Simmer the rest with the currant juice or currants until soft. Drain through a jelly bag. Simmer the whole fruit in this juice about five minutes. Adjust rubbers on sterilized jars, fill with fruit, seal and invert.

Plums Canned in Plum Juice.

4 quarts sweet plums, ½ pint water.

Select 2 quarts of the best plums and prick each one with a fork or fruit pricker. Cook the remaining plums and water together till the pits separate. Drain through a jelly bag. Adjust rubbers on clean cans, pack with plums, fill the can to within ½ inch of the top with the juice, cover, and steam 10 minutes. Seal at once.

Food QUESTIONS ANSWERED

SUGAR

How can we save sugar?
By using substitutes and giving up candy and soft drinks.

Does it save sugar to use brown sugar instead of granulated?
If there is any saving it is too slight to be of value.

How much sugar may we eat?
Not more than 3 pounds a month per person.

Does this amount include candy and soft drinks?
Yes. We should reduce our consumption of candy and soft drinks as much as possible.

Does this amount include the sugar used in canning fruits and vegetables?
No.

What could we accomplish by cutting out the use of candy alone?
We could thereby release enough sugar to meet England's shortage, or to more than meet the shortage of France.

What was one factor that probably helped bring about the sugar shortage last year?
Canning and preserving. In August, 1917, there was an increase of 48 per cent and in September, 1917, an increase of 44 per cent of sugar consumption over the corresponding months of 1916.

Was this good conservation?
Yes; it will be justified in the long run.

Will there be another sugar famine?
If the American people use not more than 3 pounds per month per person allowed and refrain from hoarding, there will be enough sugar this year.

How is sugar used commercially?
In breadstuffs, condensed milk, flavoring extracts, chewing gum, certain medicines, confectionery, canned fruits and vegetables, cocoa, chocolate, syrups, beverages, and in a number of nonedible products, such as paste, leather, explosives, etc.

When did the beet sugar industry begin in the United States?
About 1886.

What has its increase been since then?
From 896 tons to 820,657 tons, or over 90,000 per cent increase.

Does the United States get most of its sugar from this country?
No. Most of it is imported, and refined here.

Why should we not compare our total consumption of sugar with the sugar rations of the Allies?
Because total consumption means household use and commercial use, while the rations are amounts allotted to individuals, and do not even include the allowance for canning and preserving.

What was the total per capita consumption in the United States for 1917?
84.35 pounds.

How much of this was for household use?
61.18 pounds per person.

What was the total per capita consumption in England and in France in 1916?
66.82 pounds in England.
27.83 pounds in France.

What is the individual ration now in England, France, Italy, and Germany?
England, 26 pounds a year.
France, 13.2 pounds a year.
Italy, 13.2 pounds a year.
Germany, 21 pounds a year.

These rations are not guaranteed. They represent the maximum portion possible if the government can get the sugar.

What is the total amount obtainable from our present sources of sugar?

If fruit is expensive, this juice may be poured off for jelly making before using and the fruit recooked in syrup.

Canning Fruit Butter Without Sugar.

Fruit which is small or imperfect, though in good condition, may be poor in appearance but of excellent flavor. Such fruits, boiled till soft, rubbed through a puree sieve make a good foundation for relishes and for cake and pie fillings. Adjust rubbers to the preserving can, fill it with the fruit butter, adjust the cover but do not clamp. Boil 15 minutes in a closely covered steamer. Clamp cover and invert jar.

RECIPES.

Cherries Canned in Cherry Juice.

4 quarts cherries, ½ pint water.

Pick out 4 quarts of the best cherries. Simmer the remaining cherries with the water till they are thoroughly soft (about one-half hour). Drain through a jelly bag. Return juice to the kettle, place the remaining cherries in it. Simmer until soft (about 10 minutes). Adjust rubbers on sterilized jars, fill with fruit, seal and invert.

Raspberries Canned in Raspberry Juice.

4 quarts raspberries, ½ cup currant juice or 1 pint currants.

Select 2 quarts of the best raspberries. Simmer the rest with the currant juice or currants until soft. Drain through a jelly bag. Simmer the whole fruit in this juice about five minutes. Adjust rubbers on sterilized jars, fill with fruit, seal and invert.

Plums Canned in Plum Juice.

4 quarts sweet plums, ½ pint water.

Select 2 quarts of the best plums and prick each one with a fork or fruit pricker. Cook the remaining plums and water together till the pits separate. Drain through a jelly bag. Adjust rubbers on clean cans, pack with plums, fill the can to within ½ inch of the top with the juice, cover, and steam 15 minutes. Seal at once

Does this amount include candy and soft drinks?

Yes. We should reduce our consumption of candy and soft drinks as much as possible.

Does this amount include the sugar used in canning fruits and vegetables?

No.

What could we accomplish by cutting out the use of candy alone?

We could thereby release enough sugar to meet England's shortage, or to more than meet the shortage of France.

What was one factor that probably helped bring about the sugar shortage last year?

Canning and preserving. In August, 1917, there was an increase of 48 per cent and in September, 1917, an increase of 44 per cent of sugar consumption over the corresponding months of 1916.

Was this good conservation?

Yes; it will be justified in the long run.

Will there be another sugar famine?

If the American people use not more than 3 pounds per month per person allowed and refrain from hoarding, there will be enough sugar this year.

How is sugar used commercially?

In breadstuffs, condensed milk, flavoring extracts, chewing gum, certain medicines, confectionery, canned fruits and vegetables, cocoa, chocolate, syrups, beverages, and in a number of nonedible products, such as paste, leather, explosives, etc.

When did the beet sugar industry begin in the United States?

About 1886.

What has its increase been since then?

From 896 tons to 820,657 tons, or over 90,000 per cent increase.

Does the United States get most of its sugar from this country?

No. Most of it is imported, and refined here.

Why should we not compare our total consumption of sugar with the sugar rations of the Allies?

Because total consumption means household use and commercial use, while the rations are amounts allotted to individuals, and do not even include the allowance for canning and preserving.

What was the total per capita consumption in the United States for 1917?

84.35 pounds.

How much of this was for household use?

81.18 pounds per person.

What was the total per capita consumption in England and in France in 1916?

66.82 pounds in England.
87.83 pounds in France.

What is the individual ration now in England, France, Italy, and Germany?

England, 26 pounds a year.
France, 13.2 pounds a year.
Italy, 13.2 pounds a year.
Germany, 21 pounds a year.

These rations are not guaranteed. They represent the maximum portion possible if the government can get the sugar.

What is the total amount obtainable from our present sources of sugar?

6,759,968 short to—

There was some complaint among the farmers about the banks being closed at Thief River Falls on Tuesday, as large numbers of them wanted to combine business with pleasure on the one day they left their work. But we suppose the bankers wanted to see the show the same as the other people for they are only human beings after all.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

It looks bad to see the farmers mowing their heavy crops of grain, in some parts of Cloverleaf township, that was entirely destroyed by hail. You people that envy the farmers when they do get a good crop, should consider the long chances they take of having the product of a summer's toil laid to waste in one half hour.

T. Saltvedt and James Iverson, were ran over by an auto on the First National Bank corner, at Thief River Falls on Tuesday evening. They were standing in the street talking when the auto of John Homme turned the corner and ran over them. Both fortunately escaped with only a few scratches and bruises. Farmers should not make a practice of standing and talking in the streets, or on crossings, as there is always plenty of room on the sidewalks.

SAVE SUGAR FOR THE MAN WHO FIGHTS

It is easy to see how people living in the cities can obtain substitutes for sugar in the form of syrups and honey. But the farmers who do their trading with country merchants are not able to obtain these substitutes. If you ask one of them for corn syrup they will only give you a look as if they did not understand what you wanted. One of our merchants did have some small glasses of honey containing one and one fourth teaspoonfuls, which he sold at twenty-five cents each, and they were soon exhausted at that price. So the farmers are the ones that produces the food, and are the ones that suffer the most from government food restrictions, and they are about all getting anxious to sell out and go to Canada, where they get plenty to eat.

Events of the past few days on the Western battle-front in France have proven that American youth, when they know their cause is right, cannot be stopped. A new page was written in American history in the past week, and deeds accomplished which will send a thrill of pride along the keel of every redblooded American, whenever deeds of valor are mentioned.

CARRY FOOD TO TRENCHES

French Employ Canine Couriers to Take Supplies to the Men in Most Exposed Positions.

Trench warfare certainly interferes with the fighter's meals. After capturing the enemy's position in particular is the fighter at a loss to know how he will get his regular rations, for no sooner does the enemy find himself dispossessed of his original trenches than he opens up with an intense barrage designed to prevent ammunition and food from reaching the new occupants.

The French army believes it has solved the problem of carrying food to men in isolated trenches in its lunch dogs, says the Scientific American. Carrying light lunches and coffee, and even cartridges for the men in the first line trenches when the combat is hot and protracted these splendid trained dogs are more certain to get through barrages than men. Each dog is equipped with a sort of double bag strapped tight over its body, and provided with numerous pockets for food, coffee cans, ammunition and other supplies.

It is at the military dog-training grounds at Paris that dogs are prepared for this service. Not only are these four-legged couriers taught to avoid the enemy and beware of tricks, but also to crawl on their stomachs in order to escape flying bullets. Special masks are provided for these dogs when they must pass through a poison gas area.

Big Grain Crop Show's Aim
Wheat Needed to Feed World

There is desperate need for more wheat and other grains with which to keep the world from starvation. So apparent is the need, and so necessary is it for America to encourage the raising of more cereals, that liberal premiums are to be given to owners of the best exhibits of grain at the coming Minnesota State Fair, September 2 to 7.

More wheat must be raised not only for home consumption but for shipment abroad to be mixed with the coarse flours of Europe in the making of bread. It is necessary for America to raise more barley, rye and oats, not only to meet an unprecedented foreign demand, but to serve as substitutes for wheat flour at home. Only in this way can the wheat of the world be made to go around.

The high prices for grain will induce big crops of grain for several years. Yet the scarcity of farm labor, the shortage of heavy work horses, and the high prices of seed grains, are three factors which must be contended against in our efforts to increase the grain crop. The fair is assisting in this work.—Copyrighted.

BRAZIL LOOKING TO FUTURE

Important Industries of the Country Are to Be Encouraged by the Government.

The secretary of agriculture of Brazil recently presented a lengthy memorial to the president of the republic explaining the necessity of encouraging the coal and steel industries, which has resulted in the publication of two decrees of the federal government.

The secretary's report states that until there are at least ten coal mines in active operation in the country the effect of this industry will not be felt in the conservation of the wood supply, which is now being rapidly consumed to meet the needs of the railways and of domestic industries. The steel industry is so largely dependent upon suitable fuel that, in the secretary's opinion, it should also receive the attention of the Brazilian government. The director of the geological survey of the Brazilian government states that by a process of washing metallurgical coke may be obtained from Brazilian coal, and that this is already being accomplished in the state of Santa Catharina.

The secretary points out that the present lack of sufficient domestic coal of suitable quality should not interfere with the establishment of a steel industry, which could temporarily use wood and that for more than 300 years Sweden was obliged to depend upon this kind of fuel. He also says that in the United States some 400,000 tons of pig iron are produced annually by the use of charcoal as a fuel.—Commerce Reports.

Wisdom of Daylight Saving.

Who ever thinks nowadays that the sun is an hour behind the clock? Who ever tells himself it "really is five o'clock" when it is six? We go peaceably to bed when the clock tells us to; we arise by the same token; we eat, play and work by the Promethean instrument which, for war and common sense purposes, is stealing 60 golden minutes every day from the sun to benefit the human race. And nary a vulture of any description is tearing at the clock's vitals for filching the same.

Here and there is a little petty thievery such as the beginning of baseball games at 3:30 o'clock that used to begin at three o'clock; but the public is too busy with great work, and at present with the races and golf recreation to worry about that. In general, America is living by the clock as it should do, and the wisdom of the daylight savings law is a thousand times manifest.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Italians Save Wood Ashes.

Increased wood-burning and scarcity of chemical fertilizers are reported by Consul Haven of Turin to be turning attention in Italy to the saving and collection of wood ashes. Of the many constituents, the potash is of importance for fertilizing. The potash in wood ash averages 6 to 19 per cent, and the quantity per ton of wood ranges from one pound from spruce to 3.81 from oak and 8.6 from elm. A ton of wormwood yields 160.98 pounds of potash in 241.73 of ash; fumaria, 174.16 pounds of potash in 482.81 of ash.

BAKER EXPLAINS DRAFT CHANGES

Wants Congress to Amend Law Making Men From 18 to 45 Years Eligible.

TO CALL YOUTHS LAST

Secretary of War Asserts Department Has in Mind Simply to Secure a Large Enough Army to Conquer Germany.

Washington, Aug. 5.—In discussing the war department's recommendations to Congress of draft ages from 18 to 45 years, Secretary Baker said there was no intention of calling to the colors youths between 18 and 19 until the other classes have become exhausted.

This policy was decided on, he said, in order to give the youths an opportunity to mature before they join the army.

After formally announcing the new draft ages, Secretary Baker said all the possible combinations of age limits were carefully studied and it was found that to get the men into class 1 for the program proposed, 18 to 45 was necessary.

To Hold Young Men.

He said, however, that the bill as read to Congress, will contain a provision authorizing the president to call men out of class 1 by classes according to age, so that if it is found possible the men between 18 and 19 will be called out later than the older men found eligible to class 1.

The War department program, the war secretary said, is purely a military one and cannot be called a conscription of labor, although it naturally will have the effect of putting at useful labor or in the army, all able-bodied men within the age limit as they finally will be fixed by Congress.

In recommending this extension of the age limits, Mr. Baker continued, the department had it in mind simply to get for the army the number of men believed necessary to defeat Germany.

Mr. Baker gave it as his opinion that so far, about 1,600,000 had been drafted out of class 1 from the existing list.

BLAMED FOR MARNE DEFEAT

Rumored That Gen. von Ludendorff Will Be Dismissed.

Berne, Switzerland, Aug. 5.—General von Ludendorff is universally blamed for the West front disaster, according to advices from German sources, which declare he will be superseded by Field Marshall von Mackensen, who has been summoned to imperial headquarters from the East.

A Zurich dispatch says that Field Marshal von Hindenburg participated in a recent conference at headquarters and accused Ludendorff of mismanagement and imprudence, Ludendorff placed the responsibility on his subordinates.

THINKS KAISER FRIGHTENED

Lord Robert Cecil So Interprets His Proclamation.

London, Aug. 5.—Lord Cecil, assistant secretary of state for foreign affairs, declared in an interview that the kaiser's proclamation to the German army and navy shows he is becoming frightened.

"He talks with consideration," said Lord Cecil. "Owing to the Germans' temperament it is necessary to beat them before they will talk in reasonable terms.

"I deplore Lord Lansdowne's letter because the Germans will think the English are weakening, which is not true."

THREE FISHING BOATS SUNK

German Submarine Destroys Ships Off Nova Scotia.

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 5.—Three American fishing schooners were sunk by German submarines, off Seal Island, Yarmouth county, on the Nova Scotia coast. The crews landed on the Nova Scotian coast.

The commander of one submarine told an American skipper that he had sunk more American schooners sailing from Boston and Gloucester. He did not give the names of the vessels nor mention what became of the crews.

To Increase Coal Production.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Plans for conducting an intensive campaign to increase bituminous coal production were announced by the fuel administration. In each district a production manager will be appointer, while at each mine a committee of six—three representing mine workers and three of the operators—will be selected to stimulate patriotism and arrange for local meetings at which need for increased production as a means of winning the war will be brought home to the men.

TWO POWERS TO ACT

America and Japan Only Will Intervene in Russia.

Other Allied Nations Assent in Principle to Policy Which Will Be Pursued.

Washington, Aug. 5.—The plans for extending military aid to Russia in Siberia will be undertaken by the United States and Japan alone, with the other Allied co-belligerents assenting in principle, according to official statements by the American and Japanese governments, made here.

The United States and Japan will each send "a few thousand men" to Vladivostok to act as a common force in occupying and safeguarding the city and protecting the rear of the westward moving Czecho-Slovak army.

The numbers of the American troops and from where they will go may not be discussed.

To Send Aid to Murmansk.

While the United States and Japan are extending aid to the Czecho-Slovak army in Siberia the United States will continue to co-operate with the Allies operating from Murmansk and Archangel. To what extent and in what nature is not announced.

The only present objects of the Japanese-American forces will be to give such aid and protection as possible to the Czecho-Slovak forces against the armed body of German and Austrian prisoners of war and to steady any efforts at self-government and self-defense in which the Russians themselves may be willing to accept assistance.

WILSON MAY TOUR COUNTRY

President Plans to Aid Fourth Liberty Loan Drive.

Washington, Aug. 5.—It is believed here that President Wilson is contemplating a nation-wide tour during the next Liberty Loan campaign, which begins Sept. 28, and that if the program is finally carried out it will include a visit to Minnesota.

The President wrote a letter to Representative Charles G. Randall, Prohibitionist, of California, indicating that he would like to visit California in the next few months. Mr. Randall had written to the President asking him to visit California in October, and while the invitation was not accepted neither was it refused.

CAPTURED IN PINK PAJAMAS

German General Taken En Deshabille by Italians.

London, Aug. 5.—In a recent Italian advance in Albania, according to reports received here, a German general and several other German officers, dressed in pink pajamas, were made prisoners, so completely were they surprised. The same source confirms reports of the excellent work of British monitors. They shelled most effectively the retreating Austrians near the coast.

SENT 300,000 DURING JULY

War Department Makes Record Shipment of Troops.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Gen. March, chief of staff, has issued the following statement:

"The number of men embarked during the month of July, just closed, was over 300,000. That breaks the record. The previous high record was in the preceding month, when we reached 276,000. The number of men embarked to France is now over 1,300,000."

RESERVES BECOMING SCARCE

German High Command Using Up its Shock Troops.

London, Aug. 5.—The feeling is growing in the German high command that the war must be won, or forced to a draw, before 1919, it has been reported. The German armies cannot hold out much longer, as the bulk of their shock divisions already have been used and no fresh ones can be produced in any great number.

SACRIFICE TOO GREAT

General Ludendorff Says Objective of Allies Failed.

Commander of German Army Maintains Withdrawal Is Good Tactical Move.

Amsterdam, Aug. 5.—"On July 15 the enemy evaded us, and we thereupon, as early as the evening of the 16th, broke off operations.

"It is always our endeavor to stop an undertaking as soon as the stake is not worth the cost. I consider it one of my principal duties to spare the blood and strength of our soldiers."

General Ludendorff, first quartermaster general of the German army, made this statement to an assemblage of German newspaper correspondents, who were received by Field Marshal von Hindenburg and himself, according to dispatches received here.

Declare Foch Failed.

"His plan was undoubtedly to cut off the entire arc of our front south of the Aisne by a break-through on the flank. But with the proved leadership of our Seventh and Ninth armies that was quite impossible.

"We reckoned with an attack on July 18 and were prepared for it. The enemy experienced very heavy losses, and the Americans and African auxilary troops, which we do not underestimate, suffered severely."

COLLECT STEEL MILLINERY

Yankees Sending German Helmets to Friends at Home.

With American Army on Aisne-Marne Front, Aug. 5.—Every American postoffice near where the fighting troops are camped is filled each day with German helmets addressed to relatives and friends in the United States.

Helmets at one depot form a pile larger than an ordinary bungalow.

300,000 IN FIGHTING ZONE

Gen. Pershing Now Commands Over One Million Men.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Gen. March, chief-of-staff, announced Gen. Pershing now has more than a million men under his direct command "in his own area." Presumably he referred to the section of the front from north of Verdun to the Swiss border, where American troops have been rapidly taking over the line from the French.

Eight divisions of Americans, or about 300,000 men, are now in the fighting zone.

ASKS 1,000 NURSES WEEKLY

Red Cross Needs That Number for Next Two Months.

Washington, Aug. 5.—An urgent call to the American Red Cross to enroll 1,000 nurses a week for the next two months for immediate duty with the army nurse corps was issued by Surgeon General Gorgas.

With the American armies overseas entering more and more into the fighting, the surgeon general said, the need for additional nurses becomes imperative.

Yankees Master War Game.

Washington, Aug. 5.—The American forces in France have reached such a high stage of training in the new methods of warfare that they are to furnish instructors for the new units being organized in the United States. No additional instructors from the Allied armies will be asked, except possibly in special technical cases. NEW OFFENSIVE BEGUN BY ALLIES

Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria Retreats Before British and French.

KEEPING UP PRESSURE

Entente Armies Force Germans Across Avre River Southeast of Amiens and Also Compel Retreat in the Region of Albert.

London, Aug. 5.—Eyes are being turned to the regions in the northwest on both sides of Amiens, now that the Germans have been thoroughly vanquished thus far on the Soissons-Rheims salient.

Here the French and British are keeping up their hard pressure against the armies of Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria and have forced them on two highly important sectors to retreat.

Southeast of Amiens on the old Montdidier sector the Germans have fallen back across the Avre river over a wide front, while, northeast of Amiens, in the region of Albert, a similar retrograde movement has been made across the Ancre.

Germans Face Greater Retreat.

The German official communication, in admitting the withdrawal near Albert, declares the maneuver was carried out without interference by the British.

Just what bearing these new offensives will have on the fighting front to which the Germans ultimately retreat for a stand in the Aisne region cannot yet be forecast, but should the Allied troops be able to press back the line for any material gains eastward it is not improbable that it would dislocate the entire German line in the south.

Enemy Retires on 10-Mile Front.

The retirement of the Germans between Montdidier and Moreuil is over a front of approximately 10 miles. On the southern half of this front, American contingents have been stationed for some time. Along the northern half of the line the French, on two occasions, have driven into the German lines so that their front before the present German withdrawal began ran along the hills dominating the Avre river from Castel to Aubvillers.

This withdrawal, taken in conjunction with the German retirement across the Ancre, from Dernancourt to Kamel, about 14 miles to the north, may mark the beginning of a German "strategic retreat" which may have been planned to forestall a British attack which London dispatches had indicted was imminent in this sector.

A LETTER TO THE COUNTRY FOLKS FROM UNCLE SAM

By HIRAM MOE GREENS,
Editor Woman's World.

Dear Nephews and Nieces:

Even before you open this letter I know that you will know what it is about. Some one of you—Lemuel Jones I guess it was—said the last time I was out to your house for Sunday dinner, that I hardly ever came around and almost never wrote, unless it was about money matters. Well, I guess that Lem is about right, but as the fellow said when some one offered him sympathy because he lost a couple of fingers in a corn shredder, "You can't feel any worse about it than I do."

I'm sorry that this unfortunate affair that we are in is taking so much money. But I'm glad right down to the very bottom of my heart that we can raise the money to see the whole thing through. I know you will raise it—but we'll come to that later.

The other day I was in New York and I went out to see one of those big transports for soldiers. There were little tugs all around her waiting to get her headed straight into the stream and further down, near the Statue of Liberty some battleships were waiting to convoy the transport. It was an interesting sight. It meant so much. And I couldn't keep my Adam's apple in its place, and there was a kind of a mist before my eyes—until through the tears I was trying to hold back, I saw Eb Root's boy, George, looking over the rail on the top deck. The last time I had seen him he was cultivating corn on that ten acre piece down on the state road next to Asa Hafford's.

Somehow when I saw that boy up there I didn't want to cry. My blood got warm instead of cold and every muscle in my body was as taut as a violin string. My heart just swelled in my body. In all my life I never felt so proud and so much like being able to fight, as I did then.

And I said to myself, "There goes Eb Root's boy, George. He is only one boy in a million and more that are over there now. But there are others like him, and the folks back home they will stand back of him, and all, everything, that he and his comrades, and the ships and the men and the flag that flies over them stood for."

I could not feel and I do not feel now, that the folks back home would waste anything that might help to bring George Root back. I know just as well as I know my own name that George Root and the boys like him would not offer themselves as the supreme sacrifice to our cause, and those for whom they were fighting be small and niggardly about doing their part.

During this coming year it will be necessary for us to spend twenty-four billion dollars. It is a tremendous sum. But is not too much to pay for a world at peace, with us all as free as God intended we should be.

But remember that our total annual income, all of us put together, is only about fifty billion dollars, and so it is going to take about half of all our income this next year. That means that you must stop all waste. Our waste runs into the millions. You must stop that waste and then you must put this saving with other money you have in Liberty Bonds. It is the surest, safest investment you can make. You have my personal guarantee and you know I have never failed on anything I have ever attempted, and though I hardly need to add it—I never will fail.

Adjust your affairs to meet these new conditions. I know I can depend upon you. Gorge Root and every boy in a U. S. uniform knows that you will do your part, and so do the mother's sons of Britain, France, Belgium and Italy—our allies—know you will do your part.

Be brave-hearted about it. It is a big thing, a tremendous thing, but it has been the big things, the great sacrifices that have made us a great people and have builded our great nation that we hope may be greater still in the eyes of the world and greater still to our God in his heaven.

Talk it over. Help each other. I know you will all do your part.

I am
With love and pride for you all,
Your UNCLE SAM.

EACH HAD AWFUL THOUGHT

For a Few Dreadful Moments Fair Dancing Partner of Jackies Feared Worst Had Happened.

This is a true story. It occurred at a dance given for certain boys in the naval reserve.

While dancing with one of the jackies, a certain young lady had a horrible sensation that her petticoat was coming down. She excused herself, went to the dressing room, and secured the garment with an extra safety pin—though it showed no signs of being loose from its moorings.

Then she danced with another sailor—and had the same disconcerting sensation. She fled to the dressing room again. This time, several other girls were there—each with the same end in view. It took some time to solve the mystery. You see, the sensation had been caused by the bottoms of the boys' bell-bottomed trousers rubbing against the ankles of the fair dancers.

Too Much for Ananias.

Uncle John of the Excelsior Springs Standard has lost faith in the saying that man wants but little here below. He writes "To my mind, this is the statement that choked Ananias to death. It was reproduced in this country at a meeting of the Ancient Order of American Skinflints as a sort of poultice to their consciences. It seemed to work fust-rate. I was a firm believer in the same theory, until I studied the American profit hog at close range. Then I realized that another prop was gone from under me."—Kansas City Times.

Lives 200 Years!

For more than 200 years, Haarlem Oil, the famous national remedy of Holland, has been recognized as an infallible relief from all forms of kidney and bladder disorders. Its very age is proof that it must have unusual merit.

If you are troubled with pains or aches in the back, feel tired in the morning, headaches, indigestion, insomnia, painful or too frequent passage of urine, irritation or stone in the bladder, you will almost certainly find relief in GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. This is the good old remedy that has stood the test for hundreds of years, prepared in the proper quantity and convenient form to take. It is imported direct from Holland laboratories, and you can get it at any drug store. It is a standard, old-time home remedy and needs no introduction. Each capsule contains one dose of five drops and is pleasant and easy to take. They will quickly relieve those stiffened joints, that backache, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, gall stones, gravel, "brick dust," etc. Your money promptly refunded if they do not relieve you. But be sure to get the genuine GOLD MEDAL brand. In boxes, three sizes.—Adv.

News of the State

Condensed for Busy Folks

Morris.—John Shanley, son of Mrs. M. Shanley, St. Paul, was drowned a mile from here while bathing at Olson's lake.

Plainview.—While giving a practice demonstration with one of the new tractors, Chester Gallagher was severely injured when the tractor turned over backward.

Dawson.—When George Hunter of Appleton fainted and fell from a street sprinkler, his head struck the wheel and his skull was fractured. He died three hours later.

Crookston.—The tenth annual Northwestern fair was held last week and a fine program of races and other amusements attracted large crowds. The stock, poultry and agricultural exhibits were the best ever shown here.

Little Falls.—The annual exhibition of the Morrison County Fair society will be held here Sept. 14 to 17. Two thousand dollars will be offered in prizes. Agriculture and the school departments have the largest allotments.

Two Harbors.—Mrs. Lee McFarlane, daughter of Mrs. William Newell of Two Harbors, who was one of those injured in an automobile accident near the city limits, gave birth to a son within a few hours after arriving at a local hospital.

Minneapolis.—Local mills have virtually ceased grinding barley flour because of government regulations that the product shall not contain more than 1½ per cent of fat. Millers contend that 2½ per cent is a fair proportion and they are expecting a modification of the ruling.

Deerwood.—The county commissioners have decided to open the Crow Wing-Aitkin county sanatorium early in August. The new institution will accommodate twenty-six tuberculosis patients and is located one mile south of this village and about twenty-five miles from Brainerd, the county seat.

Crookston.—After a race for miles through Minnesota and North Dakota, often at a rate of forty miles an hour, authorities have apprehended an alleged auto thief giving his name as Ed Highland, who is charged with having taken a car from the Ramstad Auto company at Greenbush, Minn. He is now in the Crookston jail awaiting trial.

Ironton.—Messrs. McAlpine and Proctor and Supt. Warren of the Inland Steel corporation were in Minneapolis looking after the coal situation for the coming winter. They were promised by the fuel administration that the Cuyuna range would not suffer for want of coal since the district was producing material necessary for the continuance of the war.

St. James.—Bernard Remple, president of the People's bank at Butterfield, was ordered held to the Watonwan county grand jury on a charge of disloyalty. Remple, who is thought to be worth $250,000, is alleged to have said the German troops would get the Americans into the pocket on the French front and kill them off, as they had no business in France.

St. Paul.—That ten carloads of eggs shipped from Newburg, N. D., have been seized by Minnesota authorities after they crossed the Dakota line was revealed when James Sorenson, state dairy and food commissioner, opened a campaign to prevent interstate shipment of bad eggs. He said that in the last year $1,500,000 had been lost by Minnesota dealers because of decomposed eggs having been shipped to this state.

Fairmont.—Mrs. R. S. Cross, wife of Rev. R. S. Cross and mother of Mrs. J. A. A. Burnquist, was seriously injured when an automobile in which she was riding with Mrs. Robert Livingston overturned on the state road about eight miles south of Fairmont. Mrs. Cross was pinned beneath one of the running boards, which lay across her head, and a rib was broken. Her recovery is practically certain.

Breckenridge.—Herbert A. Hard, state drainage engineer for North Dakota, was in the city last week and appeared before the board of county commissioners in an effort to induce them to appropriate the sum of $300 as Wilkin county's share of the expense in an adequate flood survey of the territory drained by the Otter Tail, Bois de Sioux and Red Rivers. Mr. Hard's efforts were successful and Wilkin county is now a member of the Tri-State Flood Control association.

St. Paul.—Minnesota ended a fiscal year of record-breaking prosperity, despite the war, July 31, with $8,250,000 of cash in the treasury, the largest year-end balance in the annals of the state, according to State Treasurer Henry Rines. State business for the year made up a grand total of $56,000,000, an increase of $6,000,000 over the preceding fiscal year. Receipts were $28,394,000 and disbursements $22,725,974 for the year just ended, compared with $23,983,440 in receipts and $26,109,568 disbursements during the 1916-17 fiscal period.

Red Wing.—Lightning played another one of its freakish tricks when the home of Bert Rand was struck by a bolt which evidently entered through the chimney and went out the kitchen door without leaving so much as a mark. Mrs. Rand, who was sitting in the kitchen of her home, heard the crash and saw a ball of fire go through the doorway, but no damage of any kind resulted.

Alexandria.—Vernon Mohawk, 15-year-old son of Joshua Mohawk of this city, was drowned in Lake Louise as the result of an attempt to save his companion.

Bemidji.—The tax levy for Beltrami for the coming year will be $165,000, which has been levied by the county commissioners on the recommendation of J. L. George, county auditor.

Albert Lea.—Elmer Lebeck, 24 years old, a farmer living near Manchester, was instantly killed when he was struck by a freight train on the M. & St. L. railroad about a mile north of the village.

Winona.—Mrs. Adelia B. Comfort of Milwaukee, former resident of Winona, is the originator of the comfort kits now being provided by the Red Cross for the soldiers and sailors. Mrs. Comfort lived in Winona during the '80s.

St. Peter.—A large enrollment of students is expected this year at Gustavus Adolphus college. It is expected that girls will far outnumber the boys, but it is believed that the membership will be as large as last year.

Moorhead.—Rev. Martin Anderson, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church of Moorhead, will enter the war service as an army chaplain. Rev. Anderson has been nominated for a chaplaincy by the Lutheran church council.

St. Paul.—The congested condition of the Fergus Falls state hospital will be relieved by arrangements for the transfer of 175 patients to the institution at Willmar, which until a year ago was used exclusively for treatment of liquor and drug addicts.

St. Charles.—Lieut. Herbert Chamberlain, 23 years old, was drowned at Camp Lee, Va., while on pontoon drill, according to a message received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chamberlain of this village. The body has not been recovered.

Tower.—At a special meeting of the city council, Joseph Stonich, tailor, and G. Lee Fleming, superintendent of schools of District No. 9, were named as aldermen to succeed Charles Roland and O. C. Sovde, who resigned some weeks ago. Mr. Stonich has had previous experience on the council and was a candidate for alderman at the last election.

St. Paul.—Governor Burnquist will appoint a board of inquiry to investigate charges of irregularities in the Fourth infantry, now the First infantry, of the new Minnesota National Guard, filed recently by J. C. Melville, Minneapolis, who resigned as captain of Company A. The personnel of the board, the governor indicated, may be made public today.

Minneapolis.—The Dan Patch line, a shortline railroad, went under the hammer here yesterday in accordance with a Federal court order. A group of local and Southern Minnesota business men made the only bid. They obtained the property for $350,000 and hereafter will operate it under the name of the Minneapolis, Northfield & Southern railway.

St. Paul.—George Haarmann and Alfred Rounds, convicted in Cass county, and Simon H. Becker of Watonwan county, must finish their jail sentences for seditious talk, pardon board members having turned deaf ears to their respective pleas. Six pardons were granted and 12 prisoners received commutations of their sentences, while 60 petitions were denied and the remaining number on a calendar of 100 cases were continued or taken under advisement.

Canby.—A big Studebaker six, driven by Charlie Fickbohm, in attempting to avoid a collision with a Ford car, nearly caused the death of several members of the Herman Fickbohm family, who were sitting on the front porch of their home. Young Fickbohm lost control of the car and it leaped the curbing at high speed, crashed through the posts supporting the porch and pinned Mrs. Marvin Ostensoe, Mrs. Allen and little Lucille Fickbohm against the house.

Pipestone.—A thousand dollars worth of whisky, evidently intended for the bootleggers at Sioux City, will be used for medicinal purposes at the army hospitals, as the result of the arrest of C. F. Denkman of Sioux City, just outside of Trotsky. In the municipal court Denkman was fined $100. The whisky was ordered confiscated by the court and will be shipped from Pipestone to St. Paul, where Adjutant General Rhinow will take it in charge for distribution to army hospitals.

Red Lake Falls.—Business men in the towns of Red Lake county have come forward as a unit in agreeing to assist the farmers of the county in harvesting their crops if needed. At the request of County Agent Charles C. Lake they have signed pledge cards binding themselves to work four days a week for two weeks, Saturdays excepted, on whatever farms they might be sent by the local labor agents. Business men of Plummer, Oklee and Brooks had already taken similar action.

Wells.—Whistles blow daily in Wells at 4 p. m. and again at 5 p. m. when stores, offices and other business places close and business and professional men and other townspeople gather at the city hall and hike for the harvest fields to help the farmers gather the crop. Hundreds of harvest helpers turn out every day except Saturdays and Sundays, and there is no serious farm labor shortage. Fred B. Stubs, Faribault, director of the State Public Safety commission, effected the Wells plan.

Albert Lea.—George Dewey McFarland, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. McFarland, died at Camp Devens, Mass., as the result of a motorcycle accident. McFarland was taking a spin on a motorcycle when his machine skidded and was struck by a street car. He lived but a few hours.

St. Cloud.—Harmon E. Becker, chief electrical engineer of the Pan Motor company factory, sustained a gash on the side of his head while motoring to this city from Annandale. Mr. Becker reports that he was assaulted by a stranger near St. Augusta whom he attempted to aid [illegible]

ENEMY FORCES STILL RETIRING

Armies of German Crown Prince Are Being Hotly Pursued by Allies.

AISNE RIVER IS GOAL

Teuton Commanders Are Striving to Rally Their Forces at Designated Point in Order to Avoid Further Serious Losses.

London, Aug. 5.—With the Allies everywhere in hot pursuit, the general retreat continues unabated.

Apparently the situation now has resolved itself into a race for the northern bank of the Aisne river by the Germans, who have been evicted from strategic positions along the Vesle river in the center of the line and directly east of Rheims, which seemingly renders necessary that they put the Aisne between themselves and their pursuers as quickly as possible in order to escape further large losses of men made prisoner.

Both flanks of the Germans appear to have been turned. Just how large the bag of captives is at present cannot be reckoned, but unofficial advices from Paris assert that when the figures are made public they will thrill the Allied world.

American Forces Take Fismes.

After hard fighting, the Americans have succeeded in taking from the Germans the important town of Fismes, once Germany's great ammunition and supply depot, midway on the railway between Soissons and Rheims, while to the east at a number of places along the Vesle river the French have crossed the stream, driving the enemy northeastward.

East of Soissons Allied troops have negotiated the passage of the Aisne to the northern bank of that stream, where they are in a position to harass the enemy as he endeavors to straighten out his line in conformity with that running northwestward.

So fast has been the retreat of the Germans in the center that already some elements of their forces have succeeded in reaching the northern bank of the Aisne and getting numbers of their big guns across with them. All through the salient towns are still ablaze behind the retreating Germans, and even corn fields have been set afire to prevent the Allied troops from garnering the ripened crop.

High Water Traps Foe on Vesle.

The fighting along the Vesle river was of a sanguinary character as long as it lasted. With the river at freshet and the Germans unable to ford it, they stood with their backs to it and gave battle for their lives. A majority of them were killed and the remainder were made prisoners.

One of the most important maneuvers north of the Vesle was the penetration by the French to the village of La Neuvillette, which releases the German hold on the northern outskirts of Rheims and seemingly delivers the cathedral city from the German menace.

CAPTURE 8,400 PRISONERS

American Troops Also Take 133 Guns From Germans.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Allied troops in the Aisne-Marne salient repeated "the full fruits of victory" on Saturday, "when the enemy who met his second great defeat on the Marne was driven in confusion beyond the line of the Vesle," General Pershing reported in his communique received by the War department. American troops alone have captured 8,400 prisoners and 133 guns.

"Our troops have taken Fismes by assault and hold the south bank of the Vesle in this section," a later communique from Sunday's fighting said.

SHIP LAUNCHED IN 24 DAYS

Oakland (Cal.) Yard Claims to Have Broken All Records.

Oakland, Cal., Aug. 5.—Built in 24 working days, the steel cargo carrier Invincible, 12,000 tons capacity, was launched in Oakland harbor from the Alameda yard of the Bethlehem shipbuilding corporation. This is claimed by the yard managers as a world's record.

GEN. CARTER WILL COMMAND

Selected to Head One of the New Army Divisions.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Selection of Maj. Gen. Jesse McI. Carter, now serving as chief of the militia bureau and commander of the United States guard, to head one of the new divisions to be formed in this country was announced by General March, chief of staff.

Ordnance Men Going Overseas.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Under an order of the chief of ordnance, service in the enlisted personnel of the Ordnance department except at arsenals and proving grounds will be restricted to men physically disqualified for general military service. All men now serving in the Ordnance department at Washington and at ordnance depots and contract plants in the United States who are physically qualified for general military service will be sent overseas for duty in the ordnance service of [illegible]

Resourceful Waiter.

He was one of those individuals who would have their tea sweet, and that unspeakable waiter had forgotten to bring him any sugar. Accordingly he called the unhappy man to him and asked:

"I say, waiter, haven't you forgotten the sugar?"

"I'm sorry, sir, but we can't serve any now," was the reply.

"Oh, come, I really can't drink any tea without sugar?"

"Well, sir," returned the waiter, suddenly struck with a brilliant idea, "just you try and imagine yourself with plenty and a lump will come into your throat!"—London Tit-Bits.

Cold Water.

A lady warned her new gardener that her husband had an irritating habit of disparaging everything he saw in the greenhouse, and of ordering with reckless extravagance, in spite of it being wartime, all manner of new plants.

"On no account humor him," she said. "Whatever he says, throw cold water on him, or he will completely ruin us."

The gardener looked surprised.

"Ma'm," he said, "if he orders me to pitch every plant in the place on the rubbish heap I shan't ever have the pluck to douse him in cold water. Won't it do as well if I get a drain of warm water out of the boiler, and let it trickle gently down his neck?"

Do This After You Eat

Hot Weather "Out of Fix" Stomachs Easily Put Right

When hot weather comes, stomach and bowel miseries begin. Strong, sound stomachs as well as weak ones are easily affected by the harmful gases and acids so often produced in the things we eat and drink during hot weather. Winter—Nature's ice-box, is gone—hot weather breeds the poisonous germs that cause ptomaine poison in all its many forms.

Every one knows that the after-eating nauseas, belching, that wretched, bloated, "lumpy" feeling, sour stomach, heartburn, food repeating, and other forms of indigestion and dyspepsia are far more frequent during hot weather. [illegible] you have to guard constantly against an upset stomach and the many ills that are always apt to follow. Then again we have the world's war to win—with the rationing of diet and extra work which means we must all care [illegible] single unpleasant thought of what may follow. EATONIC Tablets, good tasting, quick acting, and absolutely harmless, have already proven an untold blessing to thousands of people.

One or two EATONIC Tablets after meals work wonders. They sweeten and purify the stomach by neutralizing the trouble-making acids and gases and stop the griping pains of indigestion and other stomach and bowel disturbances.

And the best part of it is—you can be your own judge. Just try EATONIC. Let your own stomach tell you the truth. If you are not pleased then they don't cost you one penny.

Druggists are amazed at the astonishing reports from EATONIC users who have found EATONIC a quick, wonderful relief for stomach ailments.

So we tell you to get a large box of EATONIC from your druggist, whom you know, and can trust, and then if EATONIC is not suited to your case, return it to your druggist at once and get your money back. That's a fair, square offer. Every person is urged to make the test. Your own stomach tell you the truth. So start using EATONIC today.

Too Much for Ananias.

Uncle John of the Excelsior Springs Standard has lost faith in the saying that man wants but little here below. He writes "To my mind, this is the statement that choked Ananias to death. It was reproduced in this country at a meeting of the Ancient Order of American Skinflints as a sort of poultice to their consciences. It seemed to work fust-rate. I was a firm believer in the same theory, until I studied the American profit hog at close range. Then I realized that another prop was gone from under me."—Kansas City Times.

His Specialty.

"He's an infernal liar and a stuttering fool!" snarled Constable Sam T. Slackputter, as he sat alone on the porch of the Petunia tavern. "He's a thief, a reprobate and—"

"Here, Sam!" exclaimed the landlord, appearing at the doorway of the hostelry. "What in thunder are you doing cussing along that-a-way, all by yourself?"

"I am running down a criminal!" ominously replied the sleuth.—Kansas City Star.

Lives 200 Years!

For more than 200 years, Haarlem Oil, the famous national remedy of Holland, has been recognized as an infallible relief from all forms of kidney and bladder disorders. Its very age is proof that it must have unusual merit.

If you are troubled with pains or aches in the back, feel tired in the morning, headaches, indigestion, insomnia, painful or too frequent passage of urine, irritation or stone in the bladder, you will almost certainly find relief in GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. This is the good old remedy that has stood the test for hundreds of years, prepared in the proper quantity and convenient form to take. It is imported direct from Holland laboratories, and you can get it at any drug store. It is a standard, old-time home remedy and needs no introduction. Each capsule contains one dose of five drops and is pleasant and easy to take. They will quickly relieve those stiffened joints that backache, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, gall stones, gravel, "brick dust," etc. Your money promptly refunded if they do not relieve you. But be sure to get the genuine GOLD MEDAL brand. In boxes, three sizes.—Adv.

Prize of $10,000 Offered.

The British government has decided to offer a prize of $10,000 for a process of making a mixture of dehydrated coal tar with mineral petroleum oils suitable for admiralty use as fuel oil. This will be awarded to the first competitor submitting a successful process, which must be capable of ready and economical application without undue absorption of material and labor.—Popular Science Monthly.

News of the State

Condensed for Busy Folks

Morris.—John Shanley, son of Mrs. M. Shanley, St. Paul, was drowned a mile from here while bathing at Olson's lake.

Plainview.—While giving a practice demonstration with one of the new tractors, Chester Gallagher was severely injured when the tractor turned over backward.

Dawson.—When George Hunter of Appleton fainted and fell from a street sprinkler, his head struck the wheel and his skull was fractured. He died three hours later.

Crookston. — The tenth annual Northwestern fair was held last week and a fine program of races and other amusements attracted large crowds. The stock, poultry and agricultural exhibits were the best ever shown here.

Little Falls. — The annual exhibition of the Morrison County Fair society will be held here Sept. 14 to 17. Two thousand dollars will be offered in prizes. Agriculture and the school departments have the largest allotments.

Two Harbors.—Mrs. Lee McFarlane, daughter of Mrs. William Newell of Two Harbors, who was one of those injured in an automobile accident near the city limits, gave birth to a son within a few hours after arriving at a local hospital.

Minneapolis.—Local mills have virtually ceased grinding barley flour because of government regulations that the product shall not contain more than 1½ per cent of fat. Millers contend that 2½ per cent is a fair proportion and they are expecting a modification of the ruling.

Deerwood.—The county commissioners have decided to open the Crow Wing-Aitkin county sanatorium early in August. The new institution will accommodate twenty-six tuberculosis patients and is located one mile south of this village and about twenty-five miles from Brainerd, the county seat.

Crookston.—After a race for miles through Minnesota and North Dakota, often at a rate of forty miles an hour, authorities have apprehended an alleged auto thief giving his name as Ed Highland, who is charged with having taken a car from the Ramstad Auto company at Greenbush, Minn. He is now in the Crookston jail awaiting trial.

Ironton. — Messrs. McAlpine and Proctor and Supt. Warren of the Inland Steel corporation were in Minneapolis looking after the coal situation for the coming winter. They were promised by the fuel administration that the Cuyuna range would not suffer for want of coal since the district was producing material necessary for the continuance of the war.

St. James.—Bernard Remple, president of the People's bank at Butterfield, was ordered held to the Watonwan county grand jury on a charge of disloyalty. Remple, who is thought to be worth $250,000, is alleged to have said the German troops would get the Americans into the pocket on the French front and kill them off, as they had no business in France.

St. Paul.—That ten carloads of eggs shipped from Newburg, N. D., have been seized by Minnesota authorities after they crossed the Dakota line was revealed when James Sorenson, state dairy and food commissioner, opened a campaign to prevent interstate shipment of bad eggs. He said that in the last year $1,500,000 had been lost by Minnesota dealers because of decomposed eggs having been shipped to this state.

Fairmont.—Mrs. R. S. Cross, wife of Rev. R. S. Cross and mother of Mrs. J. A. A. Burnquist, was seriously injured when an automobile in which she was riding with Mrs. Robert Livingston overturned on the state road about eight miles south of Fairmont. Mrs. Cross was pinned beneath one of the running boards, which lay across her head, and a rib was broken. Her recovery is practically certain.

Breckenridge. — Herbert A. Hard, state drainage engineer for North Dakota, was in the city last week and appeared before the board of county commissioners in an effort to induce them to appropriate the sum of $300 as Wilkin county's share of the expense in an adequate flood survey of the territory drained by the Otter Tail, Bois de Sioux and Red Rivers. Mr. Hard's efforts were successful and Wilkin county is now a member of the Tri-State Flood Control association.

St. Paul.—Minnesota ended a fiscal year of record-breaking prosperity, despite the war, July 31, with $8,250,000 of cash in the treasury, the largest year-end balance in the annals of the state, according to State Treasurer Henry Rines. State business for the year made up a grand total of $56,000,000, an increase of $6,000,000 over the preceding fiscal year. Receipts were $28,394,000 and disbursements $22,725,974 for the year just ended, compared with $23,983,440 in receipts and $26,109,568 disbursements during the 1916-17 fiscal period.

Red Wing.—Lightning played another one of its freakish tricks when the home of Bert Rand was struck by a bolt, which evidently entered through the chimney and went out the kitchen door without leaving so much as a mark. Mrs. Rand, who was sitting in the kitchen of her home, heard the crash and saw a ball of fire go through the doorway, but no damage of any kind resulted.

Alexandria.—Vernon Mohawk, 15-year-old son of Joshua Mohawk of this city, was drowned in Lake Louise as the result of an attempt to save his companion.

Bemidji.—The tax levy for Beltrami for the coming year will be $165,000, which has been levied by the county commissioners on the recommendation of J. L. George, county auditor.

Albert Lea.—Elmer Lebeck, 24 years old, a farmer living near Manchester, was instantly killed when he was struck by a freight train on the M. & St. L. railroad about a mile north of the village.

Winona.—Mrs. Adelia B. Comfort of Milwaukee, former resident of Winona, is the originator of the comfort kits now being provided by the Red Cross for the soldiers and sailors. Mrs. Comfort lived in Winona during the '80s.

St. Peter.—A large enrollment of students is expected this year at Gustavus Adolphus college. It is expected that girls will far outnumber the boys, but it is believed that the membership will be as large as last year.

Moorhead.—Rev. Martin Anderson, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church of Moorhead, will enter the war service as an army chaplain. Rev. Anderson has been nominated for a chaplaincy by the Lutheran church council.

St. Paul.—The congested condition of the Fergus Falls state hospital will be relieved by arrangements for the transfer of 175 patients to the institution at Willmar, which until a year ago was used exclusively for treatment of liquor and drug addicts.

St. Charles.—Lieut. Herbert Chamberlain, 23 years old, was drowned at Camp Lee, Va., while on pontoon drill, according to a message received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chamberlain of this village. The body has not been recovered.

Tower.—At a special meeting of the city council, Joseph Stonich, tailor, and G. Lee Fleming, superintendent of schools of District No. 9, were named as aldermen to succeed Charles Roland and O. C. Sovde, who resigned some weeks ago. Mr. Stonich has had previous experience on the council and was a candidate for alderman at the last election.

St. Paul.—Governor Burnquist will appoint a board of inquiry to investigate charges of irregularities in the Fourth infantry, now the First infantry of the new Minnesota National Guard, filed recently by J. C. Melville, Minneapolis, who resigned as captain of Company A. The personnel of the board, the governor indicated, may be made public today.

Minneapolis.—The Dan Patch line, a shortline railroad, went under the hammer here yesterday in accordance with a Federal court order. A group of local and Southern Minnesota business men made the only bid. They obtained the property for $350,000 and hereafter will operate it under the name of the Minneapolis, Northfield & Southern railway.

St. Paul.—George Haarmann and Alfred Rounds, convicted in Cass county, and Simon H. Becker of Watonwan county, must finish their jail sentences for seditious talk, pardon board members having turned deaf ears to their respective pleas. Six pardons were granted and 12 prisoners received commutations of their sentences, while 60 petitions were denied and the remaining number on a calendar of 100 cases were continued or taken under advisement.

Canby.—A big Studebaker six, driven by Charlie Fickbohm, in attempting to avoid a collision with a Ford car, nearly caused the death of several members of the Herman Fickbohm family, who were sitting on the front porch of their home. Young Fickbohm lost control of the car and it leaped the curbing at high speed, crashed through the posts supporting the porch and pinned Mrs. Marvin Ostensoe, Mrs. Allen and little Lucille Fickbohm against the house.

Pipestone. — A thousand dollars worth of whisky, evidently intended for the bootleggers at Sioux City, will be used for medicinal purposes at the army hospitals, as the result of the arrest of C. F. Denkman of Sioux City, just outside of Trotsky. In the municipal court Denkman was fined $100. The whisky was ordered confiscated by the court and will be shipped from Pipestone to St. Paul, where Adjutant General Rhinow will take it in charge for distribution to army hospitals.

Red Lake Falls.—Business men in the towns of Red Lake county have come forward as a unit in agreeing to assist the farmers of the county in harvesting their crops if needed. At the request of County Agent Charles C. Lake they have signed pledge cards binding themselves to work four days a week for two weeks, Saturdays excepted, on whatever farms they might be sent by the local labor agents. Business men of Plummer, Oklee and Brocks had already taken similar action.

Wells. — Whistles blow daily in Wells at 4 p. m. and again at 5 p. m., when stores, offices and other business places close and business and professional men and other townspeople gather at the city hall and hike for the harvest fields to help the farmers gather the crop. Hundreds of harvest helpers turn out every day except Saturdays and Sundays, and there is no serious farm labor shortage. Fred B. Stubs, Faribault, director of the State Public Safety commission, effected the Wells plan.

Albert Lea.—George Dewey McFarland, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. McFarland, died at Camp Devens, Mass., as the result of a motorcycle accident. McFarland was taking a spin on a motorcycle when his machine skidded and was struck by a street car. He lived but a few hours.

St. Cloud.—Harmon E. Becker, chief electrical engineer of the Pan Motor company factory, sustained a gash on the side of his head while motoring to this city from Annandale. Mr. Becker reports that he was assaulted by a stranger near St. Augusta, whom he attempted to a[illegible]

ENEMY FORCES STILL RETIRING

Armies of German Crown Prince Are Being Hotly Pursued by Allies.

AISNE RIVER IS GOAL

Teuton Commanders Are Striving to Rally Their Forces at Designated Point in Order to Avoid Further Serious Losses.

London, Aug. 5.—With the Allies everywhere in hot pursuit, the general retreat continues unabated.

Apparently, the situation now has resolved itself into a race for the northern bank of the Aisne river by the Germans, who have been evicted from strategic positions along the Vesle river in the center of the line and directly east of Rheims, which seemingly renders necessary that they put the Aisne between themselves and their pursuers as quickly as possible in order to escape further large losses of men made prisoner.

Both flanks of the Germans appear to have been turned. Just how large the bag of captives is at present cannot be reckoned, but unofficial advices from Paris assert that when the figures are made public they will thrill the Allied world.

American Forces Take Fismes.

After hard fighting, the Americans have succeeded in taking from the Germans the important town of Fismes, once Germany's great ammunition and supply depot, midway on the railway between Soissons and Rheims, while to the east at a number of places along the Vesle river the French have crossed the stream, driving the enemy northeastward.

East of Soissons Allied troops have negotiated the passage of the Aisne to the northern bank of that stream, where they are in a position to harass the enemy as he endeavors to straighten out his line in conformity with that running northwestward.

So fast has been the retreat of the Germans in the center that already some elements of their forces have succeeded in reaching the northern bank of the Aisne and getting numbers of their big guns across with them. All through the salient towns are still ablaze behind the retreating Germans, and even corn fields have been set afire to prevent the Allied troops from garnering the ripened crop.

High Water Traps Foe on Vesle.

The fighting along the Vesle river was of a sanguinary character as long as it lasted. With the river at freshet and the Germans unable to ford it, they stood with their backs to it and gave battle for their lives. A majority of them were killed and the remainder were made prisoners.

One of the most important maneuvers north of the Vesle was the penetration by the French to the village of La Neuvillette, which releases the German hold on the northern outskirts of Rheims and seemingly delivers the cathedral city from the German menace.

CAPTURE 8,400 PRISONERS

American Troops Also Take 133 Guns From Germans.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Allied troops in the Aisne-Marne salient repeated "the full fruits of victory" on Saturday, "when the enemy who met his second great defeat on the Marne was driven in confusion beyond the line of the Vesle," General Pershing reported in his communique received by the War department. American troops alone have captured 8,400 prisoners and 133 guns.

"Our troops have taken Fismes by assault and hold the south bank of the Vesle in this section," a later communique from Sunday's fighting said.

SHIP LAUNCHED IN 24 DAYS

Oakland (Cal.) Yard Claims to Have Broken All Records.

Oakland, Cal., Aug. 5.—Built in 24 working days, the steel cargo carrier Invincible, 12,000 tons capacity, was launched in Oakland harbor from the Alameda yard of the Bethlehem shipbuilding corporation. This is claimed by the yard managers as a world's record.

GEN. CARTER WILL COMMAND

Selected to Head One of the New Army Divisions.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Selection of Maj. Gen. Jesse McI. Carter, now serving as chief of the militia bureau and commander of the United States guard, to head one of the new divisions to be formed in this country was announced by General March, chief of staff.

Ordnance Men Going Overseas.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Under an order of the chief of ordnance, service in the enlisted personnel of the Ordnance department except at arsenals and proving grounds will be restricted to men physically disqualified for general military service. All men now serving in the Ordnance department at Washington and at ordnance depots and contract plants in the United States who are physically qualified for general military service will be sent overseas for duty in the ordnance service of supply.

Resourceful Waiter.

He was one of those individuals who would have their tea sweet, and that unspeakable waiter had forgotten to bring him any sugar. Accordingly he called the unhappy man to him and asked:

"I say, waiter, haven't you forgotten the sugar?"

"I'm sorry, sir, but we can't serve any now," was the reply.

"Oh, come, I really can't drink any tea without sugar?"

"Well, sir," returned the waiter, suddenly struck with a brilliant idea, "just you try and imagine yourself with plenty and a lump will come into your throat!"—London Tit-Bits.

"Nonsense," said the other, adding a $5 bill to his contribution, "you can't do it. Here, take this, and buy a regular meal for the baby."

Cold Water.

A lady warned her new gardener that her husband had an irritating habit of disparaging everything he saw in the greenhouse, and of ordering with reckless extravagance, in spite of it being wartime, all manner of new plants.

"On no account humor him," she said. "Whatever he says, throw cold water on him, or he will completely ruin us."

The gardener looked surprised.

"Ma'm," he said, "if he orders me to pitch every plant in the place on the rubbish heap I shan't ever have the pluck to douse him in cold water. Won't it do as well if I get a drain of warm water out of the boiler, and let it trickle gently down his neck?"

Do This After You Eat

Hot Weather "Out of Fix" Stomachs Easily Put Right

When hot weather comes, stomach and bowel miseries begin. Strong, sound stomachs as well as weak ones are easily affected by the harmful gases and acids so often produced in the things we eat and drink during hot weather. Winter—Nature's icebox, is gone—hot weather breeds the poisonous germs that cause ptomaine poison in all its many forms.

Every one knows that the after-eating nausea, belching, that wretched, bloated, "lumpy" feeling, sour stomach, heartburn, food repeating, and other forms of indigestion and dyspepsia are far more frequent during hot weather. It is the time when you have to guard constantly against an upset stomach and the many ills that are always apt to follow. Then again —we have the world's war to win—with the change of diet and extra work which means we must all carefully guard our stomachs this year—keep ourselves fit and fine.

A marvelous relief and prevention has been found for stomach sufferers which makes it possible for you to eat the things you like best without a single unpleasant thought of what may follow. EATONIC Tablets, good tasting, quick acting, and absolutely harmless, have already proven an untold blessing to thousands of people.

One or two EATONIC Tablets after meals work wonders. They sweeten and purify the stomach by neutralizing the trouble-making acids and gases and stop the griping pains of indigestion and other stomach and bowel disturbances.

And the best part of it is—you can be your own judge. Just try EATONIC. Let your own stomach tell you the truth. If you are not pleased then they don't cost you one penny.

Druggists are amazed at the astonishing reports from EATONIC users who have found EATONIC a quick, wonderful relief for stomach ailments.

So we tell you to get a large box of EATONIC from your druggist, whom you know and can trust, and then if EATONIC is not suited to your case, return it to your druggist at once and get back your money. That's a fair, square offer. Every person is urged to make the test. Let your own stomach tell you the truth. So start using EATONIC today.

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

THE SUNBEAM.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3,1879

It has been announced officially that Japan has decided to accept the American proposition to intervene in Russia to help the Russian people and to drive out the Hun. Under the agreement Japan will furnish the major portion of the military forces, altho the United States and allies will also be represented by military forces; the United States will furnish economic assistance to Russia; and the troops of Japan and all allies will be withdrawn from Russia upon the conclusion of peace. This is probably one of the quickest ways to restore order in Russia.—Norman County Index.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

Hail sufferers should be given all assistance possible to procure seed for next year, and we are pleased to note that the people of Thief River Falls are making a move in that direction. When we consider the splendid crops of Pennington county this year, the small amount destroyed by hail does not amount to a drop of water in a bucket. But this don't help the poor unfortunates that happened to have their crops destroyed, and had no hail insurance, and it is the duty of others who have not been so unfortunate to give them a helping hand. Hail insurance in old line companies has been so unsatisfactory that there are very few farmers that want the second experience with it. State hail insurance is something that cannot be passed by the legislature as it has been tried before, and is so unconstitutional that it is an absolute impossibility to pass any laws to insure a farmer against the destruction of his crops by hail. But what the farmers should do is to amend their Mutual Insurance Co., of Bray, so as to give the farmers hail insurance. Take it in a year like this for example. If the farmers who were hailed out had had hail insurance in this company, those who were not hailed out could have paid an assessment to reimberse them who were, and not feel it very bad. Pennington county is not subject to hail storms and the farmers should take action to insure themselves against it the same as they have fire and lightning and they can do this in their Mutual company without paying high salaries to book keepers and presidents in St. Paul.

SAYS BERLIN IS FORTIFIED

Vast Defense Work Has Been Built, According to Statement Made by Swede.

Monster guns, hidden in pits 40 and 50 feet deep, and 125 to 150 feet apart, form a labyrinth of defenses around Berlin, according to John Erickson, a native of Sweden. For five years, beginning with 1907, Erickson says he worked on the outer defenses of Berlin, and prior to that time worked for the Motla gun works of Sweden, turning out heavy ordnance for Germany.

Guns surrounding Berlin, according to Erickson, range from 22 to 42 inches in diameter. Many are of the larger type. Some are over 200 feet long. Their foundation is set in seven feet of solid granite, sunk in the bottom of the pits in which the guns are hidden, surrounding the city. Two circles of these guns surround Berlin. One is seven miles from the city's outskirts—the other is 11. A screen roof is now laid over these guns. A layer of two feet of dirt covers the top. Grass, trees and even the season's crops are planted over them.

Electricity controls the huge guns, Ericson says. When the guns are needed the roof may easily be thrown off and the guns hoisted to posit [illegible]

CLASSIC DRAMA IN JAPAN

Both Chorus and Music Accompany the Pantomime of the Actors on the Stage.

The actors—sons of the sons of generations of actors passing on as a legacy of great price to the right to act in these strange "No" plays of old Japan—entered and made their exits by way of the bridge. At their approach, Gertrude Emerson writes in Asia, unseen hands lifted and held back a curtain of persimmon and iris colored silk that hung at the door of the dressing room. Their costumes had wide skirtlike trousers and all the fires and conflagrations of an autumn wood or a mountain forest burned in the color of the brocades. Sometimes they had the streaming white hair of ghosts. They stamped with their white stockinged feet on the polished floor, which gave out a muffled echo. With their flowing sleeves they hid their faces, turning and swaying in rhythmic dances. With their fans they wrote the meaning of their dances in the air—the climbing of a mountain path to a forsaken shrine, a gift of water to a weary pilgrim, the picking of herbs, the flight of a bird across the sky, the falling of flowers—or of tears. The chorus sang in suppressed tones, holding their breath interminably, explaining, now the action, now the thoughts passing through the mind of the actor. The musicians beat on their drums, and above all other sounds wailed the flute, thin and tremulous, piercingly sad, like a lost soul tormented of demons.

FROM CABBAGES TO KINGS

Writer Impressed by Accumulation of Subject Matter of Every Description in Print.

Perhaps the most valuable instrument for perpetuation is the printing press, writes Bruce Cummings in Science Progress. No sooner is an event over than it is reported in the daily press, and the newspaper preserved in the British museum for all time.

Within the sacred rotunda of the British museum reading room may be perused the novels of Charles Garvice, as well as the great Chinese encyclopedia of the Emperor Kiang-hi in 5,020 volumes.

In books our knowledge to date is rounded up and displayed; you may read a book on a lump of coal, a grass blade, a seaworm, on hair combs, carpets, ships, sticks, sealing wax, cabbages, kings, cosmetics, Kant. A very thick volume indeed was published last year upon the thorax of a field cricket. It would require a learned man to catalogue the literature that deals with such comparatively trivial subjects as the history of the Punch and Judy show, or the history of playing cards.

At the present rapid rate of accumulation the time must come when the British museum, thousands of years hence, will occupy an area as large as London, and the Encyclopedia Britannica be housed in a building as big as the Crystal palace; an accumulation of learning to make Aristotle and Scaliger turn pale.

Airplane Needs Strong Wood.

A modern airplane propeller is one of the strongest and most perfect products of man's handicraft.

Some airplane engines run at 1,700 revolutions a minute and can be geared up to 2,000. An engine of this power would use a nine-foot-six-inch propeller and the speed of the blade ends would be in the neighborhood of 600 miles an hour.

Revolving at this terrific rate, the slightest imperfection in the wood from which the propellers are made would tend to disrupt them and cause them to fly to pieces.

For this reason only the best and hardest wood from the heart of the tree is used for propeller blades. It takes 2,000 feet of timber in the rough to furnish 200 feet of wood good enough for propellers.

Black walnut is the very best kind of wood for propeller blades, for, besides being immensely tough, it does not splinter when hit by a projectile. Next in the order named, come mahogany, white oak, ash, maple, birch and cherry.

No Alimony From Soldiers.

The supreme court of New York State has no power to enforce an order for alimony against a soldier in the United States army, declared Justice Aspinall in the supreme court in Brooklyn in the case of Mrs. Florence Merriman against Rapley P. Merriman, a private. It is the first decision of its kind here. Justice Aspinall gave the opinion in acting upon the request of Mrs. Merriman's attorney, who demanded Merriman be forced to pay $40 on the first business day of each month. "It is obvious that the defendant could not comply with a direction that he pay $40 on the first business day of each month," said the justice, "when $40 is more than the rate of pay of his grade and the time of payment of a soldier is necessarily very irregular."—New York Evening Sun.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of six Dollars which became due on the first day of December, 1916, and is due and claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Ole K. Homme, unmarried, mortgagor, to The Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Oklee, Minnesota, a corporation, mortgagee, bearing date the 1st day of December, 1918, which mortgage with the power of sale therein contained, was filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Pennington County, State of Minnesota, on the 17th day of December 1916, at Eight o'clock A. M. and was thereunto duly recorded in Book 9 of Mortgages on page 514 thereof; and whereas pursuant to the terms and conditions of said mortgage, and by reason of said default, the whole unpaid principal sum of said mortgage to-wit: the sum of Twenty dollars ($20.00) became at once due and payable, and was and is hereby so declared by said mortgagee; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of Twenty Dollars ($20.00) with interest thereon at Ten per cent per annum since the first day of December, 1918.

And whereas, the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceedings having been instituted, at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof,

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage above described will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, to-wit: The North half of the Northwest Quarter (of Section Twenty-two 22 in Township One Hundred Fifty three 153 North, of Range Thirty Nine (39) West of the 5th P. The conversation in the lobby of a Washington hotel turned to the subject of signs when the following story was contributed by Representative Edward H. Watson of New Hampshire:

An esteemed party named Pat established a livery stable in a rural New England town, and wishing an appropriate sign, he had one painted that pictured a man riding a mule. Just after the sign was put up Pat's friend, Mike, rambled along.

"Oi see," pleasantly remarked Mike, gazing at the new creation, "thot yez have put up a foine soign."

"Yes," responded Pat, with some show of pride. "Phwat do yez think av it?"

"Shure, an' Oi loike it," replied Mike, with an expansive smile, "but who is the mon that's on yez back?"—Philadelphia Evening Telegraph.

CARE FOR SOLDIERS' FEET

Army Authorities Particular That There Shall Be Little Trouble in That Respect.

"How is Uncle Sam able to raise sufficient funds to shoe his children?" we might ask just now, when the prices of shoes are soaring almost above the average purse.

This question was, however, answered at a recent meeting in Atlantic City of the American Leather Chemists' association, which was also attended by several members of the American Chemical society. Their discussion on this subject proved most conclusively that the boys in service are being provided with the finest quality leather in their army shoes and that it is surpassed by none.

Another interesting fact developed in their discussion—that the army shoes are made with the flesh side of the hide outside. In this way grease may be readily applied to the leather from time to time in order to keep it waterproof.

It was most gratifying to learn that in every first-aid kit the soldier carries a tube of paste to apply to the feet in order to prevent trench sores, which were so common in the early days of the war. These sores are caused by the alkaline water in the trenches, but if the feet are promptly protected by an inert grease no such bad effects result.

Thus we see that Uncle Sam is dealing with the question of the army shoe from the soldiers' viewpoint of comfort and protection, as well as from his own standpoint of the wearing qualities. The government recognizes that the soldiers' feet are his best friend and it is doing everything to help to keep them so.

Package Goods Expensive.

That package goods are more expensive than goods bought in bulk is shown in a chart of comparative food values recently published. The chart shows that canned peaches cost three times as much as dried peaches, and the food value in calories is three times greater in the dried than in the canned variety. Canned pork and beans cost about twice as much per unit of food value as dried beans. The canned goods are ready for immediate use and the dried require preparation, but to persons interested in reducing the cost of living these facts are worth taking into consideration.

Any farmer who is unable to get help to shock and stack his grain, should promptly notify G. Howard Smith, of Thief River Falls. If he does and fails to get any help, he will confer a favor by promptly notifying this office. We desire to find out if the good people of Thief River Falls are actually trying to get the farmers help to harvest and save their crops, or are talking for publication and effect.

We hear that lots of farmers between Highlanding and Thief River Falls are unable to get help to shock their grain. We do not hear any more about that volunteer help that was going to help the farmers out, from Thief River Falls, since harvest and haying has started. They will now undoubtedly organize to assist the farmers to put up ice next winter. Nothing like showing the proper spirit, but it takes something besides oratory and hot air [illegible]

Barge Whistle Calls Birds.

A striking example of wildbird intelligence has been observed on the Panama canal in connection with the underwater blasting that is carried on there. A barge has been especially equipped for drilling blast holes below the water and depositing charges in them. When a blast is ready the craft moves off to a safe distance, and before setting off the dynamite the barge whistle is blown several times to warn all vessels in the vicinity. Instantly numbers of wild birds may be seen coming from all directions, says Popular Mechanics Magazine, the reason being they have learned that many dead and stunned fish rise to the surface of the water following each explosion. To them this particular whistle is like a dinner gong. More remarkable still, they readily distinguish between this whistle and others. Canal workmen and natives also share in the harvest.

BUY WATCHES TO GET GOLD

Ingenious Scheme of Central Empires to Increase Their Supply of the Precious Metal.

It is an oddity of the world war that the jewelry trade is flourishing. A secret article in the Revue Suisse d'Exportation of Geneva gives an interesting view of this situation and also suggests a method by which the central empires undoubtedly have increased their gold supply—namely, the importation of gold jewelry to be melted into bullion.

In the course of the crisis provoked by the European war we pass from one surprise to another, says the Revue. The belligerent countries, one after another, have imposed measures forbidding the importation of luxuries and watches. In spite of all these difficulties the orders, particularly for gold watches of medium price, are received in increasing numbers by our watchmakers, while those for watches of high and low prices are few.

The jewelry trade has passed through a prosperous period, which is not yet over. In fact, it is at its height. Everything went well so long as there were no abuses, but the time came when jewelry, especially heavy gold chains without much workmanship, began to be exported to the Orient. High prices were paid for these articles. Gold (fine) in Switzerland is valued at about $720 a kilo (2.2 pounds) and in the Orient, or at Vienna, it is quoted at $2,400 per kilo. There is, therefore, a considerable margin which allows a large profit to our manufacturers and their agents, also to foreign merchants. These articles, however, are not all destined for Turkey. A great many of them find their way into the central empires.

When steps were taken to check this trade numerous orders for watches with cheap movements in heavy gold cases came flowing into the watchmaking centers. These orders were destined for Constantinople. The scheme was perfectly apparent, and government authorities took prompt measures to put a stop to the proceeding.

HOW BIG GUN WAS FOUND

French Artillery Officers Made Careful Measurements, and the Rest of the Matter Was Easy.

Careful measurements of two holes made by a single shell in passing through two awnings in a Paris factory enabled French artillery officers to locate the great German long-range gun by a feat of mathematics. The two awnings were several feet apart and the relation of one to the other gave perfect data on the course which the shell had taken as it approached the earth. After the apertures had been measured to the one-thousandth part of an inch and the direction of the shell's fall exactly established the earlier career of the shell became a problem on paper. By applying the laws governing the flight of projectiles and allowing for the wind, the state of the atmosphere and other considerations French artillery officers were able to follow back the course of the shell to the mouth of the cannon in the forest of [illegible]

Increased planting of vegetables this year almost certainly will mean an unprecedented yield of all kinds of fresh vegetables.

This will mean plentiful supplies for summer tables and a large surplus.

This surplus, to be useful to America, must be conserved.

Home-conserved food means that the home will be more nearly self-sustaining and that the burden on transportation will be lightened.

BRAZIL LOOKING TO FUTURE

Important Industries of the Country Are to Be Encouraged by the Government.

The secretary of agriculture of Brazil recently presented a lengthy memorial to the president of the republic explaining the necessity of encouraging the coal and steel industries, which has resulted in the publication of two decrees of the federal government.

The secretary's report states that until there are at least ten coal mines in active operation in the country the effect of this industry will not be felt in the conservation of the wood supply, which is now being rapidly consumed to meet the needs of the railways and of domestic industries. The steel industry is so largely dependent upon suitable fuel that, in the secretary's opinion, it should also receive the attention of the Brazilian government. The director of the geological survey of the Brazilian government states that by a process of washing metallurgical coke may be obtained from Brazilian coal, and that this is already being accomplished in the state of Santa Catharina.

The secretary points out that the present lack of sufficient domestic coal of suitable quality should not interfere with the establishment of a steel industry, which could temporarily use wood, and that for more than 300 years Sweden was obliged to depend upon this kind of fuel. He also says that in the United States some 400,000 tons of pig iron are produced annually by the use of charcoal as a fuel.—Commerce Reports.

Wisdom of Daylight Saving.

Who ever thinks nowadays that the sun is an hour behind the clock? Who ever tells himself it "really is five o'clock" when it is six? We go peaceably to bed when the clock tells us to; we arise by the same token; we eat, play and work by the Promethean instrument which, for war and common sense purposes, is stealing 60 golden minutes every day from the sun to benefit the human race. And nary a vulture of any description is tearing at the clock's vitals for filching the same.

Here and there is a little petty thievery such as the beginning of baseball games at 3:30 o'clock that used to begin at three o'clock; but the public is too busy with great work, and at present with the races and golf recreation to worry about that. In general, America is living by the clock as it should do, and the wisdom of the daylight savings law is a thousand times manifest.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Italians Save Wood Ashes.

Increased wood-burning and scarcity of chemical fertilizers are reported by Consul Haven of Turin to be turning attention in Italy to the saving and collection of wood ashes. Of the many constituents, the potash is of importance for fertilizing. The potash in wood ash averages 6 to 19 per cent and the quantity per ton of wood ranges from one pound from spruce to 3.31 from oak and 8.6 from elm. A ton of wormwood yields 160.98 pounds of potash in 241.73 of ash; fumaria 174.16 pounds of potash in 483.51 of ash.

MEASURE IS ONE BILLION SHORT

Ways and Means Committee of House Strike Snags in Framing Revenue Bill.

MAY INCREASE TARIFF

Higher Customs Duties to Produce $400,000,000 Is Advocated by Several Members as One Solution of Problem.

Washington, Aug. 12.—In the framing of the tentative draft of the revenue bill the house ways and means committee is an even $1,000,000,000 short of its $8,000,000,000 goal after including all schedules so far tentatively adopted and the whisky and beer taxes, and the luxury schedule, which falls very far short of the $2,000,000,000 allotted it, and held until the last.

The committee, in what it plans to be its final week of framing the measure, will be forced to devise means to make up the $1,000,000,000.

Committee Asks Rise.

Chairman Kitchin of the committee expects to confer with Secretary McAdoo before the bill is given its final approval, and differences between the treasury and the committee regarding the excess profits tax are expected to be straightened out. The treasury desires excess profits rates in the present law to stand, while the committee has tentaively raised them.

Sugar Tax Proposed.

There was renewed talk among committee members of the feasibility of a gross sales tax. There also was talk of an excise tax on tea, coffee and sugar. A tax of 3 cents a pound on coffee and sugar and 10 or 15 cents a pound on tea, it was stated, would produce between $400,000,000 and $500,000,000.

Some members urged a resort to the tariff, saying an increase in customs duties to produce $400,000,000 should be adopted.

Liquor Tax Urged.

The whisky and beer tax practically has been agreed on, but the rates are being withheld by the committee until the last moment. These taxes probably will raise $810,000,000 and the soft drinks $30,000,000. There is still, however, hovering over the schedule the possibility of prohibition legislation that would wipe out revenue from liquors.

APPRECIATE AMERICAN AID

Decision to Send Food Supplies Creates Joy in Siberia.

Washington, Aug. 12.—An expression of Russia's gratitude for America's decision to send food supplies to that country, appearing in the Vechernay Gazette, is quoted in a cablegram received by the Committee on Public Information from Harbin.

Contrasting the position of America before the war as a competitor of Russia in supplying wheat to Western Europe with her readiness now to "literally feed her recent rival," the newspaper says only feelings of the deepest gratitude are entertained toward the liberty-loving Americans."

MUST CONVERT CAR PLANTS

Auto Makers Ordered to Do Nothing But War Work.

Washington, Aug. 12.—Manufacturers of passenger automobiles have been advised by the war industries board to convert their plants to 100 per cent war work as rapidly as possible and to place them on that basis not later than Jan. 1, 1919, in a letter addressed to the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. In no other way, the letter stated, could they be assured of the continuance of their industry or the preservation of their organizations.

WILLIAM H. NEWMAN IS DEAD

Former President of New York Central Lines Passes Away.

New York, Aug. 12.—William H. Newman, former president and a member of the board of directors of the New York Central railroad, died at his apartment in the Hotel Baltimore after a long illness. He was 71 years old.

Mr. Newman, who was president of the road from 1898 to 1905, was born in Prince William county, Va., and began his railroad career as a station agent in Shreveport, La., in 1869.

Draft Rules to Be Liberalized.

Washington, Aug. 12. — Plans for radical changes to liberalize the draft regulations are being worked out at the War department, Secretary Baker said after his appearance before the senate military committee to urge prompt enactment of the new draft bill extending the ages to include men between 18 and 45. Mr. Baker thought it possible the whole method of fixing deferred classification could be changed so as to relieve registrants of the duty of claiming, or refusing to claim, exemption.

AMAZES LONDON PRESS

Writers Are Astonished at Initial Success of Drive.

Military Critics Assert Germans Will Make Desperate Effort to Retrieve Losses.

London, Aug. 12.—In the comment of the papers on the continued advance of the Anglo-French forces in the Somme region, surprise is notably mingled with gratification.

No offensive in which the British army has participated, it is remarked, ever made so much progress on the opening day.

The employment of a large number of light, fast tanks—the "Whippets"—with strong forces of cavalry, is regarded as giving entry to a new feature of battle.

The military correspondent of the Times, referring to the remarkable speed developed by the Whippets in keeping pace with the cavalry, forsees a future when every heavy infantryman will have a small light tank while swarms of airmen will take the place of the cavalry and light infantry.

The extraordinary employment of aircraft in pursuit of the enemy is also remarked. The services the aircraft men rendered obviously was of the utmost military value, which, it is hoped, is not out of proportion to the losses.

Nowhere is any attempt made to disguise the fact that a great German effort to retrieve the losses is inevitable.

"The enemy's difficulty is desperate," says the Daily Telegraph, "and will be desperately met. It must be assumed that a struggle of the deadliest character will ensue as soon as the necessary troops can be brought to meet our advance."

4,283 CASUALITIES IN WEEK

Washington, Aug. 12.—Five hundred and forty-one casualties made public by the war department in the last list brought to total announced for the week from the big Franco-American drive up to 4,283. The last list included 516 from the army and 25 marines. The army list: Killed in action, 64; dead from wounds, 28; dead from disease, 3; dead from airplane accident, 2; dead from accident and other causes, 4; wounded severely, 102; wounded, degree undetermined, 102; missing in action, 211. The marine list: Killed in action, 11; dead from wounds, 5; severely wounded, 9.

Northwest names appear in the lists as follows: Corporal C. B. Earl, Austin, Minn., died of wounds; Private Samuel Kartinson, Gardner, N. D., wounded severely; Corporal William H. Ashley, Northfield, Minn.; Corporal Vere H. Broderick, Minneapolis; Corporal Ralph E. Davis, Minneapolis; Private John L. Boehm, Tower City, N. D., wounded in action, degree undetermined.

LID ON BEEF IS NOW TILTED

Food Administration Allows Its More General Use.

Washington, Aug. 12.—Restrictions on the consumption of beef in public eating places and voluntary restrictions on householders has been removed by the Food Administration.

The regulations rescinded by this action prohibited serving beef more than once a day in restaurants and hotels and limited domestic consumption to one and one-half pounds a person weekly. In suspending these regulations about one month earlier than it contemplated the Food Administration requests that the use of beef be restricted as far as practicable to cattle which dress under 475 pounds.

28,000 RAINCOATS DEFECTIVE

Turned Down by Inspectors When Delivered Overseas.

New York, Aug. 12.—More than 28,000 army raincoats delivered to American soldiers overseas, have been found defective by inspectors.

Federal officials announced 55,000 raincoats, withheld from shipment when General Pershing forwarded from France complaints of leaky storm garments issued to thousands of his troops, already have been reinspected. Of these more than 51 per cent were rejected, it was stated.

YEOWOMAN GETS IN TROUBLE

Enlists, Works Two Days, Quits and Goes Home.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—Miss Barbara Foss, 24 years old, enlisted in the navy as a yeowoman and was ordered to Washington for duty as a stenographer in the navy yard. She worked two days and thereafter was missing. An operative found her at home. Yeowoman Foss says she was ill, and is "sure the thing can be straightened out." Meanwhile the authorities await advices from Washington.

Navies in Close Union.

London, Aug. 12. — Lemuel P. Padgett of Tennessee, chairman of the naval committee of the United States Congress, issued a statement on the committee's return from the naval base in Ireland, praising the work of the British navy, and adding that the committee was especially pleased to see that everywhere the British and American navies are working together in the most complete harmony. There is a perfect understanding between them, Mr. Padgett says, and no friction prevails.

"YOU ARE DOWN RATHER EARLY"

In answer to the British Tommie's remark, "I see you've moved," this young lady replies: "Yes, so I have, but not willingly." The cause of her remarkable predicament and that of the house was a shell from a Boche gun on the western front which exploded near the foundation, causing the walls to cave in and thereby bringing the attic down to the level of the street.

PEACE MOVE PROBABLE

Indirect Overtures Are Looked For From Central Powers.

Allies Will Ignore Proposals and Resort to More Vigorous Military Moves.

Washington, Aug. 12.—Hints reaching the state department from various sources of a German "peace offensive" and evidences of indirect and cautious feelers already put out led to an authorative statement that General March correctly set forth the attitude of the American government when he said in a conference with newspaper men that now was the time for greater efforts at the battle front.

Officials here are prepared for the resumption of efforts at an inconclusive peace, based on the same German plan, as practiced at Brest-Litovsk upon the Russians, of getting the enemy's representatives to attend a conference without any preceding binding agreement upon the underlying principles that must govern the framing of any peace treaty.

The central powers now, officials believe, will put forward their feelers through neutral channels to avoid a flat and uncompromising refusal.

CROWN PRINCE UNPOPULAR

German Prisoners Blame Him for Present Disaster.

London, Aug. 12.—Reuter's Limited correspondent with the British army in France sends the following dispatch concerning the German crown prince:

"According to the statements of prisoners, the German crown prince appears to be the most unpopular leader in the German army. He is accused by them of being directly responsible for the Marne disaster. They say that the opinion is widely expressed by German soldiers that the crown prince's amateurish interference with the plans of their experienced generals was the starting point for the present crushing misfortunes of the German armies."

CONVICT BELGIAN EDITORS

Three Prominent Men Are Given Long Terms by Germans.

Amsterdam, Aug. 12.—Three prominent Belgians have been sentenced to long terms of imprisonment by the German military authorities for their alleged connection with the phantom newspaper Libre Belique, according to Los Nouvelles, a Belgian newspaper published at the Hague. Father Delahaye, a Belgian priest, "suspected" editorial writer, was sentenced to 15 years penal servitude; Dr. Van Vaillie, also "suspected" editorial writer, 12 years, and Lawyer Van Der Khoven, "suspected" manager, 15 years. All were deported to Germany.

GARRETT TO HEAD MISSION

Will Confer With German Delegates on War Prisoners.

Washington, Aug. 12.—John W. Garrett, American minister at The Hague, has been designated to represent the state department and to head the mission of the United States which will meet German delegates at Berne, Switzerland, within a month to discuss the treatment and exchange of prisoners.

Viereck's Home Unguarded.

Mt. Vernon, N. Y., Aug. 12.—The police have decided it is no longer necessary to guard the home of George Sylvester Viereck, former editor of the Fatherland, whose examination in connection with the German propaganda investigation, resulted in a prominent citizen demanding in a local newspaper that he quit the town. After publication of this letter, Viereck appealed to Mayor Brush to protect him. Police were stationed around his home two nights but no trouble developed.

DESTROYS NINE FISHING BOATS

German Submarine Suddenly Appears Sixty Miles Off Coast of Massachusetts.

FOUR MEN ARE RESCUED

Fate of Other Members of Crews Is Unknown—Raid Is the First in These Waters Since Barges Were Sunk July 21.

Nantucket, Mass., Aug. 12.—A naval scout boat which put in here reports that a German submarine sank nine fishing schooners off Georges bank.

The scout boat picked up word of the raid from the auxiliary fishing schooner Helen Murley, which had rescued four survivors and was taking them to port.

Georges banks are 60 miles off this island.

The raid is the first in these waters since the tug Perth Amboy and four barges were shelled by a submarine off Nauset Beach, Cape Cod, July 21. On the next day the fishing schooner Robert and Richard was destroyed by an underwater boat off the southeastern coast of Maine.

Navy Confirms Sinking.

Washington, Aug. 12.—Coming to the surface in the midst of a fleet of fishing schooners off the Massachusetts coast, a German submarine sank nine vessels of the fleet, the Navy department announced.

The schooners sunk include the Kate Palmer, the Amita May, the Reliance, the Star Duck and the Progress. The names of the other four ships were not contained in the Navy Department dispatches.

Four survivors from the crew of the Kate Palmer were picked up by the fishing schooner Helen Murley and have reached port in safety. No information has been obtained by the Navy Department as to the fate of the crews of the other schooners.

After the crew of the Kate Palmer had been taken aboard the submarine and held prisoner for one hour they were set adrift in a small boat.

Another Report of Attack.

An Atlantic Port, Aug. 12.—The auxiliary fishing schooner Gleaner arrived and reported an attack by a submarine on four other fishing vessels off the southerly edge of Georges bank Saturday afternoon. Capt. Edward A. Proctor of the Gleaner, saw one two-masted schooner disappear, but was unable to say what became of the other three vessels. That same morning he said he heard gunfire, but it was so far away he could see nothing of the vessel doing the firing.

KEYMEN POSTPONE STRIKE

Await Result of Conferences With Federal Officials.

Washington, Aug. 12.—President S. J. Konenkamp, Telegraphers' union, after a prolonged conference with wire administration officials, telegraphed the union chiefs at St. Louis, Seattle, San Francisco, Atlanta, New Orleans and other affected points to defer strike action pending outcome of conferences between the labor leaders and government officials.

Copper Price Is Continued.

Washington, Aug. 12. — President Wilson has approved continuance to November 1 of the existing maximum price of 26 cents per pound for copper, as agreed to by the price-fixing committee of the war industries board and the copper producers. The price is subject to additional charges on copper shapes approved June 5. The producers pledge themselves not to reduce wages and to sell to the government, the Allies and the public at the same price.

Everybody's Doing It.

The recent visit of the French Blue Devils has left an indelible impression on the minds of everyone about Indianapolis. The boys of the city have been thrilled by their translated tales of daring. The men of the city have marveled at their quick step and military ways. The young women of the town have—ah, admired them. But it takes the children really to appreciate them.

"Our side won!" proudly proclaimed little Johnny at the dinner table.

"What do you mean, John?" asked his father.

"Our army won," explained John. "You know, we defeated the Ritter avenue kids."

"You did, eh? What is your side, anyway? The French?"

"Oh, no, we're not the French, papa. No, we call ourselves the American Red Devils."—Indianapolis News.

Country Owes Heavy Debt to Eight Men Who Served Nation in Time of Dire Crisis.

The brains containing the whole of our technical directing knowledge about guns and gun carriages throughout the whole of last summer, selecting types, scrutinizing old types, studying new types, getting drawings, supervising the translations of drawings, seeing manufacturers, telling manufacturers and telling new reserve officers just what sorts of manufacturing would be necessary, hunting factories, hunting draughtsman, hunting engineers, spreading themselves out over everything—those brains, those officers, were eight!

When we think of what they did, when we think of how they labored throughout those first terrible months, bringing this country from nothing to something in cannon, I say that all we can do is to take off our hats to them and thank God they were there and be very humble in their presence.—William Hard, in the New Republic.

News of the State

Condensed for Busy Folks

Albert Lea.—Trial of the "cash and carry" system by Albert Lea grocers is resulting in a reduction in prices of food commodities to consumers.

St. Paul.—Heirs of Charles E. Otis have paid inheritance taxes of $2,075 on his estate, valued at $137,441, according to a report issued by Claude S. Brown of the state legal department.

St. Paul.—The prospect of a vivacious milkmaid to administer unto bovines at the city workhouse is not at all remote, according to H. W. Austin, general superintendent. Men are not to be had.

Stillwater.—C. A. Smith, who is being held in the Washington county jail to await the action of the Chisago county grand jury, is passing his spare time by knitting woolen socks for the Red Cross.

Minneapolis.—Arthur, outrageously curious, as most bears are, bit $205 worth of flesh from the hand of Frank Gorman at the Al. G. Barnes wild animal menagerie. It cost that much for the management to settle.

Rochester.—Mrs. Frank James of Wagoner, Okla., a patient at the Mayo hospital here, was run down and killed by an automobile driven by Miss Lila Reiter, daughter of Mayor Reiter of this city. Miss Reiter was not held.

Farmers living in the Bear River and Little Swan countries are eager to begin sheep raising. They believe that the council could purchase a carload of sheep at the lowest price. The sheep could then be sold to the farmers.

St. Cloud.—Plans have been completed for the organization of a Minnesota Motor Reserve corps to provide speedy conveyance of Home Guards to scenes of disturbance. About fifty automobile owners have signed for volunteer memberships.

Morris.—Commercial fertilizer tests being made at the West Central School of Agriculture, located here, are attracting wide attention. The work is in connection with the campaign to increase yields on old lands, and lands where plant food supply is low.

St. James.—Mrs John Gorman, wife of an Omaha road engineer, was killed in an automobile accident on the Long Lake road. Her father, W. R. Wyre, recently bought an automobile. Mrs. Gorman was learning to drive. The car went over an embankment.

St. Cloud.—John Hartinger, who was brought before the authorities charged with saying that the United States had better confine its attentions to getting Villa, and other remarks of a seditious character, has again been taken into custody on similar charges. An investigation is being made concerning his record.

St. Paul.—Sixty-six state deputy oil inspectors must wait until next year for payment of fees aggregating $8,000. Only those of Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth receive salaries. The situation is due to the upsetting of the precedent of paying fees for the last of the state fiscal year ending July 31, from the appropriation for the following year.

Hibbing.—On information received by members of the Hibbing Gun club that illegal hunting was promiscuous in the Sturgeon Lake district, Game Warden George E. Woods visited that region and arrested Charles Sands, Frank Calwell and William Bartlett, for killing deer and moose in the closed season. In municipal court all three entered pleas of guilty and were fined $52.50 each or 50 days at the county work farm.

Wabasha.—Sheriff Julius Boehlke discovered that his 14-year-old prisoner, Harry Jacoby, who is held here in the county jail on a charge of murder, had completed preparations to escape. The prisoner, with the aid of a tin spoon handle, had opened the window casings and removed the weights. These, with an iron bar taken from a radiator, were the tools with which he removed a three-foot square of plaster and two thicknesses of brick.

Aurora.—The slacker drive here resulted in fifty men being sent over to Eveleth, where their cases are being considered. In addition to Aurora and the mines, the Home Guards covered Pike River, Embarrass, Waasa and Palo farming districts. In the Waasa district at a camp near a lake eight men were caught by Captain Blanchette. It is believed they had been netting and dynamiting fish and living almost entirely in the woods for some time in order to evade the draft.

St. Paul.—Wheat hoarders of Brown, Nicollet, Redwood, Blue Earth, Renville and Cottonwood counties, discovered under an investigation being conducted by Vidian B. Vye, special representative of the food administration, at Sleepy Eye, Minn., were obliged to surrender 7,000 bushels of wheat during the past week. In the past three weeks Mr. Vye has procured 20,000 bushels of wheat that should have been placed on the market not later than May 15 last.

Winona.—Two persons were burned but escaped serious injury in a mysterious explosion of a bottle of nitric acid at the drug store of W. A. Hargesheimer. He was burned about the face, arms and hands and Mrs. Ben Morrison, a patron of the store, received chest, arm and hand burns.

Minneapolis.—Dazed by a blow on the head, struck by the driver of an automobile delivery truck, who had invited him for a ride, Gustave Nelson, 55 years old, St. Paul, was found wandering by the Minneapolis police. Nelson's valuables, a watch and about $15, were missing.

Hastings.—John Droback, [illegible] years old, who had been sentenced to the Washington county jail on a disorderly conduct charge, committed suicide by hanging.

Moorhead.—The army worm has been found in one Clay county township, and county officials have taken steps to localize the destructive work of the pest.

Brainerd.—Nine men of the 1918 draft registrants have volunteered as chauffeurs and will be sent to the school for chauffeurs at Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 15.

Hibbing.—The St. Louis County Agricultural society is planning to interest the village council of Hibbing in the purchase of sheep for the local farming district.

Crosby.—W. H. Bamberg, president of the Bamberg Exploration company, dropped dead at his home here. He had been suffering from leakage of the heart. A widow survives.

Minneapolis.—Summer school at the University of Minnesota has closed. Registration for the first semester of the coming academic year will begin on September 11.

Winona.—Although a dog lying asleep in the same room was killed, the family of H. P. Felgate, on Prairie Island, near here, escaped unhurt when lightning hit the residence.

Rochester.—Billy Sunday, for the first time since his operation at the Mayo hospital, took the prohibition stump when he addressed the Mayo staff and a large number of citizens.

Moorhead.—Howard Wilson, a farmer, who was accused of hoarding wheat, has purchased $1,000 worth of thrift stamps and donated $1,000 to the Red Cross, it was announced today.

Baudette.—The best hay crop ever harvested here is in full swing and farmers are jubilant over the crops thus far. Last year many had to sell their stock because of lack of feed.

St. Paul.—Gov. J. A. A. Burnquist will be the principal orator at the laying of the corner stone of the new state normal school at Bemidji, August 10. Judge C. W. Stanton will be the master of ceremonies.

Moose Lake.—John Erving, a farmer, living near Kettle River, who is believed to be insane, set fire to his buildings following a quarrel with his wife. Erving drove his wife and daughter from their home.

St. Cloud.—Peter N. Lahr, chairman of the Stearns county commissioners, has been appointed to act as threshing machine inspector. He will cooperate with the National Grain Threshermen's Division in Stearns Threshermen's Division in Stearns county. His object is to save grain during threshing.

Virginia.—Leo Lieberman, a tailor, found more than $100 in a handkerchief on the street. He advertised and a lot of claimants demanded the money, but none was able to identify the wealth and he presented the Red Cross with $25 of his find and he said that he would give the rest to the Jewish war relief fund.

Minneapolis.—A falling off of nearly 40 per cent in enlistments during July over the preceding month was reported in a statement issued by Maj. John D. Yost, recruiting officer for the Minnesota district. Less than 700 men were secured in the state, but the statement added that a general slump in enlistments was noted throughout the country.

St. Paul.—More than 19,500,000 pounds of binder twine have been shipped this season from the State Prison plant at Stillwater. The figures were given out by Chairman Ralph W. Wheelock of the State Board of Control and it was announced that a limited number of new orders for early deliveries will be accepted now.

Glyndon.—The potato crop in the Glyndon district has not been blighted, according to a survey just completed of over 22,000 hills of potatoes by E. D. Sylverster, agriculturist of the Glyndon high school, and H. C. Boyle. The slight trace of blight found was less than two per cent, and it is expected, Mr. Sylvester says, that the district will produce an exceptionally fine seed potato this year.

Hibbing.—A survey for war purposes is to be made in Hibbing soon of all girls and women employed in various industries. A corps of clerks will call and submit questionnaires to be filled out. The object of the survey is to ascertain in what occupations women are engaged in Hibbing, to determine if they have taken the places of soldiers in service and at what salaries and to assist the state in the granting of widow's pensions.

Bemidji.—The Bemidji Manufacturing company, a local organization, is now engaged in the manufacture of one million reels on which barbed wire to be sent abroad for use by the government will be wound. The order was received but recently and is an innovation, hardwood having been used almost exclusively for these reels in the past. The local company is manufacturing them out of tamarack and birch. The reels are shipped "knocked down," so constructed that only eight nails are to be used in assembling them. The shipment will require fifty box cars, with about 2,000 bundles to a car.

St. Paul.—Minnesota ranks fifth among all the states in the Union in the population per automobile and the total number of cars in each state. There is one automobile owner for every twelve inhabitants and the total number of cars in the state is 199,099. Iowa heads the list with a car for every eight people.

Brainerd.—The state has installed two inspectors at Thirteenth and Oak streets who are to count cars, wagons and other traffic on the streets for several days. The purpose is to determine the amount of [illegible]

ALLIED TROOPS TAKE CHAULNES

Capture Important Railway Point in Heart of Somme Battle Front.

KEY TO FOE SALIENT

Number of Prisoners Taken So Far Estimated at 36,000, Including 1,000 Officers and Over 500 Guns Are Captured.

Paris, Aug. 12.—The number of prisoners taken so far in the Allied offensive in Picardy is now estimated at 36,000, including more than 1,000 officers. More than 500 guns have been captured, according to the latest advices.

London, Aug. 12.—Chaulnes, the important railway town in the heart of the Somme battle front and the key to the southern line of the German salient, has been captured by the Allies. The capture was effected by Australian and Canadian troops.

London, Aug. 12.—On the Picardy battle front the Germans have materially stiffened their defense against the American, British and French troops, but they have been unable to stem the tide of advance against them.

Although the forward push of the Allies has been slowed down somewhat, nevertheless they have made farther important progress from the north of the Somme, where the Americans and British are fighting together, to the northern bank of the Oise river, where the French troops are engaging the enemy.

The Americans and the British at last accounts were pressing closely upon Bray-Sur-Somme, aided by tanks and armored cars, which inflicted heavy casualties on the enemy as he endeavored to retard their progress.

French Making Progress.

Across the river, the Germans heavily engaged the British at Lihons and its vicinity, and at one point pierced the British line and gained the outskirts of Lihons. A counter attack, however, entirely restored to British line and the enemy retired to positions east and north of the village. Unofficial reports from London have credited cavalry with a penetration of the enemy's territory almost to Nesles.

By far the greatest progress has been made by the French from the region immediately southwest and south of Roye to the Oise river. Here they have driven their line well across the Roye-Compiegene road, and at Cambronne have reached the road leading from Compiegene to Noyon.

Since the capture of Montdidier the French have penetrated eastward to Tilloloy, a distance of about seven miles and to Canny-Sur-Matz, more than eight and a half miles, and through the hilly region southward to the Oise have averaged gains exceeding six miles over a front of 12 miles.

The stiffening of the German defense does not, in the minds of observers on the battle front, indicate that the retreat of the enemy has ended. Rather it is assumed that these maneuvers are similar to those carried out over the Marne front, when strong rear guards covered the retirement of the crown prince's army northward.

The smoke of large fires continues to be seen far behind the enemy's lines and the movement of long transport columns eastward is considered evidence that it is the intention of the enemy ultimately to retreat to new lines of defense.

Aviators have destroyed all the bridges across the Somme from the region of Peronne southward, and with the enemy's communication lines either in the hands of the Allies or dominated by their guns, the retrograde movement necessarily must be slow. Therefore strong rear guard actions are required to save large numbers of men and guns and enormous quantities of stores from capture.

The Allied troops gradually are encircling Roye and its capture, which seems imminent, will greatly heighten the difficulties of the Germans in falling back.

AVIATORS FLY 2,000 MILES

Four Britishers Make Trip From England to Egypt.

London, Aug. 12.—Two Royal Air Force officers, with two mechanics, have completed a flight from England to Egypt, a distance of 2,000 miles, in a type of airplane that has seen considerable service on the front. The official report, in announcing this feat, says:

"One or two halts were made for petrol, but the flight was merely a bit of routine work."

McAdoo Orders More Cars.

Washington, Aug. 12.—After taking a trip over the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad between Cincinnati and Hot Springs, W. Va., and noticing that passenger coaches in several trains were filled with travelers without seats, Director General McAdoo ordered additional cars attached to the trains for second sections operated. Investigations now are being conducted by the railroad administration looking to relieving crowded conditions on many other passenger trains in the East and Middle West.

PRACTICAL HINTS FOR TREE PLANTERS

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Don't plant on ground poorly prepared.

Don't plant on raw, new, or soddy ground.

Don't buy a poor grade of stock. Consult several nurseries.

Don't plant late in the spring. Early work gives best results.

Don't allow plants to become dry.

Don't dig shallow holes. Loosen up the soil.

Don't dig small holes. Tree roots must not be cramped.

Don't put grassy sods in a hole. Air spaces will kill the tree.

Don't put manure in direct contact with tree roots.

Don't plant carelessly. You are working for the future.

Don't trim conifers when planting.

Don't plant hardwoods without cutting back one-third of the top.

Don't fail to cultivate thoroughly.

Don't let weeds grow. The trees need the moisture.

Don't rob the plantation by planting other crops in it.

Don't allow any stock within the plantation.

Don't expect a large grove in a year. Trees grow slowly.

PREVENT LOSSES IN SHIPPING POTATOES

Scarcity of Barrel Stock Makes Use of Sacks Necessary.

Care Must Be Exercised in Handlin to Prevent Bruising and Crushing —Complete Ventilation Must Be Furnished.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Owing to the scarcity of barrel stock, many shippers of early potatoes will sack their product this season. Care must be taken in handling and loading sacked potatoes to prevent bruising and crushing, as early varieties are particularly susceptible to decay following injuries. They must also be loaded in such a way that complete ventilation of the shipment will be insured. In some parts of the country, sacked early potatoes are loaded on end one layer high, and the second layer is loaded on end on a temporary rack a few inches above the bottom layer. This rack is constructed of three 2 by 4 inch stringers, lengthwise of the car, at the sides and through the center, supported by posts, a little higher than the bottom layer. The bottom and top layers are then loaded simultaneously and boards, to support the top layer are nailed across the stringers as the sacks are put in place. This has the advantage of allowing sufficient space for ventilation and preventing crushing the potatoes in the bottom of the load by the weight of the sacks above.

Fine Potatoes, Even in Size and Quality.

Serious losses in potatoes now held in common storage can be largely reduced if growers and shippers take necessary precautions in the management of their storage houses. All ventilators and doors should be kept closed during the daytime and storage rooms ventilated at night, when the minimum outdoor temperature prevails. Allowing the doors to remain open during the day while grading or loading potatoes may result in gradually raising storage temperatures, permitting the rapid development of decay, and greatly increasing the losses from shrinkage. To maintain suitable temperature and humidity conditions in potato storage houses during the remainder of the present season requires the closest attention of growers and shippers in the management of their houses. The transfer of common storage stock into cold storage in order to avoid excessive losses due to unfavorable storage conditions is a practical means of reducing storage losses, where such a practice is feasible.

Capacity of a Silo.

A silo 14 feet in diameter and 32 feet high will hold 100 tons of silage. This amount will feed 25 cows 40 pounds of silage per day for 200 days.

Of Course.

The patriotism of one Clinton county farmer was clearly shown in a telephone conversation with a local hardware dealer, whom he had called to inquire if the store had a supply of millet seed.

"Why, yes, we have a supply," said the dealer; "we have some German millet—"

But here the dealer was interrupted by the farmer as follows: "To —— with German—," and the irate farmer slammed the telephone receiver on the hook.—Indianapolis News.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Time.

"And, do you raise your voice in prayer every day?" asked the pious old lady of the applicant for the job of cook.

"No'm; every night, but we can probably arrange our hours so they won't interfere."

A man and two women were arrested in New York recently for attempting to sell a baby for 35 cents.

GOOD-BYE BACKACHE, KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLES

For centuries all over the world GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has afforded relief in thousands upon thousands of cases of lame back, lumbago, sciatica, rheumatism, gallstones, gravel and all other affections of the kidneys, liver, stomach, bladder and allied organs. It acts quickly. It does the work. It cleanses your kidneys and purifies the blood. It makes a new man, a new woman, of you. It frequently wards off attacks of the dread and fatal diseases of the kidneys. It often completely cures the distressing diseases of the organs of the body allied with the bladder and kidneys. Bloody or cloudy urine, sediment, or "brickdust" indicate an unhealthy condition.

Do not delay a minute if your back aches or you are sore across the loins or have difficulty when urinating. Go to your druggist at once and get a box of imported GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. They are pleasant and easy to take. Each capsule contains about one dose of five drops. Take them just like you would any pill. Take a small swallow of water if you want to. They dissolve in the stomach, and the kidneys soak up the oil like a sponge does water. They thoroughly cleanse and wash out the bladder and kidneys and throw off the inflammation which is the cause of the trouble. They will quickly relieve those stiffened joints, that backache, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, gallstones, gravel, "brickdust," etc. They are an effective remedy for all diseases of the bladder, kidney, liver, stomach and allied organs. Your druggist will cheerfully refund your money if you are not satisfied after a few days' use. Accept only the pure, original GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. None other genuine.—Adv.

Watch Your Stomach In Hot Weather

A Cool, Sweet, Strong Stomach Your Best Safeguard Against Summer Sickness

"Keep your stomach in good working order during the hot summer months and you will have little to fear in the way of sickness" the advice many physicians give as hot weather approaches.

Good, sound, common sense advice, too. For very frequently, and especially in hot weather, these common stomach disorders which so many people seem to regard as of minor importance, do open the way for serious illness.

So keep your stomach sweet, cool and comfortable all summer long. The extra war work—change of diet—poisons that come with hot weather—all hit us in the stomach. The strongest stomach will need help this summer as never before.

The one easy way if you have the right remedy is to rid the stomach of too much acid. Because it's superacidity that interferes with digestion and assimulation, and this causes about all those stomach miseries you are so familiar with—heartburn, food-repeating, indigestion, sour, gassy stomach and that miserable, bloated, puffed-up condition after eating.

Now here is good news. An easy, sure relief has been found to get rid of the harmful acidity and gases in the stomach. It is called EATONIC, a good tasting compound that you eat just like candy. A tablet or two of EATONIC after meals will work wonders. You can have no idea of what sure, quick comfort EATONIC brings until you do try it. Use EATONIC after your meals, enjoy a good appetite and get full strength from the food you eat. At the same time protect yourself from summer stomach and bowel miseries.

Get a big box of EATONIC from your druggist today. He will tell you that people who have used EATONIC say that they never dreamed that anything could give such quick and wonderful results. It costs only 50c a box and if it fails in any way, your druggist, who you know and trust, will return your money.

A DIRTY TRAITOR.

The St. Paul Dispatch is publishing a lot of rot, that they prevailed on a renegard preacher named Maxwell to write for them, at so much per line. We have been keeping quite careful tab of this trash, and we find that the only ones who consider it worth reading or giving any attention whatever, are the middle men and profiteers, who were bitterly opposing the Nonpartisan League from the beginning. We have heard a few members of the League express the decided opinion that no member of the League would be led by a traitor who was trying to betray them into the hands of the capitalists and profiteers. There always has been traitors and we suppose they will continue to be born, but the lowest kind of a dirty skunk of a traitor is one who would betray his comrades, and turn them over to the enemy. Maxwell reminds us of a story told us by a brother-in-law of ours, who was in Andersonville prison during the war. He said that there were numerous times, that the prisoners had got a tunnel nearly completed to make their escape, when some dirty skunk would turn traitor and inform the guards to obtain the reward. This is the dirty traitor class that we place this man Maxwell in. A dirty low down human being that should be shunned by honorable people, and that the men who bought him to betray his comrades would be ashamed to associate with. He is now in seclusion ashamed to look honorable people in the face, and when he appears on the street he should be compelled to wear a sign marked "unclean," shun this thing.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

The stopping of enlistments in either the army or navy, for the present is a move in the right direction as the prospect of the increase in the draft age has caused a rush to the recruiting offices. The government prefers to have them all register and then pick out the men for army duty that can be best spared from other occupations. If they allowed them to enlist the best men would all be the first to respond, while the drones would all remain at home and lay around and the industries of the country would be crippled. America has plenty of men to lick Germany that would not be greatly missed if they went to war. By careful picking in the next draft there had ought to be enough lawyers and men stenographers in Minnesota to make up a regiment or two, that could resume their law "practice" after the war.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

After the war there will be a period of reconstruction, and the class of business, that is the best organized, will be the ones to benefit the most. The profiteers are now working overtime in a last desperate attempt to disrupt and break up the Nonpartisan League. They well know, that if the farmers and laboring men hold their organization that the sun of their great prosperity is sinking, and they are like the German militarists that would adopt any mode of warfare to break up the organization that [illegible]

The Normal Training Department at the Agricultural School at Crookston opens its sixth year on September 10 and will do its share to relieve the great shortage of teachers prevailing at the present time. Graduates of this Department are granted state first grade certificates providing they have the equivalent of three years of high school work upon entering. Those who have not had that amount of preparation may enter review classes with the idea of passing the teachers' examinations. Students who are interested in this work should write to the Agricultural School, Crookston, for further particulars.

NAVY EVER ON THE ALERT

Sign of Carelessness at Sea Is a Thing That Commanders Punish With Necessary Severity.

With not a light showing the transports plowed the Atlantic, bringing American soldiers to France, writes a naval officer in the Saturday Evening Post. Lookouts high and low, under navy discipline, searched the seas for hostile periscopes. The convoy, the apex of which was a big cruiser, was invisible in the black night. The vigilance of the navy training protected the soldiers, sleeping with their life belts on.

Suddenly out shot a bright light on the leading transport; a merchant sailor, one Jesus Fernandez Mendoza, a Spanish fireman, flashed an electric torch, fumbling about the deck. The light could be seen for miles. Instantly a navy lookout reported the occurrence to the navy officer in charge of the ship. A sharp command, a scuffle on deck, a bluejacket kicking the torch overboard stayed the Spaniard's desire to fondle an electric flashlight in the submarine zone. Five days' solitary confinement ended the lesson. Showing a light on a man-o'-war at night in time of war is a court-martial offense; even lighting a cigarette or having matches. The navy commander, in absolute charge, enforces military discipline on a merchant vessel carrying troops and punishes the guilty.

Because of the navy, criminal carelessness and conduct involving the safety of thousands of men came to naught and a possible catastrophe was averted. The navy was in command.

SAYS RISK IS EXAGGERATED

Official of Explosive Factory Denies That Occupation Is as Dangerous as Is Generally Believed.

In a paper read before a medical association in the east, Dr. W. G. Hudson, medical director of E. I. DuPont de Nemours & Co., manufacturers of explosives, recently made some interesting statements concerning the risks connected with the manufacture of powerful explosives. He asserted that the dangers of that industry were greatly exaggerated. As a matter of fact, railroading shows much higher injury and death rates than the manufacture of explosives. Of the accidents which occur in explosive factories only a small percentage are actually caused by explosives. Four-fifths of the accidents are due to carelessness or negligence of employees who disregard the precautions necessary wherever men are working with tools and machinery. By increasing the share of work done by machinery and reducing the number of workers in proportion to the increased use of mechanical appliances, the manufacturers of explosives are striving to diminish the hazards connected with their business, says Popular Science Monthly.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of six Dollars which became due on the first day of December, 1916, and is due and claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Ole K. Homme, unmarried, mortgagor, to The Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Oklee, Minnesota, a corporation, mortgagee, bearing date the 1st day of December, 1913, which mortgage with the power of sale therein contained, was filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Pennington County, State of Minnesota, on the 17th day of December 1913, at Eight o'clock A. M. and was there duly recorded in Book 9 of Mortgages on page 514 thereof; and whereas pursuant to the terms and conditions of said mortgage, and by reason of said default, the whole unpaid principal sum of said mortgage to wit: the sum of Twenty dollars [$20.00] became at once due and payable, and was and is hereby so declared by said mortgagee, and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of Twenty Dollars [$20.00] with interest thereon at Ten per cent per annum since the first day of December, 1913.

And whereas, the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceedings having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof,

Now, therefore notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage above described will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, to wit: The North half (N½) of the Northwest Quarter of Section Twenty-two (22) in Township One Hundred Fifty-three (153) North of Range Thirty-Nine (39) West of the 5th P. The conversation in the lobby of a Washington hotel turned to the subject of signs when the following story was contributed by Representative Edward H. Watson of New Hampshire:

An esteemed party named Pat established a livery stable in a rural New England town, and wishing an appropriate sign, he had one painted that pictured a man riding a mule. Just after the sign was put up Pat's friend, Mike, rambled along.

"Oi see," pleasantly remarked Mike, gazing at the new creation, "thot yez have put up a foine soign."

"Yes," responded Pat, with some show of pride. "Phat do yez think av it?"

"Shure, an' Oi loike it," replied Mike, with an expansive smile, "but who is the mon thot's on yez back?"—Philadelphia Evening Telegraph.

CARE FOR SOLDIERS' FEET

Army Authorities Particular That There Shall Be Little Trouble in That Respect.

"How is Uncle Sam able to raise sufficient funds to shoe his children?" we might ask just now, when the prices of shoes are soaring almost above the average purse.

This question was, however, answered at a recent meeting in Atlantic City of the American Leather Chemists' association, which was also attended by several members of the American Chemical society. Their discussion on this subject proved most conclusively that the boys in service are being provided with the finest quality leather in their army shoes and that it is surpassed by none.

Another interesting fact developed in their discussion—that the army shoes are made with the flesh side of the hide outside. In this way grease may be readily applied to the leather from time to time in order to keep it waterproof.

It was most gratifying to learn that in every first-aid kit the soldier carries a tube of paste to apply to the feet in order to prevent trench sores, which were so common in the early days of the war. These sores are caused by the alkaline water in the trenches, but if the feet are promptly protected by an inert grease no such bad effects result.

Thus we see that Uncle Sam is dealing with the question of the army shoe from the soldiers' viewpoint of comfort and protection, as well as from his own standpoint of the wearing qualities. The government recognizes that the soldiers' feet are his best friend and it is doing everything to help to keep them so.

Package Goods Expensive.

That package goods are more expensive than goods bought in bulk is shown in a chart of comparative food values recently published. The chart shows that canned peaches cost three times as much as dried peaches, and the food value in calories is three times greater in the dried than in the canned variety. Canned pork and beans cost about twice as much per unit of food value as dried beans. The canned goods are ready for immediate use and the dried require preparation, but to persons interested in reducing the cost of living these facts are worth taking into consideration.

The weather conditions for the past week have been very unfavorable for the harvesting and stacking of grain. It just gets dry enough to start work when another soaking rain storm comes. Fortunately there has not been any hail for the past week, which is some encouragement.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

When a man comes out from town to assist a farmer to save his grain, the farmer should treat him fairly, and not expect him to be as handy at all kinds of farm work, as a boy who has been raised on the farm. By using this kind of help carefully, they can be of great assistance to the farmers at this time, but do not send them to cleaning out old barns and pig pens where you do not want to work yourself, but go with them and show them how to shock the grain, and tell them not try to hurry too fast for the first day or two, until they get seasoned in a little.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

From present indications the allies have now got man power enough in France to make old Kaiser Wilhelm begin to sit up and take notice that America has got the man power, and that they are fighters. President Wilson keeps right on calling more men, and will continue to call and send troops to France until there is enough to drive those German invadors back onto their own soil and crush that autocratic government forever. America have the men and the money, and they are slow to go to war, but when they do go into war they win.

NO SHADOW ON HER FACE

Writer Tells of English Woman Who Has Given All She Had to the Country.

We English do not read our casualty lists any more. Many of us dare not. When we meet we do not even speak of those who have gone away. A very touching thing was told me by one of my neighbors. He was the last of twenty-four officers in one of the Gordon regiments. He said that the places were just filled up as soon as they were emptied, and they never spoke of those who had fallen. That brings the reality of the thing to you.

In my own little country—Scotland—you will find many, many villages from which the Highland regiments have been recruited. There are no boys left to come back. They are all dead.

Not many weeks before I came to this country I was up in the Gordon country, and on a Sunday night I was speaking in a church on the spiritual side of the war. At the close a woman came to me, a little, simple, country woman, dressed in the uniform of the Gordon Highlanders, holding a yellow missive, which I, alas, knew too well. "The war office department regrets to inform —— that —— was killed in action." She laid this little missive beside one of the portraits, and said, "That came yesterday. That's Jimmie. He's the last of the three." "I hear you are going to America. Will you tell American mothers I have given all my lads? I had only three and I would give six if I had them, for the same cause." Another friend of mine has given all her five sons. She is a widow and she has none left; but she is working in one of the canteens with no shadow on her face.—Mrs. A. Burnett-Smith in the Atlantic Monthly.

ROSE CLIMBS THREE STORIES

College-Bred Flowers That Nestle in Ivy-Covered Wall of University of Washington.

They are college-bred roses and their high education seems to have had a very elevating effect on their aspirations. Students on the University of Washington campus recently noticed on an ivy-covered wall of Denny hall, away up on a level with the third floor windows, a spray of coppery roses, the Seattle Post-Intelligencer says. The branch which bears them reaches out from the heavy ivy vines and is the only sign of a rosebush in the neighborhood.

Some curiosity was aroused as to whether the flower was grafted on the ivy or whether it was rooted in the wall. Neither supposition was found to be correct. A number of years ago the rose blossomed modestly near the ground. Then either the crowding of the ivy or the lofty ambitions inspired by the intellectual surroundings forced it to shoot up so that it could extend its blossoms to the sun just outside of the windows used by the public-speaking and Spanish departments.

Its long, branchless stem is covered by the ivy and its top flourishes in the soft and musical sounds from the Spanish room and the forceful oratory from the public speakers.

Look at the Hat Cords.

A military man can immediately tell to what division a soldier belongs by glancing at the cord on his hat, but to the average citizen the color of the hat cord denotes little or nothing.

It is an interesting feature to be familiar with, especially now when so many soldiers are seen all over the country, and anyone who takes the trouble to learn the following list will be rewarded by being able to satisfy his own curiosity respecting any soldier he happens to see without having to ask questions. A cord of light blue signifies that the wearer belongs to the infantry; red denotes artillery; yellow, cavalry; buff, quartermaster's corps; orange and white, signal corps; red and white, engineers' corps; red and black, ordnance; black and white, field clerk; maroon and white, medical corps; black and gold, officers; silver and black, adjutant general's clerk; green, instructor home guards, and green and white, home guards.

German General Staff.

The German general staff is not the creation of the kaiser. It is the creation of the army, and in Germany the army is the nation. In the old days, when the principality of Brandenburg was becoming the state of Prussia, it was the elector who governed with unchecked, autocratic authority. Even when Brandenburg had become Prussia the kings of Prussia dominated and owned the country as completely as the head of the house dominated the family or the manufacturer owned his business. The cabinet of the great elector, the tobacco parliament of Frederick William, the Potsdam library of Frederick the Great, these have merged into the office of the general staff, in which [illegible] the surrender of the state to the army and of the army to the army chiefs [illegible]

THE live stock famine which the world is facing is the most alarming condition agriculture has ever confronted.

The horse, cattle, sheep, swine, and poultry industry in Euro-Asia has been nearly wiped out by the inroads of war.

—And the lack of work horses and work cattle is preventing these countries from producing enough feed to raise more live stock, with which to raise more crops.

The duty of America is plain—we must plug that gap by getting into the business more deeply ourselves, not after while but now.

Conserve Surplus Food.

Increased planting of vegetables this year almost certainly will mean an unprecedented yield of all kinds of fresh vegetables.

This will mean plentiful supplies for summer tables and a large surplus.

This surplus, to be useful to America, must be conserved.

It must be canned, dried, brined or stored in the homes of America.

Home conserved food means that the home will be more nearly self-sustaining and that the burden on transportation will be lightened.

Women who have never canned should now learn how; women who know how should prepare to do more.—United States Department of Agriculture.

A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Miss Kelly Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Newark, N. J.—"For about three years I suffered from nervous breakdown and got so weak I could hardly stand, and had headaches every day. I tried everything I could think of and was under a physician's care for two years. A girl friend had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she told me about it. From the first day I took it I began to feel better and now I am well and able to do most any kind of work. I have been recommending the Compound ever since and give you my permission to publish this letter."—Miss Flo Kelly, 476 So. 14th St., Newark, N. J.

The reason this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, was so successful in Miss Kelly's case was because it went to the root of her trouble, restored her to a normal healthy condition and as a result her nervousness disappeared.

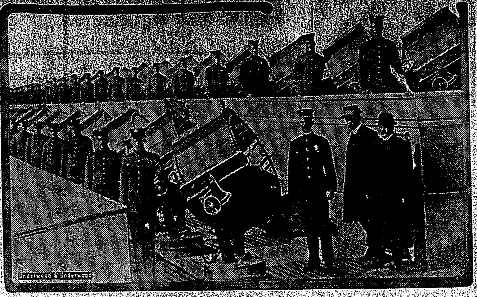
HIGH-POWERED SEARCHLIGHTS FOR COAST DEFENSE



These are a few of the high-powered searchlights that Uncle Sam has scattered along the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. With a marine at the head of each one of these searchlights, it will be practically impossible for anything foreign to pass our shores at night undetected. The crews of these batteries are put through a strenuous course of training and know the minute an alarm is sounded just what to do. The commanding officer and two government officials may be seen in the foreground.

FOOD RIOTS IN JAPAN

Nearly Every Important City Is Under Martial Law.

Property In Theater and Business Districts of Tokio Is Badly Damaged.

Tokio, Aug. 19.—Serious rioting has taken place in this city. Property in the theater and business districts was attacked and seriously damaged by mobs.

The rioters also entered and pillaged houses in Asakusa, the great recreation resort of the middle and lower classes. A number of the disturbers were wounded by the police.

Troops have been called out in nearly every important city in Japan, even the naval station at Maizurn is affected by the unrest. Two thousand workmen there are rioting in conjunction with the populace.

At Nagoya, noted for its manufactures of porcelain, a mob estimated to aggregate 30,000 persons, rioted. At several places the soldiers fired on the disturbers.

At Kobe the soldiers and police also were obliged to use sabers and bayonets against the rioters.

The food disturbers keep increasing in violence. At Osaka during a demonstration telephone wires were cut and several tramways were forced to suspend service after several passengers had been wounded. Troops, including cavalry, were called out to suppress the rioting and 25 policemen and many rioters were hurt. Five hundred persons were arrested. In outlying towns the people attacked the police with bamboo spears.

The disturbances at Kobe resulted in the burning of a great rice warehouse and several factories and houses and a large number of rice stores.

FEDERAL BANKS PROSPEROUS

Total Resources Have More Than Doubled Within Year.

Washington, Aug. 19.—Rapid growth of the strength of the 12 Federal Reserve banks within the last year under war conditions was shown by comparison of resources and liabilities reported at the close of business Aug. 16, with similar reports made Aug. 17, 1917.

Total resources in the year more than doubled, amounting to $2,048,442,000 then and to $4,242,384,000 now. This increase was caused principally by the tremendous expansion of the banks' discount business, which may be measured from the reports of only $299,000,000 bills on hand a year ago as compared with $1,497,000,000 now. Gold reserves in the year jumped from $1,374,000,000 to $1,992,000,000.

BOMB CALAIS AND HAVRE

German Air Squadrons Are Showing Great Activity.

Paris, Aug. 19.—German bombing squadrons have been very active in bombarding towns behind the front during the past two days. There were numerous raids on Rouen, where six people were killed and five wounded. The German Gothas flew as far as Havre, where no one was killed as no damage done. Two consecutive raids on Verdun caused only material damage.

Several warnings were given at Dunkirk and Calais during the period. At Calais some 50 heavy bombs were dropped on Friday night.

More Skilled Labor Is Needed.

Wahington, Aug. 19.—Shortage of skilled labor in war industries is being considerably relieved by restrictions of nonwar production, the Department of Labor has just announced. Curtailment of automobile production alone has released many mechanics and other workers. There is still a serious shortage in many war industrial centers, however, the department says, which can be relieved only by further transfer of labor from nonwar industries.

JURY CONVICTS I. W. W. LEADERS

One Hundred Men Found Guilty of Conspiracy to Hamper War Program.

TRIAL BEGAN APRIL 1

Maximum Penalty of Twenty-seven Years in Prison and $10,000 Fine Each Is Faced by Defendants in Federal Court.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—The jury in federal court, after one hour's deliberation, found 100 leaders of the Industrial Workers of the World "guilty as charged in the indictment" at their trial for conspiracy to disrupt the nation's war program.

The defendants, including William D. (Big Bill) Haywood, general secretary-treasurer of the I. W. W., the highest position in the organization, face a maximum penalty of 27 years in prison and a $10,000 fine each.

Federal Judge K. M. Landis, in his charge to the jury, withdrew the fifth and last count of the indictment which charged conspiracy to violate the postal laws, and particularly that section excluding from the mails enterprises in the nature of schemes to defraud.

Espionage Act Violated.

The remaining four counts of the indictment specifically charge violation of the espionage act, the section of the criminal code prohibiting interference with the civil rights of citizens, the selective service act and the conspiracy statute.

The case has been before the court for 138 days.

There was no sign of the disorder which had been predicted among the defendants in case of an unfavorable verdict. They sat as if stunned. Haywood continued calmly to break into bits a toothpick which he held in his fingers while the verdict was read, and scarcely a man moved for several seconds after the final words were pronounced.

The I. W. W. trial began April 1, and was one of the longest criminal cases on record in this country. The record contains 30,000 typewritten pages or 7,500,000 words.

MANY MACHINE GUNS BUILT

United States Has Produced 108,973 Since Entering War.

Washington, Aug. 19.—Since the United States entered the war and up to Aug. 10, the War department announced, 108,973 machine guns of all types have been produced in this country and accepted for army use by the ordnance department. Of this total, 30,226 have been of the Browning type. During the week ending Aug. 10 machine guns passed for use totaled 6,228.

The Hague, Aug. 19.—Germany has approved the suggestion made by Austria that an Austrian archduke be made king of Poland, the Lokal Anzeiger of Berlin says it understands. Archduke Karl Stephen, it says, probably will be named.

German Sent to Prison.

New York, Aug. 19.—Ferdinand Schurman, president of the Felix Scholler Paper company, a German owned corporation now under the control of the alien property custodian, pleaded guilty in federal court here to an indictment charging him with having falsely claimed American citizenship, so that his corporation might be permitted to import phonographic and carbon papers from Germany prior to the entrance of the United States into the war. He was given seven months in prison.

FORCE ABROAD GROWS

American Army Overseas Now Numbers 1,450,000 Men.

Minnesota, Iowa and Illinois Troops, Comprising Eighty-eighth Division, Are on Their Way.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The American army now has more than 3,000,000 men under arms and has sent nearly one-half, or more than 1,450,000 abroad for service in France, Italy and Siberia.

These figures were revealed by General March, chief-of-staff, in his talks with newspaper men and members of the Senate military committee.

The senators were told that some transports are making the trips to Europe and back in 19 days and that the average has been reduced to 28 days, which, with additional shipping becoming available, makes the great job of getting the total of 80 divisions of American troops to France by June 30, 1919, certain of success. This would mean an army of 3,200,000 men overseas.

The chief of staff paid only brief attention to the progress of the fighting in France, where the situation is developing slowly. He did characterize the battle, however, as "the German retreat," and otherwise indicated that farther retirement was expected.

General March announced that the Eighty-eighth division, composed of Minnesota, Iowa and Illinois troops, trained at Camp Dodge, was in process of embarkation.

Senators also were informed that the Russian situation is serious because of the general complexity of affairs there.

17 AMERICANS DIE IN ACTION

Fifteen Wounded and 19 Classified as Missing.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The War department has announced 90 casualties from the west front, divided as follows:

Killed in action, 17; died of wounds, 1; died of accident and other causes, 1; wounded severely, 31; wounded, degree undetermined, 20; missing in action, 19.

Northwest names appear on the list as follows: Private M. Burrows, Volga, S. D., killed in action; Lieut. Henry Otto, Tomah, Wis., wounded severely.

FISHING FLEET PROTECTION

Naval Patrol Boats Will Accompany Craft in Future.

Washington, Aug. 19.—Steps to protect the fishing fleets off the coast of New England from German submarine raiders have been taken by the navy. Secretary Daniels announced that where the vessels operate in fleets, as is the general custom, naval patrol boats hereafter will accompany them to their banks and there maintain a guard.

BRITISH CASUALTIES LESS

Are Cut Down to 7,751 in the Past Week.

London, Aug. 19.—British casualties published in official lists during the week totaled 7,751, divided as follows:

	Killed.	Wounded.	Missing.	Total
Officers	181	537	105	823
Men	1,131	5,050	677	6,928
Totals	1,482	5,587	782	7,751

Trouble Brews Over Oil Decree.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The United States and Britain have joined in diplomatic representations to the Mexican government against the oil land decrees of President Carranza, which, it is contended, amount practically to confiscation. Meanwhile, the American and English oil companies have united in an agreement to refuse to meet the terms decreed, which they contend would take their properties from them, and have agreed to depend upon their governments for protection of their interests.

A Call of the Wild.

"I wish to buy a motorcar horn to replace the one we now have—something distinctive," said the haughty matron.

"Yes, ma'am," replied the salesman. "Would a siren do?"

"Dear me, no. It must be something entirely different from the ordinary motor horn."

Packers' Costs and Profits

How much do you think it costs—

1. To dress beef, cure hides, and prepare all the numerous by-products?
2. To cool the meat for two or three days before shipment?
3. To freight it to all parts of the country in special refrigerator cars, iced daily?
4. To carry it in hundreds of branch houses, each with its refrigerating plant?
5. And to deliver it to the retailer—sweet and fresh—in less than two weeks after dressing?

Swift & Company did all this for you in 1917 at an expense of less than 2½ cents per pound of beef sold, including an average profit of ¼ of a cent a pound.

JUDGE DECIDES STOMACH REMEDY A GREAT SUCCESS

Commissioner of Mediation and Conciliation Board Tries EATONIC, the Wonderful Stomach Remedy, and Endorses It.

Judge William L. Chambers, who uses EATONIC as a remedy for loss of appetite and indigestion, is a Commissioner of the U. S. Board of Mediation and Conciliation. It is natural for him to express himself in guarded language, yet there is no hesitation in his pronouncement regarding the value of EATONIC. Writing from Washington, D. C., to the Eatonic Remedy Co., he says.

"EATONIC promotes appetite and aids digestion. I have used it with beneficial results."

Office workers and others who sit much are martyrs to dyspepsia, belching, bad breath, heartburn, poor appetite, bloat, and impairment of general health. Are you, yourself, a sufferer? EATONIC will relieve you just as surely as it has benefited Judge Chambers and thousands of others.

Here's the secret: EATONIC drives the gas out of the body—and the Bloat Goes With It! It is guaranteed to bring relief or you get your money back! Costs only a cent or two a day to use it. Get a box today from your druggist.

News of the State

Condensed for Busy Folks

St. Cloud.—Two boys, each 9 years old, broke into and robbed the house of William Victor. They obtained $20 and a few small articles.

St. Paul.—An average daily expenditure of $92,079.40 and a daily revenue of $95,362.48 was Minnesota's record for the last year, according to a report given out at the office of J. A. O. Preus, state auditor.

Fort Snelling.—The Thirty-sixth infantry, numbering 3,600 officers and men, which has been at Fort Snelling for fourteen months, is on its way to an Eastern camp to become the nucleus of a new division.

Winona.—Rapid progress is being made by the Yankee Doodle Highway association, which has as its object the marking out of the trail from St. Paul to Winona along the Mississippi, to be called the "Yankee Doodle Trail."

Red Wing.—The Lutheran Choral convention, scheduled to be held here the last part of the month, is to be abandoned this year for patriotic reasons. The convention was expected to bring all the way from 800 to 1,000 delegates.

St. Paul.—Frank E. Hoffman of this city has been appointed assistant state labor commissioner to succeed John D. Gardiner, St. Paul, recently advanced to the commissionership, following the death of W. F. Houk, Minneapolis.

Winona.—The first shipment of coal by barges up the Mississippi river under government auspices is expected to reach Winona within the next few days. These barges may be run temporarily for the remainder of the summer if the first trip proves a success.

Bemidji.—A lacrosse game between the Red Lake and Cass Lake Indians may be one of the features at the Beltrami county fair next month, according to plans of Walter F. Dickens, superintendent of the Red Lake agency. The game would be staged here.

St. Paul.—The Minnesota Council of State Banking Institutions was organized here by representatives of state banks in 42 counties. It will co-operate with national and state organizations to promote the general efficiency and welfare of the American banking system.

Fairmont.—Lieut. Hugh Lester, bred and born in Elm Creek township, Martin county, is in a hospital in France, wounded in both legs by Hun shells. He attended common school of Martin county and a graduate of both Carleton and Harvard. He located in the practice of law at Birmingham, Ala.

Mankato.—Violet Wirig, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Wirig of Madison Lake, was drowned at Point Pleasant. She, with two other girls, were in a launch and from some unknown cause the launch caught fire. The girls upon seeing the fire jumped and Miss Wirig was the only one that could not swim.

Mankato.—Action brought by Joseph Gilbert, formerly manager of the Nonpartisan league campaign, against William S. Carver, sheriff of Martin county, and William Roepke, his deputy, for $400 forfeiture on account of illegal detention, will be tried in Ramsey county, under an order made by Judge Grier M. Orr in district court.

St. Paul.—Minnesota men in military service, including those fighting in France, will be afforded an opportunity to vote at the general election in November if a way to register their ballots can be found, the state public safety commission decided yesterday. Attorney General C. L. Hilton was asked to study the legal aspects of the plan and to report at the next meeting of the commission.

St. Paul.—With Minnesota showing a saving of between 6,000 and 7,000 tons of wheat flour a month, A. D. Wilson, state food administrator, attributed the success of the bureau to the food administration's organization here. There are more than 5,000 persons connected with the state food administration, Mr. Wilson said, and every county in the state has a county food administrator and an efficient committee.

St. Paul.—Interest on daily balances of state deposits in banks almost paid the salaries of state elective officers last year, State Treasurer Henry Rines said. The interest earnings were $242,585 at 2 per cent on active and 3 per cent on inactive deposits. The salary for state elective officers totaled during the year $248,550. By keeping down the inactive deposits, Treasurer Rines effected a material increase in interest earnings.

St. Paul.—Fire Prevention Day will be celebrated November 2 throughout the United States this year. Postponement from the usual October date was requested by W. G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, to avoid conflict with the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign. A copy of Mr. McAdoo's request was received at the office of the state fire marshal and a favorable reply was made. Governor Burnquist later will issue the customary proclamation designating Saturday, November 2, as Fire Prevention Day in Minnesota.

Hamline.—Officials in charge of the entertainment features for the Minnesota state fair, the first week in September, are completing arrangements for the greatest aviation exhibition ever staged in this part of the United States. Several weeks ago, a modest program of flights were considered. Then fair officials got in touch with the department of public information and as a consequence the assurance was given the "Flying Circus" of American and British aviators would be sent here on Sept. 1, 2 and 3. It was tentatively decided to stage [illegible] Sept. 2.

MRS. PETER OLESON

Mrs. Peter Oleson of Cloquet, is one of the Minnesota women of prominence who has joined the forces of the Y. W. C. A. in its war work campaign. Mrs. Oleson is known throughout the state as a club woman of attainments and a speaker of force. Not only will she serve as a speaker but as the recruiting officer, whose duty it will be to secure speakers for the many meetings through which the public will be told of the war work activities of the Y. W. C. A. The campaign now being inaugurated is preliminary to the co-operative fall drive of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. At that time the two organizations will ask for $115,000,000 for their work at home and abroad. Of this amount $15,000,000 will go to the Y. W. C. A. Minnesota's share of the Y. W. C. A. total will approximate $2,975,000.

Pipestone.—Wilhelm Peters, of Sioux Falls, S. D., shot and killed 6-year-old Margaret Porter of Pipestone and then took his own life.

Winona.—The Rev. Dr. T. S. Devitt has accepted the call extended to him to the pastorate of the Central Congregational church of Fall River, Mass.

St. Paul.—A state conference of county superintendents, institute instructors, and instructors in teacher training departments in high schools, will be conducted at the university farm on Aug. 27, 28 and 29.

Rochester.—"I have no anxiety for the future of this war," declared Surgeon General W. C. Gorgas, head of the United States medical corps, in addressing several hundred doctors, nurses and enlisted men at the Mayo clinic.

Fairmont.—This city honored the memory of Walter H. Thiemann, the first boy from this city killed in France, at a special service in Evangelical St. John's church. A gold star was added to the church service flag.

St. Paul.—A strange gas permeated the whole downtown district and several persons fainted. City health authorities express the belief that the gas is escaping from the mains into the sewer pipes and then into various office buildings.

St. Paul.—The big annual sale of timber on state lands will be conducted October 14 at the Capitol by State Auditor Preus, it was announced by Oscar Arneson, state superintendent of timber. Upwards of 20,000,000 feet will be offered.

St. Paul.—A large section of the northwest was made bone dry, by an order of the state public safety commission which instituted prohibition in Red Lake county, as a war measure. This district was termed an "Oasis" for northern Minnesota, the Dakotas and adjoining Canadian territory.

Winona.—When he lost control of his automobile while driving with a party of five other young persons between Houston and Caledonia, Edward Schleich, 21 years old, was killed and his companions escaped with minor bruises. The steering gear was defective and the car plunged into a ditch.

Winona.—The systematic rescue of valuable fish from drying pools left by subsiding high water along the margins of the Mississippi river is assuming remarkable proportions. Since July 1, 1918, no less than 11,000,000 miscellaneous fish have been rescued and returned to the main river or running sloughs.

Stillwater.—Harold, the 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Bloom, four miles west of Scandia, was found dead in a barn yard. The child was playing around a wagon near the barn, and in climbing over the front wheel cramped the wagon in such a manner that he was squeezed so badly as to cause a depression around the heart which resulted in death.

St. Paul.—Renewing the fight begun more than a year ago for revision of Federal grain grading standards to overcome objections of farmers in Minnesota and other northwestern states, state officials, including representatives of the state boards of grain appeals in Duluth and Minneapolis conferred here to adopt a future course of action. It was said a new appeal for revision of the Federal grades may be made.

St. Paul.—The number of employes in the State Labor department will remain reduced that available funds may be used to increase the salaries of those retaining their positions. Commissioner John D. Gardiner made the announcement after Attorney General Hilton approved the plan from a legal standpoint. There will be two instead of three deputies, four instead of five factory inspectors, and three instead of four assistant factory inspectors. A special agent and one compensation agent are to be employed, however, and paid from a contingent fund.

SOLDIERS' SWORD ARM OF NATION

If We Fail in Our Duty Boys in France Cannot Achieve Victory.

LOAN MONEY TO UNCLE SAM

Buying Liberty Bonds an Investment in Lives of Americans "Over There" and an Insurance for Safety of Our Country.

By CORRA HARRIS.

(Author of "A Circuit Rider's Wife," "Eve's Second Husband," Etc.)

During the Thrift Stamp campaign in July, 1918, a prominent citizen was sent into a backwoods farming community to arouse the people, and if possible sell Thrift Stamps. He was not expected to have much success with the sale of stamps because the people were very poor and illiterate. The effort was to be chiefly educational.

The speaker found a dingy company of farmers and their wives waiting for him in an old field schoolhouse.

He began his address with arguments for the support of the government reduced to the simplest forms. No one seemed to listen. The men stared straight ahead as if they had something else on their minds. The women fanned themselves and looked out of the windows. He changed his manner of speech to an impassioned appeal; no one was moved. He paused perspiring before making a last despairing effort. But before he could go on a tall, gaunt farmer stood up in the back of the house and waved his hand beseechingly:

"Mister," he said, "if you are done talking, give us a chance at them Thrift Stamps so we kin sign up and get back to the field."

He gave them the "chance." They bought nineteen hundred and fifty dollars' worth of stamps, although there was not a man among them who owned property to the amount of two thousand dollars.

"We own this land," the farmer said, addressing the prominent citizen grimly as he passed up the last pledge card, "we own all this country. The government at Washington belongs to us; we made it and it is ours. The army in France is ours, too; they are our sons. We sent sixty-two boys there from this district, and I reckon we know it is our duty to work for them and take care of them while they are busy whipping them Germans."

This is the best, most serviceable and intelligent definition of patriotism I have heard since this war began.

Victory at Any Cost.

This is the most expensive war ever known, still beyond our imagination to conceive of. The enormous destruction wrought by the submarines, the terrific sums spent for war materials, the loans to our allies, none of these things account for the incredible expense. The real explanation is that civilization demands that it shall cost everything. Never before has any nation spent so much to insure the health of its soldiers, never before have such provisions been made to safeguard a great army morally. More is being spent to equip hospitals, provide ambulances, nurses and doctors to care for the wounded than whole campaigns cost in former wars. Never in the history of man has such provision been made to insure widows and orphans and soldiers from the after effects of wounds and poverty. Formerly when a man entered the army to fight for his country, his country took his life, and that was the end of it if he was killed. Now the government pays, and pays enormously, for every man who lives or dies in this struggle. All this is so because as a nation we have developed a sense of justice and honor that regards any and every expense as secondary to the one tremendous obligation to its citizens.

Our allies were compelled to fight Germany to preserve their very existence, but we chose to fight her when we might have made a shameful treaty with her that would have insured a shameful peace, because we are not a craven grasping nation, but a nation built upon ideals, and it costs more to preserve an ideal than it ever costs to preserve peace, because you cannot buy them—you must achieve them.

Nothing stands between the world and this catastrophe but the American people, their honor, their energy, their fidelity and their wealth. Our troops in France are only the sword arm of the nation. We, the people at home, are the body and life of that army. If we fail at all, they must fail entirely.

We are about to make another loan of six billion dollars for war expenses. It is not a gift, but an investment we make in the lives of American soldiers and an insurance we take out for the safety of our country.

To Put Out Fire.

If a lamp is accidentally upset and the burning oil spreads, do not dash water on it, but throw upon it flour, meal, sand, salt or ashes.

The Real Trouble.

They talk about people's biting off more than they can chew—but the trouble often is that they do not chew [illegible] enough.

Words are daughters of earth, but ideas are sons of heaven.—Samuel Johnson.

Help That Weak Back!

IN THESE trying times the utmost effort of every man and every woman is necessary. But the man or woman who is handicapped with weak kidneys finds a good day's work impossible, and any work a burden. Lame, achy back; daily headaches, dizzy spells, urinary irregularities and that "all-worn-out" feeling are constant sources of distress and should have prompt attention.

Don't delay! Neglected kidney weakness too often leads to gravel, dropsy or Bright's disease. Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills today. They have brought thousands of kidney sufferers back to health. They should help you.

Personal Reports of Real Cases

AN IOWA CASE.
Ray North, carpenter, 800 Genesee St., Storm Lake, Iowa, says: "For five weeks I wasn't able to help myself on account of kidney trouble. I had hurt my back and, as a result, my kidneys were affected. Finally I was taken with an attack of lumbago and I couldn't move without terrible, knife-like pains through my kidneys. My back ached and throbbed all the time and I couldn't rest night or day. My kidneys were sluggish and the secretions irregular. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and had only taken a couple of boxes when that awful misery in my back eased up and I was able to move about. Five boxes made a complete cure from that terrible attack of lumbago and I haven't had a sign of it since."

A MINNESOTA CASE.
Mrs. John Dooley, Janesville, Minn., says: "For two years I suffered awful misery from my back and kidneys. My back was so lame I couldn't do my housework and the awful pains that went through it were more than I could endure. My kidneys didn't act at all right and showed weakness. I had dizzy headaches which caused my head to feel as if it were whirling. I tried different remedies, but didn't get any relief whatever. My back ached so when I retired that I couldn't sleep at all and when I think of what I suffered, it makes me shudder. I finally learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and after using six boxes, was absolutely cured."

No complaint should be made by the saloon keepers and liquor dealers of Red Lake County for the closing of their saloons by the Public Safety Commission. They were repeatedly warned to stop wholesaling liquors to "blind piggers" and "boot leggers," to be taken into dry territory, but they paid no attention to it whatever, and automobiles continued to be loaded with "rattle snake" whiskey to be sold in Pennington and Polk counties. The "boot leggers were so numerous at the Pennington county fair, that the girl snake trainer, was alarmed for fear that some of her snakes would be killed by inhaling the breath of some of the drinkers of it. The liquor all came from Red Lake county, and was sold to "boot leggers" by thr liquor dealers who well knew that it was to be peddled out in Pennington county in violation of law. Pennington county voted dry, and Red Lake county voted wet, and if the liquor dealers of Red Lake county had confined their business to selling liquor to residents of Red Lake county at retail they would not have had their saloons closed. They were warned, but heeded not the warning, and now they must stand the consequences,

Germany under the rule of Kaiser Wilhelm have made outlaws of themselves to such an extent that no other nation will want to do any business with them after the war. They have violated all laws of decency and warfare, and have created a prejudice against anything manufactured in Germany, that will last for a generation.

So eager is the Government to induce everyone in the Northwest to visit the big war features at the coming Minnesota State Fair and War Exposition, September 2 to 7, that it is offering reduced railroad rates to persons desiring to go. A fair and a half round trip rate is to be given anyone in the territory of the State Fair during fair week.

The big Allied War Exposition presenting thousands and thousands of big guns, shells, mines, torpedoes, aeroplanes, uniforms and other booty taken from the hard-pressed Germans on the Western Front, the Austro-Italian Front, and in other war zones, will be the leading features of the fair. The exhibit in the world. It is to cover 14,000 square feet of space.

Other big war features will be shown at the fair. It has been estimated that fully 50,000 square feet of space are to be given over to such activities. It will be the biggest War Exposition in America this year.

Now that the Nonpartisan League have decided to put an independent state ticket in the field, it is to be hoped that they will not again try to oust Congressman Steenerson. The record of the primaries shows that Steenerson can defeat any opponent with from four to five thousand majority, and any candidate put up in opposition to him, will hurt the state ticket with not a ghost of a chance of their candidate being elected.

We asked a farmer this week what he considered the most profitable busines that a man could engage in. He said manufacturing oat and corn meal, with the government compelling people to buy it, at any price you wanted to charge for it, and compelling the wheat farmers to sell their wheat for what the government set the price at.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of six Dollars which became due on the first day of December, 1916, and is due and claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Ole K. Hommie, unmarried, mortgagor, to The Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Oklee, Minnesota, a corporation, mortgagee, bearing date the 1st day of December, 1913, which mortgage with the power of sale therein contained, was filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Pennington County, State of Minnesota, on the 17th day of December 1913, at Eight o'clock A. M. and was there duly recorded in Book 9 of Mortgages on page 614 thereof; and whereas pursuant to the terms and conditions of said mortgage, and by reason of said default, the whole unpaid principal sum of said mortgage to-wit: the sum of Twenty dollars [$20.00] became at once due and payable and was and is hereby so declared by said mortgagee; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of Twenty Dollars [$20.00] with interest thereon at Ten per cent per annum since the first day of December, 1913.

And whereas, the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceedings having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof,

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage above described will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, to-wit: The North Half of the Northwest Quarter of Section Twenty-two 22 in Township One Hundred Fifty-three 153 North of Range Thirty Nine 39 West of the 5th P. M. in Minnesota, being in the county of Pennington, in said of Minnesota which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Pennington County, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County and State, on Tuesday the 8th day of October 1918, at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at Public vendue, to pay the said debt and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and an attorney's fee of twenty-five Dollars as stipulated in and by said mortgage, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of said sale as provided by law.

SAYS BERLIN IS FORTIFIED

Vast Defense Work Has Been Built, According to Statement Made by Swede.

Monster guns hidden in pits 40 and 50 feet deep, and 125 to 150 feet apart, form a labyrinth of defenses around Berlin, according to John Erickson, a native of Sweden. For five years, beginning with 1907, Erickson says he worked on the outer defenses of Berlin, and prior to that time worked for the Motla gun works of Sweden, turning out heavy ordnance for Germany.

Guns surrounding Berlin, according to Erickson, range from 22 to 42 inches in diameter. Many are of the larger type. Some are over 200 feet long. Their foundation is set in seven feet of solid granite, sunk in the bottom of the pits in which the guns are hidden, surrounding the city. Two circles of these guns surround Berlin. One is seven miles from the city's outskirts—the other is [illegible]. A screen roof is now laid over these guns. A layer of two feet of dirt covers the top. Grass, trees and even the season's crops are planted over them.

Electricity controls the huge guns, Erickson says. When the guns are needed the roof may easily be thrown off and the guns hoisted to position.

Conan Doyle as a Doctor.

Asked recently why he gave up the practice of medicine, Sir Conan Doyle said the work was too hard, and to prove it he went on to tell of his first case, says an exchange.

Called in the middle of a bitter winter's night to a house three miles away, where a child was reported to be seriously ill, the creator of "Sherlock Holmes" tramped through the rain and sleet only to find the place in darkness, and bolted and barred into the bargain.

He knocked and rang again and again. No answer! At last a head stuck itself gingerly out of a third-story window.

"Be you Dr. Doyle?" it said.

"Yes," said Doyle, "let me in."

"Oh, no need to come in now," said the man. "The child's all right; sleeping quite peacefully."

Doyle buttoned his coat and started off homeward. But suddenly the window was raised again and the same voice cried, "Doctor! I say, doctor!"

He hurried back, thinking that the child had suddenly taken a turn for the worse.

"Well, what do you want?" he asked.

The voice made answer: "Ye won't charge nothin' for this visit, will ya?"

A monster black bear came out of the woods and came up to their camp and took a can containing bread and went leisurely back into the timber. As usual in such cases they had no gun, but Abel took his rifle along this week and says, if his bearship makes them another visit he will get a warm reception. This is the first black bear that has been seen in this locality this year.

THE women of America are playing a mighty important part in our serious obligation to furnish war-torn peoples overseas with more food and clothing.

If it were not for the cooking and sewing economies practiced by millions of women, and their eager readiness to use food substitutes, it would be impossible for us to keep so many persons in Europe from dying of cold and hunger.

The women of this community can accomplish even more by studying the food and clothing efficiency exhibits at the Minnesota State Fair, September 2 to 7.

Conserve Surplus Food.

Increased planting of vegetables this year almost certainly will mean an unprecedented yield of all kinds of fresh vegetables.

This will mean plentiful supplies for summer tables and a large surplus.

This surplus, to be useful to America, must be conserved.

It must be canned, dried, brined or stored in the homes of America.

Home-conserved food means that the home will be more nearly self-sustaining and that the burden on transportation will be lightened.

Women who have never canned should now learn how; women who know how should prepare to do more. —United States Department of Agriculture.

PROFITS ARE HUGE

M'ADOO'S REPORT SHOWS THE AMAZING SUMS MADE BY U. S. CORPORATIONS.

FOODSTUFF MEN THE WORST

Producers of Most of the Necessities of Life and Concerns in Nearly All Branches of Industry Branded as Profiteers.

Washington, Aug. 17.—Exorbitant and amazing profits made in American industry in 1916 and 1917 are shown in the report just completed by the treasury department on 31,500 corporations. The report was prepared in response to Senator Borah's resolution adopted last May. The names of the concerns are withheld.

The treasury department takes the position that it would be a violation of existing law to make public the names of corporations and their earnings. The senate resolution is not sufficient to suspend the law; it would require a joint resolution, the treasury department holds.

The most extraordinary profiteering revealed by the report was in foodstuffs. Producers of nearly all the common necessities of life were shown to have made enormously increased profits in 1917 over 1916, although their earnings in 1916 were in numerous cases far above the 100 per cent mark. Meat packers' profits were shown to have increased substantially. One large packer made $19,000,000 more in 1917 than in 1916.

In the iron and steel industry sensational profits were disclosed. In coal and oil profits mounted to unparalleled figures. Public utilities of virtually every character also came in for a liberal share of the increased prosperity.

Large Profits of Dairies.

Among the dairy concerns large increases of profits were shown. One company with $600,000 capital made $166,000 in 1917, against $25,000 the year before. The small dairymen made the largest percentages of increased profits. One little concern with a capital of $2,400 made $11,659, as compared with $4,000 for 1916.

Fruit and vegetable growing industry's profits increased considerably over those for 1916, although they were fairly large for that year. One concern's profits were 240 per cent more for 1917 than for 1916. Concerns with small capital showed the largest increases.

Wheat, corn and barley growing was not so profitable, according to the returns. One concern with $125,000 capital lost money.

Stock breeding showed substantially increased profit in nearly all the concerns listed. The industry also showed large profits for the previous year. One concern's profits were 255 per cent more in 1917 than in 1916.

A large number of industries listed as "miscellaneous agricultural industries" showed some strikingly large profits, beginning in 1916 and increasing rapidly in 1917.

Food Men Gain Riches.

Of 216 concerns listed under the caption "Bread and other baking products," profiteering of an amazing character was shown. For example, one company capitalized at $40,000 increased its profits from $50,000 in 1916 to $107,000 in 1917. Few of them showed increases of less than 20 per cent on their capital stock.

In the canning industry one company which earned 377 per cent in 1916 earned 1,047 per cent in 1917. Another, capitalized at $93,000, made $247,000 in 1917, against $66,000 in 1916. A $50,000 concern which made $25,000 in 1916 made $142,000 in 1917.

The manufacture of syrups, molasses and glucose netted much increased profit. One company with $350,000 capital earned $363,000 in 1917 against $176,000 in 1916. Ice cream was an especially big money maker.

Of more than 500 flour, feed and grist mills listed only a few failed to show largely increased profits. One $2,500,000 concern made $752,000 in 1916 and $1,200,000 in 1917.

There was a general upward rise in most packing companies' profits. The largest concern listed had a capital of $100,000,000, upon which it earned $49,000,000 in 1917, against $30,000,000 in 1916.

Startling Profits in Leather.

Leather manufacturers, including the dealers in hides, and makers of boots and shoes and trunks and valises, made profits in 1916 and 1917 that are startling. One shoe manufacturing concern, with $1,000,000 capital, made 318 per cent in 1916, but no excess in 1917.

Scores of boot and shoe manufacturing concerns, whose capital was from $100,000 to $1,000,000, made all the way from 20 to more than 1,000 per cent in 1916.

The profits of the brewers ranged from 25 to 175 per cent in 1916, and their excess profits in 1917 were from 5 to 50 per cent, most of the large breweries making an average profit of 42 to 50 per cent in 1916, and an excess profit of 10 per cent in 1917.

The distillers of whiskies and spirits made profits in 1916 that ranged from 9 to 823 per cent, while their excess profits last year were from 12 to 400 per cent.

Coal Men Pile Up Wealth.

The Pennsylvania and West Virginia soft coal mining companies made enormous excess profits in 1917, according to the report. The large companies all made profits in 1916 ranging from 25 to 150 per cent.

In 1917 all of the large bituminous operators, the report shows, made unusual profits. One mine made 1,626 per cent on its capital in 1916 and 4,337 per cent in 1917. Another made 1,872 per cent in 1916 and 5,983 per cent in 1917.

Profits of the midcontinent bituminous operators were smaller, averaging 50 per cent.

The big oil producing companies of Illinois, Indiana, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, and West Virginia made from 28 to 396 per cent in 1916 and enormous excess profits in 1917. The Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas oil companies showed similar profits for both years.

All of the garment manufacturers made gigantic profits in 1916, those for the larger companies ranging from 25 to 75 per cent that year. They showed excess profits in 1917 of from 5 to 55 per cent.

Small dealers in flour and grain, with capital stock of from $1,000 to $8,000, made excess profits that ranged as high as 519 per cent.

The report also shows that the small dealers in furniture and other household goods made enormous profits last year, with excess profits as high as 350 per cent.

Retail dealers in tobacco made enormous profits off the smokers of the country, the highest being 3,176 per cent, and the average approximately 80 per cent in 1916. These profits were doubled during 1917.

Auto Builders Wax Fat.

Most of the automobile companies hit high marks in earnings in 1916, but they went still higher in 1917. The largest listed, however, did not show any extraordinary increase in profits over those of 1916. One company with $31,000,000 capital in 1916 earned $17,000,000, then boosted its capital stock to $96,000,000 and then earned $23,000,000. A $19,000,000 concern which earned $4,608,000 in 1916 made $5,258,000 in 1917. A $16,000,000 company made $4,713,000 in 1917, against $4,109,000 in 1916.

A tin plate mill with $49,000,000 capital made $54,000,000 net profit in 1917, against $19,000,000 in 1916, or an increase of 72 per cent on its capital stock.

Transportation, public utilities, and light and power companies, with very few exceptions, fared exceedingly well during 1916 and 1917. Their profits in 1916 generally ranged from 6 to 80 per cent on their capital stock, while they nearly all made excess profits in 1917 of from 3 to 35 per cent. Profits of the large public utilities companies in 1916 and 1917 ranged from 11 to 25 per cent.

Steam and electric railroads in 1916 made from 17 to 207 per cent profits, while in 1917 they made profits in excess of 1916 that ranged between 15 and 20 per cent, according to the report.

Marine, fire, and life insurance concerns enjoyed unusually large increases in profits. One company earned 493 per cent more on its capital stock in 1917 than in 1916. Another capitalized at $700,000 increased its income from $324,000 in 1916 to $3,778,000 in 1917.

How Dry Goods Men Fared.

A list of 2,092 clothing and dry goods merchants, including department stores, showed profits for 1917 in excess of those over 1916, as high as 191.43 per cent on the capital stock. The concerns making the enormous profits, however, were the smaller firms.

Retail grocers and provision brokers made their enormous "war profits" in 1916, the report shows. The grocers made only a small profit in 1917 in excess of their 1916 profits. Of the 1,633 concerns listed in the report, however, only a dozen show profits of less than 20 per cent on their capital stock in 1916, the year before the United States entered the war, and the profits of some concerns that year were as high as 1,813 per cent. Most of the grocers, both large and small concerns, the report shows, made average profits in 1916 of from 50 to 200 per cent.

Potatoes, German Style.

"Gee! Where have you been buried all this time?" exclaimed Claudine of the rapid-fire restaurant. "No German fried potatoes go here any more—American fry now."

"Cut out the piffle!" snarled the guest with the flat-topped head. "I want what I order. See?"

"All right!" responded the young lady. Then to the chef she called, "Hey, Baldy! One order fried potatoes with ground glass in 'em!"—Kansas City Star.

Going Out and Coming In.

I have always had a love of Browning—sane, I hope, and tempered, I am sure; but it is with malign pleasure that I say to some enthusiast of the old school: "Oh, Browning, you know, has gone out. You might as well admire Whistler or G. B. S." It is only when the tables are turned, and some one attacks my own love of Browning—still sane and tempered, remember—that I am annoyed; and if the critic happens to be Professor Cunliffe, who thinks that Meredith has left Browning as far in the rear as Browning left Tennyson, then I retort, with joyous rancor, that there is, indeed, no danger of Meredith (as a poet) going out, because he has never, in any sense, come in.—Chauncey B. Tinker, in Atlantic.

ENEMY DEFENSE SYSTEM SHAKEN

British Troops at Some Points Are Close to the Old Hindenburg Line.

AUSTRIANS IN ACTION

Capture of One Officer and Four Gunners of Battery Confirms Presence of Dual Monarchy Troops on West Front.

With the British Army in France, Aug. 26.—On some parts of the northern battle front the British have reached points 1,000 yards from the old Hindenburg line, which seems strongly held.

In addition to crossing the Albert-Bapaume road at many places, the British have made progress southward for a considerable distance, with the cavalry operating in front of the infantry.

British Front in France, Aug. 26.—Forty-two German divisions have suffered considerable losses in the present British drive, losing 40,000 soldiers, including several hundred officers, in prisoners alone.

The capture of one officer and four gunners of an Austrian battery confirms the presence of Austro-Hungarian artillery on the Western front.

London, Aug. 26.—The British and French forces, notwithstanding the fact that the Germans have brought up strong reinforcements on both sides of the battle front, everywhere have beaten off the enemy and continue their victorious progress.

Many additional towns have been captured by Field Marshal Haig's men in the north, while the French have successfully overcome obstacles placed in their way and reached territory north of Soissons, which adds further to the danger of the Germans in the Noyon sector and to the line running eastward from Soissons to Rheims.

Germans Being Driven Back.

All along the front from Arras to the Somme the Germans are gradually being driven back to the old Hindenburg line by the British. Along the Somme the enemy is being harassed well to the east of Bray, while farther north strong counter-attacks have been repulsed and the town of Mametz, the Mametz wood, Martinpuich, Le Sars and Le Barque have been captured.

It is around Bapaume that the Germans are keeping up their strongest efforts to hold back the tide that is surging against them, but the British are continuing to make slight gains daily in the process of surrounding the town, which seemingly soon must be evacuated. The taking of Le Sars and Le Barque appears to be a forerunner of this eventuality. La Barque is only 2½ miles southwest of Bapaume.

Everywhere except directly south of Bapaume the British are well across the Bapaume-Albert road and north of the town they are fast pressing forward toward the Hindenburg line. Unofficial reports have placed the British in the outskirts of Bellecourt, which is just west of the old line.

17,000 Prisoners Since Wednesday.

Since Wednesday last the British have taken more that 17,000 prisoners and large numbers of guns and quantities of supplies also have fallen into their hands. Some of the prisoners taken have been identified as coming from Austro-Hungarian units.

The Germans are launching strong counter-attacks against the French between the Oise and Allette rivers, in an endeavor to hold back General Mangin's army, which is threatening the entire German front in this region. Here also the Germans have been reinforced by troops from the dual monarchy.

BILL IS ABOUT COMPLETED

Revenue Measure Will Be Reported to House Thursday.

Washington, Aug. 26.—The $8,000,000,000 revenue bill, providing for the greatest tax levy in the history of the United States, will be reported to the House Thursday and brought up in the House for consideration Monday, Sept. 2. This program was announced by Chairman Kitchin of the House Ways and Means committee, with the prediction that the House will pass the bill after a week's consideration.

Spanish Situation Is Critical.

London, Aug. 26.—German newspapers received here affirm that the situation between Spain and Germany is critical, but they agree that Germany cannot make any concessions with regard to her submarine warfare, says a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Copenhagen.

23,000 Officers Released.

Amsterdam, Aug. 26.—The Bolsheviki have released 23,000 officers from Alexiev barracks, Moscow, following the threat of citizens to blow up the Kremlin unless the officers were freed, according to a dispatch from Kiev. [illegible] Hunger, typhus and cholera are raging in the northern Russian provinces, says a Petrograd dispatch. The population of entire villages are dying. News of the State

Condensed for Busy Folks

Plainview.—The dates for the Wabasha county fair for 1918 have been set for Sept. 17, 18, 19 and 20.

Mankato.—James H. Baker of Mankato has been decorated with the war cross for "excellent conduct on Mont Grappa in June."

St. Paul.—Eighty-five of Minnesota's eighty-six counties are said to have county agents. Douglas is reported to be the agentless county.

Fairmont.—Rain put electric lights out of business in a part of the south end of Fairmont, rendered roads practically impassable and knocked out threshing for several days to come.

Wabasha.—The Big Joe mill has rented the river ferry from the city for two years and will operate it shortly. Automobilists may now cross the Mississippi between Red Wing and Winona.

Eveleth.—Thirty-one new fire alarm boxes were received by the Eveleth fire department and will be installed to replace the present alarm boxes at once. The alarms operate on a more recent and much improved system.

Minneapolis.—Forty acres of land near Two Harbors, Minn., on the north shore of Lake Superior and within one and a half miles of a railroad station, was given away as a prize at a chicken dinner and lawn social here.

Red Wing.—A new system of assigning boys at the training school to the different courses of study, according to their mental aptitude, is to be tried out with the opening of the regular study term the first week in September.

St. Cloud.—There will be no new Grand Central hotel for St. Cloud at the present time. D. S. Hayward has received from the government a refusal to his request for the necessary permit. The hotel was to cost $213,000.

Pipestone.—Archie S. Funk and J. S. McCullion, well-known residents of this town, were killed when the automobile in which they were riding turned turtle. Their bodies were found under the car a few hours after the accident.

Winona.—Gustav Wagner, 59 years old, was severely injured at a local elevator. While removing a belt from a pulley his clothing became entangled. He was whirled around several times before the belt snapped and released him.

Mankato.—Legal action for $50,000 damages, and other items amounting to total of $52,088, was started against the National Citizens' bank by Miss Alma Kopke of this city. She was very severely injured in an elevator accident at the bank building.

Winona.—The Winona committee in charge is perfecting details for the annual convention of the International Boilermakers' association, Northwestern system division, which is to be opened here Sept. 3, with between seventy and 100 delegates in attendance.

St. Paul.—Mrs. John Wulf and Henry Stroeh of Luverne have been forced to return to regular trade channels some excess canning sugar which they procured through a mail order house, under orders from C. H. Christopherson, food administrator of Rock county. In lieu of punishment under the food control act for hoarding, each made voluntary contribution of $15 to the Rock county Red Cross chapter.

St. Paul.—Grave labor conditions will confront Minnesota soon, it was announced by the State Public Safety commission following receipt of a call to furnish 18,390 of the 1,000,000 unskilled laborers wanted immediately by the government for its war industries. The state's quota was announced in a communication from Arthur H. Fleming, chief of the state council section, Council of National Defense.

St. Paul.—Minnesota not only has helped to win the war but has added a large figure to her own wealth through the war gardens planted in the state this year, according to a report just issued by the National War Garden commission, Washington, which placed the number of war gardens in the state at 80,000. The value of the produce in them, according to a preliminary estimate by the commission, will amount to more than $8,000,000.

St. Paul.—Potatoes at $1.50 a bushel to consumers and $1.20 a bushel to dealers is a fair price, according to the Minneapolis price listing committee of the United States food administration, which has quoted a flat rate of $2 a 100 pounds of home-grown potatoes to dealers and $2.50 for 100 pounds to consumers. Reports from Minnesota potato growing districts declare that potatoes grade better this year than for twenty years past, and that the state's potato crop will bring millions of dollars. Hennepin county alone values its potato crop at a total of $4,600,000. The great demand for Minnesota potatoes in the South and East also is given as a reason for the boost in price, the State Food Administration said.

Fairmont.—One major, three captains, twenty-eight lieutenants and a naval ensign in the service is the record of Fairmont. It is believed that no city of 5,000 in the state can equal it.

St. Paul.—Lieut. Edward Hatten of the aviation school here is missing. Hatten obtained a furlough and went to Lake Minnetonka. Here he went in swimming. In one of the bath houses the full uniform of a flying officer was found the next day, while spectators report they saw a man answering Hatten's description in civilian clothes board the train for Willmar. [illegible]

Fairmont.—A $1,400-a-year postoffice is at stake on the outcome of a civil service examination. The office at Truman is vacant.

Virginia.—Julius Misholin, arrested at Gilbert for seditious talk and brought here, has been returned to Gilbert for a hearing. Federal agents will investigate his case.

Mankato.—The rainy weather of the past two weeks has seriously interfered with the plans for shock threshing, and it is likely that there will be considerable loss from damaged grain.

St. Cloud.—An investigation by the local food administration disclosed fifty-three sacks of wheat in the barn of John S. Nett, representative from the Second precinct of the Forty-sixth district, in the town of Farming.

Bemidji.—With the installation of the machinery ordered for the new potato flour mill, which is to be established at Bemidji, the department of agriculture at Washington will send a committee to inspect the plant when running.

Red Lake Falls.—The right of L. J. Glaser, special agent of the Minnesota Public Safety commission, to seize his entire stock of liquor will be contested by Dan Champeau, whose saloon was one of the six put out of business here by the recent order of the commission.

Grand Rapids.—The annual sale of state-owned lands in Itasca county was held at the courthouse in Grand Rapids. Bidding was lively for about a dozen descriptions, all improved property. The sale was conducted by a deputy from the office of State Auditor, J. A. O. Preus.

Winona.—Mississippi clammers have been reaping a harvest during the last few weeks, the stage of the water in the river enabling them to secure the clams more easily than when high water prevails. The industry has been growing extensively on the upper Mississippi and it has been profitable.

Minneapolis.—Minnesota has fallen from third place to twenty-eighth in the sale of War Savings Stamps throughout the United States for the month of July, according to the official figures received by Postmaster Purdy. The July sales in Minnesota have amounted to $4,230,109.66, a per capita average of $1.81.

Crookston.—Lorne Darkom, 10-year-old son of Theodore Darkom, Crookston, was drowned in Red river while playing in a boat with two other youngsters. Though unable to swim the boy dived in the river and came up four times. He was rescued by his father half an hour later; the pulmotor being used, but to no avail.

Winona.—Because, they state, Engineer A. F. Gaulke of the Gould Grain company was discharged and the company failed to grant the other employes a raise from 32½ cents to 45 cents an hour in wages, the rest of the force at the elevator walked out and refuse to go back unless their engineer is reinstated and they get the increase.

Hibbing.—The 300 pounds of wheat flour and sixty pounds of sugar seized from Louis Putzel of Brooklyn addition and 250 pounds of flour and seventy-five pounds of sugar taken from Libre Collyard by Federal agents a few days ago, has been turned over to the Hibbing Red Cross chapter and probably will be sold at the St. Louis county fair, to be held here Aug. 31, Sept. 1 and 2.

Mankato.—Blue Earth county went dry by an estimated majority of 500 to 700 on returns received from the county outside of Mankato. Mankato, the county seat, gave the wets a majority of 42, its vote being 1,089 for license and 1,047 against. Thirty saloons will be closed as a result, 25 in Mankato and the remainder at Good Thunder, Madison Lake and St. Clair.

Crosby.—Local policemen state that Mrs. John Hill, who shot and killed her husband at Manganese, had been in jail here for drunkenness. Reports from Manganese say that the body lay out all night and that the woman went back to bed. In the morning the body was covered by a neighbor's wife. Just before the officers took the woman to Brainerd, her husband's body was taken to Crosby and as the undertaker passed her she waved her hand and yelled, "Good-bye, Jack."

St. Paul.—Minnesota is furnishing nearly 50,000,000 tons of ore to make steel and iron for big guns and many other war munitions, according to a statement by State Auditor Preus, custodian of state-owned mines, who has just returned from an extended visit on the iron range. "Minnesota iron mines are shipping this season the largest tonnage on record," Mr. Preus said. "It is estimated that the total will exceed 47,000,000 tons, and that more than 4,800,000 of the aggregate will be in shipments from state-owned mines."

St. Paul.—Raymond F. Schroeder, St. Paul, representing labor on the state board of arbitration, tendered his resignation to Governor Burnquist. In a communication to the governor, Mr. Schroeder explained that the unfriendly attitude of organized labor toward labor policies of the state made it impossible for him to continue in office. The governor announced he had not accepted the resignation. A conference to effect an amicable adjustment and prevent any disruption in the board probably will be held soon, it was said.

Hokah.—Dan Brown, who is the defendant in a damage suit for $5,000 started by Editor H. E. Wheaton because of a beating Brown is alleged to have given him, through his attorneys at La Crosse, has served notice that a suit for slander would be commenced.

St. Paul.—H. E. Carny received notice from Donald Cotton of St. Paul, regional advisor of the war industries board, that he has been appointed as vice chairman of the building material division for sub-region No. 1, which lies south of the Minnesota river. [illegible]

THE JOY OF MOTHERHOOD

Came to this Woman after Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Restore Her Health

Ellensburg, Wash.—"After I was married I was not well for a long time and a good deal of the time was not able to go about. Our greatest desire was to have a child in our home and one day my husband came back from town with a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and wanted me to try it. It brought relief from my troubles. I improved in health so I could do my housework; we now have a little one, all of which I owe to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. O. S. Johnson, R. No. 3, Ellensburg, Wash.

There are women everywhere who long for children in their homes yet are denied this happiness on account of some functional disorder which in most cases would readily yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Such women should not give up hope until they have given this wonderful medicine a trial, and for special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of 40 years experience is at your service.

Not Crazy With the Heat.

"Say, you," yelled the policeman at a fellow who walked smilingly by, arrayed in a light pair of trousers, a silk shirt, a panama hat, but with a pair of ear muffs on, as the mercury fidgeted around the 105 mark and threatened to go over the top at any moment. "What bug house did you escape from?"

"I didn't hear you," said the man, as he began to retrace his steps.

"I say, what's the idea of the ear decorations? Have you got a short circuit in your mental apparatus?"

The man grinned. "Naw, nothin' like that. Merely taking a precaution against hearin' too well. This is the open season for the boob who asks you if it's hot enough for you."

Memorable Vacation.

Having a week off on account of being overworked, and by advice of our physician, our wife suggests that it will be a corking opportunity to go over the house together and find the loose ends of things and fix them up. She has laid out half a dozen blinds and rollers that need fixing, a carpet that could be beat without hurting its general reputation, a number of pans to solder, a piece of gable that's loose on the roof, some rain spouting that needs attention and a few old family pictures that could be tightened, dusted, polished, frames re-varnished, etc., and stuck up in the parlor.

All in all, our week's vacation is going to be something to remember.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

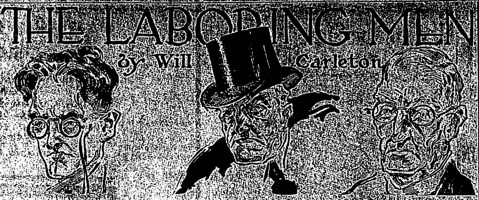
THE LABORING MEN

by Will Carleton



WHO are the laboring men?
We are the laboring men:
We, the muscle of the tribes and lands,
With sun-trod faces and horn-gloved hands,
With well-patched garments, stained and coarse—
With untrained voices, heavy and hoarse,
Who brave the death of the noontide heats,
Who mow the meadows and pave the streets,
Who push the plow by the smooth-faced sod,
Or climb the crags with a well-filled hod.
Yes, we are the laboring men—
The genuine laboring men.
And each, somewhere in the stormy sky,
Has a sweet love-star, be it low or high;
For pride have we to do and dare,
And a heart have we to cherish and care;
And power have we—for, lose our brawn,
And where were your flourishing cities gone?
Or bind our hands or fetter our feet,
And what would the gaunt world find to eat?
Aye, where were your gentry then?
For we are the laboring men!

WHO are the laboring men?
We are the laboring men:
We of the iron and waterway,
Whom fire and steam and tide obey;
Who stab the sea with a prow of oak,
Who blot the sky with a cloud of smoke,
Who bend the breezes unto our wills,
And feed the looms and hurry the mills;
Who oft have the lives of a thousand known
In the hissing valves that hold our own!
Yes, we are the laboring men—
The genuine laboring men.
And though a coat may a button lack,
And though a face be sooty and black,
And though the words be heavy of flow,
And new-called thoughts come tardy and slow,
And though rough words in a speech may blend,
A heart's a heart, and a friend's a friend.
And power have we, but for our skill,
The wave would drown and the sea would kill;
And where were your gentry then?
Aye, we are the laboring men!

WHO are the laboring men?
We are the laboring men.
We who stand in the ranks of trade
And count the tallies that toil has made;
Who guard the coffers of wealth untold,
And ford the streams of glistening gold;
Who send the train on its breathless trips,
And rear the buildings and sail the ships;
And though our coats be a trifle fine,
And though our diamonds flash and shine,
Yet we are the laboring men—
The genuine laboring men.
We bolt the gates of the angry seas,
We keep the nation's granary keys;
The routes of trade we have built and planned
Are veins of life to a hungry land.
And power have we in our peaceful strife,
For a nation's trade is a nation's life;
And take the sails of our commerce in,
Where were your "artisans' pails of tin?"
Aye, where were your laborers then?
For we are the laboring men!

WHO are not the laboring men?
They're not the laboring men,
They who creep in dens and lanes
To rob their betters of honest gains;
The rich who stoop to devour the poor,
The tramps who beg from door to door,
The rogues who love a darkened sky,
And steal and rob, and cheat and lie;
The loafing wights and senseless bloats
Who drain their pockets to wet their throats.
They're not the laboring men—
The genuine laboring men.
And all true hearts that the price would give
For honest joy and a right to live,
And every soul to truth alive,
Willing to thrive and let others thrive,
Should rise with a true and steady hand
And mark these foes with a villain brand,
And shame them into the ranks of toil,
Or crush them under their kindred soil
Away from the laboring men—
The genuine laboring men.

HELPS WORKERS IN DENMARK

Labor Insurance Law Has Been Proved of Material Benefit to People in That Country.

In 1907 Denmark enacted a labor insurance law. Fully 111,000 persons and 60 per cent of the workmen in Denmark are now insured. (The proportion is 73 per cent of the men insurable and 28 per cent of the insurable women.) Practically all the industrial laborers are insured under the act.

Within the limits prescribed by the law, the conditions of unemployment insurance vary with each fund. The dues vary from the minimum of $1.40 paid by the unskilled workmen to the maximum of $7 per year paid by the workers in stucco. The daily stipend is one, one and a half, or two krone, according to the financial status of the fund. A krone is equal to about 27 cents. The period of payment runs from 50 days in the year allowed the unskilled laborers to the maximum of 160 allowed the printers. The total amount of the benefits paid in 1912 was $459,810, of which 53.8 per cent was distributed by the members; 31.9 per cent by the state, and 14.3 per cent by the communes. The sums spent in aid of unemployment from all sources for the five years, during which the act has been in operation, amounts to $1,755,000.

IN such times, and such moods as the time compels, labor is sure of just honor. Workers are certain to be valued at their true worth. Labor's holiday becomes more than ever the recognition of mighty forces of the most vital importance to all mankind.

All Labor Honorable.

It is harder to make a watch spring than to dig a ditch, harder to prepare the lens of a telescope than to make a watch spring, hard to measure exactly the length of the wave light of a certain element than to construct the most marvelous telescope.

What is needed in the world is realization of the fact that all labor is equally honorable when done earnestly, with dignity, self-respect, without hatred of those more fortunate, or contempt for those less fortunate.

Ever Upward

IT is not enough to win rights from a king, and write them down in a book,
New men, new lights, and the code of the fathers the sons may never brook,
What is liberty now were license then; their freedom our yoke would be,
And each new decade must have new men to determine its liberty.
Mankind is a marching army with broadening front the while,
Shall it crowd its bulk on the worn paths or clear to the outward file?
Its pioneers are those dreamers who heed neither tongue nor pen,
Of the human spiders whose silk is wove from the lives of toiling men.

—John Boyle O'Reilly on Wendell Phillips.

Unionists Defined.

Wage workers, members in good standing of the union of the trade or calling at which they are employed, who realize as a fundamental principle the necessity of unity of all their fellows employed at the same trade or calling; who recognize the vital, logical extension, growth and development of all unions of all trades and callings and who strive for the unity, federation, co-operation, fraternity and solidarity of all organized wage earners, who can and do subordinate self for the common good and always strive for the common uplift; who decline to limit the sphere of their activity by any dogma, doctrine or ism—finally, those organized wage workers who fearlessly and insistently maintain and contend that the trade unions, the trade union movement, are paramount to any other form of organization or movement of labor in the world, are the ideal unionists.

Men Who Make a Nation.

The attitude of government toward labor lies at the heart of almost everything that concerns us as a nation. A nation may be said to consist of those who do its daily labor, and America has always boasted that she was the home of free labor, that all were welcome to come to her shores and partake of her unbounded opportunities.

ALL CALLED ON TO WORK

Necessity for Some Useful Occupation Must Be Apparent to Every One at This Time.

Labor has gained throughout the last year in the feeling and thought of the world. The strain and perils of the times have brought an unusually sober and reflective state of mind. Men and women have been more than commonly concerned with the gravest problems of existence. They have given more than the ordinary consideration to the needs and dangers of life.

All this has contributed to the dignity and honor of hard work. Never was there more general recognition of the necessity of meeting real trials manfully and playing a man's part in the serious business of living. Never in recent times was it more difficult to shirk without discredit, or spend the crowded years in idleness without forfeiting respect and reputation. The world has so much to do, so many great tasks crowded upon its mental and physical resources that work is more than ever before the plainest and most vital duty of all who have strength for service.

AND because eternal things are true this is the biggest Labor Day and also one of the most serious. It is as sober in its deeper relations and aspects as it is inspiring to labor leaders and members of labor organizations because it comes in a time of notable labor gains and demonstrations of labor's power and prestige.

Labor's Fair Share.

The "dignity of labor" sounds well from the rostrum, but the men and women who do the world's work and produce the world's wealth are rapidly learning that their dignity as well as their happiness depends upon their insistence on a more equitable distribution of the products of their toil. They have learned that the only way to secure anything like a fair division is by organized effort through banding together in unions for the raising of wages and the shortening of the hours of toil. Through such organized effort they have raised the standard of living for every worker.

IN BAD WAY PHYSICALLY

Physician's Verdict Made Recruit Wonder if Any Disease Had Got Away From Him.

The curiosity of Henry James who applied for enlistment in the United States Marine corps at Los Angeles remains unsatisfied.

James was taken before Dr. G. J. Hildebrand, the examining physician, and, after the usual physical examination, was told that he failed to meet the requirements.

"What's the matter with me?" queried the prospective Hun destroyer.

"You've got scoliosis, phthisis and synoirtis," was the surgeon's reply.

The would-be marine blushed to be told so frankly what prevented his becoming a devil dog, and turned to go out, when the doctor shot a few hot parting words after him.

"Not only that—you're troubled with slight astigmatism, otitis media and chronic furmunculosis."

"Gosh," was all the lad could say as he fled in confusion.

Another Understatement.

In the Companion for May 9 there was a joke entitled "Well Within Bounds," which has reminded a reader of an accident of her youth.

We had a mean-tempered colt, she says, which we had all urged father to sell, but he would not. One morning when he was bedding down the animal it kicked him viciously. Several members of the family were in the barn, and they all ran to see if he had been hurt and to hear what he would say about such an unprovoked attack.

Father, who, by the way, was not a Yankee, picked himself up, rubbed his well-nigh fractured shin and remarked to the colt, "Well! Well! I'd think just as much of you if you hadn't done that!" and then went on with his work.—Youth's Companion.

Counting the Cost.

Jam tarts unlimited was little Bobby's idea of heaven, but since war flour came in and fat was scarce, he hadn't been quite so fond of them as before.

Mother, coming into the kitchen one afternoon, saw Bobby gazing at a dish of newly baked tarts.

"What are you doing, Bobby!" she asked, sharply.

"I was just wondering, mother,"

"Wondering? You haven't touched those tarts, I hope?"

"Not yet, mother," said Bobby. "I was just wondering if they're nice enough to be whipped for."

This Rookie a Giant.

The last Worcester draft contingent included Edward T. Scanlon, the largest rookie sent by Massachusetts so far. He is six feet two inches tall, and weigh 287 pounds. He has a brother, James W. Scanlon, age twenty-six, at Camp Devens, who also stands six feet two inches and weighs about 190 pounds, and a cousin, Tom Hennessey, also at Camp Devens, who is the same height and weighs about 200 pounds. —Boston Globe.

Getting to Be a Nuisance.

Mrs. Mars—Oh, dear, dear! That Hohenzollern boy is at the door again, wanting to borrow something.

Mars—The obnoxious child! I'm sorry we ever encouraged him to come over here. What does he want now?

Mrs. Mars—He wants a half-dozen impregnable lines, a few strategic salients, some seasoned troops, a few fresh lies and a cupful of morale.

Mars—Don't give 'em to him. I understand the family is going to move away in a short time.

By No Means.

"One must not confuse liberty with license." "No; especially when thinking of a marriage license."—Life.

Canine Statistics.

"What interest has the dog in chasing that cat?" "I guess his interest is about one purr scent."

In English Eyes.

Chairman Padgett of the house naval committee tells of a recent trip to Old Point Comfort with some English officers. They were watching the bathers, and one of the visitors commented on the brevity of the bathing suits.

"Yes," remarked Padgett, "we economize even there. Every individual is doing her bit."

"I see," was the reply, "less skirt, and more individual."

Toughened Up.

Wiggs—He used to be so soft to get money from. Waggs—Yes, but too many touches kind of hardened him up.

The Diagnosis.

First Doc—What shall we tell the family is the matter with the old fellow?

Second Doc—Let's give ourselves plenty of scope. It's either hardening of the arteries or softening of the brain.

Sarcasm.

"It is very hot today."

"I'm so glad you told me. Saves me the trouble of going to look at the thermometer."

Philadelphia thus far this year has built only 700 dwellings. Last year, 2,177.

A Message to Mothers

YOU know the real human doctors right around in your neighborhood: the doctors made of flesh and blood just like you: the doctors with souls and hearts: those men who are responding to your call in the dead of night as readily as in the broad daylight; they are ready to tell you the good that Fletcher's Castoria has done, is doing and will do, from their experience and their love for children.

Fletcher's Castoria is nothing new. We are not asking you to try an experiment. We just want to impress upon you the importance of buying Fletcher's.

Your physician will tell you this, as he knows there are a number of imitations on the market, and he is particularly interested in the welfare of your baby.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Practical Outlook.

"What do you think Mayme said when Harold told her he would die for her?"

"What did she say?"

"Asked him how much life insurance he carried."

Immune.

"Heat bothering you any?"

"Not a bit. I never look at a thermometer."

The Preliminary.

"Dear, I want a silk dust cloak."

"All right; let me first raise the dust."

Quite So.

"There used to be such a rage for red hair."

"Oh, that's dyed out."

Misery loves company, but even that sort of company can wear its welcome out.

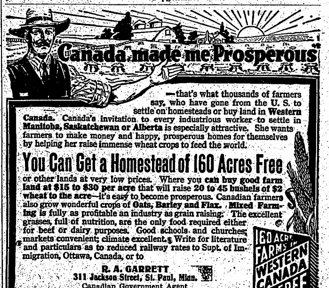
HAARLEM OIL CAPSULES IF YOUR BACK ACHES

Do you feel tired and "worn-out?" Are you nervous and irritable? Don't sleep well at night? Have a "dragged out," unrested feeling when you get up in the morning? Dizzy spells? Bilious? Bad taste in the mouth, backache, pain or soreness in the loins, and abdomen? Severe distress when urinating, bloody, cloudy urine or sediment? All these indicate gravel or stone in the bladder, or that the poisonous microbes, which are always in your system, have attacked your kidneys.

You should use GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules immediately. The oil soaks gently into the walls and lining of the kidneys, and the little poisonous animal germs, which are causing the inflammation, are immediately attacked and chased out of your system without inconvenience or pain.

Don't ignore the "little pains and aches," especially backaches. They may be little now but there is no telling how soon a dangerous or fatal disease of which they are the forerunners may show itself. Go after the cause of that backache at once, or you may find yourself in the grip of an incurable disease.

Do not delay a minute. Go to your druggist and insist on his supplying you with a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. In 24 hours you will feel renewed health and vigor. After you have cured yourself, continue to take one or two Capsules each day so as to keep in first-class condition, and ward off the danger of future attacks. Money refunded if they do not help you. Ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand, and thus be sure of getting the genuine.—Adv.



160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

"Canada made me Prosperous"

—that's what thousands of farmers say, who have gone from the U. S. to settle on homesteads or buy land in Western Canada. Canada's invitation to every industrious worker to settle in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta is especially attractive. She wants farmers to make money and happy, prosperous homes for themselves by helping her raise immense wheat crops to feed the world.

You Can Get a Homestead of 160 Acres Free

or other lands at very low prices. Where you can buy good farm land at $15 to $30 per acre that will raise 20 to 45 bushels of $2 wheat to the acre—it's easy to become prosperous. Canadian farmers also grow wonderful crops of Oats, Barley and Flax. Mixed Farming is fully as profitable an industry as grain raising. The excellent grasses, full of nutrition, are the only food required either for beef or dairy purposes. Good schools and churches; markets convenient; climate excellent. BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUB.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

$1.00 a year, in advance.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3,1879

For four years through the Nonpartisan league the farmers have been demanding justice from the packing trust of America. They have brought serious indictments against this monopoly, world-wide in its ramifications, and they have proposed as a remedy government or state ownership of the packing plants. The Nonpartisan league has been the chief force in America battling against the economic despotism set up by the meat kings. It has been more than the chief force fighting for justice for producers from the packers. It has been the one agency that, through a compact and united organization in over a dozen states, has had a chance to compel this sinister, un-American monopoly to release its strangle hold on the American people.

Perhaps some may have believed that the indictments brought by League farmers against this perfect flower of big business have been overdrawn. Perhaps a few have have thought that the League literature, speakers, meetings and publications have exaggerated a bit for the sake of emphasis, and that really conditions were not as bad as alleged. To all such the Leader recommends a reading of the report of the federal trade commission to the president of the United States, just made public. From this you will see that the League farmers have brought a true bill against the "Big Five packers. Furthermore you will find that this official government commission has recommended the same remedy the League has recommended—public supervision and control, the first step toward outright public ownership and operation!

Many will see in the federal trade commission report one of the reasons for the desperate and almost unbelievable opposition that the organized farmers have had to face. It appears that in charging big business with bringing about an economic despotism in America, and with practices that have oppressed alike producers and consumers, the League has been telling the truth. Big business knew this—it knew that what the farmers and their organizations and publications said, could be proved, as it has been proved now by the federal trade commission. Hence they wanted to cripple or destroy an organization that could not be controlled and that insisted on a showdown with big business They didn't want to take a chance on the League continuing to function and ultimately getting the truth before all the people.

The farmers will get much satisfaction from the federal trade commission report. The big business press, which has briefly mentioned it, will be full of "explanations" and will find additional incentive in the report to continue the fight against the organized farmers, who long ago learned the truth and demanded an accounting.—Nonpartisan Leader.

SOME OF THE BITS YOUR LIBERTY BOND WILL DO.

If you buy a $100 bond of the Fourth Liberty Loan you are lending the United States Government enough money to feed a soldier in France a little more than seven months. Or you have furnished enough money to give him a complete outfit of winter and summer clothing, including shoes and stockings, and slicker and overcoat and blankets, with enough left over to arm him with a good revolver. You have done that much to beat back the Hun.

It takes $35 more to arm him with a rifle with a bayonet on it, and if you buy a second $100 bond you furnish him this rifle and 1,000 cartridges for it, and there will still be enough of your money left to purchase a good-sized bomb to through in a dugout, or demolish a machine gun together with the Huns operating it.

NAVY EVER ON THE ALERT

Case of Carelessness at Sea Is a Thing That Commanders Punish With Necessary Severity.

With not a light showing the transports plowed the Atlantic, bringing American soldiers to France, writes a naval officer in the Saturday Evening Post. Lookouts high and low, under navy discipline, searched the seas for hostile periscopes. The convoy, the apex of which was a big cruiser, was invisible in the black night. The vigilance of the navy training protected the soldiers, sleeping with their life belts on.

Suddenly out shot a bright light on the leading transport; a merchant sailor, one Jesus Fernandez Mendoza, a Spanish fireman, flashed an electric torch, fumbling about the deck. The light could be seen for miles. Instantly a navy lookout reported the occurrence to the navy officer in charge of the ship. A sharp command, a scuffle on deck, a bluejacket kicking the torch overboard stayed the Spaniard's desire to fondle an electric flashlight in the submarine zone. Five days' solitary confinement ended the lesson. Showing a light on a man-o'-war at night in time of war is a court-martial offense; even lighting a cigarette or having matches. The navy commander, in absolute charge, enforces military discipline on a merchant vessel carrying troops and punishes the guilty.

Because of the navy, criminal carelessness and conduct involving the safety of thousands of men came to naught and a possible catastrophe was averted. The navy was in command.

SAYS RISK IS EXAGGERATED

Official of Explosive Factory Denies That Occupation Is as Dangerous as Is Generally Believed.

In a paper read before a medical association in the east, Dr. W. G. Hudson, medical director of E. I. DuPont de Nemours & Co., manufacturers of explosives, recently made some interesting statements concerning the risks connected with the manufacture of powerful explosives. He asserted that the dangers of that industry were greatly exaggerated. As a matter of fact, railroading shows much higher injury and death rates than the manufacture of explosives. Of the accidents which occur in explosive factories only a small percentage are actually caused by explosives. Four-fifths of the accidents are due to carelessness or negligence of employees who disregard the precautions necessary wherever men are working with tools and machinery. By increasing the share of work done by machinery and reducing the number of workers in proportion to the increased use of mechanical appliances, the manufacturers of explosives are striving to diminish the hazards connected with their business, says Popular Science Monthly.

The Institute will be held in the Court Room, Court House, Thief River Falls, and will begin at 10 o'clock on Monday Sept. 9th.

The Institute conductors will be Miss Wascotte of the Moorhead Normal School, Miss Poole, of the University of Minnesota, and Miss Coral Osborne.

The teachers of the County are all expected to be present. Schools which have been opened will be closed for this week in order that the teachers may attend.

We will have able instructors and a most successful Institute is anticipated.

Upbuilds Chinese Army.

Ken Wang, twelfth graduate in the 1919 class at West Point academy, a year ahead of time, announced that he will return to China to take part in the upbuilding of its new army.

Ken Wang was selected to come to America to be educated in the best military academy in the world expressly for the part he is to play in bringing military coherence into Chinese army affairs.

Discouraged.

"I've given up trying to keep a hired girl."

"What's the matter?"

"I've come to the conclusion that when it comes to paying wages I can't compete with a munitions factory."

Heat Sufferer.

"Suffer much from the heat?"

"I should say so. Nearly had a sunstroke rushing around to lay in next winter's coal."

AMERICA'S TASK IN FRANCE.

The above picture of a French town is typical of what the Americans are finding as they drive back the destructive hordes of Kaiserism. It is to prevent more of this cruel waste and help those who have suffered by it to regain their freedom that America's men are fighting in France and Americans at home are asked to provide the money. These objects can not be obtained unless everyone does his duty during the Fourth Liberty Loan, September 28th to October 2nd.

PEOPLE EQUAL TO TASK, SAYS ARTHUR ROGERS

Ninth Federal Reserve District Will Buy Any Amount, Says Liberty Loan Chairman.

DRIVE BEGINS SEPT. 28

Selling in Northwest to Be Completed in Five Days—Local Organizations to Carry Out Details—Workers Behind Fighters.

"The people of the Ninth Federal Reserve District will buy the amount of Fourth Liberty Loan Bonds allotted to them, whatever that amount may be. They would buy these bonds even if they did not bear any interest."

This strong statement was made by A. R. Rogers, chairman of the Liberty Loan Executive Committee of this district, after careful consideration. In explaining his confidence in the loyalty of the people of the Northwest, he said:

"I am thoroughly convinced that the people of this great part of the country will do whatever their Government asks them to do in this crisis. I believe this after working with these men through two Liberty Loan campaigns and having pretty well learned their processes of reasoning and their inclinations.

"I do not have this faith in the people of the Northwest because I think all of them are patriots, or are anywhere near perfect.

"I do know, however, that a large majority of the men in these Northwest states understand what this war means, what part the United States Government must take in this war if it is to be brought to a successful conclusion.

"They know that the people of the United States, individually and collectively, must stand by their Government if it is to accomplish its great ambition and bring harmonious peace to the world.

"They know that America must finance her Allies and that if America furnishes the money it means victory. Every American must do his full share. I know that the men and women of the Northwest appreciate their duty to their Government and will perform it at whatever cost to themselves. They have learned that everyone in America must get under the load which America is carrying for the democracy of the world.

"Realizing all this and feeling strongly the righteousness of the cause, we are soldiers, and whatever the Government in which we are stockholders asks us to do, we will do.

"The actual work of selling bonds in the Fourth Liberty Loan drive in the Ninth District will begin Sept. 28 and will be completed just five days later. The work of organization throughout the district is being done now. The county chairmen in all counties are perfecting local organizations, making the allotments and arranging all the details that will make the actual selling of bonds comparatively simple. In a great many counties, probably in the majority of them, individuals will be notified where and at what time to buy the bonds allotted to them and their subscriptions will be promptly made without solicitation.

"However a county committee decides to carry out the details of its campaign will not be material so long as the results are obtained. All any county has to do is to subscribe the amount allotted to it and to secure it properly and without resort to any methods that cannot be justified.

"We have a great big task in front of us, but the people of these states are equal to it. They are not going to fail to loan the money necessary to their Government when millions of our young men are gladly giving the service which may mean their lives."

WHERE THE MONEY GOES.

Billions are big. The average layman finds a million hard to comprehend. As an aid to understanding why your Government must have so many billions of its people's dollars, Paymaster General McGowan, of the United States Navy, gives the following list of the costs of various kinds of supplies and equipment in the Navy. There are only about a million men in the United States Navy now.

FIFTEEN LEADERS GET TWENTY YEARS

JUDGE LANDIS SENTENCES I. W. W. MEMBERS TO PRISON FOR CONSPIRACY.

36 OTHERS DRAW TEN YEARS

Five-Year Terms Are Also Handled to Thirty-Three More—William D. Haywood and Fourteen Others Also Fined $20,000.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—William D. Haywood, "uncrowned king" of the Industrial Workers of the World, and 14 of his chief aides in the conspiracy to overturn the American war program, were sentenced to 20 years in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., by Federal Judge K. M. Landis here.

Ten-year sentences were imposed upon 33 of the organization's leaders, five-year sentences on 33, one year and one day on 12 defendants and ten-day sentences on two others. Cases against Benjamin Schraeger, Chicago writer, and Pietro Nigra, Spring Valley, Ill., were continued.

All sentences on the four counts in the indictment will run concurrently. Fines ranging from $20,000 on Haywood and his chief aides, down to $5,000 were imposed.

Short Stay Is Granted.

Ninety days is granted in which to file a bill of exceptions and a stay of seven days in which to petition for bail.

"It is the closing chapter in America's biggest criminal case," said Frank K. Nebeker, chief prosecutor.

"We are confident a new trial will be granted," said George F. Vanderveer, chief counsel for the defense.

Before pronouncing sentence Judge Landis reviewed at some length the salient points in the government's case, laying especial stress on the I. W. W. preamble declaring eternal war on the employing class and denouncing war with other nations; the meeting of the executive board after America had entered the war at which it was decided to expel members entering military service, and later the concerted plan by strikes and rebellion to block war measures.

Defines Free Speech.

"In times of peace you have a legal right to oppose by free speech preparations for war. But when war has been declared that right ceases forthwith," was the court's closing remark.

Aside from a slight disturbance in the corridor when one of the prisoners became hysterical while being led away, there was no disorder. Squads of special police banked the corridors and courtroom and kept crowds of spectators away. Only relatives of the defendants were admitted to the courtroom.

THREE LIBERTY LOANS ARE PLANNED IN 1919

Secretary McAdoo Predicts an Enormous Boost in Cost of War to America.

Washington, Aug. 31.—America is now making war expenditures at the rate of $19,000,000,000 for the fiscal year. Secretary McAdoo, however, anticipating that coming months will see a rise in the war cost, estimates the year's tolls will be $24,000,000,000.

To meet this vast expenditure $8,000,000,000 are to be raised by taxes, leaving from $11,000,000,000 to $16,000,000,000 to be raised in three Liberty Loan campaigns to be launched during the year.

Of these loans the first probably will be from $5,000,000,000 to $6,000,000,000.

ALLIED AIRMEN DAMAGE TOWNS ALONG RHINE

Forty Killed in Cologne by the Recent Raid and Mannheim Badly Damaged.

Amsterdam, Aug. 31.—Frontier correspondents of the Telegraaf assert that travelers from Germany report heavy damages from recent air raids in towns along the Rhine. Forty persons were killed in the last aerial attack at Cologne and entire streets in Mannheim were laid in waste. At Bingen the aniline works were leveled.

PREMIER WELCOMES GOMPERS

BRITISH GOVERNMENT HONORS VISITING AMERICANS.

David Lloyd George Proposes Toast to Health of Labor Leader at Luncheon.

London, Aug. 31. — Premier David Lloyd George, at a luncheon given by the government in honor of Samuel Gompers, the president of the American Federation of Labor, proposed a toast to the health of the labor leader, who is visiting England.

"I do this for two reasons," said the premier. "One of these is the country from which our guest comes—a country cradled and nurtured in freedom. It now has proved itself true to the great traditions of being the champion and the protector of freedom.

"In this undertaking it has placed the whole of its resources at the disposal of the Allies in the great struggle for liberty.

"Therefore," he continued, "we salute the flag of that glorious land of America."

"In the second place," he added, "we welcome Mr. Gompers and his friends for their own sake. Gompers is a name as well known in every country as in his own.

"On behalf of the British empire and the Allies, I desire to say that no man has done more than Mr. Gompers to convince the civilized world that it is vital to the interests of all that the war should be prosecuted to a triumphant conclusion."

SENATORS NOT TO GO ON RECORD ON PROHIBITION

Will Vote on Amendment to Agricultural Bill Without Roll Call.

Washington, Aug. 31.—Opposition to various appropriations attacked as wasteful and unnecessary, together with protracted debate on the conference report to the manpower bill, resulted in the failure of the Senate to pass the $11,000,000 emergency agricultural appropriation bill with its amendment providing for national prohibition after June 30, 1919.

The bill with the prohibition amendment, according to the plans of Senate leaders, is to be passed finally by a viva voce vote, without placing senators on record as to the prohibition proposition. Upon passage by the Senate, the measure will go to conference.

AMERICAN FLIER MAKES ESCAPE FROM GERMANS

NEWS OF STATE TERSELY TOLD

Recent Happenings In Minnesota Given In Brief Items For Busy Readers

St. Paul.—Removal of James McCullen as secretary of the Fourth ward draft board, Minneapolis, has been ordered by Governor Burnquist.

Mankato.—An invitation has been extended Col. Theodore Roosevelt to deliver an address during the Mankato fair, Sept. 12, 13 and 14.

Winona.—John Keelner, a laborer, was frisked and relieved of $400 in cash and Liberty bonds to the amount of $150 by a fellow laborer in broad daylight.

New Ulm.—At a special meeting of the city council Friday $500 was appropriated for the relief of the tornado sufferers of Tyler and the money was forwarded by telegraph.

Rochester.—Louis Hill, oldest son of L. W. Hill, president of the Great Northern railroad, is at St. Mary's hospital. The boy was injured in Glacier National park. His condition is not serious.

St. Paul.—Attired in the remnants of a coat of tar and feathers with which he was decorated, John Meintz of Luverne, Rock county, appealed to Alfred Jaques, United States district attorney, for redress.

Buhl.—The erection of a potato warehouse came up for consideration before the regular meeting of the city council, and the council was named as a committee of the whole to select a suitable site on one block on which to erect the building.

Winona.—Whether or not the "skip stop" system of street car traffic will be inaugurated in Winona lies in the hands of Judge McGee, Federal fuel administrator for Minnesota, for County Fuel Administrator Prentiss has asked the state administrator for a ruling.

Brainerd.—Sherman Renicker, of Deerwood, charged with impersonating Jess Smith and securing a bill of goods from Mr. Engstrom, a storekeeper at Oreland, was tried by a jury at Deerwood and found guilty and fined $30 and costs or sixty days. He gave notice of an appeal.

Brainerd.—Threshing crews in Crow Wing county are often short of men because of the draft. Farmers are working by communities in an effort to relieve any labor shortage. Haying is still in progress and the lowlands are giving a fair yield. The uplands are very dry, with only one-third yield.

Eveleth.—The People's State bank has opened for business. The quarters in the Peterson block occupied by the new institution have been completely furnished with the most modern banking house equipment. The bank is organized with a capital stock of $25,000 and a surplus of $7,500.

Hibbing.—The United States government was enriched to the extent of $2,235 by the sale of confiscated automobiles taken by Indian agents in raids on the range from bootleggers. The cars were placed on the market with U. S. Marshal Joseph Wessel as auctioneer. He was assisted by Marshal Frank Bradley. The sale was held in front of the city hall.

Chisholm. — Enforcement of the work-or-fight provisions of the draft law was started here by the local board and formal notice was mailed to all men whom the board had classified as not usefully employed. A reasonable length of time will be allowed for the men notified to secure employment considered useful. In practically all cases the men to whom notices were sent were clerks in mercantile stores and pool hall attendants. They totaled about ten.

St. Paul.—Minnesota ranks eighth among the states of the Union for low percentages of rejections of draft registrants at military camps for physical reasons. The official announcement from national draft headquarters and Washington was made public by Maj. John P. Snyder, chief aide at state headquarters at the capitol. Minnesota is credited with 26,219 inductions and only 832 rejections, a percentage of 3.17. The totals for the United States were 859,257 inductions and 50,119 rejections, making a general average of 5.83 per cent of rejections.

Bemidji.—Hugo V. Koch, Federal labor director for the state of Minnesota, conferring with local employers in regard to labor conditions in this territory, said that if there is a shortage of labor here the employers will have no one but themselves to blame as they neglected to return questionnaires sent out by the labor department regarding labor conditions. Mr. Koch explained that questionnaires were sent to all employers in this vicinity and that but 15 per cent were returned. Believing there was an over-supply of men in this vicinity, the war department made the draft quota exceedingly heavy for this vicinity and the result is that there is a shortage of labor.

Red Lake Falls.—Ralph Williams, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Williams of this city, was drowned while swimming in the Clearwater river at Sandy Bend near the Great Northern tracks. He went in with a party of boy friends, but he was unable to swim and when he ventured out over his depth went down before he could be rescued. First District Y. W. C. A. Leader in War Fund Drive.

Mrs. Walter Eckholdt, of Rochester, is to be the Y. W. C. A. leader for the first district of Minnesota in the coming United War Fund drive to be held from November 11 to 18. Mrs. Eckholdt will have charge of the counties of Goodhue, Wabasha, Dodge, Olmsted, Winona, Mower, Fillmore and Houston.

Tyler.—Two of the Tyler residents who were injured in the tornado have died, bringing the death list to thirty-one. Eight of the most seriously injured are not expected to recover.

Red Wing.—With a crash that could be heard for a considerable distance, the south wall of Elevator A of the Red Wing Milling company pushed out and resulted in spilling about 1,400 bushels of wheat over the railroad tracks.

Asco.—A. A. Beulow, a farmer near here, was stung to death by bees. Beulow attempted to remove honey from a hive. Hundreds of them stung him, and before he was able to get into his home the poison spread through his system.

St. Paul.—Julius A. Schmahl, secretary of state, has published the complete primaries vote cast June 17 in pamphlet form. It is the first time since the primary law went into effect that the vote by precincts has been published except in the Blue Book, issued after the legislature has assembled following the general election. The purpose is to show the voters just how the vote was cast at the state primary.

Minneapolis. — War-time conservation in the postal service is now being practiced by the government. The yearly postoffice inspection is approaching. Normally, uniformed members would have to purchase new clothes. This year, however, the government has sent out word that postoffice employes will not lose any credits if their old uniforms and caps are repaired and put in ordinarily satisfactory condition.

Virginia.—Members of the police and fire commission, the chief of police and the chief of the fire department, the mayor and the city clerk visited the Twin Cities, where they investigated motorized fire trucks and police patrols with a view to purchasing. Bids for a seven-passenger car for the chief of police and a five-passenger car for the chief of the fire department will be opened at a meeting of the commission on Sept. 9.

Moorhead.—Close up to the lines, back of the Americans fighting north of the Marne, Miss Rose Clark of Moorhead, a Red Cross nurse, writes to friends in Moorhead of the gratitude of soldiers as they pass through the Red Cross clearing hospital. "Tell the woman at home not to throw down the job of making dressings," Miss Clark appeals. "If you could see how many we use just here; we try to be saving as possible, but one man sometimes has as many as eight or nine wounds."

St. Paul.—The Robbinsdale State bank's doors were closed by order of F. E. Pearson, state bank examiner, and the bank is undergoing a thorough examination. Shortages of $18,850 have been discovered, Mr. Pearson said. Losses through bad loans are given as the reason for the bank's suspension by W. A. Farr, cashier and majority stockholder. Mr. Pearson said he does not expect to see depositors paid in full. The bank has $10,000 capital and $2,000 surplus. Deposits are approximately $140,000.

St. Paul.—Action to avert a shortage of hay in northern Minnesota next winter was continued by State Auditor Preus. An appeal was made to Senator Knute Nelson at Washington to obtain war department assurance that river bottoms will not be flooded by the opening of government dams when hay has been cut there. The Public Safety commission will be asked by the auditor to call attention of farmers through county directors to the law permitting county auditors to lease state-owned meadow land at 10 cents an acre.

Hibbing.—Findings for the defendants were ordered by Judge Martin Hughes in the case of M. H. Tryder vs. F. A. Moore, which was tried in district court. The case resulted from an action to determine if a partnership existed between the two men in a laundry business formerly conducted in Hibbing.

Knife River.—The recent difficulty between the D. & N. M. railroad and its shop employes has been adjusted, the men returning to work. The main questions appeared to hinge on back [illegible]

DEBATE PREVENTS COMPLETING BILL

DRAFT MEASURE HAS NOW PASSED BOTH HOUSES OF CONGRESS.

PRESIDENT WILL SOON SIGN

"Work or Fight" Provision Causes Long Debate in Senate, but Decision Is Finally Reached on Conference Report.

Washington, Aug. 31. — Congress failed again to complete the manpower bill, extending the selective draft age limits to 18 to 45. Only the formality of signing the measure by the presiding officers of the House and Senate remains. Its immediate approval by the executive is expected.

The conference report on the bill, approved by the House, was adopted by the Senate by a yea and nay vote—with but feeble opposition. Senate debate on the work or fight amendment's excision was so protracted that the House adjourned before the bill could be returned there for the signature of the speaker.

"Work or Fight" Delay's Cause.

Senator Thomas of Colorado, author of the "work or fight" amendment, and Senator McCumber of North Dakota vehemently protested against striking out the provision, which has been fought by organized labor.

Chairman Chamberlain of the Senate conference committee defended the action of the committee in yielding to House opposition, declaring that the present law and regulations could, if enforced, meet the ends designed by the Thomas amendment. Alleged failure of the War department to enforce the law against union strikers was due to executive administration and not lack of fiat from Congress, Senator Chamberlain said.

Criticism of published plans of the War department for free technical and special education of drafted youths under 21 was expressed by several senators, who denounced the action of the War department in taking over schools and colleges as socialistic.

"Cowardice," Says McCumber.

Elimination of the "work or fight" provision was deplored by Senator Thomas, who predicted there would be strikes until the public patience is exhausted. He praised Fuel Administrator Garfield's refusal to grant demands of United Mine Workers. The present work or fight regulations never has been enforced, the Colorado senator said.

Elimination of the Thomas amendment also was criticized by Senator McCumber of North Dakota.

"What's back of it all?" he asked. "Cowardice, political cowardice."

101 OFFICERS AND MEN ARE SLAIN IN ACTION

General Pershing Cables List of Casualties Containing 226 Names.

Washington, Aug. 31.—General John J. Pershing today cabled 226 casualties among the American Expeditionary Forces in France.

The list carries the names of 101 American officers and enlisted men who were killed in battle. Eighty-one are listed as wounded. Other casualties are: Died of wounds, 12; died of disease, 6; died from accident and other causes, 3; missing in action, 23.

The American casualties to date total 22,186.

Northwest names appear as follows: Privates A. N. Colerman, Mayville, N. D., John B. Desserus, Faribault, Minn., killed in action; Serg. Harold J. Worrall, Minneapolis, died of wounds; Private Almon B. Coffin, Velva, S. D., wounded severely.

Washington, Aug. 31.—A treaty providing for the drafting for military service of Greek citizens in America and American citizens in Greece, similar in general terms to conventions between the United States and other cobelligerents, was signed at the State department by Secretary Lansing and Minister Roussos.

Rushing Airplanes to France.

Washington, Aug. 31.—Airplanes are now being shipped to France in large numbers, the House military committee learned at the meeting of the war council. Members were told that 1,071 De Haviland "fours" have been shipped overseas. Members of the committee were cheered at the apparent progress in the airplane situation. This news, they agreed, was the most cheering heard for a long time and leads to the belief that the unsatis[illegible]

TAKING VACATION IN STYLE

Energetic Worker for Uncle Sam Rightly Believes "the Best Is None Too Good for Him."

New York is full of vacationists and many of them are workmen who since the war have climbed into the wealthy class. They are here to enjoy the fruits of their labor. With their wives and families they are sightseeing de luxe, and they are not stopping at any expense to make their stay here one round of pleasure. Conspicuous among yesterday's arrivals at one of our swell Fifth avenue caravansaries are Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Horgan of Seattle, Wash., who are occupying a royal suite. Mr. Horgan wired ahead that he wanted the best the hotel had and he got it. During their stay at the hotel Mr. Horgan and his wife will pound their ears in a $10,000 bed and breathe the atmosphere of the expensive furnishings of the suite. Mr. Horgan is an able-bodied riveter, and is in the big city to enjoy a well-earned vacation far from the madding air hammer. "For a working man who does his bit these days," says the riveter, "the best is none too good." Mr. Horgan said that he had been pulling down a hundred or more iron men each week with bonuses and overtime, and when his wife said she wanted to see New York he declared that "we'll see it in style." So, what the—hotel bill—says Mr. Horgan.—New York Sun.

What The Packers Do For You

Not very many years ago in the history of the world, the man that lived in America had to hunt for his food, or go without.

Now he sits down at a table and decides what he wants to eat, or his wife calls up the market and has it sent home for him. And what he gets is incomparably better.

Everyone of us has some part in the vast human machine, called society, that makes all this convenience possible.

The packer's part is to prepare meat and get it to every part of the country sweet and fresh—to obtain it from the stock raiser, to dress it, cool it, ship it many miles in special refrigerator cars, keep it cool at distributing points, and get it into the consumer's hands—your hands—through retailers, all within about two weeks.

For this service—so perfect and effective that you are scarcely aware that anything is being done for you—you pay the packers an average profit of only a fraction of a cent a pound above actual cost on every pound of meat you eat.

The blouse was cut very, very low in the neck, the short sleeves did not reach the elbow, and the material employed was of the finest, sheerest gauze.

"There goes the young countess de la Tour," said Mr. Wall's companion. "What airs she puts on!"

"Well," said Mr. Wall, "with a blouse like that it's necessary to put on something, isn't it?"

Get New Kidneys!

The kidneys are the most overworked organs of the human body, and when they fail in their work of filtering out and throwing off the poisons developed in the system, things begin to happen.

One of the first warnings is pain or stiffness in the lower part of the back; highly colored urine; loss of appetite; indigestion; irritation, or even stone in the bladder. These symptoms indicate a condition that may lead to that dreaded and fatal malady, Bright's disease, for which there is said to be no cure.

Do not delay a minute. At the first indication of trouble in the kidney, liver, bladder or urinary organs start taking Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules, and save yourself before it is too late. Instant treatment is necessary in kidney and bladder troubles. A delay is often fatal.

You can almost certainly find immediate relief in Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules. For more than 200 years this famous preparation has been an unfailing remedy for all kidney, bladder and urinary troubles.

It is the pure, original Haarlem Oil your great-grandmother used. About two capsules each day will keep you toned up and feeling fine. Get it at any drug store, and if it does not give you almost immediate relief, your money will be refunded. Be sure you get the GOLD MEDAL brand. None other genuine. In boxes, three sizes.—Adv.

HESSIAN FLY IS MOST INJURIOUS

Insect Is Found Throughout Almost the Entire Winter Wheat Region.

EGGS HATCH INTO MAGGOTS

Only Known Means of Preventing Damage From Pest Is to Keep It Out—Brown "Flaxseeds" May Be Detected in Winter.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The Hessian fly, found throughout almost the entire winter wheat region, is a minute, mosquitolike fly, which lays its eggs upon the leaves of wheat. These eggs hatch into little maggots which crawl down into the leaf sheaths. There they live upon the plant's sap, which they obtain by gnawing into the soft portions of the stem. Usually two, but sometimes three or more, generations of the insect occur during a year.

One main generation of flies appears in the fall, the large proportion of the maggots becoming full-grown before the severe weather of winter arrives, when they change into brown seedlike forms known as "flaxseeds." These may be found within the leaf sheaths in young wheat plants, usually at or beneath the surface of the soil. These overwintering "flaxseeds" produce the spring generation of flies. These, in turn, lay eggs from which hatch maggots that cause great injury to wheat, noticed about harvest time, when the straws break off and the crop is said to be "straw fallen."

Keep Fly Out.

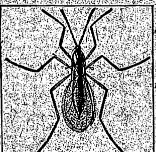
After the Hessian fly has once thoroughly infested the crop of wheat there is no known means of saving it, and the only known means of preventing damage from the fly is to keep it out of the wheat.

For this reason the young wheat should be examined thoroughly in order that the presence of the brown "flaxseeds" may be detected late in winter or very early in the spring, and if these are found to be present in large numbers it will pay to plow down the wheat at once and prepare to plant corn, oats, or some other crop in its place. In this way the fertilizing value of the green crop will be retained in the soil and it will still be possible to secure a crop of grain or vegetables from the field during the current year.

Preventive Remedies.

The remedies for the Hessian fly are entirely preventive and are as follows:

(1) Immediately after harvest, or as soon thereafter as practicable, plow the wheat stubble down deeply, at least five inches deep if possible, in order to destroy the maggots and "flaxseeds" which may remain in it. This is for the protection of future crops.



The Hessian Fly—Adult Female, Much Enlarged.

(2) Pay great attention to the preparation of the seed bed for the wheat by plowing early and working and packing the soil thoroughly in order to eliminate lumps and clods, thus producing a finely pulverized, compact, and moisture-conserving bed for the seed.

(3) Destroy all volunteer wheat by plowing or disking, as such wheat serves to carry the flies over from fall to spring, even though most of the fields of wheat have been treated properly and contain no flies. One field in which volunteer wheat is allowed to remain may breed enough Hessian flies to infest a whole neighborhood where the grain is otherwise free from the fly.

(4) Take care that the sowing of wheat in the fall is delayed until the fly-free date. Information regarding this date can be obtained by applying to your county agricultural agent, your state experiment station, or to the nearest entomological field station of the United States department of agriculture.

(5) Practice a good rotation of crops wherever possible.

(6) Secure the co-operation of the entire community in following the methods mentioned. This is absolutely essential in order that satisfactory results may be obtained.

In Favor of Small Flock.

Inventors Hard at Work.

Uncle Sam granted the first patent of the present series 82 years ago. Patent No. 1, issued on July 18, 1836, was for a device to keep car wheels from slipping. Several years ago the millionth patent was issued, on a pneumatic tire, which proves that inventors are still much concerned with wheels. The constant demand for better transit facilities is responsible for the largest proportion of patents. Flying machines at the present time are the particular object of inventors' minds, and scarcely a day passes without an application covering some new and novel type of machine for navigating the air.

War Horse Still a Factor.

Despite the vast numbers of motor vehicles used on the European battle fronts, the horse is still important as an engine of war. The armies in the field have already used 4,500,000 horses, and our new army will require 1,500,000 more.

Wounded horses are easily handled. They seem to know that the surgeons are trying to help them and they submit to having their hurts dressed with wonderful fortitude.

Austria is beginning to fear a revolution that will dethrone the present rulers, the Hapesburgs. They now begin to want to talk peace, but the present rulers of Germany and Austria might as well whistle against the wind as to talk peace to America, for they went into this war to clean up the present rulers of that autocratic government, and there will be no world peace until they are put out of business. Wilson will pay no more attention to peace talk from the present rulers of Germany that he would to the howling of a wolf. War was what they wanted, and now they will get it, until the people of Germany want peace, then America is ready to grant them peace.

"I expect to conduct the hottest campaign possible to defeat Governor Burnquist and deliver a body blow to the crowd which pulls the strings behind him."—
Fred E. Wheaton.

That is what the people like to hear, anything to beat Burnquist. But the forces opposed to him should not be divided, as they are at present. With us the main issue in this campaign should be to defeat Burnquist. A governor that has insulted and abused the farmers of this state as he has for the past year, by calling them disloyalists, should not receive a farmer vote in this state. He would have been defeated in the primaries, if the Democrats had not helped him out, and they are not going to do it in November.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

A German prisoner that was taken last week said that Germany would fight to the last man before they would suffer an invasion of Germany. He is mistaken about that as old Kaiser Wilhelm would undoubtedly see to it that he and all his sons were kept out of danger, and march the balance of the people up to the slaughter yard. There will be an invasion of Germany sooner or later, as America has got the man power and the financial power to wipe Germany off the map and open up that country to homestead entry, and they will do it if the common people continue under the leadership of the present rulers of that German autocratic government.

The farmers of the Northwest responded nobly to President Wilson's plea for an extra wheat production. Now let us go over the top with a whoop on that Liberty Bond that comes out this month. Let us give Kaiser Wilhelm to understand that we can provide our boys over there with plenty to eat and cash to buy ammunition. Now is the critical time in this war, and this next Liberty Loan will prove to Germany that we mean business, if it is promptly taken up. Let every man do his duty, and promptly arrange to take his share of these bonds.

The German army are now getting out of France in double quick time, and it is to be hoped that they will be driven out of Belgium this fall. America will continue to rush men and war material to France all winter, and when the spring campaign opens they will have man power enough over there to drive the German army into Berlin.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of six Dollars which became due on the first day of December 1916, and is due and claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Ole K. Homme, unmarried, mortgagor, to The Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Oklee, Minnesota, a corporation, mortgagee, bearing date the 1st day of December, 1918, which mortgage with the power of sale therein contained, was filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Pennington County, State of Minnesota, on the 17th day of December 1918, at Eight o'clock A. M. and was there duly recorded in Book 9 of Mortgages on page 614 thereof, and whereas pursuant to the terms and conditions of said mortgage, and by reason of said default, the whole unpaid principal sum of said mortgage to wit: the sum of Twenty dollars [$20.00] became at once due and payable, and was and is hereby so declared by said mortgagee, and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of Twenty Dollars [$20.00] with interest thereon at Ten per cent per annum since the first day of December, 1918.

And whereas, the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceedings having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage above described will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, to wit: The North Half of the Northwest Quarter of Section Twenty-two (22) in Township One Hundred Fifty-three (153) North of Range Thirty-Nine (39) West of the 5th P. M., in Minnesota being in the county of Pennington, in said of Minnesota, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Pennington County at the front door of the Court House in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County and State on Tuesday the 8th day of October 1918, at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day at public vendue, to pay the said debt and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises and an attorney's fee of twenty five Dollars as stipulated in and by said mortgage, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of said sale as provided by law.

NORTHWEST TO UPHOLD RECORD

People of Ninth Federal Reserve District Led Nation in Third Loan Drive.

EXTRA EFFORT NEEDED

Amount to Be Raised in Fourth Liberty Loan Campaign Probably Twice That of Last Canvass—Men, Women and Children to Aid.

The people of the Ninth Federal Reserve District, comprising the states of Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, part of Wisconsin and the Northern Peninsula of Michigan, have proven themselves to be real Americans.

They have responded promptly and generously to each demand made upon them by their Government in this hour of its need. From the homes of these great Northwest states have gone thousands upon thousands of young men, cheerfully ready to do whatever they were called upon to do and many of them have already been called upon to make the greatest sacrifice.

The men, women and children of these states have given their time, their money and themselves to aid in the great work being done by the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A. and other organizations. The rich, the well to do, and the poor have marched shoulder to shoulder in the financial army that is carrying out every order issued by those in command at Washington.

In fact, the people of the Ninth District have been so well organized and have responded so loyally that they have put this district in a class by itself. During the Third Liberty Loan campaign, this district started its campaign last, finished it first, exceeded every other district in oversubscription of its quota, and in the sale of bonds secured a better percentage of distribution than any other part of the United States. Surely the people of this district have very great reason to be proud of their record.

The peculiarly effective plan of organization adopted and successfully carried out throughout the Ninth District is undoubtedly responsible to a large extent for the fine record made. The natural energy and clear-sighted Americanism of the great majority of its citizens is responsible for the balance. Whatever the cause, the results have put this district in a class by itself. The managers of other districts look to the Ninth Federal Reserve District for information and inspiration. They want to know how it was done. Many of the rules laid down by the Government for the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign in other districts are admitted to be unnecessary in the Ninth. The authorities in charge at Washington admit that the men and women of the Northwest will do what is asked of them in their own way, but will do it promptly and efficiently.

From all this, it is evident that a great deal will be expected from the Ninth Federal Reserve District in the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign. The standard set is so high that it will take extra effort to maintain it. That means that all those who worked hard during the Third campaign will have to work harder during the Fourth campaign and that they will have to be aided by many hundred recruits. There will have to be more intensive organization so that more individuals will be impressed with the necessity of doing their part and each individual will have more to do.

The amount to be raised in the Fourth Liberty Loan has not been officially announced. It is commonly thought, however, in official circles that the amount will be six billion dollars. This is twice the amount asked by the Government for the Third loan.

What will this mean? It will mean that there will have to be an increase in the average amount given by individual subscribers and also a largely increased number of subscribers. For the people of the Ninth District to raise $200,000,000, it will be necessary for every man, woman and child to make an effort, to sacrifice, to give up many things they would like to do or buy, and not only to do their full duty, but make it their business to see that every other man, woman and child does his or her duty.

The Ninth District occupies a very enviable position among the districts of this great country. The Ninth District must retain this position. In order to do so, there must be put forth a united, whole-hearted effort "of all the people, by all the people, and for all the people."

Some of the farmers now are putting up an additional supply of hay this week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Flesby of Hazel, visited with Mr. and Mrs. John Asp of Mayfield township.

Henry Hyland again commenced work on his ditch contract five miles east of Thief River Falls, on Thursday.

Misses Ella and Marie Causin are attending the Teacher's Institute at Thief River Falls this week.

We farmers now miss our boys that have been called to the colors, as it is pretty near an impossibility to secure help to shock thrash grain.

The Mayfield Branch of the Red Cross will meet at the residence of Sever Nelson in Mayfield Township on next Sunday afternoon. All are welcome.

Put them wheat shovelers in Minneapolis to work from 14 to 18 hours a day the same as the farmers work, and they can soon unload that surplus wheat.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

Burnquists unpatriotic farmers have shoved the wheat into Minneapolis so fast that they can't get it unloaded from the cars, why not put that Public Safety Commission to shoveling grain, so as to get a little good out of them?

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

Minneapolis finds it impossible to secure help to unload the wheat as fast as it is being shipped in there. The laboring men are getting such big wages that they are compelled to lay off two days in a week to spend the money they earn in the other four days.

It certainly is very unfair to see a young able bodied man who has been in this country for years, claiming exemption as an alien from the draft. America should attend to citizens of this kind, and see that they are shipped back to the country they came from, and refused any opportunity to become citizens of this country.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

By the first of January America will have more fighting men in France than either England or France. This week there will be about fourteen million more register, ready for business. That fourth Liberty Loan will be taken up in less than five days, and next year we will have more fighting men in France, that can fight than England and France combined. We wonder if old Kaiser Wilhelm is still of the opinion that America won't fight.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

The farmers responded to President Wilsons request for an increased production of wheat, and now they are rushing the wheat into Minneapolis so fast that they can not get men to unload it. We don't hear any more complaint about farmers hoarding grain, but there is likely to be a request made to them to bin part of their crop until the markets get their surplus wheat unloaded.

GIVE THE BOYS RIFLES

The American soldier swears by his rifle. Machine guns are powerful weapons, hand grenades and trench bombs may be handy at times, but when it comes right down to real sure-enough fighting in the open, where the enemy can be seen, give the doughboy a rifle every time. The ease with which he can pot a leaping Boche at a hundred yards has amazed the soldiers of the French and British armies.

Give the Yanks time and rifles enough and they will drive straight through to Berlin. The boys will do the shooting, but it is up to those who stay at home to provide the rifles. Pennington county must provide its share and it will do it by subscribing its quota and more of the fourth Liberty loan.

KEPT TAX-GATHERER BUSY

Imposts Were Levied on Almost Everything in England a Century and a Half Ago.

It is interesting to note that the entertainment tax of the present day was anticipated over 150 years ago by the inventive genius who proposed that all places of public diversion, including playhouses, operas, masquerades, Ranelagh, Vauxhall, Sadler's Wells and Astley's—the famous resorts of the fair and the fashionable of his day—should be taxed, says London Tit-Bits. Another proposal was that the very statues in the gardens—and the lakes and the groves, the grottoes and the temples of those days were thick set with statues of heathen gods and goddesses—should have a price put upon their heads.

Time was when taxes were put on the watches attached to the seals that dangled from the fobs of the beaux or hung on the girdles that encircled the waists of the belles. Those who owned clocks were also regarded as fit subjects for special taxation.

The "guinea-pig" tax—the tax a householder had to pay for every person in his household who wore a pigtail and covered his hair with powder—had its day and passed away. So, too, had a tax on soap—the impost that gave Lord North his nickname of "Old Soapsuds"—and a tax on salt. Gloves and mittens were once taxed, and so also were scores of other articles and the shops in which they were sold.

Gas Masks and Whiskers.

To be clean shaven or bearded like the pard is the alternative presented to the German first-line troops. The reason is the gas mask. Some authorities hold that the mask cannot be relied upon to protect any but clean-shaven faces; others again hold that a dense hirsute growth within the mask acts as an additional air filter. But it must be a real patriarchal beard—no mere 7 or 14 days' bristles, says an article in the Deutsche Tageszeitung. The writer holds that the full beard is a peculiarly Teutonic attribute, and should be cultivated as such. Besides, according to ancient traditions, it adds to "frightful aspect," he naively adds. Gas tests at the front in airtight cubicles are carried out every fortnight, and full-bearded men testify to the additional security afforded by their beards.

IF WE FAIL THE WORLD IS LOST

American Soldiers Can Crush the Hun Only If Equipped by American Dollars.

DUTY OF ALL IS CLEAR

War More Than Armies—To Provide Food, Clothing, Weapons and Hundreds of Other Things Is Opportunity of Those Who Do Not Offer Lives—Buy Bonds.

America is the Atlas on which the world is resting. Not only must American soldiers fight and win the war for democracy, but American dollars must equip and maintain American armies and, in addition, they must maintain the armies of the Allies.

Never has so colossal a task fallen to the lot of any nation; never before in the history of the world has any nation been in a position to accomplish such a task. America can do all that she is expected to do, but she can only do it if every citizen of this greatest republic does his full share.

The war in Europe is more than the splendid army of young American manhood fighting under our banners in Flanders; it is a matter of food, shelter, clothing, munitions, weapons, roads, engines, cars, ships, hospitals, medicines, of hundreds of other important things that take labor and money to produce. To provide these things is the opportunity and duty of those who do not offer their lives.

Winning this war is a matter of money. When you buy a Liberty Bond it means money for the United States treasury. During the coming year, this nation must raise $24,000,000,000. About $16,000,000,000 of this must be raised by loans and $8,000,000,000 by taxation. If we do not raise this money, the United States treasury will have failed. When the United States treasury fails, the war is lost. If the war is lost, democracy is lost—the world is lost.

Thus we get some idea of what each individual must do. He must save, do without luxuries, he must get along with what he has rather than buy things that are not absolutely necessary. He must do those things only which are of productive value. He must simplify and cheapen his diet. In short, he must in every possible way use for his own comfort as little of the nation's labor, time, and efficiency as possible. He must save every cent of money possible and loan it to the Government. In this way only can a citizen live up to his patriotic duty and do his part towards [illegible]

"Are you sure this chicken is tender?" asked the customer in the market.

"Yes, I think it is, sir," replied the marketman.

"And do you know that it is fresh killed?"

"Oh, yes, sir."

"Are you sure?"

"Positive."

"Why are you so positive?"

"Because I caught it in my garden only yesterday."

VITAL STATISTICS.

Your country is financing Democracy's war.

Your district ranks first in doing its full share.

Third Liberty Loan records show you responded promptly and generously oversubscribed your quota.

The Fourth Liberty Loan has been announced.

Subscriptions must be made between the dates of September 28th and October 3rd.

Interest and terms will be liberal, but they don't matter.

The amount will probably be double that asked for in the Third Loan.

Your allotment will be higher than ever before.

Your Government isn't worrying about you because your patriotism has been proved—you live in the Patriotic Ninth. It is up to you to see that this confidence is not misplaced.

You must not fail to do your full share.

If you individuals fail, your Government will fail.

If your Government fails, the Allies will fail.

If the Allies fail—freedom, justice, brotherly love, the spiritual ideals that make life worth while will fail.

None of these can fail.

You and a million and a half more like you, in the Ninth District, will buy Liberty Bonds on September 28th, 1918.

To loan your full share, you will sacrifice luxuries and comforts. You will work and save and when it is all over you will have proved your loyalty and increased both your spiritual and your material possessions.

When you think you are asked to do a good deal, just stop and think of them over there.

AGAIN IN CHARGE.

Many people insist that the Ninth District is the best organized of any group of states. Results seem to prove it. The active workers in the Third Liberty Loan campaign numbered over thirty thousand out of a little more than 5 million people.

The men responsible to Washington, the officers of the Northwest's financial army, are not taking the credit. They only directed this great territory's patriotic energies.

There have to be officers, however, and everyone should know who they are. The men and women who led to victory in the Third Loan will be in charge during the Fourth campaign, September 28th to October 3rd.

Isn't It Great?

The Northwest's crops are satisfactory. The money returns from them will be big. The Ninth District will do its full share towards feeding the armies of freedom and then will turn around and loan the Government its full share of dollars to make the Fourth Liberty Loan a great success. Surely this is a fine part of a wonderful country in which to live.

Such a Relief.

Keep Yourself Fit

You can't afford to be laid up with sore, aching kidneys in these days of high prices. Some occupations bring kidney troubles; almost any work makes weak kidneys worse. If you feel tired all the time, and suffer with lame back, sharp pains, dizzy spells, headaches and disordered kidney action, use Doan's Kidney Pills. It may save an attack of rheumatism, dropsy, or Bright's disease. Doan's have helped thousands back to health.

A Minnesota Case

T. H. Laporte, commission merchant, W. Fourth St., Faribault, Minn., says: "I suffered from a steady ache across my kidneys and it was distressing for me to stoop over or straighten up. My kidneys acted irregularly and the secretions were unnatural. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me immediate relief and I soon got well. A few times since when I have needed a kidney medicine, Doan's have given me excellent benefit."

JUDGE DECIDES STOMACH REMEDY A GREAT SUCCESS

Commissioner of Mediation and Conciliation Board Tries EATONIC, the Wonderful Stomach Remedy, and Endorses It.

Judge William L. Chambers, who uses EATONIC as a remedy for loss of appetite and indigestion, is a Commissioner of the U. S. Board of Mediation and Conciliation. It is natural for him to express himself in guarded language, yet there is no hesitation in his pronouncement regarding the value of EATONIC. Writing from Washington, D. C., to the Eatonic Remedy Co., he says,

"EATONIC promotes appetite and aids digestion. I have used it with beneficial results."

Office workers and others who sit much are martyrs to dyspepsia, belching, bad breath, heartburn, poor appetite, bloat, and impairment of general health. Are you, yourself, a sufferer? EATONIC will relieve you just as surely as it has benefited Judge Chambers and thousands of others.

Here's the secret: EATONIC drives the gas out of the body—and the Bloat Goes With It! It is guaranteed to bring relief or you get your money back! Costs only a cent or two a day to use it. Get a box today from your druggist.

DO WORK AT HIGH PRESSURE

Duties of War Correspondents at the Front Are in the Highest Degree Exacting.

Here are the conditions under which a war correspondent has to work:

A great attack is pending and in the black night the war correspondent journeys forth from S. H. Q. by car to some vantage point, from which he sees what he can of the action—and, even were visibility perfect, under conditions of modern war he could only hope to witness a tiny corner of the battle—picks up what facts he can at brigade, divisional, corps or army headquarters, and from the "walking wounded," who begin to stream down from the front within an hour of "zero," studies his maps, and makes his notes. Morning papers go to press early these days. So in the early afternoon he is whirled homeward, maybe through shell fire, fifty, sixty or seventy miles, and then only, at the end of a long, exhausting day, his work proper begins. He must sit down and write promptly a clear and comprehensive account of the day's doings, graphic, if possible, as complete as may be, yet containing nothing that infringes on censorship rules. It is a task demanding the utmost concentration from a mind and body already fatigued.

Said It First.

"Did you tell the landlord you were going to move?" "No. He's the one who broke the news."

Many a man who meanders around the free-lunch route daily likes to be seen entering a first-class hotel.

HERE IS MEANING OF LIBERTY BOND

Buying It Is Merely Lending Money to Yourself for a Great Necessity.

U. S. GOVERNMENT MEANS US

Stupendous Amounts Are Needed to Pay for Work and Materials, So Our Old-Time Extravagances Must Be Dropped.

By JOHN PALMER GAVIT.

One of the good results that will accrue to the American people from their participation in the war is a better understanding of the purpose and function of money. Also, they will more fully appreciate their relation to the government and the fact that it is their government—as much theirs as their homes and farms and factories. For purposes of poetry and sentiment it is well enough to talk about "Uncle Sam," your devotion to him, your willingness to lend to him by the purchase of bonds, War Savings Certificates and Thrift Stamps, and to give your own life and the lives of your sons on the actual fighting front; but you must not lose sight of the fact that after all, the United States, "Uncle Sam," U. S.," "Our Country," and so on—whatever poetic phrase we use to represent the nation in its united action and aspiration—is just US, ourselves in our own proper persons, working and saving and applying our joint strength, for ourselves, our children and our children's children.

Too much have we thought of the government, the nation, Uncle Sam, and so on, as something separate from ourselves; something to which we give and lend, eagerly or willingly or grudgingly or under compulsion, as the case may be. We have had too little of the practice of team work for a great common purpose—our own purpose.

The Liberty Bond campaigns furnish occasion for reminding ourselves that it is our country, ourselves in our organized capacity, that is engaged in the war to abolish autocracy; that "Uncle Sam" is us, in common determination to do and give all of ourselves to an enterprise as thoroughly worth while as the American Revolution or the war to preserve the Union and free the slaves. And one of the ways in which we can participate directly and actively in this enterprise is to turn our money—all of it that is not absolutely and honestly necessary to the essential purposes of living and keeping well and efficient for the other things we have to do to help along the enterprise—over to ourselves in our organized capacity; that is, to the government, for the work of the war which it is conducting for us.

Money Useful Only for Exchange.

Money is nothing in itself—just paper and metal. It is useless unless somebody else will accept it in exchange for something he has or something he can do. The measure of its value to you is the other fellow's need of the materials or the labor which it will in turn command for him. Spending money is the way we have of getting from other people the things they have or the work they can do—"Goods and Services." Our responsibility, therefore, lies in the question of the kind of things for which we choose to exchange money, and the time and circumstances in which we exert that choice.

Now, we have been a very wasteful and extravagant people; we have not thought much about the effect upon ourselves and other people and upon the nation as a whole, of the ways in which we spent our money, or the time and circumstances in which we spent it. But the war is compelling us to think about that. Not even the greatest nation, or the most powerful government, or the shrewdest financiers can make something out of nothing. And when war, the most ravenous kind of waste and extravagance that mankind has devised, comes along to take workers out of industry and off the farms, and to turn them from production to high-power consumption and destruction—no matter if the ultimate purpose of the war be quite worth its cost in life and property—there simply are not material and labor enough in the country to permit both the continuance of the old kinds of expenditure and the taking on of the new.

Why We Must Do Without.

For the purposes of the war the government of the United States must have stupendous amounts of materials and work, and there is not enough of these to give the government what it must have and at the same time allow the people generally to have as much material and work for their private uses as they have in ordinary times.

Therefore we must to the greatest possible extent keep out of the market for materials and labor, so as, (1) to keep from making other folks sell us things and work for us instead of for the government, and so that (2) the things and the work that would be put into products and efforts for our personal use and enjoyment shall be compelled to turn to the kinds of products and work that the government must have to win the war. Every dollar, every cent, that we spend for something that we could go without competes in the market with the government, and by just so much impedes the big cause.

Even if we saved the money and buried it in the back yard we should be helping the government. But there is a better thing to do with it. The government must have money, in immense amounts, in order to buy materials and work. And we are asked to lend it to the government for that purpose, in addition to what we pay as taxes.

Bonds Are More Than Receipts.

The Liberty bonds are the receipts which the government gives us for this loan. But they are more than receipts; we get receipts for the taxes. A Liberty bond is not only the government's acknowledgement that you have loaned the money; it is its promise to pay it back upon a certain day, and to pay you in the meanwhile, at certain intervals, for the use of the money. All of the resources of the country in materials and the labor of the people—our own good faith toward each other, our permanence as a civilized nation—are pledged to the payment of principal and interest in strict accordance with the terms of the transaction as printed on each bond. There is not a safer or more valuable piece of paper in the world.

When this war is over there will be only two kinds of folks in the United States—those who did all they could and gave all they could, and those who didn't. Among those who didn't will be the ones who tried to keep on using and enjoying things and the work of other people, as they used to do; those who failed to do their utmost in the way of really useful work, and those who demanded for themselves unnecessary things and labor which might have been used for the purposes of the government in winning the war.

All You Can, Is the Measure.

Every man knows in his heart what he can do and whether he is doing it. He may be able to deceive the government; by loud-mouthed professions of patriotism, saluting the flag, cheering at meetings, and other noisy and conspicuous displays he may deceive his neighbors; but he cannot fool himself. He knows whether he has done all he could! And "all he could"—honestly, on the level, every man the judge of his own effort in the squarest kind of dealing with his own soul in a kind of Judgment day—that is the measure.

He is a poor creature who thinks of the Liberty bond solely as an investment—a grudging gift to his country, with a string on it. But no one need be ashamed to lend to the government. Uncle Sam will take what he needs without money return, in the form of taxes, and we shall pay in willingly, cheerfully. We are doing a work for the future—the world will be cleaner and better to live in for all time by reason of what we are doing now; therefore it is right that a part of this burden should be met by those who will come after us and reap the long-time benefits.

In the finest spirit our young men are going to the battle front to offer their utmost, their very flesh and blood, in unutterable toil and agony, in doing what must be done there. They hope to come back, but they are willing to die there if that must be. And thousands of our best are doing just that. In like unswerving spirit we who stay at home must do our part—going without things and making those we have serve to the utmost—and through this self-denial furnishing to the government—your government—which is taking care of our boys, the means to get the enormous amounts of materials and labor needed to take care of them and to equip them for what they have to do.

This is the meaning of the Liberty bond.

Uncle Sam Turns Tightwad.

The money which you are lending Uncle Sam by purchasing Liberty Bonds, and with which he in turn purchases foodstuffs for the boys in khaki, goes much farther than one at first realizes. Formerly all scrapings from plates and all refuse from camp kitchens was burned. The old order has changed. Garbage waste is now separated into various classes such as bread, raw fats and meats, cooked meat, cooked grease, bones and other garbage.

These materials are weighed after each meal, and a statement of the weights forwarded to the conservation and reclamation officer in each camp. In this way, the army has an absolute check on wastes of unit kitchens which enables it to prevent over-rationing and individual wastage. The garbage from these separations is turned over to reduction plants, which in turn utilize these wastes for the manufacture of nitro-glycerin and for fertilizers.

ARE CLOSING IN ON ST. QUENTIN

Allied Armies Continue to Cut Their Way Into German Lines on West Front.

LE HAMEL IS TAKEN

French Are Now Within Five Miles of St. Quentin, an Important Railway Junction—British Are Moving Rapidly.

London, Sept. 9.—French and British forces continue to cut their way into the German lines at several points on the southern part of the battle line in France.

Notwithstanding the bad weather, which has caused somewhat of a slackening in the violence of operations, Field Marshal Haig's forces have materially encroached upon Cambrai and St. Quentin, while farther south the French armies are pressing eastward on the old Noyon sector toward La Fere and Laon and northward from Soissons in an auxiliary maneuver with the same objectives in view.

The French have pressed forward to the little village of Le Hamel on the Somme and have occupied it. This puts the furthermost advance of the Allies to within five miles of the rail junction at St. Quentin.

British Take Old Positions.

Between the Vesle and the Aisne rivers, while the American troops are fighting with the French, additional ground has been gained by the Allied forces.

The British now are standing at Villeveque, six miles from St. Quentin, having carried out an advance over a 10 mile front on the general line of Epehy, Hesbecourt and Vermand. To the north the greater part of the Havrincourt wood, one of the German strong points barring the way to Cambrai, also has been captured.

So rapid has been the British advance along this portion of the front that they now are in positions they held before the big German drive of last March. In these positions the Germans are offering stout resistance to further progress by the British.

French Surround Forest.

Gradually the French are working their way around St. Gobain forest, north of Soissons, in the movement that aims at the outflanking of La Fere and Laon and all the German positions east of this region. They have reached the outskirts of the village of Servais, on the northern edge of the forest and 2½ miles from La Fere. While a short distance to the north they have taken the village of Mennessis on the St. Quentin canal, eight miles from St. Quentin.

North of the Aisne, near Soissons, the Germans are fighting hard to keep the French in check, realizing that the gain by them of much more territory in this region, in conjunction with the maneuver that is in progress around St. Gobain forest will place the entire German defense line eastward toward Rheims in a critical position. Near Laflaux and north of Celles-sur-Aisne the Germans have delivered strong counter attacks, but the French everywhere have maintained their ground.

Foe Reacts Near Ypres.

The Germans also are reacting somewhat south of Ypres, especially on the region of Ploegsteert, where the British are threatening the recapture of Armentieres. Counter offensive maneuvers here and east of Wulvergehin were broken up by the British.

During the first week of September Field Marshal Haig's forces have taken more than 19,000 prisoners and large numbers of machine guns and quantities of stores.

DeWoody, chief agent of the Department of Justice, announced. A total of 60,187 men were examined.

Americans Being Overcharged.

London, Sept. 9.—Complaints have been made that American soldiers in England were being badly treated by unscrupulous traders, who overcharged the men for common commodities and made short change on American bank notes. Brigadier General McCalmont, M. P., head of the committee for the entertainment of American soldiers, has announced that the committee is preparing a rate card for comparative money values to be distributed in British ports on days when troops are disembarking.

SAFE, GENTLE REMEDY CLEANSES YOUR KIDNEYS

For centuries GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been a standard household remedy for kidney, liver, bladder and stomach trouble, and all diseases connected with the urinary organs. The kidneys and bladder are the most important organs of the body. They are the filters, the purifiers of your blood. If the poisons which enter your system through the kidneys and stomach are not entirely thrown out by the kidneys and bladder, you are doomed.

Weariness, sleeplessness, nervousness, despondency, backache, stomach trouble, headache, pain in loins and lower abdomen, gall stones, gravel, difficulty when urinating, cloudy and bloody urine, rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago, all warn you to look after your kidneys and bladder. All these indicate some weakness of the kidneys or other organs or that the enemy microbes which are always present in your system have attacked your weak spots. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules are what you need.

They are not a "patent medicine" [illegible] have been a standard household remedy. They are the pure, original imported Haarlem Oil your great-grandmother used, and are perfectly harmless. The healing, soothing oil soaks into the cells and lining of the kidneys and through the bladder, driving out the poisonous germs. New life, fresh strength and health will come as you continue the treatment. When completely restored to your usual vigor, continue taking a capsule or two each day; they will keep you in condition and prevent a return of the disease.

Do not delay a minute. Delays are especially dangerous in kidney and bladder trouble. All druggists sell GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. They will refund the money if not as represented. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules are imported direct from the laboratories in Holland. They are prepared in correct quantity and convenient form, are easy to take and are positively guaranteed to give prompt relief. In three sizes, sealed packages. MAKING OF BEER HALTED DEC. 1

Action Is Taken by Food Administration for Several Reasons.

SHORTAGE OF LABOR

Need of Entire Fuel Production for War Industries, Drouth and Strain Upon Transportation Are Principal Causes.

Washington, Sept. 9. — As a war measure the manufacture of beer in the United States will be prohibited after Dec. 1 next.

This announcement was made by the food administration, which said the decision had been reached at conferences between President Wilson and representatives of the fuel, food and railroad administrations and the war industries board.

Factors which influenced the decision to prohibit the manufacture of beer after Dec. 1, the food administration announcement said, were "the further necessity of war industries for the whole fuel production capacity of the country, the considerable drouth which has materially affected supply of feeding stuff for next year, the strain upon transportation to handle necessary industries, and the shortage of labor caused by enlargement of the army program."

Other Beverages Hit.

Warning also was issued to manufacturers of all beverages and mineral waters that for the same reasons there will be "further great curtailment in fuel for the manufacture of glass containers, of the tin plate for caps, of transportation and of food products in such beverages."

Action along this line, it was said, had been expected by the brewing interests in view of the fuel administration's order of last July 3, reducing coal consumption of breweries 50 per cent and a warning that they might not be able to continue in business.

Under national prohibition legislation, passed by the Senate and sent to the House, which enacted similar legislation last May, manufacture of beer and wine would be prohibited after next May 1.

60,000 PUT IN WAR PLANTS

Government Places War Workers in Essential Factories.

Washington, Sept. 9. — Sixty thousand laborers were recruited for war work at essential plants last month by the employment service of the department of labor.

The bureau announced the arrival in the United States from Nassau of the first group of laborers from the Bahama islands.

Several thousand Porto Ricans, who have registered for work in the United States, will move to this country as soon as transportation is provided.

COMMANDS MOST ALL YANKS

American Forces Nearly All Directly Under Pershing.

Washington, Sept. 9.—Ninety-three per cent of the American troops now in France are under the direct command of General Pershing, senators at their war department conference said they had been informed. They took this to mean that this distinctive American force is about to be used for some big purpose, though they said specifically they had received no intimation of the staff's plans.

U. S. TRANSPORT TORPEDOED

Damaged Vessel Manages to Make French Port.

Washington, Sept. 9.—The American troop transport Mount Vernon, formerly the German Kron Prinz Cecelie, was torpedoed off the French coast, but returned to a French port at 14 knots, declared the Navy department.

No loss of life is yet reported.

The torpedoing occurred 200 miles off the French coast.

BRITISH LOSSES PAST WEEK

Total Casualties For Period Reach 19,989.

London, Sept. 9.—British casualties published during the week totaled 19,989, divided as follows:

Officers, 365 killed, 915 wounded, 117 missing. Total 1,397.

Men, 3,289 killed, 14,399 wounded, 904 missing. Total 18,592.

Foreign Mine Found Off Sandy Hook.

Long Branch, N. J., Sept. 9. — A floating mine of foreign type was found in the surf near here. It weighs about 200 pounds and bears the number 254. It was taken to the proving ground at Sandy Hook for examination by army and navy officers.

Italian Socialists Oppose War.

Rome, Sept. 9.—The Socialist congress practically closed with a complete triumph for the extremists. A resolution which was adopted by an overwhelming majority debate praises the conduct of Avanti, the official organ of the party, and condemns the failure of Socialist deputies to energetically oppose the war. The resolution requests the Socialist deputies to henceforth obey the orders of the executive committee, which is empowered to expel recalcitrant deputies. Several deputies threaten to resign.

Brief Items of State News

Pipestone.—The city council voted $1,000 as Pipestone's contribution to the Tyler tornado relief fund.

Winona.—The Yankee Doodle trail, from Winona to St. Paul, has been approved by C. M. Babcock, state highway commissioner.

St. Paul. — Ernest Johnson, former member of the Macalester college football eleven, will have charge of athletics at that institution this fall.

Mankato. — Mankato citizens will again vote on the proposition to issue in bonds the sum of $100,000 for the construction of a new school building.

St. Paul.—Held under armed guard at the city hospital, where surgeons will amputate his right foot, Private Roy Kraft probably will face charges of desertion from the United States army.

St. Cloud. — Benton County day at the big tri-county fair went off successfully despite the unfavorable weather conditions. Delegations from throughout the county and surrounding country were in attendance.

La Crescent. — A belated message from the war department, sent first to Bozeman, Mont., announced the death in action of Corporal George A. Luther of La Crescent. He is the first Houston county man to lose his life.

Red Wing. — Nels Severson's house was struck by lightning during the course of a severe electrical storm. The bolt struck one of the chimneys, shattered it to the roof, then made its way under the shingles and made its exit at another side of the house.

Winona.—Within the next week or ten days Winona will again be receiving its supply of electricity for power and lighting purposes from the water power plant at Hatfield. On May 28 the banks of the canal dam were washed out by a freshet, so that it has since been impossible to operate the water power.

Red Wing.—Red Wing's famous bee controversy has been settled. Judge Albert Johnson in district court has issued a decision finding that bees do sting and are a nuisance to the comfort, health and happiness of the citizens of the municipality. He rules that the city is within its right in declaring bees a nuisance and is entitled to relief.

Bemidji.—After being out six hours, the jury in the case of criminal libel instituted against James I. Coffey of Coffey, Minn., by John G. Morrison, Jr., president of the Minnesota Chippewa Indians' council, disagreed. The case was a long-drawn-out affair, the trial taking five days, and many of the records of the Chippewa council being introduced in evidence.

St. Paul. — Captain E. F. Kenrick, Minnesota department commander, G. A. R., and staff have returned from the annual encampment at Portland. "Minnesota had 125 men in line and it was one of the finest encampments I ever attended," said the commander. "Automobiles were constantly at our disposal and every hospitality was extended to the veterans." The annual meeting next year will be at Columbus, Ohio.

Brainerd. — A cash-and-carry plan which gives a fair price list for all merchants to follow and which permits them to charge for service in the way of delivery or credit has been planned for Brainerd and seems certain of adoption without much friction. Complaints of overcharges, if any, are to be made to County Food Administrator Andrew E. Berglund and will be reported to the state food administration.

St. Paul. — Every member of the Minnesota Women's committee, Council of National Defense, will become an agent for the complete Americanization of private schools in Minnesota. Learning from Mrs. David F. Simpson of Minneapolis, speaker at the session of the annual state conference in the capitol, that 195 private schools use only the German language in their teaching, the women informally agreed to work for the eradication of the language.

Chisholm.—Farmers residing in Balkan, Sturgeon and Fern townships and in the two unorganized townships north of here, have combined forces to hold an auction of farm products for the benefit of the Red Cross. Exhibits from each township will be brought to Chisholm. The display will become the farmers public market on Sept. 14. Many persons have agreed to participate and trucks, drays, automobiles and farm wagons have been obtained to transport the product.

Ada.—A little girl, two years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jedlicka, who live in Norman county near the Qual store, was crushed to death by a threshing engine. The rig had pulled into the place to do the threshing and while Mr. Jedlicka and the engineer were deciding on the best place to set the machine the little girl came out and sat down in front of the engine unnoticed by anyone. Not until the engine had started up and crushed the little body had her presence been known.

St. Paul. — Definite announcements of locations for government food dehydrating plants is expected when the agricultural bill, carrying a large appropriation for the establishing of dehydration plants, passes this fall, Lou D. Sweet of the United States food administration has announced.

Spring Grove.—Infantile paralysis is on the increase in and about Spring Grove. Sixteen cases have been reported. The disease has been pronounced unusually virulent, and the assistance of the Mayo clinic at Rochester has been enlisted to check the epidemic.

Mineota.—Sixty families of the Catholic church of Mineota raised more than $1,100 for the Tyler tornado relief fund.

Hutchinson.—The Hutchinson Brick & Tile company plant was partially destroyed by fire, causing a loss estimated at $7,000.

St. Charles—The Winona county fair proved to be most satisfactory, both in point of attendance and character of the exhibits and attractions.

Red Wing.—John Jeanette of Lake City was instantly killed and Robert Deckman of Red Wing fatally injured when Deckman's automobile skidded and overturned.

New Ulm. — Charles Scanlon, suspected of being one of a pair of pickpockets who were busy plying their trade at the Brown county fair, is now lodged behind the bars.

Stillwater.—The barn on the farm of John Daly, six miles north of Stillwater, was struck by lightning during the storm and was burned to the ground, together with a large stock of hay.

Paynesville.—Ora F. Seavey of this town died at Camp Wadsworth from injuries received. No particulars were given of how the accident occurred. He was a member of an anti-aircraft machine gun regiment.

Winona.—The question of consolidating three competing telephone companies in Winona county arose out of a hearing conducted at Lewiston on a petition of the Mount Vernon Telephone company for increased rates.

St. Paul. — Nels Hokstadt, a resident of Dunn county, Wis., has filed a suit for $100,000 damages in U. S. district court here against fifteen residents of Pine county, Minn., whom he alleges were members of a crowd which tarred and feathered him at Turpville, Minn., last May.

St. Paul.—New business projects, involving the immediate issuance of stocks and bonds amounting to more than $500,000, have been approved by the capital issues committee of the Ninth Federal reserve district. Other enterprises for which $735,000 in stock issues were needed have been disapproved.

St. Paul. — Don R. Cotton has resigned as state chairman of the Four Minute Men and probably will be succeeded by Judge Oscar Hallam of the Minnesota state supreme court, it was announced. As Federal advisor of the Northwest war industrial region, Mr. Cotton was unable to continue the work, Judge Hallam, acting chairman, has been recommended to heads of the national organization and is expected to be named.

Minneapolis.—Dairy products to the value of $114,738,190 were produced in Minnesota during the past year. This represents an actual increase of $23,238,190 over the total value of dairy products produced in the state during 1916-1917. Butter alone brought Minnesota farmers $53,152,066 against $49,214,876 during the corresponding period. Milk and ice cream to the value of $60,000,000 were marketed during the past year.

Virginia.—Victor Heino and Mrs. Ida Pirhonen are dead and Mrs. Anna Lasonen is suffering from probable mortal injuries as the result of an automobile accident here. Mrs. Pirhonen, who was driving the car, lost control and it plunged from the Lake boulevard into Silver lake. The bodies of Heino and Mrs. Pirhonen were recovered from the lake half an hour after the accident by firemen. Mrs. Pirhonen had never driven a car before.

Winona.—This is expected to be a banner season for clam shell fishermen in Minnesota, despite war handicaps. Official statistics of the yield last year have just been obtained and they show that the total catch reported to state officials was valued at $85,500. The Minnesota and Mississippi rivers furnished the best fishing. The former gave up 2,054 tons and the latter 386 tons of shells. The total officially reported yield last year was 2,744 tons.

Winnipeg. — Application has been made in court here by W. Christopher Wollrath of Glenwood, Minn., for the custody of his 5 year old child, Regina Anna Wollrath, who, it is alleged, is being wrongfully detained by her grandparents, Christopher and Mrs. Clemley of Winnipeg. According to Wollrath, he and his wife were divorced some time ago. Mr. and Mrs. Clemley, parents of Mrs. Wollrath, are alleged to have taken the child from the mother without consent of the father.

Bemidji.—With the opening of the fall term of the Beltrami county district court, a case of unusual interest to be brought here for trial will be that of Miss Margaret Hansman against the Western Union Telegraph company, in which the plaintiff seeks to recover $25,000 damages alleged to have been sustained on account of contracting tuberculosis as the result of a poorly heated office operated by the company at Luverne, Minn. The case was first tried at Park Rapids in 1916, when the plaintiff was awarded a verdict of $10,000. The company made a motion for a new trial, which was denied by Judge B. F. Wright of Park Rapids, and the case then went to the supreme court, which reversed the decision of Judge Wright and ordered a new trial.

Brainerd.—Willard H. Cloud, president of the First State bank of Pequot, was taken into custody charged with appropriating $3,000 of the funds of the bank. Complaint was made by F. E. Pearson, state superintendent of banks. Cloud waived examination and was held to the grand jury. Bail was set at $5,000. The bank was closed July 30. Cloud has deeded to the bank realty and personal property.

Spring Grove. — Twenty-one young men here have answered the government's call for war workers. They have gone to Minneapolis, where they will work in munition factories.

Dorothy's Bad Manners.

My little niece, Margaret, had been promised a party. The time came for distributing the invitations and I went with Margaret. When we came to Dorothy's house I said: "I'll stay out here while you take Dorothy's invitation in to her."

When she came out I said: "Did you give Dorothy her invitation?"

"Yes," said Margaret, "and I told her, 'you're welcome,' and she didn't even say 'thank you.'"—Chicago Tribune.

MADE MARCHING MEN SMILE

Appeal of Groups of Parisian Midinettes Got Desired Results From Passing British Soldiers.

The Paris Figaro recounts the following picturesque episode at a review recently, which admirably expressed the enthusiastic admiration of the Parisian crowd for the British soldiers. The latter marched past, stern and impassive. Groups of midinettes observed that the soldiers were not smiling. "Smile, please, smile," they cried in French. The men did not falter, but continued to march, grave and meditative, because they did not understand. "Cry 'Smile' to them," a linguist in the crowd suggested, whereupon the group of midinettes cried in English, "Smile, please, smile." And then the British smiled, to the great delight of the girls.

L'Oeuvre writes: "We may say without hesitation, because we know we shall be understood by our incomparable Poilus, that it was the British troops, and especially the Scotch, who produced the greatest impression."

Test of Temper.

"Isn't it rather hard to be an optimist and a commuter at the same time?"

"It takes patience and perseverance," said the suburbanite. "I commuted nearly ten years before I got so I could maintain my equanimity when other passengers read the headlines in my newspaper and then fell to arguing about what they had read."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Need Help to Pass the Crisis Safely—Proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Can be Relied Upon.

Urbana, Ill.—"During Change of Life, in addition to its annoying symptoms, I had an attack of grippe which lasted all winter and left me in a weakened condition. I felt at times that I would never be well again. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it did for women passing through the Change of Life, so I told my doctor I would try it. I soon began to gain in strength and the annoying symptoms disappeared and your Vegetable Compound has made me a well, strong woman so I do all my own housework. I cannot recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly to women passing through the Change of Life."—Mrs. FRANK HENSON, 1316 S. Orchade St., Urbana, Ill.

Women who suffer from nervousness, "heat flashes," backache, headaches and "the blues" should try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT. EDITOR
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUB.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

$1.00 a year, in advance.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879

A new party usually takes the position that any official elected by the older parties should be retired from office. We consider this a mistaken idea. Take our present Congressman Steenerson for instance. It would be an absolute impossibility to find a man that has labored more earnestly in Congress for the advancement of the best interests of the farmers of this District than he has, and he has the ability to accomplish what he sees is for our best interest. Granting that the Non-partisan League would place a man in his place that would work and serve the best interests of the farmers, it would take him from two to four years to get acquainted so that he would have the influence that Congressman Steenerson has, We watch the actions of both the members of the Legislature and Congress, and when we see a member of either body that is not working for the best interest of the common people we believe in hitting him on the head with a vote club that will put him out of business. But as long as Congressman Steenerson keeps up his present record in Congress, in the interest of the Northwestern farmers, we will make an aggressive fight against his retirement, without regard to the name or color of the party that would try to defeat him.

We regret that the Goodridge Banner has suspended publication. This is a serious loss to that village, that they will not realize for some time to come, as it is a case of not missing the water until the well goes dry. As we have had some experience in publishing a newspaper in a village, we know that when the paper comes out regularly that the business men soon begin to think that all the support they give it is an act of charity. As a newspaper can not live on charity, they must of a necessity die. But it seems that Goodridge will have to go through the same experience that Oklee did, let one or two newspaper publishers starve out before they wake up to the fact that a newspaper is a necessity for a village and give it proper support.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of six Dollars which became due on the first day of December, 1910, and is due and claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Ole K. Homme, unmarried, mortgagor, to The Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Oklee, Minnesota, a corporation, mortgagee, bearing date the 1st day of December, 1913 which mortgage with the power of sale therein contained, was filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Pennington County, State of Minnesota, on the 17th day of December 1913, at Eight o'clock A. M. and was there duly recorded in Book 9 of Mortgages on page 614 thereof; and whereas pursuant to the terms and conditions of said mortgage, and by reason of said default, the whole unpaid principal sum of said mortgage to-wit:, the sum of Twenty dollars [$20.00] became at once due and payable, and was and is hereby so declared by said mortgagee and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of Twenty Dollars [$20.00] with interest thereon at Ten per cent per annum since the first day of December, 1919.

And whereas, the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceedings having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage above described will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, to-wit: The North Half of the Northwest Quarter of Section Twenty-two 22, in Township One Hundred Fifty-three 153 North of Range Thirty Nine 39 West of the 5th P. M. in Minnesota, being in the county of Pennington, in said State of Minnesota which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Pennington County, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County and State, on Tuesday the 29th day of October 1918, at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at Public vendue, to pay the said debt and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and an attorney's fee of twenty-five Dollars as stipulated in and by said mortgage, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of said sale as provided by law.

D'Annunzio's Real Name.

"D'Annunzio" of Italy was once denounced as a decadent scribbler of flowery and fragrant phrases. The war, however, made him a verile and statesmanlike patriot. During the latest fighting on Carso plateau he has fought hand to hand with his country's enemies. By the way, "Gabriele d'Annunzio" is a pen name. The author's real name is Gaetano Rapagnetto.

Mrs. Styles—You have a wonderful memory for dress, dear.

Mr. Styles—Well, I've seen a lot of it.

"You always seem to remember what I have worn. Do you recall what I had on the night you proposed marriage to me?"

"Why, yes; you had a sort of a foolish look on your face."

An Exerciser.

"Do you take exercise regularly?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Chuggins. "I crank the old flivver three or four times daily and repair a tire at least twice a week."

INTERNATIONAL FRIENDS.

This jolly Marine from North Dakota loves these two French kiddies because they remind him of some he left at home; they love him because he is kind to them, laughs and is big and strong. Instinctively they know he is fighting their battles. These are the kind of American soldiers who will make Germany pay for the outrages she has committed.

QUARTET OF ALLIES FOR LIBERTY.

Complete harmony exists among all branches of the forces fighting civilization's battles in France. The above picture shows an absolutely friendly group and was taken during the Memorial Day celebration in Paris. It is easy to recognize the American, Englishman, Hindu and Frenchman and it is very evident they are friends. [illegible]

A heavy rain and snow storm on Wednesday, will delay shock threshing until next week.

The farmers around Erie were fortunate enough to get most of their threshing done, the past two weeks.

There was a large crowd attended the Sever Nelson Red Cross meeting in Mayfield Township last Sunday. Mr. Nelson has two sons in the army.

The farmers were trying to get the Indians camped in southern Kratka to help them thresh. But the Indians had joined the I.W.W's and wanted $1.00 an hour. The squaws are all busy digging snake root and the Bucks are playing poker.

The farmers who had his farm machinery before the present high prices came in is fortunate, as he certainly will need $2.00 a bushel for wheat if he has to buy much machinery at present prices

The farmers of southern Kratka have been thrashing the past week, and are reporting big yields of grain.

The Halvorson and Clementson Thrashing machine is doing shock thrashing in the Highlanding neighborhood this week.

Jack Frost did some injury to late sown flax in this locality.

Henry Bost had the misfortune to fall off of a load of hay on Tuesday afternoon, and although no bones were broken the jar will lay him up for a few days.

Shorts has been reduced one fourth in price since the new crop of oats came in, with wheat at the same price. This is a sure indication that the big milling interests took prompt advantage of the farmers short feed crop last year to "soak" them for ten dollars a ton clean profit on shorts, that they knew the farmers must buy for feed.

We got some benefit out of the flour restriction this summer. Our pet dog Sunbeam was in the habit of laying around the office, until he got so fat, that he was of no use to assist to drive stock. After the many substitutes for wheat bread began to be used my wife made the dog live on substitutes, and to our surprise this week, he was as sprightly to chase the cattle as he was five years ago, and seemed to have as good wind. There was one substitute that he absolutely refused to eat and that was barley flour bread.

Our mail carrier John Hesby received a card from his brother this week, that he had landed safely in France. He was among the last contingent that went from here, which would indicate that the government is rushing the boys over the ocean as fast as possible.

We wonder if Germany and Austria are of the opinion that the people of this great nation elected a whiffler for President. If they are they will find out their mistake a little later. President Wilson stated his terms of Peace to them last winter and he has this nation solid behind him to make his word good. To say nothing about our allies, in a war between Germany and America, there is no question as to which will win. America is slow to anger, but when they get warmed up they can and will fight.

CAUSE AND CURE OF CRAMPS

Too High Blood Pressure Frequently Brings Them On—Removed by Vigorous Rubbing.

In this article we shall discuss only the local muscular spasms that affect most commonly the calves of the legs, but that sometimes occur in the thighs, the arms or the wall of the abdomen. Internal cramps, or colic, swimmer's cramp and writer's cramp are affections of an entirely different nature.

A cramp, in this restricted sense, is a sudden, painful and very strong contraction of a small part of a muscle; it does not usually cause any movement in the affected limb, for to do that a contraction of nearly the entire muscle is necessary, and then we have what is called a spasm, or a convulsion.

The contraction is involuntary, although persons who are subject to cramps sometimes bring them on by a voluntary movement, such as stretching. The early-morning cramp is often brought on by the stretching to which one is prone on awaking. Very commonly the cramp comes on during sleep, and the intense pain awakens the sufferer with a start. The affected part of the muscle forms a hard knot, and if a large part of the muscle is involved the limb may be drawn up.

Children and the aged suffer more often with cramps than do persons in middle life. In children the cause is usually violent exercise, such as running and jumping, but in the elderly a tendency to cramps is often caused by incipient hardening of the arteries. When the blood pressure is high, cramps often occur, but they cease to trouble if the pressure is reduced. Persons who are rheumatic and gouty are especially liable to be attacked by cramps—very likely because hardening of the arteries accompanies their constitutional disposition.

The treatment of a single cramp of the calf is very simple: stand on tiptoe in such a way as to stretch the calf muscle and at the same time rub the place where the contraction has occurred. That will put an end to the attack promptly. If the attacks recur frequently, there is probably some constitutional fault that needs correction, and the sufferer should consult his physician.—Youth's Companion.

Birds Finally Agreed.

A family of robins and a family of bluebirds are occupying the same house, something quite unusual in bird lore, E. M. Cashman, caretaker of the Altoona (Pa.) reservoir, has reported.

Mr. Cashman has erected a number of bird boxes on the watershed and he watches over his charges lovingly. When Papa and Mamma Bluebird came north this spring they were horrified to find their usual cozy birdbox was occupied. That is, a pair of robins, arriving a week earlier, had started to build a nest on the tiny porch of the house. A wordy battle started, which lasted for several days. The bluebirds wanted the robins to move. The robins maintained their position. And then, quite suddenly, hostilities ceased. Investigating, Mr. Cashman found the bluebirds were building a nest inside the box, while the robins made themselves comfortable on the porch. Then both mothers [illegible]

"DON'T IT JEST BEAT ALL!"

Colonel's Orderly Has an Altogether Unflattering Opinion of French Intelligence.

Red, the colonel's orderly, stood in the doorway picking his teeth. Red is six feet two inches tall, and disproportionately narrow. He is a member of a regiment recruited in the Middle West, but he hails from the Panhandle of Texas, and betrays the fact every time he opens his mouth. At the moment of our approach he was addressing an unseen and presumably a sympathetic listener beyond the threshold:

"Me, I'm plum outdone with these here French people," I heard him drawl. "Here we've been camped amongst 'em fer goin' on four months and they ain't learnt English yet. You'd think they'd want to know how to talk to people in a reg'lar honest-to-God language—but no, seems like they don't. I'd be ashamed to be so ignorant and show it. Course, onct in a while you do run acrost one of 'em that's picked up a word here and there, but that's about all. Well, there's a case in p'int. She was bright enough lookin', but she was like all the rest—it seemed like she jest couldn't pick up enough reg'lar words to help her git around. Ef I went in her place and asked her fer sardines she'd know whut I meant right off and hand 'em over, but ef I wanted some cheese she didn't have no idea whut I was talkin' about. Don't it jest beat all?"—Irvin S. Cobb in the Saturday Evening Post.

Conserve Surplus Food.

Increased planting of vegetables this year almost certainly will mean an unprecedented yield of all kinds of fresh vegetables.

This will mean plentiful supplies for summer tables and a large surplus.

This surplus, to be useful to America, must be conserved.

It must be canned, dried, brined or stored in the homes of America.

Home conserved food means that the nation will be more nearly self-sustaining and that the burden on transportation will be lightened.

Women who have never canned should now learn how; women who know how should prepare to do more.—United States Department of Agriculture.

MANY USES FOR SANDBAG

Soldiers Employ It in a Number of Ways Besides What It Is Officially Intended For.

The sandbag is one of the most useful pieces of military equipment found anywhere and the soldier puts it to manifold uses. Their official use, of course, is to be filled with sand or clay and built into ramparts, barricades and trenches. Their unofficial uses are legion.

The infantryman always uses a sandbag for carrying and storing his rations, for patching and re-enforcing his clothing, for lining and curtaining his dugout, for muffling mallets and stakes when putting up wire in No Man's Land. They make excellent galters, being tied on over the puttees as a further protection against mud and damp. They make cozy mufflers in bad weather. They are used to cover shrapnel helmets to prevent reflection, and they are frequently in demand for rifle covers.

Many soldiers always pull two sandbags over their feet and legs when going to bed in billets; in other words, the sandbag is Tommy's pajamas. The warmth and comfort of a burlap sandbag when pulled over chilled feet is astonishing.

The postman's mailbag at the front is nothing more than an empty sandbag, and the water carriers also use two sandbags, slung back and front over the shoulder, each containing a petrol tin full of water.

"The war will be over," a soldier wit once said, "when all of Belgium and France has been put into sandbags."

Beavers Teach Engineers.

A group of Uncle Sam's army engineers received an unexpected lesson in engineering at Bronx park. They learned in the space of one hour how to repair a broken dam and prevent a disastrous flood. Their instructors were nine beavers, who were romping in the water of the pond. Above them was a dam 200 feet long and several feet high. Suddenly came a rush of water. The swollen stream broke into a torrent. Old man Beaver appealed to his offspring and the eight sprang after him. They seized pieces of timber, earth, rocks and sod. They worked with feverish haste. Stone by stone and timber by timber the water was slowly held back. One hour after the water broke the dam was repaired. "If we can hold the Huns like those chaps stopped that flood of water the war will be over in six months," commented one of the officers. "I reckon science hasn't taught us so much, after all," said a bystander. "Those beavers know more about their specialty than we do about war or building canals."—New York Tribune.

Could Not Save Comrade.

A fruitless but daring attempt to rescue a man under the most unfavorable conditions was recently made by William R. Ransford, a seaman of the national naval volunteers, and Allen J. Jackson, a wardroom cook. The man lost was a seaman named W. A. Wells. He slipped and fell overboard from the forward turret of the U. S. S. Iowa. It was cold weather and the water was full of floating ice. Nevertheless Ransford and Jackson went overboard after the man, but were too late to save him from drowning.

It was hard for me to walk up stairs or stoop, and to move while lying down sent darts of pain through me.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Catarrhal Deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing may be destroyed forever. Many cases of Deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the Mucous Surfaces.

WITHIN RANGE OF BIG METZ GUNS

American Troops Are Under Fire of Artillery in the German Fortress.

PERSHING MOVES ON

Yankees Advance From Two to Three Miles On Thirty-three Mile Front and Have Taken 15,000 Prisoners.

London, Sept. 16.—The American troops are making fine progress. They have advanced from two to three miles on a 33 mile front and are under fire from the guns of Metz fortress.

The enemy appears to be withdrawing to some further line which will protect the railway communications in the vicinity of Metz, which at present are under the long range fire of the Americans.

Patrols Far In Advance.

American patrols are advancing at various points a couple of miles beyond the general advances.

The American line runs through Norroy, on the Moselle, Haumont, Doncourt and to Abaucourt, on the old line.

The French struck a new blow north of Soissons. Laffaux mill, a strategical point of vital importance to the Germans was carried early in the attack. The Allies are rapidly gaining ground along the Soissons-Maubeuge forcing a new wedge into and capturing many trenches in the Hindenburg line.

Maisseny Captured.

The British captured the village of Maisseny, northwest of St. Quentin.

It has been discovered that there were six German divisions operating in the St. Mihiel salient. That would give a total strength of 60,000 men, or a rifle strength of 36,000. The Germans had broken up for them two more divisions in this action, thus reducing their strength in the West to 191 divisions, plus four Austrian divisions and some dismounted cavalry.

Seventy-two More Guns Taken.

Washington, Sept. 16.—The American line on the left bank of the Moselle river, in the St. Mihiel sector, has been advanced from one to two miles and now includes the towns of Vilcey and Norroy, General Pershing said in his communique for today, received tonight at the War department. An enemy counter attack, launched near St. Hilaire at daybreak today, was easily repulsed and a number of prisoners taken.

Seventy-two guns abandoned by the enemy "in his hasty retreat" were brought in during the normal extension of the American lines beyond Jaulny, General Pershing said. This brought the total number of guns captured since the Americans started the drive which wiped out the St. Mihiel salient to more than 200.

15,000 Prisoners Counted.

In wiping out the St. Mihiel salient in 27 hours, American troops, supported by French divisions, captured 15,000 prisoners, more than 200 guns of all calibers, hundreds of machine guns and trench mortars. This was disclosed by General Pershing's communiques for yesterday and today, received tonight by the War department.

The enemy was pressed so hard, General Pershing said, that he was forced to abandon great quantities of ammuntion, telegraph and railroad materials, rolling stock, clothing and equipment. In addition he burned large stores.

LAND 46,000 IN SINGLE DAY

American Troops Are Being Sent Rapidly to France.

Washington, Sept. 16.—Speaking of the enlarged American program and illustrating what has already been accomplished, at his weekly conference, General March read a cablegram received from a debarkation port in France.

It showed that 35,000 men had landed in one morning and that 11,000 more were put ashore the same day. Fifteen ships had entered the port on the same morning, of which twelve were to be unloaded and ready to return within twenty-four hours.

SUPPORTS CAPTURED NURSES

Red Cross Will Take Care of Those in Enemy's Hands.

Washington, Sept. 16.—American nurses captured by the enemy will be supported during captivity by the American Red Cross, it was announced at headquarters of the organization here.

This decision was reached, it was stated, after the War department's announcement that under the law army nurses, if captured, could not be paid because technically they are not on duty.

Congressmen Are Exempt.

Washington, Sept. 16.—The impression prevalent in many quarters that members of Congress are subject to draft was removed by a ruling of General Crowder read to the House. Congressmen, General Crowder's letter stated, are absolutely and peremptorily exempt by statute from the draft law and cannot waive exemption. He added, however, that upon resignation from Congress members would automatically become subject to the draft, if within the age limits, and this was greeted with laughter and cheers.

LEADERS OF ALLIED FORCES IN VLADIVOSTOK

This interesting picture, taken in front of the Czecho-Slovak headquarters in Vladivostok, shows some of the leaders of the allied military and naval forces who have undertaken the task of freeing Sibera and Russia from the yoke of the bolsheviki. On the right is Colonel Ward, commander of the British battalion, and scattered through the picture are Japanese army and navy officers, Czecho-Slovak officers, an American naval officer and others of the allies.

FALLS ON DEAF EARS

Indications Are Allies Will Refuse Austrian Proposal.

Peace Conference Is Looked Upon As Cry From Germany for Good Terms.

Washington, Sept. 16.—Germany's latest peace feeler, advanced through Austria, it was officially stated, best finds its answer in President Wilson's Baltimore speech delivered last April. "Force, force to the utmost, force without stint or limit, the righteous and triumphant force which shall make right the law of the world, and cast every selfish dominion down in the dust."

That was the President's answer then, and it was reiterated, it is his answer now.

No one doubts that it is the answer of all the triumphant Allies.

Official Note Not Received.

While Austria's proposal, reported from Amsterdam, had not reached Washington in official form, it is expected hourly through some neutral—possibly Sweden—and in it is recognized the long heralded peace offensive upon which Germany is counting to arouse enough sentiment for peace among the people of the Allied countries to compel an end of the war on terms which substantially would preserve the Prussian conquest.

The Allied leaders recognize it as the cry of a Germany which knows she is beaten and hopes by negotiation to get the best terms possible.

There will be no round table conference, no sounding out process, such as Germany proposes, and which she hopes will give opportunity probably to deal with her enemies separately.

If any reply at all is made, it will be after an exchange of views between the United States and the other co-belligerents so that a reply for all may be made in one.

BRITISH STEAMER IS SUNK

One Hundred and Eighty-Nine Persons Lose Their Lives.

London, Sept. 16.—Ninety women and children are known to be among 189 missing from the British steamer Galway Castle, sank Friday, two days after it was torpedoed by a German submarine.

Five hundred and fifty persons are believed to have been saved.

Among the missing are 36 naval and military officers and men and 33 of the crew of the vessel.

Difficulty was encountered by attending steams in rescuing the passengers because of a stormy sea which ran high throughout most of the time the vessel floated helpless before she sank.

The passengers included 300 women and children. Bodies of three of the children were brought ashore.

The captain and several of the officers of the Galway Castle are reported to have been still on board the ship when she was last seen and sinking.

According to the Central News account of the sinking, one of the lifeboats was driven by the storm against the ship's propeller and smashed.

PETROGRAD TAKEN, IS REPORT

Falls Into Hands of Anti-Bolsheviki, Dispatches Say.

Paris, Sept. 16.—Dispatches received by English newspapers through Helsingfors announce that Petrograd has been taken by the anti-revolutionists.

Lockhart Is Rearrested.

Stockholm, Sept. 16.—Eleven Englishmen and 11 French citizens have been arrested and imprisoned in the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul in Petrograd, according to apparently reliable information received here from the Russian city. The Englishmen incarcerated include R. H. B. Lockhart, the British consul-general at Moscow, who was condemned to death by the Bolshevik government, but who escaped execution as the result of the intervention of all the neutral diplomatic representatives.

RUSSIAN PEOPLE WERE BETRAYED

United States Officials Publish Actual Proof of Bolshevik Treachery.

PAID IN GERMAN GOLD

Documents Show That Lenine and Trotzky Received $25,000,000 from the German Government as Reward for Their Duplicity.

Washington, Sept. 16.—The United States government, in the first installment of an amazing series of official documents disclosed through the committee on public information, lays before the world proofs removing any doubts that Lenine and Trotzky, the Bolshevik leaders, are paid German agents—if indeed any doubts remain.

Secured in Russia by American agents, these documents not only show how the German government through its imperial bank paid $25,000,000 in gold to Lenine, Trotzky and their immediate associates to betray Russia into deserting her Allies, but give added proofs, if any be necessary, that Germany had perfected her plans for a war of world conquest long before the assassinations at Sarejevo, which, as the world is now convinced, conveniently furnished her pretext.

These documents further show that before the world war was four months old, and more than two years before the United States was drawn into it, Germany already was setting afoot her plans to "mobilize destructive agents and observers" to cause explosions, strikes and outrages in this country, and planned the employment of "anarchists and escaped criminals" for the purpose.

German Staff Planned Details.

Ranking in their sensational nature with the notorious Zimmermann note proposing war with Mexico and Japan on the United States, these documents lay bare a new strata of Prussian intrigue, a new view of the workings of kultur to disrupt the Allies, standing between the world and kaiserism.

They show that the Bolshevik revolution was arranged for by the German great general staff and financed by the German imperial Bank and other German financial institutions.

They show that the treaty of Brest-Litovsk was a betrayal of the Russian people by the German agents, Lenine and Trotzky; that a German-picked commander was chosen to "defend" Petrograd against the Germans; that German officers have been received secretly by the Bolshevik government as military advisers; as spies on the embassies of Russia's allies; as officers in the Russian army, and as directors of the Bolshevik military, foreign and domestic policy. They show, in short, that the present Bolshevik government is not a Russian government at all, but a German government, acting solely in the interests of Germany and betraying the Russian people, as it betrays Russia's natural Allies, for the benefit of the imperial German government alone.

American Airmen Interned.

Paris, Sept. 16.—An American airplane has landed near Fahy, in Switzerland, according to a dispatch to Le Journal from Geneva. The two aviators were interned.

Rev. Jenkin Lloyd Jones Dead.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 16.—Jenkin Lloyd Jones, famed preacher, author and student, died at his summer home at Tower Hill, on the Wisconsin river. He was 74 years old. Death followed an operation. Dr. Jones was born in Wales. He was brought to Wisconsin when one year old. In the Civil war he served as a private and was several times decorated for bravery beyond his post of duty. It was after the war that he attended school and became a Unitarian pastor. His first pulpit was in Winnetka, Ill. [illegible]

LARGE MOTOR CORPS

40,803 Trucks Will Be Furnished Each Army.

War Department Announces Work Will Entail Execution of Plans of Great Size.

Washington, Sept. 16.—The war department announced that the recent creation of the motor transport corps, with personnel and equipment with each American army comprising nearly as many officers and men as were engaged by both sides in the battle of Waterloo, will entail the execution of plans of great size and scope. be 154,747 officers and men, 40,803 motor trucks, 24,250 motorcycles, 7,905 passenger-carrying motor cars and 6,598 ambulances. By the time the United States has 4,000,000 men in France, nearly half a million of them will be engaged in motor transport work.

The value of the truck in facilitating the movement of troops and supplies has been amply demonstrated, the announcement stated.

The motor truck saved Verdun, the department said. Its value also was shown at the Marne and elsewhere.

TWO AVIATORS ARE KILLED

Airplane Crashes to Earth During Spin at Fort Worth, Tex.

Fort Worth, Sept. 16.—Lieut. C. R. Janes of Chicago was instantly killed and an enlisted man named Lantz fatally injured here when their airplane crashed to earth in a spin. Lantz died shortly after the accident.

Lieutenant Janes was an instructor in the accuracy stage and was classed as one of the cleverest fliers at the local aviation fields.

6,000 MEN FROM WISCONSIN

Call Provides for Their Departure to Waco, Tex., Oct. 7-11.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 16.—Governor E. L. Philipp has received a call for 6,000 men for Waco, Tex., from Wisconsin, entrainment during the five-day period commencing October 7. These men are for general military service. The quota calls for 1,500 from Milwaukee.

BRITISH CASUALTIES 21,756

That Figure Is Reached During the Past Week.

London, Sept. 16.—This week's published British casualties totaled 21,756. They are divided as follows: Killed—Officers, 563; men, 3,512. Wounded—Officers, 1,599; men, 14,380. Missing—Officers, 103; men, 1,599. Total, officers, 2,265; men, 19,491.

SERIOUS RAILWAY DISASTER

Forty Persons Killed in Wreck Near Weesp, Holland.

Amsterdam, Sept. 16.—Forty persons were killed and between 100 and 150 others injured in a railway accident near Weesp, eight miles southeast of Amsterdam. An embankment collapsed owing to recent rains and almost the entire train fell down the steep side.

Grape Shipments Curtailed.

Sacramento, Cal., Sept. 16.—Shipments of California table grapes to Eastern markets will be reduced 50 per cent as a result of the damage from the recent rain, Edgar M. Sheehan, secretary of the state commission of agriculture, said.

Objectors Work on Farms.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Conscientious objectors to military service are helping Uncle Sam win the war by working on Illinois farms, according to a statement here by the State Council of Defense. So far 17 per cent of those so classified have taken up the hoe instead of the rifle and are receiving $30 a month, board, room and clothing. The difference between $30 and the amount paid for their services by farmers will go into the Red Cross fund.

NOW RAISES 600 CHICKENS

After Being Relieved of Organic Trouble by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Oregon, Ill.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for an organic trouble which pulled me down until I could not put my foot to the floor and could scarcely do my work, and as I live on a small farm and raise six hundred chickens every year it made it very hard for me.

"I saw the Compound advertised in our paper, and tried it. It has restored my health so I can do all my work and I am so grateful that I am recommending it to my friends."—Mrs. D. M. ALTERS, R. R. 4, Oregon, Ill.

Only women who have suffered the tortures of such troubles and have dragged along from day to day can realize the relief which this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, brought to Mrs. Alters.

Women everywhere in Mrs. Alters' condition should profit by her recommendation, and if there are any complications write Lydia E. Pinkham's Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of their 40 years experience is at your service.

YES, SHE HAD EVERYTHING!

Really No Excuse for Mr. Jones Getting Mad Because Wife Had Forgotten a Few Trifles.

"Don't forget anything this time," said Jones to his wife as they started for the theater. "It's late now, and we've not a minute to lose."

"Yes, dear," she replied, sweetly, "I have everything, I'm sure."

When they got to the corner she said:

"There, dear; now don't get cross, but I have forgotten my bag, and I really must have it. Would you run back for it? It's on the dressing table, I think, or in one of the drawers. And my handkerchief, dear; I left it on the mantelpiece, or else on the chest of drawers. And while you're there, dear, would you mind bringing me the letters I left on my table? One of them really must be posted tonight. I'm so sorry I forgot them; and—wait a minute, dearest, I forgot my goloshes, and it's really too damp to go without them. You'd better bring an umbrella, too, it looks so unsettled, and would you mind looking in the hall for my—Henry, if you can't do a little kindness for your own wife without looking so cross you may stay here and I'll go back myself."

When a widower begins to tell his troubles to a widow she knows he is going to ask her to share them.

I'LL TAKE POSTUM!

News of the State

Condensed for Busy Folks

Pillager.—The Pillager Cass county fair is to be held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 19, 20 and 21.

St. Cloud.—While farmers in this locality did not seem to have great difficulty in harvesting their crops, labor now seems to be scarce for threshing rigs.

Crookston.—Rev. J. O. Ensrud, who for three years was pastor of the Lutheran Synod church of this city, has been appointed chaplain of the naval training school at Great Lakes, Ill.

St. Cloud.—Sheriff Schoener took Norman Johnson and Henry Blaisdell to Fort Snelling to be inducted into the service immediately. These two men were picked up in the slacker raid here.

Brainerd.—The Brainerd Co-operative Creamery building has been completed, machinery is being installed and it is expected the creamery will be opened in ten days, which will be made the occasion of a farmers' rally here.

St. Joseph.—Chris Stich's threshing outfit, working at the Fred Schroeder farm, near here, is operated by women, with the exception of the engineer and separator man. The only other job on the machine which is not being filled by women is that of stacker. The women even have charge of the bagging of grain.

Stillwater.—"The Twin City Forge & Foundry company has received an order from the United States government to machine 375,000 additional 155 m.m. shells of 6.1 inches in size. This in addition to government orders already on hand gives us a contract for 600,000 shells," said President George H. Atwood of the company.

Tyler.—A plan for the resumption of retail business at Tyler, which was visited by a disastrous tornado on the night of August 21, has been approved by the business men and work has been commenced on a community store building. Each business firm will be given space in the new building. The three banks have already opened for business.

Minneapolis.—Increases over last year, 9,593,000 bushels in corn and 5,892,000 bushels in spring wheat, are indicated in the latest bulletin on Minnesota's 1918 crop, issued by the Department of Agriculture and based on crop conditions Sept. 1. Speaking generally, the report says: "Perhaps never, or at least not for many years, has Minnesota been blessed with agricultural prosperity as this year."

St. Paul.—The entire draft machinery of the state was turned loose in tracing one soldier's meal ticket with a value of 60 cents. The ticket, No. 2015025, is lost, or at least no record of it is on file in the Adjutant General's office. Local boards were told to search their records for the book containing the missing ticket. The search illustrates the thoroughness with which Uncle Sam keeps track of his property.

C. H. Eckles, of the college of agriculture, University of Missouri, has accepted the position recently vacated by H. H. Kildee, as head of the dairy husbandry division, department of agriculture, University of Minnesota. Professor Eckles has held a leading place among dairy husbandry men in the United States. Professor Eckles is 43 years old. He was born in Marshalltown, Iowa, and is a graduate of Iowa State College, Ames, Iowa, class of 1895.

St. Paul.—The Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission refused to approve telephone installation charges proposed by telephone companies, declaring them excessive and unjustifiable. The commission also forwarded a protest to Postmaster General A. S. Burleson against making the Federal order, which provides for a "readiness to serve" or installation charge of $5 to $15, depending upon the monthly rental of the service required by the subscriber, effective in Minnesota.

The age limit for students entering the school of agriculture, University of Minnesota, has been reduced from 17 to 16 years as a war measure. The reduction in the age limit has been made in order to open the way for more Minnesota boys to make special preparation for farm work, and was brought about by the new army law, cutting the draft age to 18 years. The school will open Oct. 28 for a five months' session. Special courses for shorter periods also will be offered.

"Consumers as well as some dealers seem to have misunderstood the new wheat flour regulations," says A. D. Wilson, Federal food administrator for Minnesota. "The statement that the 50-50 rule for the purchase of substitutes has been changed to an 80-20 rule seems to be the cause for the confusion. Many persons believe that they can now buy five pounds of standard wheat flour with every one pound of substitutes. This is not the case. The 80-20 rule means four pounds of wheat flour with every one pound of substitutes."

Winona.—E. G. Toan, principal of the Medford, Wis., schools for several years until last spring, now of Dover, Minn., was instantly killed and his wife fatally injured when a Chicago & Northwestern passenger train struck their automobile on a crossing near Dover.

St. Cloud.—Maurice Kohn, a Holdingford merchant, was arrested by State Food Inspector J. A. Anderson on the charge of shipping eggs unfit to use, brought here and fined $100 and $10.75 costs. Kohn blamed employees for not "candling" the eggs properly. [illegible]

MRS. C. W. MILLER

Y. W. C. A. War Work Leader for Sixth District.

Wadena is to be the center of the war work for the Y. W. C. A. for the sixth district and Mrs. C. W. Miller of that city will be the leader. The district includes the counties of Clay, Becker, Hubbard, Cass, Crow Wing, Morrison, Todd, Ottertail and Wilkin. Mrs. Miller is one of the large group of Minnesota women who has enlisted in the war-time services of the Association.

St. Cloud.—The boiler room of the Preiss brewery, located in a building adjoining the brewery, was partially destroyed by fire.

Mankato.—Frank Oranger, a teamster of this city, was struck by an automobile while working on the road south of the city, knocked down and suffered severe bruises and injuries.

Little Falls.—Machine Inspector Morgan has condemned two threshing rigs in Morrison county. One machine was wasting grain and the other had not been repaired to do proper work.

St. Paul.—Dr. Egil Boeckman of St. Paul, son-in-law of the late James J. Hill, has been notified of his appointment as captain in the army medical corps. He will leave in a few days for Camp Grant, Ill., where he has been assigned to duty.

Bongard.—Mrs. J. D. Krause was instantly killed and her husband seriously injured when the automobile in which they were riding overturned. Mr. Krause is not expected to live. He was formerly a member of the house of representatives from Carver county.

Stillwater.—All former records in turning out shells at the Twin City Forge & Foundry company plant here for an eight-hour period were beaten one day recently when 210 first-class shells were turned out by the shell department employes there on what is known as the "daylight" shift.

Red Wing.—Ed Crowley, La Crosse saloonkeeper, riding on the same train from the Twin Cities with some drafted men en route to Camp Grant, passed a bottle of whisky among the boys and was arrested when the train arrived here. As he was intoxicated he was allowed to go on paying a $5 fine.

Bemidji.—Fire originating in the store of Woods & Atwater destroyed the business section of Graceton, a village 12 miles west of Baudette. Besides the Woods & Atwater store, a restaurant and the store of Knutson & Lilua were burned down. The loss exceeds $10,000 and is partly covered by insurance.

Minneapolis.—James Jacobson, 42 years old, formerly a restaurant keeper, shot and killed his housekeeper, Mrs. Alma Smith, at his residence, and then turned the weapon on himself and inflicted two wounds in his head. At the Minneapolis City hospital it was said that his condition is serious and little hope is held out for his recovery.

St. Paul.—Rupert Kinney of Lamoure county, North Dakota, filed in United States district court suit for $50,000 damages on behalf of himself and $30,000 for his wife against 18 residents of Pine county, Minn., for injuries alleged to have been received in a "tar and feather party" at Willow River, Minn., last June. Attorneys for the Nonpartisan league filed the suit.

St. Paul.—The State Public Safety commission has referred to State Auditor Preus without recommendation proposals for the reclamation of state land in northern Minnesota, with a purpose of furnishing farms to returning soldiers. The action was taken in connection with a drainage project in Beltrami county, where much state-owned land is located. Mr. Preus already has advocated that action by the state be deferred until definite plan for application to all states alike is worked out by a federal board.

Thief River Falls.—V. B. Vye, special investigator for the state food administration, has been in Thief River Falls looking into any case of violation of regulations. He found that nothing more serious than minor infractions, caused through a lack of understanding, could be reported.

Bemidji.—A baby daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. H. Mayne Stanton here Aug. 11. Mr. Stanton, at the time of the baby's birth, was at Quantico with the marines, getting ready to go abroad to fight. Mr. Stanton is the son of Judge C. W. Stanton and a well-known newspaper man.

AUSTRIA MAKES MOVE FOR PEACE

Dual Monarchy Asks Warring Nations to Agree On a Conference.

ACTION NOT BINDING

Proposal Suggests That Hostilities Continue While Delegates Discuss Terms—Germany Makes Overtures to Belgium.

Amsterdam, Sept. 16.—The Austro-Hungarian government, in extending invitations to all the belligerent governments to enter into non-binding discussions at some neutral meeting place, stated that the object of the conference would be to seek an exchange of views which would show "whether those pre-requisites exist which would make the speedy inauguration of peace negotiations appear promising."

The Austrian proposal, which is announced in an official communication telegraphed here from Vienna, suggested that there be no interruption of the war, and that the "discussions would go only so far as considered by the participants to offer prospects of success."

The proposal calls for all the belligerents to send delegates for a confidential and unbinding discussion on the basic principles for the conclusion of peace, in a place in a neutral country and at a near date that would yet have to be agreed upon.

Would Exchange Principles.

The proposal says the conference would be one of "delegates who would be charged to make known to one another the conception of their governments regarding those principles and to receive analogous communications, as well as to request and give frank and candid explanations on all those points which need to be precisely defined."

The government announced that a note embodying its suggestions had been addressed to the various belligerent powers and that the Holy See has been apprised of the proposal in a special note. The governments of the neutral states also have been made acquainted with the proposal.

London, Sept. 16.—It is understood that the government has received the Austro-Hungarian peace note and also the proposal, previously referred to, that all the powers should withdraw their troops from the Murman territory.

It is also learned that Germany has made a peace offer to Belgium.

That Belgium shall remain neutral until the end of the war.

That thereafter the entire economic and political independence of Belgium shall be reconstructed.

That the pre-war commercial treaties between Germany and Belgium shall again be put into operation after the war for an indefinite period.

That Belgium shall use her good offices to secure the return of the German colonies.

That the Flemish question shall be considered, and the Flemish minority, which aided the invaders, shall not be penalized.

The proposal contains no word respecting reparation or indemnities, no admission that Germany wronged Belgium.

BAKER RETURNS TO PARIS

Deeply Impressed With Brilliant Work of Americans.

Paris, Sept. 16.—Newton D. Baker, the American secretary of war, returned from the American battle front, where he spent the last two days with the American troops, accompanying them as they marched into St. Mihiel.

As the big army automobile stopped in front of General Pershing's Paris home, the secretary alighted covered with mud from head to foot. He carried his gas mask in one hand and his steel helmet in the other.

While deeply impressed with what he had seen, Secretary Baker spoke in moderation. He was particularly impressed with the splendid spirit and enthusiasm of the American troops.

"The action and all of the circumstances are brilliant," he said, "and justify the hope of a great nation whose armies are engaged.

ADMIRES BOY SCOUTS' WORK

General Pershing Sends Greeting for Aid in War.

New York, Sept. 16.—General Pershing has sent greeting from the American expeditionary forces to "the splendid army of 443,000 American Boy Scouts," it was announced at headquarters of the organization here.

In a letter, the American general expressed appreciation of "all you are doing for our great cause."

Sees Army Bigger Than Anglo-French.

Newcastle, Eng., Sept. 16.—The German people ought to know that if they had dreamed of getting better peace terms from the Entente than those formulated last January they were mistaken, said General Jan Christian Smuts, member of the privy council, in an address on being given the freedom of the city. The American army next year would be bigger than the British and French armies combined, General Smuts declared, and would be employed in a great offensive then.

The Branch House Man

This is one of the Swift & Company Branch House Men.

They are all pretty much alike in the way they feel toward their work—and that is what this ad is about.

They know that most people couldn't get such good meat promptly and in good condition if it weren't for the branch houses of which they are in charge.

They know that the branch house is one of the most important links in the chain of preparing and distributing meat for a nation.

They know that Swift & Company must have its branch houses run at the highest notch of usefulness; that even a Swift & Company branch house won't run itself, and that it is up to the branch house man to run it properly.

Any branch house man who doesn't see his work in this light is transferred to some other place with Swift & Company to which he is better adapted.

They are picked men, these branch house men. Every time you sit down to a steak or chop, or cut of roast, you can give a grateful thought to the whole crew of them.

And remember, in a general way, that everything that makes life smoother and more convenient for you, is the result of the thoughtfulness and effort of a lot of people of whom you have never heard.

NO PEACE WITH PIRATES

No one should be led to believe that the present success of the allies in France is any indication of peace. It might be if we were fighting a civilized nation that used civilized methods, but the present rulers of Germany have known that they do not belong to that class.

All the tales of uncivilized warfare sinks into insignificance compared to them German Pirates. They butchered and mutilated the children of Belgium and France, stole everything that was loose and destroyed any property that they could not steal and carry away. Now when the American Forces are helping France and England to drive them out of France they destroy all the property they can before, they are compelled to vacate it. President Wilson has said that he would never talk peace with the present rulers of Germany and he meant every word he said. As the poor Deluded people of that country seem determined to stick to their Kaiser, the Nation will be exterminated and put out of business as a nation, the same as a pirate sunk and put out of business that is robbing on the high seas. So do not look for any peace for some time, as America is not fighting a war with what we consider a nation but with a gang of cut throat pirates, and they are going to annihilate them and put them out of their murdering and plundering business if it takes ten million men and ten years to do it.

We are not likely to hear of any farmers being fined for hoarding wheat this fall. We rather guess that Minneapolis would like to have the farmers hoard part of their wheat for a few months, until they get over their rush.

Judging from the strong campaign being put up by Wheaton for governor, the chances looks good for the Defeat of Burnquist next November. If the Nonpartisan League "Stick" as solid for David Evans, as they did for Lindbergh, the present governor of Minnesota is due to take a walk out of that Capital building January 1st, and it is our opinion that the League will stand solid for their indorsed Candidate, and the Democrats will not help old Burnquist out of the grave we have got dug for him, as they did in June.

Germany might as well save their wind as to talk peace to America. We don't want Peace, what we want is to clean up Germany right, and America is just beginning to get ready to do it. We don't want any peace talk from old Kaiser Wilhelm. He wanted war, and now America will give him all the war he wants.

Did you notice that you do not read of any more air raids by Germany, on either Paris or London. Nor you don't read of any more of their long range bombardment of Paris. The huns are getting out of range to slaughter any more women and children, but they are still within range of the Doughboys bayonets, and are getting them stuck into them every day. We have often said that them german invader would get out of Belgium with an American bayonet close to their rear. Now the outragers of women and butchers of children are begining to talk peace when they see they are licked to a standstill.

When you hear a man mention peace with Germany under its present rulers, brand him for what he is a traitor to America. Until President Wilson says he is willing to take back his word and talk peace to Kaiser Wilhelm, don't mention peace with Germany, until the german people repudiate their present war lords and place rulers at the head of that government whose word can be depended on. America will not make peace treaties with sea pirate, liars, and thieves, but will keep going after them until they get them.

CITATION FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR ADMINISTRATION.

ESTATE OF Arnt E. Loberg.
STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF PENNINGTON IN PROBATE COURT.
In the Matter of the Estate of Arnt E. Loberg, Decedent.

THE STATE OF MINNESOTA To Kari Branum, Elia Loberg, Ingeberg Williams, Lars Loberg, Ragna Thies, Inga Cobbs, Albert Loberg, Caroline Loberg, Helmer Loberg, and Ole Loberg, all persons interested in the granting of administration of the estate of said decedent:

The petition of Ole Loberg having been filed in this Court, representing that Arnt E. Loberg, then a resident of the County of Pennington State of Minnesota, died intestate on the 14th day of October 1892, and praying that letters of administration of his estate be granted to Ole Loberg, and the Court having fixed the time and place for hearing said petition.

THEREFORE, YOU, AND EACH OF YOU, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court at the Probate Court Rooms, in the City of Thief River Falls, in the County of Pennington State of Minnesota, on the [illegible] day of September 1918, at ten o'clock A. M. why said petition should not be granted.

WITNESS, the Judge of said Court, and the Seal of said Court this 2nd day of September 1918.

Jungle Can Furnish Food.

While the new food campaign was being talked about at Seattle, Randolph L. Summerfield of Singapore, who has lived forty years in the Malay States, arrived on a government mission. He is a civil engineer. "The world's live-stock market has been decimated," said Mr. Summerfield, "but if worst comes to worst and there's a real meat famine, the jungles of the Malay States can supply vast quantities of meats and fats. Our forests are full of monkeys of all kinds. Our streams teem with crocodiles. The huge anaconda snake is numerous and prolific. Monkey meat, cooked French or Spanish style, billed on the menu as veal, would make an epicure yearn for more. There's no disagreeable sentiment about killing a crocodile or the boa constrictor. Portions of the 'croco's' tail are extraordinarily good, and the boa constrictor is a culinary favorite in India. Fried in butter, or certain oils, the boa constrictor is considered a delicacy."—Argonaut.

MENACE TO CAUCASIAN RACE

Practice of Polygamy in the Orient Constitutes Peril Which Must Not Be Underestimated.

The storm center of social reform in Asia for the next quarter of a century is likely to be over the relations of the sexes, writes Tyler Dennett in Asia. If any statement of the menace of polygamy were necessary to bring home to American readers the immediacy of the subject, some recent statements from the editorial columns of the Far Eastern Review would seem to be suitable. The Caucasian population of the world is doubling its number once in a hundred years; the dark-skinned races, which now outnumber the white population two to one, are doubling their numbers every twenty-five years.

At least such is the case in Korea, where the most recent figures are available. The editor of the Far Eastern Review figures out that at the present rate of increase the Caucasian element in the world's population will have shrunk in a hundred years to scarcely 5 per cent. The oriental demands male children, as many of them as he can produce. The editorial in question says: "So long as the oriental man is able to arrogate to himself the right to possess plural wives, just so long will polygamy prevail. But there is a way out and one which is becoming broader and more easy to tread each year. The wife with foreign education is a precious thing in China in the eyes of the returned students, since she is one of a few women of his own race that realizes and understands his peculiar aspirations. She has it in her hands to be the one and only wife, and if the few examples that have come under the writer's notice are any criterion, she will exert that power to the utmost."

TO ADD STRENGTH TO COTTON

Machine Devised by New Jersey Man Is Something for Which the World Has Been Looking.

There is probably no service which subjects cotton fabric to so severe a test as that it has to endure in an automobile tire, says Scientific American. The fabric serves as a reinforcement for the rubber. It is designed to withstand an enormous tensile strength in all directions, imposed by steady pressure of air within the tire, and must also withstand the sudden shocks due to the passage of the wheel over obstructions. At the same time it must be perfectly flexible; for it is flexed constantly as the wheel runs over the ground. The fabric cannot have its strength increased merely by using heavier threads, for this would interfere with its flexibility. It has occurred to an inventor, William G. Trautvetter of Paterson, N. J., that a fabric might be designed in which, in addition to the regular warp and filling, diagonal reinforcing threads might be incorporated. And, starting out with this idea, he has designed a machine which will actually weave such a fabric. Anyone accustomed to handling looms or familiar with the operation of these machines will realize how revolutionary must be a mechanism which will put bias threads into a woven fabric.

Madagascar Graphite.

Production of graphite on the island of Madagascar in 1917 was estimated at 35,000 tons, and exports amounted to 27,838. Shipments to England totaled 15,506, and those to France 17,322 tons. While direct shipments to the United States have not been permitted, it is understood from consular reports that 8,000 tons reached this country from Marseilles in 1917, and a considerable quantity has also been shipped from that port during the present year, principally through a consortium of French firms which, up until now, has controlled the bulk of the output of Madagascar graphite other than that shipped to England. Inasmuch as the French firms belonging to this consortium are represented in Madagascar, it is not unlikely that they will endeavor to control such graphite as may be shipped to the United States direct from the island when restrictions are removed, while it would appear that various independent producers are endeavoring to form direct connections with the American importers.

One morning the pictures were particularly alluring and he was deaf to all importunities to get ready for Sunday school. Finally Uncle Al added to Martin's discomfort by urging the benefits of attending Sunday school, offering as an argument that he had attended until eighteen years old. Whereupon Martin cast a withering glance upon him and said, "I don't see where it did you any good."—Chicago American.

NOVEL PLAN FOR BUYING BONDS

People of Ninth District To Be Given Opportunity to Purchase "Over the Counter"

PATRIOTISM RELIED ON

Personal Solicitation and Salesmanship To Be Almost Entirely Dispensed With—Ninety Per Cent of Counties Adopt Method.

The quality of patriotism is so firmly intrenched in the hearts of the people of the Ninth Federal Reserve District that in nearly ninety per cent of the two hundred and eighty-eight counties constituting this district the people will have the opportunity to step up to the counter and do their bond buying without personal solicitation.

In none of the other Federal Reserve Districts is such a plan being attempted, but the executive committee of the Ninth District feels confident that it is justified in the confidence it is reposing in the people of this district when it invites them to do their own bond buying over the counter, and dispensing thereby almost entirely with personal solicitation and salesmanship.

"Good morning, neighbor. How much money does our Government need from me in this Fourth Liberty Loan?"

That is the question fully a million residents of this Ninth District are expected to ask as they step into their usual polling places or some other centrally located headquarters on the opening of the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign.

And the man behind the counter will say after consulting his card index:

"Well, Mr. Jones, our Government is looking to you this time for a loan of about $1,000."

And the good American purchaser is relied upon to reply:

"All right, neighbor, that sounds like a fair allotment to me. Just hand over the necessary papers and I will sign up."

This method of bond selling is not made compulsory throughout the district, but the district committee, having had considerable experience, and after much consideration decided to recommend "over the counter" sales to all county organizations and nearly ninety per cent of the county chairmen sent in word that they would adopt this plan.

This unique development is regarded as probably the highest compliment that could be paid to the practical patriotism of the people of the Ninth District and is an outgrowth of the individual allotment plan generally practiced in this district in the third Liberty Loan campaign.

When the individual allotment plan first was taken under consideration there were suggestions and insinuations that it savored of coercion but it was put into effect with such care and diplomacy that these insinuations were speedily dissipated as it was seen that the individual allotment plan had had its ambition only that every individual should do his just share, no more, no less. In each community local committees met weeks prior to the actual opening of the third campaign and checked over the residents of their respective communities, seeking to gain an intelligent idea of what each individual in the community should take in bonds as his or her just share.

In some sixteen of the two hundred and eighty-eight counties the local committees went even farther with this plan and instead of merely arming their salesmen with an intelligent idea of the individual's buying power, the committee sent notices to each prospective bond purchaser asking them to call at certain centrally located places at specified times and purchase the amount of bonds alloted to them. This was the first experiment with "over the counter" buying and it was so successful that the executive committee has recommended it generally for the Fourth Campaign.

In Steele county, Minnesota, three thousand, nine hundred and eighty-four out of four thousand persons notified to come in and sign up for their allotments stepped right up to the mark and signed up for their bonds. Of the sixteen who failed to appear some were sick and some were away from home.

LUTHERANS PLEDGE SUPPORT

On his return to Minneapolis last week Dr. H. J. Stub, president of the National Lutheran council, informed A. R. Rogers, Ninth District Liberty Loan Chairman, that the body of which Dr. Stub is president had adopted a resolution at its Chicago conference pledging the unqualified support of the Lutherans to the United States Government in all of its war activities.

The National Lutheran council is composed of synodical presidents, pastors and laymen representing the vast majority of the Lutheran church bodies in the United States and taking in Lutherans of all nationalities, Swedish, German, Norwegian, Danish, Finnish, and all others affiliated with this current church body.

The following is the resolution adopted:

"As loyal citizens we will stand back of our Government not only in promoting the Fourth Liberty Loan but also in supporting our Government in all activities necessary to bring the war to a victorious end and to establish peace on the basis of right and justice to all."

From the Italian front where many American aviators are now serving comes this note:

"Sometimes at night, after dinner, a little music is indulged in as a relaxation. Of course the Italians shine there. Many a pilot or chauffeur in overalls is humming selections from grand opera. Some of the American boys also are good musicians. One especially was a splendid pianist, and would rattle away for an hour at a time selections from Schubert or Mendelssohn's 'Melody in F,' to what seemed almost a sacrilege [illegible] is, only it in ragtime for a change."

Sailoring Is Different.

Sailoring on the briny deep is entirely different than doing the same stunt on land. This was admitted by a landlubber from Pittsburgh, who has just returned from his first voyage with a brand new seasick story. "The first day I was out," said the amateur navigator, "the old tub rolled like a barrel, and before I knew it I was in the throes of mal de mer. The bunch guyed me and told me my job was driving a trolley car instead of sailoring. I had to seek my bunk. I had only been in it a few minutes when the ship's surgeon visited me and callously asked: 'What's the matter?' 'O-o-oh, I'm so sick,' I told him, and I rolled over in agony. 'Come, get up,' he said unfeelingly. 'The ship has been torpedoed and we're sinking.' I fell out of my bunk and scrambled to the deck. The bunch again derided me. Say, have you ever been seasick?"

Admiral Saved Engineer.

A striking feature of the naval side of the war is the number of retired British admirals who have returned to the navy, bringing with them full vigor and the quick determination of the service.

On June 10 of the present year, when an explosion took place on a motor launch, Admiral James Startin, who held the rank of admiral, retired, immediately proceeded alongside and, learning that the engineer was below in the fiercely burning engine room, climbed down the hatch without the slightest hesitation, and, unaided, recovered the engineer's body. For this brave deed King George has approved the award of the Albert medal to Admiral Startin.

President Wilson has his own w of doing things, and he also has very good reason for doing them own way. Not only does that ap to matters of world-wide importar but to trivial things as well.

The village of Goodridge begin to miss their local paper, now that it is gone. If they can get a good man to run the mechanical part we might move THE SUNBEAM up there and allow its rays to shine on them and warm them up this winter.

Now is the critical time of the war. Let us show old Kaiser Wilhelm that we mean business, and are going to back up President Wilson to put that old butcher Kaiser out of business.

There is one fact that the people of Goodridge and Highlanding want to consider. That fact is. That there would have been no grading done on that road in front of the Morgan Vaughn farm, if P.C. Wold had not had opposition for County Commissioner. There is nothing like waking them up to the fact, that there is a god in Israel, and a few people living in the East end of this County.

—MAKE W.S.S. PLEDGES—

Judging from the talk we have heard among the people up this way there is not likely to be any changes made in the offices of County Attorney, Auditor, Judge of Probate, and Sheriff. These officials seems to have given the people satisfactory service and they are not looking for any change in these offices.

MENACE TO CAUCASIAN RACE

Practice of Polygamy in the Orient Constitutes Peril Which Must Not Be Underestimated.

The storm center of social reform in Asia for the next quarter of a century is likely to be over the relations of the sexes, writes Tyler Dennett in Asia. If any statement of the menace of polygamy were necessary to bring home to American readers the immediacy of the subject, some recent statements from the editorial columns of the Far Eastern Review would seem to be suitable. The Caucasian population of the world is doubling its number once in a hundred years; the dark-skinned races, which now outnumber the white population two to one, are doubling their numbers every twenty-five years.

At least such is the case in Korea, where the most recent figures are available. The editor of the Far Eastern Review figures out that at the present rate of increase the Caucasian element in the world's population will have shrunk in a hundred years to scarcely 5 per cent. The oriental demands male children, as many of them as he can produce. The editorial in question says: "So long as the oriental man is able to arrogate to himself the right to possess plural wives, just so long will polygamy prevail. But there is a way out and one which is becoming broader and more easy to tread each year. The wife with foreign education is a precious thing in China in the eyes of the returned students, since she is one of a few women of his own race that realizes and understands his peculiar aspirations. She has it in her hands to be the one and only wife, and if the few examples that have come under the writer's notice are any criterion, she will exert that power to the utmost."

TO ADD STRENGTH TO COTTON

Machine Devised by New Jersey Man Is Something for Which the World Has Been Looking.

There is probably no service which subjects cotton fabric to so severe a test as that it has to endure in an automobile tire, says Scientific American. The fabric serves as a reinforcement for the rubber. It is designed to withstand an enormous tensile strength in all directions, imposed by steady pressure of air within the tire, and must also withstand the sudden shocks due to the passage of the wheel over obstructions. At the same time it must be perfectly flexible; for it is flexed constantly as the wheel runs over the ground. The fabric cannot have its strength increased merely by using heavier threads, for this would interfere with its flexibility. It has occurred to an inventor, William G. Trautvetter of Paterson, N. J., that a fabric might be designed in which, in addition to the regular warp and filling, diagonal reinforcing threads might be incorporated. And, starting out with this idea, he has designed a machine which will actually weave such a fabric. Anyone accustomed to handling looms or familiar with the operation of these machines will realize how revolutionary must be a mechanism which will put bias threads into a woven fabric.

Madagascar Graphite.

Production of graphite on the island of Madagascar in 1917 was estimated at 35,000 tons, and exports amounted to 27,838. Shipments to England totaled 15,506, and those to France 17,322 tons. While direct shipments to the United States have not been permitted, it is understood from consular reports that 8,000 tons reached this country from Marseilles in 1917, and a considerable quantity has also been shipped from that port during the present year, principally through a consortium of French firms which, up until now, has controlled the bulk of the output of Madagascar graphite other than that shipped to England. Inasmuch as the French firms belonging to this consortium are represented in Madagascar, it is not unlikely that they will endeavor to control such graphite as may be shipped to the United States direct from the island when restrictions are removed, while it would appear that various independent producers are endeavoring to form direct connections with the American importers.

Martin likes to go next door every Sunday morning and have his Uncle Al read the "funnies" to him. One morning the pictures were particularly alluring and he was deaf to all importunities to get ready for Sunday school. Finally Uncle Al added to Martin's discomfort by urging the benefits of attending Sunday school, offering as an argument that he had attended until eighteen years old. Whereupon Martin cast a withering glance upon him and said: "I don't see where it did you any good."—Chicago American.

NOVEL PLAN FOR BUYING BONDS

People of Ninth District To Be Given Opportunity to Purchase "Over the Counter"

PATRIOTISM RELIED ON

Personal Solicitation and Salesmanship To Be Almost Entirely Dispensed With—Ninety Per Cent of Counties Adopt Method.

The quality of patriotism is so firmly intrenched in the hearts of the people of the Ninth Federal Reserve District that in nearly ninety per cent of the two hundred and eighty-eight counties constituting this district the people will have the opportunity to step up to the counter and do their bond buying without personal solicitation.

In none of the other Federal Reserve Districts is such a plan being attempted, but the executive committee of the Ninth District feels confident that it is justified in the confidence it is reposing in the people of this district when it invites them to do their own bond buying over the counter, and dispensing thereby almost entirely with personal solicitation and salesmanship.

"Good morning, neighbor. How much money does our Government need from me in this Fourth Liberty Loan?"

That is the question fully a million residents of this Ninth District are expected to ask as they step into their usual polling places or some other centrally located headquarters on the opening of the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign.

And the man behind the counter will say after consulting his card index:

"Well, Mr. Jones, our Government is looking to you this time for a loan of about $1,000."

And the good American purchaser is relied upon to reply:

"All right, neighbor, that sounds like a fair allotment to me. Just hand over the necessary papers and I will sign up."

This method of bond selling is not made compulsory throughout the district, but the district committee, having had considerable experience, and after much consideration decided to recommend "over the counter" sales to all county organizations and nearly ninety per cent of the county chairmen sent in word that they would adopt this plan.

This unique development is regarded as probably the highest compliment that could be paid to the practical patriotism of the people of the Ninth District and is an outgrowth of the individual allotment plan generally practiced in this district in the third Liberty Loan campaign.

When the individual allotment plan first was taken under consideration there were suggestions and insinuations that it savored of coercion but it was put into effect with such care and diplomacy that these insinuations were speedily dissipated as it was seen that the individual allotment plan had had its ambition only that every individual should do his just share, no more, no less. In each community local committees met weeks prior to the actual opening of the third campaign and checked over the residents of their respective communities, seeking to gain an intelligent idea of what each individual in the community should take in bonds as his or her just share.

In some sixteen of the two hundred and eighty-eight counties the local committees went even farther with this plan and instead of merely arming their salesmen with an intelligent idea of the individual's buying power, the committee sent notices to each prospective bond purchaser asking them to call at certain centrally located places at specified times and purchase the amount of bonds alloted to them. This was the first experiment with "over the counter" buying and it was so successful that the executive committee has recommended it generally for the Fourth Campaign.

In Steele county, Minnesota, three thousand, nine hundred and eighty-four out of four thousand persons notified to come in and sign up for their allotments stepped right up to the mark and signed up for their bonds. Of the sixteen who failed to appear some were sick and some were away from home.

LUTHERANS PLEDGE SUPPORT

On his return to Minneapolis last week Dr. H. J. Stub, president of the National Lutheran council, informed A. R. Rogers, Ninth District Liberty Loan Chairman, that the body of which Dr. Stub is president had adopted a resolution at its Chicago conference pledging the unqualified support of the Lutherans to the United States Government in all of its war activities.

The National Lutheran council is composed of synodical presidents, pastors and laymen representing the vast majority of the Lutheran church bodies in the United States and taking in Lutherans of all nationalities, Swedish, German, Norwegian, Danish, Finnish, and all others affiliated with this current church body.

The following is the resolution adopted:

"As loyal citizens we will stand back of our Government not only in promoting the Fourth Liberty Loan but also in supporting our Government in all activities necessary to bring the war to a victorious end and to establish peace on the basis of right and justice to all."

Fireproof Celluloid.

Great interest has been aroused by the announcement that a professor in one of the Japanese universities had invented a successful incombustible substitute for celluloid, to be manufactured from soya bean cake.

The new product has been given the trade name of "Satolite," derived from the name of the inventor, Prof. S. Sato, and a company for its manufacture has been started with a capital of 2,000,000 yen ($1,000,000).

Satolite is described as a galalith made of the glucine of soya bean coagulated by formalin.

Aviators in Italy.

From the Italian front where many American aviators are now serving comes this note:

"Sometimes at night, after dinner, a little music is indulged in as a relaxation. Of course the Italians shine there. Many a pilot or chauffeur in overalls is humming selections from grand opera. Some of the American boys also are good musicians. One especially was a splendid pianist, and would rattle away for an hour at a time selections from Schubert or Mendelssohn's 'Melody in F,' to what seemed almost a sacrilege, that is, play it in ragtime for a change."

Sailoring Is Different.

Sailoring on the briny deep is entirely different than doing the same stunt on land. This was admitted by a landlubber from Pittsburgh, who has just returned from his first voyage with a brand new seasick story. "The first day I was out," said the amateur navigator, "the old tub rolled like a barrel, and before I knew it I was in the throes of mal de mer. The bunch guyed me and told me my job was driving a trolley car instead of sailoring. I had to seek my bunk. I had only been in it a few minutes when the ship's surgeon visited me and callously asked: 'What's the matter?' 'O-o-oh, I'm so sick,' I told him, and I rolled over in agony. 'Come, get up,' he said unfeelingly. 'The ship has been torpedoed and we're sinking.' I fell out of my bunk and scrambled to the deck. The bunch again derided me. Say, have you ever been seasick?"

Admiral Saved Engineer.

A striking feature of the naval side of the war is the number of retired British admirals who have returned to the navy, bringing with them full vigor and the quick determination of the service.

On June 10 of the present year, when an explosion took place on a motor launch, Admiral James Startin, who held the rank of admiral, retired, immediately proceeded alongside and, learning that the engineer was below in the fiercely burning engine room, climbed down the hatch without the slightest hesitation, and unaided, recovered the engineer's body. For this brave deed King George has approved the award of the Albert medal to Admiral Startin.

Why Dread Old Age?

It doesn't matter how old you are if you keep well and active. Lots of folks are younger at 70 than others are at 60. Lame, bent backs; stiff, achy, rheumatic joints; bad eyesight and deafness are too often due to neglected kidney trouble and not to advancing years. Don't let weak kidneys age you. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. They have made life more comfortable for thousands of elderly folks.

A Minnesota Case

Mrs. Christ Johnson, Front St., W. Frazee, Minn., says: "I was suffering from rheumatic pains and my finger joints were so stiff and painful I could not do a thing. Those pains were all through my body and I was laid up in bed for three months. My back was so lame I couldn't raise myself up from the pillows. I had blinding, dizzy spells. My kidneys acted much too often. A druggist advised me to use Doan's Kidney Pills. Six boxes of Doan's entirely rid me of the trouble."

HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing may be destroyed forever. RUSSIAN CRIMES AROUSE NATIONS

Bloody Reign of Terror Results in Horried Protest From the United States.

LANSING SENDS NOTE

Asks Allied and Neutral Governments to Consider Steps for Impressing Upon Bolshevik Murders Must Cease.

Washington, Sept. 23.—The United States government, horrified by the bloody reign of terror in Russia, has called upon all Allied and neutral nations to consider what they may do to impress upon the Bolshevik the aversion with which the civilized world regards their wanton crimes.

By direction of President Wilson, Secretary Lansing dispatched instructions to every American diplomatic representative in the foreign capitals. The action also aligns the United States with that of Great Britain and France, in declaring the Bolsheviki responsible for the murders, crimes and excesses which have shocked the world, out-laws and public enemies.

Whatever action may be decided upon by the nations, separately, or in concert, it is made clear will be quite apart from the prosecution of the war against Germany.

Message to Diplomats.

The message to the diplomats says this government is informed that the peaceable Russian citizens of Petrograd, Moscow and other cities are suffering from an openly avowed campaign of terrorism, that thousands of persons have been shot without even a form of trial, and that ill-administered prisons are filled beyond capacity.

Great Britain and France, having virtually declared the Bolsheviki outlaws, will not be interrogated but have been advised by cable of the action of the American government.

It is made plain that the United States is acting solely in the interest of the Russian people themselves and to aid them in reconstructing their nation upon principles of democracy and self-government.

ONLY PEACE WITH VICTORY

Illinois Governor Declares German Power Must Be Broken.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 23.—Loyalty and war to victory was the keynote sounded by Governor Frank O. Lowden in addressing the Republican state convention here. "We must resist all overtures for a premature peace with as stern and resolute courage as that with which our soldiers are opposing the armies of the Central empires on the battle fronts," said Governor Lowden. "There can be no peace until the power of the military autocracy which rules the Central empire is broken forever."

FRAUD IN ARMY IS CHARGED

Members of Long Island Firm Are Under Arrest.

New York, Sept. 23.—Charged with conspiracy to defraud the government, Morris Rosenwasser and Leo Rosenwasser, president and vice-president of Rosenwasser Brothers, Long Island City, are out on $10,000 bail. They will have a hearing Wednesday. It is alleged they delivered aviators' leather jackets and spiral puttees which were found to be below specifications. The firm had government contracts running into $9,000,000.

Albany, Ga., Sept. 22.—An airplane from Southern field fell near Dawson, Ga., killing the mechanic, Walter Hilton, of California, and badly bruising the pilot, Lieutenant Ming, of Austin, Tex. The lieutenant said he lost control while in a tail spin.

Eight Killed in Hospital.

With the American Army on the Lorraine Front, Sept. 23.—Eight Americans were killed when a clearing hospital was hit by a German shell Wednesday night. The enemy threw a large number of high explosive projectiles into the region of the hospital on two successive nights and finally hit a large tent where gassed patients were confined. A large Red Cross against a field of white had been laid on the ground before the hospital so that it could be observed by German aviators.

URGES RIGID ECONOMY

Food Administrator Says Nation Will Escape Rationing.

Allies and Neutrals Will Need 17,550,000 Tons of Foodstuffs Next Year.

Washington, Sept. 23.—In outlining in a statement issued the food conservation program recommended for the American people during the coming year, Food Administrator Hoover said the United States was prepared to ship 5,730,000 more tons of foodstuffs to its armies and allies than last year, and still have a margin over that amount necessary to maintain health and strength at home.

The great undertaking cannot be accomplished, however, Mr. Hoover emphasized, without due regard to the importance of saving by every person.

With no prospect, as he saw it, of a proper ending of the war before the summer campaign of 1919, the food problem, the food administrator declared, is no small part of the issue.

The Allied civilians and armies, the American armies, the Belgian relief and certain neutrals who are dependent upon the United States, will require 17,550,000 tons of foodstuffs for the year beginning July 1.

There will be no food rationing in this country, so long as the people continue to conserve as in the past, Mr. Hoover said, nor will it be necessary, he hoped, to resort to wheatless and meatless days.

ANARCHY AND MURDER

Riding Against Allied Nationalities Has Taken Place at Various Towns and Some Killings Are Reported.

Peking, Sept. 23.—News has been received here that the German emperor on Sept. 10 issued an order to all Austro-Hungarians and Germans in Russia, saying it was their first duty to join the Russian troops and to oppose Japan and her Allies "who threaten to restore the Eastern front."

Amsterdam, Sept. 23.—According to the Petrograd correspondent of the Hamburg Nachrichten, the Russia people's commissary at Vologda has urged on the people of the entire Vologda province the most ruthless persecution of British, French and American residents.

Rioting against allied nationals has taken place at various towns, the correspondent says, and some Frenchmen and Americans are being murdered.

Finland to Receive Refugees.

Helsingfors, Finland, Sept. 23.—"In view of the condition of anarchy and murder at Petrograd and the defenseless situation of a great part of the population," says an official statement issued here, "Finland's government feels that on purely humanitarian grounds it cannot refuse to permit Russians, English, American and refugees to come to Finland."

The Finnish government, however, the statement says, is compelled by the scarcity of provisions to beg the three Scandinavian countries—Norway, Sweden and Denmark—to help in harboring a portion of the refugees.

Allied Diplomats Take Charge.

Archangel, Sept. 9.—(Delayed.)—As a result of an attempt to overthrow the Tschaikovsky government the Allied diplomatic and military chiefs today assumed temporary directions and established a protectorate in the region near the rear of the Allied front, pending the adjustment of political disputes. This decision followed the arrest of M. Tschaikovsky and all but two members of his government early Thursday by a party of Conservative officers headed by Colonel Tchaplin, the Russian army commander, who sought to establish a new regime.

M. Tschaikovsky and his ministers weer taken on board a ship en route to the Solovetsk monastery from where they were returned by order of the Allied ambassadors with the approval of Consul General Poole. Meanwhile the Allied forces, including the American troops are patrolling the city.

Austria Plans Bosnia Government.

Washington, Sept. 22.—Bosnia, Herzogavina and Croatia are to be formed into a single provincial government under the Austro-Hungarian empire, with Count Tisza, former Hungarian premier, at its head, according to an official dispatch from Switzerland.

Crusade Against Vice.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—The United States navy's vice destroyer was ordered to Chicago to assist in an investigation now proceeding under direction of Commandant W. A. Moffett of the Great Lakes training station. The navy is interested in surroundings of the 40,000 sailors at Great Lakes. Major O. B. Hatch of the marine corps was detailed here by Secretary Daniels, who said Major Hatch had done excellent work in Pensacola, Philadelphia and elsewhere where similar charges have been made.

ENEMY IS WEAKENING

News From All Battle Fronts Enthuses General March.

American Forces in France Are More Than Half as Strong as Whole German Army.

Washington, Sept. 23.—General March, chief of staff, furnished striking proof that the German power is fast crumbling in the announcement was "continuously good" and that 1,750,000 American troops have been embarked for service overseas.

Just six months ago the enemy flung his full military power against the British lines in Picardy in the great drive that was to end the war in a smashing victory. Today he is fighting desperately to hold the tottering Hindenburg line, the defensive system from which he struck that blow and back into which he has been hurled.

Side by side, British, French and American armies have broken definitely the German offensive power, in official opinion here. Already the American forces in France are more than half as strong as the whole German army and the tide of American fighting men toward France is continuing at an even pace.

NO GRAIN FOR NEAR BEER

Food Administration Bans All Sales for Maltsters.

Washington, Sept. 23.—Malting of grain for brewing beer or near beer is prohibited by an order issued by the Food Administration. The order is effective immediately.

Malting for manufacturing yeast, vinegar, breakfast foods, malt extract and other such products will be permitted, the Food administration states, but no grain shall be malted for these purposes until actual sales have been made.

BLAST IN MUNITION PLANT

Austrian Accident Results in 382 Persons Being Killed.

Amsterdam, Sept. 23.—Three hundred and eighty-two persons were killed and many others injured in an explosion in an ammunition factory at Woellersdorf, a town near the Austrian capital, according to the Vienna newspapers.

Fire broke out in the powder room and the terrific heat quickly overcame those in the flame-wrapped building. Most of the victims were girls.

Spanish Influenza Germ Found.

New York, Sept. 23.—Examination of Spanish influenza germs by bacteriologists of the department of health has resulted in the discovery of a new organism, Health Commissioner Copeland announced. Further tests will be made to establish the identity of the organism which it is hoped will throw more light on the nature of the malady and enable physicians to deal with it more effectively. Eighteen new cases of the disease have been located here within the last 24 hours.

IN MISERY FOR YEARS

Mrs. Courtney Tells How She Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Oskaloosa, Iowa.—"For years I was simply in misery from a weakness and awful pains—and nothing seemed to do me any good. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and got relief right away. I can certainly recommend this valuable medicine to other women who suffer, for it has done such good work for me and I know it will help others if they will give it a fair trial."—Mrs. LIZZIE COURTNEY, 108 8th Ave., West, Oskaloosa, Iowa.

Why will women drag along from day to day, year in and year out, suffering such misery as did Mrs. Courtney, when such letters as this are continually being published. Every woman who suffers from displacements, irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, backache, nervousness, or who is passing through the Change of Life should give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial. For special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of its long experience is at your service.

SHOWED HUNTER NEW TRICK

Wily Fox Climbed Tree to Evade Enemies and Finally Made His Escape Uninjured.

One of the slyest foxes that has been liberated by the Speakman hunt in many years led Pennsylvanians a chase recently. The fox kept the huntsmen going for half an hour, when they suddenly lost him. They found a tree under which the hounds were baying and cavorting but despite a diligent search being made, no trace could be found of the fox.

The huntsmen were about to turn back when one of their number happened to cast his eyes up in the tree, and there on one of the limbs sat the wily fox. Recovering from their amazement, straws were drawn to determine who should climb the tree. It fell to the lot of William Speakman. Being an expert climber, Speakman was soon out on the branches, and giving the limb a vigorous shake, Reynard tumbled off.

Although he fell a distance of 30 feet he was not injured in the least. He gave the dogs another lively chase as far as Thomas farm, where he saved his brush by holing.—Philadelphia Record.

After Deep Thought.

A young man had been put on sentry duty for the first time and was stationed near the barracks. It was not long before an officer came along. The young man suddenly forgot the challenge, "Who goes there?" and after a moment of deep thought, thinking he had remembered, called out loudly: "Look what's here!"

BOLSHEVIK RULERS BRIBED BY KAISER

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT EXPOSES THE TREACHERY OF LENINE AND TROTZKY.

FACTS FULLY SUBSTANTIATED

Documents and Photographs Prove Absolutely That Leaders Betrayed Russia — Germany's Plotting Against U. S. in 1914 Also Revealed.

Washington.—Through the committee on public information the United States government has submitted to the world, in a series of official documents, absolute proof that Lenine and Trotzky, the bolshevik leaders, are the paid tools of Germany and betrayed Russia for Hun gold.

Secured in Russia by Edgar G. Sisson, representing the committee (who was in that country during last winter, 1917-18) these documents not only show how the German government through its Imperial bank paid its gold to Lenine, Trotzky, and their immediate associates to betray Russia into deserting her allies, but give added proofs that Germany had perfected her plans for a war of world conquest long before the assassinations at Sarajevo, which conveniently furnished her pretext.

Hun Plots Against America.

These documents further show that before the world war was four months old, and more than two years before the United States was drawn into it (in 1914), Germany already was setting afoot her plans to "mobilize destructive agents and observers" to cause explosions, strikes, and outrages in this country, and planned the employment of "anarchists and escaped criminals" for the purpose.

Almost ranking in their sensational nature with the notorious Zimmerman note proposing war by Mexico and Japan upon the United States, these documents lay bare new strata of Prussian intrigue, a new view of the workings of kultur to disrupt the allies standing between the world and kaiserism. They disclose also a new story of human treachery for gold.

The intrigue appears to have been carried down to the last detail of arrangement with typical German system.

Revolution Staged by Berlin.

Not only do the disclosures prove that Lenine, Trotzky, and their band are paid German agents. They show that the bolshevik revolution, which threw Russia into such orgy of murder and excesses as the world seldom has seen, actually was arranged by the German general staff.

They show how the paid agents of Germany betrayed Russia at the Brest-Litovsk "peace" conference; how German staff officers have been secretly received by the bolsheviki as military advisers; how they have acted as spies upon the embassies of the nations with which Russia was allied or at peace; how they have directed the bolshevik foreign, domestic and economic policy wholly in the interest of Germany, and to the shame and degradation of Russia.

Originals of documents, photographs of originals, and typewritten circulars, some of them marked "very secret" or "private," and many of them bearing the annotations of the bolshevik leaders themselves; some of them containing references to "Comrade Trotzky" or "Comrade Lenine" comprise the record.

Some of the originals, it is shown, although deposited in the archives of the bolsheviki, were required to be returned later to representatives of the German general staff in Petrograd that they might be destroyed.

BELGIUM WILL STAND FIRM

Consul Vermeren Declares His Country Never Will Consider Peace Offers From Germany.

Chicago.—Dr. Cyrille Vermeren, consul for Belgium, said concerning the offer of peace made to his country by Germany:

"Belgium will never consider any peace proposals or offers of any kind from Germany. Just what restitutions Germany must make to Belgium is up to the United States. The government of Belgium is perfectly willing to leave it to Uncle Sam, feeling secure that the United States will demand and obtain for the country that Germany so wantonly and ruthlessly destroyed, justice and fair play. I don't lay a great deal of stress on the sincerity of Austria-Hungary's peace proposal, as that power is entirely dominated and under the influence of Germany. Time will tell, however."

CAN SERVE NATION

Provost Marshal General Makes Appeal to Employers.

In a communication intended for the guidance of employers of labor and other representatives of industry, in the matter of their responsibility in the classification of new registrants under the selective service act, Provost Marshal General Crowder says:

I have noticed, in the general expressions of the public attitude which reach this office, two frequent features which lead me to the present comments. One of these features is the belief that the process of awarding deferred classification to a registrant requires merely the filling out of the questionnaire, and that the selective service boards will perceive the propriety of making the deferment without the assistance furnished by the registrant's formal claim indicating the deferment desired. The other feature is the employer's failure to realize his responsibility to intervene in aiding the board's determination, and therefore to inform himself fully on all the considerations which should affect the decision as to deferment.

1. As to the first mentioned belief, it must be pointed out that if it were universally acted upon, the process of classification would be seriously hampered and delayed. Someone must indicate that the individual case is one which should arrest the special attention of the boards in respect to the registrant's occupational status. The boards do not possess a superhuman omniscience.

Boards Will Make Examination.

The boards will do all that they possibly can, on their own initiative, to reach a just decision by a complete examination of the questionnaire, even where no claim is expressly made. A registrant is therefore at liberty, if he sees fit, to trust to the scrutiny of the boards to discover the necessity for his deferment.

Nevertheless, the boards will welcome and will need all the aid that can be furnished by the indication of a claim made for deferment.

2. Why should the employer, or other third person, in such cases, make the claim? Because the employer in this situation represents the nation, because (in the statutory phrase) "the maintenance of the military establishment or of national interest during the emergency" requires that some well-advised third person should look after that national interest, which the registrant himself may not have sufficiently considered.

It is often forgotten that the selective draft is only one element in the depletion of a particular industry's man-power. A second and large element is found in the voluntary withdrawals for enlistment; how large this is may be seen from the circumstance that the total inductions by draft have reached some 2,000,000, while the total enlistments in army and navy amount to some 1,400,000—nearly three-quarters as many. A third element, very large, but unknown as to its precise extent, has been the transfer of labor power from one industry to another, namely, into the distinctively war industries offering the inducements of higher wages. How relatively small, in actual effect, has been the effect of the selective draft is seen in the fact that, for all the occupations represented in the 8,700,000 classified registrants of January, 1918, the percentage of the entire industrial population represented by the class 1 registrants amounted to only 6 per cent. It ran as low as 3 per cent for some occupations, and correspondingly higher for some other occupations; but the national average was only 6 per cent. Any notably larger depletion in particular industries must therefore have been due, partly to enlistments, and in probably greater degree, to voluntary transfers into other industries.

Must Remember Nation's Needs.

These other influences are therefore to be kept in mind by employers and others, in weighing the question whether the best solution, in the national interest, is to ask for the deferment of individuals or groups of men. Such deferments may assist the immediate situation in the particular establishment; but they merely force the army and the navy to seek elsewhere for the same number of men thus deferred. The quantitative needs of the military forces are known and imperative; and any given quantity of deferments will ultimately have to be made up by the depletion of some other occupation. Thus it becomes the employer's duty to consider these aspects of deferment, in seeking that solution of his own problem which best comports with the national interest.

The keynote of purpose for all of us ought to be, and I am sure will be, that wise and profoundly significant phrase in the act of congress under which we operate, "the maintenance of the military establishment or the effective operation of the military forces or the maintenance of national interest during the emergency."

Would Return It.

It was a very hot day and the kind-hearted iceman had given a little girl a piece of ice. A newsboy asked her for it, but she refused to give it up. "Aw, shucks!" said the boy, "I'll give it back to you—I only want the juice out of it."—Boston Transcript.

NEWS OF STATE TERSELY TOLD

Recent Happenings In Minnesota Given In Brief Items For Busy Readers.

Red Wing.—Charles J. Bryan, 74, a resident of Goodhue county for over sixty years, and for the past five years residing here, is dead.

Mankato.—Clara Cosen, 15, Rochester, was taken from a train by Mankato authorities at the request of the Rochester police, having run away.

St. Peter.—Peter Schaefer, a druggist, was forced to give up 225 pounds of sugar which the food administration found in his home. The sugar was taken to Minneapolis to be sold.

Roseau.—The Farmers' Produce company has negotiated a contract with the Peterson-Biddick company of Wadena, whereby the latter company will finance the purchase of potatoes at Roseau this season.

Fergus Falls.—L. R. Adley, county superintendent of schools, has resigned to accept the superintendency of the city schools at Fairfax, Minn. Miss Hilda Sletted was elected by the county board to succeed him.

Hibbing.—Hibbing Home Guards may vote to become a National Guard company, as the state and Federal government favor a National Guard company, which will make the company liable to service in any part of the state.

Crookston.—C. E. Kiewel bought the interest of E. O. Quenvold in the Crookston Creamery company. The company, of which Mr. Kiewel now holds a half interest, will be entirely reorganized and additional capital added.

International Falls.—A dynamite demonstration was given at the Irwin farm under the supervision of L. Rogen of Wilmington, Del. Mr. Rogen showed the farmers how to blast stumps, break rock and clear land with dynamite.

St. Cloud.—Peter Emmel, for the past fifteen years agent for the Great Northern Express company, has resigned. Mr. Emmel has been agent for the Northern Express company since the two local offices were recently combined under that name.

Brainerd.—War activity and resulting prosperity are reflected in the large Northern Pacific shop pay day the past week, the sum of $85,000 being disbursed Monday, while an amount considerably in excess, representing back pay, was paid out later. Merchants report lively trade resulting.

Minneapolis.—Official statistics received from Washington showed that the internal revenue taxes collected in Minnesota during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1918, increased $51,785,238.39 over the collections during the preceding year. The marked increase is due mainly to the income tax. In 1917 the receipts in Minnesota were $6,432,896.09, while in 1918 they were $58,218,134.48.

Montevideo.—The Eastern Minnesota Teachers' association will hold its annual meeting here Oct. 11 and 12. Among the speakers will be President Marion L. Burton of the University of Minnesota; Henry M. Deutsch of Minneapolis; E. M. Phillips, high school inspector; A. D. Wilson, state food administrator; Mrs. T. G. Winter of the National Council of Defense, and M. J. Dowling of Olivia.

Fergus Falls.—The Otter Tail Power company, which generates power here for thirty-nine cities and villages, has been finding it difficult to maintain full service, on account of the low stage of water in Minnesota streams and has been compelled to use large quantities of coal. As a result, it has asked the cities and villages which it serves for a voluntary increase in rates of 25 per cent.

St. Paul.—Registration of 284,568 Minnesota men between 18 and 21 and 31 and 45 years is officially announced at state draft headquarters. The advance government estimate for the state was 297,430. Draft officials said that supplementary reports undoubtedly will bring the actual registration total to more than 285,000. Figures by local boards will be announced when the final report is forwarded to Washington. The falling off is largely in Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth, and is attributed to heavy volunteer recruiting.

Hibbing.—Hibbing will have the first auto library in the state if present plans go through. The township of Stuntz called for bids for a two-ton auto bus, especially equipped for library purposes. At the present time the library is providing books for some ten or eleven locations within the township but because of the limited number of books which can be carried under present arrangements the library board appealed to the township and the request brought results. The library on wheels will carry 1,000 volumes and will be able to make several locations in a day. The bus will be fitted up with shelves and there will be quarters for the librarian.

Virginia.—The bodies of Norman Cardin, 21, and Garfield Cardin, 17, who were drowned in Little Rice lake, were found about forty feet apart. Their guns were found near the body of Norman. Park, mill and city employes searched for them for two days. Paul Sevenich and Grover Levesque of Virginia saw both men near the lake. Later they noticed the black gauntlets and still later saw the overturned boat, an old one with holes stuffed with handkerchiefs, and the black gauntlets floating on the side. They returned to the sheriff and [illegible] search was made.

St. Cloud.—A home economic association is being organized in St. Cloud and Stearns county.

Moorhead.—Clay county has no county surveyor and no candidate for the position has filed his affidavit with County Auditor A. O. Houglum.

Williams.—The Williams public school had a flag-raising exercise, all the children giving the flag salute as Old Glory was unfurled to the breeze.

Crookston.—The Crookston National Guard is rapidly becoming recruited up to the required strength needed before it can be mustered into state service.

East Grand Forks.—Five of the local business establishments of the city are uniting and forming a new delivery service, calling it the East Side Delivery service.

Minneapolis.—Maj. Ralph R. Adams, United States infantry, has arrived from New York and assumed command of the students' army training corps at the University of Minnesota.

St. Paul.—Ernest Vuercher, Gloster, Minn., who was taken to Bethesda hospital, this city, following a fall from a silo on a farm near Gloster, Minn., died at 3 p. m. yesterday. He had suffered internal injuries.

Crookston.—W. W. Lloyd, district agent here for the Great Northern, resigned to take a St. Paul position. E. O. Fox, formerly cashier, takes Mr. Lloyd's position as depot agent, while Charles Emmerick has been appointed as first cashier.

East Grand Forks.—Postmaster E. A. Buckley of East Grand Forks has tendered his resignation to take effect on Oct. 1. A successor has not yet been named. Mr. Buckley has been appointed cashier of the First State bank of Ardock, N. D.

Little Falls.—Ever since the replacement of the west wing of the dam by a concrete structure, the water power company has contemplated replacing the whole dam in this manner, and it is now given out that work on the west wing will commence in the near future.

Mankato.—While William Parsons of Kasota was motoring into Mankato with his family to attend the county fair, he found a purse in the road containing valuable papers and a note for $1,000 on the Kasota bank, made payable to Nils Johnson of Kasota.

Minneapolis.—Married more than 60 years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Wallin, who had passed the four-score-year mark, are dead in their home here, in which they lived for thirty-six years, their deaths occurring within three days of each other. They were residents of this city for forty years, and had outlived all except three of their ten children.

Fargo.—Fred Milbrath, laborer, wanted at Wadena, Minn., on a charge in connection with the slaying of Albert Mundfrom, Tripoli, Iowa, is said by the sheriff at Wadena to have been driving Mundfrom's auto shortly after the Iowa man's body was found on a road near Wadena. Milbrath was taken to Wadena to face the charge, waiving examination proceedings.

Duluth.—Applications for discharge are piling in on Captains Toutellot and Sherman of D and C companies of the Fourth Minnesota Infantry because of the order which reduces compensation by 50 cents a day. When soldiers were needed to guard Duluth industries the citizens subscribed to a fund to pay the men a bonus. Commissioner McGee claims the bonus was for one year only.

Hibbing.—Many Hibbing families will go without coal unless they turn in their orders at once, according to Deputy Fuel Administrator Cyrus Forsberg. "Coal is coming in regularly but the national fuel administration insists that the people's needs be placed on paper and unless orders are given now to local coal dealers there will be a shortage in many quarters." There is a limited supply of hard coal coming here.

Fergus Falls.—The Otter Tail Power company, which generates power here for 39 cities and villages, has been finding it difficult to maintain full service, on account of the low stage of water in Minnesota streams and has been compelled to use large quantities of coal. As a result, it has asked the cities and villages which it serves for a voluntary increase in rates of 25 per cent. Thus far 31 of the 39 places served have granted the increase.

St. Paul.—While game birds in Minnesota, including both ducks and prairie chickens, are greatly increased this year, the number of hunters is reduced by fully one-half, Carlos Avery, state game and fish commissioner, said yesterday at the opening of the wild fowl hunting season. Hunters are now regulated by both state and federal laws, and also by the international treaty with Canada, which still further protects migratory birds.

St. Paul.—The Minnesota Commission of Public Safety is sending out warnings to settlers, campers, construction crews and to those who have occasion to pass any time in the woods of the danger of forest fires at this time of the year. According to an order issued by the commission, it is unlawful for anyone to kindle or set any fire in grass, stubble, brush, slash or woods or kindle fire, except for domestic or industrial purposes, in any of the northern counties.

St. Paul.—Chicken experts are being sought by the government department of agriculture to cull the flocks of poultry to separate the "slackers" from the layers. The major part of the active work will be confined to about 25 counties in northern Minnesota. The work of instruction in culling the flocks will be conducted through the county agents.

St. Cloud.—Mathew Sand, who had made his home here for the past few weeks, committed suicide by shooting himself in the forehead with a 32-caliber revolver, while in a ravine north of [illegible].

WEAK KIDNEYS MEAN A WEAK BODY

When you're fifty, your body begins to creak a little at the hinges. Motion is more slow and deliberate. "Not so young as I used to be" is a frequent and unwelcome thought. Certain bodily functions upon which good health and good spirits so much depend, are impaired. The weak spot is generally the bladder. Unpleasant symptoms show themselves. Painful and annoying complications in other organs arise. This is particularly true with elderly people. If you only know how, this trouble can be obviated.

For over 200 years GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been relieving the inconvenience and pain due to advancing years. It is a standard, old-time home remedy, and needs no introduction. It is now put up in odorless, tasteless capsules. These are easier and more pleasant to take than the oil in bottles.

Each capsule contains about one dose of five drops. Take them just like you would any pill, with a small swallow of water. They soak into the system and throw off the poisons which are making you old before your time. They will quickly relieve those stiffened joints, that backache, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, gall stones, gravel, "brick dust," etc. They are an effective remedy for all diseases of the bladder, kidney, liver, stomach and allied organs.

GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules cleanse the kidneys and purify the blood. They frequently ward off attacks of the dangerous and fatal diseases of the kidneys. They have a beneficial effect, and often completely cure the diseases of the bodily organs, allied with the bladder and kidneys.

If you are troubled with soreness across the loins or with "simple" aches and pains in the back take warning, it may be the preliminary indications of some dreadful malady which can be warded off or cured if taken in time.

Go to your druggist today and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Money refunded if they do not help you. Three sizes. GOLD MEDAL are the pure, original imported Haarlem Oil Capsules. Accept No Substitutes.—Adv.

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

The thousands of U. S. farmers who have accepted Canada's generous offer to settle on homesteads or buy farm land in her provinces have been well repaid by bountiful crops of wheat and other grains.

Where you can buy good farm land at $15 to $30 per acre—get $2 a bushel for wheat and raise 20 to 45 bushels to the acre you are bound to make money—that's what you can do in Western Canada.

In the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta you can get a

The profiteer doesen't care how many harsh words are said about him or how many denunciatory resolutions are passed by conventions. If he could be reached through his humanity or his regard for the public welfare he wouldn't be a profiteer. It is only when a man steps forward with a program that will improve marketing facilities and eliminate useless middlemen that he sits up and takes notice and sends out his political missionaries begging people not to do anything to "interfere with the winning of the war."

The war aims and policies of President Wilson and the progressive members of his cabinet have won the united support of the masses of the West. The mention of his name never fails to bring wild cheers from the farmer-labor audiences—much more so than comes from the business elements. The people, despite the "kept" press, are coming rapidly to understand the reasons for the attacks upon Baker, Daniels, Creel and others—and they RESENT THEM AS ACTS OF DISLOYALTY.

We wonder if old Kaiser Wilhelm and his gang do not now wish, that they had a few hundred thousand of the best troops of the german army, to resist the invasion of germany, that are buried in France, that they had murdered is their attempt to reach Paris. Germany will now get what they gave poor Belgium and France, an invasion of their Country, by a force of men that will overpower them as bad as they overpowered Belgium, and America will clap their hands and holloa "sickum."

Pollock News give a long list of suspended Newspapers owing to increased cost of productions and we might add increased cost of living. About the only way for a country editor to make both ends meet, is to raise a few hundred bushels of wheat and flax to pay expenses.

Kaiser Wilhelm is reported to be ill. Wait until America get a million or two more men over there and he will have a bad attack of bellyache.

The Burnquist henchmen are starting out with a cry of unpatriotism in their campaign, supported by the St. Paul Dispatch and Pioneer Press.

The St. Paul Dispatch has got a soldier from over there to condemn the Nonpartisan League. But if the Dispatch should publish an article written by one arisen from the Dead the farmers would not believe it. The only ones that take any stock in what the Dispatch says are the middlemen and profiteers.

Mr. P.C. Wold, is devoting lots of time to attending public gatherings, we suppose to explain his noble work as County Commissioner. We are preparing a few nuts for him to crack in the form of actual figures from the Pennington County records. In the meantime, when he is around canvassing he might explain to the tax payers of this District why he voted four thousand dollars of the tax payers money to Doctors to build a hospital in Thief River Falls, without a scratch of a pen to show that Pennington County owns one Dollars interest in said hospital. We understand that he explains this by saying he did not want the County to have any interest in the hospital on account of the expense to keep it up. All right Mr. Wold now you get an appropriation of four thousand dollars for the farmers to buy horses in this District, and we will feed them and work them and let the County own them.

Homme, unmarried, mortgagor, to The Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Oklee, Minnesota, a corporation, mortgagee, bearing date the 1st day of December, 1913, which mortgage with the power of sale therein contained, was filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Pennington County, State of Minnesota on the 17th day of December 1913, at Eight o'clock A. M. and was there duly recorded in Book 9 of Mortgages on page 614 thereof; and whereas pursuant to the terms and conditions of said mortgage, and by reason of said default, the whole unpaid principal sum of said mortgage to-wit: the sum of Twenty dollars [$20.00] became at once due and payable, and was and is hereby so declared by said mortgagee; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of Twenty Dollars [$20.00] with interest thereon at Ten per cent per annum since the first day of December, 1918.

And whereas, the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceedings having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage above described will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, to-wit: The North half of the Northwest Quarter of Section Twenty-two 22 in Township One Hundred Fifty-three 153 North of Range Thirty Nine 39 West of the 5th P. M. Minnesota, being in the county of Pennington, in said State of Minnesota, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Pennington County, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County and State, on Tuesday the 29th day of October 1918, at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at Public vendue, to pay the said debt and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and an attorney's fee of twenty-five Dollars as stipulated in and by said mortgage, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of said sale as provided by law.

TIME TO EXERCISE PATIENCE

Machinery of Business, at Present a Little Out of Order, Will Soon Be Running Smoothly.

Now is the time for all good Americans to be patient. It is true that the times are out of joint. Nothing is done the way it should be done, a plague of incompetence is upon us, there has been a general slowing down in all branches of business and industrial life and a general lowering of the average of social efficiency. But it is the war, and we must have patience. Don't flare up and tell us that it takes ten minutes to get your "party" on the telephone, and then, like as not, it isn't your party at all. You ought to be thankful for any party.

And the elevators! And the clerks! They do not wait on you. You wait on the clerks, oh, so long. And it is going to be worse—for a while. But it is the war, and it is to be expected and we will have to put up with it. Business and industry are in the hands of recruits who have not been to training camp. But they are being trained as fast as possible, and by and by the recruits will be veterans, the times will get back in joint, things will be done the way they should be done, efficiency will again reign, business and industry will be speeded up and all will be well. In the meantime, while the captains of industry are training the rookies and doing their best to get the world running smoothly again, it is up to us to be more patient than we ever were before and smile all the while.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Confession of a Teacher of German.

I began bravely this difficult work of teaching German since 1914, by the hypothesis that the best in Teutonic literature is a revolt against this very militarism we are now fighting, and for a time I deluded myself with the great good that could be accomplished by emphasizing this in such men as Schiller, Lessing and Goethe, as well as in some of the things from such moderns as Wildenbruch and Theodor Sturm. But the newspapers made current events too vital for one to spend his hours shoring up the tottering structure of German popularity. Eighteenth century nobility was overcast by twentieth century inhumanity.—September Atlantic.

Ghosts In Maine.

The most tragic incident of the summer is recorded in the town of North Edgecomb. An elderly couple coming home from church saw two ghosts. The ghosts were flitting without apparent feet or legs through the gloaming and over the grass and through other things. They were dressed, of course, in the conventional white of ghosts and ghostesses. The elderly couple legged it like mad. They fell into a cucumber patch and could not extricate themselves. The old gentleman was rather badly injured. They were rescued by the ghosts, who proved to be a couple of farmerettes in calico overalls.—Lewiston Journal.

Value of Discarded Bones.

The Meat Trade Journal of England says that Birmingham has a way of dealing with old bones which is held up by the national salvage council for imitation in other parts of the country. Butchers who sell bones undertake to buy them back after the housewife has made full use of them, paying the customer half the proceeds of their disposal for national purposes. In this way they are saved to the nation, which is urgently in need of the glycerin they contain, as well as of the phosphates for manure and the valuable pig and poultry foods which can be extracted from them. Housewives are showing themselves eager to respond to the government's appeal for bones.

Omar Repudiated.

"A book of verses underneath the bough," began the man who quotes.

"That's far enough," interrupted Miss Cayenne. "The loaf of bread must be curtailed to limit the wheat consumption. The jug of wine is out of place in a prohibition community, and even as to the book of verses—I'd rather hear somebody read the war news."

Franglais is what you hear where Americans and English men and women without a very good knowledge of their hosts' own speech find themselves at work alongside of French men and French women—soldiers, nurses, relief workers, shopkeepers and all sorts of folk.

American Red Cross workers say that when you gather up several hundred little French babies who have hardly begun to speak any language at all, and several hundred little ones who are speaking the universal and universally incomprehensible language of babyhood the result are one [illegible]

DESPERATE LEAP FOR LIFE

Parachute the Only Hope of Occupants of Observation Balloon Destroyed at the Front.

A British observation balloon, anchored at the western front, had its cables cut by enemy airplanes, and the balloon soared thousands of feet upward into the clouds. A writer in London Mail, who witnessed the incident, describes what followed. From the point where it vanished, he says, we presently saw one small speck, then another, dropping from the clouds. For some hundreds of feet they fell like dead weights, then parachutes opened, and the specks, now revealed as men, were steadied in their earthward course, floating rapidly but safely, to the ground.

After the balloon got free, they had destroyed their papers and instruments, clambered over the side of the basket, and leaped for life into the great void beneath them, trusting that the parachutes strapped round their waists would open when they should.

Think of that desperate spring into the vast, gray vapory nothingness beneath the balloon; the feelings of the men as they made it, uncertain of what would happen; the awful sensation of casting yourself blindly from such an appalling height with the knowledge that only a flimsy piece of material, which might act rightly and might not, intervened between yourself and a crash into the earth many thousands of feet below; the tense strain of the stone-like drop through two hundred feet of the void before the parachute opened, and then the anxious mental query, through the later stages of the descent: "What shall I light upon?"—a matter of supreme consequence that chance governs absolutely. In this case, the men made a safe landing.

SPLENDID WORK OF DIVER

Feat of Underwater Repairing on Wrecked Steamer Is Given High Praise by Shipping Men.

One of the most remarkable feats in the history of American labor, according to Capt. Louis Turner, representing marine underwriters, was the submarine repairing of a steamer salvaged off the California coast by a diver named Theodore Wicks. The success of this man's perilous work made it possible to raise the vessel for further important service in the government's war program, where shipping is so urgently needed.

There were fully 100 patches of temporary nature to be put on the shattered sides of the vessel while it was bumping about on the rocks, making it by all odds the biggest job of the kind ever attempted on the Pacific coast. The biggest patch was ten feet wide and 16 feet long. Three layers of inch plank, with canvas between, were used in patching. This kept the water out while the ship was being pumped.

Large numbers of shipping men visited the dry dock where the ship went after Diver Wick's exploits, and were astonished that it had been possible to salvage the vessel at all. The diver's work is viewed all along the coast as an inspiration to labor in its great task of winning the war.

EXPLORER'S WORK IN AFRICA

Frenchman Sheds Light on Vast Region Hitherto Comparatively Unknown—Needs Railway.

Commandant Tilho, the well-known French explorer of the Sudan, has recently published a report on the results of five years' work during 1912-17 in the hitherto unknown region lying along the frontier between the French Sahara and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan. Tilho was entrusted with the task of pacifying and organizing this region under the French government, and his surveys embrace a stretch of previously unexplored country extending more than 1,100 miles from the center of Tibesti southeast to the vicinity of El Fasher, in Darfur. His cartographic work fills up a large blank in the map of Africa. He urges the need of a railway through this region, for the benefit not only of the world at large, but also of the natives, who are subject to periodical famines. It is stated that from one-half to three-fourths of the inhabitants of northern Wadai died of famine in 1914. One especially interesting result of his investigations is the disproof of the hypothesis, supported by his earlier explorations, that there is a connection between Lake Chad and the Nile river system. Tilho explored the volcanic Emi-Kussi, 11,100 feet in altitude, with an immense crater over seven miles in diameter and 130 feet deep.—Scientific American.

Did you ever talk to a returned American soldier?

If you have, and it so happened that he returned from the battlefields of France by way of the port of New York, it is certain that he has told you about the emotions which stirred him when he caught sight of the Statue of Liberty in the entrance of the port.

This figure has taken on a new significance since the United States went into the struggle for world freedom and you can only know what the Goddess of Liberty means to the wounded soldier returning to America by talking to that soldier.

This picture was posed by Frances Fairchild, a New York girl, in behalf of the Fourth Liberty Loan.

"Now, you see," he said, fingering his models, "you ram a sub like this. Do you want to ask me any questions?"

"Please, sir," piped some son of a sea cook, "what shall I do if I see a submarine?"

The instructor gazed at the man with sparks coming out of his eyes, and the rest of the class thought out all the horrible stories of the punishments Nero inflicted on those who crossed him.

"Do?" roared Capsicum, when he found his voice, "do? man, do? Why, follow the — thing home and take its name and address!"—[illegible]

JUST HOLDING PAL'S PLACE

"Blind" Beggar Gives Somewhat Laughable Reason for His Presence on That Particular Corner.

Professor Walker was standing at the corner of One Hundred and Tenth street and Fifth avenue waiting for a bus, when his attention was attracted by the rattle of a few coppers in a tin cup held by a blind man who was squatted against the park wall, relates the New York Times.

The professor was fumbling for a small coin when the bus swung round the corner and in his hurry to catch it he tossed the penny toward the cup as he turned away. His aim not being good the coin was on its way to the ground when the beggar swung the cup under it with all the skill and dexterity of a ball player.

The professor was so astonished and indignant that he allowed the bus to go and approached the pretended blind man.

"Here," he began, "you are not blind. I saw you catch that penny. You are a fraud."

"Yes, boss," admitted the beggar, "you has it right. I ain't blind myself, but you see this here corner is a good stand and if the blind man that always sits here was to leave it some other blind man would see the place and grab it. So you see, boss, I'm just holding the place for the real blind man. It's his afternoon off. He's gone to the movies."

Too Much to Ask.

"Would you advise a boy to study the classics?"

"Yes, if he has the time. But it seems hard to expect him to take his mind off what's going on right now and go away back to the fall of Troy."

EXPLORER'S WORK IN AFRICA

Frenchman Sheds Light on Vast Region Hitherto Comparatively Unknown—Needs Railway.

Commandant Tilho, the well-known French explorer of the Sudan, has recently published a report on the results of five years' work during 1912-17 in the hitherto unknown region lying along the frontier between the French Sahara and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan. Tilho was entrusted with the task of pacifying and organizing this region under the French government; and his surveys embrace a stretch of previously unexplored country extending more than 1,100 miles from the center of Tibesti southeast to the vicinity of El Fasher, in Darfur. His cartographic work fills up a large blank in the map of Africa. He urges the need of a railway through this region, for the benefit not only of the world at large, but also of the natives, who are subject to periodical famines. It is stated that from one-half to three-fourths of the inhabitants of northern Wadai died of famine in 1914. One especially interesting result of his investigations is the disproof of the hypothesis, supported by his earlier explorations, that there is a connection between Lake Chad and the Nile river system. Tilho explored the volcanic Emi-Kussi, 11,100 feet in altitude, with an immense crater over seven miles in diameter and 130 feet deep.—Scientific American.

Cost of Infectious Diseases.

Scarlet fever, measles and diphtheria cost the people of Chicago $7,562,442 during the course of the year. This huge bill represents so much paid out as the price of carelessness and indifference, for much if not all of this disease might have been prevented by precautions, moralizes the Journal of the American Medical Association urging the dollars and cents value of disease prevention.

Did you ever talk to a returned American soldier?

If you have, and it so happened that he returned from the battlefields of France by way of the port of New York, it is certain that he has told you about the emotions which stirred him when he caught sight of the Statue of Liberty in the entrance of the port.

This figure has taken on a new significance since the United States went into the struggle for world freedom and you can only know what the Goddess of Liberty means to the wounded soldier returning to America by talking to that soldier.

This picture was posed by Frances Fairchild, a New York girl, in behalf of the Fourth Liberty Loan.

Just What to Do.

Commander Capsicum, who looked after the submarine defenses at little Whistleville, had spent the morning instructing the mine-sweeper's crew in their duties.

"Now, you see," he said, fingering his models, "you ram a sub like this. Do you want to ask me any questions?"

"Please, sir," piped some son of a sea cook, "what shall I do if I see a submarine?"

The instructor gazed at the man with sparks coming out of his eyes, and the rest of the class thought out all the horrible stories of the punishments were inflicted on those who crossed him.

"Do," roared Capsicum, when he found his voice, "do, man, do! Why, follow the —— thing home and take its name and address!"—Pearson's Weekly.

D'Annunzio's Real Name.

"D'Annunzio" of Italy was once denounced as a decadent scribbler of flowery and fragrant phrases. The war, however, made him a verile and statesmanlike patriot. During the latest fighting on Carso plateau he has fought hand to hand with his country's enemies. By the way, "Gabriele d'Annunzio" is a pen name. The author's real name is Gaetano Rapagnetto.

Planes Smaller Than Birds.

The smallest British airplanes now being manufactured are actually of less span than the largest birds. The great albatross has been known to measure nearly eighteen feet from wing tip to wing tip. A certain type of "midget" airplane recently exhibited in London is only fifteen feet in width.

JUST HOLDING PAL'S PLACE

"Blind" Beggar Gives Somewhat Laughable Reason for His Presence on That Particular Corner.

Professor Walker was standing at the corner of One Hundred and Tenth street and Fifth avenue waiting for a bus, when his attention was attracted by the rattle of a few coppers in a tin cup held by a blind man who was squatted against the park wall, relates the New York Times.

The professor was fumbling for a small coin when the bus swung round the corner and in his hurry to catch it he tossed the penny toward the cup as he turned away. His aim not being good the coin was on its way to the ground when the beggar swung the cup under it with all the skill and dexterity of a ball player.

The professor was so astonished and indignant that he allowed the bus to go and approached the pretended blind man.

"Here," he began, "you are not blind. I saw you catch that penny. You are a fraud."

"Yes, boss," admitted the beggar, "you has it right. I ain't blind myself, but you see this here corner is a good stand and if the blind man that always sits here was to leave it some other blind man would see the place and grab it. So you see, boss, I'm just holding the place for the real blind man. It's his afternoon off. He's gone to the movies."

Too Much to Ask.

"Would you advise a boy to study the classics?"

"Yes, if he has the time. But it seems hard to expect him to take his mind off what's going on right now and go away back to the fall of Troy."

New Light on Term "O. K."

President Wilson has his own wa of doing things, and he also has very good reason for doing them h own way. Not only does that app to matters of world-wide importan but to trivial things as well.

In signing unofficial documents— official documents he formally writ "Approved"—the president of the Un ed States precedes his signature wi the word "Okeh."

One of his secretaries, sudden realizing the significance of the wor asked the president why he did n write "O. K."

"Because that's wrong," said Wilson.

"Wrong?" echoed the secretar "Isn't it derived from Andrew Jackson's 'Oll Krecht?'"

"No," said Wilson. "'O. K.' is ofte erroneously used for 'Okeh,' which the Choctaw language means, 'It so.'"

Mr. Clayton

C. T. Clayton, 78 N. Broad St., Woodbury, N. J., says: "I had about the worst case of kidney complaint a man could have. My kidneys were in terrible shape. I had sharp, knifelike pains in the small of my back and my back often gave out entirely. I couldn't stoop to lace my shoes. For two years I was in this helpless condition and didn't do a tap of work and no one thought I would ever be able to work again. In fact, I was told I couldn't live six months. But fortunately I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They made me feel better from the first and after taking several boxes, I had better strength and health than ever before. I think Doan's are worth their weight in gold, and I recommend them whenever I hear any one complaining of their kidneys."

Proclamation by the President of the United States of America

Every day the great principles for which we are fighting take fresh hold upon our thought and purpose and make it clearer what the end must be and what we must do to achieve it. We now know more certainly than we ever knew before why free men brought the great nation and government we love into existence, because it grows clearer and clearer what supreme service it is to be America's privilege to render to the world. The anniversary of the discovery of America must therefore have for us in this fateful year a peculiar and thrilling significance. We should make it a day of ardent rededication to the ideals upon which our government is founded and by which our present heroic tasks are inspired.

Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do appoint Saturday, the 12th day of October, 1918, as Liberty day. On that day I request the citizens of every community of the United States, city, town and countryside, to celebrate the discovery of our country in order to stimulate a generous response to the Fourth Liberty Loan. Commemorative addresses, pageants, harvest home festivals, or other demonstrations should be arranged for in every neighborhood under the general direction of the secretary of the treasury and the immediate direction of the Liberty Loan committee, in co-operation with the United States bureau of education and the public school authorities. Let the people's response to the Fourth Liberty Loan express the measure of their devotion to the ideals which have guided the country from its discovery until now, and of their determined purpose to defend them and guarantee their triumph.

For the purpose of participating in Liberty day celebrations all employees of the federal government throughout the country whose services can be spared may be excused on Saturday, the 12th day of October, for the entire day.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done in the District of Columbia this 19th day of September in the year of Our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Eighteen, and of the Independence of the United States of America the One Hundred and Forty-third.

WOODROW WILSON.

By the President:
ROBERT LANSING,
Secretary of State.

REVEALS FOES' DIRE STRAITS

German Poster Reproduced by Bureau of Publicity Proof of Shattered Morale of Enemy.

A poster recently issued by the imperial German government in an effort to belittle the participation of America in the war and thus strengthen the morale of her people form the text of one of the most striking pieces of literature that the bureau of publicity of the war loan organization has prepared for use in the forthcoming Fourth Liberty loan.

The center of the poster is devoted to a drawing showing New York city on one side of the Atlantic and a tremendous explosion on the other side, probably somewhere in France. Two sinking vessels are shown in the lane of travel between New York and France, while in the offing are two U-boats securely afloat. "Opportunity for the German U-boats!" is the catchline for this section of the poster. The lane of travel in which the boats are sinking bears this inscription: "America—Europe. Distance 200 times greater than from England to France mainland." In a corner of this section of the poster are shown the names of Serbia, Montenegro, Italy, Roumania, Russia and Belgium. They are lined up in the order named under another exploding figure representative of the European war, and the names of all the countries except Italy are crossed out, indicating that they have been eliminated from the struggle by the Huns.

The title of the poster is "Can America's Entry Make a decision of the War?" Integral sections of it attempt to convince the reader that America's army cannot take the place of Russia's withdrawn forces, that the United States cannot build enough ships to have any effect on the result of the war, and that the U-boats will destroy virtually all the ships that America can build when those ships attempt to cross the ocean.

Two millions of the booklets have been printed and will be distributed in various parts of the country, particularly in theaters where Liberty Loan speakers take the book as their text.

Every effort is made in the wording and the illustrations of the poster to minimize and ridicule the efforts of the United States in the war. A striking example of this is found in the figure of Uncle Sam, who is pictured as a cadaverous individual, who wears an American flag with nine stars and five stripes around his plug hat and smokes a long-stemmed cob pipe. He also appears to be wearing spats or dancing pumps.

The enormous figure of a Russian soldier is the first object on the poster to strike the eye. He stands with hands in his overcoat pockets indicative of the fact that he is through fighting. Beside him stands Uncle Sam holding a small figure designed to represent the United States army in his right hand; in his left hand Uncle Sam carries a banner which bears the inscription: "America threatens to send transport of one-half million men, but it cannot ship them." Below Uncle Sam are these words: "It is impossible for America to train and fit out in time for the European war a suitable and sufficiently large army and provide it with the necessary reinforcements." The catchline of this section of the poster is "Russia's army of millions could not down Germany," and on the skirt of the Russian soldier's overcoat are printed these words: "Russia used up altogether fifteen million men in vain!"

On the opposite side of the poster is this catchline: "England's sea power and England's merchant marine have not decided the war!" Below this line appears a huge figure intended to represent the English shipping facilities at the outbreak of the war, which bears these words: "England went into the war with twenty million gross registered tons of freight space."

Alongside this figure of a ship is a drawing designed to show Uncle Sam carrying the United States tonnage under his left arm. The caption above Uncle Sam reads: "Can America replace England on sea?" On the ship which Uncle Sam carries is printed this inscription: "Three million gross registry tons," and below that is another inscription which says: "At the beginning of the war America had only a tonnage of three million gross registered tons." Commenting on these statements, the poster further declares "America cannot increase her gross registered tons for 1918 by more than two to two and a half million tons. Our U-boats sink twice as quickly as England and America can build!"

The answer of the publicity bureau to the two sections of the poster referring to the transportation of men and the building of ships follows: "At the moment the bulletin boards of Germany scoffed the possibility of America sending a force to France, there were already more than a million fighting men overseas, and transports, walled about by the American navy defying the cowardly submarines, were bearing every month hundreds of thousands more. The gauge is set and the summer of 1919 will see 4,000,000 fighting American men in France. Nor will there be a lack of ships to transport and sustain them. The Liberty Bond buyer is fast giving to America a merchant marine that will be the peer of any in the world. America launched in July alone 635,011 tons. Losses to allied and neutral shipping combined, from every cause, for the last six months, amounted to 2,089,393 tons.

"The distance from New York to England, the Boche points out," comments the bureau of publicity publication, "is two hundred times greater than that from England to France, from which he spells 'Opportunity for the German U-boats.' Pitiful is this boast in face of the facts. Instead of the U-boat being an unconquerable engine of war, as the Hun confidently expected, it has become the slinking foe of fishing smacks and other isolated craft. The vast army of Liberty Bond buyers, thirty millions strong, has built an unbroken bridge over the Atlantic ocean into the heart of the enemy's strongholds. Across this bridge there are streaming our millions of fighting men, as good as the world has ever known, munitions and equipment that have been wrought by those back home, whose determination is that the American fighting man shall lack nothing that he needs."

As a back-handed slap at the French, the German propagandists have reproduced a French poster which pleads with French people to eat less in order that the United States may send over more man power. The French poster pointed out that if every person in France would save a hundred grams of food a day that the American reinforcements could be increased a division a month. The French catchline on this poster was "Does France want wheat or men?" and the German poster remarks "Also the allies are now beginning to have their doubts!"

In a further effort to convince the German people that it will be impossible for the United States to transport troops to France, the German section of the poster says that ten tons of freight space are required for every soldier in crossing the water. The truth is that a soldier requires less than one-half this amount of space.

Summing up all the falsehoods which the German poster contains, the booklet says: "The War Lord of Germany may have the futile hope that his people will devour in the place of food, such statements as the foregoing. Falsehoods, however, are poor substitutes and are likely to aggravate rather than appease when the deluded people of Germany learn that every requirement of the American soldier will be met by his patriotic and unqualified support back home. If a single soldier required ten tons of freight space, it would be given him. But the truth is he requires less than one-half of that.

"As for Germany's statement that even if the United States built from two and a half million gross registered tons in 1918 it would not mean deliverance for the allies, no further comment is needed than that by July of this year the 2,000,000-ton mark has been passed. If further refutation of the Hun boast of his U-boat prowess were needed, it might be stated that less than 500 American soldiers have lost their lives in the present war as a result of U-boat attacks. [illegible]"

In closing the booklet [illegible] this striking quotation from Secretary McAdoo: "The Fourth Liberty loan is the [illegible] the victorious thrust of our army."

He was visiting in the city and went with an older relative to the city library. The relative, who wished to consult some books in the reference room, decided to leave him to be entertained in the children's room meanwhile. When she returned, she asked the attendant in charge how he had got along and was told, "He's all right now, but at first I couldn't get him to look at a thing." Rather surprised, because he is generally fond of books, she turned to the youngster. "Why, James, didn't you want to look at the pretty books?"

"Aw," he said gruffly, "I didn't know she jus' wanted me to look at them; I thought she wanted to sell me one, and I wasn't going to buy any. I'm saving my money for a soldier's belt!"

Lives 200 Years!

For more than 200 years, Haarlem Oil, the famous national remedy of Holland, has been recognized as an infallible relief from all forms of kidney and bladder disorders. Its very age is proof that it must have unusual merit.

If you are troubled with pains or aches in the back, feel tired in the morning, headaches, indigestion, insomnia, painful or too frequent passage of urine, irritation or stone in the bladder, you will almost certainly find relief in GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. This is the good old remedy that has stood the test for hundreds of years, prepared in the proper quantity and convenient form to take. It is imported direct from Holland laboratories, and you can get it at any drug store. It is a standard, old-time home remedy and needs no introduction. Each capsule contains one dose of five drops and is pleasant and easy to take. They will quickly relieve those stiffened joints, that backache, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, gall stones, gravel, "brick dust," etc. Your money promptly refunded if they do not relieve you. But be sure to get the genuine GOLD MEDAL brand. In boxes, three sizes.—Adv.

Next Day.

It chanced, in the days before the war, that an Englishman in Berlin became acquainted with a young German officer. One day they were lingering over a tete-a-tete luncheon.

The officer got up and said: "I will give you a toast." Raising his well-filled glass, he added: "I drink to 'The Day!'" and there was a smile on his lips which hinted at some hidden jest in the words.

His companion, the Englishman, looked at him quietly.

"Indeed, Herr Lieutenant!" he said: "let me follow your toast with one of my own. Here's to 'The Day After!'"

Electric Pencil.

A new electric pencil for marking or writing on any polished steel or iron surface is operated as readily as an ordinary pencil. A stepdown transformer connects it to a lighting socket, and as the point of the pencil is drawn over the steel, the resistance to the passage of the current develops great heat, etching the surface at the point of contact. A rheostat gives control of the depth of etching.

HIS MEMORY SOMEWHAT HAZY

Seattle Man Not Quite Certain Whether He Had Enlisted, but He Was No Quitter.

Last summer, when every young man's thoughts were on the war, a wealthy lumberman from Seattle arrived in New York on a business trip. His business having been attended to he was a guest at a dinner given one evening by an officer in the United States marine corps. As the hours and the flowing bowl passed, speeches became more and more frequent, everybody was wrought up, and there was no man so base as to say that he would not go to the front for his country.

Early the next morning the Seattle man started back home.

A few days later the officer of marines received this telegram from him:

"Do you think satisfactory arrangements can eventually be made with Germany concerning armament and trade?"

"Well," answered Broncho Bob, "I don't pretend to be any international statesman. But I don't see why Germany couldn't be regulated the same as Cactus Joe. Cactus Joe was an awful worrisome man till we passed an ordinance instructin' the sheriff to shoot on sight if he was caught carryin' a weapon and jailin' any dealer who sold him a stack of poker chips."

Leave to Print.

"What's the objection to my printing what I like in the Congressional Record?" asked the new member of congress.

"You've got to suffer for the general good, son," replied Senator Sorghum, soothingly. "You're liable to slap something in that is so interesting there won't be white paper enough in the country to meet demands for that particular issue."

It's Acid-Stomach That Makes Millions Sick and Suffer

Life is dark—not worth much to the man or woman with an acid-stomach.

Acid-stomach kills Hope, Ambition, Energy, Courage. It saps the strength of the strongest body—impoverishes the blood—causes untold suffering — makes millions weak, unfit and brings on premature old age.

Millions of people are weak and unfit, suffering all the time, in one way or another, from superacidity or acid-stomach.

They don't seem dangerously sick. Just ailing. Going through life weak, listless, dragging one foot after another. They're nervous and irritable; lack power and punch, frequently have severe attacks of blinding, splitting headaches; subject to fits of melancholia and mental depression. And nearly always their stomachs are out of order, even though many experience no actual stomach pains—digestion poor—never getting anywhere near the full strength from their food.

So, you see, it's just this—acid-stomach—that is holding so many people back — sapping up the strength they should get from their food—taking away their vigor and vitality—leaving them weak and inefficient.

Get rid of the excess acid. That is the secret of good health and is the only way to obtain good digestion and assimilation. It is the right way to be well and keep strong. Ordinary medicine won't do any lasting good. The best they can do is to spur up your appetite for awhile.

A modern remedy makes it possible to remove excess acid without the slightest discomfort. It is called EATONIC, in the form of pleasant tasting tablets. Their action in the stomach is a good deal like a piece of blotting paper taking up a drop of ink—they literally absorb the injurious excess acid and carry it away through the intestines.

Begin using EATONIC right now—today—and get on the road to bounding, vigorous, vibrant health. Thousands upon thousands of people who have used EATONIC are enthusiastic in its praise. They say they never dreamed that anything could bring them such quick relief.

EATONIC is fully guaranteed. Your druggist will give you a big box for only 50 cents with the distinct understanding that if you are not pleased in every way, you get your 50 cents back. If you can't get EATONIC where you live, send us your name and address; we will send you a fifty cent box and you can send us the 50c when you get it. Superdodging.

In New York a draft dodger in his questionnaire listed more than 20 occupations, saying he had worked at them for certain stated periods totaling 213 years. Among these jobs were accountant, blacksmith, bookkeeper, machinist, engineer, typewriter, student, clerk, teacher, ship designer, factory hand, foundry man, draughtsman, auto repairer, patternmaker and painter. The government decided that he would be a handy man to have around in spite of his estimated age.

Most men would rather get the short end of an argument than keep quiet.

By his own conduct every man in the world fixes his own value.

DEATH CLAIMS JOHN IRELAND; ILL FOR YEAR

Eminent Catholic Prelate Aware of Approaching End for Forty-eight Hours.

MONUMENTS TO ZEAL

Erection of Twin City Edifices Crowning Achievement of Archbishop's—Sees Arch Diocese of St. Paul Develop From Log Chapel.

St. Paul, Sept. 25.—Archbishop John Ireland died Wednesday morning at 3:55 o'clock at his residence, 226 Summit avenue, St. Paul.

The eminent Catholic prelate had been ill almost continuously for nearly a year. He suffered a relapse ten days ago and became gradually weaker until his death. The end came peacefully.

Knew End Was Near.

Archbishop Ireland was aware for more than 48 hours before his death that the end was near. His countenance was continually lighted with a smile, which throughout his life had been one of his most charming characteristics. He said several times during the last two days that his life work had been accomplished and that he was ready to go.

His recent serious illness became known last Thursday when Father Thomas A. Welch announced that the archbishop's condition was very low. He sank gradually Friday and on Saturday hope was given up by those at his bedside.

Went South for Health.

The first information that the archbishop's health was failing came last January when it was announced he was going to Florida for his health. En route, he was snowbound at Chicago for one day. This is believed to have been very detrimental to his physical condition.

He gradually became better and early in April returned to his old home at 977 Portland avenue. On April 20 it became known that the archbishop had suffered a relapse. Physicians in attendance at that time announced that the strain of the long trip to Florida had been more detrimental to him than the climate was beneficial.

Rallied From Illness.

Archbishop Ireland rallied from that illness and was able to leave his bed late in May. In July he moved to his new home at 226 Summit avenue, which had been bought by communicants of the St. Paul diocese.

Archbishop Ireland was honored on May 15 by the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States by being elected commander of that body at a meeting at the West hotel. It is the highest gift within the power of the Loyal Legion, a militant and progressive body composed exclusively of officers of the Civil war and officers' sons.

Eighty Years Old.

Archbishop Ireland was 80 years old September 11. He spent the day at his residence, but there was no celebration of any kind. He received a few of his friends and many congratulatory messages from various parts of the country.

His new home on Summit avenue is considered one of the finest structures on the avenue. It is built on the eminence overlooking St. Paul and the Mississippi river, while the front of the building faces the St. Paul cathedral.

Stimulants Prolong Life.

It was learned Saturday night that stimulants had been used to keep the archbishop alive since last November. Oxygen has also been used during the past week in an effort to sustain life.

Mother Superior Seraphine, sister of Archbishop Ireland; Bishop Thomas O'Gorman, of Sioux Falls, and Bishop James Trobec of St. Cloud, Minn., had been at the bedside of the prelate since Saturday.

Foremost Figure Gone.

The passing of Archbishop Ireland removes a foremost figure in Minnesota and the Northwest, a national figure for many years. As priest, army chaplain, colonizer, temperance advocate, educator, diplomat, friend of presidents and popes, and leader in religious thought, he had been among the most widely known Americans of his time.

Erection of the Pro-Cathedral of St. Mary in Minneapolis and the new Cathedral in St. Paul, both works of the last decade, was a crowning achievement of the archbishop's. He had seen the arch-diocese of St. Paul develop from a log chapel erected by his church in St. Paul to a great missionary field with six suffragan bishops and great edifices as monuments to his zeal and faithfulness.

Henderson Answers Foe Leader.

London, Sept. 25.—"It cannot be made too clear that British labor has long since placed Belgium outside the category of questions upon which there can be either negotiations or compromise and regards the question of Alsace-Lorraine as essentially one of right and not of territorial readjustment," said Arthur Henderson, the British Labor party leader, in an interview. His statement was called out by a quoted suggestion from Herr Ebert, the German majority Socialist leader [illegible]

HURRY CALL FOR AUNT MARY

Still Time to Save Chicken, Though Usefulness of Bread Dough Was Thing of the Past.

She was entertaining city friends at dinner in her country home. Anxious to have the event as nearly perfect as possible, she had served dinner to her small son and his visiting cousin, Billy, in the kitchen first and then banished them to the back yard. But while she gave apparently undivided attention to her guests' conversation, she was nevertheless conscious of the very frequent opening and closing of the back door, of boys' footsteps, of little chickens' yeeping and, finally, of Billy's distressed face peeping in at the swinging door. But she did not remember until too late that she had carefully covered some bread dough to rise in the one place in the kitchen where the heat was just right—on the little platform under the stove. At last Billy's head bobbed far enough into the room for the company to see his disturbed look and one guest said:

"Come here, little boy, to see me, won't you?"

"Why," said Billy, encouraged, "I jest wanted to tell Aunt Mary that one little chicken is about to get into her bread, and another one can hardly get out."

Wouldn't Be Left Behind.

A certain livery stable keeper never lets a horse out without requesting the hirer not to drive fast.

The other day a young man called to get a turnout to attend a funeral.

"Certainly," said the stabler. "But," he added, forgetting the solemn purpose for which the young man requested the horse, "don't drive fast."

"Why, just look here, old fellow," said the somewhat excited young man; "I want you to understand that I shall keep up with the procession if it kills the horse."

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Catarrhal Deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing may be destroyed forever. Many cases of Deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the Mucous Surfaces. ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE.

Are Your Hands Idle?

Patriotism has rarely had so many practical ways of manifesting itself as in the present time. Sometimes we have felt that for the most of us it was largely talk, but now the way has been made so plain that anyone who is ready to help has the opportunity to do so. If any pair of hands is idle it is because they choose to be so. The chance to work and the chance to sacrifice are privileges open to all.

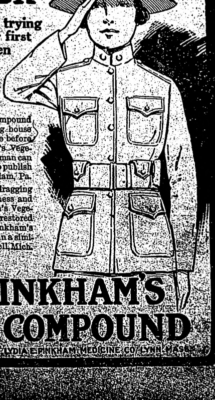
To do your duty during these trying times your health should be your first consideration. These two women tell how they found health.



Hellam, Pa.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles and a displacement. I felt all run down and was very weak. I had been treated by a physician without results, so decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial, and felt better right away. I am keeping house since last April and doing all my housework, where before I was unable to do any work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certainly the best medicine a woman can take when in this condition. I give you permission to publish this letter."—Mrs. E. R. Crumling, R. No. 1, Hellam, Pa.

Lowell, Mich.—"I suffered from cramps and dragging down pains, was irregular and had female weakness and displacement. I began to take Lydia E. FIGURES DON'T LIE.

On our visit at Thief River Falls last week we looked up the record of the Townships of Silverton and Cloverleaf, of this Commissioner District and got an Itemized statement of the amounts paid into the road and bridge fund of Pennington County from March 23,1914 to November 26th 1617, just to get an average of the amounts paid in and the amounts received back. The Town of Silverton paid in $4,469.70. They got back $1.234.77. Leaving a balance due them of $3.234.93 of their money that has been taken from them in road and bridge fund taxes that should have been spent in their Town to build and improve their roads.

The town of Cloverleaf during the same time paid in to the County road and bridge fund $2.927.13. They got back $1.067,71 leaving a balance due them of $1,859.42 of their money which should have been returned to them to improve their roads. These towns have not suffered so bad as the towns east of them in this respect, but any one can readily see by an examination of the County records that this robbery of the tax payers of this District has been going on year after year, and the money spent in other portions of the County. An examination of the County records will convince any man, that either P.C. Wold is totally unqualified for the position of County Commissioner, or he has deliberately set there and allowed his District to be robbed of their share of the County road and bridge funds year after year.

When Kaiser Wilhelm and his armies are driven out of Alsace-Loraine, they can bid that territory good bye, as they will never have another claim on it, unless they can lick America.

We wonder if the Galliant Teddy ever thinks of where him and his five hundred thousand troops would have landed, if they had been allowed to go to France. They would have occupied a small plat of ground with a cross to mark their last resting place, and the germans would have laughed and said, thats the way we fix you Americans.

There certainly can be no complaint, that the allied armies are not in active fighting every day. We never read, "all is quiet on the western front." But we read that the german armies are being pushed backward toward Berlin every day, with no chance to rest at night.

How to Mail Cut Flowers.

You have some lovely forget-me-nots in your garden. You would like Mary to have some, but she is so awkwardly far away. Didn't it occur to you that you could mail them satisfactorily, if you only knew how? Here's how.

Separate the large bunch into smaller bunches of perhaps four or five flowers. Now wring out a wad of absorbent cotton in salt water—a teaspoonful to a pint will be sufficient. Break the damp wad into smaller pieces and wrap firmly about the ends of the stems. Finally wrap flower, stems and all, loosely in newspaper, wax paper if you have it. It is a good plan, too, to line the box with the dampened cotton.

Famine in Cherry Stones.

Scarcity of fruit in Great Britain has interfered with the movement for collecting cherry stones and hard nut shells, in which the boy scouts are taking part. Hundreds of tons are needed every year to make charcoal for gas masks, charcoal from these substances having many times more absorptivity than charcoal made from wood.—Springfield Republican.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Six Dollars which became due on the first day of December 1916 and is due and claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Ole K. Homme, unmarried, mortgagor, to The Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Oklee, Minnesota, a corporation, mortgagee, bearing date the 1st day of December, 1913, which mortgage with the power of sale therein contained, was filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Pennington County, State of Minnesota, on the 17th day of December 1913, at Eight o'clock A. M. and was there duly recorded in Book 9 of Mortgages on page 514 thereof; and whereas pursuant to the terms and conditions of said mortgage, and by reason of said default, the whole unpaid principal sum of said mortgage to-wit: the sum of Twenty dollars [$20.00] became at once due and payable, and was and is hereby so declared by said mortgagee, and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of Twenty Dollars [$20.00] with interest thereon at Ten per cent per annum since the first day of December, 1913.

And whereas, the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceedings having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof,

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage above described will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, to-wit: The North Half of the Northwest Quarter of Section Twenty-two 22 in Township One Hundred Fifty-three 153 North of Range Thirty Nine 39 West of the 5th P.M. in Minnesota; being in the county of Pennington, in said State of Minnesota, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Pennington County, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County and State, on Tuesday the 29th day of October 1918, at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at Public vendue, to pay the said debt and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and an attorney's fee of twenty-five Dollars as stipulated in and by said mortgage, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of said sale as provided by law.

Dated August 6th, 1918.

STEP IN FOOD CONSERVATION

Minnesota Physician Has Discovered Method of Condensing Buttermilk and Retaining Nutritive Value.

In a recent interview with Dr. William Grelck of St. Paul, Minn., the fact was brought out that immense quantities of buttermilk have been wasted. Doctor Grelck is a member of the American Chemical society and for years has devoted much study to the milk problem. As a result of his efforts a method has been discovered for condensing buttermilk into a semi-solid smooth substance of the consistency of ice cream.

All the nutritive value of the buttermilk is conserved in this product, and it is especially suitable for use in bread making. From eight to ten pounds of this material when added to a barrel of flour produce a loaf of greater food value. The milk protein helps to make up the deficiency in our present-day flour substitutes. The vitamines of the butterfat help to define the structure of the bread, besides producing an agreeable milk flavor, and the sugar of milk, aside from being of great food value, when combined with the dextrin in flour makes a fine brown crust at a comparatively low baking temperature. It saves [illegible] prevents unnecessary loss of [illegible]

SEE NEED OF CITY PLANNING

Japanese Municipal Authorities Awake to Dangers Connected With Congested Centers of Population.

The remarkable expansion of Japanese cities during the last few years has accentuated the urgent necessity of city planning. With this end in view, a conference of the mayors of the leading Japanese cities has occurred at Tokyo. Among those present were the mayors of Osaka, Yokohama, Nagoya, Kyoto and Kobe, while Tokyo municipality was represented by Messrs. Kabashima and Ogino.

"In Tokyo, city planning was set on foot twenty years ago, about the same time the question of city planning was receiving attention in Europe and America," said Doctor Seki, mayor of Osaka, in an interview with a Tokyo Yomiuri representative. "In Osaka, however, it is only a few years since the problem began to claim serious attention, although the necessity of city planning in Osaka is perhaps more urgent than in other cities. The density of population in Osaka is certainly greater than in other places and improvement in sanitary and other matters is urgently needed. It is estimated that the population of Osaka twenty years hence will be 2,650,000 and that of the two neighboring districts 2,360,000, making a total of 5,000,000. This estimate is based on the present rate of increase, but it is possible the rate of increase may be larger. Herein lies the urgent nature of city planning for Osaka."

FISH AFFECTED BY WARFARE

Explosion of Mines Off British Coast Has Resulted in Great Diminution of Catches, Is Report.

Wilfred Buzley, who is on the way to his tea plantation in Assam, India, said on his arrival in this city that the frequent explosions of mines off the British coast had caused a great scarcity of fish, according to New York Times. This was especially the case along the east coast of England and Scotland, and had also affected the coast of Holland. Herring, which formerly were plentiful at this season of the year off the coast of Scotland, selling at a cent apiece retail, now bring 16 cents, he said, and were scarce. Flounders and cod, formerly eight to ten cents a pound, are now worth 50 cents at retail. It was only at rare intervals, Mr. Buzley said, that the poor were able to purchase fish.

"The only fish in British waters that appeared to defy the mines and torpedoes," Mr. Buzley continued, "is the hardy halibut. Just before I sailed from England one of the steam trawlers off the coast was about to haul in the lines when the captain noticed a giant halibut following close behind a cod that was impaled on one of the hooks. The halibut made several attempts to swallow the cod and was eventually hauled up onto the deck of the trawler. The skipper told me that the big fish weighed 168 pounds, and was sold in the market for $60."

Germany From the Clouds.

"Eddie" Rickenbacker is quoted as saying:

"Germany looks rather peaceful from above and there seems to be little disturbing them back a ways from the lines. That is where an airman's point of view is defective. The German hills and fields look as soft as ours. Probably they are, which is not very soft. Any field covered with grass always looks soft and you think you could make a fine landing place. When you get down lower and are forced to land on any old field that happens to be under you, like this [illegible] when you're [illegible] you learn differently."

Franglais a New Tongue.

"Franglais" is a new language that you hear in France today. The word is made out of Francaise and Anglais, the French words for French and English—and the language itself is made out of a fearful jumble of words that were perfectly good when they played by themselves, but don't always mix.

Franglais is what you hear where Americans and English men and women without a very good knowledge of their hosts' own speech find themselves at work alongside of French men and French women—soldiers, nurses, relief workers, shopkeepers and all sorts of folk.

American Red Cross workers say that when you gather up several hundred little French babies who have hardly begun to speak any language at all and several hundred little ones who are speaking the universal and universally incomprehensible language of babyhood, the results are one degree harder to understand than grown-up Franglais.

It seems that Germany have come right back at President Wilson and told him on what terms Germany would grant us peace. They are willing to evacuate Belgium, but don't offer to return the part they stole and carried over into Germany. The whole offer is an insult to America, and if accepted, would mean that we lost the war and Germany won. Unconditional surrender is now what the U.S. Senate demands as the only terms America will accept.

North Eastern Minnesota had their regular Forest Fires burn out last Saturday. These fires occur about once in ten years in them old cut over pine regions. It takes from eight to ten years fcr enough old dry rubbish to accumulate in that region, to make a first class forest fire. Then comes a high wind, like last Saturday and away goes the fire sweeping everything before it. PROPOSED AMENDMENT

TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF MINNESOTA

By the Legislature at Its General Session, 1917, to be Submitted to the People of Said State at the General 1918 Election, Together with a Statement of Its

PURPOSE AND EFFECT

PREPARED BY

CLIFFORD L. HILTON

Attorney General of Minnesota

Addressed to

JULIUS A. SCHMAHL

Secretary of State

OFFICE OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.

ST. PAUL, MINNESOTA.

April 29, 1918.

HON. JULIUS A. SCHMAHL,

Secretary of State.

SIR:

As required by Section 46, General Statutes of the State of Minnesota for the year 1913, I have the honor to furnish you herewith a statement of the purpose and effect of the amendment proposed to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota by the Legislature of 1917, and which is to be submitted to the electors of said State at the General Election in 1918.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT.

Chapter 915 of the Session Laws of Minnesota for the year 1917 proposes an amendment of Art. [illegible] of the Constitution of said State by adding thereto a new section to read as follows:

"Section 6. The manufacture, sale, barter, gift, disposition, or the furnishing, or transportation, or keeping or having in possession for sale, barter, gift, disposition, or the furnishing, or transportation of intoxicating liquor of any kind, in any quantity whatever, except for sacramental, mechanical, scientific, or medicinal purposes, shall be forever prohibited within this state from and after the first day of July, 1920, and this amendment shall be self-executing. The legislature shall enact laws for the enforcement of this section and shall provide suitable penalties for the violation thereof."

THE PURPOSE of the proposed amendment is to forever prohibit within the State of Minnesota after July 1, 1920, the manufacture, sale, barter, gift, disposition or the furnishing or transportation, or the keeping or having in possession for any of such purposes, of intoxicating liquor of any kind in any quantity whatever, except for sacramental, mechanical, scientific or medicinal purposes.

THE EFFECT of the proposed amendment, if adopted, will be to make unlawful and forever prohibit the manufacture, sale, barter, gift, disposition or the furnishing or transportation or the keeping or having in possession for any of such purposes, of intoxicating liquor of any kind in any quantity whatever, except for sacramental, mechanical, scientific or medicinal purposes, within this state after July 1, 1920, and to place it beyond the power of any legislative authority to permit the doing of any such acts. If adopted, the doing of any of the prohibited acts automatically becomes unlawful after July 1, 1920, without any action on the part of the legislature or other legislative body. The amendment is made self-executing. A duty is, however, imposed upon the legislature to enact laws for the enforcement of this section, if adopted, and to provide penalties for the violation thereof.

Yours respectfully,

CLIFFORD L. HILTON,

Attorney General.

How to Mail Cut Flowers.

You have some lovely forget-me-nots in your garden. You would like Mary to have some but she is so awkwardly far away. Didn't it occur to you that you could mail them satisfactorily if you only knew how? Here's how: Separate the large bunch into smaller bunches of perhaps four or five flowers. Now wring out a wad of absorbent cotton in salt water—a teaspoonful to a pint will be sufficient. Break the damp wad into smaller pieces and wrap firmly about the ends of the stems. [illegible]

HOW VICTORY WILL BE WON

National Determination to Put Every Ounce of Strength Into Righteous Cause Will Bring Triumph.

Suppose we send 10,000 bombing airplanes over Germany. They alone will not win the war. Ten thousand or fifty thousand tanks alone will not win the war. A thousand land battleships or a thousand other fearful land cruisers alone will not win the war. Raining death and destruction upon the civil population as a rule has only one result. It inflames the people to greater deeds, to greater sacrifices, to greater hate, to greater determination to win the war. France, England and Italy are shining examples of this. No, any one invention is not likely to win the war. Some day, perhaps, someone will invent an atomic ray which is capable of pulverizing whole regiments at a stroke. Nothing of this sort is impossible. But it is not very probable. Rather it is the whole-hearted devotion of the noncombatants to a great and just cause that will win the war. The nation that can throw into the scales the greatest amount of war implements, the heaviest weight of metal, the greatest amount of fighters, coupled with a prodigious use of all of the best war inventions, will win in the end—providing that every man and woman behind the lines constantly thinks and dreams of war and victory and is prepared to put every last ounce of strength as well as all worldly the longings into the righteous cause without stint or restraint. The greatest war invention is the fiery undying will to win.—Electrical Experimenter.

My back pained terribly and when I moved my arms my back hurt. I finally had to go to bed and just felt sick all over and was helpless as a baby. My kidneys acted too frequently, the secretions were scanty and highly colored. I had terrible pains in the back of my head and I felt drowsy all the time. I finally used Doan's Kidney Pills and soon felt one hundred per cent better. When I finished the one box I was entirely cured. The pains left my back and head and my kidneys acted normally. I am glad to recommend Doan's to other kidney sufferers."

TERRIBLE FOREST FIRES RAGING IN NORTH MINNESOTA

ABOUT ONE THOUSAND PERSONS ARE BELIEVED TO HAVE LOST THEIR LIVES.

TEN VILLAGES HAVE BEEN OBLITERATED

Fifteen Thousand Persons Are Homeless and Property Worth Millions of Dollars Has Been Consumed by Flames.

Duluth, Oct. 14.—Nearly 1,000 persons are now believed to have lost their lives in the blasts of flame that drove over Northern Minnesota forests in an area that spreads from Duluth to Brainerd, Bemidji, Aitkin, Cloquet and Moose Lake.

Property worth millions of dollars was destroyed, ten villages were obliterated, 15,000 persons were made homeless, many of them penniless. Duluth, itself heavily damaged by the flames, is a city of thousands of refugees, a dwelling-place of stricken people who had lost kinfolk, friends, neighbors in the flames.

Over all the countryside, on highways and by-paths, near farmhouse ruins and beside railway tracks, lay blackened corpses.

100 Bodies Brought In.

Cloquet, a city of 9,000 population and long a lumber center of the North country, is all but wiped out. Moose Lake, a village of 1,000 souls, is a waste of ashes, a relief-party headquarters which held more than 100 bodies brought in from the countryside which held none knew how many other victims stricken as they fled.

Brookston, Brevator, Corona, Adolph, Thompson, Arnold, Wright and Kettle River are in ashes—blackened, smoking wastes hardly distinguishable from the blackened fields that surround them. And all about, the forests of Northern Minnesota stand a great field of burned pine trees—blackened of trunk, ghosts of the great forest.

300 Dead at Moose Lake.

Rescue parties arriving on the scene, appalled at the completeness of the devastation wrought by the flames, hesitated, in view of their fragmentary knowledge of the actual scope of the disaster, to estimate the number of dead. In a temporary morgue at Moose Lake there were 103 bodies. Officials there say the total will exceed 300.

One Hundred and Ninety-six bodies have been borne to Duluth morgues. In other districts it was reported that several hundred more may be added. And in addition to these, remains the work of searching among the ruins of burned homes and along the sideroads, where hundreds more may be found, military authorities said.

Has Start Near Bemidji.

The fire started near Bemidji, where fire has been smouldering for weeks. Fanned by a high wind, the flames swept across the state toward Duluth, cutting a swath 50 miles wide through cutover lands bounded on both sides by a chain of lakes.

At Moose Lake the havoc wrought by the blaze was most complete, although the loss of life in the town itself was low, because the inhabitants, warned of the approach of the fire, took refuge in the icy waters of the lake.

Brainerd, Bemidji and Aitkin escaped destruction, partly because the wind died down and in part through heroic work of volunteer fire fighters.

Duluth and Superior, although suburbs were burned, were untouched by the flames and are serving as a place of refuge for a large number of the 15,000 homeless ones.

The heaviest loss of life was at Moose Lake and vicinity. Adjutant General Rhinow estimating that more that 300 persons died there. Duluth morgues have approximately 200 bodies and officials estimate that several hundred more dead men, women and children are scattered throughout the fire region.

Hibbing Ringed by Fire.

Hibbing, although ringed about fire, was unharmed. Citizens of the iron range were last night hurrying for shelter at Carlton, and fires were blazing at the Morton location, Keewatin and other towns. Grand Rapids was reported on fire.

Five mills are all that is left in Cloquet of what was yesterday a city of 9,000 persons with varied business interests and many beautiful homes. The homes are a smouldering ruin, every residence being burned, but warning of the approaching fire came in time to allow the people of the town to depart.

Belgians Demand Reparation.

Paris, Oct. 14.—The committee of the Belgian Socialists' federation has reported to the main body a resolution unanimously adopted by the committee and by delegates of the Belgian Workmen's federation, in which the principle is asserted of territorial defense and the elimination of all imperialistic aims. The resolution demands the liberation of Belgium and reparation for the damage it has suffered. The resolution declares in favor of political liberty in Belgium.

CAPTURE LAON AND LA FERE

ALLIES CONTINUE THEIR VICTORIOUS ADVANCE.

German Armies Succeed in Conducting Their Retreat in an Orderly Manner.

With the French Army in France, Oct. 14.—Laon has been entered by the French troops. La Fere has fallen. General Gouraud's troops in pursuit of the Germans have reached the banks of the Aisne in the bend that passes south of Rethel and Chateau Porcein. Five thousand civilians have been liberated in the villages and towns retaken from the Germans.

Laon is the last of the group of natural obstacles forming the keystone of the German defense in France. It was taken without a fight.

Retreat Continues Orderly.

London, Oct. 14.—The German retreat along the Western front continued in an orderly manner. There are no signs as yet of a general debacle.

Further progress has been made by the British northwest of Douai and along the Selles river to the region of Solesmes, according to Field Marshal Haig's communication. Several additional towns have been captured and prisoners have been taken.

The British are within a few hundred yards of Douai, Field Marshal Haig reported in his official statement. They have captured the Foubourg d'Esqurshin, the Douai prison and the greater part of Flers, close to Douai on the northwest.

Claims Honor of Being First in United States to Exceed Loan Allotment.

Minneapolis, Oct. 14.—The Ninth Federal Reserve district claims the honor of being the first in the United States to oversubscribe its allotment of Fourth Liberty Loan bonds.

The district's allotment was $210,000,000. A. R. Rogers, chairman, wired the Treasury department at Washington that this district's county chairmen now hold signed subscription cards totaling $212,110,350.

This report, so far as can be learned, makes the Ninth first.

TWIN CITIES RUSH AID TO NORTHERN MINNESOTA

Special Trains Carry Food, Clothing, Nurses and Physicians to Fire District.

Minneapolis, Oct. 14.—Both Minneapolis and St. Paul responded promptly to the call for help from the fire-stricken districts of Northern Minnesota. Two relief trains left the Twin Cities, carrying food, clothing, nurses and physicians. Three hundred coffins were shipped to Moose Lake.

Large quantities of supplies were shipped on a special train from St. Paul and emergency relief supplies were taken to Duluth and Moose Lake by Red Cross officials.

What She Was Doing.

Young Mrs. Fusserly was going to learn to knit socks for soldiers as a part of her patriotic duties. And, moreover, she was going to surprise her husband by her accomplishment. Hubbie caught her one day laboriously struggling with what might have made a nice laprobe for a child's go-cart, but was an alleged sock instead.

"What in the world are you making there?" he asked, manlike.

"I'm doing my bit," was her reply. He returned in the evening just in time to see her tearfully unraveling the last stitches of the sock.

"H-m-m-m," he remarked, heartlessly. "At noon I find you doing your bit. In the evening I find you undoing it."

OLD PRESCRIPTION FOR WEAK KIDNEYS

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfil the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says, "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy that I know of has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmers' Swamp-Root is due to the fact that so many people claim, it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Adv.

Prussian Arrogance.

A captured Prussian officer objected to riding on a truck in France with some captured private soldiers. "Don't you know I'm an officer?" he roared at his captors.

"Are you?" snapped an American. "Well, we won't let that worry you long. See here!" and as he spoke, the hand with the penknife deftly cut the insignia from the officer's shoulders.

"You're busted!" he said. "You're a private now. Get back in the ranks with the rest of them!"

Kleptomaniacs draw the line at taking hints.

WILSON REPLIES TO GERMAN NOTE

President's Answer Will Develop Whether Berlin Officials Are Sincere.

QUESTIONS ARE ASKED

United States Declines to Propose on Armistice While the Armies of the Central Powers Remain on Invaded Soil.

Washington, Oct. 10.—President Wilson probably will go before congress to cast further light upon the position he took in his inquiry to the German prince, Max, as soon as the latter replies.

Washington, Oct. 10. — Germany's peace note has been met by President Wilson with a reply which will at one stroke develop whether her proposal is sincere or merely a pretention, and if a pretention it be, fully justify for all time before the world the prolonging of the war with "a force to the utmost, force without stint or limit." At the same time the President has left the door to peace wide open.

Declining to propose an armistice while the armies of the Central powers remain on invaded soil, the President called on the German chancellor to state, as an absolutely necessary preliminary to a reply from the Allies and the United States, whether Germany accepts the principles of peace as repeatedly laid down or merely proposes to accept them "as the basis of negetiation," and whether the chancellor merely speaks for the military masters conducting the war or the whole German people.

The text of the President's communication was made public by Secretary Lansing, together with the official text of Prince Maximilian's note now published in America for the first time. At the same time officials let it be known that there would be no reply at present to the Austrian note similar to that of the German chancellor. It is not considered necessary to deal with Austria until the time comes for a reply to her dominating ally.

The text of the communication handed to the charge of Switzerland here follows:

President Wilson's Note.

"Sir:—I have the honor to acknowledge, on behalf of the President, your note of Oct. 6, enclosing the communication from the German government to the President; and I am instructed by the President to request you to make the following communication to the imperial chancellor:

" 'Before making reply to the request of the imperial German government, and in order that that reply shall be candid and straightforward as the momentous interests involved require, the President of the United States deems it necessary to assure himself of the exact meaning of the note of the imperial chancellor. Does the imperial chancellor mean that the imperial German government accepts the terms laid down by the President in his address to the Congress of the United States on the 8th of January last, and in subsequent addresses, and that its object in entering into discussions would be only to agree upon the practical details of their application?' "

"The President feels bound to say with regard to the suggestion of an armistice that he would not feel at liberty to propose a cessation of arms to the governments with which the government of the United States is associated against the Teutonic powers, so long as the armies of those powers are upon their soil. The good faith of any discussion would manifestly depend upon the consent of the Teutonic powers immediately to withdraw their forces everywhere from invaded territory.

"The President also feels that he is justified in asking whether the imperial chancellor is speaking merely for the constituted authorities of the empire who have so far conducted the war. He deems the answer to these questions vital from every point of view.

"Accept, sir, the renewed assurances of my high consideration.

"ROBERT LANSING."

APPEALS TO GENERAL PUBLIC

Acting War Secretary Urges Spirited Buying of Bonds.

Washington, Oct. 10.—In urging the nation to put forth its maximum effort to the war, particularly in financing it, Benedict Crowell, acting secretary of war, said that this would be the worst possible time to slacken efforts to defeat the Central powers.

"The enemy is being driven back," said Mr. Crowell, "and this is the best time to increase our pressure. It would be the worst time to pause. This applies to the civilian as well as the military forces.

"I say this particularly in reference to Liberty Bond buying."

Named "Official Ice Breaker."

New York, Oct. 10.—Frederick D. Underwood, president of the Erie railroad, has been appointed "official ice breaker" of the port of New York by the War department, it was announced here by the state Fuel administrator. He will clear the way for coal barges should the bay and river become ice-bound. Mr. Underwood, when in charge of the "Soo" lines succeeded in keeping the straits of Mackinac open for car ferries and other vessels in severe winter weather.

HOW TO AVOID BACKACHE AND NERVOUSNESS

Told by Mrs. Lynch From Own Experience.

Providence, R. I.—"I was all run down in health, was nervous, had headaches, my back ached all the time. I was tired and had no ambition for anything. I had taken a number of medicines which did me no good. One day I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for women, so I tried it. My nervousness and backache and headaches disappeared. I gained in weight and feel fine, so I can honestly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman who is suffering as I was."—Mrs. ADELINE B. LYNCH, 100 Plain St., Providence, R. I.

Backache and nervousness are symptoms or nature's warnings, which indicate a functional disturbance or an unhealthy condition which often develops into a more serious ailment.

Women in this condition should not continue to drag along without help, but profit by Mrs. Lynch's experience, and try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and for special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

PRACTICAL IDEA OF HEAVEN

Jimmy Could Think of Nothing Better Than Place of Solid Comfort and Perfect Security.

Two little brothers in the country shared a huge feather bed. There was a nightly scramble as to who should be first to bed, so as to get the choice place "at the back," protected by the wall and by the sleeping brother "in front." "In front" was regarded risky, for one never knew what night some terrible creature might come along and carry off the front sleeper.

One cold, stormy night the following conversation was overheard, after a period of quiet, in which it was thought that the boys were asleep:

"Jimmy," said Bud, whose voice had a comfortable at-the-back-of-the-bed sound, "what do you think heaven is like?"

"Why I think," and Jimmy's timid voice had a trembling, yearning tone in it, "I think heaven is like a great big, nice feather bed, with room for everybody in it, and nobody has to sleep in front."

Misrepresenting a Bee.

English officers and men still experience difficulties with the language at the front. Recently an officer, seeing a swarm of bees settled near his billet, rushed to adjacent cottages to inform the residents. But explain verbally he could not. So, taking a paper and pencil, he drew a rough sketch of a hive, then waggled his fingers in what he thought the correct winglike way. It was a failure, so he sketched a number of bees, and buzzed a beesome buzz. Whereupon the cottagers, together with one consent, bolted to the dugouts, believing that he meant hostile aircraft overhead.—London Daily Chronicle.

Ice Boxes on Wheels

Refrigerator cars for carrying meat are ice boxes traveling on wheels.

Most people in America would have to go without fresh meat, or would have to pay more for what they could get, if it were not for these traveling ice boxes.

Gustavus F. Swift, the first Swift in the packing industry, saw the need of these traveling ice boxes before others.

He asked the railroads to build them. The railroads refused. They were equipped, and preferred to haul cattle rather than dressed beef.

So Gustavus F. Swift had to make the cars himself. The first one was a box car rigged up to hold ice. Now there are 7,000 Swift refrigerator cars. Each one is as fine an ice box as you have in your home.

Day and night, fair weather and foul, through heat and cold, these 7,000 cars go rolling up and down the country, keeping meat just right, on its way to you.

Thus another phase of Swift & Company's activities has grown to meet a need no one else could or would supply, in way that matched Swift & Company ideas of being useful.

When you see one of these Swift & Company cars in a train, or on a siding, you will be reminded of what is being done for you as the fruit of experience and a desire to serve.

Richthofen, the famous German airfighter, now dead, once described how an English machine one night came down from a height of 150 feet, through a fusillade of gun fire and a blinding glare of searchlights to bomb a German airdrome with deadly effect. Richthofen considered it "tremendously plucky that the man didn't swerve, but came straight on in accordance with his plans."

Indigestion, Bloat, Heartburn, Caused by Acid-Stomach

What is the cause of indigestion, dyspepsia, bloat, heartburn, food-repeating, belching, gassy, sour stomach, and so many stomach miseries? Just this—acid-stomach—superacidity as the doctors call it. It robs millions of their full strength, vitality and the power to enjoy life—to be real men and women.

It is well known that an acid mouth destroys the teeth. The acid is so powerful that it eats right through the hard enamel and causes the teeth to decay. This is fair warning of what excess acidity will do to the delicate organization of the stomach; as a matter of fact, excess acidity not only produces a great many painful and disagreeable symptoms that we generally name "Stomach troubles," but it is the creator of a long train of very serious ailments. Acid-stomach interferes with the digestion and causes the food to ferment. This mass of sour, fermented food passes into the intestines, where it becomes the breeding place for germs and toxic poisons, which in turn are absorbed into the blood and distributed throughout the entire body.

Wherever you go you see victims of [illegible] takes the pep and punch out of them, leaves little or no vitality.

Strike at the very cause of all this trouble and clean this excess acid out of the stomach. This will give the stomach a chance to digest the food properly; nature will do the rest.

A wonderful new remedy removes excess acid without the slightest discomfort. It is called EATONIC, made in the form of tablets—they are good to eat—just like a bit of candy. EATONIC literally absorbs the injurious excess acid and carries it away through the intestines. It drives the bloat out of the body—you can fairly feel it work.

Try EATONIC and see how quickly it banishes bloat, heartburn, belching, food-repeating, indigestion, etc. See too, how quickly your general health improves—how much more of your food is digested—how nervousness and irritability disappear. Learn how easy it is to get back your physical and mental punch. Have the power and energy to work with vim. Enjoy the good things of life. Learn what it means to fairly bubble over with health. Brief Items of State News

Fairmont.—John C. Braun, Cedar township farmer, was arrested on a charge of hiding his 37-year-old son on registration day, September 12, and telling officials that he was in Minneapolis.

Pine City.—Most of the potatoes in the Pine City locality have been harvested and the same condition prevails generally over the county. There are only scattering fields left unharvested.

Crookston.—Passengers on early morning trains coming into this place were forced to walk more than two miles into town because of an accident to a car loaded with wheat, which tied up traffic.

Lakefield.—Following adoption of resolutions by the Commercial club and Loyalty legion, signs have been posted in all business places and for miles around reading, "Please Speak American."

Pipestone.—The Pipestone Grand Army post has received notification of the death of George W. Bettesworth at the soldiers' home at Marshalltown, Iowa. Mr. Bettesworth was a pioneer resident of Pipestone.

Crookston.—All potatoes shipped for commercial purposes must be graded and A. P. Rehl, inspector for the Federal food administration in Minnesota, has been in Polk county to arrange for the enforcement of the rule.

Winona.—James McConnon, for thirty-two years identified with the lumbering industry here and a conspicuous figure during the palmy days of the business along the Mississippi river, died in this city, aged 84.

St. Cloud.—For the third time an incendiary fire was discovered in the Fourth avenue apartment house here and extinguished before gaining headway. Each time a pile of shavings have been neatly piled alongside the building and set on fire.

Hibbing.—The Hibbing police are holding a 9-year-old boy who entered the Lippman apartments and stole $180 belonging to a roomer while the latter was absent. The police located the youth in Duluth, where he had gone after the theft, and brought him back to Hibbing.

Pipestone.—That too much sweet corn is disastrous to cattle has been proven by the experience of John Birkeland, farmer living across the county line south of here. Birkeland turned a herd of 25 of his milch cows into a field of the corn and five of the animals are dead as a result.

Pine City.—In a fit of despondency, Mrs. Ben Miller shot and killed herself at the family farm, about three and a half miles southwest of Bruno, with a rifle, the first shot piercing her heart. Her husband was at work in the field at the time. She leaves three children; the oldest 8 years and the youngest a baby of 3 months.

Hinckley.—A fire that has been burning for the last six weeks in a peat bog on land owned by James McNett, west of Friesland, became fanned into flames in the high wind and spread over the surrounding country, threatening several haystacks and burning a big stack of good hay owned by Albert Carlson and Nels Oakland.

McGregor.—Thousands of dollars worth of hay and timber and several homes and other buildings have been destroyed in this locality in the past few days by fires that are now being fought by Ironton, Aitkin and Moose Lake Home Guards. This town has been nearly afire several times and residents are all prepared to move out.

Winona.—The district convention of the Church of Christ of Southern Minnesota has closed a two-day session here. Officers elected were: President, N. K. Flint, Winona; vice president, John Hall, Austin; secretary-treasurer, H. J. Hill, Plainview; C. E. superintendent, F. D. Smith, Rochester; S. S. superintendent, Margaret Stran, West Concord.

East Grand Forks.—Alice Amondson, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christ Amondson, residing near here, disappeared a few evenings ago and has not been heard from since. She was reported to have been seen on the Great Northern railroad bridge around 10 o'clock p. m. Whether she took passage on one of the outgoing trains at that time is not yet known.

Bemidji.—A joint meeting of the clergy of the Episcopal deaneries of the Red River valley and the Mississippi valley will be held in St. Bartholomew's church, Bemidji, Oct. 23 and 24. About twenty clergymen will be present with Bishop Morrison of Duluth. Rev. Mr. Hudson of Paynesville, Minn., will preside as dean of the Mississippi valley convocation.

Minneapolis.—George Brambilla, who died in the City hospital forty hours after the point of a long steel pin had been driven into his heart, was murdered, Coroner Gilbert Seashore believes. It is believed by the police that statements accredited to Brambilla to the effect that he received the pin thrust while hugging a woman were made by him deliberately with the intention of protecting his assailant.

Tyler.—With the death of Mrs. Hans Christensen, 41, the thirty-sixth victim of the tornado which swept through Tyler Aug. 21 is recorded. Mrs. Christensen went to the cellar of her home and a flying timber which was swept from above her head dealt her a terrific blow.

Stillwater.—Treasurer John C. Gussman of the Washington County Fair association states that the sale of tickets during the three days of the fair totaled [illegible], while the profits from the dance held at the Armory and also at Woodman hall would bring the total receipts up to [illegible]

Moorhead.—The Moorhead Home Guard has been ordered disbanded.

Winona.—Local Poles raised $16,000 in a one-day drive for the benefit of the Polish army which is being organized in Russia.

Genoa.—Dennis Sullivan, formerly of Ironwood, Mich., committed suicide by shooting himself. He was supply clerk at the Genoa mine.

Baudette.—There were sixteen cases before the Liberty bond board of review. Many of these were raised and two refused to take their allotment.

Virginia.—The body of Mike Sitka, the last victim of the Silver mine disaster, has been recovered. He was 35 and has a cousin living on the range.

Fairmont.—Members of the Martin County Motor corps are standing guard over two saloons and a wholesale liquor house at Ceylon, closed by the safety commission.

Willow River.—Steve Foster of this place, who murdered his common law wife here last summer, was convicted of first degree murder at Pine City and given life in the state penitentiary.

Rochester.—Attacked by an enraged bull, John Feil, a farmer residing near Rochester, is in a critical condition. Feil was knocked to the ground and trampled on, and was unconscious when found.

Waterville.—Mahlon R. Everett, former state senator from Le Sueur county, died at his home in Waterville. He served nine years as county school superintendent, and at the time of his death was village attorney.

Brainerd.—Dick Sagli, a farmer living five miles east of Brainerd, has had a lighting plant installed to illuminate his house, milk house, barn and garage. A water pressure system gives running water in his home and barn and milk house.

Barnum.—Ray Barber, said to have come from Pequot, Minn., who operated a near-beer stand during the fair here, passed a number of worthless checks, gaining thereby $50 or $60. Ray Barber, it is said, is the same man who bought iron and junk at Moose Lake several weeks ago.

Brainerd.—Operating under the direction of County Attorney S. F. Alderman, Sheriff Claus A. Theorin and deputies with Federal officers, arrested nine Austrians on the Cuyuna iron range charged with selling liquor without a license. There are five women and four men in the party, and they were brought to Brainerd, where they were arraigned.

Winona.—F. R. Stevenson, slayer of Elmer Mead, May 21 last, was found guilty by a jury in district court of manslaughter of the first degree. The jury deliberated thirteen hours. The verdict carries an indeterminate sentence from five to twenty years. Stevenson shot and killed Mead and attempted to kill his own wife. He pleaded "temporary insanity" during the trial.

St. Cloud.—Abatement proceedings have been started against a "sanatorium" conducted by Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Bach of East St. Cloud. The place, which has been conducted by Dr. and Mrs. Bach as a medical institution and rest cure for the past year, was raided recently by the police and evidence found that it was being conducted as a disorderly house. Dr. Bach was fined $100 in the justice court.

St. Paul.—John H. Quackenbush, arrested in Montana several weeks ago on the charge of stealing ten head of horses from Barrett & Zimmerman, University avenue horse dealers, and brought back to St. Paul, pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the second degree before Judge F. N. Dickson in district court. He was sentenced to an indeterminate term at Stillwater prison.

Crookston.—About 75 per cent of the money required to construct a livestock pavilion to cost about $20,000 to be used in connection with the farm crop show next year has been pledged and the enterprise is assured. The amount pledged includes $10,000 by Polk county, covering one-half of the cost of the building; $2,000 by Marshall county, $1,500 by Norman county, $1,000 by Red Lake county, $1,000 by Kittson county, $200 by Mahnomen county.

St. Paul.—A record movement of potatoes by railroads in Minnesota and Wisconsin is disclosed by an inquiry into the car supply situation. Up to Oct. 1 the four principal potato hauling lines had transported 10,884 cars, more than twice as many as last year, when 4,756 cars were handled. The Soo line had hauled 1,883 cars, Northern Pacific 3,076, Great Northern 3,642 and the Omaha 1,463. State officials find there is an adequate supply of cars for immediate needs.

Brainerd.—Six ministers are about to leave Brainerd for new pastorates or are considering calls. Rev. G. P. Sheridan of the First Congregational has accepted the pastorate at Faribault, Rev. Theodore Clemens of the Bethany Mission church has gone to Stillwater, Rev. F. W. Hill of the First Methodist church may leave the city, Rev. William Lloyd Crist of the People's Congregational church has received several calls, Rev. M. L. Hostager of the Bethlehem Norwegian Lutheran received a call to Battle Lake, Rev. Elof G. Carlson of the Swedish Lutheran received a call to Milaca.

Crookston.—Maj. Paul L. Spooner of Mankato will be here shortly to muster in the new National Guard company which was recently organized. Maj. Spooner is commander of the Third battalion of the Fifth Minnesota regiment and the new Crookston company will be Company I of that battalion.

Rochester.—Spanish influenza claimed its first Rochester victim when word was received here that Private Vernon Witherstine, son of Dr. H. H. Witherstine, had died at Camp Gordon, Atlanta, Ga., after a brief illness with influenza.

"SPANISH" INFLUENZA.

The disease now spreading over this country is highly catching and may invade your community and attack you and your family unless you are very careful.

INFLUENZA is a crowd disease. Therefore: Keep out of crowds as much as possible.

INFLUENZA probably spreads mostly by inhaling some of the tiny droplets of germ-laden mucous sprayed into the air when ignorant or careless persons sneeze or cough without using a handkerchief. Therefore: Cover up each cough and sneeze

INFLUENZA is probably spread also by the filthy habit of spitting on sidewalks, street cars, and other public places Therefore: Do not spit on the floor or sidewalk.

INFLUENZA is probably spread also by the use of common drinking cups and the use of common towels in public places. Therefore: Shun the common drinking cup and the roller towel in public places.

If you feel sick and believe you have "Spanish" Influenza, go to bed and send for the doctor. This is important.

All that has been said above about "Spanish" Influenza is true also of colds, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, and Tuberculosis. Do your part to keep them away.

RUPERT BLUE,
Surgeon General,
U.S. Public Health Service.

New styles for public eating places have been decreed by the United States food administration in 12 general orders which take effect Monday, October 21. Do not be surprised therefore if the next time you take dinner at a hotel, you find your bread ration limited, no bread brought to the table until after the first course is served, an allowance of only one kind of meat at any one meal, no bacon to be used as a garniture, no more than one-half ounce of butter or one-half ounce of Amercan cheese to be served at any one meal, no sugar bowl on the table, no "double cream". Under the new orders those are all things of the past.

It seems strange that the food administration is curtailing the use of meat, while the cattle buyers are using the argument to farmers that they buy cattle from at 6cts a pound that there is an overproduction of stock. Something wrong somewhere! Call the Doctor. Dr. Nonpartisan league has got the reputation of curing these cases.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of six Dollars which became due on the first day of December, 1916, and is due and claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Ole K. Homme, unmarried, mortgagor, to The Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Oklee, Minnesota, a corporation, mortgagee, bearing date the 1st day of December, 1913, which mortgage with the power of sale therein contained, was filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Pennington County, State of Minnesota, on the 17th day of December 1913, at Eight o'clock A. M. and was there duly recorded in Book 9 of Mortgages on page 614 thereof; and whereas pursuant to the terms and conditions of said mortgage, and by reason of said default, the whole unpaid principal sum of said mortgage to-wit: the sum of Twenty dollars [$20.00] became at once due and payable, and was and is hereby so declared by said mortgagee; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of Twenty Dollars [$20.00] with interest thereon at Ten per cent per annum since the first day of December, 1913.

And whereas, the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceedings having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof,

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage above described will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, to-wit: The North half of the Northwest Quarter of Section Twenty-two 22 in Township One Hundred Fifty-three 153 North of Range Thirty Nine 39 West of the 5th P.M. in Minnesota, being in the county of Pennington, in said State of Minnesota which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Pennington County, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County and State, on Tuesday the 30th day of October 1918, at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at Public vendue, to pay the said debt and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and an attorney's fee of twenty-five Dollars as stipulated in and by said mortgage, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of said sale as provided by law.

Birds Finally Agreed.

A family of robins and a family of bluebirds are occupying the same house, something quite unusual in bird lore, E. M. Cashman, caretaker of the Altoona (Pa.) reservoir, has reported.

Mr. Cashman has erected a number of bird boxes on the watershed and he watches over his charges lovingly. When Papa and Mamma Bluebird came north this spring they were horrified to find their usual cozy birdbox was occupied. That is, a pair of robins, arriving a week earlier, had started to build a nest on the tiny porch of the house. A wordy battle started, which lasted for several days. The bluebirds wanted the robins to move. The robins maintained their position. And then, quite suddenly, hostilities ceased. Investigating, Mr. Cashman found the bluebirds were building a nest inside the box, while the robins made themselves comfortable [illegible]

More Than Paid the Debt.

Some of us will give a second thought to the extraordinary achievement of a congregation in Geneva, N. Y., which first built with reckless extravagance a massive graystone church and then adopted the tithing system to get them out of their difficulty. The story is told in Outlook. When the church was dedicated—if that is the right word—the debt was $82,000, and the weekly budget $230. The weekly income was less than $100. In two years the debt has been reduced to $40,000 and the weekly income is $300. Of the 1,000 members 350 are tithers. A tither sets aside one-tenth of his income for Christian activities. The blessings of happiness and prosperity which have attended the people are remarkable. Many thrilling stories are told. Some church leaders are deeply impressed by the success of the system and they are advocating it as a financial policy.—Christian Register.

We have not intended to take any part between candidates for county office. But we consider the attacks made against George Gunderson, by E. A. Mostue unfair and uncalled for. It seems that Mr. Mostue has been in Thief River Falls so long that he is of the opinion that a farmer, and especially one who has joined the Nonpartisan League, don't know enough to hold any public office. The farmers have heard that same disqualified story so often, that they have got prejudiced against it, and Mr. Mostue's attack on George Gunderson will gain a lot of votes for Mr. Gunderson.

P. C. Wold and Mr. Mostue have been associating with the politicians of Thief River Falls so long that they are of the opinion that they are the only two men from eastern Pennington County that are possessed of ordinary intelligence. A young American army private came out of a gilded Broadway florist's the other afternoon carrying a very large and expensive bouquet tied up in waxed paper and walked toward one of those stunty baby doll roadsters at the curb.

FEW STATE LINES CHANGED

Sentiment Has Proved Too Strong, Even When Good Business Reasons Could Be Advanced.

From time to time proposals are made to change the boundaries of states. One is the scheme to transfer a part of western Florida, extending for 150 miles on the sea coast, to the state of Alabama, and another project is to annex the northern neck of Idaho to the state of Washington.

In support of the proposed change in each case the chief argument advanced is that it would place the region to be transferred in the state with which it is most closely allied in interests. Most of the business of Pensacola, the leading city of west Florida, is with Alabama, and if it were a part of that state its importance would doubtless be heightened. It is also considerably nearer Montgomery than Tallahassee and nearer Birmingham than Jacksonville.

Proposals for rectifying boundaries as well as for dividing states, have been many, the changes actually made few. Where historic associations gather around a divisional line they are not easily effaced, whatever may be the commercial considerations working in that direction. In cases in which railway connections have made the business relations of a region closer with another state than with its own the remedy is found in the construction of new lines. "Women is funny folks, 'most any way you take 'em," philosophically admitted Mr. Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "The oldest man in America can't tell what a lady will do next, and if he could, she wouldn't do it. Day before yesterday while we was setting around the dinner table wife slapped a few of the children into shape and then sorter casually asked me if I knowed what day it was.

"'Why, Wednesday or Thursday, I reckon,' says I. 'I hain't paid much attention lately, but it's somewheres along there.'

"'It is Tuesday, the 10th,' says she kind o' sternly. 'Do you know what happened 15 years ago today?'

"'Hum, now! Lez see,' says I. 'Oh, yes!—that was the day a tree fell on me and busted me up considerable. I forgot—'

"'No, it wasn't!' she snapped. 'We were married 15 years ago today.'

"'Is that so?' says I. 'Well, I knowed something happened to me, but I sorter disrecollected what. Aw-hum! I—'

"And then I'll be switched if wife didn't rise up like a queen and sling mighty nigh every dish on the place at my head—dishes that cost me good money, too! The longer I live with women, the less I know about 'em!"—Judge.

ICELAND PROUD OF CULTURE

Little Nation, Long Isolated From the Rest of the World, Has Maintained Its Spiritual Life.

There are few nations that can point to a brighter record of culture than this little nation of one hundred thousand people (Iceland), practically isolated on their arctic island for nearly one thousand years. Why did they not revert to barbarism, as has been the fate of many white groups out of touch with outside civilization? There is but one answer: The Promethean flame which kindled the genius of the old, now nameless, monks—the saga authors—has never died in Iceland. It could not die so long as the sagas lived, firing the spiritual life of the nation.

Each period of national prosperity since the saga age has seen a revival of literary activity. Now Iceland is more prosperous in a material way than ever in its history, and behold there is a pen scratching in every cottage; there is a poet apostrophizing every waterfall, dedicating the summer crop of poppies and daffodils, and charming, or at least trying to charm the innumerable host of fays and light elves, trolls and water sprites and "landvaettir" which have endowed the bleak hills and mountains of Iceland with an immortal soul.—From the Dial.

Fewer Works of Art Imported.

According to a compilation by the National City bank, the value of art works imported in 1918 is about $11,000,000, as against $23,000,000 in 1917 and $35,000,000 in 1914.

In automobiles the value in 1918 was about $50,000, against nearly $2,000,000 in 1913 and more than $2,000,000 in 1912, while the average value per machine imported in 1918 was less than one-half that before the war. Decorated chinaware imported in 1918 was about $3,500,000 in value, against $8,000,000 in 1914. Almost the same ratio was shown in decreases of precious stones and jewel importations.

Avenues of Honor.

The city of Cleveland has adopted a novel plan for honoring its soldier dead. For each Cleveland soldier that loses his life in this war a victory oak will be planted along one of the boulevards, and each of the oaks will be named for a soldier. This will constitute a beautiful and enduring memorial with a practical as well as a sentimental value. Other cities may find it desirable to follow Cleveland's example.—Springfield (Mass.) Union.

TRUTH STRANGE AS FICTION

Novel by William De Morgan Has Counterpart in Real Life-Story of Englishman.

A little more than ten years ago an Englishman, deep in the sixties, won great renown by going to a hospital.

His illness, though severe, was ordinary enough. The use he made of his convalescence distinguished him. Propped up in bed, William De Morgan wrote his first novel. When he was entirely recovered, he wrote another, which was destined to carry on his fame around the reading world.

The book told the story of an engineer returned to London after many adventures. There a mishap in the tube caused him to lose his memory. In the dazed state he lived a new life. By chance he met his former wife, fell in love with her and married her again.

Strange as was De Morgan's tale—critics said only he could make it convincing—London itself has duplicated it from life.

John Arthur Lewis, a returned soldier, was lately haled into court for absconding with money he had collected for his employers.

His innocence was easily proved. On the collecting trip he had been struck by a van and injured. Bereft of his memory he wandered over England, arrived at his old home, and was introduced by his mother to a young woman, said to be his wife.

He refused to accept his past until one night the German airmen dropped bombs, and the shock of the explosion restored his memory. Then all came back, even the uncompleted day's work of last August.

History here modifies the ancient observation as to truth and fiction. Truth is not stranger than good writing. Rather the artist senses probably ahead of the facts and later reality corroborates him. Who knows not at least one Enoch Arden? Tennyson guessed them all.

"Your change, three pennies."

"No, y' ain't. Them's not pennies. You ain't got no pennies in the house."

"I've more than a hundred of 'em in the cash register."

"I'll bet you ain't got one, let alone a hundred," said the boy. "I'll bet you five soda waters."

"I'll prove it right now. Read what it says on that money. Don't it say 'One Cent'? You don't find any pennies in our coins. Our teacher told us."

The druggist acknowledged his error. "Now," said the boy, "come across with your soda waters. Gimme two chocolate to begin with."

PROUD RECORD OF RED CROSS

War Council Tells Chapters of Wonderful Work Done in the Past Year.

LARGE SUMS WELL EXPENDED

In the Eighteen Months Since This Country Entered the War the Immense Amount of $325,000,000 Has Been Accounted For.

Annual meetings of the 3,854 chapters of the Red Cross were held October 23. The War Council of the organization sent the following message, covering the work for the past year:

To the Chapters of the American Red Cross:

The War Council sends greetings to the chapters of the American Red Cross on the occasion of their annual meetings for 1918.

With these greetings go congratulations on the great work of the chapters during the past year and, above all things, on the wonderful spirit of sacrifice and patriotism which has pervaded that work.

The strength of the Red Cross rests upon its chapters. They are its bone and sinew. They supply its funds, they supply its men and women, they supply its enthusiasm. Let us, then, review together the Red Cross story of the past year.

Some idea of the size to which your Red Cross family has grown may be gathered from the following facts:

On May 1, 1917, just before the appointment of the War Council, the American Red Cross had 486,194 members working through 562 chapters.

On July 31, 1918, the organization numbered 20,648,103 annual members, besides 8,000,000 members of the Junior Red Cross—a total enrollment of over one-fourth the population of the United States.

Since the beginning of the war you of the chapters have co-operated with the War Council in conducting two war fund drives and one membership drive, in addition to the campaign on behalf of the Junior Red Cross.

The total actual collections to date from the first war fund have amounted to more than $115,000,000. The subscriptions to the second war fund amounted to upwards of $170,000,000.

From membership dues the collections have amounted to approximately $24,500,000.

Splendid Work Done by Women.

To the foregoing must be added that very large contribution of materials and time given by the millions of women throughout the country in surgical dressings, in knitted articles, in hospital and refugee garments, in canteen work, and the other activities the chapters have been called upon to perform.

It is estimated that approximately 8,000,000 women are engaged in canteen work and the production of relief supplies through the chapters.

For the period up to July 1, 1918, American Red Cross chapters, through their workrooms, had produced:

490,120	refugee garments.
7,123,621	hospital supplies.
10,786,489	hospital garments.
10,134,501	knitted articles.
192,748,107	surgical dressings.

A total of 221,282,838 articles—of an estimated aggregate value of at least $44,000,000.

These articles were largely the product of women's hands, and, by the same token, infinitely more precious than could have been the output of factories or machines. These articles going to the operating room of the hospitals, to homeless or needy refugees, and carrying comfort to our own boys in the field, convey a message of love from the women of this country entirely distinct from the great money value attaching to their handiwork.

Money Spent in Work.

By the terms under which the first Red Cross war fund was raised, the chapters were entitled to retain 25 per cent of the amount collected, in order defray local expenses, to carry on their home service work, to purchase materials to be utilized in chapter production and otherwise to meet the numerous calls made upon them. The chapters were thus entitled to retain nearly $29,000,000. As a matter of fact, their actual retentions amounted to only about $22,000,000.

Out of collections from annual memberships, the chapters have retained about $11,000,000.

From this total sum, therefore, of $33,000,000 retained by the chapters, they have met all the oftentimes very heavy local demands upon them, and in addition have provided for use by national headquarters products valued, as stated above, at upwards of $44,000,000.

The chapters have in effect returned to the War Council, not alone the $33,000,000 retained out of the war fund membership dues but, in value of actual product, an additional contribution of at least $11,000,000.

It will thus been seen that during the eighteen months which have elapsed since the United States entered the war, the American people will have either paid in or pledged to the American Red Cross for its work of relief throughout the world, in money or in material values, a net total of at least $325,000,000.

Revealed America's Heart.

It has been because of this spirit which has pervaded all American Red Cross effort in this war that the aged governor of one of the stricken and battered provinces of France stated not long since that, though France had long known of America's greatness, strength and enterprise, it remained for the American Red Cross in this war to reveal America's heart.

In this country, at this moment, the workers of the Red Cross, through its chapters, are helping to add to the comfort and health of the millions of our soldiers in 102 camps and cantonments, as well as of those traveling on railroad trains or embarking on ships for duty overseas.

The home service of the Red Cross, with its now more than 40,000 workers, is extending its ministrations of sympathy and counsel each month to upwards of 100,000 families left behind by soldiers at the front—a number ever growing with the increase of our men under arms.

But, of course, the heart of the Red Cross and its money and attention always move toward and focus themselves in Europe where the American Red Cross, as truly "the greatest mother in the world," is seeking to draw "a vast net of mercy through an ocean of unspeakable pain."

Red Cross Worth Recognized.

Nothing is withheld that can be given over there to supplement the efforts of our army and navy in caring for our own boys. The Red Cross does not pretend to do the work of the medical corps of the army or the navy; its purpose is to help and to supplement.

Nor does the Red Cross seek to glorify what it does or those who do it; our satisfaction is in the result, which, we are assured by Secretary Baker, General Pershing, General Ireland and all our leaders, is of inestimable value and of indispensable importance.

By the first of January your Red Cross will have working in France upwards of 5,000 Americans—a vivid contrast to the little group of eighteen men and women which, as the first Red Cross commission to France, sailed about June 1, 1917, to initiate our efforts in Europe.

Your Red Cross now has active, operating commissions in France, in England, in Italy, in Belgium, in Switzerland, in Palestine and in Greece. You have sent a shipload of relief supplies and a group of devoted workers to northern Russia; you have dispatched a commission to work behind our armies in eastern Siberia; you have sent special representatives to Denmark, to Serbia and to the island of Madeira.

Carries Message of Hope.

Your Red Cross is thus extending relief to the armies and navies of our allies; and you are carrying a practical message of hope and relief to the friendly peoples of afflicted Europe and Asia.

Indeed, we are told by those best informed in the countries of our allies that the efforts of your Red Cross to aid the soldiers and to sustain the morale of the civilian populations left at home, especially in France and Italy, have constituted a very real factor in winning the war.

The veil has already begun to lift.

What the Red Cross may be called upon to do in the further course of the war, or with the coming of victory, peace and reconstruction, it would be idle to attempt to prophesy.

But your great organization, in very truth "the mobilized heart and spirit of the whole American people," has shown itself equal to any call, ready to respond to any emergency.

Spirit of All Best and Highest.

The American Red Cross has become not so much an organization as a great movement, seeking to embody in organized form the spirit of service, the spirit of sacrifice—in short, all that is best and highest in the ideals and aspirations of our country.

Indeed we cannot but believe that this wonderful spirit which service in and for the Red Cross has evoked in this war, is destined to become in our national life an element of permanent value.

At Christmas time we shall ask the whole American people to answer the Red Cross Christmas roll call. It will constitute a unique appeal to every man, woman and child in this great land of ours to become enrolled in our army of mercy.

It is the hope of the War Council that this Christmas membership roll call shall constitute a reconsecration of the whole American people, an inspiring reassertion to mankind that in this hour of world tragedy, not to conquer but to serve is America's supreme aim.

THE WAR COUNCIL OF THE AMERICAN RED CROSS.

BERLIN HOPES TO GAIN CONCESSION

MANY CONFLICTING REPORTS IN CIRCULATION ABOUT THE NEXT REPLY.

NEW NOTE BEING PREPARED

Germany Is Reported to Be Willing to Evacuate Belgium and Abandon Unrestricted Submarine Warfare.

Washington, Oct. 21.—So many conflicting reports about a German reply to President Wilson have come out of Holland and Switzerland during the last few days that officials here are disposed now to believe nothing on the subject until the text of a note is received either through official channels or from an unquestionable unofficial source.

Reports on Note Conflict.

German government organs announced Wednesday that the reply had been dispatched, and since then the newspapers of the border neutrals have heard almost hourly that the note was on its way or about to be sent or would not be sent for several days. They have given varying accounts of its contents.

A circumstantial story of how the reply was held up at the lost moment for further consideration after a stormy meeting of the members of the Berlin government with the military leaders and sovereigns of the German states appeared to observers here to have the color of truth and it is regarded as entirely possible that the same thing happened again later in the week.

More Exchanges Sought.

Every version of the probable nature of the reply under consideration, if not adopted, indicates that the Germans are prepared to come forward with what they, at least, will expect the world to believe is a long step toward meeting conditions which President Wilson has said must be met before there can be thought of an armistice, or discussion of peace. Whatever may be the substance of the note it is believed here its form will be designed to make it difficult for President Wilson to avoid further exchanges.

According to one of the reports, the Germans will agree to exacuate Belgium and to abandon provisionally unrestricted submarine warfare, but it will dispute the right of foreign powers to meddle with German internal affairs. Another says the offer will include immediate suspension of submarine warfare, political guarantees and an armistice "which the American and German high commands will arrange on the battlefield."

A dispatch from Madrid saying the Spanish government had been informed that all German submarines had been ordered to their bases appeared to support suggestions that abandonment of the U-boat campaign has been determined upon.

Government officials and diplomats heard all of these reports with interest, but pointed out the futility of attempting to discuss them.

GENERAL LUDENDORFF MAKES GLOOMY REPORT

Informs Meeting of Crown Council in Berlin That Germany May Be Invaded.

London, Oct. 19.—According to the Essen Zeitung, the decision to reply to President Wilson's note of inquiries was taken at a dramatic meeting of the crown council in Berlin, where General Ludendorff made a gloomy report on the military situation.

In the presence of Emperor William and all the federated princes, the general, according to this newspaper, declared the situation was such that Germany might be invaded within a few weeks. In view of his great promises of last spring he was made the subject of bitter reproaches.

GIANT STEEL PLANTS PLANNED FOR DULUTH

Fifteen Millions of Dollars Are to Be Expended at Close of the World War.

Duluth, Oct. 21.—Four large steel working plants that will entail an expenditure of $15,000,000 will be erected in Duluth at the termination of the war.

This comes about as a result of the recent conference held in New York between the Duluth Basic Process committee and Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation's board of directors.

Details of the agreement provide for the erection of a tin plate mill, a sheet mill, a wire mill and a nail mill.

Pleads Guilty to Sedition.

Omaha, Oct. 21.—Walter Pasewalk, secretary of the Minneapolis branch of the I. W. W., pleaded guilty to a charge of sedition before Federal Judge Woodrough and asked to be transferred to another prison, giving as his reason that he feared physical violence at the hands of his brother members, now incarcerated in the Douglas county jail. Sentence was suspended and Pasewalk's request granted, United States Marshal Flynn being instructed to place him in the Dodge county jail.

FREDERICK OEDERLIN

Frederick Oederlin, charge d'affaires ad interim of the Swiss legation in Washington, may have the distinction of transmitting Germany's surrender to the president of the United States. Oederlin is only thirty-eight years of age, and until a short time ago was commercial adviser to Hans Sulzer, Minister from Switzerland. He is a mechanical engineer with experience in the United States and Canada. It was his job to transmit Wilson's note to Berlin, and his job to receive the answer. Minister Sulzer is now in Switzerland.

THINK NOTE MASTER STROKE

WILSON'S REPLY TO AUSTRIA DELIGHTS CZECHO-SLOVAKS.

Direct Encouragement Is Given People Suffering From Dual Monarchy Misrule.

Washington, Oct. 21.—President Wilson's reply to Austria was considered by the Czecho-Slovaks national council as a master stroke toward disruption of the dual monarchy.

Great elation was expressed at the open and uncompromising stand of the President for the complete independence of the nationalities oppressed by the Hapsburgs, when members of the council were informed of America's reply.

The council believes the move will be felt in every corner of the dual monarchy and that direct encouragement will be given forces struggling throughout Austro-Hungary and particularly in Bohemia and Moravia for immediate freedom from Vienna rule.

"UNSINKABLE SHIP" IS SUNK BY SUBMARINE

Buoyancy Boxes Fail to Save Former Austrian Steamer When First Torpedo Hits.

New York, Oct. 21.—The American steamship Lucia, equipped with buoyancy boxes and supposed to be unsinkable, has been sunk, according to word received here in shipping circles. It was torpedoed by a submarine in the Atlantic, but details as to the date of the sinking and the fate of the crew are lacking.

The Lucia, formerly an Austrian freighter of the same name, left an Atlantic port with cargo Oct. 12.

MONTANA WHEAT CROP 25,324,000 BUSHELS

Despite the Dry Season State Has Produced a Very Creditable Yield.

Missoula, Mont., Oct. 21.—Despite the dry season, Montana's wheat production this year will be 25,324,000 bushels, according to an estimate issued by Guy Fitzpatrick, state representative of the Federal Bureau of crop estimates.

Mr. Fitzpatrick estimates the all-wheat production of the United States for the year at 917,798,000 bushels, the second largest wheat crop the nation ever produced.

"FOLLOW UP" SYSTEM APPLIED TO CASUALTIES

Name of Every Man Wounded and Nature of His Injury Will be Recorded.

Washington, Oct. 21.—An extension of the Red Cross "follow up" system has been inaugurated by the War department so that details even of minor casualties among American soldiers abroad will be reported to the department. General March said the system would record the name of every man wounded and the nature of his injury.

Chinese Gold Issue Opposed.

Peking, Oct. 21.—The British, French and Russian ministers notified the Chinese government that China's assumption that the countries represented by the ministers had expressed satisfaction with the proposed gold currency issue was altogether wrong. The ministers strongly emphasized the objections of their respective countries. The American government, although it did not associate its memorandum with that of the other ministers, also expressed disapproval of [illegible]

PRESIDENT WILL NOT DEAL WITH FOE AUTOCRACY

Wilson Refuses to Concede German Government's Request for Armistice.

ALLIES ARE HORRIFIED

Cessation of Hostilities Impossible While Acts of Inhumanity, Spoliation and Desolation Shock Civilized World.

Washington, Oct. 16.—President Wilson answered Germany's peace proffer with a note declaring anew that there can be no peace with a German government controlled by a military autocracy and no thought of an armistice while German atrocities continue on land and sea.

This statement was made at the White House: "The government will continue to send over 250,000 men with their supplies every month and there will be no relaxation."

President Wilson's Answer.

The text of the President's answer follows:

"The unqualified acceptance by the present German government, and by a large majority of the reichstag, of the terms laid down by the President of the United States of America in his address to the Congress of the United States on the 8th of January, 1918, and his subsequent addresses, justifies the President in making a frank and direct statement of his decision with regard to the communications of the German government of the 8th and 12th of October, 1918.

"He feels confident that he can safely assume that this will also be the judgment and decision of the Allied governments.

"The President feels that it is also his duty to add that neither the government of the United States nor, he is quite sure, the governments with which the government of the United States is associated as a belligerent, will consent to consider an armistice so long as the armed forces of Germany continue the illegal and inhuman practices which they still persist in.

"At the very time that the German government approaches the government of the United States with proposals of peace its submarines are engaged in sinking passenger ships at sea and not the ships alone, but the very boats in which their passengers and crews seek to make their way to safety; and in their present enforced withdrawal from France and Flanders the German armies are pursuing a course of wanton destruction which has always been regarded as in direct violation of the rules and practices of civilized warfare. Cities and villages, if not destroyed, are being stripped not only of all they contain, but often of their very inhabitants.

"The nations associated against Germany cannot be expected to agree to a cessation of arms while acts of inhumanity, spoliation and desolation are being continued which they justly look upon with horror and with burning hearts.

"It is necessary, also, in order that there may be no possibility of misunderstanding, that the President should very solemnly call the attention of the government of Germany to the language and plain intent of one of the terms of peace which the German government now has accepted. It is contained in the address of the President, delivered at Mount Vernon, on the Fourth of July last. It is as follows:

" 'The destruction of every arbitrary power everywhere that can separately, secretly and of its single choice disturb the peace of the world; or if it cannot be presently destroyed, at least its reduction to virtual impotency.'

"The power which has hitherto controlled the German nation is of the sort here described. It is within the choice of the German nation to alter it. The President's words just quoted naturally constitute a condition precedent to peace, if peace is to come by the action of the German people themselves.

"The President feels bound to say that the whole process of peace will in his judgment depend upon the definiteness and satisfactory character of the guarantees which can be given in this fundamental matter. It is indispensable that the governments associated against Germany should know beyond a peradventure with whom they are dealing.

"The President will make a separate reply to the royal and imperial government of Austria-Hungary.

"Accept, sir, the renewed assurance of my high consideration.

"ROBERT LANSING."

Task of Completing Loan.

Washington, Oct. 16.—Unaffected by proposals of peace by Germany, the American people set themselves to subscribe at least $3,000,000,000 in the next six days to the Fourth Liberty Loan—the greatest financial task ever placed before the nation. Reports to the Treasury department based on information received from each of the 12 federal reserve districts showed that total subscriptions received through banks and through trust companies to date [illegible]

The Art of Kindness.

As an elderly married couple were passing up a street, a lady on the opposite side stubbed her toe and fell down.

The old gentleman rushed across the street, raised his hat, and offered to assist her in any possible way.

The wife followed him across at a slow pace, and, witnessing his devotion to the stranger, she got mad, and shook her fist at him.

"It's all right—it's all right!" he whispered.

"Yes, I know it is," she hotly exclaimed. "Here an unknown woman stubs her toe, and you plow across the street to eat her up with kindness. The other day, when I fell downstairs, you stood at the bottom and laughed and chuckled and tickled your ribs, and wanted to know if I was imitating Charlie Chaplin."—Adelaide (Australia) Chronicle.

Aerial Bombing.

Aerial bombing is today far more of an exact science than was supposed possible a year and a half ago. In the early days of the war, dropping bombs was largely a matter of luck. Accurate bomb-sights have been produced which, carefully used, are a guarantee of the bomb falling on the object aimed at, with a very small margin of error. Of course, in the case of all such instruments, the human element is sometimes responsible for errors of calculation and a small error on a bomb-sight at 15,000 feet will send a bomb far out of its course.

"You all take this notice. I have gone to fight the Germans, and I don't know when I'm coming back. Somebody chip round my humpy against grass fire. All my bullocks is sold except Sambo, him with the cockhorn. Anyone finding him can sell him to the — butcher and mind the money till I come back."

Sambo has been collected and his price ($59) banked against the boss' return. The humpy (shack) is regularly chipped round, and anyone who interfered with the old wagon rusting outside, or the gear piled against the wall, would have to fight the whole district.

White Man Stops to Eat.

A teacher in an Indian agricultural school in South Dakota writes us that the loyalty of the Sioux in that region is astonishing. Many have quietly enlisted without fuss or hurrah, but with great determination. She adds: "My neighbor, Frisking Elk, who lost a leg befriending the whites in the old hostile days, expressed the wish that he had the missing limb that he might now go and fight; but he adds: 'I do not think much of the way the white man fights now. He sleeps, then he eats, then he rests a while, then he fights, then he eats. No, that is not the way. When I used to fight I used to go three, four and five days without eating.'"—Outlook.

HAARLEM OIL CAPSULES IF YOUR BACK ACHES

Do you feel tired and "worn-out?" Are you nervous and irritable? Don't sleep well at night? Have a "dragged out," unrested feeling when you get up in the morning? Dizzy spells? Bilious? Bad taste in the mouth, backache, pain or soreness in the loins, and abdomen? Severe distress when urinating, bloody, cloudy urine or sediment? All these indicate gravel or stone in the bladder, or that the poisonous microbes, which are always in your system, have attacked your kidneys.

You should use GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules immediately. The oil soaks gently into the walls and lining of the kidneys, and the little poisonous animal germs, which are causing the inflammation, are immediately attacked and chased out of your system without inconvenience or pain.

Don't ignore the "little pains and aches," especially backaches. They may be little now but there is no telling how soon a dangerous or fatal disease of which they are the forerunners may show itself. Go after the cause of that backache at once, or you may find yourself in the grip of an incurable disease.

Do not delay a minute. Go to your druggist and insist on his supplying you with a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. In 24 hours you will feel renewed health and vigor. After you have cured yourself, continue to take one or two Capsules each day so as to keep in first-class condition, and ward off the danger of future attacks. Money refunded if they do not help you. Ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand, and thus be sure of getting the genuine.—Adv.

FIRE SUFFERERS TO HAVE FULL RELIEF

EVERY MEANS OF GOVERNMENT TO BE USED IN GIVING AID FOR REHABILITATION.

PEOPLE TO BE ASKED TO AID

State Executive Pledges Homes, Food, Clothing and Other Necessities—$500,000 Needed for Immediate Demands—Fearful Toll of Fire.

PLANS OF RECONSTRUCTION.

Plans for the rehabilitation of the fire-stricken district of northern Minnesota, as so far worked out with the backing of state, federal and local officials, are as follows:

- Immediate supplying of food and clothing to survivors and feed for animals.
- Financing and government supervision for rebuilding settlers' homes.
- Supplying labor for the rebuilding and reconstruction of the district.
- Making complete survey of livestock situation and preparing to restock district and supply food for cattle and horses.
- Helping banks in burned towns to weather the situation and reopen for business.
- Rebuilding of factories burned in Cloquet and homes needed in Duluth.
- Policing of burned district by Guardsmen and Motor Reserve Corps to recover remaining dead, prevent further spread of fires and relieve distress of survivors.

St. Paul, Oct. 18.—This is the message of Governor J. A. A. Burnquist to the people of the fire-swept district of northern Minnesota:

"Keep a stiff upper lip. The state of Minnesota is going to see you through. Don't be discouraged at the tasks ahead of you or give up fighting because you have had losses and bereavements. The relief organization is in splendid shape and will supply those who need it with food, clothing and feed for livestock. It will help you with seed and with new livestock in the spring, and it will see you through until you are on your feet."

Fearful Toll of Fires.

Preparatory to the work of reconstruction, surveys were progressing in all parts of the forest fire district, under the direction of state and private agencies. When the work is complete the Minnesota Public Safety commission will know just what the state must do. Preliminary reports compiled at the capitol indicate that:

Twenty-nine towns have been destroyed.

Settlers' homes on 12,000 square miles are gone.

Eight hundred and fifty bodies recovered or located.

More than 13,000 persons made homeless.

Property valued at $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 burned.

Practically all the horses and 50 per cent of other livestock in the district was destroyed.

Some of the state's most valuable hardwood timber areas were devastated.

Telephone and telegraph lines suffered approximately $500,000 damage.

State bridges in all burned sections were destroyed.

Early movement back to the farms and burned areas and the cultivation of burned areas will prevent growth of underbrush and save millions of dollars.

To See Sufferers Through.

"We are going to see the people through," said the governor on his return to the capitol. "All who have lost homes and possessions through the fires will receive help as they need it. We want them to stay and restore their towns and their farms. The plans and the organizations under way will give them all needed help.

Liberal Contributions Asked.

"Liberal contributions are needed for relief funds from every county and community in the state. W. A. McGonagle, chairman of our general relief committee, who handled the relief organization for the Baudette and Spooner fire, says that $500,000 will be needed. We have $284,000 in all in the Safety Commission fund, and that will be drawn on while it lasts.

"I want to say that the relief work has been handled wonderfully. We could not have made out at all without the Motor Reserve Corps.

No Extra Session Needed.

"No extra session of the legislature is needed. The Public Safety commission has done everything needed for temporary relief, and the legislature will meet in regular session in less than three months."

Army Needs Telegraphers.

Washington, Oct. 18.—The Signal Corps needs 750 bonus telegraphers for service in France. Men skilled in telegraphy between the ages of 18 and 55, inclusive, the War department announces, should apply at once for details to the chief signal officer of the army, Washington. Requisitions have been received from General J. J. Pershing for this number of bonus Morse telegraph operators to be sent to France between now and June 30, 1919.

PHYSICIANS ARE CALLED TOO SOON

Not Necessary to Summon Doctor in Mild Cases of Spanish Influenza.

REST IN BED IS IMPORTANT

Acute Shortage of Medical and Nursing Service Makes It Imperative That People Learn Something of Care of Sick.

Washington.—In an effort to reduce unnecessary calls on the over-worked physicians throughout the country because of the present epidemic of influenza, Surgeon General Blue of the United States public health service calls upon the people of the country to learn something about the home care of patients ill with influenza. Physicians everywhere have complained about the large number of unnecessary calls they have had to make because of the inability of many people to distinguish between the cases requiring expert medical care and those which could readily be cared for without a physician. With influenza continuing to spread in many parts of the country, and with an acute shortage of doctors and nurses everywhere, every unnecessary call on either physicians or nurses makes it so much harder to meet the urgent needs of the patients who are seriously ill.

Present Generation Spoiled.

"The present generation," said the surgeon general, "has been spoiled by having had expert medical and nursing care readily available. It was not so in the days of our grandmothers, when every good housewife was expected to know a good deal about the care of the sick.

"Every person who feels sick and appears to be developing an attack of influenza should at once be put to bed in a well-ventilated room. If his bowels have moved regularly, it is not necessary to give a physic; where a physic is needed, a dose of castor oil or Rochelle salts should be given.

"The room should be cleared of all unnecessary furniture, bric-a-brac, and rugs. A wash basin, pitcher, and slop bowl, soap and towel should be at hand, preferably in the room or just outside the door.

"If the patient is feverish a doctor should be called, and this should be done in any case if the patient appears very sick, or coughs up pinkish (blood-stained) sputum, or breathes rapidly and painfully.

"Most of the patients cough up considerable mucus; in some, there is much mucus discharged from the nose and throat. This material should not be collected in handkerchiefs, but rather in bits of old rags, or toilet paper, or on paper napkins. As soon as used, these rags or papers should be placed in a paper bag kept beside the bed. Pocket handkerchiefs are out of place in the sick room and should not be used by patients. The rags or papers in the paper bag should be burned.

"The patients will not be hungry, and the diet should therefore be light. Milk, a soft-boiled egg, some toast or crackers, a bit of jelly or jam, stewed fruit, some cooked cereal like oatmeal, hominy or rice—these will suffice in most cases.

Comfort of Patient.

"The comfort of the patient depends on a number of little things, and these should not be overlooked. Among these may be mentioned a well-ventilated room; a thoroughly clean bed with fresh, smooth sheets and pillowcases; quiet, so that refreshing sleep may be had; cool drinking water conveniently placed; a cool compress to the forehead if there is headache; keeping the patient's hands and face clean, and the hair combed; keeping his mouth clean, preferably with some pleasant mouth wash; letting the patient know that someone is within call, but not annoying him with too much fussing; giving the patient plenty of opportunity to rest and sleep.

"So much for the patient. It is equally important to consider the person who is caring for him. It is important to remember that the disease is spread by breathing germ-laden matter sprayed into the air by the patient in coughing or even in ordinary breathing. The attendant should therefore wear a gauze mask over her mouth and nose while she is in the sick room.

Observe Cleanliness.

"The attendant should, if possible, wear a washable gown or an apron which covers the dress. This will make it much simpler to avoid infection.

"It is desirable that all attendants learn how to use a fever thermometer. This is not at all a difficult matter, and the use of such a thermometer is a great help in caring for the patients.

"In closing, and lest I be misunderstood, I wish to leave one word of caution: If in doubt, call the doctor."

Fact.

"We've had to come 17,000 miles to get in this fight," remarked an Australian in France.

"We haven't had to come that far," replied an American, "but it's just as hard to swim the Atlantic as it is the Pacific."

Taking Chances.

"Have they found out yet what is the matter with your son, Mike?"

"No, sir; so they've took him to the hospital to have an autopsy performed on him."

Cheap (?) Fare.

Though he is privileged to grouse to his heart's content, there is no finer philosopher than the soldier. He always finds the silver lining of the cloud. "Glad I joined up?" said a maimed Tommy but lately discharged from the Gloucesters. "I should say so. See how I've traveled—Egypt, Gallipoli, Italy and France. I could not have done that in 'civvy' life. And the fare—one leg!"

A Question.

"Yes, my husband is a baseball crank."

Nervous and All Unstrung?

Feel nervous and irritable all the time? Continually worry over trifles? Then there's something wrong. Back of it all may be weak kidneys. Just as nerve wear is a cause of kidney weakness, so is kidney trouble a cause of nervousness. If you have backache, "blues," nervous spells, headaches, dizzy spells, kidney irregularities and a tired, worn feeling, try Doan's Kidney Pills. They are recommended by thousands.

A Minnesota Case

Mrs. John Dooley, Janesville, Minn., says: "My back was so lame, I couldn't do my housework, and the pains were terrible. My kidneys didn't act right at all and showed considerable weakness. I also had dizzy headaches. My back ached so at night that I couldn't sleep at all. I tried different remedies, but didn't get any relief. I finally learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and after using six boxes, was entirely cured of the complaint. I can't praise Doan's too highly."

How Acid-Stomach Wrecks Health of Millions

Many people make the mistake of thinking that acid-stomach—superacidity as the doctors call it—merely means an occasional attack of indigestion, bloat, heartburn, belching, sour, gassy stomach, or some other such minor ailment quickly remedied—or will cure itself—and leave no serious after effects. As a matter of fact superacidity is responsible for a long train of serious ailments that cause awful suffering and sometimes baffle the best medical skill. It is a well established fact that many cases of chronic stomach trouble, anemia, stomatitis, gastritis, rheumatism, gout, lumbago, cirrhosis of the liver, auto-intoxication, dyspepsia, catarrh of the stomach, intestinal ulcer, cancer of the stomach, and frequently valvular heart trouble and heart failure, can be traced directly to an acid-stomach.

This is not at all surprising when you consider that even the acid formed in the mouth from fermentation of bits of food lodged in the teeth—an acid that is actually tasteless—is yet powerful enough to eat through the hard enamel of the teeth and decay them. Is it any wonder, then, that an excess amount of acid in the stomach causes so much misery, undermines the strength and wrecks the health and happiness of so many people? Is it not a fact, within the range of your own observation, that nine people out of ten are victims of acid-stomach?

If you ever hope to be well and strong you must get rid of that excess acid. Nothing is gained by taking medicines which merely stimulate and give one a false sense of strength and that leave the excess acid still in the stomach. You must depend upon your food for your strength — and unless you keep your stomach free from excess acid, pure, sweet and strong, it cannot properly digest food; your whole body suffers.

What you want is relief — yes — and here is the way—absolutely guaranteed—you take no chance. It's been tested tens of thousands of times with universal success. Go to your druggist and get just one package of EATONIC, a wonderful preparation that will literally wipe the excess acidity out of your stomach. The results obtained are nothing short of marvelous. Almost instantly it relieves that painful, puffed up feeling after eating, belching, heartburn, sour stomach, etc. Makes the stomach feel cool and comfortable.

If you need this help it's your own fault if you suffer another day.

EATONIC is absolutely guaranteed, so get a big 50c box from your druggist. If it does not help you your money will be refunded. Germany certainly have got lots of nerve to claim they are fighting in defense of the Fatherland, when they have to be driven out of Belgium and France at the point of the bayonet. They want to talk peace, while their army of invasion is still occupying land that they took by force. But they might as well whistle as to talk peace to the American people at this time. The time for them to talk peace to this country was two years ago, when Wilson was "keeping us out of war." Now that we are in it, this country will fight that war to a finish, and bury that German autocracy so deep that it will never be dug up. That's America's answer to any peace talk at this time. Our boys over there want to finish up the job right, and they will never be called back until they do it. They now have the Germans on the run, and they will keep them on the run until they chase them into Berlin.

Invade Germany and give them the same treatment they gave Belgium and France, is the sentiment of some of the American people. This will never happen with American soldiers as invaders. They will promptly put the bayonet through any German soldier that stands in their way, but when it comes to butchering helpless women and children, hanging infants up by the feet, cutting breasts off from women, going into people's houses, murdering the whole family, stealing their property and sending it home to America, you can count our boys out. They are men, human beings and soldiers, not savage brutes, but the Germans have discovered that they can and will fight, and that America will send enough of them over there to settle that war right, while we are into it. This country does not intend to take their troops out of Europe until they have placed those German war lords in a position where they can not make war on peaceful nations in the future.

"What the people of Minnesota desire," said Hon. Fred Wheaton in his Red Wing speech "is a real Governor, one who governs." There isn't the least doubt of this. Had Wheaton been Governor during the days following our decision to defend the national honor there would have been no "aloofness" in the executive office and sentiment in Minnesota today would no doubt be more definitely and decisively American. We doubt that he would have found it necessary at any time to have abridged the right of public assembly within the borders of the state.

The United States Chamber of Commerce, which recently became office boy for the packers and which some time ago promised to investigate the charges made by the farmers of the North west against monopolists and profiteers, must feel bad to find itself being investigated by a United States senate committee. What came out in the first day's hearings really isn't fit for the kept press to print.

The war-profit hogs are certainly doing a lot of squealing these days, especially against the Nonpartisan league and the federal trade commission. Can it be that they are getting hog cholera?

FOR SHERIFF

I hereby announce to the Voters of this County that I am a Candidate for Re-election for Sheriff of Pennington County. MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of six Dollars which became due on the first day of December 1916, and is due and claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Ole K. Homme, unmarried, mortgagor, to The Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Oklee, Minnesota, a corporation, mortgagee, bearing date the 1st day of December, 1918 which mortgage with the power of sale therein contained was filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Pennington County, State of Minnesota, on the 17th day of December 1913, at Eight o'clock A. M. and was there duly recorded in Book 9 of Mortgages on page 614 thereof; and whereas pursuant to the terms and conditions of said mortgage, and by reason of said default, the whole unpaid principal sum of said mortgage to-wit: the sum of Twenty dollars [$20.00] became at once due and payable, and was and is hereby so declared by said mortgagee; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of Twenty Dollars [$20.00] with interest thereon at Ten per cent per annum since the first day of December, 1916.

And whereas, the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceedings having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof,

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage above described will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, to-wit: The North Half of the Northwest Quarter of Section Twenty-two 22 in Township One Hundred Fifty-three 153 North of Range Thirty Nine 39 West of the 5th P. M. in Minnesota, being in the county of Pennington, in said State of Minnesota which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Pennington County, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County and State, on Tuesday the 29th day of October 1918, at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at Public vendue, to pay the said debt and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and an attorney's fee of twenty-five Dollars as stipulated in and by said mortgage, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of said sale as provided by law.

Dated August 6th, 1918.

Twice Cited for Bravery.

To have been cited by the French for bravery twice since his arrival in France in January, is the record of Professor Stephen H. Bush of the University of Iowa. In the wake of the first official announcement came a lengthy cablegram with the details of his second citation. "Courage and tenacity in bringing in wounded over exposed places" were conspicuous on the part of Professor Bush, who is working for the Y. M. C. A. with the Moroccan divisions.

The cablegram further declares that the French are devoted to Professor Bush and the other Y. M. C. A. workers in his division and are gaining a high opinion of Americans through contact with them. Professor Bush is head of the department of romance languages at the university.—Iowa University Newsletter.

More Than Paid the Debt.

Some of us will give a second thought to the extraordinary achievement of a congregation in Geneva, N. Y., which first built with reckless extravagance a massive graystone church and then adopted the tithing system to get them out of their difficulty. The story is told in Outlook. When the church was dedicated—if that is the right word—the debt was $82,000, and the weekly budget $230. The weekly income was less than $100. In two years the debt has been reduced to $40,000, and the weekly income is $300. Of the 1,000 members 350 are tithers. A tither sets aside one-tenth of his income for Christian activities. The blessings of happiness and prosperity which have attended the people are remarkable. Many thrilling stories are told. Some church leaders are deeply impressed by the success of the system and they are advocating it as a financial policy.—Christian Register.

War Savings Stamps for sale at Sunbeam post office

The farmers should "stick" and give a solid vote for their candidate for governor, David Evans.

FOR SALE: 6 head of horses, 3 set of heavy work harnesses, 3 cows. Two just fresh. 20 tons of fine hay. Inquire at Sunbeam.

Clarence S. McReynolds, who taught the Highlanding school last winter and left here to join the colors, has made good, and is now promoted to a non-commissioned officer. He is now Sergeant McReynolds, and his Highlanding friends will be pleased to hear of his advancement.

Ole Narveson who left here this summer has been promoted to Corporal. We knew Ole would make good and Uncle Sam can depend on him to make good when he faces Germans. He was a first class rifle shot, and can also take good care of Ole with any German that he might meet in close action.

The weather has been very unfavorable for the past week, with no threshing weather. The Nelson machine is at the O'Brien farm, and the Ose machine is at the Grunde Austad farm, and it will take them only about a week of fair weather to meet and close up the threshing in this locality.

Some of the candidates who sent their announcements to this office for publication in our last issue need not be surprised that they do not see them printed, as we are no flying machine and have not got a printing machine. A man who is a candidate from June to November had ought to had time to send out his announcement before three or four days before election.

When anyone tells you that the Hon. Knute Nelson has drifted away from the common people, you people who have your daily mail route from Hazel to Sunbeam, just tell them, that your Uncle Knute took enough interest in you common people to go personally to the Hon. 4th, assistant Post Master General and explain the situation to him, in order that just common people, like you and I, might have the excellent mail service which we now have. Remember this next Tuesday when you go into your election booth, Knute Nelson is sure of election, but he will appreciate your vote.

First Drink Merely a Sample.

It was a hot day, and two sailors had just been released from a long spell of duty on a mine-sweeper. They made a bee-line for the first public house they saw, and one of them ordered two quarts of ale. The men emptied their mugs in one draught while the barmaid looked on in undisguised admiration.

The man who had paid stood for a second or two wiping his lips meditatively, and then turned to his comrade with a grin.

"Tain't so bad, Bill, is it?" he remarked. "Shall we 'ave some?"—London Tit-Bits.

He Ordered Pie.

My brother was telling me of a number of humorous incidents which took place at camp. This one cost the victim, a young rookie, a week end's visit to the guardhouse. He had been made believe by a few fellows who were in for some sport that if he wanted pie all he had to do was order it. When meal time came around the rookie ordered pie. Of course he didn't get it, so he raised a rumpus. After a few moments his commanding officer was heard to say, "You're in the army now. Perhaps we had better show you the guardhouse first."—Chicago Tribune.

As TO County Attorney

County attorney E. M. Stanton is out with a circular letter that will strike a popular chord among the tax paying farmers. We all remember the upheaval some three years ago when so many of Pennington County law abiding citizens were up for law violation, and after the cases was tried it developed that about all the criminals and blind piggers were located in the city of Thief River Falls, and should have been prosecuted at the expense of the City. But the farmer tax payers paid the bills. As to what Mr. Quale would do, if elected, we do not know. But we do know that E. M. Stanton prosecutes law violators and convicts them and makes them pay a fine and costs, as the records of the Courts will show. We further know, that he will not allow one individual to persecute another at the expense of the tax payers, nor will he allow Thief River Falls to prosecute criminals at the expense of the farmer tax payer. It seems to us that there is no use for us, as farmers to try to deprive Thief River Falls of their city attorney to replace a man who has so well looked after the interests of the farmer tax payers as E. M. Stanton has.

OVER IN STAR TOWNSHIP

Over in the south eastern part of Star township, there are four or five farmers who have not got a passable road to haul their produce to market, and yet they have been paying taxes into the road and bridge funds of Pennington county year after year. Do you think it would be unfair to give those farmers part of their own money back to build them a road to market? We don't, and W. G. Hunt will see that they get it, if he is elected County Commissioner.

FOR County Commissioner

Why we decided to file for the office of County Commissioner.

After we got permission for the Highlanding bridge, we began to look the matter up to see where we could get the money to build the bridge. We noticed that Red Lake county were constructing new bridges across Clearwater River, and that Pennington County were not building any bridges. We then began looking the matter up to see where our road and bridge funds had been spent, and it did not take long to find out that this District had been paying into this fund year after year and getting little if any part of their money back. Rather than to see this condition continue for four years more, we decided to file and place the facts before the people. It is now up to you. If you are satisfied to pay your cash in to the county road and bridge fund year after year, and get nothing back, vote for P. C. Wold. We can stand it if you can.

Inconsistent.

Americans Should Eat Fish.

Americans are deficient as fish eaters, compared with inhabitants of foreign countries. Less than two pounds per head is the yearly consumption of salt and smoked fish in this country. For the winter's supply, salt fish can be laid in and, pound for pound, furnish much more nutriment than fresh fish. This is because curing extracts a large part of the water, and what is left is nearly all solid food.—People's Home Journal.

Had No Occasion to Say It.

A little girl was invited to a friend's house for dinner and before leaving her mother warned her to say "please," "thank you," and "no, thank you." SACRIFICE THE THING

Word Is True Definition of Patriotism

Assertion of Sergeant Davis, Speaker in Ninth District Fourth Liberty Bond Campaign.

Sergeant Leslie W. Davis, who hails from Kentucky, and is a veteran of the Philippines and Cuba and of the trenches in France and who is a speaker on the war exhibit trains touring the Ninth Federal District, is a reticent man in private life but once he starts talking war he brings the Liberty Loan money out of hiding places in a golden stream.

Davis answered the call to the Colors in August, 1917, and went to France in December with Co. E, 21 Engineers and saw active service all along the line, but gas and shell-shock temporarily wound up his fighting career and he was shipped home to talk for Liberty Loans.

When he landed in Ninth District headquarters, Minneapolis, he did not act like a speaker for he simply gave his name and credentials and said he was ready for service. An effort was made to get him to talk but nobody could get a rise out of him. Finally he was asked point blank:

"Davis, what do you say to a man who could afford to buy a Liberty bond and doesn't?"

The fire leaped to his eyes, his hair seemed to bristle, he bounded out of his chair and launched into an extemporaneous oration which trilled everyone in district headquarters. When Davis was through the tears were running down his checks, he was shaking like a leaf, and it was necessary to lead him to a chair. No one remembers all he said but they all remember his last sentence.

"The true definition of patriotism is sacrifice."

WHAT L. L. BONDS

They Give American Soldiers Best of Everything

People Back Government Freely So That Soldiers Lack Nothing That Money Can Buy.

Is the money you are putting into Liberty bonds doing active service?

Capt. Robert L. Finch, one of the thirteen captains turned loose by the Red Cross in the American sector in France to ascertain how our soldier boys are faring answers that question for people of the Ninth Federal Reserve District. Capt. Finch is one of the speakers on the war exhibit trains touring the Ninth District.

"I have talked to our soldiers in France from the boys in the front line trenches within sight of the German helmets way back along the line of communication and transportation to the boys at the terminals at the French seaports," said Capt. Finch, "in a way it might be said that I was looking for trouble but I could not find any. I found our boys enduring hardships, encountering and overcoming tremendous obstacles, fighting all manners of inconveniences, but I did not find an American soldier in France who was shy of anything that American money could buy. I never heard a complaint of the character or variety of the food, a complaint regarding the clothing, rifles, guns, ammunition, hospital equipment, or medical service.

"You people over here have backed your Government freely and you may have the satisfaction of knowing that our Army in France lacks nothing that money can buy, though of course as the Army increases, so the expense increases, and you have got to keep up the good work. That means buy Fourth Liberty Loan bonds."

WAR WORK

American women nurses are installed eight miles in the rear of the fighting lines "over there." Right here at home many women should learn nursing to take care of the sick or, in emergencies, the wounded. You can learn a great deal by obtaining the "Medical Adviser," a book of 1,000 pages, bound in cloth, containing chapters on First Aid, Bandaging, Anatomy, Hygiene, Sex Problems, Mother and Babe. 200 prescriptions for acute and chronic diseases; profusely illustrated by wood cuts and colored plates. Ask your druggist or send 50c. to Publisher, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

If a woman is nervous or has dizzy spells, suffers from awful pains at regular or irregular intervals she should turn to a tonic made up of herbs, and without alcohol, which makes weak women strong and sick women well! It is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Then, for the liver and bowels nothing is so good as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

Randall, Minn.—"For a number of years I suffered with woman's weakness. At times my suffering was almost unbearable. I had pain in my back which would run down through my sides. I could not seem to find any medicine that would give me the least relief until I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and one bottle completely cured me of my ailment. Afterward I became the mother of a fine baby boy and he, as well as myself, was in the best of health. This medicine did wonders for me and I am only too glad to recommend it to weak and ailing women."

Meeting Friends.

An American soldier in a French hospital raised on his pillow and surveyed his neighbor.

"Say, what outfit are you out of, buddy?" he asked. "Your mug looks kind of familiar and I've been trying to place you."

"Company I, —th infantry," said he of the bandaged head.

"So am I. Who the deuce are you?"

"I," said the other, "am the captain."

"No," replied the man of sincere resentiments; "and whatever they say they mean by it, I don't believe it."

"Did your garden help things along?"

"Yes," answered the patient man, "it helped the neighbors to raise some of the finest chickens I ever saw."

BERLIN ANSWERS WILSON'S NOTE

Reply Calls Attention to Alterations in the German Constitution.

WANTS PEACE TERMS

Bill Placing the Military Command Under Control of the Civil Government Has Been Passed by the Reichstag.

Paris, Oct. 28.—An answer to President Wilson's last note has been prepared by the German government, in which, after again referring to the "far-reaching changes which have been and are being carried out in the German constitutional structure, to which the military powers have been made subject," it declares that Germany now awaits the proposals for an armistice.

A London dispatch, however, in reporting the fact that Premier Lloyd George and Foreign Secretary Balfour had gone to France with naval and military adviers, says it is understood authoritatively that the Allied governments will not reveal their armistice terms until Germany has replied to President Wilson's last note, which, it probably was expected, would contain more than the mere fact that Germany was waiting for the terms of the armistice.

Ludendorff Steps Out.

A crash has come in the personnel of the German high command.

General Ludendorff, reputed to be the brains of the German army—the man who promised he would crush Great Britain and France before the United States could get under way in a military sense, has resigned his position as first quartermaster general, and Emperor William has accepted his resignation.

Military Losing Power.

Simultaneously, while the German line continues to crumble under the Allied attacks and the German border is slowly but gradually being approached by Germany's foes, come a report that the reichstag, by a large majority, passed a bill placing the military command under control of the civil government.

Germany's answer to President Wilson's latest communication says:

"The German government has taken cognizance of the answer of the President of the United States.

"The President is aware of the far-reaching changes which have been carried out and are being carried out in the German constitutional structure, and that peace negotiations are being conducted by a people's government in whose hands rests, both actually and constitutionally, the power to make the deciding conclusions.

"The military powers are also subject to it.

"The German government now awaits proposals for an armistice, which shall be the first step toward a just peace," as the President has described in his proclamation."

GENERAL LUDENDORFF QUITS

German Military Genius Reported to Have Resigned.

Copenhagen, Oct. 28.—General Ludendorff, first quartermaster geenral of the German army, has resigned, says a telegram from Berlin. In accepting has resignation, the emperor has decreed that the lower Rhenish infantry regiment No. 39, of which General Ludendorff long had been commander, shall bear his name.

In the resignation of General Ludendorff, Germany loses what often has been described as her "military brain."

GERMAN TROOPS ARE DOPED

Officers Tell Them Americans Behead All Prisoners.

With the American Armies, Oct. 28. —German officers are telling their soldiers that all German prisoners taken by the United States troops have their heads cut off when taken to the rear.

The obvious purpose of this is to prevent the men from giving themselves up voluntarily to the Americans, as hundreds of them have lately done.

AUSTRIA'S HANDS ARE TIED

Emperor Charles Is Unable to Make Separate Peace.

Berne, Oct. 28.—Prof. Lammasch recently was asked to form an Austrian cabinet and accepted on condition that Austria-Hungary immediately make a separate peace with the Allies. Reports from Vienna say that Emperor Charles declared such a thing was impossible, saying he had given his word of honor to the German emperor never to make a separate peace.

Enormous Supply of Wheat.

Washington, Oct. 28.—A bumper supply of wheat on hand the first of October is shown in a statement issued by the Department of Agriculture. At that time there were 195,997,839 bushels reported on hand as compared with 114,331,842 Sept. 1. The supply, the report shows, is almost three times as large as a year ago, the actual percentage being 297.6 of the 1917 stock. These figures refer to stocks actually reported and do not include stocks on farms.

DANDRUFF MAKES HAIR FALL OUT

A small bottle of "Danderine" keeps hair thick, strong, beautiful.

Girls! Try this! Doubles beauty of your hair in a few moments.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine for a few cents at any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any —that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.—Adv.

WOMEN SUFFERERS MAY NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

NATION PAYING GREAT WAR BILL

Cost of Conflict for the Fiscal Year 1918 Is Placed at $36,298,405,223.

EXPENSE IS INCREASING

Money Now Is Being Spent at the Rate of Twenty-Four Billion Dollars Annually, Nearly Double Since January.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Should American industries be able to handle all war orders authorized for the fiscal year 1918 by Congress the nation's war bill for that period will be $36,298,405,223.07, a sum within $1,000,000,000 of the amount spent by Great Britain in the first four years of war.

Appropriations for the year total $26,877,453,398.30, which means that the next session of this Congress or the Sixty-sixth Congress must appropriate $9,421,030,122.00 to take care of authorized contracts, provided those in power can spend that much money.

For the fiscal year 1917 our appropriations and authorizations totaled $21,390,730,840.46. Of this amount $7,000,000,000 was for loans to our Allies. Contract authorizations totaled $2,511,553,925.50.

At the present time money is being spent at the rate of approximately twenty-four billions annually. It has nearly doubled since last January, when the expenditures, exclusive of loans to the Allies, were about one billion dollars monthly.

VIOLATES RULES OF WARFARE

Germans Caught Using Ambulance to Carry Ammunition.

With the Allied Armies in France, Oct. 28.—The British army now has obtained absolute proof that the Germans are violating the rules of civilized warfare in respect to the use of the Red Cross, as had for some time been suspected.

The Fifth army captured a German ambulance which, engaged in carrying ammunition, bore the Geneva Red Cross. This vehicle was found to be loaded with explosives and the capture was considered so important that sentries were immediately posted to make certain that no one touched it until photographs of it could be taken.

Curbs Lumber Output.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Production of lumber will be restricted to the filling of essential requirements under regulations issued by the War industries board. The control of output will be exercised by the board through priority of labor, material and equipment. Essential purposes for which deliveries of lumber may be made include government or Allied requirements, needs of railroads and civilians and activities in which lumber is essential to war work.

"Wheel"

What would you consumers think of a wheel without spokes?

What would you think of a man who would take any or all of the spokes out of a wheel to make it run better?

Swift & Company's business of getting fresh meat to you is a wheel, of which the packing plant is only the hub. Retail dealers are the rim—and Swift & Company Branch Houses are the spokes.

The hub wouldn't do the wheel much good and you wouldn't have much use for hub or rim if it weren't for the spokes that fit them all together to make a wheel of it.

Swift & Company Branch Houses are placed, after thorough investigation, in centers where they can be successfully operated and do the most good for the most people at the least possible cost.

Each "spoke" is in charge of a man who knows that he is there to keep you supplied at all times with meat, sweet and fresh; and who knows that if he doesn't do it, his competitor will.

How much good would the hub and the rim of the Swift "wheel" do you if the spokes were done away with?

It's Acid-Stomach That Makes Millions Sick and Suffer

Life is dark—not worth much to the man or woman with an acid-stomach.

Acid-stomach kills Hope, Ambition, Energy, Courage. It saps the strength of the strongest body—impoverishes the blood—causes untold suffering—makes millions weak, unfit and brings on premature old age.

You know what acid-mouth does to teeth and gums—how the acid literally eats through the hard enamel, causing the teeth to decay. Just imagine, then, what havoc an acid stomach must do to the delicate organization of the stomach.

Millions of people are weak and unfit, suffering all the time, in one way or another, from superacidity or acid-stomach.

They don't seem dangerously sick. Just ailing. Going through life weak, listless, dragging one foot after another. They're nervous and irritable; lack power and punch, frequently have severe attacks of blinding, splitting headaches; subject to fits of melancholia and mental depression. And nearly always their stomachs are out of order, even though many experience no actual stomach pains —digestion poor—never getting anywhere near the full strength from their food.

So, you see, it's just this—acid-stomach—that is holding so many people back —sapping up the strength they should get from their food—taking away their vigor and vitality—leaving them weak and inefficient.

Get rid of the excess acid. That's the secret of good health and is the only way to obtain good digestion and assimilation. It is the right way to be well and keep strong. Ordinary tonics won't do any lasting good. The best they can do is to spur up your appetite. When the stimulating effects wear off, you are worse off than ever.

A modern remedy makes it possible to remove excess acid without the slightest discomfort. It is called EATONIC, in the form of pleasant tasting tablets. Their action in the stomach is a good deal like a piece of blotting paper taking up a drop of ink—they literally absorb the injurious excess acid and carry it away through the intestines.

Begin using EATONIC right now—today—and get on the road to bounding, vigorous, vibrant health. Thousands upon thousands of people who have used EATONIC are enthusiastic in its praise. They say they never dreamed that anything could bring them such quick relief.

EATONIC is absolutely guaranteed so get a big 50c box from your druggist. If it does not help you your money will be refunded. If your druggist does not keep EATONIC, send your name and address to the Eatonic Remedy Company, 1018 S. Hospital Discipline.

The discipline in base hospitals precludes social relations between nurses and enlisted men. A certain nurse was found ringing the doorbell of the officers' quarters early one morning. When asked what she wanted, she replied that the villa in which she and the other nurses were quartered was on fire. After the fire had been extinguished, she was asked why she didn't give the alarm at once, instead of running the long distance to the officers' quarters. Her reply was "We aren't allowed to speak to enlisted men."

ARMISTICE IS LEFT TO FOCH

Wilson Replies to Germany That No Peace Can Be Made With House of Hohenzollern.

SURRENDER DEMANDED

If Armistice Is Deemed Advisable by Allied Commanders Its Terms Must Be Left Entirely to Them—Text of Reply.

Washington, Oct. 24.—President Wilson has submitted the German plea for an armistice and peace to the Allies and at the same time has informed Berlin that there can be no armistice except upon terms that would make it impossible for Germany to renew hostilities.

The text of the reply follows:

From the Secretary of State to the charge d'affaires ad interim, in charge of German interests in the United States:

Department of State, Oct. 23, 1918.

Sir:—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your note of the 22d transmitting a communication under date of the 20th from the German government and to advise you that the President has instructed me to reply thereto as follows:

Having received the solemn and explicit assurance of the German government that it unreservedly accepts the terms of peace laid down in his address to the Congress of the United States on the 8th of January, 1918, and the principles of settlement enunciated in his subsequent addresses, particularly the address of the 27th of September, and that it desires to discuss the details of their application, and that this wish and purpose emanated, not from those who have hitherto dictated German policy and conducted the present war on Germany's behalf, but from ministers who speak for the majority of the Reichstag and for an overwhelming majority of the German peoples; and having received also the explicit promise of the present German government that the humane rules of civilized warfare will be observed both on land and sea by the German armed forces, the President of the United States feels that he cannot decline to take up with the governments with which the government of the United States is associated the question of an armistice.

He deems it his duty to say again, however, that the only armistice he would feel justified in submitting for consideration would be one which should leave the United States and the powers associated with her in a position to enforce any arrangements that may be entered into, and to make a renewal of hostilities on the part of Germany impossible.

The President has, therefore, transmitted his correspondence with the present German authorities to the governments with which the government of the United States is associated as a belligerent, with the suggestion that, if those governments are disposed to effect peace upon the terms and principles indicated, their military advisers and the military advisers of the United States be asked to submit to the governments associated against Germany the necessary terms of such an armistice as will fully protect the interests of the people involved, and ensure to the associated governments the unrestricted power to safeguard and enforce the details of the peace to which the German government has agreed, provided they deem such an armistice possible from the military point of view.

Should such terms of armistice be suggested, their acceptance by Germany will afford the best concrete evidence of her unequivocal acceptance of the terms and principles of peace from which the whole action proceeds.

The President would deem himself lacking in candor did he not point in the frankest possible terms the reason why extraordinary safeguards must be demanded. Significant and important as the constitutional changes seem to be which are spoken of by the German foreign secretary in his note of the 20th of October, it does not appear that the principle of a government responsible to the German people has yet been fully worked out, or that any guarantees either exist or are in contemplation that the alterations of principle and practice now partially agreed upon will be permanent.

Moreover, it does not appear that the heart of the present difficulty has been reached. It may be that future wars have been brought under the control of the German people, but the present war has not been, and it is with the present war that we are dealing.

It is evident that the German people have no means of commanding the acquiescence of the military authorities of the empire in the popular will; that the power of the King of Prussia to control the policy of the empire is unimpaired; that the determining initiative still remains with those who hitherto have been the masters of Germany.

Feeling that the whole peace of the world depends now on plain speaking and straightforward action, the President deems it his duty to say, without any attempt to soften what may seem harsh words, that the nations of the world do not and cannot trust the word of those who have hitherto been the masters of German policy, and to point out once more that in concluding peace and attempting to undo the infinite injuries and injustices of this war, the government of the United States cannot deal with any but veritable representatives of the German people who have been assured of a genuine constitutional standing as the real rulers of Germany.

As it must deal with the military masters and the monarchical autocrats of Germany now, or if it is likely to have to deal with them later in regard to the international obligations of the German empire, it must demand, not peace negotiations, but surrender. Nothing can be gained by leaving this essential thing unsaid.

Accept, sir, the renewed assurances of my high consideration.

(Signed) "ROBERT LANSING."

FOE ATROCITIES CONTINUE

Germans Drive Civilians Into Territory Under Shell Fire.

Washington, Oct. 25.—While President Wilson considered his reply to the Teuton peace moves, additional proof of German atrocities in territory being evacuated by the kaiser's troops reached here.

One of these was a tale of horror dispatched from the British front telling how the Germans drove civilians into territory under Allied shell fire, many being killed and maimed.

This and other outrages reported are regarded here as giving the lie to the latest German cry that such crimes were not being committed by their soldiers and that orders had gone out to prevent them and punish those guilty.

Slayer of Edith Cavell Heads German Civilian Board.

London, Oct. 25.—The Daily News says that the commission of neutral residents of Brussels which is to investigate charges of unnecessary devastation and destruction in the German retreat in Belgium will be under the direction of Baron von der Lancken, civil governor of Brussels.

"The selection of von der Lancken is extraordinary," says the News, "when it is recalled that he played a leading role in the murder of Edith Cavell. It was von der Lancken who ignored the representations of the American minister, and refused to allow Miss Cavell to receive a visit from a Belgian lawyer."

Mine Workers Demand Foe Surrender Unconditionally.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 25.—Nothing but the unconditional surrender of Germany ought to be considered, the United Mine Workers of America said in a telegram to President Wilson, made public here. The message was signed by William Green, secretary and treasurer of the organization.

The message said that the Germany now denying guilt of cruelty and wanton destruction is the same Germany which destroyed hospital ships, and, in bombing raids on London and Paris, killed innocent women and children.

OBJECT TO FORMER STATUS

Belgian Officials Desire Independence of Nation.

Washington, Oct. 25.—Efforts of German statesmen to create the impression in neutral countries that Belgium will revert to its former status as a "neutralized" nation after the war drew from the Belgian official information service here the statement that Belgium will not consider a return to that state of guaranteed neutrality which, violated by Germany, brought England and indirectly the United States into the war and will be satisfied only with its complete independence.

Hindenburg Approves Peace Move.

With the French Army in France, Oct. 24.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg in an order to German officers in the field, refers to negotiations for an armistice. He declares he approves the peace moves and supports the government. He asks that the confidence reposed in him be continued. The German crown prince in an order to the group of armies under his command, reminds the officers of the responsibility they incur when they lose a position.

Czecho-Slav Union Delayed.

Philadelphia, Oct. 23.—Thomas Masaryk, president of the newly formed organized Czecho-Slovak republic and head of the delegation from the executive committee of Serbs, Croatian and Solvenes at Agram, told the international conference of small nations here that there could be no actual federation of Czecho-Slovaks for a long time, because of the number and divergency of dialects spoken by the individual units of the new nation.

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK, CROSS, FEVERISH

HURRY, MOTHER! REMOVE POISONS FROM LITTLE STOMACH, LIVER, BOWELS.

GIVE CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS AT ONCE IF BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels needs a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative;" they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Adv.

Get New Kidneys!

The kidneys are the most overworked organs of the human body, and when they fail in their work of filtering out and throwing off the poisons developed in the system, things begin to happen.

One of the first warnings is pain or stiffness in the lower part of the back; highly colored urine; loss of appetite; indigestion; irritation, or even stone in the bladder. These symptoms indicate a condition that may lead to that dreaded and fatal malady, Bright's disease, for which there is said to be no cure.

Do not delay a minute. At the first indication of trouble in the kidney, liver, bladder or urinary organs start taking Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules, and save yourself before it is too late. Instant treatment is necessary in kidney and bladder troubles. A delay is often fatal.

You can almost certainly find immediate relief in Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules. For more than 200 years this famous preparation has been an unfailing remedy for all kidney, bladder and urinary troubles.

It is the pure, original Haarlem Oil your great-grandmother used. About two capsules each day will keep you toned up and feeling fine. Get it at any drug store, and if it does not give you almost immediate relief, your money will be refunded. Be sure you get the GOLD MEDAL brand. None other genuine. In boxes, three sizes.—Adv.

NO OCCASION FOR PANIC

Spanish influenza, which appeared in Spain in May, has all the appearances of grip, or la grippe, which has swept over the world in numerous epidemics as far back as history runs. Hippocrates refers to an epidemic in 412 B. C., which is regarded by many to have been influenza. Every century has had its attacks. Beginning with 1831 this country has had five epidemics, the last in 1889-90.

There is no occasion for panic—influenza itself has a very low percentage of fatalities—not over one death out of every 400 cases, according to the N. C. board of health. The chief danger lies in complications arising, attacking principally patients in a run-down condition—those who don't go to bed soon enough or those who get up too early.

THE SYMPTOMS

Grip, or influenza, as it is now called, usually begins with a chill, followed by aching, feverishness, and sometimes nausea and dizziness, and a general feeling of weakness and depression. The temperature is from 100 to 104, and the fever usually lasts from three to five days. The germs attack the mucous membrane or lining of the air passages, nose, throat and bronchial tubes; there is usually a hard cough, especially bad at night; oftentimes a sore throat or tonsillitis, and frequently all the appearances of a severe head cold.

THE TREATMENT

Go to bed at the first symptoms, not only for your own sake, but to avoid spreading the disease to others—take a purgative, eat plenty of nourishing food, remain perfectly quiet and don't worry. Quinine, aspirin or Dover's Powders, etc., may be administered by the physician's directions to relieve the aching. But there is no cure or specific for influenza—the disease must run its course. Nature herself will throw off the attack if only you keep up your strength. The chief danger lies in the complications which may arise. Influenza so weakens the bodily resistance that there is danger of pneumonia or bronchitis developing, and sometimes inflammation of the middle ear, or heart affections. For these reasons it is very important that the patient remain in bed until his strength returns—stay in bed at least two days or more after the fever has left you, or if you are over 50 or not strong stay in bed four days or more, according to the severity of the attack.

EXTERNAL APPLICATIONS

In order to stimulate the lining of the air passages to throw off the grippe germs, to aid in loosening the phlegm and keeping the air passages open, thus making the breathing easier, Vick's VapoRub will be found effective. Hot, wet towels should be applied over the throat, chest and back between the shoulder blades to open the pores. Then VapoRub should be rubbed in over the parts until the skin is red, spread on thickly and cover with two thicknesses of hot flannel cloths. Leave the clothing loose around the neck, as the heat of the body liberates the ingredients in the form of vapors. These vapors, inhaled with each breath, carry the medication directly to the parts affected. At the same time VapoRub is absorbed through and stimulates the skin, attracting the blood to the surface, and thus aids in relieving the congestion within.

HOW TO AVOID THE DISEASE

Evidence seems to prove that this is a germ disease, spread principally by human contact, chiefly through coughing, sneezing or spitting. So avoid persons having colds—which means avoiding crowds—common drinking cups, roller towels, etc. Keep up your bodily strength by plenty of exercise in the open air, and good food. Above all, avoid colds, as colds irritate the lining of the air passages and render them much better breeding places for the germs.

KEEP FREE FROM COLDS

Use Vick's VapoRub at the very first sign of a cold. For a head cold, melt a little VapoRub in a spoon and inhale the vapors, or better still, use VapoRub in a benzoin steam kettle. If this is not available, use an ordinary teakettle. Fill half-full of boiling water, put in half a teaspoon of VapoRub from time to time—keep the kettle just slowly boiling and inhale the steam arising.

Note—Vick's VapoRub is the discovery of a North Carolina druggist, who found how to combine, in salve form, Menthol and Camphor with such volatile oils as Eucalyptus, Thyme, Cubebs, etc., so that when the salve is applied to the body heat, these ingredients are liberated in the form of vapors.

VapoRub is comparatively new in New York State and New England and a few Western states where it is just now being introduced, but in other sections of the country it is the standard home remedy in more than a million homes for all forms of cold troubles. Over six million jars were sold last year. VapoRub can be had in three sizes at all druggists. It is particularly recommended for children's croup and colds, since it is externally applied and therefore can be used as freely as desired without the slightest harmful effects.

The farmers should stick solid for their candidate for governor, David Evans. While we are not particularly opposed to Mr. Wheaton as our next governor, we are satisfied from a careful review of the political situation that Mr. Evans stands a better show to defeat Burnquist than Mr. Wheaton does. The Democrats will vote for Mr. Wheaton, and if we can poll as many votes for Mr. Evans as we did for Linberg, he will be the next governor of Minnesota. Let us give the farmer candidate the solid farmer vote. We have seen enough of mob law used against farmers meetings in Minnesota. Let us use our votes to try and stop it.

Minnesota will have the opportunity at the coming election next Tuesday to show its appreciation of its greatest living citizen—Knute Nelson. They have the opportunity in this to show their appreciation of a man who has spent most of his active years in public life but who has never once faild to support the cause of the common man, who has been always fair, but always uncompromising that the interest of the many must come first.

It is for such a man, for sturdy Knute Nelson, wholly unpretentious, almost unconcious of his own distinction and fame, that Minnesota has the chance to honor itself by an overwhelming vote at this election.

Did you ever notice that County Superintendent E. A, Mostue has never made any attempt to get up to date, by trying to organize the Town of Deer Park into a consolidated school district before there were enough children to justify it. The reason is that he owns realestate in that town, and while it would be all right for Highlanding, Mayfield, Star and Kratka to get consolidated school districts, it has never occured to Mr. Mostue, that it would be a good thing for Deer Park to organize an independent school district.

While there is no contest for Congressman from this district, the attempt of President Wilson, to instruct the people how to vote for congressmen caused a wave of indignation to pass over the country, that would have caused nerely a solid republican vote for Congressman. Woodrow Wilson is president, but he has no more right to tell the American people how to vote than a "wardheeler" of Minneapolis has.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF MINNESOTA

By the Legislature at Its General Session, 1917, to be Submitted to the People of Said State at the General 1918 Election, Together with a Statement of Its

PURPOSE AND EFFECT

PREPARED BY
CLIFFORD L. HILTON
Attorney General of Minnesota,

Addressed to
JULIUS A. SCHMAHL
Secretary of State

OFFICE OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.
ST. PAUL, MINNESOTA.

April 29, 1918.

HON. JULIUS A. SCHMAHL,
Secretary of State.

SIR:

As required by Section 46, General Statutes of the State of Minnesota for the year 1913, I have the honor to furnish you herewith a statement of the purpose and effect of the amendment proposed to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota by the Legislature of 1917, and which is to be submitted to the electors of said State at the General Election in 1918.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT.

Chapter 515 of the Session Laws of Minnesota for the year 1917, proposes an amendment of Article 15 of the Constitution of said State by adding thereto a new section to read as follows:

"Section 8. The manufacture, sale, barter, gift, disposition, or the furnishing, or transportation, or keeping or having in possession for sale, barter, gift, disposition, or the furnishing, or transportation of intoxicating liquor of any kind, in any quantity whatever, except for sacramental, mechanical, scientific, or medicinal purposes, shall be forever prohibited within this state from and after the first day of July, 1920, and this amendment shall be self-executing. The legislature shall enact laws for the enforcement of this section and shall provide suitable penalties for the violation thereof."

THE PURPOSE of the proposed amendment is to forever prohibit within the State of Minnesota after July 1, 1920, the manufacture, sale, barter, gift, disposition or the furnishing or transportation, or the keeping or having in possession for any of such purposes, of intoxicating liquor of any kind in any quantity whatever, except for sacramental, mechanical, scientific or medicinal purposes.

THE EFFECT of the proposed amendment, if adopted, will be to make unlawful and forever prohibit the manufacture, sale, barter, gift, disposition or the furnishing or transportation or the keeping or having in possession for any of such purposes, of intoxicating liquor of any kind in any quantity whatever, except for sacramental, mechanical, scientific or medicinal purposes, within this state after July 1, 1920, and to place it beyond the power of any legislative authority to permit the doing of any such acts. If adopted, the doing of any of the prohibited acts automatically becomes unlawful after July 1, 1920, without any action on the part of the legislature or other legislative body. The amendment is made self-executing. A duty is, however, imposed upon the legislature to enact laws for the enforcement of this section, if adopted, and to provide penalties for the violation thereof.

More Than Paid the Debt.

Some of us will give a second thought to the extraordinary achievement of a congregation in Geneva, N. Y., which first built with reckless extravagance a massive graystone church and then adopted the tithing system to get them out of their difficulty. The story is told in Outlook. When the church was dedicated—if that is the right word—the debt was $82,000, and the weekly budget $230. The weekly income was less than $100. In two years the debt has been reduced to $40,000 and the weekly income is $300. Of the 1,000 members 850 are tithers. A tither sets aside one-tenth of his income for Christian activities. The blessings of happiness and prosperity which have attended the people are remarkable. Many thrilling stories are told. Some church leaders are deeply impressed by the success of the system and they are advocating it as a financial policy.—Christian Register.

Bandages Now Made Quickly.

A recent invention which has not been marketed as yet, but is reported to be a great success, is an electric roller for use in making the much needed five-yard rolls of bandages. This new device is not only a great time and labor saver, but requires little practice to learn to operate. The rollers operated by hand, as they have been heretofore, require skill and training to operate them successfully, and the work is strenuous. By rolling electrically the operator is able to keep both hands on the bandage, while in hand operations one hand guides the roll of bandage and the [illegible]

ON ITS WAY TO SCRAP HEAP

Dialect Known as "Pennsylvania Dutch" Bids Fair Soon to Be a Thing of the Past.

"Pennsylvania Dutch," that curious combination of German, English and Yankee, which since Revolutionary times has developed in parts of Pennsylvania and Ohio, is going into the discard. For more than a century it has been growing just as languages always grow, with use. It has corrupted words, made words, created forms, one might say a grammar of its own. It has not, it is true, produced a literature. But it has been the speech of a considerable number of persons in their homes. It long since ceased to be recognizable as German, and English it never was. In it, students tell us, are mingled German, English, Welsh, French and even Gaelic words.

"Pennsylvania Dutch" has been the dialect of those German disciples of Peter Menno who came to America, some of them in pre-Revolution days, seeking religious liberty and political freedom. Some of these went into Ohio during Revolution days, others into Canada, some as late as Civil war days. Their religious beliefs contributed to isolation. And they were largely an agricultural people.

Now the word has gone forth among the Mennonites that it is no longer patriotic to speak "Pennsylvania Dutch," and as fast and as thoroughly as possible these unbelievers in war are discarding the speech of childhood and home associations. The task is not an impossible one to them, since all or nearly all of them have had some experience in the common schools. From among them 8,000 young men have gone overseas to fight the oppressors of their ancestors and the barbarians who threaten their own liberties.

The banning of "Pennsylvania Dutch" is an impressive object lesson to all Americans. Let's all resolve to speak English.—Detroit Free Press.

TAJIRI GRADUATE OF YALE

New Mayor of Tokyo, Japan, Finished His Education in Great American University.

Viscount Inajiro Tajiri, newly elected mayor of the city of Tokyo, Japan, is a graduate of the class of '79 of Yale university, where he specialized in economics, finance, politics and history, says Christian Science Monitor. Returning to Japan, he was appointed a secretary in the department of finance and also to a chair in the imperial university at Tokyo. Subsequently he was director of the bureau of the national debt, banks and revenue.

In the course of time he was admitted to the house of peers, and was vice minister of finance, first in 1892-1897, and again in 1898-1904. He was made a baron in 1895 and a viscount in 1907. More recently he has been chief of the board of audit. To knowledge of the technique of banking, national finance and international credit the viscount adds interest in and mastery of natural science, and in both fields he is an authority.

His selection as mayor comes after a long and futile effort of the municipal assembly to agree upon a candidate chosen from the ranks of politicians or ordinary civilians.

It Didn't Work.

A wee four-year-old was having Thrift stamps explained to her by her young uncle, an enthusiastic canvasser. To illustrate his talk he ended it by giving her two quarters. "Now these will buy you two Thrift stamps," he said.

"Two Thrift stamps," she repeated, smiling.

A few minutes later her grandmother came into the room. The uncle, eager to display the effect of his oratory, ordered: "Mary Ellen, show grandma what you have."

Obediently Mary Ellen displayed her two quarters. "Now, tell grandma what you're going to buy with them," he smiled in anticipation of the answer.

But his smile didn't hold. In Mary Ellen's sweetest tones came the information: "Tandy and tookies."

Death Guided the Plane.

A remarkable instance occurred somewhere in France, in which a faithful flyer brought his machine safely home, although he himself had died from the effects of a wound received in an encounter with an enemy machine in the air. Knowing that he was about to die, he propped himself up in such a way that the rudder bar and control lever were kept in position, carefully calculated the distance back to camp and arranged the machine so that it would volplane safely to the ground after his soul had departed. His plans were successful, and when his horrified companions hastened to him they found in his pocket a notebook in which was the information he had been sent to obtain—at all costs. [illegible]

FORESAW RAPACITY OF HUNS

Many Years Ago Charles Dickens Looked Into the Future With Vision Remarkably Prophetic.

There is something almost uncanny about the accuracy with which Charles Dickens foresaw the Hun and his aims as we know them today. Not long ago there was quoted part of Dickens' reply to an invitation to become a member of a peace society that a number of persons were endeavoring to form in 1851. The words written then by the great English author are worth repeating:

"Look out toward Austria, look out toward Germany," he counseled. "Do you see nothing there?

"I tell you that it is because there are the wild beasts of the forest . . . because I would not be soldier ridden, nor have other men so, because I dread and hate the miseries and tyranny of war, that I am not for the disarming of England, nor can I be a member of your peace society."

Every reader of "Little Dorrit" will remember the landlady of the "Break of Day Inn" of Chalons. Words of this French character of his have a peculiarly prophetic ring. Here they are.

"And I tell you this my friend . . . That there are people whom it is necessary to detest without compromise. That there are people who must be dealt with as enemies of the human race. That there are people who have no human heart, and who must be crushed like savage beasts, and cleared out of the way."

CLAIMS CENTURY-OLD FUND

Chilean Government Asks Return of Unexpended Portion of Indemnity Paid in 1821.

The full bench of the Massachusetts supreme court has been called upon to determine the ownership of a fund nearly a century old, which is claimed by the commonwealth of Massachusetts on one hand and the Chilean government on the other.

In 1821 an American ship returning from China to Boston was seized by Chilean revolutionists and its cargo confiscated. When normal conditions prevailed in Chile the United States demanded indemnity and Chile paid $70,400.

William H. Gardiner of Brookline, Mass., was selected to distribute the money among those entitled to it. He executed the trust except as to two Chinese—known only as Paqua and Moqua, merchants—and Thomas Furber of Boston. Mr. Gardiner failed to locate these persons or their representatives. When he died the trust was transmitted to his son, and upon the latter's death to the grandson and great-grandson, Robert H. Gardiner and Robert H. Gardiner, Jr., who are now its custodians.

The present holders of the fund have searched through the records of the state department, through the American consular service at Canton, China, and through various other sources, for the heirs of Paqua, Moqua and Thomas Furber, without success.

"Cleans" Crowd of Cash.

Vacuum-gleaning money from street crowds was the striking scheme employed in one of the large cities some weeks ago for the benefit of the Red Cross, says Popular Science Magazine.

A suction pipe was held over the heads of persons congregated on the sidewalk, and contributions solicited by a leather-lunged showman who shouted through a megaphone. Crisp dollar bills and worn greenbacks, it mattered not which, were drawn in by strong suction force when inserted in the nozzle of the tube [illegible]

HELP THE HOME TO FOLLOW FLAG

Campaign for Funds for Service That Wins the Soldier's Heart and Keeps Him Smiling.

OPEN PURSE STRINGS

Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., National Catholic War Council, K. of C., Jewish Welfare Board, War Camp Community Service, American Library Assn., Salvation Army to Benefit.

By Temple Bailey.

Not all of war is fighting. The soldier is not always going over the top or killing Huns. A lot of times he is just tired or homesick or lonely. It is then that he thinks of you. It is then that he longs for home. And if you can't be with him, you can help the home to follow him. Let others do it through you who pay for it.

With the slogan, "We help the home to follow the flag," the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., National Catholic War Council (K. of C.), Jewish Welfare Board, War Camp Community Service, American Library Association and Salvation Army, all have to do with the comfort and happiness of our fighting men in camp or at the front, and I am constrained to discover, if I can, some of the reasons why modern misers shake their heads and tighten their purse-strings when they are asked to contribute. These agencies give the cup of cold water. Can't you see? You aren't there to do it. You wouldn't be a bit of use if you were. But along comes a Salvation Army angel with a piece of pie—and there's a bit of home. Or a pleasant middle-aged woman smiles over the counter of a canteen as she pours his coffee—and there's home and mother. Or Mary Pickford smiles at him from a moving picture screen, and there's darling America in every line of her. Or Sothern recites or Elsie Janis dances and he's back home beside you, eager and excited.

Let me say this to you who have been tempted to shake your heads and pull your purse-strings tight—the men over there haven't any home. A trench isn't a home, or a tent, or even a French farmhouse where one is billeted and sleeps on straw. And for a youngster who has always had a soft bed, two pillows, a hot bath, grape fruit for breakfast, a whole pleasant American house to be happy in, you can imagine what it means to be homeless, with not a desk nor a chair which belongs to him, nothing but a kit bag and a casual sleeping place.

Oh, loosen your purse-strings! Pray for a vision! Let some dream come to you of what it would mean if you were transported suddenly from the softness and ease of your life to a world of fire and flame and horror.

Wouldn't you want the light of a little hut to shine out for you? Wouldn't you want the smiling woman's face, the touch of a friendly hand, wouldn't you think of that hut as the only oasis in a Desert of Dreadful Things?

Put yourself in his place and if you can't fight with him, at least spend your money for him. He's worth it, and he's worth it not only because he's a fine lad and my lad, but because he's fighting for the honor of your country [illegible]

NEED NO RUM STIMULANT

American Soldiers Go Over the Top on Their Own Courage.

"American soldiers go over the top on their own courage and do not need a rum stimulant before they start."

So says G. H. Langford of the 102nd Regiment of U. S. Field Artillery invalided home from France with a hole in his left leg and shell-shock to talk Liberty Loan in the United States.

"It is quite the custom in the European armies," said Private Langford, "to serve out some sort of stimulant in the gray of the morning before the over the top call. This is not true of our Army. No rum is served and our boys do not want it. They go over with a cheer and a smile."

One Result.

"Has your son had any success with this aviation experiment?"

"Oh, yes; he has succeeded in making my money fly."

All Fighting Men Brothers.

A young American army private came out of a gilded Broadway florist's the other afternoon carrying a very large and expensive bouquet tied up in waxed paper and walked toward one of those stunty baby doll roadsters at the curb.

As he was crossing the sidewalk along came another American army private, undeniably of Italian descent, and known along Broadway for his ability to wield the polishing rag at a Herald square shoe shining parlor. The two stopped to exchange greetings.

"Lo, Fish Face!"

"Lo, Wop! Where you goin'?"

"To see me brudder!"

"Jump in and save carfare." Whereupon this strangely assorted pair, brothers by the greatest tie man can devise, traveled away together.—New [illegible]

WILL FINANCE CAMPAIGN

Patriotic Act of Americans of German Birth in Rice County.

Rice county, Minnesota, Americans of German birth or descent have taken a positive method of showing their love for their adopted country.

Ilson Blodgett of Faribault, Rice county liberty loan chairman, received a communication from some Faribault Americans who recited that they were all of German birth or descent and that it was their desire to donate to the Rice County Fourth Liberty Loan committee sufficient funds to defray all the expenses of the committee in this liberty loan campaign.

The Rice county committee accepted this offer and adopted a resolution expressing its appreciation of this loyal action.

Americans Should Eat Fish.

Americans are deficient as fish eaters, compared with inhabitants of foreign countries. Less than two pounds per head is the yearly consumption of salt and smoked fish in this country. For the winter's supply, salt fish can be laid in and, pound for pound, furnish much more nutriment than fresh fish. This is because curing extracts a large part of the water, and what is left is nearly all solid food.—People's Home Journal.

Had No Occasion to Say It.

A little girl was invited to a friend's house for dinner and before leaving her mother warned her to say "please," "thank you," and "no, thank you." When the little girl returned she was asked if she said please and thank you and she said yes. Then her mother asked: "Did you say no, thank you when they passed something you didn't want?"

"No, mother, I didn't, because they didn't pass anything I didn't want." [illegible]

WOMAN'S NERVES MADE STRONG

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Winona, Minn.—"I suffered for more than a year from nervousness, and was so bad I could not rest at night—would lie awake and get so nervous I would have to get up and walk around and in the morning would be all tired out. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and thought I would try it. My nervousness soon left me. I sleep well and feel fine in the morning and able to do my work. I gladly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to make weak nerves strong."—Mrs. ALBERT SULTZE, 603 Olmstead St., Winona, Minn.

How often do we hear the expression among women, "I am so nervous, I cannot sleep," or "it seems as though I should fly." Such women should profit by Mrs. Sultze's experience and give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial.

For forty years it has been overcoming such serious conditions as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, dizziness, and nervous prostration of women, and is now considered the standard remedy for such ailments.

"Well," the Yankee drawled, "I got hit up there near the eye, but that ain't much."

"Yes," persisted the surgeon, "but did you get hit anywhere else?"

Then he admitted that, come to think of it, he had a broken arm, a broken leg and a bullet in his side.—Paris Stars and Stripes.

DUAL MONARCHY ACCEPTS ALLIED TERMS OF TRUCE

Italian and Austrian Commanders Sign Armistice—Fighting Has Ceased.

DETAILS ARE UNKNOWN

Germany, Deserted by Her Last Ally, Is Fighting Alone a Battle Which Will End in Her Defeat or Surrender.

Paris, Nov. 4.—General Diaz, Italian commander-in-chief, signed an armistice with Austria, according to official announcement here. Fighting ceased at 3 p. m. Monday, according to terms of the armistice.

Fighting Ends, Says Vienna.

Vienna, Nov. 4.—"In the Italian theater of the war our troops have ceased hostilities on the basis of an armistice which has been concluded," says the war office communication issued. "The conditions of the armistice will be announced in a later communication."

Austria Formally Out of War.

London, Nov. 4.—The Allies have forced Austria-Hungary out of the war.

Deserted by her last ally, Germany fights alone a battle which means ultimate defeat or abject surrender.

After days of pleading an armistice has been granted Austria-Hungary, whose badly defeated armies in the Italian theater, staggered homeward under the violence of the blows of the Allied troops.

Trent, in Austrian Tyrol, which the Italians always have claimed as their own, has been captured by them; Triest, Austria's principal seaport on the Adriatic, over which there has been such bitter fighting, now flies the Italian flag, and Belgrade, capital of Serbia, has been re-occupied by the Serbians.

Germans Harassed in Belgium.

In France and Belgium the Germans are being sorely harassed by the British, French, Americans and Belgians and there are indications that a debacle is about to occur.

The Argonne massif, which has proved a great obstacle to the French and Americans, at last has been cleaned of the enemy, and the entire line appears to be crumbling. American airmen report that the enemy in front of the Americans are retreating northward, that the roads are densely packed with troops, artillery, and transports.

Enemy Retreats on All Fronts.

Likewise southeast of Valenciennes the Germans are retreating before the British, who are in close pursuit and taking numerous prisoners. North of the Aisne in Champaigne the French continue their pressure and have taken several important villages, large numbers of prisoners and great quantities of war stores.

The advance of the Americans and French on the southern part of the battle front, taken in conjunction with the operations of Field Marshal Haig and the Belgians in the North, threatens to prove the culminating blow to Germany's attempts to hold ground in France or Belgium.

Indeed, it is not improbable if the advance from the south continues as rapid as it is, the greater portion of the German army will be trapped before the men can reach the border. The situation of the Germans seemingly is a critical one.

CAPTURE 362,350 GERMANS

Allies Have Been Very Successful Since July 15.

Paris, Nov. 4.—Since the great offensive began on the western front, July 15 last, the Allied armies have captured 362,353 prisoners, including 7,990 officers, as well as 6,217 cannons, 38,622 machine guns and 3,907 mine throwers. The Allies during the month of October captured 108,343 prisoners, including 2,472 officers, as well as 2,064 cannons, 13,639 machine guns and 1,193 mine throwers.

AMMUNITION CUT PLANNED

Commercial Output Will Be Reduced 50 Per Cent.

Washington, Nov. 4.—The ordnance department has recommended to the War Industries board that a further restriction of 50 per cent on the manufacture of commercial ammunition be put into effect.

In this announcement rumors that the government would drastically curtail or abolish the industry were set at rest.

Public Ownership Urged.

New York, Nov. 4.—Public ownership of street railways as a solution of present unprecedented conditions was advocated before the American Electric Railway association meeting here by Richard McCulloch, president of the United Railways company of St. Louis, while John J. Stanley, of Cleveland, president of the organization, and Thomas N. McCarter of Newark, N. J., chairman of the committee on conference with the national government, urged higher fares as essential to continued operation of the lines.

Report Declared Confirmed.

Zurich, Switzerland, Nov. 4.—The German propaganda service cites the Vorwaerts of Berlin as confirming the report that Phillipp Scheidemann, Socialist leader in the Reichstag and member without portfolio in the German cabinet, had addressed to Prince Maximilian of Baden, imperial chancellor, a memorandum on the necessity of the retirement of Emperor William. The step was taken, it is added, after an agreement had been reached by the leaders of the Reichstag parties.

"Let the People Rule."

Amsterdam, Nov. 4.—On the occasion of the constitutional amendment coming into force, says an official telegram from Berlin, Emperor William addressed to Prince Maximilian of Baden, German imperial chancellor, a decree indorsing the decisions of the Reichstag and avowing his firm determination to co-operate in their full development.

TANKS TAKE FOE BATTERY

North Dakota Lieutenant in Command of Squadron.

With the American Army Northwest of Verdun, Nov. 4.—A battery of four six-inch howitzers, with three officers and 17 gunners, was taken north of Landreville by three French tanks manned by Americans.

The tanks flanked the battery by going around the edge of a hill in the face of machine guns protecting the cannon.

The gunners threw up their hands when the tank appeared and the men on the land battleships turned their prisoners over to infantrymen.

The tank squadron was commanded by Lieut. Lloyd Callahan of Casselton, N. D., who himself operated a machine gun on one of the tanks.

YANKEES HAPPY OVER LOAN

Success of Fourth Bond Issue Pleases Men Overseas.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Secretary McAdoo has received a cablegram from General Pershing saying:

"All ranks of the American expeditionary forces are delighted at the success of the Fourth Liberty loan. We are gratified to learn anew of the splendid determination of the American people to back the army to the limit as exemplified in the large oversubscription. Please accept our sincere thanks and congratulations."

Washington, Nov. 4.—Charles A. Lutz, former chief examiner of accounts for the Interstate Commerce Commission, has been appointed treasurer of the railroad administration.

British Marched 525 Miles.

London, Nov. 4.—When the Turkish armistice was signed, General Allenby's army held Aleppo, more than 300 miles north of Jerusalem, in which region his offensive started in September. Aleppo is the southern key to Constantinople, 575 miles to the northwest. He had wiped out three Turkish armies and completely destroyed Turkey's military power in Palestine and Syria. The British, in their entire Mesopotamian campaign, penetrated 525 miles inland from the Persian gulf.

ALLIED ARMIES APPROACH GHENT

French and Belgians Are Within a Few Miles of Important City.

MAKE GOOD PROGRESS

French and Americans Almost Within Striking Distance of Stenay Gap, Most Important Road Over German Border.

Rome, Nov. 4.—The Italians have captured Trent, one of Austria's chief fortified towns in the Tyrol, according to the war office announcement.

Italian forces have landed at Trieste and the Italian Tri-Color is flying from the castle and from the towns of San Giusto.

Italian cavalry have entered Udine.

Italian and Allied forces in their drive in northern Italy have captured 100,000 Austro-Hungarians. More than 2,200 guns have been taken.

The Italians have occupied Roverto, 13 miles south of Trent.

With the French Army in France, Nov. 4.—The French and Americans are now almost within striking distance of Stenay gap, the most important route of communication across the frontier.

With Allied Armies in France and Belgium, Nov. 4.—Belgium and French troops have reached a line within five miles of Ghent. French cavalry is reported at St. Denis-Westrom railway station, about three miles southwest of the city.

In the meantime French and American forces occupied Audenarde, farther south. Americans had battled their way across Thescheldt between Heurne and Eyne, to the north of Audenarde.

Progress Is Marked.

Havre, Nov. 4.—Marked progress by the Belgian army is indicated by the latest reports from Belgium headquarters. The Belgians have reached the west bank of the canal, which runs between Ghent and Neuzen in a northerly direction, and thereby have redeemed a further large section of their country.

Steel Works Taken.

London, Nov. 4.—The Germans are retreating to the east and southeast of Valenciennes, Field Marshal Haig reports from headquarters.

The British are following the enemy up and taking prisoners.

British troops stormed the steel works held by the Germans southeast of Valenciennes and, advancing one and one-half miles to the east, completed the capture of the village of St. Saulve, the war office announced today. Haig's men took prisoners 5,000 German in two days of fighting on the front.

HUNGARY BECOMES REPUBLIC

King Frees Government From Its Oath of Fidelity.

Berne, Nov. 4.—Count Karolyi, after obtaining a release from his oath of fealty to the emperor, proclaimed a republic in Hungary, according to a dispatch to the Bund from Vienna, quoting the Vienese newspaper Diezeit.

Basel, Switzerland, Nov. 4.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the Hungarian National council in Budapest, Count Karolyi announced that King Charles had freed the government from its oath of fidelity.

Belgians Returning to Homes.

Belgian Headquarters in Flanders, Nov. 4.—After four years of exile the residents of the now liberated sections of Belgium are returning to their homes. On all roads peasant carts and other vehicles loaded with household goods are moving north and east of the rear of the old battle line. The returning ones exhibit no exhileration, merely plodding on behind their carts silently, apparently unwilling to rejoice before they had seen their villages and knew that their homes were intact.

WRECK PROBE BEGINS

Two Inquiries Into Brooklyn Trolley Crash Under Way.

District Attorney and State Public Service Commission Are Investigating.

New York, Nov. 4.—Two inquiries have been started into the wreck which took place in the Malbone street tunnel of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company when a crowded train, said to have been operated by an inexperienced motorman, jumped a curve, killing 89 persons and injuring nearly twice as many others.

One investigation was started by Mayor Hylan and Harry E. Lewis, district attorney of Kings county, to fix the blame for the accident and to present evidence to the November grand jury.

A supplementary investigation was begun by the State Public Service commission, which announced that it would turn over the reports of its experts to District Attorney Lewis.

SMOKING CARS ARE TO STAY

Will Not Be Taken Off Trains, Says McAdoo.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Smoking cars will not be taken off American controlled railways if William G. McAdoo, who runs them, has anything to say about it.

"I believe one can contract influenza as quickly in a parlor car as in a smoker," he said here. "I am a friend of the smoking car, where a man may enjoy his ride in comfort."

Suburban and "L" train smokers were discarded here during the influenza epidemic.

BANKERS FAVOR SURRENDER

German Financial Interests Urge Acceptance of Allied Terms.

Amsterdam, Nov. 4.—German banking and commercial men, after a meeting, have sent the government a declaration in favor of acceptance of the Allies' armistice conditions, according to the German papers. The declaration presents an argument against those who hope for an improvement of the situation from a continuance of the war and demands measures for facilitating peace, even if sacrifices are required.

PLAN FARMS FOR SOLDIERS

Bay State to Encourage Returning Men to "Get Back to the Land."

Boston, Nov. 4.—Plans for encouraging returning soldiers to take up farm work in this state are being made by a commission recently appointed by Governor McCall, at the request of Franklin K. Lane, secretary of interior.

Investigation has shown that there are 36,000 farms in Massachusetts for which 30,000 laborers are regularly required.

CLAIMS THRONE OF KAISER

Bavarian Royal Family Makes Bid for German Rule.

London, Nov. 4.—The Bavarian premier has notified Berlin that the Bavarian royal family claims the imperial throne in the event of Emperor Wilhelm's abdication, according to the Socialist Leipzig Volks Zeitung, which is quoted in a Hague dispatch to the Daily Mail.

COUNT ANDRASSY RESIGNS

Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister Quits, Is Report.

Zurich, Nov. 4.—Count Julius Andrassy, Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, has resigned, advices received here declare.

Swiss Army Being Reduced.

Berne, Nov. 4.—It is officially announced by the Swiss government that the number of troops with the colors is being reduced to a strict minimum. The majority of those retained, about eight battalions, are posted along the frontiers to prevent smuggling and espionage in conformity with economic agreements binding Switzerland not to export raw materials which have been imported into this country. This cordon of troops must be maintained even in the event of an armistice and perhaps for some time after peace.

Suffered Terribly!

"Every Step a Torture," Says Mrs. Whitenack—But Doan's Cured Her

Mrs. Florence Whitenack, 84 Armstrong Ave., Jersey City, N. J., says: "I suffered with rheumatism for six or seven years. My limbs and joints were so stiff and swollen, I could walk only with difficulty and the pains in my hips were so severe, I could hardly bear them. Every step I took was torture. My feet and limbs were swollen and so sore, I could hardly bear my weight on them. During the night I would lie awake for hours and become so nervous, I would have to get up. Dizziness came over me suddenly and my sight blurred. I was never free from the miserable backaches and rheumatic pains. I used different remedies; but I didn't get any better. Then I commenced to use Doan's Kidney Pills. The swellings began to leave right away and I continued to use them. The pains and aches left my back and hips and I am cured of the rheumatism and all signs of kidney trouble."

HOW TO USE VICK'S VAPORUB IN TREATING SPANISH INFLUENZA

The Influenza Germs Attack the Lining of the Air Passages. When VapoRub Is Applied Over Throat and Chest, the Medicated Vapors Loosen the Phlegm, Open the Air Passages and Stimulate the Mucous Membrane to Throw Off the Germs.

In Addition, VapoRub is Absorbed Through and Stimulates the Skin, Attracting the Blood to the Surface and Thus Aids in Reducing the Congestion Within.

CALL A PHYSICIAN — GO TO BED — STAY QUIET — DONT WORRY

There is No Occasion for Panic—Influenza Itself Has a Very Low Percentage of Fatalities. Not Over One Death Out of Every Four Hundred Cases According to the N. C. Board of Health. The Chief Danger Lies in Complications Arising, Attacking Principally Patients in a Run-Down Condition—Those Who Don't Go to Bed Soon Enough, or Those Who Get Up Too Early.

Spanish influenza, which appeared in Spain in May, has all the appearance of grip or la grippe, which has swept over the world in numerous epidemics as far back as history runs. Hippocrates refers to an epidemic in 412 B. C. which is regarded by many to have been influenza. Every century has had its attacks. Beginning with 1831, this country has had five epidemics, the last in 1889-1890.

THE SYMPTOMS.

Grippe, or influenza, as it is now called, usually begins with a chill, followed by aching, feverishness and sometimes nausea and dizziness, and a general feeling of weakness and depression. The temperature is from 100 to 104, and the fever usually lasts from three to five days. The germs attack the mucous membrane, or lining of the air passages—nose, throat and bronchial tubes; there is usually a hard cough, especially bad at night, and frequently all the appearances of a severe head cold.

THE TREATMENT.

Go to bed at the first symptoms, not only for your own sake, but to avoid spreading the disease to others—take a purgative, eat plenty of nourishing food, remain perfectly quiet and don't worry. Quinine, aspirin or Dover's Powder, etc., may be administered by the physician's directions to relieve the aching. But there is no cure or specific for influenza—the disease must run its course. Nature herself will throw off the attack if only you keep up your strength. The chief danger lies in the complications which may arise. Influenza so weakens the bodily resistance that there is danger of pneumonia or bronchitis developing, and sometimes inflammation of the middle ear, or heart affections. For these reasons, it is very important that the patient remain in bed until his strength returns—stay in bed at least two days or more after the fever has left you, or if you are over 50 or not strong, stay in bed four days or more, according to the severity of the attack.

EXTERNAL APPLICATIONS.

In order to stimulate the lining of the air passages to throw off the grippe germs, to aid in loosening the phlegm and keeping the air passages open, thus making the breathing easier, Vick's VapoRub will be found effective. Hot, wet towels should be applied over the throat, chest and back between the shoulder blades to open the pores. Then Vick's should be rubbed in over the parts until the skin is red, spread on thickly and cover with two thicknesses of hot flannel cloths. Leave the clothing loose around the neck, as the heat of the body liberates the ingredients in the form of vapors. These vapors, inhaled with each breath, carry the medication directly to the parts affected. At the same time, VapoRub is absorbed through and stimulates the skin attracting the blood to the surface and thus aids in relieving the congestion within.

HOW TO AVOID THE DISEASE.

Evidence seems to prove that this is a germ disease, spread principally by human contact, chiefly through coughing, sneezing or spitting. So avoid persons having colds — which means avoiding crowds — common drinking cups, roller towels, etc. Keep up your bodily strength by plenty of exercise in the open air and good food.

KEEP FREE FROM COLDS.

Above all keep free from colds, as colds irritate the lining of the air passages and render them much better breeding places for the germs.

Use Vick's VapoRub at the very first sign of a cold. For a head cold, melt a little in a spoon and inhale the vapors, or better still, use VapoRub in a benzoin steam kettle. If this is not available, use an ordinary tea-kettle. Fill half-full of boiling water, put in half a teaspoon of VapoRub from time to time—keep the kettle just slowly boiling—inhale the steam arising.

Vick's VapoRub can be had in three sizes—30c, 60c, $1.20—at all druggists.

Acid-Stomach Makes Millions Weak and Miserable

For years dentists have been telling us that it's acid mouth that ruins the teeth, yet this acid that is powerful enough to eat through the harder than bone enamel of the teeth and decay them, is tasteless. Its presence can be detected only by chemical tests.

No chemical test is needed to tell you that you have acid-stomach.

Indigestion, belching, heartburn, sour stomach, food-repeating, that miserable puffed up feeling after eating, intestinal pains, headaches, etc. These are all Nature's warning to you. They are sure signs of superacidity.

Acid-stomach prevents proper digestion and assimilation, thus causing the blood to become thin and impoverished as a result of which people become sallow-skinned, emaciated, sick and bad looking.

Acid-stomach causes stomach and intestinal fermentation, producing poisons and toxins which, absorbed into the blood and carried throughout the system, cause auto-intoxication, insomnia, nervousness, irritability, mental depression, melancholia, dizziness, vertigo and oftentimes, valvular heart trouble and heart failure.

Acid-stomach causes irritation all along the intestinal tract—irritation so severe and aggravating as to frequently result in catarrh and even cancer of the stomach. [illegible] what chance has anyone for robust health, happiness or success if this acid-stomach is allowed to tear down and use up day after day your strength and vitality faster than you can get it out of food you eat. Life is indeed dark and dreary for a person with acid-stomach.

You crave health, strength, the power and will to think and act—don't you? You want to feel full of pep and energy, fine and fit, always eager for work or pleasure.

Then you must rid your stomach of its excess acid. You can start doing it right now. A wonderful modern medicine has made it possible to literally wipe out the excess acid. This remedy is called EATONIC. It is made in pleasant tasting tablets and you take them just like a bit of candy.

And, my, how good EATONIC makes you feel! It banishes acid-stomach miseries like magic! Makes the stomach cool, sweet and strong. Helps you to get full strength out of your food so that in turn, your body and brain are vigorous, alert and keen.

EATONIC is absolutely guaranteed, so get a big 50c box from your druggist. If it does not help you, your money will be refunded. If your druggist does not keep EATONIC, send your name and address to the Eatonic Remedy Company, 1018 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill., and they will at once mail you a 50c box and you can send them the money for it after you receive it.

NEWS OF STATE TERSELY TOLD

Recent Happenings In Minnesota Given In Brief Items For Busy Readers

East Grand Forks.—Local contributions to the fire sufferers' fund now exceed $1,000.

Bemidji.—A. L. Dickenson has disposed of a half interest in his Park hotel to R. C. Davis, and hereafter the management of the hotel will be under Davis & Dickenson.

Park River, N. D.—J. E. Cole of Minneapolis, hide buyer for a Mill City fur company, was killed near here when his car overturned, being pinned under the wreckage.

St. Cloud.—Louis Lorinser, well known St. Cloud boy, who is serving in France, has lost all the fingers on his right hand, according to word received by relatives here.

Red Lake Falls.—Chairman Walter J. Quesnell's final report on the fourth Liberty Loan shows that Red Lake county subscribed $215,950, or $5,950 more than the allotted quota.

Red Lake Falls.—During the month the Red Cross shipped to headquarters at Minneapolis 310 altered army shirts, 23 helmets, 250 hand towels, 125 bath towels, 50 shirts, 175 handkerchiefs, and 15 napkins.

Hastings.—G. W. Howes, 63, formerly cashier of the old Farmer and Traders' bank here, died at the home of his brother, Brantford Howes, in St. Paul. A son, E. B. Howes, of Los Angeles, survives him.

East Grand Forks.—The ouster case in proceedings brought to remove Chief of Police Albert Hurst and Mayor Cornelius J. Gelleher from office in East Grand Forks, took two days to be heard in Crookston.

Fergus Falls.—Peter Olson, living at Battle Lake, became despondent because members of his family were suffering from influenza and drowned himself in a lake. He left a note of explanation and told where his body would be found.

Stillwater.—The Minnesota Implement Dealers' Mutual Insurance company recently elected Frank J. Lake, formerly of Scandia, now a resident of Minneapolis, president of the company. Mr. Lake takes the place of D. H. Evans of Tracy.

Red Lake Falls.—Carl Gerlach, 76, one of Red Lake county's pioneers, died of cancer after a long illness. In 1884 he came to Red Lake Falls town and took a homestead. He was town assessor for twelve years, town chairman for six years, and treasurer of the school district for ten. He was twice married.

Brainerd.—The Dispatch's fire sufferers fund reached $4,018 a few days since, all being placed to the credit of Brainerd Chapter American Red Cross for immediate relief work. Every department of the Northern Pacific railway shops and yards, even the trackmen and the Minnesota & International railway are represented.

Red Lake Falls.—Aime Cyr and Pat Cyr of this city were arrested at Lake Union, Polk county, by Deputy Game Warden William Munch on a charge of illegal hunting and pleaded guilty before Judge Charles Hallas of Erskine. Aime Cyr was charged with hunting from an automobile and Pat Cyr for killing a partridge out of season. Their guns were confiscated and each paid $27 fine.

Northfield.—President Donald Cowling of Carleton college has returned from the east, where, as chairman of the reception committee of the American Council of Education, he had charge of the entertainment of the British Education mission, sent to this country by the British government. The mission is expected to visit the University of Minnesota and Carleton college about Nov. 16.

Thief River Falls.—The Home Mission board of the Norwegian Lutheran church for the district of Northern Minnesota held a special meeting here. The affairs of the mission field were gone over and plans for the carrying on of the work discussed. Reports from the different sections were to the effect that the smaller congregations are in a good condition as a general thing and that new interest in church work has generally increased since the union was effected.

St. Paul.—The Minnesota federation of farmers' clubs is organizing its clubs which are not in the forest-fire-swept region, to aid members of clubs in the fire-swept region. The executive committee is asking all farmers' clubs not in the burned area to call special meetings, make up donations of livestock, feed, machinery, seed or money, and notify the secretary, Mrs. I. E. Richardson, 1393 Cleveland avenue north, St. Paul, of what they have. The federation will then provide for the distribution of the donations. Clubs ready to co-operate should send to Mrs. Richardson nothing but a notification of what they have to give. She will then indicate to what points shipments should be made.

Foley.—Judge John A. Roeser of the district court filed a decision with the clerk of court here in which he granted the writ of injunction asked for by the Stearns county attorney in the case of Dr. W. A. Bach, accused of maintaining a disorderly house at his sanatorium on the East side, St. Cloud. He denied the injunction against his wife Frieda Bach.

Aitkin.—Mrs. Ples Marmon died at the family home in Glory township leaving her husband and five children, the youngest but a few hours old. The family moved to Aitkin county three months ago from North Dakota.

Moorhead.—Lieut. V. E. Verne and Dr. G. L. Gosslee, both of Moorhead, have been commissioned captains. Both are in the medical corps.

Mora.—Kanabec county citizens oversubscribed to the fourth Liberty Loan by $18,150. The amount of $138,150 was taken by 1,718 subscribers.

Plainview.—Fifteen residents of Plainview have died since the influenza epidemic began. Health officials consider that the crest has been reached.

Fergus Falls.—The influenza epidemic has resulted in a number of deaths among the patients at the state hospital here. The hospital is extremely short of help.

Roosevelt.—Gilbert Roen, Per Engstrom, Ed Turner and others went to Warroad with a lot of cattle to ship, but had to return with the animals, as there were no cars available.

Hastings.—Rev. Rudolph Ericson, former pastor of the Methodist church here, but recently commissioned a chaplain in the navy, has left for Seattle, where he will report for duty.

East Grand Forks.—Alice Thatcher, Lillian Marsh, Josephine Eichammer and Cecile Ebinstine, local girls, have gone to the farm of Fay Reed, near the city, to attempt to hurry along the potato picking.

St. Cloud.—Sixty-three out of the eighty-two men who were called by the local draft board to entrain for Camp Forrest, Ga., answered the roll. Several were out of the ranks because of sickness or had been transferred.

Bemidji.—A permanent shipping association was formed by farmers at a meeting to be held at Hines. The success of this year's potato crop has led to this action. Several carloads of potatoes have already been shipped from this vicinity.

Crookston.—Adeline Kehlert has reported for work at the Stebbins & Robert garage to drive a taxi and work on the floor to take the place of William Sumpman, who left some time ago for military training at the University of Minnesota.

Minneapolis. — Col. W. R. Stephens, commander of the Motor Reserve corps of Minnesota, who returned to Minneapolis Wednesday night after nearly two weeks of continuous service in the fire district about Moose Lake, is seriously ill with pneumonia at his home here. Col. Stephens was one of the first of the relief officers to reach the scene of the fire disasters.

Crookston.—Company I, after being mobilized for state duty only a few days after it was sworn in, has again been demobilized. Capt. Chesterman received word from Maj. Paul Spooner of Morris that he had been notified that the services of the local company would not be needed. The boys were in keen anticipation of going to Duluth or Moose Lake to help the fire sufferers.

Moose Lake.—Minnesota people are responding liberally to the call for furniture and other articles for losers by the recent fire disaster here, and many tons are arriving for distribution. Several hundred shacks have been built for those who lost their homes and these are being furnished rapidly as possible notably with kitchen utensils which are coming from Duluth, the Twin Cities and other points.

Winona.—Plainview's male population is much bewhiskered as a result of the influenza epidemic. The only barbers in the village are ill with the malady and tonsorial shops are closed. Efforts to import a barber have been unavailable. The supply of safety razors has been exhausted and the facial adornments have added a new phase to the changed village, which has been laboring under a rigid lid for a few days.

Anoka.—The body of a strange man who had been murdered by unidentified persons was found in a haystack just inside the city limits and near the Northern Pacific and Great Northern tracks. The skull had been crushed and the face disfigured by blows from a club or bar. There is evidence that the man was attacked somewhere on a road and his body dragged to the stack and partially covered with hay. The body has not been identified.

Fertile.—G. J. DeMars, proprietor of a drug store here, and a graduate of the College of Pharmacy of the University of Minnesota, has just given twenty-five pounds of sugar to the sugar division of the United States food administration, for the benefit of the American soldiers in France. In returning the sugar certificate, Mr. DeMars says: "I am returning certificate for twenty-five pounds of sugar, as I can get along without it. Give it to the boys."

Virginia.—Because he is alleged to have wagged his tongue seditiously, emitting statements construed as being disloyal, Arthur Guenther or Guenthl, arrested recently, was held by Commissioner Poirier to the Federal grand jury. "The United States government sends men around to lie about the Germans," is part of a statement alleged to have been made by Guenther. In reference to the German atrocities Guenther is alleged to have said on Sept. 17, "These are all lies, there is not a bit of truth. The government sends men around to lie about the Germans. I am a German and shall stick up for Germany."

Ortonville.—Ernest Vanhorn, 20, died of Spanish influenza, making the third death in the family of P. E. Vanhorn. Lelia, a girl of 18, and Merle, a boy of 7, died not long ago of the same disease. Vanhorn and family moved to a farm one mile from Ortonville a year ago from Grand Junction, Iowa.

East Grand Forks.—Before the schools are reopened they will all be fumigated with formaldehyde, and everything possible done to make conditions as sanitary as possible, though as yet there is no definite date set for the opening.

(SIMPLE, OR EXTERNAL GOITER)

REMOVE YOUR GOITER AT HOME

NO KNIFE—NO STAIN—NO ALCOHOL—NO OPIATES

WARNER'S GUARANTEED SIMPLE GOITER REMEDY

HAS NEVER FAILED TO REMOVE GOITER WHEN USED ACCORDING TO INSTRUCTIONS

MILLIONS OF PEOPLE KNOW THE REPUTATION OF DR. H. H. WARNER, of "WARNER'S SAFE CURE" FAME. HE PERSONALLY, AS WELL AS THE COMPANY (WHICH IS COMPOSED OF BANK OFFICIALS AND PROMINENT BUSINESS MEN OF MINNEAPOLIS AND ST. PAUL), GUARANTEES TO RELIEVE YOU OF EVERY APPEARANCE OF GOITER OR REFUND YOUR MONEY.

The GUARANTEED TREATMENT consists of a sufficient amount of medicine to relieve the patient of all traces of simple goiter without danger to health or the necessity of an operation. It is reliable, but gentle, and surely restores the thyroid glands and affected parts to their normal condition.

One treatment lasts about three weeks and consists of two kinds of medicine: Tablets, taken three times a day, which contain no opiates or narcotics and act as a tonic to the system. The other, a harmless solvent, applied at bed time, gently but thoroughly rubbed on and about the goiter—Does not irritate or discolor the skin and is easily washed off in the morning with warm water.

THE BENEFIT WILL BE REMEMBERED LONG AFTER THE PRICE IS FORGOTTEN.

Upon receipt of price, which is $20, we will send you four, three weeks' treatments, of Warner's Guaranteed Simple Goiter Remedy.

Another GUARANTEED OFFER: We will forward you the four treatments for $17, provided you send us the names and addresses of five or more people, 35 years of age, or under, who have simple, or external goiter. Warner's Guaranteed Goiter Remedy will remove most cases of long standing, but our guarantee applies, only, to persons 35 years of age, or under. This emphasizes the importance of early treatment.

The quantity of medicine sent under our guarantee will effectually and permanently remove the goiter, but YOU must co-operate; YOU must assist us by using the required four full treatments if necessary. If, after using the four treatments, you are not satisfied, we will, on application, refund your money.

SPECIAL OFFER: Good only until January 1st, 1919. Send us $3.00 for the first treatment (with five or more names as above), and $5.00 each for the other treatments, as needed. Two or three treatments will often remove simple, or external, goiter in its early stage.

ORDER TODAY: Goiter often grows slowly at first, but is liable, at any time, to take new life and increase rapidly, or take the form of internal, or exophthalmic goiter, thus making it very difficult to remove.

You can obtain this remedy from any leading druggist. If he hasn't it in stock he will order it for you. Do not be misled by worthless and harmful substitutes. Be sure it is Warner's Guaranteed Simple Goiter Remedy.

We PREPAY DELIVERY charges to any part of the United States. Canadian points duty paid, 50 per cent higher. When remitting, state your age, how long you have had goiter, and condition of your heart and nervous system; also do your eyes protrude, showing more of the whites than usual?

ONE OF MANY AFFIDAVITS.

For several years I was afflicted with a Simple (or external) Goiter. It was a large swelling and annoyed me very much besides depriving me of my rest; many times causing me to sit up in bed suddenly at night and gasp for breath. It also caused me to suffer a great deal with palpitation of the heart. I took three treatments of Dr. Warner's Goiter Remedy and every vestige of the Goiter is gone. In fact, I have almost forgotten I ever had a goiter. To those afflicted as I was, I would say: "By all means use Dr. Warner's Remedy—The sooner the better. Do not be afraid, the medicine will also benefit your general health; at least it benefited mine and did the same for several of my friends who used the treatments." Signed, Miss Lottie Jonas, 65 W. Morten St., St. Paul, Minn.

State of Minnesota, County of Hennepin—ss.—Subscribed and sworn to before me this 28th day of September, 1918.

Signed, Alex. C. Mengelkoch, Notary Public, Hennepin County, Minnesota. (My commission expires May 28, 1925.)

QUITE EASY TO FIND POCKET

Simply Put on Dress and Squirm Around Until You Locate It, Says Friend Wife.

Wife—My dear, I left my thimble in the pocket of my new dress, and I wish you'd run upstairs and—

Husband—Now, see here, I'm not going off on any such job as that.

"How foolish you are. Nothing is easier than finding the pocket in a dress. All you have to do is to slip it on."

"Slip what on?"

"The—dress, of course. But you needn't try to button it, you know."

"Oh, I needn't."

"No; slipping it on is enough."

"Well, then what?"

"Use common sense, of course. All you have to do after the dress is on is to dive down and crosswise and a little slanting, and up and around, just as you see ladies do in a shop, and your hand will go straight into the pocket."

SAFE, GENTLE REMEDY CLEANSES YOUR KIDNEYS

For centuries GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been a standard household remedy for kidney, liver, bladder and stomach trouble, and all diseases connected with the urinary organs. The kidneys and bladder are the most important organs of the body. They are the filters, the purifiers of your blood. If the poisons which enter your system through the blood and stomach are not entirely thrown out by the kidneys and bladder, you are doomed.

Weariness, sleeplessness, nervousness, despondency, backache, stomach trouble, headache, pain in loins and lower abdomen, gall stones, gravel, difficulty when urinating, cloudy and bloody urine, rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago, all warn you to look after your kidneys and bladder. All these indicate some weakness of the kidneys or other organs or that the enemy microbes which are always present in your system have attacked your weak spots. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules are what you need.

They are not a "patent medicine," nor a "new discovery." For 200 years they have been a standard household remedy. They are the pure, original imported Haarlem Oil your great-grandmother used, and are perfectly harmless. The healing, soothing oil soaks into the cells and lining of the kidneys and through the bladder, driving out the poisonous germs. New life, fresh strength and health will come as you continue the treatment. When completely restored to your usual vigor, continue taking a capsule or two each day; they will keep you in condition and prevent a return of the disease.

Do not delay a minute. Delays are especially dangerous in kidney and bladder trouble. All druggists sell GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. They will refund the money if not as represented. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules are imported direct from the laboratories in Holland. They are prepared in correct quantity and convenient form, are easy to take and are positively guaranteed to give prompt relief. In three sizes, sealed packages. Ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL. Accept no substitutes.—Adv.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879

Next to the imperative duty of American citizens to support the Liberty loan 's their duty to hold their Liberty bonds. It is not full service to the country to purchase Liberty bonds and then throw them upon the market, thus putting upon others the real burden of financing the war. Unless the necessity for disposing of them is very great, every owner of a Liberty bond should hold fast to it.

Holding onto one's bonds means that one has not only lent so much money to his Government but also that he is not spending that money for goods, labor, and transportation needed by the Nation in the prosecution of the war, and is thus leaving the resources of the country more freely at the disposal of the Government as well as giving it financial backing. This is a double service.

Secretary Baker says that the wide distribution of the Liberty bonds amongst the mass of the American people makes our Liberty loans the soundest financing in history. It is a good thing for every Liberty bond holder to be a creditor of his or her Government, and it is a good thing for the Nation for its obligations to be widely scattered amongst its citizens and not congested into the hands of the rich. It is a most hopeful thing for the United States that the best investment in the world, the Liberty bonds, are very widely distributed amongst millions of its citizens.

BOOKS MAKE THEM HAPPY

Alice Hegan Rice, author of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," and an ardent member of the American Library Association, is working in the interests of military libraries for the United War Work Campaign. Asked why soldiers should be supplied with books, since their mission is fighting, Mrs. Rice replied in true Mrs. Wiggs style:

"When some soldiers in the Civil War was lyin' around camp tryin' to keep from freezin' to death a preacher come along and when he got up to preach he sez, 'Friends, my text is Chilblains. They ain't no use a-preachin' to men whose whole thought is set on their feet. Now you fellows, git some soft soap and pour into them shoes and jes' keep them shoes on until yer feet fit well and next time I come around yer minds will be better prepared ter receive the word of the Lord.'"

Fighting men who are made happy when not fighting, fight better, Mrs. Rice believes.

THEY CAN'T COME HOME, SO SEND HOME TO THEM

The Poilus and the Tommies can go home for their furloughs. The American soldier in France is 3,000 miles from home. His best makeshift home is the welfare hut of the allied war welfare agencies participating in the United War Work Campaign for funds to maintain their work "over there." When he goes on a furlough he goes to one of the huge rest resorts that have been established for this purpose by the Y. M. C. A.

This is but one of the many phases of service for which the big drive will be held all over the country, November 11 to 18.

Buying More Cutlery.

Siamese importers are purchasing more cutlery than they did formerly and there should be an opportunity for the sale of American supplies. Japan has profited by the increased demand. The value of cutlery imports from Japan advanced from $83 in 1914-15 to $12,754 in 1916-17. American machine tools are widely used in Siam and vigorous selling campaigns should be planned for the purpose of introducing other lines of cutlery after the war.—New York Journal of Commerce.

GIRLS WORK WONDERS

They Are Giving the Huts in France the Touch of Home—Being There Means Much.

It was in a hut at one of the training schools in France. He was a noncommissioned officer. He had been in France for eight months, and now was back from the front as an instructor. He hadn't seen a girl of his own kind, a girl like his sisters, for weeks.

And there she stood behind the canteen counter in this big, roomy, comfortable hut.

He bought a bar of chocolate. Then he drifted over to the group around the piano. Presently he went back to the canteen for a package of cigarets. He strolled to the reading table and leafed over a magazine. Again he returned—this time for a cake of soap and some tooth-paste.

For a moment the rush at the canteen was over. He loitered at the counter and looked at the girl. She smiled. So did he. Then he blurted out what he had been trying to say for 20 minutes:

"Gee! But it's nice to see a girl like you!"

There are girls like that all over France—in camps, in towns, in the big cities—even at the front itself. They are serving the canteens, running restaurants, handing out hot chocolate or coffee, pies and doughnuts.

They are giving the huts a look of home—putting bright curtains at the windows, posters on the walls, making flower-gardens at the doors. They are mending for the soldiers.

But, most of all, they are just being there! They talk about the things that sound like home. Perhaps they know the very towns and streets and girls that these boys know. They bind together home and France! They are the girls beside the men behind the guns!

Without the organizations whose uniforms they wear, these girls could accomplish nothing. However eager to help, they could not even travel as individuals.

But with the backing of these established, recognized and regulated bodies, they can work wonders.

When you think of war as a brutalizing force, think of American womanhood working with the soldiers in this war—then give to support the organizations which make this possible.

U. S. VOICES VICTORY SPIRIT

By James Cardinal Gibbons.

America, through her soldiers in France, has voiced the spirit that leads to victory. They are our sons and brothers; flesh of our flesh, and the spirit that inspires them inspires us also. We have sent them across the sea to fight—but we have in heart and in soul gone with them. We are determined that they should know that the people at home are fighting with them, standing with them, shoulder to shoulder. America in this war has done what no other nation ever did. She has carried the presence, the atmosphere of home into the camps across the seas, that everywhere the soldier may realize there are fatherly hands to help him, motherly hands to console him, friendly hands to entertain him.

DOUGHNUTS FOR DOUGHBOYS

From "Soup to Salvation" to "Piety and Pies."

Of all the seven great war welfare organizations combining forces for the United War Work Campaign of Nov. 11-18, none is more popular than the Salvation Army, first in the field since the first Salvation Army force of fourteen men and women landed in France on August 14, 1914. When the United States got into the war, Salvation Army action was just as prompt.

The Salvation Army, like the Y. M. C. A., seeks to do for the boys whatever needs doing. Its workers supply doughnuts, pies, coffee, chocolate, tea, all sorts of physical comforts to the soldiers, free at the front, as in like the Y. M. C. A., at small cost elsewhere, since they speedily learned that the British and American soldier resents any suspicion of charity. They do mending, nursing, hospital orderly work, where and whenever needed. They keep the religious element always in sight, but never intrude it; they regard it always from the practical aspect. The old slogan of "Soup and Salvation" has been replaced by "Pies and Piety," or, as the soldiers themselves put it, "Doughnuts for Doughboys," but this represents but a small part of the Salvation Army work.

The last to ask aid from the public, the Salvation Army, which borrowed money in America, London and Paris for its first overseas equipment, now needs its pro rata share of the $170,500,000 asked through the United War Work Campaign.

KEEP SOLDIERS HAPPY WHILE IN THE HOSPITAL

The morale of a wounded soldier suffers severely unless he can be entertained in some manner. That's why, whenever there's anything doing about the hospital, all the men who can walk or limp or lean upon them stronger shoulder form a pleased yet solemn procession toward the place of entertainment. GIRLS CAN DO MUCH GOOD

To Earn and Give $5 Is the Pledge of Victory Girls.

"Every girl pulling for Victory." This is the slogan of the Victory girls.

"Everybody is doing something to win the war but me," a fourteen-year-old girl said. "I'm left out. I can't buy Liberty Bonds or go to France as a nurse."

It is for the "left out" girl who wants to make a real sacrifice for the men at the front, that Victory Girls "Earn and Give" division of the United War Work Campaign has been established.

Victory Girls is as much an army at home as the men in the service are an army wherever they are called. Like Victory Boys, they are an "Earn and Give" division of the United War Work Campaign. When a girl enrolls she pledges herself to earn a stated sum for war work. This means that no girl, or boy either, can give any money that she or he has not earned. The Department of Campaign Divisions in the National Organization, of which A. H. Whitford is director, has appointed Miss Gertrude Gogin, Girls' Work Secretary of the National Y. W. C. A., secretary of the girls' division of the Victory Girls. Both are working in the campaign in which seven national organizations are co-operating—the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., National Catholic War Council (Knights of Columbus), Jewish Welfare Board, War Camp Community Service, American Library Association and Salvation Army.

To insure the greatest understanding and co-operation in the work done with Victory Girls and Victory Boys, a director has been appointed to act for the National Catholic War Council and representatives of Catholic Women have been appointed in various local committees.

UNITED LEADERSHIP WILL BRING VICTORY

Lansing and Lane Endorse Campaign for Funds for Welfare of America's Fighting Forces.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Hearty endorsement is given today by Robert Lansing, Secretary of State, to the United War Work Campaign, in a statement urging support of the drive for $170,500,000 for the continuation of soldier and sailor service work by the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., National Catholic War Council (K. of C.), War Camp Community Service, American Library Association and Salvation Army.

"The wise policy for a united campaign which has been adopted by the [illegible]

"While they, acting separately, have done and would continue to do splendid work, combination will greatly add to their efficiency and usefulness. I am sure that the American people will give to the united effort the same support which they gave in the past to the separate organizations. It is enough to say that it is for our boys across the sea."

Franklin K. Lane, Secretary of the Interior, summed up as follows: "Under a united leadership in France our men are making a drive for us, and under a united leadership in America we are making a drive for them. May we be as successful as they have been!"

YOU'D GIVE YOUR LAST CENT!

If you came across a man dying for the want of a cup of hot chocolate or coffee, what would you do? You'd spend your last dollar to see that he got it!

Supposing your boy or one of his pals lay on a foreign field, wounded, needing help that money could buy.

You'd beg every last one of those within a dozen miles to do all that they could for the poor lad—and hang the expense!

That's exactly what it means when you donate to the United War Work Campaign fund which goes to the various war welfare agencies with which your son is in constant contact. You are ministering to some neighbor lad if not your own—or perhaps to many of them—in the only way that can really help them in those trying times when every bit of comfort is the saving grace that makes the horror and hardship endurable and keeps them steady and sane.

Send home and the human touch to the lads "over there" in the only way that is left for you—

Through the Army Welfare Agencies!

More Than Paid the Debt.

Some of us will give a second thought to the extraordinary achievement of a congregation in Geneva, N. Y., which first built with reckless extravagance a massive graystone church and then adopted the tithing system to get them out of their difficulty. The story is told in Outlook. When the church was dedicated—if that is the right word—the debt was $82,000, and the weekly budget $236. The weekly income was less than $100. In two years the debt has been reduced to $40,000 and the weekly income is $300. Of the 1,000 members 350 are tithers. A tither sets aside one-tenth of his income for Christian activities. The blessings of happiness and prosperity which have attended the people are remarkable. Many thrilling stories are told. Some church leaders are deeply impressed by the success of the system and they are advocating it as a financial policy.—[illegible]

As they are about done threshing in North Dakota, there will be a slack in the long train loads of wheat going to Minneapolis soon.

The elevators at Goodridge are loaded with wheat, and the farmers are likely to have to slack up hauling in their grain, if they cannot get the wheat shipped out faster.

There is not likely to be any scarcity of harvest help next year, when those million of soldiers get home from France, and and all the ammunition factories close down.

Maybe some of those cotton speculator will wish that they had a government controlled price for cotton, when the botton drops out of their present speculative prices.

Ole Halvorson returned from North Dakota Monday, where he has been threshing this fall. He said they paid as high as seven dollars a day for men to pitch bundles where he was.

Thief River Falls celebrated America's victory last Monday night by a monster parade and the hanging of Kaiser Wilhelm. There was all kinds of noise made, from good music by the band, to beating on tin pans and cans by the boys and the ringing of bells by the girls.

The way they do in Mexico and used to do in Cuba, was when one side won at the ballot box the defeated ones started a revolution. We hope that there will not be any tin can revolution in Highlanding township, but we overheard a defeated candidate remark, "that the war was over in Europe, and had just started in Highlanding." Any man who gets sore over defeat at the ballot box has no place in politics, and will soon sink into oblivion where he properly belongs. When the people have spoken, let that settle it. If they had wanted the defeated candidate to serve them they would have elected him.

Among the boys who went from this neighborhood, three has been, none of them killed in action, Edward Klemmetson was wounded, and Arthur Helgeson was shot through the shoulder, Johnnie Hanson got a bayonet thrust in his hand. RECLAIM MANY SUNKEN SHIPS

Hundreds of Vessels in British Waters Have Been Salvaged—Possibility of Raising the Lusitania.

Most welcome is the announcement from London that since January, 1915, 407 ships sunk by the Germans in British waters have been salvaged; 147 of them, by improved methods, in five months of the present year.

Britain's coast, like our own, is edged by a broad belt of shallow water. For 200 miles of the channel's length no spot reaches a depth of 100 fathoms; much of it is quite shallow, which accounts for the chop that makes so many who cross it briefly unhappy.

From our own Norfolk one gets well out of sight of land before reaching water too deep for salvage operations. Depth increases more rapidly off the Irish coast, but even the Lusitania lies near the 50-fathom line, below the shatter of the storm, yet near enough the surface so that many practical wreckers have said that it would be possible, though exceedingly difficult, to bring her forth to a nautical resurrection.

That some things can be done as well as others our engineers showed when they raised the U-boats' biggest victim along our coast, the Herbert Pratt, and brought her safe to shore. What the "improved methods" used off England may be we shall probably not know until after the war. That they are cheating the murderous submarines of their prey in so many cases is good news.

A READING ARMY IN FRANCE

Made Possible By Work of American Library Association.

"I found your books everywhere, from the seaport bases to the front line trenches," so Raymond B. Fosdick, Chairman of the Commission on Training Camp Activities, reported to the authorities of the American Library Association on his recent return from France. "I found them in dugouts thirty or forty feet below ground, in cow-barns where shrapnel had blown parts of the roof away, as well as in substantial huts and tents far back from the firing line. I found them also in hospitals and dressing stations; in scattered villages in the training area where our men are billeted, and even in remote parts of France where our forestry units are carrying on their lonely but essential work.

"And they were all well worn books that I saw, showing signs of constant usage. Indeed, the books are in continual demand, and I am sure that it will be a reading army that we shall welcome home from France when the war is done."

The continued service of this organization is one of the purposes of the United War Work Campaign.

STEADIER HOG MARKETS PLANNED

Hog Producers and Packers Confer With Representatives of the Food Administration and Agricultural Department and Adopt New Plan of Regulation.

In accordance with the policy of the Food Administration since its foundation to consult representative men in the agricultural industry on occasions of importance to special branches of the industry, on October 24 there was convened in Washington a meeting of the Live Stock Subcommittee of the Agricultural Advisory Board and the special members representing the swine industry to consider the situation in the hog market.

The conference lasted for three days, and during this time met with the executive committee of the fifty packing firms participating in foreign orders for pork products and with the members of the Food Administration directing foreign pork purchases.

The conclusions of the conference were as follows:

The entire marketing situation has so changed since the September joint conference as to necessitate an entire alteration in the plans of price stabilization. The current peace talk has alarmed the holders of corn, and there has been a price decline of from 25 cents to 40 cents per bushel. The fact that the accumulations of low priced corn in the Argentine and South Africa would, upon the advent of peace and liberated shipping, become available to the European market has created a great deal of apprehension on the part of corn holders. This decline has spread fear among swine growers that a similar reduction in the prices of hogs would naturally follow. Moreover, the lower range of corn prices would, if incorporated in a 13-to-1 ratio, obviously result in a continuously falling price for live hogs. In view of these changed conditions many swine producers anticipated lower prices and as a result rushed their hogs to market in large numbers, and this overshipment has added to and aggravated the decline.

The information of the Department of Agriculture indicates that the supply of hogs has increased about 8 per cent, while the highest unofficial estimate does not exceed 15 per cent increased production over last year. On the other hand, the arrival of hogs during the last three weeks in the seven great markets has been 27 per cent more than last year, during the corresponding period, demonstrating the unusually heavy marketing of the available supply. In the face of the excessive receipts some packers have not maintained the price agreed last month. On the other hand, many of the packers have paid over the price offered to them in an endeavor to maintain the agreed price. The result in any event has been a failure to maintain the October price basis determined upon at the September conference and undertaken by the packers. Another factor contributing to the break in prices during the month has been the influenza epidemic; it has sharply curtailed consumption of pork products and temporarily decreased the labor staff of the packers about 25 per cent. [illegible]

The exports of 130,000,000 pounds of pork products for October compared with about [illegible] pounds in October a year ago, and the export orders placeable by the Food Administration for November amount to 170,000,000 pounds as contrasted with [illegible] producer and the insurance of an adequate future supply.

These foreign orders are placed upon the basis of cost of hogs to the packers.

As the result of long negotiations between this body and the Packers' Committee, representing the 45 to 50 packers participating in foreign orders, together with the Allied buyers, all under the Chairmanship of the Food Administration, the following undertaking has been given by the packers:

In view of the undertakings on the part of the Food Administration with regard to the co-ordinated purchases of pork products, covered in the attached, it is agreed that the packers participating in these orders will undertake not to purchase hogs for less than the following agreed minimums for the month of November, that is a daily minimum of $17.50 per hundred pounds on average of packers' droves, excluding throw-outs. "Throw-outs" to be defined as pigs under 130 pounds, stags, boars, thin sows and skips. Further, that no hogs of any kind shall be bought, except throw-outs, at less than $16.50 per hundred pounds. The average of packers' droves to be construed as the average of the total sales in the market of all hogs for a given day. All the above to be based on Chicago.

We agree that a committee shall be appointed by the Food Administration to check the daily operations in the various markets with a view to supervision and demonstration of the carrying out of the above.

The ability of the packers to carry out this arrangement will depend on there being a normal marketing of hogs based upon the proportionate increase over the receipts of last year. The increase in production appears to be a maximum of about 15 per cent and we can handle such an increase.

If the producers of hogs should, as they have in the past few weeks, prematurely market hogs in such increasing numbers over the above it is entirely beyond the ability of the packers to maintain these minimums, and therefore we must have the co-operation of the producer himself to maintain these results. It is a physical impossibility for the capacity of the packing houses to handle a similar over-flood of hogs and to find a market for the output. The packers are anxious to co-operate with the producers in maintaining a stabilization of price and to see that producers receive a fair price for their product.

(Signed) THOS. E. WILSON,
Chairman Packers' Committee.

The plan embodied above was adopted by the conference.

[illegible]

port demands appears to be amply sufficient to take up the increase in hog production, but unfavorable market conditions existing in October afford no fair index of the aggregate supply and demand.

It must be evident that the enormous shortage in fats in the Central Empires and neutral countries would immediately upon peace result in additional demands for pork products which, on top of the heavy shipments to the Allies, would tend materially to increase the American exports, inasmuch as no considerable reservoir of supplies exists outside of the United States. It seems probable that the present prospective supplies would be inadequate to meet this world demand with the return to peace. So far as it is possible to interpret this fact, it appears that there should be even a stronger demand for pork products after the war, and therefore any alarm of hog producers as to the effect of peace is unwarranted by the outlook.

In the light of these circumstances it is the conclusion of the conference that attempts to hold the price of hogs to the price of corn may work out to the disadvantage of pork producers. It is the conclusion that any interpretation of the formula should be a broad gauged policy applied over a long period. It is the opinion of the conference that in substitution of the previous plans of stabilization the Live Stock Subcommittee of the Agricultural Advisory Board, together with the specially invited swine representatives, should accept the invitation of the Food Administration to join with the Administration and the packers in determining the prices at which controlled export orders are to be placed. This will be regularly done. The influence of these orders will be directed to the maintenance of the common object—namely, the stabilization of the [illegible]

ministration, Mr. Louis D. Hall of the Bureau of Markets, to undertake the supervision of the execution of the plan in the various markets. Commission men are asked to co-operate in carrying out the plan embodied in the packers' agreement. It must be evident that offers by commission men to sell hogs below the minimum established above is not fair, either to the producer or the participating packers. Mr. Brown has undertaken on behalf of the commission men in the United States that they will loyally support the plan.

It is believed by the conference that this new plan, based as it is upon a positive minimum basis, will bring better results to the producer than average prices for the month. It does not limit top prices and should narrow the margins necessary to country buyers in more variable markets. It is believed that the plan should work out close to $18 average.

Swine producers of the country will contribute to their own interest by not flooding the market, for it must be evident that if an excessive over percentage of hogs is marketed in any one month price stabilization and control cannot succeed, and it is certain that producers themselves can contribute materially to the efforts of the conferences if they will do their marketing in as normal a way as possible.

The whole situation as existing at present demands a frank and explicit assurance from the conferees represented—namely, that every possible effort will be made to maintain a live hog price commensurate with swine production costs and reasonable selling values in execution of the declared policy of the Food Administration to use every agency in its control to secure justice to the farmer.

The stabilization methods adopted for November represent the best ef- [illegible]

THIS WEAK, NERVOUS MOTHER

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was very weak, always tired, my back ached, and I felt sickly most of the time. I went to a doctor and he said I had nervous indigestion, which added to my weak condition kept me worrying most of the time—and he said if I could not stop that, I could not get well. I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my husband wanted me to try it. I took it for a week and felt a little better. I kept it up for three months, and I feel fine and can eat anything now without distress or nervousness."—Mrs. J. WORTHLINE, 2842 North Taylor St., Philadelphia Pa.

The majority of mothers nowadays overdo, there are so many demands upon their time and strength; the result is invariably a weakened, run-down, nervous condition with headaches, backache, irritability and depression—and soon more serious ailments develop. It is at such periods in life that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will restore a normal healthy condition, as it did to Mrs. Worthline.

GIVES BURNQUIST LARGE PLURALITY

MINNESOTA RETURNS GOVERNOR TO OFFICE OVER HIS TWO OPPONENTS.

NELSON'S MAJORITY 100,000

Senator Runs Away From W. G. Calderwood of Minneapolis—Clarence B. Miller of Duluth Is Beaten for Congress.

Minneapolis, Nov. 7.—Senator Knute Nelson, Minnesota's grand old man, is running far in the lead of W. G. Calderwood of Minneapolis, who was backed by the Nationalist party and a few Democrats. It is estimated that the Nelson majority will run far in excess of 100,000 votes.

Burnquist Leads by 40,000.

Governor Burnquist has a lead of 40,000 votes over David H. Evans, in 1,776 out of 3,119 precincts in the state. The vote in those precincts follows: Burnquist, 113,067; Wheaton, 52,777; Evans, 71,139.

In 188 out of 204 precincts in Hennepin county the vote on governor was: Burnquist, 28,555; Wheaton, 14,193; Evans, 12,865. Burnquist's lead in Hennepin county will run approximately 16,000 votes.

All of the other Republican candidates on the state ticket have apparently been elected by heavy majorities or pluralities. For some time there was doubt about Herman Mueller, Republican nominee for clerk of the supreme court.

Mueller was repudiated by the Republican state central committee, but the repudiation came too late. In 793 precincts out of the 3,119 in the state Mueller polled 45,677 votes and Charles A. Letheart, Democrat, indorsed by the Republican committee, polled 33,668.

Returns from 816 out of 3,119 precincts in the state indicated the reelection of sitting members of the state supreme court.

Chief Justice Calvin L. Brown received 43,042 votes against 25,884 for his opponent, Benjamin Drake, in the available figures.

Associate Justice Oscar Hallam and Andrew Holt received in the same precinct 29,227 and 34,534, respectively, for re-election, while W. H. Vanderburgh received 13,247 and Thomas Frazer received 25,226.

Returns for attorney general from 1,112 precincts out of 3,119 in the state give Hilton 64,575, Davis, 36,114, Gislason, 17,916, and Haugh, 3,924.

Returns for lieutenant governor from 709 precincts increased Frankson's lead. The lieutenant governor received 39,666; Helweg got 17,912, and Haggard polled 9,552.

The secretary of state, 652 precincts, gave Schmahl 65,165 and Indrehus 27,425.

Minnesota will send eight Republicans and two Democrats to the national House of Representatives for the next session.

The big feature of the election was the defeat in the Eighth district of Clarence B. Miller of Duluth, Republican, generally regarded as one of the strong men of the House. W. L. Carrs of Proctor, who was filed at the last minute, defeated Miller.

In the First district Sydney A. Anderson, Republican, was elected without opposition. In the Second, Franklin F. Ellsworth defeated his Democratic opponent by an overwhelming majority. In the Third, Charles R. Davis, Republican, was returned, although he was pushed hard.

In the Fourth district Carl C. Van Dyke, Democrat, was returned by a large vote.

In the Fifth district Walter H. Newton, Republican, was elected over W. C. Robertson, Democrat.

In the Sixth, Harold Knutson of St. Cloud was re-elected by a smashing majority.

Andrew J. Volstead, Republican, defeated his National opponent, E. E. Lobeck, by a large vote in the Seventh district.

In the Ninth district Halvor Steenerson, Republican, was re-elected by a heavy majority, as was Thomas D. Schall, Republican, in the Tenth district.

With the drys leading by approximately 1,000 votes on the prohibition amendment to the state constitution in one-third of the precincts in the state, the fate of the amendment will remain in doubt for several days.

In 998 precincts out of the 3,119, the vote stands—yes, 72,735; no, 71,905.

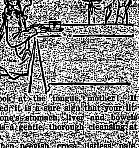
GIVE CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS AT ONCE IF BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED.



Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels needs a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative;" they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Adv.

WHY WOMEN DREAD OLD AGE

Don't worry about old age. Don't worry about being in other people's way when you are getting on in years. Keep your body in good condition and you can be as hale and hearty in your old days as you were when a kid, and every one will be glad to see you.

The kidneys and bladder are the causes of senile afflictions. Keep them clean and in proper working condition. Drive the poisonous wastes from the system and avoid uric acid accumulations. Take GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules periodically and you will find that the system will always be in perfect working order. Your spirits will be enlivened, your muscles made strong and your face have once more the look of youth and health.

New life, fresh strength and health will come as you continue this treatment. When your first vigor has been restored continue for awhile taking a capsule or two each day. They will keep you in condition and prevent a return of your troubles.

There is only one guaranteed brand of Haarlem Oil Capsules, GOLD MEDAL. There are many fakes on the market. Be sure you get the Original GOLD MEDAL Imported Haarlem Oil Capsules. They are the only reliable. For sale by all first class druggists.—Adv.

DEMOCRATS LOSE CONTROL OF HOUSE

REPUBLICANS HAVE MAJORITY OF SIXTEEN, WHICH MAY BE INCREASED.

SENATE REMAINS IN DOUBT

Close Contests in Michigan, Idaho and New Mexico Will Determine Which Party Secures Control of Upper House.

Washington, Nov. 7.—With control of the House of Representatives placed in the hands of the Republicans by a majority of 16, and probably more, the attention of the country was centered on contests in three states—Michigan, Idaho and New Mexico, which will decide whether the Democrats shall lose control of the Senate as well.

Returns from five congressional districts were missing—in Montana, New Mexico and South Dakota.

Without them, however, the Republicans have won 234 seats in the House of Representatives—16 more than the 218 votes necessary for a majority.

Democrats Lack 18 Votes.

The Democrats, on the face of these returns, had 195 seats, and if the five missing districts were to be conceded to them they still would lack 18 votes of the number necessary to control the House.

Returns show plainly that Speaker Clark, instead of being defeated, as was reported likely, has been elected by a substantial majority.

The contests which will decide the political complexion of the Senate were very close. As the Senate stands, without a decision in these contests, there are 46 Democrats and 47 Republicans.

Michigan Race Close.

In Michigan the race between Henry Ford and Truman H. Newberry was so close that it was said an official count might be required to decide the winner. Both parties were claiming the seat.

In New Mexico, where Republicans are claiming the election of Senator Fall by a majority of 1,000 at least, not a single county had reported complete returns.

In Idaho, where 74,000 votes out of an estimated total of 95,000 had been counted, Senator Nugent, the Democratic candidate for re-election, was leading Frank R. Gooding, the Republican candidate, by a little more than 800 votes. The result is in doubt.

Senate Loss a Blow.

With the House firmly in the hands of the Republicans, the control of the Senate is more important than ever to the Democratic administration. If the administration can retain control of the Senate it can in a large measure check the activities of a Republican House. It is doubly important to the national administration because of the part the constitution assigns to the Senate in the ratification of the peace treaties which will end the world war.

In the Senate reposes the prerogative of ratifying any treaties which the President may make. Republicans made one of their campaign arguments on the contention that a Republican Senate should be elected to participate in the work of making peace.

Must Ratify Treaty.

The Democratic administration on the other hand contends that the negotiation of treaties is wholly the function of the executive branch and that the Senate's part is to ratify them.

With the Senatorial returns still missing from Michigan, Idaho and New Mexico, the figures showed that the Republicans had lost one—Senator Weeks of Massachusetts—while the Democrats had lost six. The senators who will be retired are Shafroth of Colorado, Saulsbury of Delaware, Lewis of Illinois, Thompson of Kansas, Wilfley of Missouri and Hollis of New Hampshire.

WEALTH HEAVILY MORTGAGED

Germany Nearing the End of Her Financial Resources.

London, Nov. 7.—Germany's financial position is desperate and rapidly approaching the breaking point.

After she raised her eighth war loan her national debt, it is estimated, approached $30,000,000,000. It is assumed that since then it has reached $35,000,000,000.

Assuming that the debt stands now at $28,400,000,000, Germany has mortgaged, therefore, more than two-fifths of her national wealth, estimated at $80,000,000,000.

That this figure is approaching Germany's limitation in the war is indicated by remarks made from time to time by authorities in Germany.

Unlike Topsy— Swift & Company Has Not "Jest Growed"

Swift & Company, in fifty years of well ordered growth, has become one of the great national services because it has learned to do something for the American people which they needed to have done for them, in the way in which they preferred to have it done.

It has met each successive demand, in the changing conditions of national life, by getting good meat to increasing millions effectively, efficiently, economically, and expeditiously.

The Swift & Company packing plants, refrigerator cars, car routes, branch houses, organization, and personnel of today are the practical solutions, born of practical experience, to the food problems of half a century.

Because of all these elements working in correlation and unison, Swift & Company is able to supply more and better meat to more people than would have been possible otherwise, at a net profit per pound of meat so low (a fraction of a cent) that the consumer price is practically unaffected.

Strip away any portion of this vast, smooth-running human machine, and you make a large part of the meat supply uncertain, lose the benefit of half a century of fruitful experience, and scatter the intelligent energies of men who have devoted a life work toward meeting the needs of a nation in one vital field.

The booklet of preceding chapters in this story of the packing industry will be mailed on request to Swift & Company, Union Stock Yards, Chicago, Illinois.

DRUGGISTS—PLEASE NOTE VICK'S VAPORUB OVERSOLD DUE TO PRESENT EPIDEMIC

Tremendous Demand Last Few Days Has Wiped Out Excess Stocks That We Had Estimated Would Last Until Next January—Last Week's Orders Called for One and Three Quarter Million Jars—Today's Orders Alone Amount to 932,459 Jars.

Big Shipments Are En Route to Jobbers. Until These Arrive There May Be a Temporary Shortage. All Deals Postponed—Buy in Small Lots Only.

RETAILERS CAN GET IMMEDIATE SHIPMENTS DIRECT BY PARCEL POST.

This advertisement is written on Monday, October 21st. It is directed to the attention of all distributors of Vick's VapoRub, both wholesale and retail. In an emergency such as the present epidemic—our duty—and your duty—is to distribute VapoRub in the quickest possible manner to those sections stricken by Influenza. We, therefore, call your careful attention to the following:

DANGER OF SHORTAGE IF SUPPLY IS NOT CONSERVED.

On October 1st we had on hand, at our Factory and in twenty warehouses scattered over the country, sufficient VapoRub to last us, we thought, until January 1st, allowing for a 50 per cent increase over last year's sales and not counting our daily output. This big excess stock had been accumulated during the summer months.

Then this epidemic of Spanish Influenza hit us—and in the last ten days this stock has vanished. At first we thought this tremendous demand would last only a few days, but the orders have run:

Wed., Oct. 16	18,504 doz.
Thur., Oct. 17	25,323 doz.
Fri., Oct. 18	39,256 doz.
Sat., Oct. 19	45,833 doz.
Mon., Oct. 21	77,705 doz.

Up to Saturday, October 19th, we have actually shipped for this month $400,284.10, or over two million jars of VapoRub.

THE PROBLEM NOW IS TO DISTRIBUTE VAPORUB QUICKLY.

Most of this tremendous quantity is still en route to the jobbers, but freight and express are both congested nowadays, and it may be some time before this supply reaches the jobbers. In the meantime, therefore, it is necessary that we distribute, as widely as possible, the stock that we are manufacturing daily, together with that now on the jobbers' and retailers' shelves, in order that it may get to the Influenza districts quickly. Our normal output is about 4,000 dozen per day. We are putting on a night shift, but it will be a little while before that is producing.

WHAT WE ASK THE WHOLESALE DRUGGIST TO DO.

Last Saturday we notified all of our jobbers, by Special Delivery, as follows:

1st—Deals and quantity shipments of all kinds are cancelled. Fill no quantity orders of any kind, whether taken by our salesman or by your own. Sell in small lots only.

2nd—Order from us in as small quantities as possible. If you are out we will try to ship a limited amount by Parcel Post or express and pay the charges ourselves.

3rd—In order to make distribution still quicker, we will ship direct to your retail customers quantities not more than three (3) dozen 30c size in any one shipment.

4th—We are now out of the 60c size and will be for the next ten days.

WHAT WE ASK THE RETAIL DRUGGIST TO DO.

Buy in as small quantities as possible. If you have any quantity orders, given the jobber's salesmen or given to our salesmen, don't bother about them—no need to write us—it is absolutely impossible to fill these orders at this time. If the jobbers in your territory are out of Vick's VapoRub we will ship you by Parcel Post prepaid, quantities not more than three (3) dozen 30c size in any one order. Naturally, we can't open accounts at this time, so your check or money order for this amount must accompany order. Don't write us stating to ship thru your jobber, as we then have to wait until we write this jobber and get his O. K. If you wish the goods to come thru your jobber, have him order them for you.

SNOWED UNDER WITH CORRESPONDENCE.

Our force has already been "shot to pieces"—twenty-four of our men are wearing Uncle Sam's khaki—and this recent rush has simply buried us. All our sales force has been called in to help in the office and factory. We just mention this so you won't hold it against us if your wires and letters aren't answered promptly.

SPECIAL BOOKLETS ON SPANISH INFLUENZA.

We will send, on request, to any retail druggist, 100 or more little booklets, just issued, on Spanish Influenza, giving the latest information about this disease—its history—the symptoms—the treatment, and particularly the use of Vick's VapoRub as an external application to supplement the physician's treatment.

NEW WAYS TO USE VAPORUB.

In addition to the usual method of using VapoRub—that is, applied over the throat and chest and covered with hot flannel cloths—our customers are writing us daily telling of their success in using VapoRub in other ways, particularly as a preventive. They melt a little in a spoon and inhale the vapors arising, or melt it in a benzoin steam kettle. Where the steam kettle is not available, VapoRub can be used in an ordinary teakettle. Fill the teakettle half full of boiling water, put in half a teaspoon of VapoRub from time to time—keep the kettle just slowly boiling and inhale the steam arising.

According to a Bulletin just issued by the Public Health Service, Dr. Stiles recommends that the nose and throat be kept coated with some oily substance. For this purpose VapoRub is excellent—just put a little up the nostrils from time to time, and snuff well back into the air passages.

Acid-Stomach Makes Millions Old Before Their Time

What is it that robs so many people of their vitality, youth and good looks—makes them all in and decrepit years before their time? Some say it's rheumatism that is ailing them. Others complain of chronic stomach or liver trouble. Others are bilious. Life is a burden to multitudes of dyspeptics. Severe headache, extreme nervousness, insomnia, mental depression, melancholia, anemia, dizziness, vertigo, heart and chest pains, constipation, etc., claim other multitudes.

Sometimes these people are downright sick. More frequently they are just weak, sickly and unfit, not knowing exactly what is the matter with them. Nearly always they resort to medicines of one kind or another in the hope of getting back their health and strength. And nearly always they are disappointed, because medicines don't build strength unless they get the stomach free from acidity, allowing it to take full strength out of the food eaten.

What is it that causes teeth to decay? Dentists say—acid mouth—that the acids formed by the fermentation of small particles of food lodged in the teeth is powerful enough to eat right through the hard enamel. An acid stomach presents a similar condition. Excess acid retards digestion. Food in the stomach sours and ferments, causing pain. Gases affect the heart action. The intestines become the breeding place for countless millions of deadly germs or toxic poisons. These poisons are carried by the blood into every part of the system. The famous scientist, Metchnikoff, said—If the system could be kept free from these toxic germs, people might easily live a hundred years or more.

The only safe thing to do is to rid the stomach of its excess acid at once. A way has been found in the wonderful preparation, called EATONIC—a compressed compound that absorbs the excess acid and carries it away through the bowels. Thousands upon thousands now know of EATONIC and its amazing power to clean out the excess acid and leave the stomach sweet, cool and strong—giving it a chance to properly digest food so that you get full strength of what you eat, and in this way help Nature build up vigorous health, strength and vitality to take the place of a few days of sickness, lassitude, weakness.

EATONIC is worth your trial. Its possibilities for restoring health, vigor, energy and vitality are beyond telling you in mere words. You must just try it.

EATONIC is absolutely guaranteed. So get a big 50c box from your druggist. If it does not help you your money will be refunded. If your druggist does not keep EATONIC, send your name and address to the Eatonic Remedy Company, 1018 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill., and they will at once mail you a 50c box and you can send them the money for it after you receive it.

GREAT WORLD WAR OVER

GERMAN ENVOYS ACCEPT ALLIED TERMS OF TRUCE

Brief Official Announcement Is Made by State Department at Washington.

FOE DELEGATES SIGN PAPER AT MIDNIGHT

Great World Conflict Came to a Close at Six in the Morning Washington Time When the Two Armies Ceased Firing.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Armistice terms have been signed by Germany, the state department announced at 2:50 a. m.

There was no announcement as to whether hostilities had ceased or the hour at which they would cease.

Washington, Nov. 11.—The world war ended this morning at six o'clock Washington time, 11 o'clock Paris time. The armistice was signed by the German representatives at midnight.

The department's announcement simply said: "The armistice has been signed."

AUSTRIAN SOLDIERS KILLED

Many Lose Their Lives by Trains on Way Home.

Innsbruck, Austria, Nov. 11.—Bavarian troops have occupied the railway station here.

Austrian troops are returning from the former front in swarms, clinging to the cars wherever they can get a hold. Many have been crushed or decapitated by the trains passing through tunnels. Bodies to the number of 203 were picked up in a single day on the railroad tracks near Innsbruck.

FOUR CABINET MEMBERS QUIT

German Ministers Are Reported to Have Resigned.

London, Nov. 11.—The resignation of the German ministers of the interior, instruction, agriculture and finance are reported in a telegram received from Berlin. The Prussian food controller again has requested to be relieved from office and the resignation of the Prussian minister of public works has been in the hands of the cabinet for some time.

LOOTERS ARE BEING SHOT

Disorders at Munich Are Said to Be Subsiding.

Zurich, Nov. 11.—The disorder has subsided in Munich, according to latest reports. The whereabouts of the king is unknown. Casualties in the rioting are few, being confined for the most part to officers who resisted. The Landtag has been dissolved. Only Socialists and deputies are permitted to enter the building. Looters are being shot.

SERIOUS TROUBLE BREWING

Count von Reventlow Says Anarchy Will Prevail.

London, Nov. 11.—Count von Reventlow, whose pan-German writings have appeared during the war in the Tages Zeitung of Berlin, has fled to Denmark. He declared to a correspondent at the frontier that the situation would be much worse in Germany when the soldiers returned from the front. General anarchy could be expected.

SEEKS ASYLUM ACROSS BORDER

Former German Emperor Has Arrived in Holland After Renouncing Throne.

JOY REIGNS AT BERLIN

Capital Receives Tidings of Kaiser's Abdication With General Manifestations of Approval, Tempered by Fear for the Future.

London, Nov. 11.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Copenhagen quotes the Politiken as saying that when the former German emperor arrived at Maastricht he was accompanied by the former empress.

Washington, Nov. 11.—William Hohenzollern has arrived in Holland and is proceeding to the town of De Steeg, near Utrecht, according to a dispatch received by the American army general staff from The Hague. The message said:

"Press reports state that the former kaiser arrived in Maastright, Holland, and is proceeding to Middachten castle in the town of De Steeg, near Utrecht."

De Steeg is on the Guelders Yssel, an arm of the Rhine river about 40 miles east of Utrecht and 12 miles from the German border. The chateau Middachten, to which the former emperor is reported to be proceeding, belongs to Count William Frederick Charles Henry von Bentinck. He is a member of the Prussian guards and before the war was attached to the German embassy in London and a member of the English Turf and Royal Automobile clubs. He is 38 years old. He belongs to the famous Anglo-Dutch-German house of Bentick, the continental branch of the family of the Duke of Portland.

Middachten castle dates back to the year 1697.

News Brings Joy to Berlin.

Copenhagen, Nov. 11.—News of Emperor William's abdication was received at Berlin with general rejoicing, which was tempered by the fear that it had come late.

Signs Abdication Document.

London, Nov. 11.—Emperor William signed a letter of abdication at the German grand headquarters in the presence of Crown Prince Frederick William and Field Marshal Hindenburg, according to a dispatch from Amsterdam to the Exchange Telegraph company.

The German crown prince signed his renunciation to the throne shortly afterwards.

It is believed that King Ludwig III of Bavaria and King Frederick August of Saxony also have abdicated.

The ex-kaiser and the former crown prince took leave of their troops Saturday, but nothing has been settled regarding their future movements, according to advices from neutral sources.

GERMAN REVOLT SPREADING

Serious Outbreaks Are Reported in Many Large Cities.

Amsterdam, Nov. 11.—Among the latest towns to come under control of the Workmen's and Soldiers' councils are Aix-la-Chapelle, Casel, Nuremburg, Mannheim, Gladbach and Muenster. A general strike has been proclaimed in Nuremburg and Mannheim.

Order has been restored in Hamburg, where the police have been permitted to resume their duties under the direction of the Workmen's and Soldiers' council, and places of public amusement have been reopened.

In Cologne the entire garrison sided with the Workers' council, whose program included, according to the Cologne Gazette, the abolition of all German dynasties, the annulment of war loans, with special consideration for the subscribers from the poorer classes, the liberation of all political prisoners and the abolition of saluting.

ARMY ASKS PHOTOGRAPHERS

Crowder Also Needs Bridge and Structural Workers to Serve.

Washington, Nov. 11.—A call for 900 men qualified for limited service to serve as photographers in the army and for 200 men for the navy to serve as bridge and structural workers was issued by Provost Marshal General Crowder.

The men for the army may volunteer until Nov. 20 and will entrain Nov. 25.

Those for the navy may volunteer until Nov. 23 and will be mobilized Nov. 29.

Important to all Women Readers of this Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Womens' complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and maybe despondent; it makes anyone so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

A good kidney medicine, possessing real healing and curative value, should be a blessing to thousands of nervous, over-worked women.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine will do for them. Every reader of this paper, who has not already tried it, by enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. PISO'S

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUB.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County Minnesota.

$1.00 a year, in advance.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam, Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879

Now that the war is over the agitation will start for the return of the railroads to individual owners. We hope to see the government take the same control over the railroads that they have over the post office department. If they do this there will be more construction of new roads to develop the new sections of the country. If we were dependent on private ownership for our mail service the people would have to go the same distance to get their mail, that they now have to go to reach the railroad stations.

America is certainly celebrating the end of war. This country is not a warrior nation, but a nation of peace and prosperity, but when old Kaiser Wilhelm made the remark that America was too busy making dollars to go to war, he found out his mistake. America don't want to fight or war with other nations, but all other nations will now sit up and take notice, that they can and will fight, and when they go to war they go to war they go in to win, and they have the men and the money to win.

Kaiser Wilhelm made many mistakes in starting his war in 1914. But one of his fatal errors was in not promptly subscribing for THE SUNBEAM. If he had done so he would have seen the information published, that he could not lick America.

SEVERAL YEARS OF WORK AHEAD

United War Work Organizations Will Have Much to Do After War Is Ended.

GREATEST VALUE THEN

American Soldiers Will Then Need Most the Entertainment and Diversion Supplied by These Bodies —More Must Be Given.

When he gets through fighting, let's show him what we think of what he has done! Don't let anyone tell you that the work of these seven organizations will be over when the war is over. That's when their greatest value will come.

Today every energy of your fighter is bent on victory. And when it comes, when the strain of training and fighting is over—then will come his reaction. That's when he will need most the entertainment and diversion supplied by these organizations. That's when he will want movies and concerts and ball games and track meets to keep up his spirits in the inevitable delay before he comes home.

Don't forget that it will take many months to bring back our army from France.

Plans for the work of these organizations during the period of demobilization were mapped out long before the prospect of peace was even as near as it is today.

There will be a regular "university in khaki" in France, for one thing. Our fighters will be able to make profitable use of their leisure—to fit themselves for bigger things when they get back into civil life, for better jobs. They have learned to learn in the army and navy. Text books, lectures and class-rooms must be provided to help them prepare for advancement after they return. The country's greatest educators are in uniform now, ready for this work.

And besides, don't forget that we all are going to owe the integrity of our country to your fighter and the boys like him. We sent them away with a cheer. We are going to welcome them home with a roar. And we are going to look after them just as carefully all the way back as we looked after them all the way over. [illegible]

I desire to express to the many readers of the Sunbeam my hearty thanks for the splendid support rendered me in my recent legislative campaign. I am fully aware of the fact that but for the kind and loyal support of my friends throughout the district I would not have succeeded in winning out. Again thanking you I beg to remain,

Faithfully yours,
Martin O. Sortedahl

To the Voters of the Fifth Commissioner's District.

Accept my sincere thanks for the splendid vote and support given me at the polls, assuring you all that I will do everything in my power to further the best interests of the district and county. I am Respectfully Yours,

Oscar J. Peterson.

Buying More Cutlery.

Siamese importers are purchasing more cutlery than they did formerly and there should be an opportunity for the sale of American supplies. Japan has profited by the increased demand. The value of cutlery imports from Japan advanced from $83 in 1914-15 to $12,734 in 1916-17. American machine tools are widely used in Siam and vigorous selling campaigns should be planned for the purpose of introducing other lines of cutlery after the war.—New York Journal of Commerce.

GIVE LIKE THEY ARE GIVING

Following Is the Appeal of a Returned K. of C. Man, Who Knows the Needs of Our Boys in France.

"Do what needs to be done November 11 to 18, when the United War Work drive is pulled off, like an American soldier! It's the finest simile I know," said a returned K. of C. man who spent a year with the boys "over there."

"Walk up to do your share for them with your head high, your step firm and a cheerful smile on your lips—as our boys march into the hell of flame in France!

"Then give as they give on the battle-field—without a thought of self, unstintedly, whole-heartedly, gloriously!

"The more generous we are now, the more joyous will be their home-coming after peace is declared," said this returned welfare worker. "These boys of ours will probably be needed overseas for at least two or three years. And God only knows how vital is the need that this saving welfare service be extended during that period. It means health, sanity, all that is wholesome in their lives.

"Stay with them with your wholehearted support until they come walking down the gang-plank.

"And thank God you've got a chance to do something concrete for them!"

HEARTY ENDORSEMENTS OF FOUR LEADING JEWS

Give Full Approval to United War Work Campaign for Funds to Help American Soldiers.

Following are endorsements of four leading Jews, prominent in public affairs of the United States, who give their full approval to the United War Work Campaign for funds with which to bring the touch of home to American soldiers:

Louis Marshall: "The union of all these organizations in making a joint appeal to the American people for the funds necessary to carry on their essential activities, is the most inspiring demonstration of a homogeneous people that the world has ever witnessed. It will not only result in securing the means for effective work, but every dollar contributed will help every man who is fighting under our flag for the entire American people."

Dr. K. Kohler, president of Hebrew Union College, Cincinnati, Ohio: "It seems as if out of this cruel warfare a new spirit of humanity is evolving. Here is our great opportunity to manifest the broad humanitarian spirit of Judaism. Let us not miss it. Let the Jewish Welfare Board lead in this great campaign."

Henry Morgenthau: "American boys of every race and religious belief are fighting shoulder to shoulder in trench and field and war workers representing every faith are working together behind the lines to give the boys home comfort and good cheer and spiritual guidance. Support of the United War Work Campaign is support for our own."

Abram I. Patriotic Task Before American People, Says Mortimer Schiff.

Mortimer L. Schiff, Chairman Finance Committee, Jewish Welfare Board, Member Executive Committee United War Work Campaign, says: "The end of hostilities in Europe will not mean the sudden cessation of war welfare work. Our soldiers and sailors are from three to six thousand miles away from their own people and it will take more than 12 months to get them back home again. This long period, when the grim duties of warfare are suspended and restraints are generally relaxed, will present greatest need for our work. There is no patriotic task before the American people just now more important than that of whole-heartedly putting the United War Work Campaign over the top."

4,000 "Y" MEN NEEDED AT ONCE IN FRANCE

Secretaries Will Be Required More Than Ever When Fighting Ceases.

With our brothers and sons overseas simply begging for more Y. M. C. A. secretaries that the service of the "Y" may be extended into out-of-the-way places, and with the earnest pleading of the Czecho-Slovaks and Russians for more "Y" men and still more, the need of new recruits in "Y" ranks has become imperative.

"Four thousand more men are needed today in France alone," declared Morton M. Newcomb, head of the recruiting service of the Army Y. M. C. A. at Minneapolis.

"When fighting ceases, the American forces will need Y secretaries as never before to prevent the undoing of the good work that has helped produce the splendid morale of our army and to aid in the reconstruction work that must go on indefinitely.

"The Czecho-Slovaks look upon the Y secretary as though he were their leader. They model their ways after him. Comb their hair as he combs his. Adopt his mannerisms. In short, he is their ideal and his influence establishes law and order in the community where he is located. He has the consideration, friendship and confidence of all factions. For this reason it is thought that the American Y. M. C. A. secretaries will undoubtedly have a great deal to do with laying the foundations of the future agricultural, commercial and economic structure of the country.

The people of the eastern part of the county will not have to take their wives out in the cold this winter to vote down consolidated school district schemes, as they settled that issue on November 5th.

We regret to learn that a brother of Paul Borgie, the Hazel banker was killed in action in France. It seems that Pennington county have lost their full percent in the war, and we hope to hear of no more of them, that will not return to America.

The city of Minneapolis has refused to grant a license to do business in that city to any man who is not a citizen of the United States, or declared his intention to become a citizen. We hope to see that good work spread until there are no foreigners left in this country. If this country is not good enough for them to become citizens of, let them go back where they came from.

It would be a good idea for Germany to keep old Kaiser Wilhelm out of sight until those terms of peace are signed. The America people fully understand that the common people of Germany were not the ones that brought on that war, and they would favor showing mercy to them, but not to those German war lords. No punishment is too severe for that old Kaiser, who is responsible for the bringing on of this bloody war.

President Wilson has designated next Thursday as Thanksgiving day. There was never a time in the history of this nation, when the people had more reason to be thankful to the Supreme Being than at the present time. This nation has not fought a war since the war of the Revolution, when victory meant so much to them. Let us all forget our business for one day, and obey the request of President Wilson.

When the Pennington County boys return home they should be given a royal welcome. We do not mean by shouting and waving flags, but show them by our every day treatment that we are glad to see them safe home again. Some of the Pennington County boys died on the battle fields of France, that this nation might live [illegible]

NOW FISH IN INLAND WATERS

German Submarines Have Driven Hardy Dutch Sailors From Their Occupation in the North Sea.

In this day of the lurking submarine the waters of the North sea are marked danger zone for the fishermen of the Netherlands, and consequently the rivers and inner seas of Holland are thronged with brown-sailed fishing smacks, all eagerly pursuing the elusive herring, salmon, pike and carp.

Until the boat's tanks or barrels are filled the determined fisherman sticks at his job. If a good haul is soon made he may steer the craft up some canal to an inland town to market his catch. He gets out the sign "Fish for Sale," and fastens it to the mast, draws the boat up to the canal's edge, and is soon besieged by housewives anxious to inspect his wares. The fish, as if conscious of their pending fate, swim uneasily about in the tank, while thrifty Dutch matrons follow certain ones excitedly with a forefinger, and the seller endeavors to locate the desired fish in the swarming tub.

On a summer evening when a fleet of the good ships has made port after a hard day's work, a fishing village is one of the most picturesque sights in Holland. Sails, patched or torn, and flapping, rise and fall in the harbor with the motion of the waves. The brawny Dutch fisherman, revived by supper and the evening pipe, is curing fish and exchanging stories with neighbors on the dock, while his wife sits before her cottage mending nets, or perhaps adorning a torn sail with a vivid red patch.

There is little rest for these hardworking seamen and their wives. Fish have long been to Holland what rice is to China or the potato to America. With its food supply ebbing dangerously low, Holland looks more than ever to her fisher folk to feed the people.

NEWSBOYS ON BATTLE FRONT

Belgian and French Youngsters Take Great Risks While Distributing Papers to the Soldiers.

During the first days of the war British soldiers going up to Mons from Boulogne were hailed by an ancient French dame with her only British phrase, "Da-e-ly Ma-i-l." She did her best. Since those far-off days "Da-e-ly Ma-i-l" has been called by the little Belgian and French boys and girls all along the line from Dunkirk to Belfort. Many a risk has been run to buy and sell the news of yesterday. One great load of copies of the London Daily Mail arrived at a distributing center by train just as the advancing wave of Germans threatened to pour over the line.

Prompt to the occasion the parcels were seized by the soldiers and thrown into the gap. Surely no newspaper parcels ever had a stranger fate than to be used, fresh from the press and unread, as sandbags for trenches and a shelter against a whining scurry of machine-gun bullets. Back in Paris an anxious publisher and thoughtful cashier wondered in what category of "unsold copies" the wagon load should be put.

Three times the Daily Mail has heard through advanced line distributing agents of paper sellers shot by snipers' bullets while making their way along the trenches.

FISH-SKIN SHOES COMING?

Quite Possible, Though It Must Be Admitted They Are Not Altogether Desirable Footwear.

When things come to the worst every day is going to be like Friday—the atmosphere will be crowded with the aroma of fish. There is a scarcity of leather, as everybody knows, and, that being so, tanners are making a diligent search for other substitutes and new sources of supply. Experts declare that the skins of aquatic creatures offer a practically undeveloped resource, and it is not unlikely that before long we shall be covering our extremities with the skins of the man-eating shark and the sacred codfish. The reason such skins have not heretofore been utilized for leather is not because they are not perfectly well adapted for such use but only because the skins of land animals have been so plentiful. STEADIER HOG MARKETS PLANNED

Hog Producers and Packers Confer With Representatives of the Food Administration and Agricultural Department and Adopt New Plan of Regulation.

In accordance with the policy of the Food Administration since its foundation to consult representative men in the agricultural industry on occasions of importance to special branches of the industry, on October 24 there was convened in Washington a meeting of the Live Stock Subcommittee of the Agricultural Advisory Board and the special members representing the swine industry to consider the situation in the hog market.

The conference lasted for three days and during this time met with the executive committee of the fifty packing firms participating in foreign orders for pork products and with the members of the Food Administration directing foreign pork purchases.

The conclusions of the conference were as follows:

The entire marketing situation has so changed since the September joint conference as to necessitate an entire alteration in the plans of price stabilization. The current peace talk has alarmed the holders of corn, and there has been a price decline of from 25 cents to 40 cents per bushel. The fact that the accumulations of low priced corn in the Argentine and South Africa would, upon the advent of peace and liberated shipping, become available to the European market has created a great deal of apprehension on the part of corn holders. This decline has spread fear among swine growers that a similar reduction in the prices of hogs would naturally follow. Moreover, the lower range of corn prices would, if incorporated in a 13-to-1 ratio, obviously result in a continuously falling price for live hogs. In view of these changed conditions many swine producers anticipated lower prices and as a result rushed their hogs to market in large numbers, and this overshipment has added to and aggravated the decline.

The information of the Department of Agriculture indicates that the supply of hogs has increased about 8 per cent, while the highest unofficial estimate does not exceed 15 per cent increased production over last year. On the other hand, the arrival of hogs during the last three weeks in the seven great markets has been 27 per cent more than last year during the corresponding period, demonstrating the unusually heavy marketing of the available supply. In the face of the excessive receipts some packers have not maintained the price agreed last month. On the other hand, many of the packers have paid over the price offered to them in an endeavor to maintain the agreed price. The result in any event has been a failure to maintain the October price basis determined upon at the September conference and undertaken by the packers. Another factor contributing to the break in prices during the month has been the influenza epidemic. It has sharply curtailed consumption of pork products and temporarily decreased the labor staff of the packers about 25 per cent. [illegible]

[illegible] producer and the insurance of an adequate future supply.

These foreign orders are placed upon the basis of cost of hogs to the packers.

As the result of long negotiations between this body and the Packers' Committee, representing the 45 to 50 packers participating in foreign orders, together with the Allied buyers, all under the Chairmanship of the Food Administration, the following undertaking has been given by the packers:

In view of the undertakings on the part of the Food Administration with regard to the co-ordinated purchases of pork products, covered in the attached, it is agreed that the packers participating in these orders will undertake not to purchase hogs for less than the following agreed minimums for the month of November, that is a daily minimum of $17.50 per hundred pounds on average of packers' droves, excluding throw-outs. "Throw-outs" to be defined as pigs under 130 pounds, stags, boars, thin sows and skips. Further, that no hogs of any kind shall be bought, except throw-outs, at less than $16.50 per hundred pounds. The average of packers' droves to be construed as the average of the total sales in the market of all hogs for a given day. All the above to be based on Chicago.

We agree that a committee shall be appointed by the Food Administration to check the daily operations in the various markets with a view to supervision and demonstration of the carrying out of the above.

The ability of the packers to carry out this arrangement will depend on there being a normal marketing of hogs based upon the proportionate increase over the receipts of last year. The increase in production appears to be a maximum of about 15 per cent, and we can handle such an increase.

If the producers of hogs should, as they have in the past few weeks, prematurely market hogs in such increasing numbers over the above it is entirely beyond the ability of the packers to maintain these minimums, and therefore we must have the co-operation of the producer himself to maintain these results. [illegible]

(Signed) THOS. E. WILSON,

Chairman Packers' Committee.

[illegible]

[illegible] port demands appears to be amply sufficient to take up the increase in hog production, but unfavorable market conditions existing in October afford no fair index of the aggregate supply and demand.

It must be evident that the enormous shortage in fats in the Central Empires and neutral countries would immediately upon peace result in additional demands for pork products which, on top of the heavy shipments to the Allies, would tend materially to increase the American exports, inasmuch as no considerable reservoir of supplies exists outside of the United States. It seems probable that the present prospective supplies would be inadequate to meet this world demand with the return to peace. So far as it is possible to interpret this fact, it appears that there should be even a stronger demand for pork products after the war, and therefore any alarm of hog producers as to the effect of peace is unwarranted by the outlook.

In the light of these circumstances it is the conclusion of the conference that attempts to hold the price of hogs to the price of corn may work out to the disadvantage of pork producers. It is the conclusion that any interpretation of the formula should be a broad-gauged policy applied over a long period. It is the opinion of the conference that in substitution of the previous plans of stabilization the Live Stock Subcommittee of the Agricultural Advisory Board, together with the specially invited swine representatives, should accept the invitation of the Food Administration to join with the Administration and the packers in determining the prices at which controlled export orders are to be placed. This will be regularly done. The influence of these orders will be directed to the maintenance of the common object—namely, the stabilization of the [illegible]

[illegible] ministration, Mr. Louis D. Hall of the Bureau of Markets, to undertake the supervision of the execution of the plan in the various markets. Commission men are asked to co-operate in carrying out the plan embodied in the packers' agreement. It must be evident that offers by commission men to sell hogs below the minimum established above is not fair, either to the producer or the participating packers. Mr. Brown has undertaken on behalf of the commission men in the United States that they will loyally support the plan.

It is believed by the conference that this new plan, based as it is upon a positive minimum basis, will bring better results to the producer than average prices for the month. It does not limit top prices and should narrow the margins necessary to country buyers in more variable markets. It is believed that the plan should work out close to $18 average.

Swine producers of the country will contribute to their own interest by not flooding the market, for it must be evident that if an excessive over percentage of hogs is marketed in any one month price stabilization and control cannot succeed, and it is certain that producers themselves can contribute materially to the efforts of the conferences if they will do their marketing in as normal a way as possible.

The whole situation as existing at present demands a frank and explicit assurance from the conferees representing namely, that every possible effort will be made to maintain a live hog price commensurate with swine production costs and reasonable selling values in execution of the declared policy of the Food Administration to use every agency in its control to secure justice to the farmer.

The stabilization methods adopted for November represent the best efforts of the conference, concurred in by the Food Administration [illegible]

ARMISTICE TERMS LEAVE GERMANY WITHOUT ARMS

President Wilson Gives Congress and the Country Terms and Pledges Succor to Stricken Nation.

SURRENDER IS COMPLETE; GREAT MACHINE WRECKED

Germans Must Evacuate Belgium, France, Alsace-Lorraine and Luxemburg Within 14 Days, Surrender 5,000 Big Guns, 30,000 Machine Guns, 3,000 Flame Throwers, 2,000 Airplanes, 5,000 Locomotives, 50,000 Wagons, 10,000 Motortrucks and Her Warships.

Washington, Nov. 12.—The terms of the armistice with Germany were read to congress by President Wilson. Assembled in the hall of the house where nineteen months ago senators and representatives heard the president ask for the declaration of war, they heard him speak the words which herald the coming of peace.

The president spoke as follows:

"Gentlemen of the Congress:

"In these anxious times of rapid and stupendous change it will in some degree lighten my sense of responsibility to perform in person the duty of communicating to you some of the larger circumstances of the situation with which it is necessary to deal.

"The German authorities who have at the invitation of the supreme war council, been in communication with Marshal Foch, have accepted and signed the terms of armistice which he was authorized and instructed to communicate to them.

Military Clauses of Terms.

"Those terms are as follows:

"I. Military clauses on western front:

"1. A cessation of operations by land and in the air six hours after the signature of the armistice.

"2. Immediate evacuation of invaded countries: Belgium, France, Alsace-Lorraine, Luxemburg, so ordered as to be completed within fourteen days from the signature of the armistice. German troops which have not left the above-mentioned territories within the period fixed will become prisoners of war. Occupation by the allies and United States forces jointly will keep pace with evacuation in these areas. All movements of evacuation and occupation will be regulated in accordance with note annexed to the stated terms.

"3. Repatriation beginning at once and to be completed within fourteen days of all inhabitants of the countries above mentioned, including hostages and persons under trial or convicted.

Must Surrender 5,000 Guns.

"4. Surrender in good condition by the German armies of the following equipment: Five thousand guns (2,500 heavy, 2,500 field), 30,000 machine guns, 3,000 minnenwerfer 2,000 airplanes (fighters, bombers, mostly D. 73's and night-bombing machines).

"5. Evacuation by German armies of the countries on the left bank of the Rhine.

"These countries on the left bank of the Rhine shall be administered by the local authorities under the control of the allies and United States armies of occupation. The occupation of these territories will be determined by allied and United States garrisons holding the principal crossings of the Rhine—Mayence, Coblenz, Cologne, together with bridgeheads at these points—in thirty kilometer radius on the right bank and by garrisons similarly holding the strategic points of the regions.

"A neutral zone shall be reserved on the right of the Rhine between the stream and a line drawn parallel to it 40 kilometers to the east from the frontier of Holland to the parallel of Gernsheim and as far as practicable a distance of 30 kilometers from the east of stream from this parallel upon Swiss frontier. Evacuation by the enemy of the Rhine lands shall be so ordered as to be completed within a further period of eleven days, in all 19 days after the signature of the armistice. All movements of evacuation and occupation will be regulated according to the note annexed.

"6. In all territory evacuated by the enemy there shall be no evacuation of inhabitants; no damage or harm shall be done to the persons or property of the inhabitants, no destruction of any kind be committed. Military establishments of all kinds shall be delivered intact as well as military stores of food, munitions, equipment not removed during the periods fixed for evacuation. Stores of food of all kinds for the civil population, cattle, etc., shall be left in situ. Industrial establishments shall not be impaired in any way and their personnel shall not be moved. Roads and means of communication of every kind, railroads, waterways, main roads, bridges, telegraphs, telephones, shall be in no manner impaired.

Civil Personnel to Remain.

"7. All civil and military personnel at present employed on them shall remain. Five thousand locomotives, 50,000 wagons and 10,000 motor lorries in good working order, with all necessary spare parts and fittings, shall be delivered to the associated powers within the period fixed for the evacuation of Belgium and Luxemburg. The railways of Alsace-Lorraine shall be handed over within the same period, together with all pre-war personnel and material. Further material necessary for the working of railways in the country on the left bank of the Rhine shall be left in situ. All stores of coal and material for the upkeep of permanent ways, signals and repair shops left entire in situ and kept in an efficient state by Germany during the whole period of armistice. All barges taken from the allies shall be restored to them. A note appended regulates the details of these measures.

"8. The German command shall be responsible for revealing all mines or delay acting fuses disposed on territory evacuated by the German troops and shall assist in their discovery and destruction. The German command shall also reveal all destructive measures that may have been taken (such as poisoning or polluting of springs, wells, etc.) under penalty of reprisals.

"9. The right of requisition shall be exercised by the allies and the United States armies in all occupied territory. The upkeep of the troops of occupation in the Rhine land (excluding Alsace-Lorraine) shall be charged to the German government.

"10. An immediate repatriation without reciprocity, according to detailed conditions, shall be fixed, of all allied and United States prisoners of war. The allied powers and the United States shall be able to dispose of these prisoners as they wish.

"11. Sick and wounded who cannot be removed from evacuated territory will be cared for by German personnel who will be left on the spot with the medical material required.

Eastern Frontiers of Germany.

"II. Disposition relative to the eastern frontiers of Germany.

"12. All German troops at present in any territory which before the war belonged to Russia, Roumania or Turkey shall withdraw within the frontiers of Germany as they existed on August 1, 1914.

"13. Evacuation by German troops to begin at once and all German instructors, prisoners and civilians, as well as military agents, now on the territory of Russia (as defined before 1914) to be recalled.

"14. German troops to cease at once all requisitions and seizures and any other undertaking with a view to obtaining supplies intended for Germany, in Roumania and Russia (as defined on August 1, 1914).

"15. Abandonment of the treaties of Bucharest and Brest-Litovsk and of the supplementary treaties.

"15. The allies shall have free access to the territories evacuated by the Germans on their eastern frontier, either through Danzig or by the Vistula, in order to convey supplies to the populations of those territories or for any other purpose.

"III. Clause concerning East Africa:

"17. Unconditional capitulation of all German forces operating in East Africa within one month.

"IV. General clauses:

"18. Repatriation, without reciprocity, within a maximum period of one month, in accordance with detailed conditions hereafter to be fixed, of all civilians interned or deported who may be citizens of other allied or associated states than those mentioned in clause three, paragraph nineteen, with the reservation that any future claims and demands of the allies and the United States of America remain unaffected.

"19. The following financial conditions are required:

"Reparation for damage done. While such armistice lasts no public securities shall be removed by the enemy which can serve as a pledge to the allies for the recovery or reparation for war losses. Immediate restitution of the cash deposit in the National Bank of Belgium, and, in general, immediate return of all documents, specie, stocks, shares, paper money, together with plant for the issue thereof, touching public or private interests in the invaded countries. Restitution of the Russian and Roumanian gold yielded to Germany or taken by that power. This gold to be delivered in trust to the allies until the signature of peace.

Naval Conditions of Agreement.

"V. Naval conditions:

"20. Immediate cessation of all hostilities at sea and definite information to be given as to the location and movements of all German ships. Notification to be given to neutrals that freedom of navigation in all territorial waters is given to the naval and mercantile marines of all the allied and associated powers, all questions of neutrality being waived.

"21. All naval and mercantile marine prisoners of war of the allied and associated powers in German hands to be returned without reciprocity.

"22. Surrender to the allies and the United States of America of 160 German submarines (including all submarine cruisers and mine laying submarines) with their complete armament and equipment in ports which will be specified by the allies and the United States of America. All other submarines to be paid off and completely disarmed and placed under the supervision of the allied powers and the United States of America.

"23. The following German surface warships which shall be designated by the allies and the United States of America shall forthwith be disarmed and thereafter interned in neutral ports, or, for want of them, in allied ports, to be designated by the allies and the United States of America and placed under the surveillance of the allies and the United States of America, only caretakers being left on board, namely: Six battle cruisers, ten battleships, eight light cruisers, including two mine layers, fifty destroyers of the most modern type.

"All other surface warships (including river craft) are to be concentrated in German naval bases to be designated by the allies and the United States of America, and are to be paid off and completely disarmed and placed under the supervision of the allies and the United States of America. All vessels of the auxiliary fleet (trawlers, motor vessels, etc.) are to be disarmed.

Germany Must Indicate Mines.

"24. The allies and the United States of America shall have the right to sweep up all mine fields and obstruction laid by Germany outside German territorial waters, and the positions of these are to be indicated:

"25. Freedom of access to and from the Baltic to be given to the naval and mercantile marines of the allied and associated powers. To secure this, the allies and the United States of America shall be empowered to occupy all German forts, fortifications, batteries and defense works of all kinds in all the entrances from the Categat into the Baltic, and to sweep up all mines and obstructions within and without German territorial waters without any question of neutrality being raised, and the positions of all such mines and obstructions are to be indicated.

"26. The existing blockade conditions set up by the allies and associated powers are to remain unchanged and all German merchant ships found at sea are to remain liable to capture.

"27. All naval aircraft are to be concentrated and immobilized in German bases to be specified by the allies and the United States of America.

"28. In evacuating the Belgian coasts and ports Germany shall abandon all merchant ships, tugs, lighters, cranes and all other harbor materials, all materials for inland navigation, all aircraft and all materials and stores, all arms and armaments and all stores and apparatus of all kinds.

"29. All Black sea ports are to be evacuated by Germany; all Russian war vessels of all descriptions seized by Germany in the Black sea are to be handed over to the allies and the United States of America; all neutral merchant vessels seized are to be released; all warlike and other materials to be returned and German materials as specified in clause 28 are to be abandoned.

All Vessels to Be Restored.

"30. All merchant vessels in German hands belonging to the allied and associated powers are to be restored in ports to be specified by the allies and the United States of America without reciprocity.

"31. No destruction of ships or of materials to be permitted before evacuation, surrender or restoration.

"32. The German government will notify the neutral governments of the world, and particularly the governments of Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Holland, that all restrictions placed on the trading of their vessels with the allied and associated countries, whether by the German interests and whether in return for specific concessions such as the export of shipbuilding materials or not, are immediately canceled.

"33. No transfers of German merchant shiping of any description to any neutral flag are to take place after signature of the armistice.

"VI. Duration of armistice:

"34. The duration of the armistice is to be 30 days, with option to extend. During this period, on failure of execution of any of the above clauses, the armistice may be denounced by one of the contracting parties on 48 hours previous notice.

"VII. Time limit for reply:

"35. This armistice to be accepted or refused by Germany within 72 hours of notification.

"The war thus comes to an end; for, having accepted these terms of armistice, it will be impossible for the German command to renew it.

Had to Give Up Work

Mr. McMurray Was in a Bad Way Until He Used Doan's—They Brought a Quick Cure.

P. K. McMurray, 48 W. Hickory St., Chicago Heights, Ill., says: "I was always a strong man until I was taken with kidney trouble. I worked many years as a blacksmith and this work brought the trouble on. When I stooped over there was a grinding pain in my back and I couldn't straighten up for four or five minutes. Sometimes it took me half an hour to put on my shoes. I got so bad I had to lay off work for days at a time. Often I would have to get up a dozen times at night to pass the kidney secretions, and they burned like fire. My feet swelled, and at times they burned so that it seemed I was standing on a hot stove. I had spells of gasping for breath and dizzy spells, too, and my health failed rapidly. I was told that my working days were over, but Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and before I had used one box, I began to feel relieved. I kept on and by the time I had used ten boxes, I was absolutely cured. All pains left my back and other symptoms of kidney trouble disappeared and I felt as well and strong as ever."

HOW TO FIGHT
SPANISH INFLUENZA

By DR. L. W. BOWERS.

Avoid crowds, coughs and cowards, but fear neither germs nor Germans! Keep the system in good order, take plenty of exercise in the fresh air and practice cleanliness. Remember a clean mouth, a clean skin, and clean bowels are a protecting armour against disease. To keep the liver and bowels regular and to carry away the poisons within, it is best to take a vegetable pill every other day, made up of May-apple, aloes, jalap, and sugar-coated, to be had at most drug stores, known as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. If there is a sudden onset of what appears like a hard cold, one should go to bed, wrap warm, take a hot mustard foot-bath and drink copiously of hot lemonade. If pain develops in head or back, ask the druggist for Anuric (anti-uric) tablets. These will flush the bladder and kidneys and carry off poisonous germs. To control the pains and aches take one Anuric tablet every two hours, with frequent drinks of lemonade. The pneumonia appears in a most treacherous way, when the influenza victim is apparently recovering and anxious to leave his bed. In recovering from a bad attack of influenza or pneumonia the system should be built up with a good herbal tonic, such as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, made without alcohol from the roots and barks of American forest trees, or his Irontic (iron tonic) tablets, which can be obtained at most drug stores, or send 10c. to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package.

THAT CHANGE IN WOMAN'S LIFE

Mrs. Godden Tells How It May be Passed in Safety and Comfort.

Fremont, O.—"I was passing through the critical period of life, being forty-six years of age and had all the symptoms incident to that change—heat flashes, nervousness, and was in a general run down condition, so it was hard for me to do my work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me as the best remedy for my troubles, which it surely proved to be. I feel better and stronger in every way since taking it, and the annoying symptoms have disappeared."—Mrs. M. GODDEN, 925 Napoleon St., Fremont, Ohio.

Such annoying symptons as heat flashes, nervousnss, backache, headache, irritability and "the blues," may be speedily overcome and the system restored to normal conditions by this famous root and herb remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

FIGHTING STOPS GREAT WAR OVER

Germany Signs Armistice Which Is Unconditional Surrender

KAISER WILHELM ABDICATES

Dream of World Conquest Ends in Defeat and Revolution—Flight From Justice of Criminal Against Civilization.

By J. D. SHERMAN.

Peace! The greatest war of all history is over.

The armistice asked for by Germany has been signed. This means no less than "unconditional surrender." For the terms of that armistice deprive Germany of the means of resistance. Germany must accept whatever peace terms the allies dictate.

The kaiser—Frederich Wilhelm Victor Albert, Emperor Wilhelm II?—He is a fugitive in Holland from justice—the justice of his own people as well as of the civilized world; the red flag flies over the throne he was compelled to abdicate. His fate hangs in the balance. If extradition for punishment is demanded, his fate lies with Holland.

The great war began June 28, 1914, with the assassination of the Austrian Archduke Francis Ferdinand in Sarajevo, Bosnia, by Serbians. This was the beginning, because civilization holds the kaiser guilty of seizing it as a pretext for the world war which he had long been secretly planning to carry out his purpose of world conquest. He and his tremendous war machine were ready, impatient, eager for action. Here was the program, as the kaiser planned it.

He would force Austria-Hungary, his ally and practically his vassal, into war with Serbia.

Russia would rush to the defense of Serbia. Of Russia he had no fear, for he well knew that German intrigue had already prepared the way in advance for the ruin of the unhappy land of Czar Nicholas.

France, he knew, would support Russia. France—she was really his immediate object. Ever since 1870 Germany has been preparing to go back to France. Why? Because Germany failed to beggar France by the staggering indemnity of 1870, because she then overlooked the coal and iron deposits of northern France, and because she hated France and the French, root, stock and branch. And the kaiser knew also that France was not ready for a death grapple with Germany.

Great Britain, he had made himself believe, would remain neutral. That would be well, for he wanted to deal with Great Britain later. Anyway, her army was small. As for America—she would not fight and could not if she would.

So his schedule, arranged to the day and hour, called for his triumphant entry into Paris September 2, A. D. 1914. Then, with a huge French indemnity and control of the iron and coal regions of Meurthe-et-Moselle and Lens, he would sit back, make new war preparations and get ready to conquer Great Britain. Later on, at his leisure, would come the third war and the subjugation of the United States!

War of Frightfulness.

So, posing before the world as an advocate of peace driven to war in defense of his fatherland, the kaiser went his secret, devious way to war—to the war of deliberate and calculated frightfulness, which, under the guise of warfare, despoiled Belgium, laid waste northern France, depopulated Serbia; shot the English nurse, Edith Cavell; sank the Lusitania with her freight of women and children; massacred, ravished and enslaved noncombatant civilian populations—frightfulness which has caused more than 25,000,000 casualties and the expenditure of billions upon billions of money—frightfulness which instead of frightening the world into submission has arrayed in arms against her 22 civilized nations—frightfulness which now makes the name of Germany a household execration among most of the peoples of earth.

At first the kaiser's program went along without check or pause. July 28 Austria declared war on Serbia. Russia went to the aid of Serbia. The other nations promptly fell into line. Declarations of war came thick and fast. By August 4 the stage was all set for actual fighting. August 5 the Germans and Belgians fell to on the Belgian frontier. The German march to Paris was on.

But, as everybody knows, Wilhelm II did not enter Paris in triumph September 2. Why? Because little Belgium, martyr Belgium, saved Paris. She fought. Her brave little army did not last long. But it lasted long enough to give the French time to dig in. The Germans thereupon found the road to Paris a series of trenches that must be taken one by one. The schedule was soon hopelessly behind time. [illegible]

Likewise the heroic resistance of Belgium brought Great Britain forthwith into the war. And though the British standing army was not large, it went to the front, died in the last ditch and further delayed the German march to Paris. Moreover, Great Britain [illegible]

[illegible] the ocean clear of German merchant shipping, thus carrying to Germany the war of starvation that Germany had planned for her [illegible]

United States Neutral.

The United States in the meantime had proclaimed its neutrality. Italy, though a member of the triple alliance, was holding off on the ground that its alliance with Germany and Austria were for defense and not for offense. It was not until May of 1915 that she got into the war and then on the side of the allies. By the end of 1914 Japan was in with the allies and Turkey with the central powers. Fighting was in active progress in Belgium and France, on the Russian-German and Russian-Austrian fronties. The government of France had been removed to Bordeaux. But the Germans were still 65 miles from Paris.

May 7, 1915, the passenger liner Lusitania was torpedoed without warning and sunk by a German submarine off the coast of Ireland. This outrage against humanity horrified civilization. Germany, however, celebrated the sinking. To the world she sought to defend her action by asserting that the Lusitania was armed and that she carried munitions of war. She was not armed and she did not carry munitions of war. Many Americans felt thereafter that the entrance of the United States into the war was inevitable.

February 22, 1916, the German crown prince's army began the attack on Verdun which was to blast a way to Paris. The bombardment of Verdun was the heaviest artillery fire of the war. It was here that the French said "They shall not pass." And the Germans did not pass. The French saved Verdun by commandeering practically ever motor vehicle in Paris and rushing reserves to the great fortress. The devotion of its garrison, the intensity and persistence of the German attack and the dramatic deliverance have made the name Verdun known the world over.

June 5 Lord Kitchener, the British war hero, was lost on the British cruiser Hampshire, together with most of the crew. He was on a secret mission for the allies. It was afterward charged that he was betrayed by the Russian czarina, who furnished the information which led to the sinking of the cruiser by a German submarine.

July 9 the German submarine Deutschland arrived in Baltimore. She carried a valuable cargo and took a valuable cargo back to Germany. She claimed to be a merchant vessel and was treated as such by the United States. The main purpose, doubtless, was to impress America with the German submarine; the sinking in October by German submarines of six merchant vessels off Nantucket, Mass., was presumably part of the same plan. Germany was getting ready for her forthcoming announcement of unrestricted submarine warfare.

September 14 the British introduced into war a new engine of destruction—the "tank." In brief it is a heavily armored body, armed with guns on a "caterpillar" instead of wheels. It can thus travel over almost any sort of ground and crush its way through most obstacles. The caterpillar tractor is an American invention, originating in Peoria, Ill.; the adaptation of harmless tractor machinery to a destructive war engine was done in secrecy by an Englishman. The tank proved a genuine surprise and has played no small part in the war, together with lighter and faster tanks called "whippets." The Germans also soon produced tanks, but apparently have never been able to hold their own with those of the allies. One of the most striking exploits of the war was the exploit of an American sergeant who rode into action perched on the top of an American tank.

Collapse of Russia.

The close of the year 1916 was marked by the resignation of Premier Herbert Asquith of Great Britain and the acceptance of the premiership by David Lloyd George; a new cabinet in France and a new commander in chief, General Nivelle; the practically complete defeat of the armies of Roumania, which had joined the allies; and peace proposals from Germany to the allies through the United States. Things were going well with Germany and she wanted peace on terms of her own making.

The spring of 1917 saw the collapse of Russia, a collapse undoubtedly brought about by Germany through intrigue and for her own purposes. It began March 11 with revolution in Petrograd. March 15 Czar Nicholas abdicated. March 22 America recognized the new Russian government a republic. Since then Russia has been a chaos. Russia is one of the big problems confronting the allies. They can presumably put an end to the reign of anarchy, murder and pillage; the regeneration of the nation is a tremendous undertaking.

October of 1917 was marked by the collapse of the Italian Isonzo front. This collapse was also due to German propaganda and intrigue. Taken altogether the year 1917 was not one of cheer for the allies.

America Goes In.

And yet the turning point of the war was reached in 1917. For the United States had entered the great world conflict. Germany stands convicted before the world of incredible stupidity as well as unbelievable frightfulness. For Germany practically forced the United States into the war. Entirely contemptuous of America as a possible belligerent, Germany announced unrestricted submarine warfare [illegible]

[illegible] American passenger ships [illegible] these ships went to and from Falmouth and followed a prescribed course going and returning, if the steamers were painted in a specified way and carried specified flags, if one steamer a week each way were sailed, and if the United States government guaranteed that no contraband was carried.

The immediate answer of the United States was given February 3—the severance of diplomatic relations with Germany. April 6 the president signed a joint resolution of the two houses of congress declaring a state of war to exist with Germany. In quick succession came the selective service act for the raising of an army, a war appropriation of $8,000,000,000, the sending of an expeditionary force of regulars to France under General Pershing, the registration of nearly 10,000,000 men for military service, the closing of the first Liberty loan with a large oversubscription, the drafting of the state militia into the federal service. October 27 formal announcement was made that American troops in France had fired their first shot in war.

Nevertheless, the spring of 1918 saw three huge drives on Paris by the Germans. By June 1 the Germans were within 46 miles of the French capital, in Chateau-Thierry. Unless they were speedily stopped Paris would be under their guns. The plan of the French was to delay them as long as possible by rear-guard actions until reserves could be brought up.

Yankees Stop Huns.

And then took place the thing which all good Americans were prayerfully expecting: American soldiers got into action in American fashion, under American leadership, with American artillery and machine guns.

The French commander sent to Chateau-Thierry an American division made up of marines and of infantry from the middle West. June 2 the leathernecks and doughboys moved into support positions back of seasoned French troops. The French were forced back and filtered through the Americans; the support positions soon became the front.

June 4, about five o'clock in the afternoon, the Germans attacked in force through a wheat field, in platoon columns, in perfect order, supremely confident. The Americans raked them with shrapnel and machine guns. Then they opened with rifle fire. Cool, unhurried, they picked their shots as if at target practice. Military experts will tell you that the American marines are the most effective fighting men in all the armies of the world; certainly they have no equals with the rifle.

The Germans wavered, then came on again. Twice more they stopped; twice more advanced. Then they broke. Flesh and blood could not stand that rifle fire. They crawled off through the standing grain. The Americans sent bullets wherever the wheat stirred. That was the end.

Days and nights of heavy bombardment followed. Sleep was impossible. The Americans lived on "monkey meat," bread and water. Then they went on and took the town of Bouresches, cleaning out the nests of machine gunners with rifle fire, bayonet and grenade.

What They Have They Hold.

Next they took the Bois de Belleau. It was a jungle. It was every man for himself, Indian fashion from tree to tree, from rock to rock. The battalion of leathernecks which took the wood went in with 958 men and 26 officers. They came out with 340 men and seven officers. But they took the wood. Then they dug themselves in and fought off counter-attacks for five days, until relieved, constantly shelled and gassed, not one hot meal all that time. What the leathernecks have they hold.

This one division used up five crack divisions of the Germans.

There are those among the allies who say that the Americans at Chateau-Thierry saved Paris, just as the Canadians saved Calais. When the military history of the Great War is written Chateau-Thierry is likely to be called the turning point of the struggle. For its moral force was beyond estimate. It put new heart into the war-worn French and British. All France flamed with joy. The Americans had stopped the Hun, had driven him back, had beaten him off. And thousands upon thousands of just such Americans were in plain sight pushing to the front!

General Foch in supreme command of the allies on the western front soon afterward launched the allied offensive and victory followed victory all along the fighting line of 250 miles from the North sea to Verdun. It was the beginning of the end.

By early October the Hun was beaten to his knees and asking for peace. October 31 the Italians utterly routed the Austrians. The same day Turkey surrendered. November 3 Austria signed an armistice virtually amounting to unconditional surrender. November 9 Kaiser Wilhelm abdicated and Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm renounced the throne, both fleeing to Holland to escape a people in revolution. [illegible]

So the mad ambition of Emperor William II of Germany to conquer the world and his 30 years of debauching his people end in defeat, revolution, abdication and flight from justice [illegible]

WEAK KIDNEYS MEAN A WEAK BODY

When you're fifty, your body begins to creak a little at the hinges. Motion is more slow and deliberate. "Not so young as I used to be" is a frequent and unwelcome thought. Certain bodily functions upon which good health and good spirits so much depend, are impaired. The weak spot is generally the bladder. Unpleasant symptoms show themselves. Painful and annoying complications in other organs arise. This is particularly true with elderly people. If you only know how, this trouble can be obviated.

For over 200 years GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been relieving the inconvenience and pain due to advancing years. It is a standard, old-time home remedy, and needs no introduction. It is now put up in odorless, tasteless capsules. These are easier and more pleasant to take than the oil in bottles.

Each capsule contains about one dose of five drops. Take them just like you would any pill, with a small swallow of water. They soak into the system and throw off the poisons which are making you old before your time. They will quickly relieve those stiffened joints, that backache, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, gall stones, gravel, "brick dust," etc. They are an effective remedy for all diseases of the bladder, kidney, liver, stomach and allied organs.

GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules cleanse the kidneys and purify the blood. They frequently ward off attacks of the dangerous and fatal diseases of the kidneys. They have a beneficial effect, and often completely cure the diseases of the bodily organs, allied with the bladder and kidneys.

If you are troubled with soreness across the loins or with "simple" aches and pains in the back take warning, it may be the preliminary indications of some dreadful malady which can be warded off or cured if taken in time.

Go to your druggist today and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Money refunded if they do not help you. Three sizes. GOLD MEDAL are the pure, original imported Haarlem Oil Capsules. Accept No Substitutes.—Adv.

Acid-Stomach Victims Sickly, Weak, Unfit, Depressed

Maybe you have an acid-stomach—and don't know it! There are millions of such people—weak, ailing, tired, worn out and "all in" before the day is half gone—listless and indifferent to their surroundings—often with aches and pains all over the body—woefully lacking in physical power and mental vigor—pale, emaciated—just dragging out a weary existence. Nine out of every ten of these people are unconscious victims of acid-stomach.

Thousands upon thousands of people who are subject to attacks of indigestion and biliousness; who are nervous, melancholy, mentally depressed; who suffer from rheumatism, lumbago or sciatica—yes, even many of those who have catarrh, ulcer or cancer of the stomach—if the trouble is traced to its source, it will often be found to be just acid-stomach. For these are only some of the ailments that are caused by what the doctors call superacidity, which is another name for sour or acid-stomach.

What you want to know above all else is how to quickly rid yourself of excess acid. A wonderful modern remedy called EATONIC literally wipes it out. It does the work easily, speedily and naturally. It makes the stomach pure, sweet, cool and comfortable. It helps you get full strength out of every mouthful of good you eat; and unless you DO get full strength from your food you cannot enjoy robust, vigorous health. You eat to LIVE. Your life depends on the strength you get from your food. There is no other way.

EATONIC is in pleasant-tasting tablet form—just like a bit of candy. We urge you—no matter what you have tried—take Eatonic just one week and find out for yourself how wonderfully improved you will feel. See how quickly EATONIC banishes the immediate effects of acid-stomach — bloat, heartburn, belching, food-repeating, sour, gassy stomach, indigestion, etc. See too, how quickly your general health improves—how much more you relish your food—how much more easily it is digested—how soundly you sleep—how nervousness and irritability disappear. And all simply because by taking EATONIC you have rid your stomach of a lot of excess acid that has been holding you back and making your life miserable.

EATONIC is absolutely harmless. It can be taken by the most delicate. Tens of thousands of people who have used it are enthusiastic in its praise.

EATONIC is absolutely guaranteed, so get a big 50c box from your druggist. If it does not help you your money will be refunded. If your druggist does not keep EATONIC, send your name and address to the Eatonic Remedy Company, 1018 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill., and they will at once mail you a 50c box and you can send them the money for it after you receive it.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUB.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

$1.00 a year, in advance.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam, Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3,1879

When cotton dropped $9.50 a bale in price last week, the government stepped in to stop undue speculation. Cotton is a product of the south, and a Democratic Congress refused to step in and control the price of cotton when they controlled the price of wheat for the northern farmers. They simply allowed the cotton raisers and speculators to soak us on the price of cotton until overalls are $3.50 a pair. But when the price drops then they are ready to step in and help the cotton raisers to keep the price up, Is it any wonder that the northern farmers are beginning to wake up to the fact, that they have been unjustly discriminated against by the fixing of prices on wheat, and allowing the corn, rice and cotton raisers of the south an open market during war time, and are now ready to step in to help them hold up prices after the war is over. After March 4th there will be more Republicans in Congress and two years from next March there will be an overwhelming majority of them, as the northwestern farmers will be nine days old by the time of the next election, and will begin to get their eyes open.

Now that the Kaiser has left Germany and became a fugative the people who are trying to rebuild Germany, have made a strong plea to the allies to hurry the peace conference. Germany should not try to hurry America. They could not be hurried into war, and they will not be hurried into any peace conference. This is a government of the people, and what Germany should do now is to keep order in their own country, and show by their action that they have had enough war, and desire to settle down and be a peaceable Republic under the government of the people, in which autrocracy and war lords and Kaisers have no voice. If they will do this America will not see them starve, as President Wilson has promised them supplies of food, if they will keep order in their country.

When the government is demobolizing the army they need have no fear of overcrowding industries by discharging farmer boy soldiers. Every farmer soldier is needed at home, and there is plenty of employment for him in the home locality that he left when his country called him to the colors. The older patriotic farmers responded promptly to the call of their country for an increased production of crops, but they can use the youngsters to good advantage next year, and they are sure of a warm welcome when they return to the farms.

In that deciding battle of the war, when the American Marines gave the Germans their turn back from Paris, there has several instances came to light where one American killed from six to eight Germans in single combat. Is it any wonder that the Germans lost hope, when they realized that America could put ten million of that kind of fighting stock into the field.

A NATION'S STRENGTH IS IN ITS FOOD SUPPLY

[illegible]

America's loss of killed in action was only twelve thousand men. This is a very small per cent of the number called into the service. America did not get into the fight until the other nations had been at it for over three years killing each other, but when they did get in they fought so fast that Germany did not get time to rest and get their wind until they got their final knock out blow.

It appears that the German navy does not like the idea of surrendering their navy without a fight. Well if they want a fight they will find the opportunity quick enough by steaming out into the open sea. But if they will read the history of the Santiago fight in 1898, they will hesitate before meeting our navy in an open sea fight. But if they want it, all they have to do is steam out, as our boys are ready for them.

SENDS BOYS MESSAGE

Governor Gives Greeting to Minnesota Lads Over There.

Tells Them They Will Be Given Fair Chance When They Return—Endorses United Campaign.

"The people of Minnesota are proud of their boys at the front. I have yet to hear of a Minnesota boy in the expeditionary forces guilty of any disgraceful act, but the stories of heroism and sacrifice are so numerous that they become commonplace."

This is a part of the message that Governor J. A. A. Burnquist has sent to the Minnesota boys at the front, through Cass Connaway, an Indianapolis attorney, who will carry the greeting overseas.

Connaway adjourned his practice for the period of the war to don the Y. M. C. A. uniform and follow in the wake of his two soldier sons. He will visit the huts, hotels, shelters and dugouts of the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., War Camp Community Service, National Catholic War Council (K. of C.), Jewish Welfare Board, American Library Association and Salvation Army—the seven accredited welfare agencies that have joined in a United War Work Campaign, November 11-18, to raise $170,500,000 to carry on their work for soldiers, sailors and marines at home and abroad. Wherever he comes across a man from Minnesota, Connaway will give him the home folks' greeting.

Governor Burnquist's message reads:

"Tell the boys that whatever stories they may see in the newspapers about seditious utterances, about slackers of various kinds, about war profiteers, are exceptional cases and in no way represent the average American. These happenings are printed as news simply because they are exceptional. I am convinced that it is unfair to say that any class or race of people of any section of our country is disloyal. The instant and ungrudging response which our people have given to all war demands is proof of this. They have subscribed to all three Liberty Loans, they have given more than was asked to the Red Cross, Y. M. C. A. and other war funds, and they have without complaint obeyed the requests of the food administration for the production and conservation of food.

"Tell the Minnesota boys also that everything possible will be given to give them a fair chance when they get home. I am glad to see that not only the federal government, but leading men all over the country are already taking up the problem of getting the men in our army back into the civil life with the least possible hardship. I shall be glad to co-operate in that work in any way I can."

GREAT EFFORT FOR WOMEN

Taught to Industrial Women of France by Y. W. C. A.

To help establish the position of French women in industry—to bring to them a realization of their economic responsibility and independence, which American womanhood regards as its natural heritage, is one of the purposes of the Y. W. C. A., the only distinctively woman's organization among the welfare agencies united to raise $170,500,000 in the great drive to be held November 11-18. A large portion of its allotment from the total fund will be used for the enlargement of the facilities of its foyers, where French girls are learning the industrial value of leadership, executive initiative and co-operation. A nine Triangle worker at one of these foyers, in writing of the work, says:

"We cannot fully appreciate the privilege of working with these French women and girls. Along with the real [illegible] the world through the ordeal of this war [illegible] are learning many [illegible] few women in administrative positions. We are training up leaders of women and I hope that when the time comes to go home to America, we may slip out unnoticed as far as the work itself is concerned. The girls are now thinking and planning by themselves with very little outside direction and they are very efficient. They will need our help more than ever when hostilities cease."

4,000 "Y" MEN NEEDED AT ONCE IN FRANCE

Secretaries Will Be Required More Than Ever When Fighting Ceases.

With our brothers and sons overseas simply begging for more Y. M. C. A. secretaries that the service of the "Y" may be extended into out-of-the-way places, and with the earnest pleading of the Czecho-Slovaks and Russians for more "Y" men and still more, the need of new recruits in "Y" ranks has become imperative.

"Four thousand more men are needed today in France alone," declared Morton M. Newcomb, head of the recruiting service of the Army Y. M. C. A. at Minneapolis.

"When fighting ceases, the American forces will need 'Y' secretaries as never before to prevent the undoing of the good work that has helped produce the splendid morale of our army, and to aid in the reconstruction work that must go on indefinitely.

"The Czecho-Slovaks look upon the 'Y' secretary as though he were their leader. They model their ways after him. Comb their hair as he combs his. Adopt his mannerisms. In short, he is their ideal and his influence establishes law and order in the community where he is located. He has the consideration, friendship and confidence of all factions. For this reason, it is thought that the American Y. M. C. A. secretaries will undoubtedly have a great deal to do with laying the foundations of the future agricultural, commercial, and economic structure of the country.

"A terrible responsibility rests upon the American people in this trying time that they may not be found wanting in response to the simple trust which is placed in them by these [illegible]

More Than Paid the Debt.

Some of us will give a second thought to the extraordinary achievement of a congregation in Geneva, N. Y., which first built with reckless extravagance a massive graystone church and then adopted the tithing system to get them out of their difficulty. The story is told in Outlook. When the church was dedicated—if that is the right word—the debt was $82,000, and the weekly budget $282. The weekly income was less than $100. In two years the debt has been reduced to $40,000 and the weekly income is $300. Of the 1,000 members 350 are tithers. A tither sets aside one-tenth of his income for Christian activities. The blessings of happiness and prosperity which have attended the people are remarkable. Many thrilling stories are told. Some church leaders are deeply impressed by the success of the system and they are advocating [illegible]

Hello there! What has become of those fellows that used to drive around the country looking to see if the farmers were hoarding wheat? Hunt them up and give them a job of shoveling wheat, so the farmers can get their grain into market.

The United States Civil Service will hold an examination for clerks in the Civil Service at Crookston, December 11th. The salary is from $1,200 to $1,600 per year. Applicants should apply to the Secretary of the U. S. Civil Service for blank no. 304, at Crookston, Minnesota.

County Treasurer elect John Gullingsrud is now working in the County Treasurer's office, in order to familiarize him with the work before January 1st. This is as it should be, but sometimes the campaign gets so warm that it can't be.

After January 1st, we will advance the price of subscription to $1.50 a year to subscribers who allow their subscription to run over a year past due. Delinquents have the month of December to settle up. After Jan. 1st, $1.50 a year will be charged up to them.

Wheat and more wheat, is what the Goodridge elevators found was heavily produced in eastern Pennington County this year. Both of the elevators had three men unloading wheat from wagons, as fast as they could dump the grain into the pit, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and there was from ten to twenty-five teams lined up waiting to unload all day. The electric line is running three trains daily now, and cars are being loaded steadily all day by both elevators. The elevators are using their best endeavors to keep from getting filled up so as to have to close their doors, and it is to be hoped they will [illegible]

First Drink Merely a Sample.

It was a hot day, and two sailors had just been released from a long spell of duty on a mine sweeper. They made a bee-line for the first public house they saw, and one of them ordered two quarts of ale. The men emptied their mugs in one draught while the barmaid looked on in undisguised admiration.

The man who had paid stood for a second or two wiping his lips meditatively, and then turned to his comrade with a grin.

"'Tain't so bad, Bill, is it?" he remarked. "Shall we 'ave some?"—London Tit-Bits.

He Ordered Pie.

My brother was telling me of a number of humorous incidents which took place at camp. This one cost the victim, a young rookie, a week end's visit to the guardhouse. He had been made believe by a few fellows who were in for some sport that if he wanted pie all he had to do was order it. When meal time came around the rookie ordered pie. Of course he didn't get it, so he raised a rumpus. After a few moments his commanding officer was heard to say, "You're in the army now. Perhaps we had better show you the guardhouse first."—Chicago Tribune.

FORESAW RAPACITY OF HUNS

Many Years Ago Charles Dickens Looked Into the Future With Vision Remarkably Prophetic.

There is something almost uncanny about the accuracy with which Charles Dickens foresaw the Hun and his aims as we know them today. Not long ago there was quoted part of Dickens' reply to an invitation to become a member of a peace society that a number of persons were endeavoring to form in 1851. The words written then by the great English author are worth repeating:

"Look out toward Austria, look out toward Germany," he counseled. "Do you see nothing there?

"I tell you that it is because there are the wild beasts of the forest, because I would not be soldier ridden, nor have other men so, because I dread and hate the miseries and tyranny of war, that I am not for the disarming of England, nor can I be a member of your peace society."

Every reader of "Little Dorrit" will remember the landlady of the "Break of Day Inn" of Chalons. Words of this French character of his have a peculiarly prophetic ring. Here they are:

"And I tell you this my friend, That there are people whom it is necessary to detest without compromise. That there are people who must be dealt with as enemies of the human race. That there are people who have no human heart, and who must be crushed like savage beasts and cleared out of the way."

CLAIMS CENTURY-OLD FUND

Chilean Government Asks Return of Unexpended Portion of Indemnity Paid in 1821.

The full bench of the Massachusetts supreme court has been called upon to determine the ownership of a fund nearly a century old, which is claimed by the commonwealth of Massachusetts on one hand and the Chilean government on the other.

In 1821 an American ship returning from China to Boston was seized by Chilean revolutionists and its cargo confiscated. When normal conditions prevailed in Chile the United States demanded indemnity and Chile paid $70,400.

William H. Gardiner of Brookline, Mass., was selected to distribute the money among those entitled to it. He executed the trust except as to two Chinese—known only as Paqua and Moqua, merchants—and Thomas Furber of Boston. Mr. Gardiner failed to locate these persons or their representatives. When he died the trust was transmitted to his son, and upon the latter's death to the grandson and great-grandson, Robert H. Gardiner and Robert H. Gardiner, Jr., who are now its custodians.

The present holders of the fund have searched through the records of the state department, through the American consular service at Canton, China, and through various other sources for the heirs of Paqua, Moqua and Thomas Furber, without success.

ON ITS WAY TO SCRAP HEAP

Dialect Known as "Pennsylvania Dutch" Bids Fair Soon to Be a Thing of the Past.

"Pennsylvania Dutch," that curious combination of German, English and Yankee, which since Revolutionary times has developed in parts of Pennsylvania and Ohio, is going into the discard. For more than a century it has been growing just as languages always grow, with use. It has corrupted words, made words, created forms, one might say a grammar of its own. It has not, it is true, produced a literature. But it has been the speech of a considerable number of persons in their homes. It long since ceased to be recognizable as German, and English it never was. In it, students tell us, are mingled German, English, Welsh, French and even Gaelic words.

"Pennsylvania Dutch" has been the dialect of those German disciples of Peter Menno who came to America, some of them in pre-Revolution days, seeking religious liberty and political freedom. Some of these went into Ohio during Revolution days, others into Canada, some as late as Civil war days. Their religious beliefs contributed to isolation. And they were largely an agricultural people.

Now the word has gone forth among the Mennonites that it is no longer patriotic to speak "Pennsylvania Dutch," and as fast and as thoroughly as possible these unbelievers in war are discarding the speech of childhood and home associations. The task is not an impossible one to them, since all or nearly all of them have had some experience in the common schools. From among them 8,000 young men have gone overseas to fight the oppressors of their ancestors and the barbarians who threaten their own liberties.

The banning of "Pennsylvania Dutch" is an impressive object lesson to all Americans. Let's all resolve to speak English.—Detroit Free Press.

TAJIRI GRADUATE OF YALE

New Mayor of Tokyo, Japan, Finished His Education in Great American University.

Viscount Inajiro Tajiri, newly elected mayor of the city of Tokyo, Japan, is a graduate of the class of '79 of Yale university, where he specialized in economics, finance, politics and history, says Christian Science Monitor. Returning to Japan, he was appointed a secretary in the department of finance and also to a chair in the imperial university at Tokyo. Subsequently he was director of the bureau of the national debt, banks and revenue.

In the course of time he was admitted to the house of peers, and was vice minister of finance, first in 1892-1897, and again in 1898-1904. He was made a baron in 1895 and a viscount in 1907. More recently he has been chief of the board of audit. To knowledge of the technique of banking, national finance and international credit the viscount adds interest in and mastery of natural science, and in both fields he is an authority.

His selection as mayor comes after a long and futile effort of the municipal assembly to agree upon a candidate chosen from the ranks of politicians or ordinary civilians.

"'Why, Wednesday or Thursday, I reckon,' says I. 'I hain't paid much attention lately, but it's somers along there.'

"'It is Tuesday, the 10th,' says she, kind o' sternly. 'Do you know what happened 15 years ago today?'

"'Hum, now! Lez see,' says I. 'Oh, yes!—that was the day a tree fell on me and busted me up considerable. I forgot—'

"'No, it wasn't!' she snapped. 'We were married 15 years ago today.'

"'Is that so?' says I. 'Well, I knowed something happened to me, but I sorter disrecollected what. Aw-hum!—'

"And then I'll be switched if wife didn't rise up like a queen and sling mighty nigh every dish on the place at my head—dishes that cost me good money, too! The longer I live with women, the less I know about 'em!"—Judge.

ICELAND PROUD OF CULTURE

Little Nation, Long Isolated From the Rest of the World, Has Maintained Its Spiritual Life.

There are few nations that can point to a brighter record of culture than this little nation of one hundred thousand people (Iceland), practically isolated on their arctic island for nearly one thousand years. Why did they not revert to barbarism, as has been the fate of many white groups out of touch with outside civilization? There is but one answer: The Promethean flame which kindled the genius of the old, now nameless, monks—the saga authors—has never died in Iceland. It could not die so long as the sagas lived, firing the spiritual life of the nation.

Each period of national prosperity since the saga age has seen a revival of literary activity. Now Iceland is more prosperous in a material way than ever in its history, and behold there is a pen scratching in every cottage; there is a poet apostrophizing every waterfall, dedicating the summer crop of poppies and daffodils, and charming, or at least trying to charm, the innumerable host of fays and light elves, trolls and water sprites and "landvaettir," which have endowed the bleak hills and mountains of Iceland with an immortal soul.—From the Dial.

Fewer Works of Art Imported.

According to a compilation by the National City bank, the value of art works imported in 1918 is about $11,000,000, as against $23,000,000 in 1917 and $35,000,000 in 1914.

In automobiles the value in 1918 was about $50,000 against nearly $2,000,000 in 1913 and more than $2,000,000 in 1912, while the average value per machine imported in 1918 was less than one-half that before the war. Decorated chinaware imported in 1918 was about $3,000,000 in value against $8,000,000 in 1914. Among the [illegible]

FISH-SKIN SHOES COMING?

Quite Possible, Though It Must Be Admitted They Are Not Altogether Desirable Footwear.

When things come to the worst every day is going to be like Friday—the atmosphere will be crowded with the aroma of fish. There is a scarcity of leather, as everybody knows, and, that being so, tanners are making a diligent search for other substitutes and new sources of supply. Experts declare that the skins of aquatic creatures offer a practically undeveloped resource, and it is not unlikely that before long we shall be covering our extremities with the skins of the man-eating shark and the sacred codfish. The reason such skins have not heretofore been utilized for leather is not because they are not perfectly well adapted for such use, but only because the skins of land animals have been so plentiful. Disciples of Izaak Walton dispute the experts about the curing of fishskins. They say once a fish always a fish. If it comes to pass that we adopt fish-skin shoes these fishermen offer some advice to the callow youth who goes courting. "Leave your fish-skin shoes on the front porch, like the Hollanders and Japs, and court in your stocking feet. Otherwise there will be a chilly reception awaiting you." Being married, they are talking by the book.

Mrs. Styles—You have a wonderful memory for dress, dear.

Mr. Styles—Well, I've seen a lot of it.

EXPLORER'S WORK IN AFRICA

Frenchman Sheds Light on Vast Region Hitherto Comparatively Unknown—Needs Railway.

Commandant Tilho, the well-known French explorer of the Sudan, has recently published a report on the results of five years' work during 1912-17 in the hitherto unknown region lying along the frontier between the French Sahara and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan. Tilho was entrusted with the task of pacifying and organizing this region under the French government; and his surveys embrace a stretch of previously unexplored country extending more than 1,100 miles from the center of Tibesti southeast to the vicinity of El Fasher, in Darfur. His cartographic work fills up a large blank in the map of Africa. He urges the need of a railway through this region, for the benefit not only of the world at large, but also of the natives, who are subject to periodical famines. It is stated that from one-half to three-fourths of the inhabitants of northern Wadai died of famine in 1914. One especially interesting result of his investigations is the disproof of the hypothesis, supported by his earlier explorations, that there is a connection between Lake Chad and the Nile river system. Tilho explored the volcanic Emi-Kussi, 11,100 feet in altitude, with an immense crater over seven miles in diameter and 130 feet deep.—Scientific American.

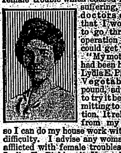
HOW MRS. BOYD AVOIDED AN OPERATION



Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well.

"My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MARIE BOYD, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

Sometimes there are serious conditions where a hospital operation is the only alternative, but on the other hand so many women have been cured by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after doctors have said that an operation was necessary—every woman who wants to avoid an operation should give it a fair trial before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

If complications exist, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of many years experience is at your service.

One Camp Custer rookie claimed he should have a deferred classification and to substantiate his allegation referred to Deuteronomy 24-5:

"When a man hath taken a new wife he shall not go to war, neither shall he be charged with any business, but he shall be free at home for one year and shall cheer up his wife which he has taken."

SPANISH INFLUENZA

Do Not Fear When Fighting a German or a Germ!

By DR. M. COOK.

The cool fighter always wins and so there is no need to become panic-stricken. Avoid fear and crowds. Exercise in the fresh air and practice the three C's: A Clean Mouth, a Clean Skin and Clean Bowels. To carry off the poisons that accumulate within the body and to ward off an attack of the influenza bacillus, take a good liver regulator to move the bowels. Such a one is made up of May-apple, leaves of aloe, root of jalap, and is to be had at any drug store, and called "Pleasant Purgative Pellets."

If a bad cold develops, go to bed, wrap up well, drink freely of hot lemonade and take a hot mustard foot-bath. Have the bedroom warm but well ventilated. Obtain at the nearest drug store "Anuric Tablets" to flush the kidneys and control the pains and aches. Take an "Anuric" tablet every two hours, together with copious drinks of lemonade. If a true case of influenza, the food should be simple, such as broths, milk, buttermilk and ice-cream; but it is important that food be given regularly in order to keep up patient's strength and vitality. After the acute attack has passed, which is generally from three to seven days, the system should be built up by the use of a good iron tonic, such as "Irontic" tablets, to be obtained at some drug stores, or that well known blood-maker and herbal tonic made from roots and barks of forest trees—sold everywhere as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

PERSHING GREETED BY JOYFUL PARIS

American Commander Almost Mobbed by Worshiping Crowd in Street.

OUTBREAK IS SPONTANEOUS

Girl Starts Demonstration When She Recognizes Yanks' Leader Sitting in Passing Automobile.

Paris.—One of the wildest demonstrations ever seen in Paris occurred when Gen. John J. Pershing, commander of the American expeditionary forces, made his appearance in an automobile on the streets of Paris. The crowds went wild when they caught a glimpse of the American leader, and as the word spread thousands of persons poured from every direction into the Place de la Concorde, through which General Pershing was passing when he was recognized by passers by. It was estimated that within a short time there were half a million people in the cheering mob that struggled for a glimpse of the American general.

The general was out for a short drive and had come up the Rue Rivoli. His car was proceeding at a snail's pace before it was recognized by the frenzied street crowds.

As General Pershing's face, with the famous smile, showed through the door, a French girl with the flags of half a dozen nations twined about her head screamed, "General Pershing!"

The cry was taken up instantly and passed over the seething multitudes. If there were any gendarmes about they were swallowed up in the enormous mob. In an instant men and women went mad and screamed his name, and all tried to reach the car.

Men picked up women and held them on their shoulders that they might get a look at the general. The mob surged toward the car in another wave.

Shakes Hands of Children.

General Pershing amidst the danger was enjoying it greatly. Instead of closing the window and urging the driver to get out before they were crushed to death, he let the window down full length, laughed heartily, and thrust his hand out of the door to shake the hand of a little French child whose proud father lifted her above the heads of the mob.

Children climbed on the tonneau and shinned up the back of the limousine and frantically leaped over the struggling mass and shot their hands in at the window. General Pershing continued laughing and tried to shake as many hands as could be thrust through the window.

"Pershing! Pershing!" bellowed the mob, and the name rang from the Seine to the Rue Royale, up the Champs Elysees, and through the Tuileries gardens.

Efforts to Clear Way Fail.

French officers who had been caught up in the human maelstrom saluted and then endeavored to have the mob give way. As if by common impulse the masses seemed to understand that the great American general was in danger, and with a craning of heads and the screams of women and children a slight rift was made directly ahead of the car. Then by less than a snail's pace the car with frantic snorts edged along, inch by inch.

The cheering was indescribable. Along the boulevards the name of Pershing was taken up by thousands who probably did not know that Pershing was in their midst, and at one moment it seemed that all Paris was shouting.

By this time the inside of Pershing's car resembled a flag shop. The children who were raised over the heads of the frantic populace tossed small flags and flowers through the window and the grownups tore the insignia from their coats and tossed it in. General Pershing was laughing hard and waving his hand back at the children, but still the flag and floral offerings poured in until he was half buried beneath the bunting, flags, buttons, insignia, and crushed blossoms.

Moves Inch by Inch.

Inch by inch the car moved and then halted several minutes as the mob surged back against it. It was the car he had used over the battlefield of France and was built for rough usage, else it seems it must have crushed like an egg shell.

Finally the car edged out of the Place de la Concorde into the Champs Elysees, but still the mob, with hats off, arms in air and mouths wide open, shouting like mad, surged about him. It was several minutes more before the car could be extricated and a semblance of a road made.

Even then, as the car got away up the great avenue toward the Arc de Triomph, thousands ran after it. All Paris seemed to be rumbling with a mighty noise and over the mighty noise sounded clear and strong: "Vive Pershing!" [illegible]

Troops in England First Home.

London.—The first American troops to depart homeward as a result of the signing of the armistice will be 18,000 men stationed in England. The American army expects to start the first shipload of these soldiers homeward within a few days and to have all the men on their way back to the United States ten days later.

The plans for clearing England of American troops are incomplete, but it is desired to remove these men immediately, as some shipping is available for this purpose. Most of the 18,000 men are helping the British air force.

The American hospital units will be left in England until a policy for caring for future cases of illness among the Americans has been decided upon.

The belief is expressed at army headquarters that very few Americans will be left long in England, as it is thought that the hospitals in France can care for future needs.

German Navy Surrendered.

London.—There has just been seen the greatest naval surrender which the world has ever witnessed.

A great fleet of German battleships, battle cruisers and light cruisers and destroyers left port for an unknown destination. They were met by the British fleet, accompanied by American and French representatives, and conducted to their destination.

A Berlin telegram received in Amsterdam gives this list of the vessels comprising the best of the German navy that were to be handed over:

Battleships—Kaiser, Kaiserin, Konig Albrecht, Kronprinz Wilhelm, Prinz Regent Luitpold, Markgraf, Grosser Kurfurst, Bayern, Konig Friedrich der Grosse.

Battle cruisers—Hindenburg, Derfflinger, Seidlitz, Moltke, Von der Tann.

Light cruisers—Bremen, Brummer, Frankfurt, Koln, Dresden, Emden.

Germany has been stripped of at least half of the fleet of dreadnaughts which it had in commission or building when war began, and of practically all of its battle cruisers.

Yanks in Triumphal March.

With the American Army of Occupation.—The American army of occupation, which is moving forward steadily over the territory evacuated by the retiring Germans, is being received with wild demonstrations of joy by the residents of the towns which are now being liberated after more than four years of German rule.

When the American troops entered Briey, the heart of the Lothringian iron fields, they passed under triumphal arches that had been hurriedly erected by the people of the town, and the streets through which they passed were bedecked with flags. On one arch through which the Americans passed was a homemade American flag four feet in length, flanked by the French colors. The flag, which had been made by three French girls, had eleven stars and seven red and white stripes. At St. Leger, as the advance units of the Americans entered the town, the church bells were rung and the mayor and his wife stood in front of their home to welcome the officers and correspondents, who were invited to become the mayor's guests. Women, children and aged men crowded about the soldiers, embracing them and presenting them with flowers.

Similar scenes were enacted as the Americans reached Virton, Longwy, Audun, La Romain and other towns evacuated by the Germans.

Everything moves smoothly as the American forces proceed toward the Rhine. Some 200,000 men, with their supplies, guns and ammunition, must be moved along three main roads from railheads that get farther behind each day. The job is one that would tax the abilities of the quartermasters of any army.

Flags Flutter Over British.

With the British Armies.—Innumerable flags fluttered over the heads of the British troops as they moved forward and started on their march to the Rhine. The cavalrymen had their own guidons and some of them rode with French and Belgian flags sticking out of their boots and fastened to their bridles. The gunners had flags on their limbers and the axles of their wagons; their steel traces were polished brightly, as though for a military tournament, and their steel helmets were shining. They had spent many hours in "spit and polish" since the day of the armistice, so they should look well on the road to the Rhine.

The advancing troops met thousands of civilians who were coming home after years of exile. As the soldiers went forward the homecoming civilians halted to wave flags at them, astounded, it seemed, by the smartness of the men who, after four years of war, rode out, spick and span from helmet to spur, on fine horses, well fed and groomed, in sharp contrast to the sorry-looking German horseflesh.

Impressions.

A girl's features may be stamped on a young man's heart, but it is her complexion that shows on his coat collar.—Boston Transcript.

A Minnesota Case

"Every Picture Tells a Story"

Mrs. Harry Peers, Box 232, Mora, Minn., says: "For two and a half months I was down flat on my back. My kidneys acted irregularly and I often got so dizzy that I fell. I was finally told that my case was hopeless and I decided to take Doan's Kidney Pills. I noticed a good effect in about eight months. My kidneys acted regularly, I regained my strength and my back got strong. I was soon able to get about. I kept on taking them and now haven't a sign of kidney trouble."

TAKES IDEA FROM AMERICA

France Plans Establishment of Public Libraries Modeled on System of the United States.

"The public library idea was a new one to the French people," says World's Work. "They have seen it in operation and leaders of French thought believe it is something France needs. A committee, with the president of the French republic as its chairman, has been created to work out plans for the establishment in France of a system of public libraries modeled on American lines.

"Plans are maturing for the establishment in France, after the fighting is over, of an enormous system of schools and universities for the better education of our soldiers during the period of demobilization. It will take as long to get our men back as it has taken to get them over—longer, probably, because there will be no pressing need for haste. Talleyrand said: 'You can make a soldier out of a civilian, but you cannot make a civilian out of a military man.' Our government is going to try to do what Talleyrand said was impossible. Our men have got to be educated for their return as individual units to civil life and not as a military mass. The library war service is tending more and more definitely toward this educational objective."

HOLD THREE MAIN ROADS TO BERLIN

ALLIED ARMIES WILL CONTROL CITIES OF COLOGNE, COBLENZ AND MAINZ.

RENDERS GERMANY HELPLESS

American, French and British Soldiers Will Be Kept in Readiness to Sweep Forward Should Necessity Demand.

Washington, Nov. 25.—In fixing Coblenz as the objective of the American advance, General March furnished a clue to the military situation that is to exist while the peace conference proceeds at Paris.

On the left the British army of occupation will stand along the Rhine with a spearhead thrown across the river at Cologne and spreading like a fan on a 30-kilometer circle. At Coblenz the Americans will occupy a similar position and at Mainz, still further up the river, the French will hold the third great highway into the heart of Germany.

Thus three main roads to Berlin itself, each held by a strong, fully equipped army ready to sweep forward at a moment's notice will be held open and constitute a threat against which there can be no organized resistance. All of Germany will stand at the mercy of the occupying forces.

French Reach the Rhine.

French forces reached the Rhine near the Swiss border some days ago. It may be that patrol detachments of this army already have penetrated through the 40-kilometer zone which will be held as neutral ground until the peace treaties fix new boundaries, but it is regarded as probable that the American Third army will lead the real advance into Germany.

Coblenz Important City.

Coblenz, the bridgehead on the Rhine which the American army will occupy, is at the confluence of the Moselle and Rhine rivers and dates back to the Third century. Formerly it was a fortress of the first class, but since the Franco-Prussian war it has occupied a secondary place as compared to Cologne, Mainz, Strassburg, and Metz.

Coblenz has a large wine trade, because of its situation with respect to the wine-growing countries in the valleys of the Moselle and the Rhine.

On the east bank of the Rhine opposite Coblenz is the famous fortress of Ehrenbreitstein. The new fortress was built early in the Nineteenth century. The old one played an important part in German wars and was captured by storm by the French in 1799.

FRENCH WILL ENTER STRASSBURG ON DEC. 8

Formal Occupation by Marshal Foch and King Albert to Complete Alsatian Liberation.

Paris, Nov. 25.—The entry of French troops into Strassburg will complete the liberation of Alsace.

The military occupation of the city, at which King Albert of Belgium will be present with Marshal Foch, says the Petit Journal, will be followed by another ceremony.

At a conference of President Poincare, Premier Clemenceau and Marshal Foch at the Elysee palace, it was decided that the entry of the civil authorities would take place Dec. 8.

RUSSIAN STATESMAN ARRAIGNS BOLSHEVISM

Prince George Lvoff, Former Premier, Wants the Allies to Put Down Anarchy.

Washingtonn, Nov. 25.—Recognition of Russia at the world peace conference in Versailles was urged by Prince George Lvoff, first prime minister of Russia after the overthrow of the czar, in a statement to the American people.

Prince Lvoff expressed his conviction that a program of reconstruction which does not provide for the complete destruction of Bolshevism in Russia will leave in the world the germ of another great war.

FRENCH CIVILIANS ARE BEING LIBERATED

Thousands Leaving Belgium for Home as Germans Continue Their Evacuation.

Paris, Nov. 25.—French Nationals, who had been carried off by the Germans from French occupied territory into Belgium, are continuing to return in large numbers as additional Belgian territory is liberated.

Encounter Strong Opposition.

Archangel, Nov. 25.—The American and Allied troops have encountered strong opposition both on the Vologda-Archangel railway and on the Dvina river. A plan is under discussion in military circles for the creation of a voluntary army for Russian relief, should the Allies agree upon the policy of feeding Russia. Daylight in Archangel now is of only four hours duration, and this fact, with the fogs, facilitates the guerilla warfare of the Bolsheviki operating in the shelter of the forests.

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK, CROSS, FEVERISH

HURRY, MOTHER! REMOVE POISONS FROM LITTLE STOMACH, LIVER, BOWELS.

GIVE CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS AT ONCE IF BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels needs a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhœa, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative;" they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Adv.

PROVEN SWAMP-ROOT AIDS WEAK KIDNEYS

The symptoms of kidney and bladder troubles are often very distressing and leave the system in a run-down condition. The kidneys seem to suffer most, as almost every victim complains of lame back and urinary troubles which should not be neglected, as these danger signals often lead to more dangerous kidney troubles.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root which, so many people say, soon heals and strengthens the kidneys, is a splendid kidney, liver and bladder medicine, and, being an herbal compound, has a gentle healing effect on the kidneys, which is almost immediately noticed in most cases by those who use it.

A trial will convince anyone who may be in need of it. Better get a bottle from your nearest drug store, and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

SEED INDUSTRY IS INCREASING

European War Working Wonders in Production, Particularly on Pacific Coast.

WAR GARDENS ADD STIMULUS

Raising of Vegetable Seeds Chiefly Confined to Few Widely Separated Districts—California Is the Largest Producer.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

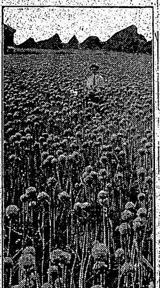
Since the European sources of vegetable seed have been cut off by war conditions, the seed-growing industry in the United States has made rapid developments, particularly in the Pacific coast and Rocky mountain states, according to a report of the bureau of crop estimates, United States department of agriculture.

An added stimulus to this industry has been the increased number of war gardens which have been planted in all parts of the country. The commercial production of vegetable seeds is chiefly confined to a few widely separated but well-defined districts, but in exceptional instances the industry has been introduced into new sections through the efforts of contracting seedmen who have sought to expand the production by entering new areas.

The production of onion seed is carried on in many localities. Most of the Western districts where onions are grown for market also raise for their own use and sell the surplus. The largest section of production for onion seed, however, is known as the "river district" of the San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys in the central part of California.

Carrot Seed in California.

California is the largest producer of carrot seed. Sacramento and Yolo counties rank first, with San Joaquin, Contra Costa, Santa Clara, and San Benito counties ranking as minor producers. In the production of radish seed the situation is reversed, the coast counties of California producing the bulk of the crop, and the river district being unimportant as a producer. It is also grown in the Pacific Northwest. Beet seed is grown in both the river and coast districts of California, but is probably grown more extensively around Sacramento than in any other portion of the state. Lettuce seed is grown almost exclusively near the coast section of California, particularly in Santa Clara and San Benito counties and also in San Luis Obispo county.



Most of Western Onion Districts Raise Their Seed Supplies and Sell Any Surplus.

The pea-seed growing districts are widely scattered but are somewhat restricted by the pea weevil. The two largest districts are in eastern Washington and eastern Idaho.

Other Vegetable Seed.

The production of seed of the garden varieties of beans is concentrated in portions of Colorado, California, Washington, and Idaho. The Greeley district of Colorado is the leading district. Lima-bean seed growing is confined to the coast counties of southern California. Cantaloupe and cucumber seed is produced extensively in Colorado, particularly in the Rocky Ford district or the Arkansas valley. Tomato seed is most extensively produced in Orange county, California, south of Santa Ana. Other seed crops produced in this district are peppers and various vine crops. The principal cabbage-seed growing district is in the Puget sound country, but the growing of cabbage seed is being tried out in other localities and new districts of importance may be developed. This statement also applies to turnip seed. Spinach seed is produced in California and in the Northwest. During the past season the industry has developed particularly in Yolo and Sacramento counties of California, but is not confined to [illegible]

DANDRUFF MAKES HAIR FALL OUT

A small bottle of "Danderine" keeps hair thick, strong, beautiful.

Girls! Try this! Doubles beauty of your hair in a few moments.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine for a few cents at any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.—Adv.

Lives 200 Years!

For more than 200 years, Haarlem Oil, the famous national remedy of Holland, has been recognized as an infallible relief from all forms of kidney and bladder disorders. Its very age is proof that it must have unusual merit.

If you are troubled with pains or aches in the back, feel tired in the morning, headaches, indigestion, insomnia, painful or too frequent passage of urine, irritation or stone in the bladder, you will almost certainly find relief in GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. This is the good old remedy that has stood the test for hundreds of years, prepared in the proper quantity and convenient form to take. It is imported direct from Holland laboratories, and you can get it at any drug store. It is a standard, old-time home remedy and needs no introduction. Each capsule contains one dose of five drops and is pleasant and easy to take. They will quickly relieve those stiffened joints, that backache, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, gall stones, gravel, "brick dust," etc. Your money promptly refunded if they do not relieve you. But be sure to get the genuine GOLD MEDAL brand. In boxes, three sizes.—Adv.

What Determines Meat and Live-Stock Prices?

Some stock men still think that Swift & Company—and other big packers—can pay as little for live-stock as they wish.

Some consumers are still led to believe that the packers can charge as much for dressed meat as they wish.

This is not true. These prices are fixed by a law of human nature as old as human nature itself—the law of supply and demand.

When more people want meat than there is meat to be had, the scramble along the line to get it for them sends prices up. When there is more meat than there are people who want it, the scramble all along the line to get rid of it within a few days, while it is still fresh, sends prices down.

When prices of meat go up, Swift & Company not only can pay the producer more, but has to pay him more, or some other packer will.

Similarly, when prices recede all down the line Swift & Company cannot continue to pay the producer the same prices as before, and still remain in the packing business.

All the packer can do is to keep the expense of turning stock into meat at a minimum, so that the consumer can get as much as possible for his money, and the producer as much as possible for his live-stock.

Thanks to its splendid plants, modern methods, branch houses, car routes, fleet of refrigerator cars, experience and organization, Swift & Company is able to pay for live cattle 90 per cent of what it receives for beef and by-products, and to cover expense of production and distribution, as well as its profit (a small fraction of a cent per pound), out of the other 10 per cent.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR.
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUB.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

$1.00 a year, in advance.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879

Paris, Nov. 25.—The last party of Germans left Brussels by train last Sunday morning. As the train was about to leave, reports started the Germans had made a gift of wagon loads of food, which was at the station and would not be taken away by the invaders. It would be given to whoever might care to fetch it.

The result was that all the people in the neighborhood collected at the station. While they were waiting a series of vast explosions shook the place, in which at least 300 were killed and 150 wounded.

This is the kind of German fiends that are now appealing to America for mercy. The kind of mercy they should have, is to have a ring put in their nose, and be tied up to a post and fed on barley bread and water. Kaiser Wilhelm did not commit this outrage, but the poor (?) innocent (?) common people did it. Civilized nations should keep an army of occupation in Germany, establish schools and build churches, and see if they can not teach those fiends some of the laws of God and man.

The making of the road that runs north through Highlanding and Goodridge townships, into a state road, is certainly a move in the right direction for the benefit of this part of the county, and shows that our County Commissioners begin to realize that the people up this way are entitled to a little more consideration than they have been getting in the past four years, in the way road improvements. Let the good work go on, and we believe it will continue to go on now that it has got started, for you can depend that your next Commissioner will do some tall rooting to keep his snout in that road and bridge fund trough.

Minneapolis are preparing to entertain their returned soldiers in a fitting manner. Every locality should prepare to give the boys a hand of welcome home again, when they return. We should also remember that the boys who never got any farther than the training camps were as ready to do their part, when they were called to the front, as the boys did who faced the German armies on the firing line and they should be made to feel that their services were just as highly appreciated by a greatful people.

Soldiers that have been sick or wounded in the service are loud in their praise of the Red Cross. This is certainly good news for the generous American people, who have contributed to keep up the Red Cross. For what better purpose could you invest a few dollars than to give it to an organization that you knew would be ready to extend aid to a wounded friend or relative when he most needs it. Never refuse to contribute to this band of mercy.

American prisoners in Germany, that were compelled to work eleven hours a day on scanty food, were bolstered up by the hope that America were coming after the German fiends and would keep coming until they conquered their tormentors and released them from [illegible]

DESPERATE LEAP FOR LIFE

Parachutes the Only Hope of Occupants of Observation Balloon Destroyed at the Front.

A British observation balloon anchored at the western front, had its cables cut by enemy airplanes, and the balloon soared thousands of feet upward into the clouds. A writer in London Mail, who witnessed the incident, describes what followed. From the point where it vanished, he says, we presently saw one small speck, then another, dropping from the clouds. For some hundreds of feet they fell like dead weights, then parachutes opened, and the specks, now revealed as men, were steadied in their earthward course, floating rapidly, but safely, to the ground.

After the balloon got free, they had destroyed their papers and instruments, clambered over the side of the basket, and leaped for life into the great void beneath them, trusting that the parachutes strapped round their waists would open when they should.

Think of that desperate spring into the vast, gray, vapory nothingness beneath the balloon; the feelings of the men as they made it, uncertain of what would happen; the awful sensation of casting yourself blindly from such an appalling height with the knowledge that only a flimsy piece of material, which might act rightly and might not, intervened between yourself and a crash into the earth many thousands of feet below; the tense strain of the stone-like drop through two hundred feet of the void before the parachute opened, and then the anxious mental query, through the later stages of the descent: "What shall I light upon?"—a matter of supreme consequence that chance governs absolutely. In this case, the men made a safe landing.

SPLENDID WORK OF DIVER

Feat of Underwater Repairing on Wrecked Steamer Is Given High Praise by Shipping Men.

One of the most remarkable feats in the history of American labor, according to Capt. Louis Turner, representing marine underwriters, was the submarine repairing of a steamer salvaged off the California coast by a diver named Theodore Wicks. The success of this man in his perilous work made it possible to raise the vessel for further important service in the government's war program, where shipping is so urgently needed.

There were fully 100 patches of temporary nature to be put on the shattered sides of the vessel while it was bumping about on the rocks, making it by all odds the biggest job of the kind ever attempted on the Pacific coast. The biggest patch was ten feet wide and 16 feet long. Three layers of inch plank, with canvas between, were used in patching. This kept the water out while the ship was being pumped.

Large numbers of shipping men visited the dry dock where the ship went after Diver Wick's exploits, and were astonished that it had been possible to salvage the vessel at all. The diver's work is viewed all along the coast as an inspiration to labor in its great task of winning the war.

TWO EX-PREMIERS IN CABINET

Situation in British Politics That Has Never Before Occurred Is Among the Possibilities.

Herbert H. Asquith, former premier, is often mentioned as a possible addition to the present cabinet. The Manchester Guardian points out that if this happens Lloyd George will have two former prime ministers among his subordinates. There is no former instance of this state of things in modern history, and it is a long time now since an English government contained in a secondary place even one former premier.

The classical case occurred about the middle of last century, and is furnished by the game of see-saw which was played by Lord John Russell and Lord Palmerston. In the government of 1846-52 Lord John Russell was prime minister and Lord Palmerston foreign secretary, and in the government of 1859-65 their two positions were exactly reversed.

It was Lord John Russell's exceptional fate to be prime minister from the age of fifty-four till that of sixty, to be in and out of subordinate office, under Lord Aberdeen and then under Lord Palmerston, from sixty to seventy-three, and at that age to be prime minister again.

If Lloyd George gets Mr. Asquith as well as Mr. Balfour he will have all the living former premiers except one, the exception being Lord Rosebery, whose period of office—15 months—was so short as to compare with the meteoric premiership of the age of Canning.

Swamp a War Garden.

Too old to be taken into the service George Hoy, a Japanese resident of Juneau, Alaska, has turned a mosquito swamp into a patriotic garden that has become the admiration of the city.

Radishes in this unique garden send their green tops upward to form the word "Liberty," and near by is formed a bell.

To one side a cross blooms in red sweet peas, while tiny walks, wriggly fences and rocks with flowers wandering over them add to the attraction of the place.

[illegible] Novel by William De Morgan Has Counterpart in Real Life Story of Englishman.

A little more than ten years ago an Englishman, deep in the sixties, won great renown by going to a hospital.

His illness, though severe, was ordinary enough. The use he made of his convalescence distinguished him. Propped up in bed, William De Morgan wrote his first novel. When he was entirely recovered, he wrote another, which was destined to carry on his fame around the reading world.

The book told the story of an engineer returned to London after many adventures. There a mishap in the tube caused him to lose his memory. In the dazed state he lived a new life. By chance he met his former wife, fell in love with her and married her again.

Strange as was De Morgan's tale—critics said only he could make it convincing—London itself has duplicated it from life.

John Arthur Lewis, a returned soldier, was lately haled into court for absconding with money he had collected for his employers.

His innocence was easily proved. On the collecting trip he had been struck by a van and injured. Bereft of his memory he wandered over England, arrived at his old home, and was introduced by his mother to a young woman, said to be his wife.

He refused to accept his past until one night the German airmen dropped bombs, and the shock of the explosion restored his memory. Then all came back, even the uncompleted day's work of last August.

History here modifies the ancient observation as to truth and fiction. Truth is not stranger than good writing. Rather, the artist senses probably ahead of the facts and later reality corroborates him. Who knows but at least one Enoch Arden [illegible] Tennyson [illegible]

Americans Should Eat Fish.

Americans are deficient as fish eaters, compared with inhabitants of foreign countries. Less than two pounds per head is the yearly consumption of salt and smoked fish in this country. For the winter's supply, salt fish can be laid in and, pound for pound, furnish much more nutriment than fresh fish. This is because curing extracts a large part of the water, and what is left is nearly all solid food.—People's Home Journal.

Had No Occasion to Say It.

A little girl was invited to a friend's house for dinner and before leaving her mother warned her to say "please," "thank you," and "no, thank you." When the little girl returned she was asked if she said please and thank you and she said yes. Then her mother asked: "Did you say no, thank you when they passed something you didn't want?"

"No, mother, I didn't, because they didn't pass anything I didn't want."

Abel Bost and Artie Hyland have been hauling hay from the town of Hickory this week.

There has been enough snow fell the past week to soil the wagon roads, and not enough to make good sleighing.

Andrew Ellingson has two teams hauling his farm crop to market this week.

Mrs. W. G. Hunt made a trip to Thief River Falls this week, to get some dentist work done.

School started in the new Causin school house, on last Monday morning.

Henry Hyland has been confined to the house with a severe cold this week, which acted like the "flu," but he is getting better now.

We received a letter from C. S. McReynolds this week, stating that he expected to get discharged from the army in time to spend Christmas in Highlanding.

It took so many boats to take President Wilson to the peace conference, that they will be short of ships to bring the soldiers home. But a big majority of the American people indorse his going, notwithstanding the snarls of a few politicians.

The fellows that made their living by preaching food shortage, must soon have to hunt another job, after this crop is marketed. A man preaching food shortage with all the elevators glutted with wheat, is rather out of date. In fact he is in a worse position than the fellows who started the meat shortage cry, and found that all the packing houses were loaded with meat. The war is over, and there is no food shortage in America.

Judging from the amount of franked postage matter that comes to this office, that is of no use to us or anybody else, the postoffice department will soon be facing another shortage. We had a boy working for us a few years ago, that asked us if the farmers were the only ones that had to pay postage. If he was here now, we would tell him yes, as about all the other fellows had government jobs, advising the farmers how to farm.

Sugar certificates no longer will be issued by the food administration. The order, which goes into effect December 1, is the result of congestion of sugar in the beet and Louisiana cane producing districts.

"This means that manufacturers of all kinds, public eating places, bakers, retailers and the individual consumer may buy and use sugar without restrictions, always avoiding extravagance and hoarding," says Frank S. Pool, sugar division representative of the federal food administration for Minnesota.

There seems to be a certain class of people, that seem to regret that the war is over, and want to continue food restrictions for private gain. When you strike an eating house that is pinching you for a little sugar for your tea or coffee, just consider that the proprietor is trying [illegible] by starving you out [illegible]

IN HONOR OF DR. VAN DYKE

Costly Organ Installed by Grateful Associates in Church of Which Noted Man Was Pastor.

A new pipe organ has been installed in the Brick Presbyterian church, Fifth avenue and Thirty-seventh street, New York, "in gratitude for the ministry of Henry Van Dyke." Doctor Van Dyke, who was until recently American ambassador to the Netherlands, was for more than twenty years pastor of this church.

The new organ, which is one of the most complete and is today perhaps the most modern church organ in the United States, is a four-manual instrument of 120 stops and 6,000 pipes, with electric action. It is really a combination of six organs—great organ, swell organ, choir organ, solo organ and echo organ. The installation includes also a set of chimes. The echo organ and chimes will be placed above the ceiling at the rear of the church, over the apse. The other parts of the combination are inclosed, each in its own swell box, and all in one general swell box, placed in the choir gallery over the front entrance to the church. Though the new organ is considerably larger than the one which it replaces, no architectural change is evident, much of the instrument being concealed behind the walls. E. M. Skinner of Boston is the builder of the new organ, which has been under construction since the summer of 1917.

It is understood that the organ cost in the neighborhood of $35,000. The fund was contributed by members of the congregation as a tribute to their old pastor, under whose leadership the worship of the Brick church was greatly enriched and beautified.

WROTE MESSAGES WITH DYE

Material for Invisible Writing Used by German Spy Was Obtained From Silk Hosiery.

A cleverly designed method of outwitting the government officials and furnishing information to the enemy was revealed in the early days of the war by the arrest of a man in Paterson, N. J., by naval intelligence officers.

The man, held as an alleged spy in a jail in Brooklyn, is said to have come from Holland and to have been employed in a silk dyeing establishment in Paterson. His unique method of sending messages to Germany called for the use of silk hosiery of a peculiar dye. It is said that he had received a dozen pairs of these socks from German agents in Holland and that his method was to soak them in water and use the coloring matter which they gave forth as a writing fluid. As this dried it became invisible until brought out by a special process, which, however, the federal agents are said to have worked out.

They, in turn, in learning the secret, opened his letters and changed the contents and forwarded the letters. The information thus received by the Germans proved of little use to them.

But for a long time, it is said, there was not enough evidence on which to convict this man, until one day through carelessness he left one of the socks where a naval intelligence officer found it. When confronted with this the man is said to have confessed to the entire project.

Y. M. C. A. in Italy.

The Y. M. C. A. in Italy, as everywhere else, has asserted itself in a most splendid and generous manner. While the red triangle, known the world over as the sign of brotherhood, is much in evidence in the Italian war zone, the four letters "Y. M. C. A." are nowhere to be seen. The reason given for this is that the Italians, in general, are opposed to any organization of a public nature which is controlled by a religious or sectarian element, a Washington bulletin says. Such a title as that of the Y. M. C. A. would create a certain feeling of mistrust among the Italian people as to the purposes of the association.

The officers of the Y. M. C. A. in Italy have been quick to appreciate this and in order to work in full harmony with the Italians have changed the name of the association to "Societa di Fratellanza Universale," or "Society of Universal Brotherhood." Accordingly, the letters S. F. U. have everywhere been substituted for Y. M. C. A.

U. S. HEALTH SERVICE ISSUES WARNING

Increase in All Respiratory Diseases After the Influenza Epidemic Probable.

Influenza Expected to Lurk for Months—How to Guard Against Pneumonia—Common Colds Highly Catching—Importance of Suitable Clothing—Could Save 100,000 Lives.

Washington, D. C.—With the subsidence of the epidemic of influenza the attention of health officers is directed to pneumonia, bronchitis and other diseases of the respiratory system which regularly cause a large number of deaths, especially during the winter season. According to Rupert Blue, Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service, these diseases will be especially prevalent this winter unless the people are particularly careful to obey health instructions.

"The present epidemic," said Surgeon General Blue, "has taught by bitter experience how readily a condition beginning apparently as a slight cold may go on to pneumonia and death. Although the worst of the epidemic is over, there will continue to be a large number of scattered cases, many of them mild and unrecognized, which will be danger spots to be guarded against." The Surgeon General likened the present situation to that after a great fire, saying, "No fire chief who understands his business stops playing the hose on the charred debris as soon as the flames and visible fire have disappeared. On the contrary, he continues the water for hours and even days, for he knows that there is danger of the fire rekindling from smoldering embers."

"Then you fear another outbreak of influenza?" he was asked. "Not necessarily another large epidemic," said the Surgeon General, "but unless the people learn to realize the seriousness of the danger they will be compelled to pay a heavy death toll from pneumonia and other respiratory diseases.

Common Colds Highly Catching.

"It is encouraging to observe that people are beginning to learn that ordinary coughs and colds are highly catching and are spread from person to person by means of droplets of germ laden mucus. Such droplets are sprayed into the air when careless or ignorant people cough or sneeze without covering their mouth and nose. It is also good to know that people have learned something about the value of fresh air. In summer, when people are largely out of doors, the respiratory diseases (coughs, colds, pneumonia, etc.) are infrequent; in the fall, as people begin to remain indoors, the respiratory diseases increase; in the winter, when people are prone to stay in badly ventilated, overheated rooms, the respiratory diseases become very prevalent.

Suitable Clothing Important.

"Still another factor in the production of colds, pneumonia and other respiratory diseases is carelessness or ignorance of the people regarding suitable clothing during the seasons when the weather suddenly changes, sitting in warm rooms too heavily dressed or, what is even more common, especially among women, dressing so lightly that windows are kept closed in order to be comfortably warm. This is a very injurious practice.

Could Save 100,000 Lives.

"I believe we could easily save one hundred thousand lives annually in the United States [illegible] would adopt the system of fresh air living followed, for example, in tuberculosis sanatoria. There is nothing mysterious about it—no specific medicine, no vaccine. The important thing is right living, good food and plenty of fresh air.

Droplet Infection Explained in Pictures.

"The Bureau of Public Health, Treasury Department, has just issued a striking poster drawn by Berryman, the well-known Washington cartoonist. The poster exemplifies the modern method of health education. A few years ago, under similar circumstances, the health authorities would have issued an official dry but scientifically accurate bulletin teaching the role of droplet infection in the spread of respiratory diseases. The only ones who would have understood the bulletin would have been those who already knew all about the subject. The man in the street, the plain citizen and the many millions who toil for their living would have had no time and no desire to wade through the technical phraseology."

EPIGRAPHS PROVE A PUZZLE

Explanation of Hieroglyphics Admittedly Very Old Will Surely Be of the Greatest Interest.

Amateur archeologists of California are endeavoring to interest professional scientists of the East in the epigraphs which abound on the rocks of Round Valley, not far from the city of Bishop, and which are believed to be as old, if not older, than the hieroglyphics of earliest Egypt, to which they bear a strange resemblance.

It is believed by many that the strange markings constituted the names by which ancient tribes marked the source of water supply for the benefit of those of their number who lived roving lives.

These hieroglyphics have never been deciphered, although they are matters of record in the leading museums of the country, it is said. The Indian tribes now living in the vicinity declare they are the work of the Indians of North America and that they antedate all aboriginal lore.

Some who have examined the strange markings in the flinty bowlders say the heiroglyphics closely resemble those of earliest Egypt and may replace the latter as the first written language of humanity.

They are found always in the vicinity of water supplies, the same markings discovered near Bishop appearing also on rocks extending through the Canadian border down through Washington, Oregon and California to the Mexican line and beyond. This fact, it is argued, indicates that prehistoric tribes marked a highway for their migrating members or for their armies, giving specific directions as to the best [illegible]

WAR DEMAND FOR PLATINUM

Is Essential in Production of Sulphuric Acid, Indispensable in Manufacture of Explosives.

Two universally known products—one a rare metal, the other a common acid—have lately assumed importance that is mystifying to the laity. Platinum has become virtually the king of metals, and sulphuric acid the king of chemicals. The reasons for this are most simple. Platinum is obtained chiefly from the Ural mountains. Owing to chaotic conditions in Russia, little of it is being mined. It is absolutely essential in the manufacture of sulphuric acid. Without a small amount of it being present, oxygen, water and sulphur dioxide will not unite chemically. Sulphuric acid, on the other hand, was probably the most indispensable product used in the prosecution of the war. Its tremendous affinity for water made it vitally important in the manufacture of high explosives. For instance, one obtains a fairly harmless liquid by mixing glycerin and nitric acid. If sulphuric acid is added, it combines the two chemically by taking an atom of hydrogen and one of oxygen from the nitric acid, an atom of hydrogen from the glycerin, forming water, and taking it unto itself. One then has nitroglycerin. In a similar manner sulphuric acid is needed for the manufacture of guncotton and TNT. Thus we had the peculiar cycle of circumstances that made it unpatriotic for an American to have in his possession more than an ounce of platinum in the form of jewelry. Incidentally, however, there is said to be good reason for the belief that a very large proportion of the so-called platinum in modern jewelry is composed wholly or at least in part of cheaper metals.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Hereditary Hay Fever.

Dr. W. Scheppegrell, president o the American Hay Fever Preventio association, has recently made an analysis of 415 cases treated in the hay fever clinic of the Charity Hospital a New Orleans and elsewhere in tha city in order to determine the influence of heredity on this disease. He finds that in more than one-third o the cases the patients had a father mother, brother or sister who was victim of the disease. Probably the influence of heredity is even greate than indicated by these figures, as specific susceptibility may exist indefinitely without developing hay fever, by reason of insufficient exposure to the pollens that cause the malady. The question of the development of a natural immunity from continued exposure to the specific pollens is, says Doctor Scheppegrell, a difficult one to settle, on account of the difficulty of eliminating the question of decreased exposure.—Scientific American.

Japan Larger Than Germany.

In the World's Work there is a char which shows a comparison of German and the Japanese empire. Japan the greater of the two both in territor and population. Germany's area (exclusive of colonies) is 208,780 squar miles, while that of Japanese empir is 260,738 square miles. This include the peninsula of Korea, which is part of the Japanese nation, but does not include Manchurian and other Asiatic territory in which Japa has secured ninety-nine-year leases ports and railroads as well as bu ness advantages of all sorts and mi ing rights. Germany's population the beginning of the great war w about 67,000,000. There are now 000,000 people living under the Ja nese flag, and there are also gr numbers of them scattered over islands of the Pacific and in for countries.

The man, held as an alleged spy in a jail in Brooklyn, is said to have come from Holland and to have been employed in a silk dyeing establishment in Paterson. His unique method of sending messages to Germany called for the use of silk hosiery of a peculiar dye. It is said that he had received a dozen pairs of these socks from German agents in Holland and that his method was to soak them in water and use the coloring matter which they gave forth as a writing fluid. As this dried it became invisible until brought out by a special process, which, however, the federal agents are said to have worked out.

They, in turn, in learning the secret, opened his letters and changed the contents and forwarded the letters. The information thus received by the Germans proved of little use to them.

But for a long time, it is said, there was not enough evidence on which to convict this man, until one day through carelessness he left one of the socks where a naval intelligence officer found it. When confronted with this the man is said to have confessed to the entire project.

Y. M. C. A. in Italy.

The Y. M. C. A. in Italy, as everywhere else, has asserted itself in a most splendid and generous manner. While the red triangle, known the world over as the sign of brotherhood, is much in evidence in the Italian war zone, the four letters "Y. M. C. A." are nowhere to be seen. The reason given for this is that the Italians, in general, are opposed to any organization of a public nature which is controlled by a religious or sectarian element, a Washington bulletin says. Such a title as that of the Y. M. C. A. would create a certain feeling of mistrust among the Italian people as to the purposes of the association.

The officers of the Y. M. C. A. in Italy have been quick to appreciate this and in order to work in full harmony with the Italians have changed the name of the association to "Societa (di) Fratellanza Universale," or "Society of Universal Brotherhood." Accordingly, the letters "S. F. U." have everywhere been substituted for Y. M. C. A.

U. S. HEALTH SERVICE ISSUES WARNING

Increase in All Respiratory Diseases After the Influenza Epidemic Probable.

Influenza Expected to Lurk for Months—How to Guard Against Pneumonia—Common Colds Highly Catching—Importance of Suitable Clothing—Could Save 100,000 Lives.

Washington, D. C.—With the subsidence of the epidemic of influenza the attention of health officers is directed to pneumonia, bronchitis and other diseases of the respiratory system which regularly cause a large number of deaths, especially during the winter season. According to Rupert Blue, Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service, these diseases will be especially prevalent this winter unless the people are particularly careful to obey health instructions.

"The present epidemic," said Surgeon General Blue, "has taught by bitter experience how readily a condition beginning apparently as a slight cold may go on to pneumonia and death. Although the worst of the epidemic is over, there will continue to be a large number of scattered cases, many of them mild and unrecognized, which will be danger spots to be guarded against." The Surgeon General likened the present situation to that after a great fire, saying, "No fire chief who understands his business stops playing the hose on the charred debris as soon as the flames and visible fire have disappeared. On the contrary, he continues the water for hours and even days, for he knows that there is danger of the fire rekindling from smoldering embers."

"Then you fear another outbreak of influenza?" he was asked. "Not necessarily another large epidemic," said the Surgeon General, "but unless the people learn to realize the seriousness of the danger they will be compelled to pay a heavy death toll from pneumonia and other respiratory diseases.

Common Colds Highly Catching.

"It is encouraging to observe that people are beginning to learn that ordinary coughs and colds are highly catching and are spread from person to person by means of droplets of germ laden mucus. Such droplets are sprayed into the air when careless or ignorant people cough or sneeze without covering their mouth and nose. It is also good to know that people have learned something about the value of fresh air. In summer, when people are largely out of doors, the respiratory diseases (coughs, colds, pneumonia, etc.) are infrequent; in the fall, as people begin to remain indoors, the respiratory diseases increase; in the winter, when people are prone to stay in badly ventilated, overheated rooms, the respiratory diseases become very prevalent.

Suitable Clothing Important.

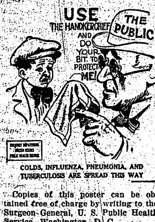
"Still another factor in the production of colds, pneumonia and other respiratory diseases is carelessness or ignorance of the people regarding suitable clothing during the seasons when the weather suddenly changes, sitting in warm rooms too heavily dressed or, what is even more common, especially among women, dressing so lightly that windows are kept closed in order to be comfortably warm. This is a very injurious practice.

Could Save 100,000 Lives.

"I believe we could easily save one hundred thousand lives annually in the United States if all the people would adopt the system of fresh air living followed, for example, in tuberculosis sanatoria. There is nothing mysterious about it—no specific medicine, no vaccine. The important thing is right living, good food and plenty of fresh air.

Droplet Infection Explained in Pictures.

"The Bureau of Public Health, Treasury Department, has just issued a striking poster drawn by Berryman, the well-known Washington cartoonist. The poster exemplifies the modern method of health education. A few years ago, under similar circumstances, the health authorities would have issued an official dry but scientifically accurate bulletin teaching the role of droplet infection in the spread of respiratory diseases. The only ones who would have understood the bulletin would have been those who already knew all about the subject. The man in the street, the plain citizen and the many millions who toil for their living would have had no time and no desire to wade through the technical phraseology."



COLDS, INFLUENZA, PNEUMONIA, AND TUBERCULOSIS ARE SPREAD THIS WAY

Copies of this poster can be obtained free of charge by writing to the Surgeon General, U. S. Public Health Service, Washington, D. C.

EPIGRAPHS PROVE A PUZZLE

Explanation of Hieroglyphics Admittedly Very Old Will Surely Be of the Greatest Interest.

Amateur archeologists of California are endeavoring to interest professional scientists of the East in the epigraphs which abound on the rocks of Round Valley, not far from the city of Bishop, and which are believed to be as old, if not older, than the hieroglyphics of earliest Egypt, to which they bear a strange resemblance.

It is believed by many that the strange markings constituted the names by which ancient tribes marked the source of water supply for the benefit of those of their number who lived roving lives.

These hieroglyphics have never been deciphered, although they are matters of record in the leading museums of the country, it is said. The Indian tribes now living in the vicinity declare they are the work of the Indians of North America and that they antedate all aboriginal lore.

Some who have examined the strange markings in the flinty bowlders say the heiroglyphics closely resemble those of earliest Egypt and may replace the latter as the first written language of humanity.

They are found always in the vicinity of water supplies, the same markings discovered near Bishop appearing also on rocks extending through the Canadian border, down through Washington, Oregon and California, to the Mexican line and beyond. This fact, it is argued, indicates that prehistoric tribes marked a highway for their migrating members or for their armies, giving specific directions as to the best water supplies along the way.

WAR DEMAND FOR PLATINUM

Is Essential in Production of Sulphuric Acid, Indispensable in Manufacture of Explosives.

Two universally known products—one a rare metal, the other a common acid—have lately assumed importance that is mystifying to the laity. Platinum has become virtually the king of metals, and sulphuric acid the king of chemicals. The reasons for this are most simple. Platinum is obtained chiefly from the Ural mountains. Owing to chaotic conditions in Russia, little of it is being mined. It is absolutely essential in the manufacture of sulphuric acid. Without a small amount of it being present, oxygen, water and sulphur dioxide will not unite chemically. Sulphuric acid, on the other hand, was probably the most indispensable product used in the prosecution of the war. Its tremendous affinity for water made it vitally important in the manufacture of high explosives. For instance, one obtains a fairly harmless liquid by mixing glycerin and nitric acid. If sulphuric acid is added, it combines the two chemically by taking an atom of hydrogen and one of oxygen from the nitric acid, an atom of hydrogen from the glycerin, forming water, and taking it unto itself. One then has nitroglycerin. In a similar manner sulphuric acid is needed for the manufacture of guncotton and TNT. Thus we had the peculiar cycle of circumstances that made it unpatriotic for an American to have in his possession more than an ounce of platinum in the form of jewelry. Incidentally, however, there is said to be good reason for the belief that a very large proportion of the so-called platinum in modern jewelry is composed wholly or at least in part of cheaper metals.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Hereditary Hay Fever.

Dr. W. Scheppegrell, president of the American Hay Fever Prevention association, has recently made an analysis of 415 cases treated in the hay fever clinic of the Charity Hospital at New Orleans and elsewhere in that city in order to determine the influence of heredity on this disease. He finds that in more than one-third of the cases the patients had a father, mother, brother or sister who was a victim of the disease. Probably the influence of heredity is even greate than indicated by these figures, as spe cific susceptibility may exist indefi nitely without developing hay fever, by reason of insufficient exposure to th pollens that cause the malady. Th question of the development of a nat ural immunity from continued expos ure to the specific pollens is, says Doc tor Scheppegrell, a difficult one to set tle, on account of the difficulty of elim inating the question of decreased ex posure.—Scientific American.

Japan Larger Than Germany.

In the World's Work there is a char which shows a comparison of German and the Japanese empire. Japan i the greater of the two both in territor and population. Germany's area (ex clusive of colonies) is 208,780 squar miles, while that of Japanese empir is 260,738 square miles. This include the peninsula of Korea, which is part of the Japanese nation, but does not include Manchurian and oth er Asiatic territory in which Japa has secured ninety-nine-year leases ports and railroads as well as bus ness advantages of all sorts and mi ing rights. Germany's population the beginning of the great war wa about 67,000,000. There are now 7 000,000 people living under the Ja nese flag, and there are also gre numbers of them scattered over th islands of the Pacific and in forei countries.

THE JOY OF MOTHERHOOD

Came to this Woman after Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Restore Her Health

Ellensburg, Wash.—"After I was married I was not well for a long time and a good deal of the time was not able to go about. Our greatest desire was to have a child in our home and one day my husband came back from town with a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and wanted me to try it. It brought relief from my troubles. I improved in health so I could do my housework; we now have a little one, all of which I owe to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. O. S. JOHNSON, R. No. 3, Ellensburg, Wash.

There are women everywhere who long for children in their homes yet are denied this happiness on account of some functional disorder which in most cases would readily yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Such women should not give up hope until they have given this wonderful medicine a trial, and for special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of 40 years experience is at your service.

FREE LIBRARIES IN ITALY

Society Which Promotes Such Institutions Has Made a Record It May Well Be Proud Of.

The federation for the promotion of free libraries in Italy has to its credit the establishment of more than 2,000 libraries since the year of its first national convention in Rome in 1908 up to the present.

The federation is modeled after the Society of Milan for Popular Libraries, and has as its aims the promotion of circulating libraries of every description, and their management, and the organization of a speedy center, so that the federated libraries may buy supplies at cost.

It publishes manuals, guides, catalogues, etc., for the various types of libraries; publishes a federal periodical to be distributed free; has established a service for supplies which includes subscriptions at reduced rates, and the printing of catalogues, cards, etc., at cost; has established a federal bindery, an office for technical advice on library management and is planning for the direct production of books.

Houses for soldiers with libraries were established in the Italian war zones by the federation in collaboration with the minister of studies. These diminutive libraries were found more effective than the system formerly in vogue of sending books individually to the soldiers.

NEWS OF STATE TERSELY TOLD

Recent Happenings In Minnesota Given In Brief Items For Busy Readers

Pine River.—Supt. Watschke announces that the Pine River school will reopen on Monday, Dec. 2, and that there will be no Christmas or Easter vacations.

Red Lake Falls.—Seventeen carloads of live stock were shipped from this city in three weeks, showing that Red Lake county is fast becoming an important stock-raising center.

Stillwater.—Because of the prevalence of influenza at the Minnesota State Prison, the Washington county grand jury, in session in Stillwater, decided not to make an investigation of the institution.

Minneapolis.—Believing that the name was a disgrace, the citizens of the town that used to be called New Germany have changed its name to Motordale. Motordale is on the Great Northern railroad, east of Hutchinson.

Red Lake Falls.—After a month's illness of influenza-pneumonia, Rev. Father James John Hawkes, since last month pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church here, died, aged 31, being the second Red Lake county priest to die of the epidemic within a month, and of the other three priests, Rev. E. J. Lemire of this city is recovering.

Red Lake Falls.—The Red Lake county board has established a county road five miles in length in Gervais and River townships, running through the Pennington county line, which opens up considerable country and will make the territory easier of access to the county seat. Of the sixteen land owners along the way, all but one favored the road and were allowed no damages by the reviewing committee of the county board.

Minneapolis.—There will be no need for reimposing lightless nights in Minnesota, Judge John F. McGee, Minnesota fuel administrator, said on his return from a conference with fuel administration officials at Washington. Judge McGee's statement followed that made by Dr. H. A. Garfield, national fuel administrator, that lights might burn again unless state administrators had some special reason for restrictions.

Hibbing.—The destruction by fire of hundreds of tons of hay in pasture lands, considered the best in the state, has set the price of hay on the Mesaba range to soaring heights, according to Con Kepple, local feed dealer. The forest fires licked up many tons of hay which normally would find a market on the range, and feed dealers are forced to again import hay from Michigan and Wisconsin. The transportation costs add to the consumer's price in Hibbing.

Brainerd.—Cod Kimball, a farmer, declares onions saved his family from the influenza and next year proposes to put in ten acres to guard against a recurrence of the epidemic. Far from a doctor, with the disease all around the farm, the Kimball family, consisting of the father, mother and two children, luxuriated in onion poultices, onion broth, onion syrup, fried onions, baked onions, boiled onions. They were all saved. And now Cod takes off his hat every time he sees an onion.

Hibbing.—Hibbing's library on wheels, purchased by the township of Stuntz at a cost of over $6,000, has arrived. The car was made by the White company. It has shelves for hundreds of volumes of books, has its own heating and lighting systems, has space for readers in the rear and is modern in every respect. It will be used by the library for distribution of books in the locations. Some of the locations to be visited will be the Mahoning, Stevenson, Kittzville and Brooklyn.

Stillwater.—The funeral of Mrs. Margarette Anderson, wife of Olaus, also known as Olavus Anderson, who was mysteriously murdered at her home a few miles from the village of Forest Lake Nov. 18 by being shot through a kitchen window, was held from her late residence. "No trace of the party who killed Mrs. Anderson has been found," said Sheriff T. H. Maher. "The case is as great a mystery as it was when the body was found by her husband lying on the kitchen floor in a pool of blood."

St. Paul.—Since its first loan was made in July, 1917, the Federal Land bank of this district has extended aid to the farmers of Minnesota and the immediate Northwest to the total amount of $19,773,300. For October this year $1,053,500 was loaned. The average loan is $2,000, so that approximately 10,000 farmers have been aided. Between 50 and 60 per cent of the money was used to retire previous indebtedness and the balance was for the three other purposes on which loans may be made, namely, the opening of land for agricultural purposes, purchase of farm equipment, livestock, etc., and for construction and extension of farm buildings.

Brainerd.—Brainerd will have to make provision for the paying of $10,000 to Arnold Kalland, who suffered a broken back when his automobile was wrecked on a faulty street and bridge. A verdict was obtained against the city for the amount on account of alleged negligence in not properly safeguarding the street and bridge when the case was tried before Judge C. W. Stanton June 17, 1917. A new trial was denied and the state supreme court has just affirmed the verdict. It is believed to be the largest verdict against a municipality in [illegible]

Duluth.—Clarence Anderson, [illegible] years old, of Duluth, is dead as the result of a hunting accident, which according to the police occurred near Two Harbors.

St. Cloud.—The cold has frozen over the Mississippi river for the first time this year. This is a later date than in 1917, when an early cold spell covered it on Oct. 30.

Staples.—The front of a local pool hall was painted yellow because the owned did not close up his place of business on Victory day and help to celebrate the end of the war.

Hibbing.—Joseph Chatich was arrested here by Indian agents, charged with importing liquor into dry territory. Fifteen quarts of whisky were found in his possession, the police charge.

Rochester.—A. C. Gooding of Rochester, former state treasurer, senator elect from Olmsted county and a banker of prominence in Southern Minnesota, is seriously ill at his home in this city.

Keewatin.—M. Harrison of Stevenson, while here Monday, related a thrilling experience he had while hunting, when he encountered a she bear and three cubs. He opened fire and killed all four.

Hibbing.—The twelfth gold star was added to city service flag with the announcement of the death in action on October 31 of John E. Kalahar, aged 24, who left Hibbing to train at Camp Dodge, April 26.

Shakopee.—The action commenced against William F. Tobin, a St. Paul broker who was charged with selling valueless oil stock to the Rev. Van Boersch, a Catholic priest of this city, has been dismissed.

Red Wing.—A baby boy, about 2 months old, was found by W. W. Conley, conductor on the Milwaukee road coast train. A note reading "this is a war baby; born in North Dakota," was attached to the clothing of the infant.

Thief River Falls.—The city council has decided that the Commercial club must pay its electric light bill the same as anyone else. The club is now about $50 behind and the illumination will be shut off unless the cash is forthcoming.

Detroit.—Four cars of potatoes have been shipped through the local farm bureau to consumers in Kansas this fall. The shippers received from 20 to 35 cents per hundred above market price here. More will be shipped this year.

East Grand Forks.—Hard coal in small quantities is beginning to arrive in the city. A local firm received two carloads. It is being given out in lots not to exceed one ton to the customer. Other dealers have notice that some hard coal is in transit.

Fergus Falls.—The "flu" epidemic is still serious in this city and the closing order of Mayor G. W. Frankberg is still in force. There has been a clash between the mayor and Dr. J. G. Vigen, health officer, who attempted to countermand the closing order.

Two Harbors.—An organization called the Lake County Potato Growers' association was formed at a meeting held here. The purpose of the organization is to help farmers in marketing their potatoes and to standardize the potato crop of this county.

St. Paul.—State Auditor J. A. O. Preus announces dates for a series of county sales of timber on state-owned land: Dec. 18, International Falls; Dec. 17, Two Harbors and Duluth, and Dec. 18 at Grand Rapids and Bemidji. All lots of timber on about 120 tracts of state land will be offered for sale.

Little Falls.—Clayton Bennett, arrested in St. Paul as one of a gang selling opium and other "dope," was identified by Hubert Friesinger as the man who broke into a local doctor's office about three years ago and stole some drugs. He went to the penitentiary from Little Falls and it was thought he had been cured of the habit when released.

St. Paul.—Hearings on the applications of the Tri-State Telephone & Telegraph and Northwestern (Bell) Telephone companies for permission to increase charges for telephone service in Minnesota are being held before the state railroad and warehouse commission. Delegates from twelve cities in the state met and decided to vigorously oppose the proposed rate increase.

Moose Lake.—Need for state troops in the fire-burned district having gone the men who have been patrolling this section are being withdrawn, according to Maj. H. L. Brady, Federal property and disbursing officer. Mankato men of the Fifth hospital corps left and nearly all of the Fourth infantry have returned to Minneapolis, leaving Capt. H. L. Tourtelotte of Duluth and a small detail from the headquarters department to pack and ship equipment to St. Paul.

Stillwater.—Mrs. Mary Johnson, mother of Miss Myrtle I. Johnson of Stillwater, who was killed in an automobile accident a year ago while riding with Harold Smith, was given a verdict for $2,250 against Smith and his father, Swan Smith, by the jury which heard the case in Judge F. N. Dickson's court. Mrs. Johnson brought suit against the father and son for $7,500, based on alleged recklessness in driving the automobile on the part of young Smith. The mother lives at White Bear.

Stillwater.—In addition to the $21,025.10 now deposited with the banks of the city derived from the ten market days held in all of the towns and villages of Washington county, it is expected that the donations made by the farmers of the county to the Washington county Red Cross society will be augmented by an additional $2,500.

Crookston.—A call has been issued for directors of the newly organized Red River Valley Livestock Exhibitors' association to meet here to plan for completing the canvass for subscriptions for the livestock building [illegible] Armory.

TROOPS ARRIVE ON MAURETANIA

Big Steamer Reaches New York With Many Americans On Board.

GIVEN NOISY WELCOME

Mayor's Reception Committee Sails Down Bay On Police Department Boat and Members Are Allowed On Transport.

New York, Dec. 2.—The large British steamship Mauretania, returning to the United States with the first large body of American overseas troops, has anchored in Gravesend bay. The liner probably will dock at Hoboken.

The navy tug, it was reported, had been ordered to meet the Mauretania to bring ashore Admiral Henry T. Mayo, commander of the Atlantic fleet, who was returning from England as a passenger. The army tug, it was said, had orders to bring ashore an army officer of high rank.

Aboard the Mauretania, as announced recently by General March, chief of staff, are several thousand members of the air service, who were stationed in England. The ship also carries a number of casuals.

According to a recent announcement by Brigadier General G. H. McManus, embarkation officer at this port, to safeguard public health, the soldiers were to be taken directly to demobilization camps for physical examination. Barracks at Camp Mills have been prepared for their reception.

Mayor John F. Hylan telegraphed Secretary Baker asking that troops aboard the Mauretania be permitted to parade up Fifth avenue. Permission also was asked to give a dinner in honor of returning officers.

Committee Welcomes Men.

The mayor's committee of welcome made a trip down the bay on the flagship of the police department fleet and circled the Mauretania. Members of the party were not at first allowed to board the transport and so they used megaphones and wireless apparatus to convey the greetings of New York to the returned soldiers, but later a gang plank was shoved out and the civilians scrambled aboard.

As the police boat's searchlight played on the Mauretania's decks, men and officers could be seen, crowding to the rail, as they shouted greetings in return.

When members of the party accepted an invitation to "come aboard," they were deluged with requests "to phone mother and let her know I'm here," "to mail this letter to my girl," and to perform similar services.

More Transports Sail.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Notice was received by the War department of the sailing from Liverpool on Nov. 29 of the steamer Ascanius for New York, with 47 officers and 1,427 men, and the steamer Canopic for Boston with 54 officers and 1,067 men.

All on both steamers are aero units except a few casualties and unattached officers.

CONSIDER DATE TOO EARLY

German Socialists Object to Election On Feb. 16.

Berlin, Dec. 2.—In the opinion of the majority Socialists and the Bourgeois, according to Die Freiheit, the date, Feb. 16, fixed by the Council of Peoples' Commissioners for holding an election to the constituent assembly is too early. It is maintained that more time is needed to put into effect a pure Socialistic policy.

The Independent Socialists have stated that the threatened separation of the Rhine province and Bavaria makes it imperative that an early election be held.

TO INTERN GERMAN TROOPS

Hungary Yields to Demands of French Government.

Copenhagen, Dec. 2.—The Hungarian government has decided to intern the whole of Field Marshal von Mackensen's army of 170,000, in accordance with the demand of the French government, it is reported from Budapest by way of Berlin. Von Mackensen has declared he would yield to the decision.

CASE IN COURTS 16 YEARS

Chicago Judge Dismisses Murder Charge Against Man.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—After pending for sixteen years in the criminal court, the charge of murder against Victor Roland O'Shea, tried three times for the slaying of his wife, Amy Hoganson, was stricken from the docket by Judge Kavanagh and the defendant walked from the court a free man.

Soldiers' Relatives Barred.

New York, Dec. 2.—Relatives and friends of the first American troops now returning from England will not be permitted to meet the transports when they reach Hoboken. While accredited newspapermen may board the ships, the public will not be allowed on the piers, first, because of the congestion that would result and, second, because of a desire to safeguard public health by making possible a physical examination of the soldiers before they are welcomed by their relatives.

WILL REPRESENT UNITED STATES

President Wilson Appoints Delegates to Peace Conference in Europe.

TO HEAD DELEGATION

President Wilson Will Sit at Table With Robert Lansing, Henry White, E. M. House and Gen. Tasker H. Bliss.

Washington, Dec. 2.—The American delegation to the peace conference will be led personally by President Wilson.

This was announced officially at the White House.

The representatives of the United States at the peace conference will be:

President Wilson, Robert Lansing, secretary of state; Henry White, former ambassador to France and Italy; E. M. House, Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, representative of the American army with the supreme war council at Versailles.

White House Makes Announcement.

This anouncement was made at the White House. In the absence of any official explanation it was assumed that the President goes as President of the United States and that Secretary Lansing, Mr. White and Colonel House and possibly also General Bliss will be delegates with ambassadorial rank.

It was recalled that the President's announcement that he would "go to France for the purpose of taking part in the discussion and settlement of the main features of the treaty of peace," said that it was not likely that he could remain throughout the sessions of the peace conference and that he would be "accompanied by delegates who will sit as the representatives of the United States throughout the conference."

Text of Statement.

The White House announcement follows:

"It was announced at the executive offices that the representatives of the United States at the peace conferences would be President Wilson himself, the secretary of state, the Hon. Henry White, recently ambassador to France, Mr. Edward M. House and General Tasker H. Bliss.

"It was explained that it had not been possible to announce these appointments before because the number of representatives each of the chief belligerents was to send had until a day or two ago been under discussion."

White House officials would add nothing to the formal statement, and no one professing to be in the confidence of the President would talk. There was only one surprise in the statement—the appearance of the name of General Bliss as one of the representatives.

It had been taken for granted that the general military representative of the United States on the supreme war council would take part in the discussions at Versailles, but the general idea had been he would be attached to the delegation in a military capacity just as Admiral Benson probably will be present as spokesman for the navy in the great naval problems to be solved.

EFFICIENCY TESTS FOR MEN

Soldiers Will Be Given New Business Chances.

New York, Dec. 2.—Announcement that the army educational bureau will establish efficiency tests of soldiers about to be mustered out of service and desirous of entering lines of business other than those they followed before the war was made here by Sherwin Cody, managing director of the National Associated Schools of Scientific Business.

FEW SHILLINGS FOR GIRLS

Condition of Women in Asiatic Turkey Is Deplorable.

Geneva, Dec. 2.—An officer who has arrived here from Aleppo describes the condition of women throughout Turkey, and especially Asiatic Turkey, as deplorable. Husbands are deserting their wives and girls are being sold for a few shillings.

ACCUSES KAISER OF MURDER

Widow of Submarine Victim Files Complaint in Court.

Paris, Dec. 2.—Madame Prieur, widow of one of the victims of the torpedoing of the Sussex by a German submarine, has lodged a complaint of murder in the courts against the former German emperor.

"Liberty Fuel" Is Cheap.

Washington, Dec. 2.—"Liberty fuel," vastly cheaper than gasoline and possessing many advantages over that product, has been invented by officers of the War department and is now being produced in large quantities, is was asserted.

The fuel is the result of more than five months experiments conducted by Maj. O. B. Zimmerman and Capt. L. C. Weinberger of the research and developments of the general engineering depot here. Kerosene is the base of the new fuel [illegible]

RECEIVING WAR CROSS

The patriotic spirit and devotion with which American women have so far performed war-service work and made sacrifices has never been equalled in the history of any country. Mothers, wives and sisters support this burden with strength and fortitude. But those who are already miserable from the complaints and weaknesses which are so common to women, should take the right tonic for the womanly system.

If a woman is borne down by pain and sufferings at regular or irregular intervals, by nervousness or dizzy spells, by headache or backache, "Favorite Prescription" should be taken. "Favorite Prescription" can now be had in tablet form as well as liquid at most drug stores. Send to Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for a ten-cent trial package of tablets.

For fifty years Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets have been most satisfactory in liver and bowel troubles.

Granite Falls, Minn.—"During one expectant period I had varicose veins which were extremely painful. A couple of bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription toned up my system and I had comparatively no suffering. A couple of years before when one of my children (nursing) had a solid crust of sores on his head I took the 'Golden Medical Discovery' to purify my blood and at the same time gave him a few drops several times a day. In a very short time he was a healthy looking baby and had a fine head of hair."—Mrs. John M. Thompson.

Higher Freight Rates.

"Say, pa," came the voice with the rising inflection, rising for the fiftieth time.

"Well, son?" answered pa's voice.

"Do they have sulphur and brimstone in heaven?"

"I guess not; those commodities are supposed to exist at the other place."

"Gosh, they have to ship it a long way, don't they, pa?"

"What are you talking about, my boy?"

"Well, I heard you say that matches are made in heaven."

SWAMP-ROOT FOR KIDNEY AILMENTS

There is only one medicine that really stands out pre-eminent as a medicine for curable ailments of the kidneys, liver and bladder.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root stands the highest for the reason that it has proven to be just the remedy needed in thousands upon thousands of distressing cases. Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription for special diseases, makes friends quickly because its mild and immediate effect is soon realized in most cases. It is a gentle, healing vegetable compound.

Start treatment at once. Sold at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

Back Feel Achy After Grip?

COLDS and influenza leave thousands with weak kidneys and aching backs. The kidneys have to do most of the work of fighting off a cold or a contagious disease. They weaken—slow up. Then you feel dull and draggy, irritable or nervous, and have headaches, dizzy spells, lame back, backache, sore joints and irregular kidney action. Give the kidneys quick help and avoid serious kidney troubles. Doan's Kidney Pills are always in unusual demand after grip epidemics as so many people have learned their reliability. Doan's are used the world over. They are recommended by your own friends and neighbors.

Personal Reports of Real Cases

A WISCONSIN CASE.

W. H. Chadwick, machinist, 805 McComb Ave., Fort Atkinson, Wis., says: "I caught cold, which settled on my kidneys and I had such sharp pains in the small of my back, I could hardly bend over. Nights I couldn't get much rest. My kidneys didn't act right and the secretions were unnatural. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me from the first and a few boxes took away all the complaint. I praise Doan's every time I have the chance."

A MINNESOTA CASE.

Mrs. H. Damrow, Glencoe, Minn., says: "I took a cold some time ago and it settled in my kidneys. When I bent over it was hard for me to straighten up again. I would become dizzy at such times and black specks appeared before my eyes. I was all run down and mornings I was lame and sore. I always had a nervous headache and my kidneys acted irregularly. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's entirely rid me of the trouble."

WORK OF COUNTY AGENT IN SOUTH

Satisfactory System Has Been Firmly Established in Several States.

PROGRESS HAS BEEN RAPID

Recent Report Shows Status of Development of Organization and Discusses Some of Problems Which Have Been Met.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

That the county-agent plan of carrying agricultural information to the farmer is firmly established as a satisfactory system in 15 southern states is shown in a review by officials of the United States department of agriculture of progress made during the last calendar year. A report of this work recently made public shows the status of this rapidly developing agricultural organization in the South during 1916, and also discusses some of the problems which are being met in the effort to increase this service in accordance with the country's emergency agricultural needs. The confidence of the states in the county-agent plan is shown by the fact that most of the legislatures in the South are making liberal appropriations to aid in its support.

Number of Extension Workers.

There were employed in the 15 southern states during the year 860 regular county agents, 28 assistant county agents, 31 boys' club agents and 66 colored men agents for work among colored people. Each state also has a director of extension and a state agent or assistant director in charge of the work of the county agents. Women engaged in the home-demonstration work numbered 576. Of these 18 are state agents in charge of the work in their respective states, 41 are assistants and district agents, and 513 county women agents and 7 colored home-demonstration agents.

Increase in Community Organizations.

Progress in organizing the county agents' work in the South this year was gratifying, officials of the department of agriculture, say. The last annual report shows the formation of 1,654 community organizations of farmers, with a membership of 44,548. The report for the present year shows an increase to 2,508 organizations with a membership of 78,660. This report does not include co-operative organizations not formed by county agents, even though they gave active support and assistance to the county representative and served in the capacity of a local community organization. Such associations include local granges, farmers' unions and church and civic organizations of varied character. It is estimated that 200,000 farmers are enrolled in all these community organizations which are assisting county agents.

One of Branches of County Agent Work in South Is Interesting Boys in Better Farm Methods.

Since this report was made there has been a great increase in this work. At the present time the total number of agents is approximately 2,200, consisting in part of 980 county agents, 815 county home demonstration agents and 85 negro agents (men) and 70 women.

National Kitchens.

The British bureau of information says 1,000,000 portions of food are sold each day in the 623 national kitchens and restaurants which have been established in London and the English country. All these institutions are of recent development — the communal kitchen being unknown before the war—and British housewives are greatly appreciative of the saving of labor and economy of fuel which results when meals are purchased at the state kitchens. The coming winter, it is surmised, will see a large increase in their number, nearly 200 new schemes having been submitted for approval recently.

GOOD-BYE BACKACHE, KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLES

For centuries all over the world GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has afforded relief in thousands upon thousands of cases of lame back, lumbago, sciatica, rheumatism, gallstones, gravel and all other affections of the kidneys, liver, stomach, bladder and allied organs. It acts quickly. It does the work. It cleanses your kidneys and purifies the blood. It makes a new man, a new woman, of you. It frequently wards off attacks of the dread and fatal diseases of the kidneys. It often completely cures the distressing diseases of the organs of the body allied with the bladder and kidneys. Bloody or cloudy urine, sediment, or "brickdust" indicate an unhealthy condition.

Do not delay a minute if your back aches or you are sore across the loins or have difficulty when urinating. Go to your druggist at once and get a box of imported GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. They are pleasant and easy to take. Each capsule contains about one dose of five drops. Take them just like you would any pill. Take a small swallow of water if you want to. They dissolve in the stomach, and the kidneys soak up the oil like a sponge does water. They thoroughly cleanse and wash out the bladder and kidneys and throw off the inflammation which is the cause of the trouble. They will quickly relieve those stiffened joints, that backache, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, gallstones, gravel, "brickdust," etc. They are an effective remedy for all diseases of the bladder, kidney, liver, stomach and allied organs. Your druggist will cheerfully refund your money if you are not satisfied after a few days' use. Accept only the pure, original GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. None other genuine.—Adv.

As a result of the need of increased production and conservation during the war, a County Farm Bureau was organized in every county in Minnesota. As a result of one year's experience in all counties during the war and several years experience in a few counties, it is felt that the County Farm Bureau idea is worth continuing and developing. Up to date the County Farm Bureau organization has consisted only of men and not nearly a large enough proportion of them. Now it seems desirable to develop the organization to include the women and the young people as well, so that it can be an organization that can truly represent all interests of the Farm and Home,

Prussians Really Huns.

The appellation of Huns, which William II coveted for and himself applied to Prussians, even to the extent of naming one of his sons for the infamous Attila, the Hunnish "Scourge of God," seems really to belong to that people in an ethnological sense. Mr. Levisee, in his "Studies in Prussian History," tells us that the Prussians are "a people belonging to the Lithuanian race mixed with Finnish elements; which would make then kindred with the Huns, Turks and Bulgars. They were of old colonized, Christianized and ousted from their old domain by the famous Knights of the Teutonic Order. The last grand master of that order, Albert of Brandenburg, espoused the reformation, secularized the domains of the order, and made himself hereditary duke of Prussia—that is, Po-Russia, or "Near Russia." It is interesting to recall that the first Hohenzollern duke of Prussia began his historical career as a renegade, a perjurer and a traitor. Truly the Hohenzollern line has been what cattle breeders call "constant to the type!"

Gleaning.

England is delighted, and justly so, with her surprising success at wheat culture, the present home-grown crop of which released many thousand tons of shipping for use elsewhere. Incidentally, also, the home product saved England many millions that normally would have been sent beyond the ocean to Argentina and the United States for breadstuffs. It is now predicted that never again will the "island kingdom" allow her ancient agriculture to fall into evil ways as during the last half century. How well, indeed, the world has learned during the trials and restrictions of war that Mother Earth is a cherishing mother indeed, and that in hours of distress it is to her that man must turn for comfort and succor.

Slang in the Pulpit.

A striking instance of the force of American "slanguage" is afforded in one of America's leading preachers. The speaker, a doctor of divinity, was addressing a Canadian audience on Uncle Sam's efforts. In a 90-minute talk there occurred, among others, these "gems:" "We are on this job to the finish. We are prepared to fight till hell itself freezes over, and if Germany isn't beat then we'll buy skates and get after her on the ice." "This kaiser is the biggest duplex, double-action, high-powered liar in history. He told his people the Americans could never get to France. Waal, he and his people have got another guess coming."

Cement Industry Big.

Statistics of the cement industry in the United States in 1917, prepared by the United States geological survey, indicates that the total shipments of Portland cement from the mills amounted to 90,703,474 barrels valued in bulk at the mills at $122,745,088. This represents a decrease in quantity of 4.1 per cent and an increase in value of 17.8 per cent compared with 1916. The production of Portland cement in 1917 was 92,814,202 barrels, compared with 91,521,198 barrels in 1916, an increase of 1.4 per cent. This production holds the record, the next highest output, 92,097,131 barrels, having been in 1913.

ADVICE TO "FLU" CONVALESCENTS

SPAIN AND ENGLAND REPORT INCREASE IN TUBERCULOSIS AFTER INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC.

U. S. Public Health Service Warns Public Against Tuberculosis. One Million Cases Tuberculosis in United States—Each a Source of Danger.

Influenza Convalescents Should Have Lungs Examined—Colds Which Hang On Often Beginning of Tuberculosis. No Cause for Alarm if Tuberculosis Is Recognized Early—Patent Medicines Not to Be Trusted.

★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★

> Beware tuberculosis after influenza. No need to worry if you take precautions in time.
>
> Don't diagnose your own condition. Have your doctor examine your lungs several times at monthly intervals. Build up your strength with right living, good food and plenty of fresh air.
>
> Don't waste money on patent medicines advertised to cure tuberculosis.
>
> Become a fresh-air crank and enjoy life.

★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★

Washington, D. C.—(Special.)—According to a report made to the United States Public Health Service, the epidemic of influenza in Spain has already caused an increase in the prevalence and deaths from pulmonary tuberculosis. A similar association between influenza and tuberculosis was recently made by Sir Arthur Newsholme, the chief medical officer of the English public health service, in his analysis of the tuberculosis death rate in England.

In order that the people of the United States may profit by the experience of other countries Surgeon General Rupert Blue of the United States Public Health Service has just issued a warning emphasizing the need of special precautions at the present time. "Experience seems to indicate," says the Surgeon General, "that persons whose resistance has been weakened by an attack of influenza are peculiarly susceptible to tuberculosis. With millions of its people recently affected with influenza this country now offers conditions favoring the spread of tuberculosis."

One Million Consumptives in the United States.

"Then you consider this a serious menace?" was asked. "In my opinion it is, though I hasten to add it is distinctly one against which the people can guard. So far as one can estimate there are at present about one million cases of tuberculosis in the United States. There is unfortunately no complete census available to show exactly the number of tuberculosis persons in each state despite the fact that most of the states have made the disease reportable. In New York city, where reporting has been in force for many years, over 35,000 cases of tuberculosis are registered with the Department of Health. Those familiar with the situation believe that the addition of unrecognized and unreported cases would make the number nearer 50,000. The very careful health survey conducted during the past two years in Framingham, Mass., revealed 200 cases of tuberculosis in a population of approximately 15,000. If these proportions hold true for the United States as a whole they would indicate that about one in every hundred persons is tuberculous. Each of these constitutes a source of danger to be guarded against."

What to Do.

In his statement to the public Surgeon General Blue points out how those who have had influenza should protect themselves against tuberculosis. "All who have recovered from influenza," says the Surgeon General, "should have their lungs carefully examined by a competent physician. In fact, it is desirable to have several examinations made a month apart. Such examinations cannot be made through the clothing nor can they be carried out in two or three minutes. If the lungs are found to be free from tuberculosis every effort should be made to keep them so. This can be done by right living, good food and plenty of fresh air."

Danger Signs.

The Surgeon General warned especially against certain danger signs, such as "decline" and "colds which hang on."

These, he explained, were often the beginning of tuberculosis. "If you do not get well promptly, if your cold seems to hang on or your health and strength decline, remember that these are often the early signs of tuberculosis. Place yourself at once under the care of a competent physician. Tuberculosis is curable in the early stages."

Patent Medicines Dangerous in Tuberculosis.

"Above all do not trust in the misleading statements of unscrupulous patent medicine fakers. There is no specific medicine for the cure of tuberculosis. [illegible]

Made at Home Labor-Saving Devices.

In 11 communities of our country in Oregon the women are making home-made driers, home-made fireless cookers and home-made iceless refrigerators under the direction of the home demonstration agents. In connection with this project one woman found that an investment of 50 cents in a dish drainer and a wire dishcloth for pots and pans saved her ten minutes of the time required to do the dishes after each meal, or 30 minutes a day. In a year she figured this time, if accumulated, would give two weeks of 12 hours each of leisure. Was the investment worth while?

Uncomplimentary.

The audacity of a famous writer in his book, "Joan and Peter," is making all who read it—including the victims—chuckle. Nor does "H. G." spare Mr. Wells.

After calling himself a "counter-jumper," he puts this description of his personal appearance into the mouth of one of his characters:

"A heavy hang of hair assisted a cascade mustache to veil a pasty face that was broad rather than long with a sly, conceited expression and rubbed together two large, clammy, white, misshapen hands."

HER SACRIFICE NOT GREAT

Simple Explanation of Four-Star Service Flag That Woman Had So Proudly Displayed.

One day a woman reporter noticed, in the front window of a quaint little cottage, a service flag proudly bearing four stars.

"Ah," thought she, "here's real sacrifice. I guess I'll stop in and get a story."

She could get no response from her persistent knocking, and so she went next door to see what information she could collect in regard to the cottage of the four service stars. Upon ringing the neighbor's bell she was confronted by a rather stout, elderly woman with a merry twinkle in her eye.

"Here," thought the young woman, "is where I get the right side of the story." Then aloud, she said:

"I am a newspaper reporter. Can you tell me something about the people next door. No one seems to be at home, and I noticed there were four stars in their service flag. I wonder who lives there, and if all the boys in the family have enlisted."

The woman smiled a bit and replied: "The lady's name is Miss Harlan. Them stars is not her sons; them's for boarders."—Los Angeles Times.

Entered as Second-class matter August [illegible] 1906, at the post office at Sunbeam, Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

As a result of the need of increased production and conservation during the war, a County Farm Bureau was organized in every county in Minnesota. As a result of one year's experience in all counties during the war and several years experience in a few counties, it is felt that the County Farm Bureau idea is worth continuing and developing. Up to date the County Farm Bureau organization has consisted only of men and not nearly a large enough proportion of them. Now it seems desirable to develop the organization to include the women and the young people as well, so that it can be an organization that can truly represent all interests of the Farm and Home.

Prussians Really Huns.

The appellation of Huns, which William II coveted for and himself applied to Prussians, even to the extent of naming one of his sons for the infamous Attila, the Hunnish "Scourge of God," seems really to belong to that people in an ethnological sense. Mr. Levisee, in his "Studies in Prussian History," tells us that the Prussians are "a people belonging to the Lithuanian race mixed with Finnish elements; which would make them kindred with the Huns, Turks and Bulgars. They were of old colonized, Christianized and ousted from their old domain by the famous Knights of the Teutonic Order. The last grand master of that order, Albert of Brandenburg, espoused the reformation, secularized the domains of the order, and made himself hereditary duke of Prussia—that is, Po-Russia, or "Near Russia." It is interesting to recall that the first Hohenzollern duke of Prussia began his historical career as a renegade, a perjurer and a traitor. Truly the Hohenzollern line has been what cattle breeders call "constant to the type!"

Gleaning.

England is delighted, and justly so, with her surprising success at wheat culture, the present home-grown crop of which released many thousand tons of shipping for use elsewhere. Incidentally, also, the home product saved England many millions that normally would have been sent beyond the ocean to Argentina and the United States for breadstuffs. It is now predicted that never again will the "island kingdom" allow her ancient agriculture to fall into evil ways as during the last half century. How well, indeed, the world has learned during the trials and restrictions of war that Mother Earth is a cherishing mother indeed, and that in hours of distress it is to her that man must turn for comfort and succor.

Slang in the Pulpit.

A striking instance of the force of American "slanguage" is afforded in one of America's leading preachers. The speaker, a doctor of divinity, was addressing a Canadian audience on Uncle Sam's efforts. In a 90-minute talk there occurred, among others, these "gems:" "We are on this job to the finish. We are prepared to fight till hell itself freezes over, and if Germany isn't beat then we'll buy skates and get after her on the ice." "This kaiser is the biggest duplex, double-action, high-powered liar in history. He told his people the Americans could never get to France. Waal, he and his people have got another guess coming."

Cement Industry Big.

Statistics of the cement industry in the United States in 1917, prepared by the United States geological survey, indicates that the total shipments of Portland cement from the mills amounted to 90,703,474 barrels, valued in bulk at the mills at $122,745,088. This represents a decrease in quantity of 4.1 per cent and an increase in value of 17.8 per cent compared with 1916. The production of Portland cement in 1917 was 92,814,202 barrels, compared with 91,521,198 barrels in 1916, an increase of 1.4 per cent. This production holds the record, the next highest output, 92,097,131 barrels, having been in 1913.

ADVICE TO "FLU" CONVALESCENTS

SPAIN AND ENGLAND REPORT INCREASE IN TUBERCULOSIS AFTER INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC.

U. S. Public Health Service Warns Public Against Tuberculosis—One Million Cases Tuberculosis in United States—Each a Source of Danger.

Influenza Convalescents Should Have Lungs Examined—Colds Which Hang On Often Beginning of Tuberculosis—No Cause for Alarm if Tuberculosis Is Recognized Early—Patent Medicines Not to Be Trusted.

★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★

★ Beware tuberculosis after influenza. No need to worry if you take precautions in time. ★

★ Don't diagnose your own condition. Have your doctor examine your lungs several times at monthly intervals. Build up your strength with right living, good food and plenty of fresh air. ★

★ Don't waste money on patent medicines advertised to cure tuberculosis. ★

★ Become a fresh-air crank and enjoy life. ★

★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★

Washington, D. C.—(Special.)—According to a report made to the United States Public Health Service, the epidemic of influenza in Spain has already caused an increase in the prevalence and deaths from pulmonary tuberculosis. A similar association between influenza and tuberculosis was recently made by Sir Arthur Newsholme, the chief medical officer of the English public health service, in his analysis of the tuberculosis death rate in England.

In order that the people of the United States may profit by the experience of other countries, Surgeon General Rupert Blue of the United States Public Health Service has just issued a warning emphasizing the need of special precautions at the present time. "Experience seems to indicate," says the Surgeon General, "that persons whose resistance has been weakened by an attack of influenza are peculiarly susceptible to tuberculosis. With millions of its people recently affected with influenza this country now offers conditions favoring the spread of tuberculosis."

One Million Consumptives in the United States.

"Then you consider this a serious menace?" was asked. "In my opinion it is, though I hasten to add it is distinctly one against which the people can guard. So far as one can estimate there are at present about one million cases of tuberculosis in the United States. There is unfortunately no complete census available to show exactly the number of tuberculosis persons in each state despite the fact that most of the states have made the disease reportable. In New York city, where reporting has been in force for many years, over 35,000 cases of tuberculosis are registered with the Department of Health. Those familiar with the situation believe that the addition of unrecognized and unreported cases would make the number nearer 50,000. The very careful health survey conducted during the past two years in Framingham, Mass., revealed 200 cases of tuberculosis in a population of approximately 15,000. If these proportions hold true for the United States as a whole they would indicate that about one in every hundred persons is tuberculous. Each of these constitutes a source of danger to be guarded against."

What to Do.

In his statement to the public Surgeon General Blue points out how those who have had influenza should protect themselves against tuberculosis. "All who have recovered from influenza," says the Surgeon General, "should have their lungs carefully examined by a competent physician. In fact, it is desirable to have several examinations made a month apart. Such examinations cannot be made through [illegible], nor can they be [illegible] of but two or three minutes. If the lungs are found to be free from tuberculosis every effort should be made to keep them so. This can be done by right living, good food and plenty of fresh air."

Danger Signs.

The Surgeon General warned especially against certain danger signs, such as decline and colds which hang on. [illegible]

These, he explained, were often the beginning of tuberculosis. "If you do not get well promptly, if your cold seems to hang on or your health and strength decline, remember that these are often the early signs of tuberculosis. [illegible]

Mr. and Mrs. Walter McAndress made a trip to Thief River Falls on Tuesday.

Henry Hyland is removing hay from the township of Hickory to Highlanding this week.

Ole Overvold made a business trip to Thief River Falls on Monday, returning Tuesday night.

The elevators at Goodridge are still crowded with farmer's teams unloading wheat.

John Polbrook, of Deer Park township made this office a pleasant call yesterday, and gave his subscription a boost ahead.

Chris Nisson has bought the E. A. Mostue farm in Deer Park township, and has moved there with his family.

Harry Causin returned home from Havre, Mont., where he has worked for the past ten months, on last Wednesday.

County Superintendent E. A. Mostue, visited the school in the Halvor Olson Heimdahl District Wednesday.

There is another blind pig case, in Thief River Falls, that is to be aired at the next term of District Court, making it necessary to call the grand jury.

Karl Korstad, the Highlanding merchant, received notice from C. A. Pitkin this week that the restrictions on the use of sugar had not been removed, and that the limit was still four pounds per person a month. We have not seen any orders of this kind published since the restrictions were removed on December 1st, but perhaps it is only intended for people living in the eastern part of the county, as it seems to be the general opinion that any man living in this end of the county should get along with very little to eat, and when he wants to go to town, not have a decent road to travel on.

While it is a good move for the city of Minneapolis to appoint a committee to obtain employment for returned soldiers, they are respectfully requested to keep hands off, so far as northern Minnesota boys are concerned. Our boys from the northern part of the state did not go to war because they were out of a job, but because their country needed them and called them. Now we want them back, and their home localities will welcome them and see that they get started in civil life, without any assistance from the big cities.

Minnesota furnished 86,000 men for the war, being about 10,000 more than their army quota, according to population at the last census. Minnesota also furnished plenty of iron and steel and wheat for food. In fact this state has established a war record that they may well be proud of. Notwithstanding we had a big fire calamity in the northeastern part of the state, that had to be taken care of, Minnesota has gone over the top with a war record second to none [illegible]

We have no timber for sleighs this winter, [illegible] standing timber.—W. C. Hun[illegible]

The blacksmith shops at Goodridge seem to be all closed up. We did not learn the cause.

The roads are in poor condition for hauling out grain. Too much snow for wheeling, and not enough for sleighing.

All the Minneapolis schools have been closed on account of the "flu." This is a worse disease for the health authorities to handle than the small pox, as they do not quarantine it, and it spreads like a prairie fire.

EASING THE CARES OF SOLDIERS' FAMILIES

The ten thousand Home Service Sections of the American Red Cross, in their work of looking after the families of the enlisted men, are doing wonders for the morale of the army. Our fighters are not men who are going to worry about themselves, but if they do not get cheerful letters from home, or if anything goes wrong there, they are going to worry, and that delicate thing the army men call morale is going to be disturbed. It is to safeguard against this and also to prevent needless suffering and to promote that spirit of neighborliness and kindly aid that binds each community into an organic whole that the Home Service was organized.

Over 50,000 workers are serving on these ten thousand committees, which reach into every corner of the country, however remote. Not a town or village or crossroads that is not within reach of the Red Cross; not a wife or child or mother of a man in service who cannot claim the ready aid of the Red Cross workers.

More than 300,000 families of American soldiers and sailors have been relieved of money troubles, legal difficulties and worries of all sorts by the protecting arm of the Red Cross. If the allowances of allotments under the War Risk Insurance law do not come, the matter is at once referred to Red Cross Headquarters, taken up with the proper government bureau and promptly straightened out. If, through the delay, the family finds itself in need of money sums are advanced to tide it over until the allotment arrives. During July over sixty thousand inquiries of this kind were received, and more than a third of these were taken clear through to headquarters before they could be straightened out.

FOR ITALY'S BABIES.

Motherhood in Italy just now is not the joy that it might be, for the poor women are at their wits ends to clothe the children already in the family, not to mention the preparation for the little newcomers. Perhaps the most appreciated gifts of the American Red Cross at this time are the layettes which are being given to the mothers of Italy. Each layette consists of twenty-four pieces and includes four bright colored swathing bands, so dear to the heart of the Italian woman. Twenty layettes a week are needed at Chioggia alone.

Joe had been instructed that if he did not stop running away he could not go to the movies. Supposing the day's slate was clean, Joe's mother was taking him to a show. As the two reached the door Joe said, "Just running to the bridge wasn't far, was it, mother?" Joe was turned homeward and put to bed. The Red Cross Ready for Peace

THE following message has been telegraphed by the War Council of the American Red Cross to each one of the 3,857 chapters:

"On February 10th, last year, nearly six weeks before the United States declared war, National Red Cross Headquarters advised its chapters to prepare for war. That which has followed in the record of the Red Cross in helping to win this war and to relieve the suffering growing out of it, constitutes something of which every American citizen has a right to be proud. Every American Red Cross worker must feel a sense of gratitude in having had a share in it all.

"The moment is now come to prepare for peace. Until peace is really here and our soldiers home there can be no relaxation in any Red Cross effort incident to active hostilities.

"But even with peace, let no one suppose that the work of the Red Cross is finished. Millions of American boys are still under arms. Thousands of them are sick and wounded. Owing to the shortage in shipping, it may take a year or more to bring our boys home from France. But whatever the time, our protecting arms must be about them and their families over the whole period which must elapse before the normal life of peace can be resumed.

"Our soldiers and sailors are enlisted until the Commander-in-Chief tells them there is no more work for them to do in the war. Let every Red Cross member and worker—and this means both men and women—show our returning soldiers and sailors that to care for their health, welfare and happiness we are enlisted for no less period than they are.

"The cessation of war will reveal a picture of misery such as the world has never seen before, especially in the many countries which cannot help themselves. The American people will expect the Red Cross to continue to act as their agent in repairing broken spirits and broken bodies. Peace terms and peace conditions will determine how we may best minister to the vast stricken areas which have been harrowed by war, and for this great act of mercy the heart and spirit of the American people must continue to be mobilized through the American Red Cross.

"On behalf of the War Council, we accordingly ask each member of our splendid body of workers throughout the land to bear in mind the solemn obligation which rests upon each one to 'carry on.' We cannot abate one instant in our efforts or in our spirits. There will be abundance of work to do, and specific advices will be given, but even at the moment of peace let no Red Cross worker falter.

"Our spirits must now call us to show that not the roar of cannon or the blood of our own alone directs our activities, but that a great people will continue to respond greatly and freely to its obligations and opportunity to serve."

CANTEENS SERVING U. S. TROOPS IN ITALY

The American Red Cross canteens, which serve at railroad stations, important points on highroads, and in towns and villages throughout the Italian zone of war, are now serving American troops. These canteens have been operating during the past six months for the benefit of the Italian army and its allies, greeting the soldiers in their passage from one point to another with coffee and American crackers and jam. But it is only recently that the khaki-clad fighters from across the sea have been added to the number of those served at the Red Cross restaurants.

BOYS AWAIT BULLETIN FOR NEWS FROM HOME

American soldiers in camps and hospitals in Great Britain are now able to keep in touch with affairs at home through the medium of a daily bulletin service which has been established by the American Red Cross.

Army officers say the service fills a long-felt want, providing the men with sporting and home news they cannot find in the English newspapers.

The arrival of the bulletin is now one of the big daily events. In this connection a Red Cross worker in England sends the following message to National Headquarters in Washington:

"After talking with the boys about the bulletin [illegible]

REACH LIMIT IN ABSORPTION

Small Things Like the Turmoil of a Great War Cannot Disturb Chess Devotees.

To its devotees chess is the most absorbing of all mental activities, the game that above all others brings complete forgetfulness of the world to those who play and those who watch the moves, observes a writer in the New York Herald.

A striking example of this self-absorption has been shown recently in the rooms of a local chess club when [illegible] experts struggled for supremacy in the mimic field heedless of the stupendous four-year struggle that was fast drawing to a close on Europe's shell-torn, blood-soaked board. What was the reckless slaughter of thousands of German soldiers in comparison with the sacrifice of a single ivory pawn standing guard before its queen? Which one of those who moved the pieces or of the greater number who watched them with furrowed brows and fast-beating hearts thought of the kaiser's peace offer while the queen's gambit was passing before their eyes? The pope may lift his voice in words of solemn counsel but they heed him not. The only ecclesiastical power that they recognize is that of the mitred bishop sweeping into the heart of the enemy's country and smiting the rook as it stands.

To read the printed accounts of this tournament is to recall the old Puck picture of two chess players carried in their chairs from a burning building with the board between them. Nor do we wonder at the fact that it was only while absorbed in his daily game that the exiled Napoleon could forget [illegible]

Stone Age Theory Disproved.

The means of manufacture at the disposal of savages were so small that archeologists were formerly of opinion that a stone ax must be the product of the efforts not merely of one generation but of several, being handed down from father to son, and taking shape gradually, so that an implement begun by an individual might be finished by his grandchild.

That this idea is pure nonsense was proved by the late J. D. McGuire of the United States bureau of ethnology, who, developing a high expertness in such work, made first-class axes in a day or two, chipping them out of hard stone and polishing them by rubbing with sand and water. He even produced sculptures in relief after the pattern of those of ancient Mexico, using no other tools than stone hammers for "pecking" at the rock.

It was the employment of tools, say anthropologists, that made man what he is. His brain was educated through the use of his hands.

Charm and Distinction.

Though the Hopi Indians are rated by Powell as of the same linguistic stock as the Shoshone, Ute and Comanche, it is known definitely that they are a composite people, with a language in which are found Tanoan, Piman and Keresan words. The Snake clan came from the North, possibly from the same stock as that which once peopled the great Mesa Verde rock houses. The Bear clan came from the eastward, undoubtedly of the people from which came the later-day settlements of the upper Rio Grande valley in New Mexico. Most interesting from a local point of view is the determination that the Water House (Patki) and Squash (Patun) clans came from the southward, from the cactus country.

SWIFT & COMPANY

Low Meat Prices
vs.
High Cattle Prices

If the farmer cannot get enough for his live stock, he raises less, and the packer gets less raw material.

If the consumer has to pay too much for his meat, he eats less of it, and the packer finds his market decreased.

The packer wants the producer to get enough to make live-stock raising profitable, and he wants the price of meat so low that everyone will eat it.

But all he can do, and what he would have to do in any case to stay in business, is to keep down the cost of processing the farmer's stock into meat so that the consumer pays for the meat and by-products only a little more than the farmer gets for his animals.

For example, last year Swift & Company paid for its cattle about 90 per cent of what it got for meat and by-products (such as hides, tallow, oils, etc.)

If cattle from the farm were turned miraculously into meat in the hands of retailers (without going through the expense of dressing, shipping and marketing), the farmer would get only about 1⅛ cents per pound more for his cattle, or consumers would pay only about 2¼ cents per pound less for their beef!

Out of this cent or two per pound, Swift & Company pays for the operation of extensive plants, pays freight on meats, operates refrigerator cars, maintains branch houses, and in most cases, delivers to retailers all over the United States. The profit amounts to only a fraction of a cent, and a part of this profit goes to build more plants, to give better service, and to increase the company's usefulness to the country.

RECONSTRUCTION PLAN NOT READY

TRIP TO EUROPE IS PARAMOUNT DUTY

PRESIDENT TELLS CONGRESS REASONS FOR HIS INTENTION TO BE AT CONFERENCE.

WILL KEEP NATION INFORMED

Declares He Goes to France to Make Good What American Soldiers Gave Life Blood to Maintain —Urges Equal Suffrage.

Washington, Dec. 3.—Following is the full text of President Wilson's message, delivered by him before both houses of congress:

Text of the Message.

Gentlemen of the Congress:

The year that has elapsed since I last stood before you to fulfill my constitutional duty to give the congress, from time to time, information on the state of the Union has been so crowded with great events, great processes and great results that I cannot hope to give you an adequate picture of its transactions or of the far-reaching changes which have been wrought in the life of our nation and of the world. You have yourselves witnessed these things as I have. It is too soon to assess them, and we who stand in the midst of them and are part of them are less qualified than men of another generation will be to say what they mean, or even what they have been. But some great outstanding facts are unmistakable and constitute in a sense part of the public business with which it is our duty to deal. To state them is to set the stage for the legislative and executive action which must grow out of them and which we have yet to shape and determine.

A year ago we had sent 145,918 men overseas. Since then we have sent 1,950,513, an average of 162,542 each month, the number in fact rising in May last to 245,951, in June to 278,760, in July to 307,182 and continuing to reach similar figures in August and September—in August 289,570 and in September 257,438.

Movement Is Unique.

No such movement of troops ever took place before, across 3,000 miles of sea, followed by adequate equipment and supplies and carried safely through extraordinary dangers of attack—dangers which were alike strange and infinitely difficult to guard against. In all this movement only 758 men were lost by enemy attacks—630 of whom were upon a single English transport, which was sunk near the Orkney islands.

Fighters Are Praised.

But it is not the physical scale and executive efficiency of preparation, supply, equipment and dispatch that I would dwell upon, but the mettle and quality of the officers and men we sent over and of the sailors who kept the seas, and the spirit of the nation that stood behind them. No soldiers or sailors ever proved themselves more quickly ready for the test of battle or acquitted themselves with more splendid courage and achievement when put to the test. Those of us who played some part in directing the great processes by which the war was pushed irresistibly forward to the final triumph may now forget all that and delight our thoughts with the story of what our men did.

I need not tell you what lay back of this great movement of men and material. It is not invidious to say that back of it lay a supporting organization of the industries of the country and all its productive activities more complete, more thorough in method and effective in results, more spirited and unanimous in purpose and effort than any other great belligerent had ever been able to effect. We profited greatly by the experience of the nations which had already been engaged for nearly three years in the exigent and exacting business, their every resource and every executive proficiency taxed to the utmost. We were the pupils, but we learned quickly and acted with a promptness and a readiness of co-operation that justify our great pride that we were able to serve the world with unparalleled energy and quick accomplishment.

Their officers understood the grim and exacting task they had undertaken and performed with audacity, efficiency and unhesitating courage that touch the story of convoy and battle with imperishable distinction at every turn, whether the enterprise were great or small—from their chiefs, Pershing and Sims, down to the youngest lieutenant, and their men worthy of them—such men as hardly need to be commanded, and go to their terrible adventure blithely and with the quick intelligence of those who know just what it is they would accomplish. I am proud to be the fellow countryman of men of such stuff and valor. Those of us who stayed at home did our duty—the war could not have been won or the gallant men who fought it given their opportunity to win it otherwise; but for many a long day we shall think ourselves "accursed we were not there and hold our manhood cheap while any speaks that fought" with these at St. Mihiel or Thierry. The memory of those days of triumphant battle will go with these fortunate men to their graves, and each will have his favorite memory. "Old men forget, yet all shall be forgot, but he'll remember with advantages what feats he did that day."

URGED BY WILSON

President Wilson's readjustment program includes:

Passage of woman suffrage.

Use of existing government agencies to effect reconstruction.

Immediate resumption of development of public works to provide employment for returning soldiers.

Ratification of the Columbian treaty to improve Pan-American relations.

Immediate determination of taxes for 1918, 1919 and 1920 and lifting as much of tax burden from business as government needs will permit.

Priority of distribution of American materials to war-stricken nations.

Complete consummation of the three-year naval program.

Leaves determination of railroads' future to Congress, but recommends against return to pre-war conditions of railroad control unmodified.

Urges railroad control question be studied by Congress immediately to quickly remove doubt of their future.

Reclamation of arid, swamp and cut-over land.

Germans Beaten Back.

What we all thank God for with deepest gratitude is that our men went in force into the line of battle just at the critical moment when the whole fate of the world seemed to hang in the balance, and threw their fresh strength into the ranks of freedom in time to turn the whole tide and sweep of the fateful struggle—turn it once for all, so that henceforth it was back, back, back for their enemies, always back, never again forward. After that it was only a scant four months before the commanders of the Central Empires knew themselves beaten; and now their very empires are in liquidation.

And through it all how fine the spirit of the nation was. What unity of purpose, what untiring zeal; what elevation of purpose ran through all its splendid display of strength, its untiring accomplishment. I have said that those of us who stayed at home to do the work of organization and supply will always wish that we had been with the men whom we sustained by our labor; but we can never be ashamed.

Must Steady Business.

For the steadying and facilitation of our own domestic business readjustment nothing is more important than the immediate determination of the taxes that are to be levied for 1918, 1919 and 1920. As much of the burden of taxation must be lifted from business as sound methods of financing the government will permit, and those who conduct the great essential industries of the country must be told as exactly as possible what obligations to the government they will be expected to meet in the years immediately ahead of them. It will be of serious consequence to the country to delay all uncertainties in this matter a single day longer than the right processes of debate justify. It is idle to talk of successful and confident business reconstruction before those uncertainties are resolved.

If the war had continued it would have been necessary to raise at least $8,000,000,000 by taxation payable in the year 1919, but the war has ended and I agree with the secretary of the treasury that it will be safe to reduce the amount to $6,000,000,000. An immediate rapid decline in the expenses of the government is not to be looked for. Contracts made for war supplies will, indeed, be rapidly canceled and liquidated, but their immediate liquidation will make heavy drains on the treasury for the months just ahead of us.

Expenses Still High.

The maintenance of our forces on the other side of the sea is still necessary. A considerable proportion of those forces must remain in Europe during the period of occupation, and those which are brought home will be transported and demobilized at heavy expense for months to come. The interest on our war debt must of course be paid and provision made for the retirement of the obligations of the government which represents it. But these demands will of course fall much below what a continuation of military operations would have entailed and $6,000,000,000 should suffice to supply a sound foundation for the financial operations of the year.

I entirely concur with the secretary of the treasury in recommending that the $2,000,000,000 needed in addition to the $4,000,000,000 provided by existing law be obtained from the profits which have accrued and shall accrue from war contracts and distinctively war business, but that these taxes be confined to the war profits accruing in 1918 or in 1919 from business originating in war contracts. I urge your acceptance of his recommendation that provision be made now, not subsequently, that the taxes to be paid in 1920 should be reduced from six to four billions. Any arrangement less definite than these would add elements of doubt and confusion to the critical period of industrial readjustment through which the country must now immediately pass, and which no true friend of the nation's essential business interests can afford to be responsible for creating or prolonging. Clearly determined conditions, clearly and simply charted, are indispensable to the economic revival and rapid industrial development which may confidently be expected if we act now and sweep all interrogation points away.

Pleads for Navy Program.

I take it for granted that the congress will carry out the Naval program which was undertaken before we entered the war. The secretary of the navy has submitted to your committee for authorization that part of the program which covers the building plans of the next three years. These plans have been prepared along the lines and in accordance with the policy which the congress established, not under the exceptional conditions of the war, but with the intention of adhering to a definite method of development for the Navy. I earnestly recommend the uninterrupted pursuit of that policy. It would clearly be unwise for us to attempt to adjust our programs to a future world policy as yet undetermined.

The question which causes the greatest concern is the question of the policy to be adopted toward the railroads. I frankly turn to you for counsel upon it. I have no confident judgment of my own. I do not see how any thoughtful man can have who knows anything of the complexity of the problem. It is a problem which must be studied, studied immediately and studied without bias or prejudice. Nothing can be gained by becoming partisan of any particular plan of settlement.

Railroads Up to Congress.

It was necessary that the administration of the railways should be taken over by the government so long as the war lasted. It would have been impossible otherwise to establish and carry through under a single direction the necessary priorities of shipments. It would have been impossible otherwise to combine maximum production at the factories and mines and farms with the maximum possible car supply to take the products to the ports and markets; impossible to route troops, shipments and freight shipments without regard to the advantage or disadvantage of the roads employed; impossible to subordinate, when necessary, all questions of convenience to the public necessity; impossible to give the necessary financial support to the roads from the public treasury. But all these necessities have now been served, and the question is, what is best for the railroads and for the public in the future?

The project has been fully outlined and it will be among the main subjects before the supreme court of premiers, which will within a few days assemble in the city of London.

THE MAKING OF A FAMOUS MEDICINE

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Is Prepared For Woman's Use.

A visit to the laboratory where this successful remedy is made impresses even the casual looker-on with the reliability, accuracy, skill and cleanliness which attends the making of this great medicine for woman's ills.

Over 350,000 pounds of various herbs are used anually and all have to be gathered at the season of the year when their natural juices and medicinal substances are at their best.

The most successful solvents are used to extract the medicinal properties from these herbs.

Every utensil and tank that comes in contact with the medicine is sterilized and as a final precaution in cleanliness the medicine is pasteurized and sealed in sterile bottles.

It is the wonderful combination of roots and herbs, together with the skill and care used in its preparation which has made this famous medicine so successful in the treatment of female ills.

The letters from women who have been restored to health by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which we are continually publishing attest to its virtue.

HEATER LOOKS LIKE RULER

Electrical Contrivance That Is Designed Primarily for Use in Outdoor Construction Work.

The latest development in electrical heaters is one that provides for building it like a flat ruler. The heater was designed primarily for use in outdoor construction work. The cabs of digging cranes, for instanme, often become so cold that the men cannot work. Flat resistances of large capacity have been devised, which are only two feet long and three-sixteenths of an inch thick. These can be placed in almost any nook or corner. They can also be used for warming the feet. For this purpose a perforated plate is placed over one or two heating units, according to Popular Science Monthly. When a man stands on the plate a current of warm air is released and flows over it.

The outer casing of such unit is of steel, while the heating element is wound flat inside. To insulate the element from this casing layers of mica completely inclose it. Each unit is capable of being used either alternating or direct current. When it is desired to use a number of them they are connected in a circuit.

Acid-Stomach Ruins Health of Millions

Besides those painful attacks of indigestion; that awful bloated, lumpy feeling after eating and downright stomach misery that you, who have experienced it know so well; besides disgusting belching, food-repeating, sour stomach and distressing heartburn—besides all this, ACID-STOMACH undermines the health and saps the strength of millions.

If you don't get rid of those stomach miseries there is no telling where your stomach troubles will end, for it is a well known scientific fact that many serious ailments have their start in an acid-stomach.

Start now—this very day to get rid of your stomach miseries—take EATONIC—the wonderful remedy that absorbs the excess acid from the stomach and brings INSTANT relief. You simply have no idea how much better, stronger and brighter you feel at once. It drives out all the gas and bloat, puts an immediate stop to belching and heartburn, ends stomach suffering and makes it cool, sweet, comfortable and strong.

There can be no further excuse for you to allow acid-stomach to wreck your health—pile up misery upon misery until you get to the point where you feel down and out and that life has lost all its joys. Remember, just as acid-mouth ruins teeth, so acid-stomach ruins health.

Take EATONIC. It's good, just like a bit of candy and makes the stomach feel fine. You can then eat the things you like and, what is more, every mouthful you eat will count in creating power and energy. You'll feel so much better—have punch and pep—the power and will to do things and get results, and your stomach misery will be gone.

Take our advice. Get a big box of EATONIC from your druggist today, it costs so little. If it fails to remove your stomach distress, he will refund your money. That is guaranteed; you are to be satisfied or money refunded.

TIME DEC. 21 TO 23

Executive Says Exact Nature of Future Red Cross Service Will Depend Upon Program of Associated Governments.

Washington, Dec. 9.—In a proclamation just issued, President Wilson calls on every American to join the American Red Cross at Christmas Roll Call week, Dec. 21 to 23, and thus send forth to the whole human family the Christmas greeting for which it waits and for which it stands in greatest need. The proclamation, prepared before the president left for Europe, follows:

"To the American people:

"One year ago 22,000,000 Americans, by enrolling as members of the Red Cross at Christmas time, sent to the men who were fighting our battles overseas, a stimulating message of cheer and good will. They made it clear that our people were of their own free choice united with their government in the determination not only to wage war with the instruments of destruction, but also by every means in their power to repay the ravages of the invader and sustain and renew the spirit of the army and of the homes which they represented.

Morale Is Recalled.

"The friends of the American Red Cross, in Italy, Belgium and France have told, and will tell again, the story of how the Red Cross workers restored morale in the hospitals, in the camps, and at the cantonments, and we ought to be very proud that we have been permitted to be of service to those whose sufferings and whose glory are the heritage of humanity.

"Now, by God's grace, the Red Cross Christmas message of 1918 is to be a message of peace as well as a message of good will. But peace does not mean that we can fold our hands. It means further sacrifices. We must prove conclusively to an attentive world that America is permanently aroused to the needs of the new era, our old indifference gone forever.

Future Needs Dependent.

"The exact nature of the future service of the Red Cross will depend upon the program of the associated governments, but there is immediate need today for every heartening word and for every helpful service. We must not forget that our soldiers and our sailors are still under orders and still have duties to perform of the highest consequence, and that the Red Cross Christmas membership means a great deal to them. The people of the saddened lands, moreover, returning home today where there are no homes must have the assurance that the hearts of our people are with them in the dark and doubtful days ahead. Let us, so far as we can, help them back to faith in mercy and in future happiness.

"As president of the Red Cross, conscious in this great hour of the value of such a message from the American people, I should be glad if every American would join the Red Cross for 1918 and thus send forth to the whole human family the Christmas greetings for which its waits and for which it stands in greatest need.

RUSSIA FACES TOTAL RUIN

Dutch Minister Describes Effect of Bolshevik Rule.

Amsterdam, Dec. 9.—The Dutch minister, who has arrived in Holland by way of Germany, spoke freely of the conditions brought about by Bolshevism in Russia and appealed to the workmen of all nations against Bolshevik tendencies.

The minister characterized Bolshevism as "the end of civilization." Translated into practice, he declared, the Bolshevik principles are "high wages for no work, the taking of other's property without punishment and no taxation." The Russian workmen, he declared, were far worse off than ever before.

RECALS ENVOY TO RUSSIA

Sweden Severs Relations With Bolshevik Government.

Stockholm, Dec. 9.—Sweden has recalled her diplomatic and consular representatives in Russia, with the exception of two officials at the legation. The reason given was that M. Vorosky, the representative of the Soviet government here, had, it was charged, been transmitting Bolshevik literature from Russia.

Campaign Statement Is Filed.

Washington, Dec. 9.—The final campaign statement of the Republican national committee received by the clerk of the House shows expenditures of $794,400, or $22,636 more than receipts. Some of the large contributors to the committee's fund are listed as follows: William B. Thompson, Yonkers, N. Y., $35,000; T. C. Du Pont, New York city, $25,000; J. J. McGraw, Ponca City, Okla., $25,000; John D. Rockefeller, $20,000, and Thomas W. Cochran, [illegible] $15,000.

GIRLS! LOTS OF BEAUTIFUL HAIR

A small bottle of "Danderine" makes hair thick, glossy and wavy.

Removes all dandruff, stops itching scalp and falling hair.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—it costs but a few cents—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp, and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this. Adv.

KIDNEY SUFFERERS HAVE FEELING OF SECURITY

You naturally feel secure when you know that the medicine you are about to take is absolutely pure and contains no harmful or habit producing drugs.

Such a medicine is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

The same standard of purity, strength and excellence is maintained in every bottle of Swamp-Root.

Swamp-Root is scientifically compounded from vegetable herbs.

It is not a stimulant and is taken in teaspoonful doses.

It is not recommended for everything.

According to verified testimony it is nature's great helper in relieving and overcoming kidney, liver and bladder troubles.

A sworn statement of purity is with every bottle of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

If you need a medicine, you should have the best.

If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you will find it on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to try this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

GO WITH PRESIDENT

Wilson Names Delegates to Represent the United States at Paris.

GEN. BLISS ONE OF THEM

Distinguished Soldier Chosen as Military Expert—Former Ambassador White Is Republican Member of the American Commission.

Washington.—President Wilson announced Friday night the names of the delegates he has appointed to represent the United States at the peace conference. They are:

WOODROW WILSON, president of the United States.

ROBERT LANSING, secretary of state.

EDWARD M. HOUSE, the president's chief confidant, now representing him at Versailles.

HENRY WHITE, formerly ambassador to Italy and to France.

GEN. TASKER H. BLISS, American military adviser of the supreme war council.

White House Statement.

The names were disclosed in the following announcement from the White House:

"It was announced at the executive office that the representatives of the United States at the peace conference would be the president himself, the secretary of state, Henry White, recently ambassador to France; Edward M. House and Gen. Tasker H. Bliss.

"It was explained that it had not been possible to announce these appointments before because the number of representatives each of the chief belligerents was to send had, until a day or two ago, been under discussion."

Bliss' Name a Surprise.

The only surprise in the announcement was the selection of Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, former chief of staff of the army and now the representative of the American war department in the supreme war council of the allies.

For several days it had been generally understood that the Republican member of the delegation would be Mr. White. That Secretary Lansing and Colonel House would be the other members had been unofficially admitted.

White Long in Service.

Henry White, long in diplomatic service, was the American ambassador to France during President Roosevelt's administration. His diplomatic service began in 1883, when he served for two years as secretary to the American legation at Vienna. He was transferred to London in 1884 as second secretary of the American legation and in 1886 he was made secretary to the legation there, being recalled by President Cleveland in 1893. He returned to London as secretary to the embassy in 1897 and remained until 1905.

During his career he also served the government in special diplomatic capacities, representing the United States at the international conference in London, 1887-88, for the abolition of sugar bounties.

He was a delegate from the United States to the international conference on agriculture at Rome in 1905, and also was the American delegate to the international conference on Moroccan affairs at Algeciras. From March, 1905, to March, 1907, Mr. White was the American ambassador to Italy, leaving that important post to become the ambassador to France, where he remained until December, 1909.

Will Parley in Berlin.

London.—Representatives of Great Britain, France and the United States will arrive in Berlin shortly to discuss the armistice, the Berlin correspondent of the Cologne Gazette says he understands.

A meeting of the allied leaders in London will be a preliminary to the peace conference, the Daily Express says. Colonel House and Premier Orlando of Italy will be here with the British and French statesmen.

Paris.—A group of members of the chamber of deputies representing agricultural interests have sent a letter to Premier Clemenceau expressing objection to giving special representation to the socialists at the peace conference.

If that should be agreed to, however the deputies urge that the farming and peasant classes also be represented, since they had shed blood more freely than any other class.

Bavaria for Separate Peace.

London.—Bavaria probably will ask to have separate plenipotentiaries at the peace negotiations and will claim conditions of a separate peace, says the Paris Matin in commenting on the action of Bavaria in breaking off relations with the government at Berlin.

The Socialist council of Munich has telegraphed to the executive committee of the Berlin Socialist council demanding the dismissal of Dr. W. S. Solf, foreign minister, Philipp Scheidemann, minister of colonies, and Mathias Erzberger, who, it has been announced, will conduct negotiations preliminary to signing a treaty of peace.

The telegram invites the Berlin council to overthrow a government which continues such persons in important posts.

Viscount Kato Jap Envoy.

Washington.—Viscount Kato, former minister of foreign affairs, will head the Japanese delegation to the peace conference, according to [illegible]

GIVE CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS AT ONCE IF BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels needs a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhœa, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative;" they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Adv.

TOO WEAK TO FIGHT

The "Come-back" man was really never down-and-out. His weakened condition because of overwork, lack of exercise, improper eating and living demands stimulation to satisfy the cry for a health-giving appetite and the refreshing sleep essential to strength. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules, the National Remedy of Holland, will do the work. They are wonderful. Three of these capsules each day will put a man on his feet before he knows it; whether his trouble comes from uric acid poisoning, the kidneys, gravel or stone in the bladder, stomach derangement or other ailments that befall the over-zealous American. The best known, most reliable remedy for these troubles is GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. This remedy has stood the test for more than 200 years since its discovery in the ancient laboratories in Holland. It acts directly and gives relief at once. Don't wait until you are entirely down-and-out, but take them today. Your druggist will gladly refund your money if they do not help you. Accept no substitutes. Look for the name GOLD MEDAL on every box, three sizes. They are the pure, original, imported Haarlem Oil Capsules.—Adv.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR.
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUB.

Published every Friday at Sunbeam, Pennington County Minnesota.

$1.00 a year, in advance.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30, 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

As we are always looking out for the betterment of eastern Pennington county, we have come to the conclusion, that it is time for the farmers of this end of the county to join hands and build a Farmer's Elevator at Goodridge. We have heard some of the prominent farmers of Deer Park, who have shares in the Oklee Farmer's Elevator, express the opinion that they were willing to take stock in a farmer's elevator to be built at Goodridge. Some of them are now hauling their wheat to Oklee, a longer distance, on account of the extra price they get, and their rebate as share holders, in the farmer's elevator. Now is the time to start this movement, and a meeting will be called to meet and talk the matter over at Goodridge in the near future. There is no use to wait until next fall, when the teams are dammed up a mile long waiting to unload wheat at Goodridge, but let us get together this winter and get stock enough subscribed to start building a big elevator next spring. The last week of November demonstrated the fact that there should be another elevator at Goodridge, and we want to see it built and operated by the farmers of eastern Pennington county.

The war department has recommended, that universal training in America is unnecessary. America showed all the foreign nations that they could train and equip an army in short order for war, that were the equal of any army they could put in the field. Let the young men remain at home and continue in peaceful pursuits, instead of spending the best years of their lives in a training camp. Take Norway and Sweden for example. They have been training soldiers for generations, but they never use them in war. America is a peaceful nation, that don't want war, and do not want to spend their lives training for war. But all nations must sit up and take notice that they can and will fight, if they are driven into war.

There was no representative of the farmer-labor party asked to sail with President Wilson's peace commission. Now that the war is over the present administration seems to be of the opinion that they can get along without any assistance from the farmers and laboring men. But when they were at war, you bet they howled for the laboring men to produce the ships, and the farmers to produce the food but as soon as they get out of the danger zone, they promptly forget and ignore the true winners of the war for Democracy.

Material for Explosive.

As to the source of the tolul needed for explosives it is pointed out that there has been recently a great increase in the number of by-product coke ovens in this country. However, says the Scientific American, if 20,000,000 tons of coke are made in these ovens during the present year we shall get from this source only 10,000,000 gallons of tolul, which is about one-fourth as much as the government estimated it would need for munitions. Another promising measure recently inaugurated is the stripping of city gas of this material, which can be spared without any serious detriment to the gas, and amounts to about [illegible] gallon for each 1,000 feet of gas. It is estimated that when the large city gas plants of the country will yield about 10,000,000 gallons [illegible]

JAMES KNEW IT WAS COMING

[illegible]

James, his mother called him, but he preferred the name of Jimmie, by which the neighborhood knew him. He also preferred rough and tumble clothes to starchy, clean apparel—the movies to Sunday school—and almost anything to grade school, although he had given it only a few weeks' trial, the Kansas City Star says.

While his father is overseas with a government permit to hunt the Hun, the mother adds to the family income by working in an office close to home. James had made it a custom to meet his mother at the closing hour and accompany her home.

Early one morning James started for school dressed in a clean new suit. That evening an almost unrecognizable six-year-old youngster awaited his mother at the office. Immediately upon her appearance he stepped forth with the explanation, forestalling anything that might be said or done on her part. "I didn't go to school. I went riding with the coal man. I 'spect you're going to whip me." Placing a smudgy hand upon his mother's arm, he continued: "Come on, let's hurry home and get it over with."

PROBLEM FOR ART EXPERTS

How to Save Masterpieces of Painting Is Matter Which Puzzles Authorities in Italy.

A heating apparatus powerful enough to force heat through a pile of sandbags 12 feet thick and to dry without scorching the wall behind is needed to preserve one of the world's masterpieces, "The Last Supper," of Leonardo da Vinci, which is painted on the wall of the Church of Santa Maria delle Grazie at Milan, Italy. The dampness which accumulates in the sand necessary as a protection from air raids is fast fading the colors of the picture, already damaged by time. The restoration necessary for Leonardo's picture is unsuited to the frescoes of Luini and other masters painted on the same wall. How to give each set of masterpieces the treatment required is the problem. So far the experts of the Italian ministry of the arts have been unable to find a solution.

IN THEIR LAST LONG SLEEP

Beautiful Spot in Which Have Been Laid American Soldiers Who Died in Liberty's Cause.

On the wooded slope of a steep hill that rises high over a great bend in the River Seine lies a little plot of earth that is as much America as is the national cemetery at Arlington or the hallowed ground of Gettysburg. It is a quiet and peaceful spot, for although Paris is near—the slender pinnacle of the Eiffel tower is in plain view over the trees—the city is separated from the American cemetery at Surenes by the green expanse of the Bois de Boulogne. The heart of the city that is the heart of the world is not five miles away; you would think it at least fifty. It is a spot far removed from war, and yet there are enough of the accoutrements of war about it to remind the visitor that the 700 graves here are the graves of soldiers—mostly of soldiers who died of their wounds on the journey in from the front or at one of the hospitals in or near the capital. Further up the slope frown the ramparts of the fort of Mount Valerien, one in the chain of defenses that surround Paris. During hostilities planes flew from field to field, the drone of their motors never so clear as in this quiet countryside. And more warlike still, an occasional cannon shot echoed from a testing ground in the neighborhood. The little cemetery itself, with its well-aligned rows of white wooden crosses, will some day be as green and fair a God's acre as any in France. It is becoming so as fast as the loving hands of the living can convert it into one. Even in these fresh fall days, the graves are all abloom, and hardy shrubs add a touch of somber beauty to the little corners and round points.—Stars and Stripes, Paris.

French Live Stock on the Decline.

The United States food administration has called attention to the large decrease in live stock in France since the beginning of the war. In cattle this decrease amounted to 2,599,000 up to December, 1917, in sheep the decrease amounted to 6,238,000 head, in hogs to 2,869,000 head. In the period since owing to the food shortage there has been a still further shrinkage. Figures like these indicate that there will be a large and insistent demand for live stock from this country for the foreign trade for many years after peace is finally established.

Good American Family.

Thirty years ago a girl came to this country from Russia to marry Louis Fleshner, an immigrant from the same country. They settled in Springfield, Mass., and when the United States entered the war they had four sons, the oldest 23. All of them entered the army and the eldest has distinguished himself in battle. He is the young [illegible]

Substitute for Tea.

It is said that there are now on the market as a substitute for tea the leaves of a plant which Niebuhr described as long ago as 1775. The plant is the Catha edulis, or Arabian tea, which is cultivated or grown wild on the East African coast from Abyssinia to Natal, in the Nile valley, and in Arabia. The leaves are called by the natives "kat," and when boiled give off a liquor which is said to be a powerful stimulant. The natives drink this tea before starting on long marches or other strenuous labors. The tea is said to have a pleasant aroma and to be useful against neuralgia, while in many regions the plant is considered to be a protection against plague.

All He Had Left.

The conjuror was giving a sleight of hand performance. One of his feats was to make a marked dollar bill disappear in the sight of the crowd, which he did successfully.

"That marked dollar bill will be found in the vest pocket of that gentleman," said the conjuror, pointing with his magic wand at Sam Dawsing.

All eyes were riveted on Sam, who advanced to the front, took some money from his vest pocket and said:

"Boss, here's your change. Ah've had two beers and a cigar out of that dollar you told me to keep in mah pocket till you called for it."

Peace Ambassadors.

General Mangin possesses a vein of sardonic humor. When in the autumn of 1916 he had helped to undo in a few days the work for which the crown prince during eight months had sacrificed the flower of the kaiser's army at Verdun, Germany launched a peace offensive. [illegible]

Americans Should Eat Fish.

Americans are deficient as fish eaters, compared with inhabitants of foreign countries. Less than two pounds per head is the yearly consumption of salt and smoked fish in this country. For the winter's supply, salt fish can be laid in and, pound for pound, furnish much more nutriment than fresh fish. This is because curing extracts a large part of the water, and what is left is nearly all solid food.—People's Home Journal.

Had No Occasion to Say It.

A little girl was invited to a friend's house for dinner and before leaving her mother warned her to say "please," "thank you," and "no, thank you." When the little girl returned she was asked if she said please and thank you and she said yes. Then her mother asked: "Did you say no, thank you, when they passed something you didn't want?"

"No, mother, I didn't, because they didn't pass anything I didn't want."

Mrs. John Hesby, wife of mail carrier Hesby, is having a serious attack of the "flu." She is being attended by Mrs. John Asp of Mayfield, and is on the road to recovery.

We certainly appreciate our subscribers, but some of them have allowed their subscription to lag year after year, until it is becoming a big item on our books. We are badly in need of money just now to pay past due bills, and if you will just take time to remit that past due subscription, it will be appreciated.

That Electric Line from Thief River Falls to Goodridge is certainly appreciated by the farmers of eastern Pennington county this fall, as it would have been an utter impossibility for them to market this years crop at Thief River Falls. We expected to see a little let up in the string of teams unloading wheat this month, but they are jammed up as bad this month as they were last month, unloading wheat and more wheat.

It would be of great assistance to mail carriers if people would write or print their names on their mail box. During this run of the "flu," it may happen that the regular mail carrier is taken suddenly sick, and his substitute carrier is sick at the same time, and it happens that a new carrier has to make the trip. If you have your name on your mail box, you are more sure to have your mail properly delivered.

We took a little pains to look up the Andrew Ellingson yellow paint deal, and find that it was more political spite work, than the refusal of Mr. Ellingson to buy bonds. He has bought his full allotment of liberty bonds, and had made arrangements to pay for them with his local banker, so it kind of looks as if it might have been the opening gun of the war, that has just commenced in Highlanding. Mr. Ellingson as postmaster at Highlanding has urged the sale of War Savings and Thrift Stamps which requires a lot of work for a postmaster, for which he does not receive one cent [illegible]

AMERICANS FIGHT GERMS IN ITALY

Tuberculosis Experts Sent by Red Cross Will Use Latest Methods.

Included in the unit of medical and lay workers which the American Red Cross has sent to Italy are a number of the leading anti-tuberculosis workers of the country, sponsored by the National Tuberculosis Association. Dr. William Charles White, who heads the unit, is medical director of the Tuberculosis League of Pittsburgh, and Dr. Robert H. Bishop, the assistant director, is secretary of the Anti-Tuberculosis League of Cleveland as well as health commissioner of that city. Dr. John H. Lowman of Cleveland, a former president of the National Association, is another prominent member of the unit. Others are Dr. Robert G. Patterson, secretary of the Ohio Tuberculosis Association; Seymour H. Stone, until recently secretary of the Massachusetts Anti-Tuberculosis League; Dr. Gertrude Sturgis, secretary of the New York City Association of Tuberculosis Clinics, and N. A. Nelson, superintendent of the Cincinnati Anti-Tuberculosis League.

These men and women, at the request of the Italian government, will cooperate with that country in applying the latest approved American methods for combating the spread of tuberculosis. Some of them will be charged with the establishment of clinics where people of all ages may be examined and treated; others will devote their attention particularly to preventing tuberculosis among children, and a third group will develop health publicity and education.

It is to the credit of the anti-tuberculosis campaign in America that it has produced specialists of such international standing that Italy wishes to call them into her service temporarily. But the campaign will be continued unremittingly here at home. Its support during the ensuing year will be derived not as heretofore from the sale of Red Cross Christmas Seals, but by a special appropriation made by the Red Cross to the National Tuberculosis Association. Tuberculosis workers on their side will line up with the Red Cross in its Christmas Roll Call for universal membership.

CONTEST FOR THE JUNIORS.

A special feature during the Red Cross Christmas Roll Call will be a Junior Red Cross Four-Minute Men Contest on "Why You Should Join the Red Cross." The contest will be similar to those previously conducted by the Division of Four Minute Men of the Committee on Public Information. It will be held on Friday, December 20th, in all of the School Auxiliaries, and friends and parents of the pupils will be urged to attend.

World's Greatest Troopship.

One of the devoted women who have not spared themselves at the emergency aid rooms told this story among the flying needles the other day to her co-workers. A letter from the front has brought the intelligence.

A pompous German major had fallen into the hands of our valorous Pennsylvania troops, and after they had questioned him, he ventured to ask them for information.

"How many men have you on this side of the water?" he inquired.

"Two million," answered a young lieutenant.

"How did you get them over?" was the incredulous query of the Hun.

"One boat brought them all over," was the answer.

The German stared. "How so? What boat was that?"

The American gave the German a searching look. "The Lusitania," he answered quietly.—Philadelphia Leader.

GENEROUS GIVING DURING HOLIDAYS

War Savings Christmas Is Plan to Make Coming Yuletide a Memorable One.

A large number of employers throughout Minnesota and many individuals who are not employers are engaged in a common effort to make Christmas, 1918, memorable as a War Savings Christmas.

A leading employer expressed his thought on the subject as follows:

"Fighting has ceased, but we shall not be through with the war until peace is permanently established, our army is brought back and demobilized, all war bills have been paid and normal industrial conditions have been re-established. Therefore it is just as imperative that we sacrifice and save today as when hostilities were in progress.

"Nevertheless, there is abundant cause for national and individual rejoicing. This feeling of thankfulness and joy should be expressed in generous giving during the holiday season. We are not, however, far enough removed from the seriousness and the sacrifices of the great world war to be frivolous in our thanks or the material expression of them. For this reason the idea of making the coming Yule Tide a time for giving Government securities appeals strongly to me and should appeal to people of all classes."

A Stamp Christmas Campaign.

The Minnesota State War Savings Committee appreciate the logic of this feeling and have inaugurated a War Savings Stamp Christmas campaign. Assistant Director John Meyering is in charge and by the use of gift certificates is attempting to make the giving of War Stamps easier for those who desire to do so and at the same time he believes the certificates will convey more clearly than the stamps themselves the real holiday spirit behind the gift.

Two forms of certificates have been prepared and distributed to the county organizations and through them to employers and others who desire them. The first of these is intended for use in sending War Savings Stamps to soldiers. The second is intended for the use of employers or individuals in giving to employees, friends and relatives. These certificates are furnished free of charge to anyone desiring to make use of them and can be obtained either from the county chairman for War Savings or from the state headquarters in Minneapolis. [illegible]

"Our efforts to have stamps used as Christmas presents is meeting with a hearty response from people in all parts of Minnesota," said Mr. Meyering. "We are very much pleased with [illegible] one to be given to each employe in the service.

"Presents of War Savings Stamps and Certificates are also being generally made to soldiers by relatives and friends and we feel very sure that the boys could not get anything as Christmas presents that would give them more pleasure or will be of more real value to them now and later.

"To aid the people of Minnesota in carrying out the idea of a War Savings Christmas, we are furnishing free of charge gift certificates and believe that they will be freely used. We feel very sure the giving of stamps as Christmas presents will result in much good. Incidently it is a very proper way of increasing our sales of these Government securities. The Government needs every cent it can get and Minnesota is still considerably behind its allotment. Anyone who has pledged himself to buy a certain amount of stamps before January, 1919, and has not yet done so, will in this way be able to fulfill his pledge and at the same time make a wise gift selection."

WHERE MINNESOTANS STAND

Have Much to Do in War Savings Stamps Campaign.

The people of Minnesota have made a very creditable showing in their purchase of Thrift and War Savings Stamps, but they have much to do before January 1st, according to State Director, D. S. Culver.

"The state now ranks nineteenth among the states of the union," says Mr. Culver in a statement issued by the Treasury Department. "When the people have lived up to their 1918 pledges for the purchase of stamps—as they undoubtedly will live up to them—and have purchased stamps liberally during the holiday campaign, Minnesota should go over the top with flying colors. In order for the state to take its proper place in the financing campaign, however, it will be necessary for everyone to do his or her part not only in fulfilling the pledge he or she has made, but in assisting the local organization in selling all the stamps as promised and a few more for good measure.

"We are working hard on a Fulfillment of Pledges Campaign and will try not to overlook reminding everyone of their promise to their Government. Our work will be greatly simplified, however, if each individual will think back to June and recall what amount of stamps he promised to buy. If he has bought them he should buy a few more. If he has not bought them, he should fulfill his pledge at once.

"In this greatest hour of the world's history, there is one question that is staring every one of you in the face. It must be answered and answered satisfactorily before you have a right to take your part in the great and justifiable rejoicing. Have you kept your War Savings Pledge? If not, you have failed to aid in winning the victory, and the only way in which you can gain a share in it and all that it means to present and future humanity, is by paying that pledge at once. If you made a pledge to your banker, your landlord, your tradesmen, would it occur to you that you would continue to be an honorable citizen if you abrogated that pledge? Then, above all pledges the one made to your government—YOUR government—is sacred. Face the issue and see if there is any possible reason for not keeping it. Then, when you have fully discovered that your honor demands that you keep your word, celebrate the holidays by fulfilling your obligation. Then celebrate Victory by buying a bit more."

and we feel sure that it will result in benefits to donors, those receiving these very practical gifts, and to the Government."

"War Savings Stamps afford the very best known means of expressing this real holiday spirit in a way that will be of practical and lasting value to the recipients and a help to the Government," continued Mr. Meyering.

"A War Stamp received is not only a gift, it is a suggestion and an incentive to save and invest wisely. Any War Stamp may be the foundation of financial independence, any employer who gives stamps for Christmas will encourage thrift and make better citizens.

"A number of large concerns over the country have planned to give their employees their yearly bonuses in the form of War Savings Certificates. Fine!

"Many other firms have decided to give their employees War Savings Stamps instead of money or merchandise as formerly. Couldn't do better.

"Other corporations have voted to give War Savings Certificates to each of their employees now serving with the colors. Splendid! They have earned this regard and when they become civilians again a nest egg will help [illegible]

SAYS PRESIDENT APPROVES PLAN

Postmaster General Burleson Favors Keeping Telegraph and Telephone Lines.

RESOLUTION IN HOUSE

Chairman Moon of Postoffice Committee Introduces Proposal to Make Wire Concerns Government Owned Utilities.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Under a resolution introduced in the house by Chairman Moon of the postoffice committee, telephone and telegraph lines would become permanent government owned utilities.

Mr. Moon said the measure had been drafted in consultation with Postmaster General Burleson, who had informed him that the legislation was approved by President Wilson.

Early Discussion Expected.

The resolution was referred to the postoffice committee, which soon will begin hearings on it. Discussions of the proposal in the House will precede the committee report, Mr. Moon announcing that he expected to deliver an address on the subject on the consideration of the postoffice appropriation bill.

Government control and operation of the telegraph and telephone lines is limited by the existing resolution to the period of the war, but under the measure offered it would continue "until otherwise ordered by Congress."

Appraisal Is Ordered.

The resolution directs the postmaster general to negotiate contracts for the purchase of the telephone lines subject to the approval of Congress and to have an appraisal made as to the value of the telegraph property.

The right of the government to purchase the telegraph systems is given under an existing law, according to Administration officials.

Designed to Aid Building Lines.

This law, passed in 1866, was designed to give government aid in the construction of telegraph lines and provided that the privilege of operation given the companies were nontransferable except that the government might purchase the property.

Provision was made for the appointment of five disinterested persons to appraise the properties should the government decide to purchase them. Two of the appraisers would be named by the postmaster general, two by the companies and the fifth by these four men.

MEXICAN KILLED IN FIGHT

American Naval Guards and Customs Officers Clash.

New York, Dec. 16.—In a clash Nov. 28 between the armed navy guard of the American steamship Monterey and Mexican customs guard, at Tampico, one Mexican, said to have been a captain, was killed; a Mexican soldier mortally wounded, and a chief gunner's mate named Berry, in charge of the American guard, less seriously hurt. This was learned with the steamer's arrival here from Havana and Nassau, where she touched after leaving Tampico.

Cleveland, Ohio, Dec. 14.—Five persons were killed, one is dying and another was probably fatally injured when an interurban freight car jumped the tracks and crashed into two automobiles. Three of the victims were sailors.

Yeggmen Raid Five Stores.

Cadot, Wis., Dec. 16.—Yeggmen entered five business places here, secured $2,000 in cash and Liberty bonds and escaped without the town knowing anything about their work until business houses were opened. Three saloons netted the raiders $700, and a hardware store and a grocery store gave up the remainder of the money and securities taken. The police have no trace of the men who jimmied the safes, the outer doors of which were left open when the places were closed for the night.

GREAT NAVAL PAGEANT

New York Will Welcome Returning American Fleet.

Public Will Have Opportunity to See Warships That Aided in Defeating Germany.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Return to home waters of the ships of the American armada sent to Europe to combat German sea power will be marked by a great naval pageant in New York harbor about Dec. 23.

Secretary Daniels said he would go to New York on the Mayflower to review the fleet which will be led by Admiral Mayo, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, on his flagship, the Pennsylvania.

In the home coming fleet will be nine dreadnaughts, 20 destroyers and more than 40 converted yachts, mine planters, submarine and other craft. The destroyer force, part of which is on the way to New York, includes many of the vessels sent to the war zone and some of them carry on their funnels the stars awarded for destruction of German submarines.

Owing to the character of some of the craft ordered home, no definite date can be set for their arrival, and it is possible that some of the smaller ships will not get back in time for the review, which will give the people of the country an opportunity to see the fighting ships that helped materially to defect the German menace.

Efforts will be made, however, to bring as many as possible of the returning vessels into port together. Instructions to Admiral Mayo called for the return of all naval craft that can be spared.

BANDITS MAKE RICH HAUL

Paymaster Is Slugged and Robbed of $25,000.

Milwaukee, Dec. 16.—Police officials are attempting to find the persons responsible for the holdup of the paymaster of the local plant of the International Harvester company, in which $25,000 mysteriously disappeared. Joseph Gruenwald, the paymaster, was returning from the bank with $25,000 in a satchel when attacked. In order to reach the office, Gruenwald was obliged to walk through a passageway. According to the police, Gruenwald had just reached the opening of the passage when he was slugged from behind.

MEDAL FOR GENERAL MARCH

Won Through Efficient Service in France and at Home.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Upon the recommendation of General Pershing, and with the approval of President Wilson, Secretary Baker awarded the Distinguished Service Medal to Gen. Peyton C. March, chief of staff.

In presenting the decoration, before a large assemblage of army officers, Secretary Baker laid stress upon the fact that it was won through efficient service both in France as chief of artillery of the First American army and at home as chief of staff.

Christiania, Dec. 14.—The Norwegian legation has been called from Petrograd, it was announced by the Aftonposten. Denmark is expected to take similar action.

Sweden already has broken off diplomatic relations with the Russian Bolshevik government as a result of Bolshevik officials breaking into the Swedish embassy to seize documents of the Swiss government, which Sweden represented.

UNITED STATES IS LEADING

Building More Merchant Vessels Than Great Britain.

London, Dec. 14.—In the quarter ending Sept. 30, 673 more merchant vessels were building in the United States than in the United Kingdom, it was announced in Lloyd's register. This was said to represent a difference of more than a million tons.

In England alone there are 382 ships under construction, of which 373 are steel. Their gross tonnage is 1,746,933.

FIFTH WAR LOAN SLOGAN

Publicity and Sales Directors Agree on "Let's Finish the Job."

Atlantic City, N. J., Dec. 16.—"Let's finish the job," will be the slogan for the Fifth Liberty Loan, it was announced here. The decision was reached at the national meeting of publicity and sales directors, who will aid in the next war loan campaign.

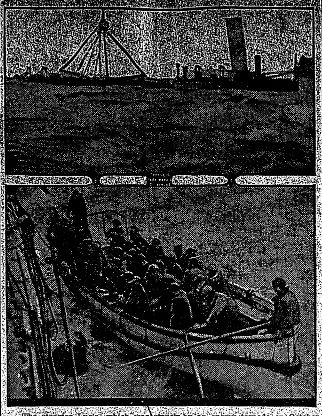
Treasury Certificates Oversubscribed.

Washington, Dec. 16.—The first issue of $600,000,000 of certificates issued in anticipation of the Fifth War Loan, dated Dec. 5 and closed Dec. 10, was oversubscribed by $13,438,000, the Treasury announced.

Wooden Ships Are Doomed.

Washington, Dec. 16.—The wooden ship is doomed. This is the result of the United States Shipping board's decision to let down as far as possible on that type of construction. It was announced that it would discontinue work on a considerable number of such vessels in the early stages of building and cancel contracts for vessels of this type not yet under construction. Sixty vessels were at once designated for stoppage of construction, but the number will be much [illegible] [illegible] completed.

PICTURES OF SINKING OF THE LUCIA



The steamer Lucia, which was struck by an enemy torpedo on October 17, was the last American vessel to be reported a victim of German submarines. The Lucia, which was equipped with buoyancy boxes designed to make her unsinkable, kept afloat for nearly 24 hours. The destroyers Fairfax and Huntington went to the rescue of the ill-fated vessel. The upper photograph shows the sinking of the Lucia, with the last boatload of survivors leaving. The lower photograph shows a motorboat of the Huntington arriving at the destroyer with survivors.

PRESIDENT OF PORTUGAL SLAIN

Dr. Sidonio Paes Assassinated in the Railway Station at Lisbon.

SLAYER IS LYNCHED

Executive Dies Within a Few Minutes After Being Struck by Three Bullets—Crowd Quickly Dispose of His Assailant.

London, Dec. 16.—An assassin shot and killed Dr. Sidonio Paes, president of Portugal, while he was in a railway station at Lisbon, waiting for a train to Oporto. Advices from Lisbon say that he was struck by three bullets.

President Paes died within a few minutes after he was shot.

The president's assailant, Named Jeetne, was killed by the crowd.

Was President a Year.

Dr. Sidonio Paes was formally proclaimed president of Portugal June 9. He headed a revolt in Portugal in December, 1917, and was named president of the provisional government December 9, a few days more than a year before he was assassinated.

Dr. Paes was a professor of mathematics in the University of Coinbra, when he entered the Portuguese cabinet in 1911 as minister of public works. At the outbreak of the war he was Portuguese minister to Germany and remained in Berlin until early part of 1916 when he returned to Lisbon.

Pushed War Harder.

While provisional president, Dr. Paes declared that Portugal would continue in agreement with the Allies against Germany. One of his first acts after being proclaimed president was to take active steps for greater participation in the war by Portugal.

On December 6, while walking in the streets of Lisbon, Dr. Paes was fired at, but the shot went wild. The president's aggressor was arrested.

Tamagnini Barbosa, the minister of the interior, has assumed the presidency.

PAY AMERICAN WAR BILLS

Senator Poindexter Insists Germany Meet All Expenses.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Demand that Germany be compelled to pay the United States war debts was voiced in the Senate by Senator Poindexter of Washington, Republican. He deplored the recent statement of Secretary Daniels against imposing indemnities, and said he did not think Mr. Daniels represented general opinion of the American people.

Old Time Actress Dead.

Nutley, N. J., Dec. 16.—Mrs. Euphemia Emma Ellsler, known in theatrical circles as Effie Ellsler, died here at the age of 95. Having made her first stage appearance when only 9 months old, Effie Ellsler played in her youth in a stock company which she and her husband, John A. Ellsler, maintained for many years at the Euclid avenue Opera house in Cleveland. Here she appeared in support with men and women who later became [illegible]

CUTS PHONE CHARGES

Postmaster General Burleson Announces New Schedule.

Changes in Rates Were Recommended in First Report of Standardization Committee.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Sweeping reductions in long distance and toll telephone rates by the adoption of a basic charge of 6¼ mills a mile, airline mileage, and half the day rate for night service up to midnight and one-fourth the day rate after that hour, were announced by Postmaster General Burleson. They become effective Jan. 21, next.

The new rates were recommended in the first report of the committee on rate standardization, and Mr. Burleson's statement said their effect is to equalize the toll and long distance charges over the country, "removing disparities and preferences and providing a scientific basis for future reductions contemplated as unification of telephone and telegraph wires proceeds."

"A night service rate," said the statement, "which is one-half the day rate, is established between 8:30 o'clock and midnight.

"Between midnight and 4:30 a. m. the night rate is one-fourth the day rate. These are greater reductions in night rates than have ever been made in any country, and doubtless will be extensively used, especially for social and family purposes. A person might talk from San Francisco to New York for about $4, whereas the day rate is approximately $16."

COUNCIL HONORS PRESIDENT

Unanimously Votes to Make Wilson a Citizen of Paris.

Paris, Dec. 16.—In unanimously voting, as it did, to confer upon President Wilson the title of a citizen of Paris, the municipal council was reviving a medieval tradition, declared Councillor Gent, who moved the resolution.

It was formerly the custom to confer honorary citizenship of the city upon those who had given distinguished services not only to Paris but to the entire country. He pointed out that at the time of the French revolution the title had been conferred on British, Italian and American personages.

FLEET IS HOMEWARD BOUND

Ten American Dreadnaughts Sail From French Port.

Brest, Dec. 16.—The American dreadnaught fleet of 10 ships, which escorted President Wilson into port, sailed for New York. The fleet is expected to reach its destination before Christmas.

The warships are the first to return of the American naval vessels which saw service with the battle fleet in the North sea.

Many Deaths in Wisconsin.

Madison, Wis., Dec. 16.—Deaths due to influenza in Wisconsin, reported for October, were 2,091 and pneumonia 525. Many of the deaths reported due to influenza undoubtedly were caused by pneumonia. The fact remains, however, that the loss of about 2,600 lives in that month is attributable to the influenza epidemic. In September influenza deaths numbered 65 and pneumonia 107. In October, 1917, influenza [illegible] claimed only [illegible]

ADDRESS OCCURS CHRISTMAS EVE

President Will Talk to American Soldiers at Main Concentration Points.

DETAILS ARE ARRANGED

Wilson's Remarks Are Expected to Emphasize and Delineate in Public Mind the Achievement of the United States Forces.

Paris, Dec. 16.—A speech to the American troops will be delivered by President Wilson on Christmas eve.

General Pershing has arranged for the President to visit the principal concentrations of the American Expeditionary force and to address them on Dec. 24, it was announced.

It is probable that the President's address on this occasion will emphasize and delineate in the public mind the achievement of the American forces.

Goes to Church Twice.

President Wilson spent his first Sunday in Paris by going twice to church, laying a wreath on the tomb of Lafayette and having a brief conference with Premier Clemenceau and another with Col. E. M. House. In the evening he rested in preparation for the coming strenuous week of preliminary conferences.

In the morning, the President, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson and Admiral Grayson and by secret service men, went to the American Presbyterian church in the Rue de Berri. His coming was known to only a few of the American colony who had guessed that the President, being a consistent churchgoer, would choose a church of his own denomination.

Goes to Church Again.

In the afternoon President Wilson went to a church of Mrs. Wilson's denomination, as is the custom in Washington when he goes twice on Sunday. The church selected was the American Episcopal church of the Holy Trinity, the bishop of South Carolina officiating.

The President visited the tomb of Lafayette in the Picpus cemetery, in the southeastern section of Paris while returning home after the morning church service.

The President insisted on taking his own wreath, contrary to the custom here by which the florist delivers the wreath and the donor later makes the visit and leaves his card. The President sent Admiral Grayson to buy the wreath and after some difficulty in explaining to the florist, who could not understand why the tradition was being broken obtained it and drove to the tomb.

Writes on His Card.

On his personal card, President Wilson wrote this inscription:

"In memory of the great Lafayette from a fellow servant of liberty."

To a foreign observer, it appeared that everyone in Paris was on the boulevards. There was no space whatever on the sidewalks. A great crowd gathered in the Place de la Concord before the headquarters of the American mission. The crowd jammed about the doors and took keen interest in every American passing in or out. The most inconsequential attache, carrying a case of official papers, was surrounded and carefully inspected by admiring French men and women.

Calls on President Poincare.

During the afternoon the President made a short call on President and Madame Poincare at the Palace of the Elysee.

After conferring with Premier Clemenceau, President Wilson had a long talk with Herbert C. Hoover, the American food administrator.

GERMANY DISPLAYS ANXIETY

Asks That Peace Negotiations Begin as Soon as Possible.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Germany has asked that peace negotiations be started as quickly as possible because of the famine in Germany.

A communication from Germany through the Swiss government asked the State department as to the place and date of the negotiations.

In presenting the inquiry, the Swiss government asked for a prompt reply, so that it could give the information to Germany.

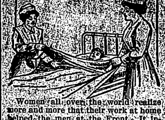
FEED SURPLUS TO BELGIUM

Remaining Army Supplies May Be Used in Relief Work.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Surplus supplies in the hands of the American army in France may be used for the relief of Belgium. The commission for relief in Belgium announced that negotiations to this end are being conducted with the War department, and that about one million yards of cloth sheeting already have been purchased.

Czernin Made Peace Plea.

Vienna, Dec. 11.—(Delayed.)—Count Czernin, former Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, gave the correspondent an opportunity to read a copy of the letter which he sent to Emperor Charles in April, 1918, in which the minister declared that the condition of Austria was growing desperate. In the letter Count Czernin told the emperor that he did not think another winter campaign was possible and asserted that it was necessary that peace [illegible]



Women all over the world realize more and more that their work at home helped the men at the Front. It involved great sacrifices, hard work and unusual physical strength. Women at home should study nursing for the home. A good way to learn is to ask your druggist for a copy or send 50c to publishers of the "Medical Adviser," 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y., and get a copy of their 1,000 page book bound in cloth, with chapters on First Aid, Taking Care of the Sick or Wounded, Physiology, Hygiene, Anatomy, Sex Problems, Mother and Babe. Nobody, man or woman, can do good work when health is impaired. If a woman is nervous or has dizzy spells, suffers from awful pains at regular or irregular intervals she should turn to a tonic made up of herbs, and without alcohol, which makes weak women strong and sick women well. It is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Send Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 10 cents for trial package.

Mankato, Minn.—"I have three daughters who are all strong and healthy today, due, I am sure, to the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. When in their teens they were all very delicate. I gave them this medicine and it never failed to give relief.

My blood was in bad condition. I also would suffer with pains all through my flesh at times. Could not seem to get anything to help this condition until I began using the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Pleasant Pellets' and they gave me wonderful relief.

RELIABLE PRESCRIPTION FOR THE KIDNEYS

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription.

Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

MAKE YOUR FUTURE SECURE

Easy Farming Methods in Western Canada and Certain Financial Benefits.

With your crop harvested and marketed, with the disposal of your cattle and hogs completed, you are ready to prepare your financial statement for the year. You will soon know what you have gained, and if the gain made in your farming operatons has been up to your expectations and will meet your requirements. Probably you may have been the loser. Your land may have been productive, but it may have been too high priced. The cost of production has been too great. If you have had the remuneration you sought and are satisfied this article may not interest you. If your returns have not been satisfactory, or if your ambition leads you to the laudable desire of bettering your condition, if you have dependents for whose future you have anxiety, you will naturally look around for some place, some opportunity that offers greater advantages and brings satisfactory returns. To the north and west of you lie hundreds of thousands of unbroken acres in Western Canada awaiting the husbandman, and ready to give of its richness to place you where you desire to be placed. For thousands of farmers from nearly every state in the Union the prairies of Western Canada have afforded wealth beyond what they had been led to expect. The excellence of the soil of Western Canada, which comprises the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, can only partially be told by the knowledge of some facts.

Every year for some years past the world's highest prizes for wheat, oats and barley have been carried off by grain grown on Western Canadian Prairies. Beef fattened on the grasses of these same prairies recently brought the highest prices ever paid on the Chicago market. Throughout the entire world the quality of Canadian grain, and Canadian beef and mutton, is recognized. To recite what individual farmers have done, the riches they have acquired would fill volumes. The case of James Wishart of Portage la Prairie is not an exceptional one. His wheat crop this past season yielded him forty-five bushels per acre, and the land upon which it was grown was broken forty-four years ago, and it has been continuously under crop except for an occasional summer fallow. At Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, samples of the wheat of 1918 weighed 68 pounds to the bushel, others 66 and some 65½ pounds. Wheat crops at Coaldale, Alberta, went as high as 38 bushels acre, while wheat crops near Barons, Alberta, had yields of from 25 to 30 bushels.

Records such as these speak in glowing terms of the excellence of the soil of Western Canada.

The war is over, and we are all settling down to a peace basis. There is a great world beyond the seas to feed and clothe, and thus is afforded the opportunity to lend a hand in the great work. Aside from the philanthropy in which you can play a part, there is the satisfaction of knowing you are amply providing for yourself and for the future of those who may be dependent upon you. Greater progress can be made in this and your own development by availing yourself of the advantages that Western Canada offers in its low-priced lands and high yielding values. There are good schools, desirable social conditions, low taxation (none on improvements) with an enjoyable climate, and the satisfaction of possessing a well tilled soil capable of producing abundant crops for which good prices prevail, at easily accessible marketing places.—Advertisement.

Dick Was Charitable.

At the funeral services for an elderly negro of Richmond, Va., the following colloquy was overheard:

"There ain't no use in talkin'," said Mose Barker; "Dick Williams, he was the most charitable man dis town ever seen."

"I reckon dat's so," said the darkey to whom Mr. Barker imparted this information. And he paused as if waiting for evidence on this point.

"Yessuh," continued Mr. Barker, "Dick Williams, he always owned a plug hat, and durin' my time I ain't never heard that Dick ever refused to lend dat hat to anybody."

Dog Had Something to Say.

The Hon. John W. Davis, appointed our ambassador in London in succession to Mr. Page, is an eminent lawyer.

Mr. Davis tells the story of a very small boy who was trying to lead a big St. Bernard up a busy thoroughfare. "Where are you going to take that dog, my little chap?" inquired a passerby. "I—I'm going to see where—where he wants to go first," was the breathless reply.

Relics of Aztecan Era.

Near Phoenix, within the Salt river valley, are to be found seven communal settlements of the same pre-Aztecan era, with central buildings that were far larger than that at Casa Grande, a writer in the Christian Science Monitor states. To the northward and northeast every river valley retains evidence of the passage of at least a portion of these peoples. [illegible]

NEWS OF STATE TERSELY TOLD

Recent Happenings In Minnesota Given In Brief Items For Busy Readers.

Crookston.—Tom Lee, arrested for forgery some time ago, was sentenced to not to exceed two and a half years at Stillwater.

Stillwater.—County Agent A. G. McCormick went to Forest Lake to arrange a big farmers' institute meeting that will be held there within a short time.

Baudette.—Flavo flour, manufactured by the Collins-Miller Milling company of Baudette and Spooner, has been put on the market and bread made from it gives satisfaction.

Mora.—Sheriff John Stillstedt has returned from Mahnomen county, having in charge Ole Peterson, arrested there on the charge of selling mortgaged property from this county.

Brainerd.—The last of a family died here when the 1-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Bajula passed away, the mother having succumbed in Crosby about a month ago, and the father died here more recently.

Bemidji.—Mike Anderson of Baudette, charged with violation of the liquor laws, was found guilty in district court. Ingval Sands, also of Baudette, was also found guilty of violating the liquor laws.

Mankato.—Major D. A. Dahl and several men of the medical corps of the Fifth Minnesota national guards have been detailed to go to Madelia, where there is a serious outbreak of influenza. The public school building has been turned into a hospital.

St. Paul.—The Delhi State bank and the Merchants' State bank of Delhi have been consolidated. The announcement was made by F. E. Pearson, state superintendent of banks, who finally approved the consolidation.

Washington.—The Minnesota oil inspection law of 1909 was held constitutional by the supreme court in deciding proceedings brought by the state to recover from the Pure Oil company $10,500 in fees alleged to be due for the inspection of oils and gasoline.

Roseau.—John Cmrstik, Sr., pioneer settler in the town of Barto, died, aged 66 years. Mr. Smrstik settled in Barto in 1894, homesteading the farm on which he had made his home from that time until his death. Besides his aged wife, he leaves six children.

St. Paul.—Plans for the demobilization of officers and men at the Air Service Mechanics' school, Midway, are now being worked out. It is probable that actual discharges will begin next week, and will be completed by the first of February. Dismantling of the school has begun.

Ortonville.—A movement is being started in Big Stone county to erect a memorial to the men who have died during the war. Plans for raising funds by public subscription and the appointment of a committee to carry on the work will be taken up by the county commissioners at their next meeting.

Minneapolis.—The slump in building and engineering operations this year in Minnesota, North and South Dakota due to war conditions is indicated by a falling off of $13,061,000 from the 1917 totals, according to information furnished by F. W. Dodge and company. Figures for the two years are $46,614,000 in 1917 and $33,553,000 this year.

University Farm.—A pen of crossbred Duroc Jersey-Berkshire barrows, bred and fed at University Farm, which won the championship in their division at the recent International Livestock show in Chicago, and which included the champion cross-bred barrow of the entire show, will be exhibited at University Farm during Farmers' and Home-Makers' Week, Dec. 30 to Jan. 4. The livestock exhibit at University Farm has always been one of the features of Farmers' and Home-Makers' Week, and the promise of the exhibition of barrows which won the championships in such a competition as the International Livestock show, will surely attract unusual attention.

St. Paul.—As one step in its win-the-war program, Minnesota alone saved 36,000,000 pounds of sugar and nearly 3,000,000 bushels of wheat for the Allies during the last year, A. D. Wilson, state food administrator, said. In addition to its conservation the state increased its wheat production 35,000,000 bushels, representing enough wheat to supply all Minnesota and 10,000 soldiers in addition, Mr. Wilson said. Other production increases during the last year include: Corn, from 90,000,000 bushels in 1917 to 108,000,000 bushels; oats, from 120,000,000 bushels to 130,000,000 bushels; barley, from 38,000,000 bushels to 45,000,000 bushels; rye, from 7,585,000 bushels to 6,700,000 bushels, and flax, from 1,900,000 bushels to 2,500,000 bushels.

International Falls.—George Gustafson was brought here from a Littlefork camp and taken to the hospital. He appeared to be demented and was turned over to the authorities and confined in the county jail, where he died. A cousin, Charles Gustafson, arrived from Two Harbors and took [illegible]

Faribault.—Dr. Frederick A. Anderegg of Faribault died suddenly at his hunting lodge at French lake. He was born near Mankato on July 16, 1865.

Moorhead.—Rose Clark, formerly assistant superintendent for St. John's hospital, Fargo, is now head nurse in an 1,800-bed Red Cross hospital at Chateau Thierry, France.

Climax.—The $40,000 schoolhouse here has been formally dedicated. It is modern in every respect and has an auditorium, gymnasium, domestic science department and manual training section.

Fairmont.—Mrs. Sarah Sweet Alvord, Martin county's oldest resident, is dead at her home in Lake Belt township, near Fairmont. She was 101 years, 5 months and 23 days old. Her husband, Daniel B. Alvord, died in 1890.

Two Harbors.—Two Harbors is still under the "flu" ban and will remain so until such a time as conditions here become less serious. This decision was reached last night by the city council upon the recommendation of Dr. R. L. Burns, chairman of the health board.

Moorhead.—Mrs. Martha Nykrien received a telegram from the war department stating that her son, Private Sophus M. Nykrien, was killed in action in France on Oct. 5. A letter had already been received from her son, written on Oct. 16, saying he was well. No further information has been received.

Stillwater.—Louis Zaiger, a prosperous farmer of Oneka township, pleaded guilty in district court of uttering a vile statement against the president of the United States. He was fined $250 and sentenced to four months in the Washington county jail by Judge J. N. Searles. Zaiger immediately paid his fine and then went to jail.

St. Cloud.—Anton Spier, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Spier of Freeport, was drowned in Uhlenkolts lake near Freeport. The young man was skating on the lake and it is said that he skated into a spring hole. He was a good swimmer, but sank under the ice and was unable to save himself. The body was recovered about two hours later.

Littlefork.—Guy Parker of Littlefork has just returned from France. He served in the merchant marine and received his discharge a short time ago upon his return from a trip across. Mr. Parker is a pioneer resident of Koochiching county, and for many years was engaged in the newspaper business here, but is now cashier of a local bank.

St. Paul.—More than 40,000 acres of state school lands, specially adapted to agriculture, will be placed on the market for the first time at sales next spring in anticipation of the demand of returning soldiers desirous of turning to farming as a future occupation. Oscar Arneson, state superintendent of timber, made the announcement. Liberal terms of payment will be provided.

Minneapolis.—Termination of navy training at Dunwoody institute and sending away about 900 men by April 1, has been agreed upon by navy and institute officials in accordance with a schedule announced by H. W. Kavel, acting director of the institute. Mr. Kavel said that a small percentage of the men in some of the courses would receive discharges before completing their courses.

Stillwater.—Edward W. Durant, pioneer lumberman and former state senator, died yesterday in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Henrietta Barclay. Mr. Durant was 89 years old and was born in Roxbury, Mass. He came to Minnesota in 1848 and settled in Stillwater, where he had lived ever since. In the palmy days of the lumber industry Mr. Durant was both a lumberman and steamboat man.

St. Paul.—Minnesota sent 94,787 fighting men to the world war, according to the first official figures compiled in the office of Adjutant General W. F. Rhinow and made public by Lieutenant T. Glenn Harrison, staff intelligence officer. The state is credited with furnishing more than 120,000 men to the nation's war forces, Lieutenant Harrison said, but that total includes noncombatants and Red Cross, Y. M. C. A. and other workers in special service.

Brainerd.—The ban, that was lifted Nov. 26 after running from Oct. 13 has been clamped down again and prohibits until further orders all public and private dances, public auctions, the holding of special sales or the offering of any special inducements by any business house to induce crowds to assemble, the holding of Sunday schools or Sunday school conventions, the unnecessary assemblage of people in any building or about the streets of Brainerd.

St. Paul.—A bill to prohibit display of the red flag in Minnesota will be the first one presented in the House of Representatives at the coming session if Representative Frank E. Nimocks of Minneapolis has his way. For several sessions Mr. Nimocks has been the author of House File No. 1. A bill to officially recognize the Minnesota Motor Reserve corps is another measure which Mr. Nimocks is having prepared. He would have the state appropriate sufficient funds to pay members for their time and for wear and tear on their cars.

Hallock.—Game Warden William Munch arrested Edward Surface at Northcote on a charge of trapping out of season and brought him here where Surface pleaded guilty to the charge before Judge H. B. Bornemann. He was forced to pay a fine of $22 and [illegible]

AND HE LEFT THE DOLLAR

Jenkins Evidently Had No Immediate Necessity for Any of That Famous Liquid Glue.

Jenkins, who had gone to the store that sold everything, happened to notice, while the assistant was serving him, a dollar lying on the floor near by his foot—a whole round, silver dollar.

Quivering with excitement and glancing cautiously round to see that no one was watching him, he dropped —quite accidentally, of course—one of his gloves on top of the coin. Then, bending, he proceeded to pick up his glove, but the dollar did not accompany it. The elusive coin still remained where it was—upon the floor. He made a second attempt to get hold of it, but with the same result.

Then, just as he was contemplating the wisdom of a third endeavor, a salesman came up to him and said:

"Good evening, sir! May I be allowed to show you a bottle of our famous liquid glue? As, no doubt, you are aware, its sticking powers—"

But Jenkins had fled.

HAARLEM OIL CAPSULES IF YOUR BACK ACHES

Do you feel tired and "worn-out?" Are you nervous and irritable? Don't sleep well at night? Have a "dragged out," unrested feeling when you get up in the morning? Dizzy spells? Bilious? Bad taste in the mouth, backache, pain or soreness in the loins, and abdomen? Severe distress when urinating, bloody, cloudy urine or sediment? All these indicate gravel or stone in the bladder, or that the poisonous microbes, which are always in your system, have attacked your kidneys.

You should use GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules immediately. The oil soaks gently into the walls and lining of the kidneys, and the little poisonous animal germs, which are causing the inflammation, are immediately attacked and chased out of your system without inconvenience or pain.

Don't ignore the "little pains and aches," especially backaches. They may be little now but there is no telling how soon a dangerous or fatal disease of which they are the forerunners may show itself. Go after the cause of that backache at once, or you may find yourself in the grip of an incurable disease.

Do not delay a minute. Go to your druggist and insist on his supplying you with a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. In 24 hours you will feel renewed health and vigor. After you have cured yourself, continue to take one or two Capsules each day so as to keep in first-class condition, and ward off the danger of future attacks. Money refunded if they do not help you. Ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand, and thus be sure of getting the genuine.—Adv.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam, Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879

There seems to be a difference of opinion among the people from the U. S. Senate down to the every day laborer, regarding the government ownership of the railroads. There is one fact that has been fully demonstrated, and that is that the government will charge higher freight and passenger rates, than the former owners. About all of the labor unions are strongly in favor of government ownership, and it is no wonder that they are, as they get an increase in salary every month or two. But some one must pay the additional cost, and it now looks as if ninety per cent of the increased costs of operating the railroads under government control, would come out of the farmers, who must pay the freight both ways. Freight on their wheat to the eastern markets and freight on their supplies that comes from the eastern factories.

While it is necessary for a farmer to have to pay as high as ten per cent interest on money to pay his allotment of liberty loan bonds, yet we consider it an act of patriotism to keep them, instead of selling them at a discount to the banks. But if you are of the opinion that you can not afford to keep them, do not allow strangers to trade you any stock in some mining or oil company for them, but sell them for good United States money.

There is nothing more disgusting to the ordinary citizen than to see a man that was defeated for office going around the country whining like a whipped cur, and telling how much better he could have filled the office than the candidate who defeated him at the election. The poor deluded mortal does not seem to realize that if the people had wanted him they would have elected him, and only smile and wonder why he does not tell his troubles to the policeman on the corner, who is paid to listen to hard luck stories.

Notwithstanding our farmers got a good crop this year, and good prices, yet some of them will not break even for the amount they have ran behind in the last three years by not getting a fair crop. One more as good a year as we had this year, and about all of the eastern Pennington county farmers can say that they are on easy street, and the banks will have to begin to loan their money out to ne'er do wells, who always depend on loaning money to live on.

While it is now possible for ordinary users of sugar to obtain sufficient sugar, yet the food administration found that it would not do to remove all restrictions, as there is a certain class of people that are alarmed for fear they are not going to get sugar enough at some future date, that would immediately grab enough sugar to last two or three years, which would of course exhaust the present supply of sugar.

CARGO OF SUPPLIES GOES TO ARCHANGEL

Red Cross Sends Relief Ships for Allied Soldiers and Civilians in Starving Russia.

A relief ship was recently sent from this country to Archangel by the American Red Cross with 4,600 tons of drugs, food, soap and other supplies for the use of the Allied soldiers and needy civilians in that part of Russia. The vessel's cargo was valued at $1,611,233.

Later, another ship was dispatched carrying 200 tons of similar supplies furnished by the American Red Cross, the total expenditure for the two shipments amounting to over $2,000,000.

Major C. T. Williams of Baltimore was in charge of the party of thirteen which accompanied the shipment from this country. He was formerly a member of the Red Cross Commission for Roumania. Major Kirkpatrick, at one time a member of the latter commission, but recently attached to the Army Medical Corps, heads the medical end of the Archangel expedition. Drugs and general hospital supplies constituted the greater part of the cargo sent from America.

While the chief concern of the expedition was providing comforts for American and Allied fighting men in that part of the world, all efforts were bent to get relief to the Russian soldiers who were returned from German prison camps at the rate of about 15,000 a week. The condition of these men was pitiable. It has been estimated that 90 per cent. of them were tubercular.

In addition to drugs and food, almost every imaginable article on the list of supplies sent over was for the comfort, convenience and pleasure of the Allied soldiers. Just a few of these articles were playing cards, razor blades, jewsharps, mandolins, accordeons, ukaleles, phonographs, cameras, skates, wigs, whiskers, grease paints, footballs, snowshoes, slippers, hockey outfits, indoor baseballs, moving picture outfits, Bibles, prayer books, boxing gloves, games, music, books, cigarettes, candy and dried fruits.

The need of prompt relief for the inhabitants of towns along the coast of the White Sea and on the Kola peninsula, many of whom were facing starvation, was found to be imperative. Scurvy had broken out among the people at these places, adding to the general distress.

The towns to which the relief expedition was sent are virtually isolated from the outside world because of the treacherous coast line, shifting sand bars and uncharted waters. An exceptionally early frost, even for that part of the world, ruined the harvests, which were expected to improve conditions. Statements, printed in Russian, explaining the work of the Red Cross, were distributed among the inhabitants.

TRIBUTES FROM SECRETARY BAKER

Following a tour of South England, Secretary of War Baker made this comment on the work done by the American Red Cross for our boys:

"These are the things which count. The American Red Cross is to be congratulated on the way in which it is looking after our boys. It is doing fine work."

Following his return from France, Secretary Baker wrote this note to the American Red Cross in London:

"I left London so shortly after my drive to Winchester that I had no early opportunity to thank you for the courtesy of the touring car which you placed at my disposal for the trip. On this trip to Europe I have received fresh and noteworthy evidence of the astonishing efficiency of the American Red Cross operations in France and England. I have been delighted to see how much the American Red Cross has done to weld hearts of the allied people together."

Replacing the Orchards.

The American Red Cross has given $10,000 to assist in the replanting of trees in the orchards laid bare by the Germans. With this sum 40,000 fruit trees will be replaced in the devastated orchards of Belgium and northern France.

CITATION FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR ADMINISTRATION

ESTATE OF Harry Stucy.

State of Minnesota, County of Pennington in Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Harry Stucy Decedent:

The State of Minnesota To Theresa Stucy and all persons interested in the granting of administration of the estate of said decedent:

The petition of Theresa Stucy having been filed in this Court, representing that Harry Stucy, then a resident of the County of Pennington State of Minnesota, died intestate on the 8th day of October 1918, and praying that letters of administration of his estate be granted to Edward C. Stucy and the Court having fixed the time and place for hearing said petition.

THEREFORE, YOU, AND EACH OF YOU, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this Court at the Probate Court Rooms in the City of Thief River Falls in the County of Pennington State of Minnesota, on the 31st day of December 1918 at one o'clock P. M., why said petition should not be granted.

WITNESS, the Judge of said Court, and the Seal of said Court, this 29th day of November 1918.

Suffered Unnecessarily.

Some one has told this very interesting story of a ship that was becalmed. The drinking water that they had on board was exhausted, and the sailors were nearly dying of thirst. Just as they were about to give up all hope a sail was spied in the distance. The men, taking a new lease on life, signaled their distress, but to their horror, instead of veering from its course to bring them aid, it answered with these words "Lower your buckets where you are!" A frenzy of wrath seized the thirsty men and they cursed the captain of the ship who, they supposed, had renounced all the traditions of the sea as well as the instincts of humanity in telling them to drink the salt water.

Then one of the sailors suggested that they obey the order, and when he had lowered the bucket discovered that the ship was standing in a stream of fresh water.

Over 500 different types of husked rice or paddy were under examination last year at one of the government agricultural farms in Burma, and over 200 types of sassamum were grown at another. Hitherto much of the sassamum grown in Burma has been exported to Europe, where it is used for the production of the so-called "olive oil," for which France and Italy have long been famed.

The greyhound was first used as a [illegible] producer for its owners. It was necessary to have a dog that could run fast to capture animals for food, when weapons were in their infancy. There was no scale of points nor any typical lines on which this dog was bred. As a matter of fact utility was the foundation of all the great breeds of greyhounds. A wide-chested, straight shouldered, slack loined, poor quartered dog is unable to run fast and a dog that had those faults could not do what the greyhound does. And that is the reason why some form of greyhound can be traced back as far as we have any dog history.

Legend of the Garnet.

The Indians who live in Arizona have a great deal of sentiment about the garnet mines, it is said, and there are numerous legends concerning it, one of which is that centuries ago on a cold winter night the little daughter of a great Indian chief died, and as she passed away Indians standing outside the place where she lay noticed an immense multitude of sparks that flew up from the chief's chimney and settled upon the mountain side, where they shone as brightly as stars, never growing cold and dead.

Later they sank into the earth and formed the garnets that gem the entire mountain.

Pretty Legend Concerning Maid Worthy to Be Known as Indian Joan of Arc.

In the great northwestern country between the mighty Rockies and the beautiful Cascades are the mountains called the Huckleberry range. They spread their arms comfortably about the many small mining towns of Washington. A soldierly array of pines and tamaracks keep watch over all the inhabitants of Huckleberry range—the hardy farmers, rugged miners and the [illegible] redskins.

A large tribe of Indians [illegible] in these mountains, from the heights of which one can look out over the blue haze of Idaho, view the gleaming wide ribbon of the Columbia river, or behold the white tips of the Canadian Rockies.

A tale is told by the folk of Huckleberry range about Camas, the fairest maid of this ancient Indian tribe. During one of the many forest fires of the region, when the entire range seemed threatened with destruction, this Indian Joan of Arc gathered in her arms some little pink and white flowers and disappeared down the winding trail.

She went to the very edge of the fire, where the dried grasses blazed and sizzled with the flames and the blazing pines stretched out scorching fingers toward her and the dainty peace offering. Then, the legend says, the Great Spirit was appeased and sheets of rain hid the brave Indian maid from the view of her people.

Never more was Camas seen by her tribe, but every spring since then the strange little pink and white flowers have covered the wide meadows of Huckleberry range. In honor of the Indian girl the blossom is called the Camas flower.

Tuaregs of the Sahara Desert Are Supposed to Be Descended From Once World Rulers.

The original gas-masked people of the world are the Tuaregs of the Sahara desert, a strange race, supposed to be descended from the Roman colonists of North Africa and the Arabs who carried the standard of Mohammed into the wilderness 1,200 years ago. An immense and almost unknown country is held by the Tuaregs, a fierce fighting people who range on swift camels from Algeria to Timbuctoo. Tales are told of white-walled cities in the Tuareg lands, with Roman theaters, circuses and baths still standing as the Romans left them, and now the haunt of the Tuareg tribesmen.

The mystery that surrounds the Tuaregs is doubled by their custom of always going masked. A mask of white or black cloth covers the mouth and nostrils, and so the Tuaregs say, protects them from the dust and windblown sand of the desert, from the poisonous vapors of the Niger valleys, and, no doubt, from the disease germs which float so freely in the filthy towns of Africa. Certain it is that infectious diseases ravage other North African people, while the Tuaregs maintain magnificent health from year to year. Few travelers have ever seen the Tuaregs unmasked. Those who have, declare that they are as white as any Europeans, and decidedly handsome, their pale skins doubtless being largely due to the mask which keeps off the burning sun.

Thoughts in Music.

A girl, artistic to her very finger tips, had been learning to play the piano for six years, and had come to hate music. She was a victim of the prevalent mechanical mode of teaching. On being questioned she admitted that there was one thing that interested her—a tune written by herself. "I loved to do it and I can sing it." Here she had used her own initiative, and the exercise of it had made her happy. Teachers will find that all children are interested in making music, and that the interest grows where otherwise it is apt to flag. The value of folksongs is dilated on, and the author has found that boys like the Wagner motives, some of which are as simple as folk songs.

American Red Cross Aids With Supplies and Comforts in the Equipment of Valiant Army.

It is particularly interesting to Americans to know the tremendous work which the American Red Cross has done toward relieving distress in Belgium. Among the things done for King Albert's gallant little army by the Red Cross the following are a few:

It established a dining room and reading and writing room at [illegible] houses in Le Havre.

It gave a plate and a bowl to 6,000 munition workers in —— to use at their meals.

It fitted up recreation rooms for workers at munition plants.

It installed a co-operative restaurant for the military personnel of the Administration Agency at Le Havre.

It installed shower baths and a barber shop for the army garrisons in Le Havre.

In army training centers the Red Cross gave household comforts, phonographs, games, etc.

It established a dormitory for 200 men at the Home for Permissionaires at Calais.

It established a canteen and library at Calais.

It established another canteen for the personnel of sanitary trains.

It gave material and games for a canteen for the personnel of the naval base at ——.

It gave the same for a canteen for the personnel of Belgian seaplane units.

It equipped a mess for the personnel of the unit at Calais.

It gave tents, canteens, reading rooms and shower baths for the personnel of the Bourbourg bakery.

It organized dining rooms for searchlight companies and artillery batteries having fixed cantonments, and installed shower baths in them.

It distributed 60,000 enameled plates and cups for soldiers in the trenches.

It gave prizes for organized athletic tournaments.

It sent presents to each man decorated for bravery. These presents are usually razors, pipes, fountain pens and such. Up to now this work has only applied to the infantry.

The Red Cross provided the apparatus and films for cinema shows. Eight thousand soldiers see them every day.

It supplied books for all soldiers.

It installed a recreation and writing room at the large canteen at La Panne.

It presented to every infantry and cavalry regimental surgeon a medical traveling case holding a set of medical instruments for field service.

This work required an appropriation of approximately 1,250,000 francs.

Straight from the front is this comment of a Belgian colonel. It was made recently while he was sitting in his dugout, talking of the work of a canteen for which the American Red Cross had just provided quarters on very short notice:

Illness and Literature.

There is nothing like a good long illness for the cultivation of pure literature. It should not be too severe or needlessly painful, for then you may overshoot the mark and be too weary to read or be read to. It is possible to have too much of even the best things. But a proper, comfortable illness that keeps you in bed, yet leaves you free to read; that banishes all the interruptions of life, the constitutional walks, the stupid visits, the annoying correspondence, the dressing and the undressing, and all the amenities of modern civilization, and allows you to lie at peace and read your fill, is among the best gifts of the gods. You soon forget to be sleepy and lazy, your mind displays an unwonted activity, and you become conscious of an insatiable craving for books.—Ohio State Journal.

Great British Soldier.

Arthur Wellesley, first Duke Wellington, was born probably on the 29th of April, 1769, in Dublin. He was an unpromising boy, and his mother, deciding that her "ugly boy Arthur" was "fit food for powder and nothing else," sent him to a military academy at Angers, France. He entered the army in 1787 and rose rapidly, seeing much service, until his great opportunity came when Napoleon returned from Elba and Wellington was summoned to command the forces of the English and allies in Belgium, in co-operation with the Prussians under Blucher. The battles of Ligny and Quatre Bras were followed by the battle of Waterloo, June 18, 1815, which finally shattered the power of Napoleon. Wellington was buried in St. Paul's cathedral, November 18, 1852.

Tales are told of white-walled cities in the Tuareg lands, with Roman theaters, circuses and baths still standing as the Romans left them, and now the haunt of the Tuareg tribesmen.

The mystery that surrounds the Tuaregs is doubled by their custom of always going masked. A mask of white or black cloth covers the mouth and nostrils, and, so the Tuaregs say, protects them from the dust and windblown sand of the desert, from the poisonous vapors of the Niger valleys, and, no doubt, from the disease germs which float so freely in the filthy towns of Africa. Certain it is that infectious diseases ravage other North African people, while the Tuaregs maintain magnificent health from year to year. Few travelers have ever seen the Tuaregs unmasked. Those who have declare that they are as white as any Europeans, and decidedly handsome, their pale skins doubtless being largely due to the mask which keeps off the burning sun.

Thoughts in Music.

A girl, artistic to her very finger tips, had been "learning to play the piano" for six years, and had come to hate music. She was a victim of the prevalent mechanical mode of teaching. On being questioned, she admitted that there was one thing that interested her—a tune written by herself. "I loved to do it, and I can sing it." Here she had used her own initiative, and the exercise of it had made her happy. "Teachers will find that all children are interested in thinking music, and that the interest grows where otherwise it is apt to flag." The value of folksongs is dilated on, and the author has found that boys like the Wagner motives, some of which are as simple as folksongs.

American Red Cross Aids With Supplies and Comforts in the Equipment of Valiant Army.

It is particularly interesting to Americans to know the tremendous work which the American Red Cross has done toward relieving distress in Belgium. Among the many things done for King Albert's gallant little army by the Red Cross the following are a few:

It established a dining room and reading and writing room at the wagon houses in Le Havre.

It gave a plate and a bowl to 6,000 munition workers in —— to use at their meals.

It fitted up recreation rooms for workers at munition plants.

It installed a co-operative restaurant for the military personnel of the Maritime Agency at Le Havre.

It installed shower baths and a barber shop for the army garrisons in Le Havre.

In army training centers the Red Cross gave household comforts, phonographs, games, etc.

It established a dormitory for 200 men at the Home for Permissionaires at Calais.

It established a canteen and library at Calais.

It established another canteen for the personnel of sanitary trains.

It gave material and games for a canteen for the personnel of the naval base at ——.

It gave the same for a canteen for the personnel of Belgian seaplane units.

It equipped a mess for the personnel of the unit at Calais.

It gave tents, canteens, reading rooms and shower baths for the personnel of the Bourbough bakery.

It organized dining rooms for searchlight companies and artillery batteries having fixed cantonments, and installed shower baths in them.

It distributed 60,000 enameled plates and cups for soldiers in the trenches.

It gave prizes for organized athletic tournaments.

It sent presents to each man decorated for bravery. These presents are usually razors, pipes, fountain pens and such. Up to now this work has only applied to the infantry.

The Red Cross provided the apparatus and films for cinema shows. Eight thousand soldiers see them every day.

It supplied books for all soldiers.

It installed a recreation and writing room at the large canteen at La Panne.

It presented to every infantry and cavalry regimental surgeon a medical traveling case, holding a set of medical instruments for field service.

This work required an appropriation of approximately 1,250,000 francs.

Straight from the front is this comment of a Belgian colonel: "It was made recently while he was sitting in his dugout talking of the work of a canteen for which the American Red Cross had just provided quarters on very short notice. [illegible] One live demonstration like this is better than a year of talk."

American Red Cross has erected barracks at Dijon, France, to serve as a day nursery for the children of the French women who work in the United States Army camouflage factory.

Illness and Literature.

There is nothing like a good long illness for the cultivation of pure literature. It should not be too severe or needlessly painful, for then you may overshoot the mark and be too weary to read or be read to. It is possible to have too much of even the best things. But a proper, comfortable illness, that keeps you in bed, yet leaves you free to read; that banishes all the interruptions of life, the constitutional walks, the stupid visits, the annoying correspondence, the dressing and the undressing, and all the amenities of modern civilization, and allows you to lie at peace and read your fill, is among the best gifts of the gods. You soon forget to be sleepy and lazy, your mind displays an unwonted activity, and you become conscious of an insatiable craving for books.—Ohio State Journal.

Great British Soldier.

Arthur Wellesley, first Duke Wellington, was born probably on the 29th of April, 1769, in Dublin. He was an unpromising boy, and his mother, deciding that her "ugly boy, Arthur," was "fit food for powder and nothing else," sent him to a military academy at Angers, France. He entered the army in 1787 and rose rapidly, seeing much service, until his great opportunity came when Napoleon returned from Elba and Wellington was summoned to command the forces of the English and allies in Belgium, in co-operation with the Prussians under Blucher. The battles of Ligny and Quatre Bras were followed by the battle of Waterloo, June 18, 1815, which finally shattered the power of Napoleon. Wellington was buried in St. Paul's cathedral, November 18, 1852.

AT TURN OF ROAD

Beginning of New Year Good Time for Retrospection.

Inspiration for All of Us in Realization That Things Which Worried and Saddened Were Only Trifles.

By WM. GEORGE JORDAN.

THE beginning of the new year is a natural, sharp turn in the road of time. Here we may wisely rest a while, and in the peace and quiet and calm of self-communion see the long stretch of the road of a single twelvemonth. It is built imperishably of short steps of living—from moment to moment.

Many of the purposes for which we labored and struggled, in our narrow, close, selfish absorption, seem poor, petty and puny when seen from the turn of the road. The structure of some effort we thought marble now is shown in its sickening sham as a hasty affair of show and pretense, made of staff, that could not stand the wear and tear and test of time. It was not built on square lines of character, of the best that was in us. It lacked strength, sincerity, simplicity. The material was made up of policy and selfishness put together on hurried plans. It was a failure; it cannot be rebuilt; but it is worth only a passing regret and a realization of the lesson of its nonsuccess—at the turn of the road.

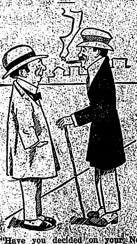
The look backward from the turn of the road should inspire us by making vivid to us how much of what we feared never came to pass. The tyranny of worry, that dominated us and held us for months trembling slaves to a weak fear, that dissipated our energy, dulled our thinking, and darkened our mental vision, at the very hours that should have given us fullest control of our best, is now seen as an enemy to truce individual growth. It means a harder fight in the unending battle against worry and grief.

The broader view of life reveals that the only great things in life are trifles; that what pained us most, saddened our hearts, and turned our hopes to ashes were only trifles—cumulating into overwhelming importance. A cruel word, an unkindness, a little misunderstanding may darken a day and separate us from one we love or may petrify us into a mood of doubt and despair. The most joyous moments of life, the high lights in the pictures of memory, may too be only trifles of kindness, fine expressions of love, simple tributes of confidence and trust that make the very heart smile—as we remember.

Nature is constantly giving us new turns of the road. It may be a birthday or some general anniversary in the cycle of the year. It may be some red-letter day in the private calendar of our emotions or some date eloquent to us as telling of some joyous "first" or some pathetic "last" time in the sacred diary of the heart. It may be a supreme sorrow, an agonizing sense of loss, the coming of a great joy, the closing of some epoch in our lives, the proving of the actuality of something too awful for us even to have feared, some exultant half-hour that changes irrevocably all our living. These and numberless other days, hours or single moments may bring us alone to—the turn of the road.

Then may come one of those rare moments of life, of fine spiritual discernment, of luminous revelation, of coming to one's highest self, when the sordid, the mean, the temporary, the selfish are stripped in an instant of their garish shams and tinsel. Then the real, the true, the eternal stand out in their majesty, bathed in the splendor and glow of the revealing of truth. In such a spirit the very tingle of the inspiration of the infinite fills us. We seem born again to new, better and greater things, for we have seen the divine vision—at the turn of the road.

EXPEDIENCY.



"Have you decided on your New Year resolutions?"

"Yes; I'm going to give up all my expensive habits."

"For how long?"

"Until I get my holiday bills paid and can afford them again."

Moral—Don't Be Too Good.

It certainly is embarrassing, with New Year's day coming around year after year, to have no bad habits to swear off.

Keep a Few.

Reserve a few good resolutions for January thirty-first. You may need them.

To the Old Year

By PATIENCE WORTH.

We part, oh comrade, reluctantly;
Long have we trod the winding way,
Troublous, clouded, graysome—
Aye, the shadowed way!
Adieu! We part, oh, comrade! Adieu!
Upon thy way I see thee going,
Bended low 'neath thy burden,
Weighted, bowing, tired, plodding,
Heavy-footed out upon thy newsome path.
What hand shall welcome thee?

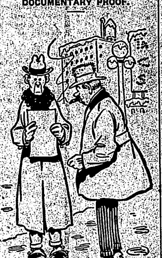
Adieu, oh comrade! We part—
Thou upon thy way, and I upon mine.
I have seen thy brothers slain,
I have watched thine eyes streaming;
I have seen thee stop upon thy way
To stanch some bleeding thing,
Smiling wisely, bending tenderly,
But thou art weary now—
Bent and weary. Thy steps
Are stepped most falteringly.

Adieu! With thee upon thy path,
Oh, wilt thou take the memory
Of my hand's clasp—the touch
Of one brother upon the other's flesh?
Oh, wilt thou then turn
And smile me back one smile of fellowship?

I see my aged form sink low.
I would burden thee not, save of my love;
Nor would I hang upon thy brow
A garland of glistening green
That flasheth scarlet bud.
Nay, 'twould be as a skull
Wreathed of victor's laurel—
A folly-crown upon thy most venerable brow.

Adieu, oh comrade! Upon thy path!
The years that come are beckoning me;
But I shall recall thy burdens,
Thy sorrows, thy tendernesses.
Aye, and, oh, wilt thou turn upon thy path
And smile a smile of fellowship,
Oh, parting year?

DOCUMENTARY PROOF.



"What have you there?"

"Merely a few New Year resolutions."

"I presume you wrote them down so you wouldn't forget them?"

"No. My wife made me write them down so she wouldn't forget them."

GOOD RESOLVES FOR WOMEN

Suggestions Pertinent to New Year That Will Make Home More Cheerful and Comfortable.

So many people, in making their New Year resolutions think only of their diets, their characters, and their pocketbooks! Their homes, which, directly or indirectly, influence all these things, are disassociated in their minds with anything pertaining to the New Year and the fresh page that is just turning over. But when each woman stops to think that her home may be made so attractive that her menfolks, without knowing the reason, will want to spend their evenings there; that her children will grow up with higher ideals, and will always keep a beautiful memory of what home means; that she herself will walk with her head well up, and her shoulders back, as she sallies forth to take her place in the world of men, knowing in her heart that her home is as it should be—since home is such a sacred place, shall we not include the word in the list of our desires and strivings? Shall we not resolve to make it worthy of our life and love?

Have you a chair that squeaks as you sit down upon it? Why not mend it? Have you mended that ripped hem in your couch cover? Have you tacked down that loose place in your hall carpet? Are you not tired of looking at your pillows which need recovering? When are you going to get at cleaning off that smoky place on your ceiling? Little repairs like these work wonders in the home. Why not get at them this next week?

Have you a room which does not please you? Why not experiment with the furniture and see if you cannot place it to greater advantage, or so that it will give greater comfort? Often the arrangement of a room is responsible for its lack of charm.

Does your woodwork need repainting? Why not start to paint it a little at a time? In so doing the time spent is never missed, and we paint in small areas is easier to steer around.

Have you too many ornaments in your house? Why not pack some of them carefully away, and see how you like doing without them? Your rooms would be happier.

Start Life Anew.

If your life was not what it should have been last year, leave the old life behind with the old year, and start anew.

One Drawback.

One of the drawbacks of New Year resolutions is that [illegible]

ANOTHER LEAF

By HELEN M. RICHARDSON

Within life's book another leaf is turned;
Today we face a new and untried year,
Its secrets and its purpose all unguessed.
No hand may lift the veil that hides from us
Success or failure, and no feet save ours
May tread our pathway, do our several tasks.
We step into the New Year's outstretched arms,
And wonder if with all her luring charms
Truer she'll prove than one we leave behind.
What we have gained from wrestling with defeat,
Mayhap will give us strength new foes to meet
With greater courage. Come, then, storm and stress,
Defeat and failure, or joy's magic spell,
To each or all the new year holds in store
We reach our hands in welcome, for we know
Our truest blessings from our failures grow,
And that our share of happiness will be
What we acquire through self-mastery.

A NEW YEAR SERMON

By REV. JAMES M. GRAY, D.D.

"AND now, Lord, what wait I for?"—Psalm 39:7.

Another twelvemonth has almost gone, and we are yet in the land of the living. If we give this serious consideration, we must regard it as remarkable. Some think death the strangest wonder of human history, but is not life stranger? When we reflect upon our frame, and the shocks of life it must endure, must we not exclaim with Young,

"Strange that a harp of thousand strings
Should keep in tune so long!"

Is it to be wondered at if, like David, we too should put the question, "What wait I for?" The mystery of being here is not profounder than the mystery of staying here. Let us ask God the question. The psalmist felt he could not trust his own conclusions, and so he said, "Lord, what wait I for?"

It may be you are waiting to be saved. God is not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance and live.

"O Ephraim, how can I give thee up, how shall I leave thee, Judah?" Behold him weeping over the Holy City, "O Jerusalem, how often would I have gathered thy children together, as a hen gathereth her brood under her wings, and ye would not!" He is so pleading with some of you today. To go back no farther than the past year, has there been no sermon, no invitation or warning, no supplication or exhortation, that has appealed to your intelligence, or moved your emotions, pleading with you to accept Christ? Have you lost no friend or neighbor by death during that period? Have you had no escape from bodily peril, or no illness to remind you of the uncertainty of life? Can you conscientiously say that in all these respects God has left you alone? Has he done not a thing to startle you out of your false security, to convince you of sin, to invite you to the Savior? I repeat, has God left you absolutely alone? Ah! you cannot say that he has.

How long halt ye between two opinions? God pushes for a decision, and an immediate reply. "Today if ye will hear his voice harden not your heart." [illegible]

It may be you are waiting to bear fruit. You are, by the grace of God already saved, let us suppose. But for what purpose were you saved? Since God loves you with a love that passeth knowledge, and since "to depart and be with Christ" is far better than to remain here—why did he not call you to him at your conversion? [illegible]

"chosen me," said Christ, "but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain." May it be to give you another opportunity to glorify his father by bearing fruit, that you are still here?

It may be you are waiting to be perfected. I ought to explain this, because there is a sense in which every true Christian is perfected the moment he accepts Christ as his Savior. He is perfected in that he is both justified and sanctified; his sin is put away, and by the Holy Spirit he himself is set apart for God forever. The New Testament is very clear on this; notice Paul's words in his epistle to the Colossians, for example.

What, then, do we mean by saying we may be waiting to be perfected? Do we mean the attainment of a state of sinlessness this side of heaven? No; for if a Christian lived to be as old as Methuselah, would he not still require to pray, "Forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us?" We only mean that perfectness, in the sense of a ripeness for the sickle, which comes in the lives of some as if a crown of glory had been vouchsafed to them even before they passed into the unseen.

And so may it be with some of you. Though now your pruning, your digging, and perhaps your growing days are over, yet the quiet but potent rays of divine grace are accomplishing a maturity in your experience, so that your Christian life never will have been so attractive as in the hour that you depart hence. "We all do fade as a leaf, but the fall of you, ye glory-crowned ones, is to be illumined by the grandeur of an autumnal sunset."

God bless you, aged brethren! God bless you, young and old, rich and poor, saint and sinner! May you have a "Happy New Year" in the highest and truest sense. "Happy is the people whose God is the Lord." Accept him, serve him, wait for him. It is only as we stand in such relationship to him that, after employing the psalmist's question, "And now, Lord, what wait I for?" we can confidently apply the consolation in his words that follow, "My hope is in thee."

A NEW YEAR BUDGET.

The thousand cheery words I never spoke—
The kindly deeds I always meant to do—
The letters planned—(alas! but never penned)
I send them now—my New Year gift to you!
Oh, very heavy is the pack, my dear!
Yet courage comes to me this blessed day.
So please accept one whole delinquent year
Of loving things my heart would do and say!

—Laura Simmons.

Half a Century Ago

Half a Century Ago, every community could be supplied to some extent with locally dressed meat, drawing on live stock raised nearby.

Now two-thirds of the consuming centers, with millions of people, are one to two thousand miles away from the principal live-stock producing sections, which are sparsely settled.

The American meat packing industry of today is the development of the best way to perform a national service.

The function of providing meat had to develop accordingly. Those men who first grasped the elements of the changing problem created the best facilities to meet it—large packing plants and branch houses at strategic points, refrigerating equipment (including cars), car routes, trained organization, profitable outlets for former waste—which became the natural, inevitable channels for the vast flow of meat across the country.

If there were a better way to perform this necessary service, American ingenuity and enterprise would have discovered it, and others would now be using it.

During 1918, Swift & Company has earned a profit on meats (and meat by-products) of less than 2⅛ cents per dollar of sales—too small a profit to have any appreciable effect on prices.

Acid-Stomach Makes Millions Suffer

Indigestion—dyspepsia—sour stomachs—bloated, gassy stomachs—belchy, miserable-feeling stomachs—these are Acid-Stomachs.

What a lot of misery they cause! How Acid-Stomach, with its day-after-day sufferings, does take the joy out of life! Not only that—Acid-Stomach is always undermining one's health. Think of what acid does to the teeth—how the acid eats through the enamel, causing them to decay. Is it any wonder, then, that Acid-Stomach saps the strength of the strongest bodies and wrecks the health of so many people?

You see ACID-STOMACH victims everywhere always ailing. They can't tell exactly what is the matter; all they say is, "I don't feel well"—"I'm all in, tired, sickly." If they only knew it, nine times out of ten it is Acid-Stomach that is ailing them. It surely makes good digestion difficult, causes food to sour and ferment in the bowels, weakens the blood and fills the system with poisons. It prevents one from getting the full strength out of their food.

Take EATONIC and get rid of your Acid-Stomach. This wonderful modern remedy actually takes the excess acid out of the stomach. It quickly and positively relieves bloat, heartburn, belching, food repeating, sour, gassy stomach, and the pains of indigestion. Makes the stomach cool and comfortable—keeps it sweet and strong. Banishes all stomach troubles so completely that you forget you have a stomach. You can eat what you like and digest your food in comfort, without fear of distressing after-effects. EATONIC helps you get full strength out of every mouthful you eat—and that is what you must have to be well and strong—full strength from your food.

Get a big box of EATONIC from your druggist TODAY. We authorize him to guarantee EATONIC to please you. If it fails in any way, take it back; he will refund your money. If your druggist does not keep EATONIC, write to us and we will send you a big 50c box. You can send us the 50c after you receive it. Address H. L. KIDNEY TROUBLE NOT EASILY RECOGNIZED

An examining physician for one of the prominent life insurance companies, in an interview of the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

We find that Swamp-Root is strictly an herbal compound and we would advise our readers who feel in need of such a remedy to give it a trial. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

Recent Happenings in Minnesota Given in Brief Items For Busy Readers

St. Cloud.—Yeggmen made an unsuccessful attempt to blow the vault at the office of the St. Cloud Iron works. The vault was badly wrecked, but nothing of value was taken.

Stillwater.—Mrs. J. M. Schaefer of Stillwater, who was injured in an auto accident in St. Paul last July, died at Rochester, Minn. She had been a resident of Stillwater for 35 years.

Red Lake Falls.—A total of 523 people contributed to the relief of fire sufferers of Northeastern Minnesota in the Red Lake county campaign managed by the Red Lake County Farm Bureau association.

Aitkin.—J. R. Peters was convicted by a jury in justice court and fined $50 and costs for setting fires in the neighborhood of Carson on October 13. Peters also was arrested on a charge of non-support. That offense cost him $100.

International Falls.—C. R. Hoyt, formerly principal of the Birchdale consolidated schools, has returned from the naval aviation school at Charleston, S. C. Mr. Hoyt was aboard a vessel en route across the sea when the armistice was signed.

Brainerd.—Jack Burns, a local character for forty years, died here of influenza complications. He was a man about town in the rough old days when Brainerd was a frontier town. Burns' real name was John McGuire. He came here from Montreal. He was about 60 years old.

Red Lake Falls.—Red Lake county's quota of seventy-five members of the Victory Girls division of the United War Work campaign has been almost raised by the city of Red Lake Falls alone, there being sixty-nine enrolled to date, according to Miss Edna D. Chatel, county chairman.

Crookston.—Mr. Van Scoick of the Polk county farm bureau spent several days in territory in the vicinity of Winger, Erskine and Gully, locating demonstration plots for fertilizing work on peat land. This work is to be patterned after that at Golden Valley in Southern Minnesota.

Moorhead.—John Weiss, 15-year-old son of George Weiss, Spring Prairie township farmer, was adjudged a delinquent by Judge of Probate Sharp and placed on probation with his father. The boy had become unmanageable and the complaint was made several days ago by his father.

St. Cloud.—George Dobmeic and George Pfannenstein, workmen at the Great Northern car shops at Waite Park, were injured Thursday at the railroad crossing, about one mile east of St. Joseph when they drove their car into a passing train, one suffering a broken rib and the other a broken thumb.

Brainerd.—Petitions are being circulated at Crosby urging the candidacy of Ezra R. Smith for judge of the Crosby municipal court. He is a Spanish-American war veteran. After graduating from the University of Minnesota, Smith enlisted in the Thirteenth Minnesota and served in the Philippines.

Minneapolis.—Two thousand retail lumbermen from six different states are expected to attend the 29th annual meeting of the Northwestern Lumbermen's association. It has been called for Jan. 14, 15 and 16 and will be at the West hotel, Minneapolis. President F. J. Ward of Clinton, Iowa, and Secretary Adolph Pfund of Minneapolis are making preparations for the meeting and expect to have a program of unusual interest.

St. Paul.—The sugar division of the Minnesota Food administration is now a thing of the past. Through the efforts of this bureau, headed by F. S. Pool, sugar division representative for the federal food administration in this state, several million pounds of sugar have been saved for the Allies. The amount saved was above the specified allotment for Minnesota, Mr. Pool said. The sugar division had been in operation since May 10 last.

St. Paul.—The adjutant generals of central states closed their two-day conference here after adopting a resolution appealing for a place for the National Guard in any new Federal Military system that may be adopted. The appeal will be presented by Adjt. Gen. W. F. Rhinow of Minnesota at a conference in Washington this month of the executive committee of the national association adjutant generals.

Rochester.—George P. Coiseler, French and Spanish teacher in the Rochester high school, has been dismissed by the school board officials, because of alleged pronounced Socialism and pro-Germanism. The dismissal was partly the result of testimony from the surgeon-general's office where he was employed. It is alleged he made disloyal remarks to medical officers and refused to salute the flag in the high school. He was born in Germany.

Minneapolis.—Twin City police were asked to find John Dwyer, 17-year-old son of W. J. Dwyer, 716 North Fifty-ninth avenue West, Duluth, who left home three weeks ago. The boy's mother is ill and his father, believing the lad went to the Twin Cities, came in search of him.

St. Cloud.—John Rupprecht, who was indicted by the grand jury on a charge of assault in the second degree, pleaded guilty in the district court before Judge John A. Roeser. He [illegible] [illegible] more would be allowed.

Red Lake Falls.—[illegible] Elling, a well known farmer [illegible], was killed in a runaway while en route home from Oklee village. Mr. Ellingson was born in Norway. He is survived by his wife and five children.

Bemidji.—The detachment of the Fourth Minnesota infantry that has been in station in Bemidji during the period of the war has left for Duluth, where it is stated they will be demobilized together with other detachments.

Red Lake Falls.—The contest between the five upper grades of the Red Lake Falls schools for the sale of lyceum tickets was won by the seniors and the juniors, who will be entertained by the losers at a school party in the near future.

East Grand Forks.—Patrick Doyle was arrested on a charge of stealing wheat from the farm of John F. Cane of Euclid, Minn., seven miles northeast of town. He had 100 bushels that he tried to dispose of, partly to the Sorlie Elevator Company and partly to the Farmers' Elevator company. He was taken to the Crookston jail.

Minneapolis.—Aroused from his slumber by the chilliness in his home James V. Kolar, southeast Minneapolis, groping his way through the basement to stir up the furnace, collided with the body of his wife, swinging from a rafter. Coroner Seashore, who viewed the body, pronounced it suicide, having been brought on by ill health.

St. Paul.—A continuation of the policy announced by the Public Safety commission last summer of compelling public, private and parochial schools to use the English language exclusively in teaching all subjects except a foreign language, is recommended by C. G. Schulz, state superintendent of schools, in his triennial report.

Hibbing.—Concerted action by range charity bodies, civic clubs, humane societies and village authorities to bring to the range a detention home is urged by C. E. Everett, range probation officer. A site for such a home was picked out by the county commissioners, but no move to erect a building has begun. Mr. Everett sees a great need for the building.

Grand Rapids.—Sleighing is helping farmers get their potatoes here to market. Last week local buyers were paying 95 cents to $1.05 for small lots, depending on quality of stock. One dollar at the warehouses, the price depending, and 15 cents per 100 for car lots placed directly in cars was also paid. This is several cents better than has been the case for some time.

Grand Rapids.—Itasca county loggers are at sea regarding prices for the coming season. With weather and other conditions favorable for an immediate beginning of the hauling season they face unknown conditions as regards markets. Those who have ironclad contracts signed some few weeks ago are the lucky ones, as present market conditions are unsettled.

Red Lake Falls.—The morning and evening 100-yard dash that used to be made by thirsty travelers on the Great Northern from the station to the thirst-quenching parlors on Main street can be resumed after a four months' interruption caused by the action of the Minnesota Public Safety commission in drying up Red Lake county, but in place of beer, buttermilk is served, as the Red Lake Falls creamery has moved uptown into the building formerly occupied by a saloon.

St. Paul.—Practically all of Minnesota National guardsmen in Companies A and B, Minneapolis and C and D, Duluth, with the exception of the officers, have received their discharges and returned to their homes. The officers still have considerable work to clear out of the way before going back to civil life. A force of barely 20 National guardsmen remain in the burned-over region of Northern Minnesota to do police duty and to aid the settlers whose homes were destroyed in the great fire.

St. Paul.—Always one of the three most healthful states in the Union, Minnesota made a new health record in 1917, according to an advance bulletin issued on the biennial report of the state board of health. The showing is the more remarkable because Minnesota spends only 3½ cents per capita for state health work. It ranks third or higher in efficiency but 16th in expenditures in the official record of the United States census department. Only 25,571 deaths, or 10.3 for each 1,000 of population, occurred in Minnesota during 1917.

Duluth.—Infringement on a patent for washing iron ore, in which the damages are incalculable, though estimated at $40,000,000, is alleged in a suit filed with the clerk of the district court, brought by Captain Alexander McDougall of the McDougall Duluth Shipbuilding company against the Oliver Iron Mining company of this city. Operating under a patent of their own, obtained within two weeks after the plaintiff had shown a copy of his patent to the defendant, is the fundamental basis for the claim.

Mankato.—Charles Lilie, an employe in the postoffice here, was arraigned on a charge of having stolen $61 from a registered letter mailed by a local bank to a St. Paul bank. Lilie pleaded guilty and was held to the April term of court. He furnished $2,000 bail.

Moorhead.—The construction of a new city hall is projected for next year, the city council taking action with that object in view [illegible] the one burned. The hall should be constructed in such manner [illegible]

HALT SPREAD OF EELWORM INJURY

Farmers Urged to Maintain Careful Watch for Galls and Stamp Out Disease.

SALT WATER METHOD URGED

Precautionary Measures Should Be Practiced to Thwart Disease—Most Damage Has Been Done in State of Virginia.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

To prevent the spread of a serious wheat disease that recently has done much damage in certain parts of the United States, especially Virginia, the United States department of agriculture advises farmers in Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and California to maintain a careful watch for eelworm galls in their grain and to make all possible efforts to stamp out the disease.

The disease may be recognized in the threshed grain by the presence of hard, dark-colored galls about one-half the size of a wheat kernel. These galls contain the very small eelworms. It is best to get seed from uninfested fields. Where this cannot be done, a salt-water method is recommended for removing the eelworm galls from the sound grain to be sown.

The eelworm has done the most damage in Virginia, causing as much as a 40 per cent loss in some fields this year. It occurs in minor degree in West Virginia, Maryland and California, these being the only states where its positive appearance is known, but it is feared that the trouble occurs in other states and possibly may have been overlooked or mistaken for bunt, cockle seed or bin-burnt wheat.

Samples of wheat or grain thought to be affected with this disease should be sent for positive identification to the state agricultural experiment station or to the office of cereal investigations, United States department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.

The disease is not native to the United States and it can be controlled by careful precautions.

How to Clean Diseased Seed.

If disease-free seed cannot be obtained, the "salt-brine" method is recommended for separating the infected kernels, or galls, from the good wheat kernels. A 20 per cent salt solution should be made by dissolving 40 pounds of common salt in 25 gallons of water. The diseased seed should be poured slowly into this solution, which meanwhile is stirred vigorously. The sound wheat kernels will sink, while the galls, light kernels, and trash will float. The galls and other floating material may be skimmed off, after which the salt solution, which may be used repeatedly, should be drained away and the grain rinsed in water immediately. After the grain is dried by spreading it on a floor or canvas and stirring occasionally it is ready for planting.

Breaking Ground for Wheat.

The diseased galls should never be thrown on the ground or otherwise disposed of until they have been plunged for a few minutes into boiling water to kill the eelworms. After being given this boiling process they may be fed to chickens.

Signs of Infection.

The disease is usually indicated by its effect on wheat heads in the fields, although it may occur to some extent on all parts of the plant above the ground. Diseased heads ordinarily stay green longer—that is, ripen later—and are commonly smaller than those not affected, while the chaff or glumes may be spread open a little by the black eelworm balls. These galls come in the wheat heads in place of good kernels. They are dark and hard, and somewhat shorter and thicker than wheat grains. Often these can be seen plainly in the affected heads between the spreading glumes.

Eelworm's Life Cycle.

Within the wheat galls are thousands of very small living but motionless "baby nematodes," called larvae. These, when placed in water, can be barely seen as short, threadlike fibers, which soon begin active movement. In the spring the young eelworms escape into the soil from galls which have fallen to the ground or which were sown with the wheat seed. With an eel-like movement they reach the young seedlings, finally become located between the leaf sheaths near the buds, and as the plant grows are gradually carried up to the heads. There they enter the young flowers and produce the galls, where they grow to maturity and lay eggs, which develop into larvae. Thus the life cycle is completed. [illegible]

CANADA'S NEW DEVELOPMENT

After the War a Period of Prosperity.

It is evident that the Government of the Dominion in its programme of reconstruction and development is undertaking a work of tremendous importance. There will be available the labor for work that has been silent since 1914, and the rehabilitation of this labor will entail the thought and energy of most capable heads. The transition period from war to peace will be rapid and thorough, and, instead of Canada sinking into a state of lethargy, there will be a continued period of wakefulness that will give employment to the unemployed, and render to the capitalist and producer ample return for his money, effort and enterprise.

The agricultural potentialities of the great Canadian West possess illimitable acres of the best of soil, capable of producing millions of bushels of the best of grain. The cost of growing this is lower than any place on the continent. There will be a greater demand than ever for these lands, the consequent production will be heavier and the profits attractive. Cattle industry will be one of the chief developments, and the encouragement of it will lie in the continued high prices that beef products will bring. European countries have been depleted of cattle, and the demand for beef, cattle and dairy products will tax the efforts of the producer for years to come.

Western Canada offers unequaled opportunities for development in this line.

In the Canadian West plans are being laid for the development of electrical power which can be produced cheaply. There is an abundance of coal and water power that could be used in developing this useful energy. What cheap power produced in this way will mean to the farmer and development of industrial enterprises cannot be estimated in figures.

More extensive development of the water power at Niagara, on the St. Lawrence and at waterfalls all over the country, is ready to be launched.

Peace will see new mine fields opened up, and it is equally certain that shipbuilding, railway equipment, steel production, and many of the industries will go forward with a bound.

Canadian industries will be required in the reconstruction of Europe, and already the Canadian Government has sent across the seas a commission for the purpose of securing orders. Canada took an early and prominent part in the war, and in the days of peace will be found equally active. She feels that by the valor and loyalty of her people she has earned a large share of the business and prosperity that will follow the war period, and she proposes to get it.—Advertisement.

Get New Kidneys!

The kidneys are the most overworked organs of the human body, and when they fail in their work of filtering out and throwing off the poisons developed in the system, things begin to happen.

One of the first warnings is pain or stiffness in the lower part of the back; highly colored urine; loss of appetite; indigestion; irritation, or even stone in the bladder. These symptoms indicate a condition that may lead to that dreaded and fatal malady, Bright's disease, for which there is said to be no cure.

Do not delay a minute. At the first indication of trouble in the kidney, liver, bladder or urinary organs start taking Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules, and save yourself before it is too late. Instant treatment is necessary in kidney and bladder troubles. A delay is often fatal.

You can almost certainly find immediate relief in Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules. For more than 200 years this famous preparation has been an unfailing remedy for all kidney, bladder and urinary troubles.

It is the pure, original Haarlem Oil your great-grandmother used. About two capsules each day will keep you toned up and feeling fine. Get it at any drug store, and if it does not give you almost immediate relief, your money will be refunded. Be sure you get the GOLD MEDAL brand. None other genuine. In boxes, three sizes.—Adv.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR
HARRIETT G. HUNT PUB.

Published every Friday at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

$1.00 a year, in advance.

Entered as Second-class matter August 18, 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam, Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

On our way down to Thief River Falls last Friday evening, we had a seat in the Electric car just back of two prune sellers, or we might say shingle nail sellers, as we believe that was their line, "fresh from Minneapolis." Their conversation was certainly disgusting to listen to by a common every day American citizen. One of them took a sleeping car ticket out of his pocket and showed the people that HE had come up from Minneapolis the night before in a pullman sleeping car. He then started in to roast the Electric car service on the Goodridge line, remarking that they were glad they did not have to return to Minneapolis by such train service. As we were leaving the car we remarked to them that the Electric Line service was somewhat crowded by freight work moving the big crop of wheat from eastern Pennington county, and received a cold stare for our pains. Judging from the looks of the back of their necks, we would take them to be a couple of able bodied men who had got married in haste to escape the selective draft, and we thought how fortunate it was for America that there were only a few of that class of citizens in it.

The Minnesota State Board of Immigration, are forming plans to provide farms for returning soldiers. There is one fact that they should consider, and that is to not endeavor to get a returned soldier to locate on worthless land that the land speculators will endeavor to unload onto the returning soldiers, as an act of patriotism. Send a lot of them up to eastern Pennington County, where they can get good land. Look over the miles of idle lands lying between farms that produced from twenty-five to thirty bushels of wheat an acre this year. Start them on farms of this kind and they will succeed, but don't try to start them on Jack Pine and stone land, where it will take them a life time to get a farm started.

Those who escaped the selective draft by claiming exemption as aliens, may not consider that they were so fortunate in the years to come, when they find that they have deprived themselves of the privilege of ever becoming citizens of the United States, with no more right to vote than a monkey. One applicant was asked by Judge Grindland, if he had claimed exemption from the draft as an alien. He answered "yes." The Judge then ordered the sheriff to remove him from court, as a man unfitted to become a citizen of a country like America.

We fully expect that when President Wilson returns from France, that he will have the campaign issue for his party in the next campaign fully studied out. ITALY'S EFFORT IN WORLD WAR

Military, Financial and Industrial Contributions Equal to Allies.

ENLISTED 5,500,000 SOLDIERS

Created Huge Industries—War Bill $12,000,000,000.

By DR. FELICE FERRERO, Director Italian Bureau of Public Information.

The blood and treasure of Italy were freely spent in the successful effort to put Austria-Hungary out of the war. While Italy's efforts were not confined to the Austrian front, her contribution to allied success was greater here than in the other places where her troops fought the battle for civilization. Her financial and industrial efforts have been equal to her military effort, and in all these directions Italy has not lagged behind her allies.

Italy's soldiers have gone far afield. They contributed largely to the glorious victory on the Balkan front. A large contingent in France first gave powerful aid in the defense of Rheims, then took part in the advance of the allied forces.

Italy Had 5,500,000 Under Arms.

Since the beginning of the war Italy has called to the colors little less than 5,500,000 men and has suffered a loss of almost 1,500,000 of them. Of that loss nearly 350,000 died in battle, and 100,000 from disease. Over 550,000 are totally incapacitated, either by blindness, loss of limb or tuberculosis. At the present moment the strength of the Italian army is 4,025,000, including the class of men born in 1900, who have been called to the colors recently. It may be said, then, that the nation's man-power has suffered a permanent loss of nearly a million.

But Italy has inflicted an even greater punishment upon the foe. In Austrian prisoners alone she has taken approximately a million. The Austrian loss in killed and wounded is, of course, unknown to us, but even the most conservative estimates make it far greater than ours. In the June offensive on the Piave alone over 200,000 Austrian dead were left on the field.

Aside from their achievements in other theatres of the war, Italy's soldiers have fought through fifteen furious offensives on the Isonzo and the Piave, inflicting terrible losses on the foe in each. These campaigns were carried on in mountainous regions and under rigorous weather conditions that taxed to the utmost the genius of the military engineers and the endurance of the troops.

Over 2,500 miles of roads have been constructed on the mountains of Italy and of Albania, and 1,000 miles of aerial cable railroads (Teleferiche) have been built to carry food, ammunition and guns over deep ravines.

Economic Difficulties.

The magnitude of this military effort can be fully appreciated only when one takes into consideration the economic structure of the nation and the nature and number of its population. One must remember that out of 36,000,000 inhabitants in Italy at the beginning of the war only 17,000,000 were male. This seeming disproportion is caused by emigration, which was largely composed of male adults. Out of those 17,000,000 only 9,000,000 were adults economically productive. Consequently the subtraction of the mobilized forces has had an acute reaction on the economic life of the nation. It is estimated that on an average only 100 adults remained in each town or village to provide in each case for some 820 children below the age of fifteen.

Furthermore, the traditions of Italian family life render the work of their women an economic factor of less importance than in some other countries, though it has been utilized to the utmost and is becoming more available as old traditions give way to necessity.

Italy got no help from colonial contingents. On the contrary, the scarcity of native troops in Italy's colonies compelled the government to reinforce them with troops from the motherland. Nor has help come to Italy through the co-operation of workmen of neutral or allied countries. Italy, on the other hand, sent a large contingent of skilled workmen to France, thus allowing her to release valued elements for war. Furthermore, nearly 1,500,000 of our male adults residing in America gave to this great nation direct contribution to her economic and military efforts.

And yet Italy, lacking labor and industrial development, lacking almost entirely coal and raw materials, has by a miracle of energy been able to create almost from nothing a powerful organization of war industries.

Financially Italy Responded Well.

SABBATH DAY IN DISPUTE

Really No Definite Information as to When Its Observance Had Its First Institution.

There is no definite information as to when the observation of the first day of the week was substituted by the Christians for that of the seventh day, the ancient Jewish Sabbath. It undoubtedly arose among the earlier practices of the Christian church, and was regarded as the first day to be held sacred, because in the words of one of the fathers, "it is the first day in which God changed darkness, and the same day, also, Jesus Christ, our Savior, rose from the dead." The several references in the New Testament to the Lord's day, and to the first day of the week, will, of course, be borne in mind. Various additional reasons taken from the Old Testament were advanced by others of the early fathers in support of the observance of this day. The first law, either ecclesiastical or civil, by which the sabbatical observance of Sunday is known to have been ordained is an edict of Constantine, A. D. 321, forbidding all work but necessary husbandry on the already venerable Sunday. In the Theodosian code it is enjoined that on Sunday, rightfully designated by our ancestors as the Lord's day, all law suits and public business shall cease. Since the ninth century Sunday has been a thoroughly established institution in Christian countries as a day of rest and religious exercises, and one exempt from any occupations of purely secular character except such [illegible]

Legend of the Garnet.

The Indians who live in Arizona have a great deal of sentiment about the garnet mines, it is said, and there are numerous legends concerning it, one of which is that centuries ago on a cold winter night the little daughter of a great Indian chief died, and as she passed away Indians standing outside the place where she lay noticed an immense multitude of sparks that flew up from the chief's chimney and settled upon the mountain side, where they shone as brightly as stars, never growing cold and dead.

Later they sank into the earth and formed the garnets that gem the entire mountain.

Walter McAndress and Hilmer Finstad from Highlanding, have been drawn on the petit jury, for the next term of court, and S. L. Holm will be on the grand jury.

George Nereson will spend part of the winter in St. Paul, as he does his farming by gasoline tractor power, that does not need any care during the winter.

Ye editor will be absent the greater part of next week, at Thief River Falls, attending a meeting of the Board of County Commissioners.

We understand that the next grand jury will investigate the doings of some "blind swine" that have been caught selling squirrel whisky at Thief River Falls.

This week is giving us a taste of northern Minnesota weather, but there is no suffering among the farmers, as they have plenty of wood, plenty to eat and plenty of feed for their stock, so let 'er rip and get as cold as it has a mind to.

The merchants seem to hesitate more about lowering prices, than they did to raise them. They soon raised up to war prices, and if they do not reduce to peace prices, they will soon discover a large falling off in trade. Or they can continue the war, and the catalog houses will do the business, as every farmer has from one to six catalogs, and a mail route to deliver the goods from Chicago to his door. It will be noticed that this paper does not do any advertising for store keepers, and is at liberty to place the facts before the people.

ANNUAL MEETING.

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the Bray Mutual Fire Insurance Co. of Pennington and Red Lake County will be held in St. Hilaire, Minn. on January 13th, 1919, beginning at one o'clock P. M. sharp.

Officers for the coming year will be elected and the adoption of the revised bylaws will be voted upon.

We have been called upon by the State Association of Mutual Insurance Companies to donate a sum for the relief of the fire sufferers in the devastated region of northeastern Minnesota. This will also come up for a vote at this meeting.

GOOD SAMARITAN OF EUROPE

Switzerland Surely Has Earned Right to That Title From War-Stricken Nations Surrounding Her.

Since the battle of Morgarten in 1315, Switzerland has blazed the trail toward human freedom as the Good Samaritan of war-stricken Europe, says Frederick Dossenbach in American Review of Reviews.

The Helvetian republic was born at the end of the thirteenth century through a desire for emancipation from autocratic despotism, when she scrapped the divine right of kings. The very pact (known as the "Vow of Grutli") which the ancient federates swore to on that quiet spot, the Grutli, on the classic lake of Lucerne, on the first day of August, 1291, embodied the great principle of the right of those who submit to authority to have a voice in their own governments. There the old Swiss proclaimed self-government against the autocratic rule of the Hapsburgs.

Since those early struggles Switzerland fought fiercely and unfalteringly to maintain her liberty and independence until following the Napoleonic wars. At the congress of Paris in 1815 the European powers—France, Great Britain, Russia, Portugal, Prussia and Austria—formally and authentically acknowledged that the perpetual neutrality and inviolability of Switzerland and its independence from all foreign influence are in the best interests of the policy of the whole of Europe.

WHAT WOMEN ARE DOING FOR SOLDIERS IN FRANCE

Fight in the Ranks of the Red Cross Against Pain, Disease and Death.

They have known [illegible] they were [illegible] two thousand and more women who have gone [illegible] France for varied service under the American Red Cross, and the more than nine thousand nurses whom the American Red Cross has enrolled for foreign duty under the United States Army and Navy Nurse Corps.

They went under orders, as soldiers do, prepared for any emergency as soldiers do; they assumed many strange and unforeseen tasks, as soldiers do. Literally, they went as fighters, against pain, disease and death.

A mobile surgical unit, or nurses—those words don't mean very much, perhaps, the first time we hear them. But see such a unit follow an Army up to an advanced post, see how the nurses work with steady hands beside the surgeons as the stretchers with the newly wounded are brought in. See thousands of them in evacuation hospitals, base hospitals, convalescent hospitals, tuberculosis hospitals, some of them in French military hospitals where sometimes our men are sent, see them with their specialized skill in head surgery, or fracture work, or psychiatry—all these women [illegible] keep head and hand cool and steady when the ambulances [illegible] harvests of wounded. Then [illegible] the words "Our Nurses," as we say "Our Soldiers," "Our Sailors," "Our Marines."

On the night of March [illegible], when the Germans were fast advancing, and already within six kilometers of Annel, an outpost of Compiegne, two American doctors remained, who, under order of the French government, had sent the patients and personnel of their hospital farther back the night before. The artillery was deafening, but the American Ambulance sections kept bringing their wounded to Annel. These doctors said that as long as the American boys brought them wounded they would operate. Two nurses volunteered from Compiegne, and so in the deserted chateau the two surgeons, the two nurses and the ten drivers worked calmly on while the buzz of aeroplanes shook the air, and the blasting guns shook the earth.

Through three takings of Belgrade, first when the city was taken by the Austrians, again when it was retaken by the Serbians, and still again when it was taken back by the Germans and Austrians together, an American Red Cross nurse, Mary Gladwin, worked in the operating room. In that first [illegible], when nine thousand wounded crowded the wards and halls and yard of the thousand-bed hospital, the doctor and nurse worked together for day and night without stopping, giving to each operation an average of six minutes and employing emergencies inspired by the desperate need of the moment; they did not know that the city had been taken until all the stretchers brought Austrian wounded and Austrian doctors came to their relief.

Several hundred women are working over there in the American Red Cross canteens. There are about two hundred of these canteens along the French and American lines of communication, and the women are working under great pressure, feeding thousands of soldiers. The Red Cross is also establishing canteens by military request at a number of Aviation Camps. American women conduct these stations, comprising canteen and club and reading room. Everyone of these canteens has something of the genius of home about it, and it is because of this, no less than the facilities for cleanliness and rest and refreshment, that the French government has given the responsibility for maintaining canteens for both armies to the hands of the American Red Cross.

In large numbers women are going abroad as hospital hut workers, also, and as social workers for trained service among the refugees and the repatriated. At each base hospital the Red Cross is equipping as fast as they can be built, recreation huts for convalescent soldiers.

Clerical workers have steadily increased in number for the administrative offices. From that original group of eighteen, which as the first American Red Cross Commission to France sailed about June 1st, 1917, the organization has grown to a working force of more than 5,000 men and women.

Siamese importers are purchasing more cutlery than they did formerly and there should be an opportunity for the sale of American supplies. Japan has profited by the increased demand. The value of cutlery imports from Japan advanced from $83 in 1914-15 to $12,784 in 1916-17. American machine tools are widely used in Siam and vigorous selling campaigns should be planned for the purpose of introducing other lines of cutlery after the war.—New York Journal of Commerce.

Chauncey Depew Tells of Occasion When a Few Spoken Words Were Worth Much Money.

In commenting upon the death of Mrs. Russell Sage, Chauncey M. Depew, who knew Mrs. Sage for 40 years and was an intimate associate of her husband for a longer period, told how he made a $120,000 speech at her suggestion.

Mr. Depew stated that although Mr. Sage accumulated a vast fortune he rarely gave away any money, adding that the reason for this was the confidence which he reposed in the judgment of his wife as an able and experienced philanthropist. He said that years ago he received a letter from Mrs. Sage inviting him to make an address at the Emma Willard school at Troy, N. Y., upon the occasion of the donation by Mr. Sage to the school of a large sum of money for use in erecting a building. This was the school of which Mrs. Sage was a graduate. [illegible]

Hundreds of Vessels in British Waters Have Been Salvaged—Possibility of Raising the Lusitania.

Most welcome is the announcement from London that since January, 1915, 407 ships sunk by the Germans in British waters have been salvaged, 147 of them by improved methods in five months of the present year.

Britain's coast, like our own, is edged by a broad belt of shallow water. For 200 miles of the channel's length no spot reaches a depth of 100 fathoms, much of it is quite shallow, which accounts for the chop that makes so many who cross it briefly unhappy. Off our own Norfolk one gets well out of sight of land before reaching water too deep for salvage operations. Depth increases more rapidly off the Irish coast, but even the Lusitania lies near the 50-fathom line, below the shatter of the storm, yet near enough the surface so that many practical wreckers have said that it would be possible, though exceedingly difficult, to bring her forth to a nautical resurrection.

[illegible] things can be done as [illegible] our engineers showed when they raised the U-boat's biggest victim along our coast, the Herbert L. Pratt, and brought her safe to shore. What the improved methods used on England may be we shall probably not know until after the war. That they are defeating the murderous submarines of their prey in so many cases is good news.

COMPLETE CHAOS IN RUSSIA

Inevitable Anarchy as the Result of Insufficient Supplies of Food for the People.

[illegible] most terrible toll of the Russian winter will be taken in the peasant villages, the home of nine-tenths of Russia's 180,000,000, Oliver M. Sayler writes in the Saturday Evening Post. The sullen and defiant muzhik, who has planted for himself and only for himself, hasn't taken into account the possibility that superior forces from the city or from his own or a neighboring village may seize his grain. When the calamity befalls, an endless train of disaster and bloodshed and starvation will follow in its wake. Reprisal on some weaker peasant will be the next step, and from that the flame will spread to virulent border warfare, with whole villages on the trail to plunder the grain bins of others or intrenched to protect their own. In some districts, even before I left, this most cruel form of civil strife had broken out.

I contemplated returning from Petrograd to Moscow by sleigh overland in case the German advance enveloped the railroad outlet. Careful investigation, however, disclosed the fact that [illegible]

EPIGRAPHS PROVE A PUZZLE

Explanation of Hieroglyphics Admittedly Very Old Will Surely Be of the Greatest Interest.

Amateur archeologists of California are endeavoring to interest professional scientists of the East in the epigraphs which abound on the rocks of Round Valley, not far from the city of Bishop, and which are believed to be as old, if not older, than the hieroglyphics of earliest Egypt, to which they bear a strange resemblance.

It is believed by many that the strange markings constituted the names by which ancient tribes marked the source of water supply for the benefit of those of their number who lived roving lives.

These hieroglyphics have never been deciphered, although they are matters of record in the leading museums of the country, it is said. The Indian tribes now living in the vicinity declare they are the work of the Indians of North America and that they antedate all aboriginal lore.

Some who have examined the strange markings in the flinty bowlders say the hieroglyphics closely resemble those of earliest Egypt and may replace the latter as the first written language of humanity.

They are found always in the vicinity of water supplies, the same markings discovered near Bishop appearing also on rocks extending through the Canadian border, down through Washington, Oregon and California to the Mexican line and beyond. This, it is argued, indicates that prehistoric tribes marked the highways for their traveling members [illegible]

Hundreds of Vessels in British Waters Have Been Salvaged—Possibility of Raising the Lusitania.

Most welcome is the announcement from London that since January, 1915, 407 ships sunk by the Germans in British waters have been salvaged; 147 of them, by improved methods, in five months of the present year.

Britain's coast, like our own, is edged by a broad belt of shallow water. For 200 miles of the channel's length no spot reaches a depth of 100 fathoms; much of it is quite shallow, which accounts for the chop that makes so many who cross it briefly unhappy.

From our own Norfolk one gets well out of sight of land before reaching water too deep for salvage operations. Depth increases more rapidly off the Irish coast, but even the Lusitania lies near the 50-fathom line, below the shatter of the storm, yet near enough the surface so that many practical wreckers have said that it would be possible, though exceedingly difficult, to bring her forth to a nautical resurrection.

That some things can be done as well as others our engineers showed when they raised the U-boats' biggest victim along our coast, the Herbert Pratt, and brought her safe to shore. What the "improved methods" used off England may be we shall probably not know until after the war. That they are cheating the murderous submarines of their prey in so many cases is good news.

Fireproof Celluloid.

Great interest has been aroused by the announcement that a professor in one of the Japanese universities had invented a successful incombustible substitute for celluloid, to be manufactured from soya bean cake.

The new product has been given the trade name of "Satolite," derived from the name of the inventor, Prof. S. Sato, and a company for its manufacture has been started with a capital of 2,000,000 yen ($1,000,000).

Satolite is described as [illegible]

Inalienable Feminine Right.

"How much is the watermelon, Mr. Brown?" asked a ragged little miss of four years.

"Oh, go long with you," replied the grocer. "Your mamma hasn't given you any money to spend on watermelons."

"Well," rejoined the child, "haven't I got as good right to go shoppin' as the other ladies?"

COMPLETE CHAOS IN RUSSIA

Inevitable Anarchy as the Result of Insufficient Supplies of Food for the People.

"By far the most terrible toll of the Russian winter will be taken in the peasant villages, the home of nine-tenths of Russia's 180,000,000, Oliver M. Sayler writes in the Saturday Evening Post. The sullen and defiant mujhik, who has planted for himself and only for himself, hasn't taken into account the possibility that superior force from the city or from his own or a neighboring village may seize his grain. When the calamity befalls, an endless train of disaster and bloodshed and starvation will follow in its wake.

Reprisal on some weaker peasant will be the next step, and from that the flame will spread to virulent border warfare with whole villages on the trail to plunder the grain bins of others or intrenched to protect their own. In some districts, even before I left, this most cruel form of civil strife had broken out.

I contemplated returning from Petrograd to Moscow by sleigh overland in case the German advance enveloped the railroad outlets. Careful investigation, however, disclosed the fact that machine guns brought home from the front were mounted on all the roads leading into many villages and travelers approached them at their peril.

EPIGRAPHS PROVE A PUZZLE

Explanation of Hieroglyphics Admittedly Very Old Will Surely Be of the Greatest Interest.

Amateur archeologists of California are endeavoring to interest professional scientists of the East in the epigraphs which abound on the rocks of Round Valley, not far from the city of Bishop, and which are believed to be as old, if not older, than the hieroglyphics of earliest Egypt, to which they bear a strange resemblance.

It is believed by many that the strange markings constituted the names by which ancient tribes marked the source of water supply for the benefit of those of their number who lived roving lives.

These hieroglyphics have never been deciphered, although they are matters of record in the leading museums of the country, it is said. The Indian tribes now living in the vicinity declare they are the work of the Indians of North America and that they antedate all aboriginal lore.

Some who have examined the strange markings in the flinty bowlders say the heiroglyphics closely resemble those of earliest Egypt and may replace the latter as the first written language of humanity.

They are found always in the vicinity of water supplies, the same markings discovered near Bishop appearing also on rocks extending through the Canadian border, down through Washington, Oregon and California to the Mexican line and beyond. This fact, it is argued, indicates that prehistoric tribes marked a highway for their migrating members or for their armies, giving specific directions as to the best water supplies along the way.

WILSON SPEAKS TO BIG THRONG

President Makes Brief Address From the Balcony of Buckingham Palace.

RESPONDS TO CLAMOR

Estimates Agree That at Least Two Million People Lined the Two Miles of Streets Through Which Party Passed.

London, Dec. 27.—President Wilson's first day in England reached the climax when he stood with Mrs. Wilson and the king and queen on the balcony of Buckingham palace, facing a throng which stretched down the Mall to the admiralty, a half mile distant, and overflowed St. James' park on one side and Green park on the other.

Only a corporal's guard could hear the President's brief speech, but the people, who had demanded that he show himself, gave him a greeting more clamorous than any other guest of the nation has commanded within the memory of the oldest Londoners.

Tribute to Wilson and U. S.

The day's events constitute a tribute to the President and the United States which will be historic. The official ceremonials—a reception by the Dover corporation and the navy; the welcome at the station by the royal family and the chief officials of the empire and the state progress through the heart of London—were colored with touches of medieval pageantry, even to the crimson-coated beef-eaters from the tower, bearing halberds, which the British people cherish.

People's Assemblage Spontaneous.

But the assembling of the people was spontaneous. That was the chief note of the day. There had been no time to erect stands, and windows were not advertised for rent. The people simply flocked in from all quarters afoot, in motors and in other vehicles, carrying flags and their lunches and standing for hours in the cold for a chance to get a sight of the President.

It was a gathering principally of the plain people; the others were in the country for the holiday. It was a diverse and picturesque throng such as few capitals can muster, with a large element of soldiers, among whom the colonials and Americans seemed conspicuous and popular, a detachment of wounded from the hospitals, attended by nurses, getting a large share of the cheers.

Ovation for Royal Couple.

The popularity of the king and queen was again attested by the ovation given them while on their drive to the station to meet the President. Everyone agreed that London has never known another such demonstration, except on great national days when the British people have celebrated the inaugural of a new reign or a milestone in the old.

It is estimated that 2,000,000 people crowded the two miles of streets through which the state procession passed. These were canopied with flags and bunting, and amid the thudding of the saluting cannon, the President of the United States receiving a popular welcome almost unprecedented in history.

DESTROYERS COMING HOME

Ten American War Vessels Set Sail From Queenstown.

Queenstown, Dec. 27.—Ten American destroyers, flying their long "homeward bound" pennants, steamed out of the harbor amid the roar of whistles from shipping.

In the returning flotilla were the destroyers Stockton, Wilkes, Beale, Duncan, Rowan, Kimberley, Allen, Downes, Davis and Simpson. They were accompanied by the tug Genesee.

PARLIAMENT IS DISSOLVED

Proclamation May Save Turkish Cabinet From Resigning.

Washington, Dec. 27.—Dissolution of the Turkish parliament was proclaimed by the minister of the interior, according to a dispatch from Constantinople to the Petit Parisien, reported to Washington through official channels. It had been expected that the Turkish cabinet would fall, the report said, but instead the house of deputies was dissolved by proclamation.

TREASURER PLEADS GUILTY

STATE BREVITIES

Moorhead.—The annual meeting of the Northwest Central Teachers' association will be held in Moorhead at the normal on Feb. 6 and 7.

Stillwater.—County Agent A. G. McCormack reports that threshing operations will continue in this county until after the first of the year if weather conditions permit.

Pipestone.—A report received here from Washington shows that Pipestone far exceeded its quota in the purchase of mileage books for soldiers in training camps.

St. Cloud.—George G. Magnuson has returned from the Chicago road meeting where he represented the city and the Central Minnesota Auxiliary of the National Parks Highway association.

Duluth.—Marshall Wells Hardware company will erect the "Zenith Quality City," in a suburb of Duluth, 80 acres having been purchased. The model city will be for employes of the company only.

Bemidji.—William S. Ridgeway, who was convicted in district court on charges of making treasonable speeches, was sentenced to pay a fine of $200 and spend six months in the Beltrami county jail.

Minneapolis.—Eric Bergstrom, 76 years old, is dead and his wife, Marie, 72 years old, is in the Minneapolis City hospital and is not expected to live, as a result of accidental gas poisoning at their home in this city.

Stillwater.—An extension until January 31, 1919, has been granted by the War Department to the Twin City Forge & Foundry Company for the completion of a six-inch shell order. The extension affects 2,553 employes, and it is also expected that further extensions will be granted which will carry the work up to April 1.

St. Paul.—Charles H. Buckley, cashier of the First National bank, died of heart disease at Long Beach, Cal., where he had gone to recover his health. Mr. Buckley entered the employ of the old Second National bank thirty-six years ago and remained with that institution until it was merged with the First National in 1913.

St. Paul.—Warnings to improve sanitary conditions in their establishments were sent to a large number of Minnesota dairies and restaurants during the past month. The warnings are expected to be followed by a special effort on the part of owners. If the notices are unheeded the State Dairy and Food department will take steps leading to the prosecution of offenders.

Moorhead.—Preliminary plans for the proposed new city hall and fire department headquarters to cost not more than $45,000 were approved by the city council. The proposition will be passed to the charter commission by the finance committee of the council with the request that a proposed amendment authorizing the construction of the building be submitted to a vote at the city election in February.

Stillwater.—At a meeting of the Holstein Breeders of Washington county held here H. R. Leonard, former county agent, discussed the proposition of placing a number of good Holstein sires in the burned-over area around Moose Lake. The animals, according to the plan outlined, are to be loaned to the farmers of that locality for a period of two years free of cost with the privilege of purchasing the same within that time.

Hibbing.—Petitions for county aid have more than doubled since the epidemic started, according to C. E. Everett, range probation officer. Mother's pensions are asked by many who have lost a husband or brother. Mr. Everett is looking into every case carefully and as quickly as possible assistance is extended. One appeal that looks fraudulent may lead to arrests. An Austrian woman, whose husband died of the "flu," made a pitiable appeal for assistance. Upon investigation the authorities discovered that her husband had left her $1,000 life insurance, $300 in the bank, $500 in Liberty bonds and that she was the owner of a farm and some city lots. She was promptly ordered from the office with a reprimand.

St. Paul.—Farmers' and Home-Makers' Week scheduled to be held at University Farm, St. Paul, December 30 to January 4, has been called off for this year and with it about 20 meetings of state organizations closely related to agriculture. This course was decided upon because of the dangers of spreading influenza and as a means of protecting the public health—not because of any prevalence of influenza at University Farm. While Farmers' and Home-Makers' Week will not, therefore, be held this year, it is possible that the various organizations which were to meet during the week will hold their annual meetings later. The authorities at University Farm extend the facilities of the institution to any such organizations as may care to meet later when the dangers of the epidemic have passed.

St. Paul.—The state securities commission has suspended the license of the Pan Motor company of St. Cloud to sell stock in Minnesota. The suspension was based on what the commission termed an indication of intention by the company to not comply with the commission's order limiting commission on sales of stock to 20 per cent.

State Treasurer's Report Shows State [illegible] in Splendid Condition.

Minnesota closed its last fiscal year with its finances in better condition than ever before in the state's history, according to the annual report of State Treasurer Rines. The treasurer's balance at the close of business July 31, 1918, was $[illegible], an increase of $2,820,866.78 in two years. Of this amount $4,328,287.96 was credited to the Revenue fund as compared with a balance of $1,921,756.86 two years previous. That the state has been able to actually increase the balance in the Revenue fund nearly two million dollars during a period when unusual expenditures of large sums have been necessary on account of the war is very gratifying.

St. Cloud.—D. H. Freeman, mayor of St. Cloud, has resigned owing to ill health. His successor has not been named.

Pipestone.—Hans Spoltenburg, a farmer, has been missing several days. An extensive search is being conducted.

Bemidji.—E. J. Willits sold the H. H. Miller farm of 400 acres comprising [illegible] of Southern Minnesota. The consideration was $13,000 cash.

Crosby.—The villages of Crosby, Ironton, Cuyuna, Manganese and Trommald went over the top the first day in the drive for Red Cross membership.

Long Prairie.—Paul Hosalla, for forty-five years a farmer of the town of Hartford, died at his home about nine miles northwest of Long Prairie of pneumonia following influenza.

St. Cloud.—At the regular meeting of the city commissioners a communication was received from the international brotherhood of teamsters asking for an increase of $1 a day in wages.

Windom.—To go over the top three times and come out with only a slight bullet wound under the chin was the experience of Walter Bell of this city. Mrs. Bell has just been informed of her son's injury.

Minneapolis.—Capt. Charles Wallace, marine corps, twice wounded in action in France after enlisting the day the United States declared war on Germany, is back. He is a son of State Senator Carl Wallace.

Barnesville.—Sergeant Kenneth J. Masterson, Barnesville, reported slightly wounded in action in the casualty list, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Masterson and was a twin brother of Corporal Maurice Masterson, who was killed in action on Nov. 1.

St. Paul.—Robert F. Leonard, former American vice consul at Astrakhan, Russia, has arrived home here after spending three months as a prisoner of the Bolshevik government in Russia. He is the son of Rev. H. G. Leonard. Mr. Leonard said that no charges were presented against him, nor was he given a hearing of any kind.

Minneapolis.—The State Association of Farmers Mutual Insurance companies at the annual convention here adopted resolutions pledging financial support to the several township farmers' insurance companies in the Minnesota forest fires district, which were hit hard by the October conflagrations. It was estimated that the small organizations must meet claims aggregating $300,000.

Bemidji.—Though Northern Minnesota is covered with snow three feet deep, the weather has been comparatively mild, and with swamps not frozen the outlook for large logging operations is discouraging, Oscar Arneson, state superintendent of timber, said on his return from an official business trip through northern counties. About $50,000 worth of timber on small tracts of state-owned land was sold by Mr. Arneson at sales at International Falls, Two Harbors, Duluth, Grand Rapids and Bemidji.

Red Wing.—Santa Claus came near burning at a school entertainment in District No. 22, Goodhue county, when the cotton whiskers and trimming on Santa took fire from a candle. Henry Veiths, who was playing Santa Claus, was soon enveloped in flames. Spectators extinguished the flames but not until his face had been burned, though not seriously. An aged spectator lost half of his genuine whiskers and sustained a badly burned chin, when he, too, was set on fire, while rendering assistance to Veiths. This incident closed the show.

St. Cloud.—Senator Knute Nelson has been asked to have investigated the death of Private Fred E. Hagquist of Sauk Rapids, alleged to have been discharged from Camp Wheeler, Ga., while ill, who arrived home with a temperature of 103½ and died of pneumonia. It is said he became unconscious on the train before reaching Chicago and in the Windy City he wanted to go to a hospital, but his desire to reach home proved stronger. At Minneapolis he went to a hotel and slept part of a day, when he was asked to allow his room to be made up and left for Sauk Rapids and finally reaching here in bad condition. While en route from camp, during the times that he was unconscious, his wrist watch and $30 were taken from him.

Red Lake Falls.—Although Red Lake county has not completed the purchase of the $164,000 War Savings Stamps pledged last spring, it is leading all the counties in the Red river valley in amount of sales per capita, the amount being $13.41, with a total sale of $[illegible].

U. S. WARSHIPS ARE HOME AGAIN

Secretary Daniels Reviews Battle Squadron on Its Return From Foreign Waters.

GREETED BY THOUSANDS

Greatest Naval Review in American History When Biggest U. S. Sea-fighting Force Gathers in New York Harbor.

New York, Dec. 27.—The United States battle fleet, returning victorious from the world war, was welcomed home by cheering thousands, who watched the impressive spectacle from boats and skyscrapers and every point of vantage.

A whirling snowstorm at times blotted out the majestic fighting ships as they moved slowly up the bay past the Statue of Liberty, where Secretary Josephus Daniels reviewed them from the deck of the presidential yacht Mayflower. Preceding the fleet came a swarm of small craft and submarine chasers, clearing the way.

Thousands Watch Review.

The islands in the harbor, the docks and the tops of tall buildings were thronged with spectators despite a cutting wind.

It was the greatest naval review in American history and it marked the day when the United States formally assumed its place as the second naval power of the world. The biggest sea fighting force the United States ever boasted had its first being as a single unit—a veritable American armada—as Secretary Daniels reviewed the combined American battlefleets.

The review was the official welcome to the Atlantic fleet, which for nearly two years has kept the United States flag flying in European waters. The 10 long, gray craft steamed up the bay to the music of cheers and sirens, and in the Hudson river joined the home squadron.

10 Dreadnoughts Return.

The homecoming fleet comprised Admiral Henry T. Mayo's flagship, the Pennsylvania, and nine other dreadnoughts, the Arizona, Oklahoma, Nevada, Florida, Utah, New York, Texas, Wyoming and Arkansas.

Each mammoth fighter flew from her masts streamers of ribbon almost 100 feet long. When the column came into view of the crowds in lower Manhattan, showers of torn paper began pouring down from the windows of the skyscrapers. As the vessels went into the Hudson they came quite close to the New York shore so the people had a good view of them.

The Atlantic fleet, with sightseeing and freight craft keeping a respectful distance, steamed majestically into its anchorage in the Hudson between 55th and 120th streets, forming, in conjunction with the home fleet, a double line more than six miles long. The dreadnoughts and battleships were moored along the New York side of the river, the destroyers, auxiliary and supply ships swung at anchor off the New Jersey shore.

ELEVEN TRANSPORTS SAIL

Vessels Leave French Ports With American Troops.

Washington, Dec. 27.—Departure from France of 11 transports, including the Mauretania, with more than 3,000 men from the 347th infantry of the Eighty-seventh division, was announced by the War department.

The Mauretania, sailing Christmas eve, will reach New York Monday and most of the men aboard will be sent to Camp Dix for demobilization. Eight hundred sick and wounded men are on the Henderson, due at New York Jan. 5, but the other vessels are bringing only a small number of men.

HUNGARIANS URGING WAR

Would Begin Hostilities Against Poles and Czechs.

Washington, Dec. 27.—Strong factions at Budapest are urging Hungary to war upon the Poles and Czech-Slovaks, according to diplomatic advices received here.

The report is that a new Hungarian cabinet will be formed with a policy committed to the absolute protection of the former Hungarian frontiers in the east and north.

Denver, Dec. 27.—When Mrs. Aline Mathilda Julia Cardoner of Barcelona, Spain, died a few days ago in Albuquerque, N. M., her friends believed she was comparatively poor. But when her attorney opened her safety deposit boxes in Denver banks, he found $320,000 worth of Liberty Bonds and thousands of dollars worth of other securities. WORLD NEEDS FOOD

Demand Makes Opportunity for Returning Soldiers.

Thousands Will See Glorious Possibilities in Settlement of Available Farm Land in This Country and in Canada.

The war is over, peace will soon be signed, the fighting nations have sheathed their swords, and the day of reconstruction has come.

What of it?

Hundreds of thousands of men, taken from the fields of husbandry, from the ranks of labor, from the four walls of the counting house, and the confines of the workshop, taken from them to do their part, their large part, in the prevention of the spoliation of the world, and in the meantime removed from the gear of common every-day life, will be returning, only to find in many cases old positions filled, the machinery with which they were formerly attached dislocated.

Are they to become aimless wanderers, with the ultimate possibility of augmenting an army of menacing loafers? If they do it is because their ability to assist in laying new foundations, in building up much-required structures, is underestimated. Men who fought as they fought, who risked and faced dangers as they did, are not of the caliber likely to flinch when it comes to the restoration of what the enemy partially destroyed, when it comes to the reconstruction of the world, the ideals of which they had in view when they took part in the great struggle whose divine purpose was to bring about this reconstruction.

Inured to toil, thoughtless of fatigue, trained in initiative and hardened by their outdoor existence, they will return better and stronger men, boys will have matured and young men will have developed.

They will decide for themselves lines of action and thought, and what their future should and will be. On the field of battle they developed alertness and wisdom, and they will return with both shedding from every pore.

Action was their watchword, and it will stand them in good stead now that the din of the battle no longer rings in their ears, or the zero hour signals them to the fray, and it will continue during their entire existence.

But if they return to find their old avocations gone, their places filled, the institutions with which they were connected no longer existing, new walks of life and employment must be opened to them. It may be that the counting house, the factory, the workshop will have lost their attraction. The returned soldier will look elsewhere for employment; within his reach there is always the "Forward-to-the-Land" necessity. In this lies the remedy that will not only take care of a multitude of those who may not be able to return to their former occupations, whose desires are not to do so, whose health prohibits them from indoor life or whose outdoor habits from the past one, two, three or four years have given them such a taste and desire for it that confinement would be unbearable. Farm life will thus appeal to them, and the indications are that it will be taken advantage of by thousands. It means much to them as well as to the continent of America that provides the opportunity to the world at large, and to the stricken and famished nations of Europe, who, not only today, but for years to come, will require the sustenance that can only largely be supplied by the United States and Canada. By following the pursuit of agriculture the returned soldier will continue the cause he so fervently advanced when fighting on the field of battle. Both countries have undeveloped areas yet open to settlement.

There is little need here to direct attention to the wealth that has come to the farmers of Canada within the past few years. It is not only in grain growing that unqualified and almost unequaled success has followed honest effort, but the raising of horses, cattle, sheep and hogs has been a large source of profit. These are facts that are well known to the many friends and acquaintances of the thousands of farmers from the United States who have acquired wealth on the prairies of Western Canada. Farms of from one hundred and sixty to six hundred and forty acres of the richest soil may be secured on reasonable terms, and with an excellent climate, with a school system equal to any in the world, and desirable social conditions, little else could be asked.

Canadian statesmen are today busily engaged planning for the future of the returned soldier with a view to making him independent of state help after the immediate necessary assistance has been granted, the main idea being to show in the fullest degree the country's appreciation of the services he has rendered.

But now that the war is ended and the fact apparent that of all avocations the most profitable and independent is that of the farmer, there will be a strong desire to secure farm lands for cultivation. Canada offers the opportunity to those seeking, not as speculation but as production. The deepest interest is taken by Federal and Provincial authorities to further the welfare of the farmer and secure a maximum return for his efforts. Large sums of money are spent in educational and experimental work. Experimental farms and demon[illegible] [illegible]ence, some being professors of international reputation. The results of experiments and tests are free and available to all. Educational opportunities for farmers are the concern of the government and appreciation is shown by the number of farmers who attend the free courses.

Agriculture in Canada has reached a high standard, notwithstanding which lands are low in price.

Thus upon the United States and Canada for many years will rest the great burden of feeding the world. With free interchange of travel, difficulties of crossing and recrossing removed, Canada may look for a speedy resumption of the large influx of settlers from the United States which prevailed previous to the war. During the war period there was a dread of something, no one seemed to know what. If the American went to Canada he might be conscripted, put in prison, or in his attempt to cross the border he would meet with innumerable difficulties, most of which, of course, was untrue. These untruths were circulated for a purpose by an element, which, it was discovered, had an interest in fomenting and creating trouble and distrust between two peoples whose language and aims in life should be anything but of an unfriendly character. The draft law of the United States, adopted for the carrying out of the high purposes had in view by the United States, kept many from going to Canada during the period of the war. The citizen army of the United States was quickly mobilized, and contained a large percentage of the young men from the farms. In this way many were prevented from going to Canada.

That is all over now. There are no real or imaginary restrictions; there is no draft law to interfere. On the contrary, there is an unfathomable depth of good feeling, and the long-existing friendship is stronger than ever. This has been brought about by the knowledge of what has been done in the recent great struggle, each vying with the other in giving credit for what was accomplished. In thought and feeling, in language, in aims in life, in work, in desire to build up a new world, there has been bred a kinship which is as indissoluble as time itself.—Advertisement.

DISMISSED IN SHORT ORDER

Simple Method by Which Mr. Peter Simons Got Rid of Undesirable Applicants for Position.

In a handsome house that overlooked the river lived Mr. Peter Simons. His housekeeper, Deborah Twycross, was as much of a magnate in her own way as he. Mr. Peter was very high-handed with her, but he stood in awe of her, too. Still he never would let her engage his second servant, a privilege that she coveted.

In his younger days a "hired girl" received as wages $2 a week if she could milk; $1.50 if she could not. By the time Mr. Peter was established in stately bachelor housekeeping no girl was any longer expected to milk, and few knew how. But when engaging a servant, if he did not like the applicant's looks, Mr. Piper would say:

"Can you milk?"

Of course she could not, and there the matter would end. He never asked a girl whose looks he liked if she could milk.—Peter Simons, in "A Northern Countryside."

OLD PRESCRIPTION FOR WEAK KIDNEYS

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfil the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says, "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy that I know of has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmers' Swamp-Root is due to the fact that so many people claim, it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Adv.

Was Bound to Have Her.

Buddy saw a sweet baby girl at a neighbor's and, running to his bank, took out all his money and said, "Mamma, please come with me; I am going to buy that baby."

"Oh!" said mother, "I am afraid her mamma won't sell her."

Buddy's face lost its smile for a moment, then, brightening again, he said, "Come on anyway; if we can't buy her we will rent her."

Backache?

Rheumatism?

Those of us who are past middle age are prone to eat too much meat and in consequence deposit lime salts in the arteries, veins and joints. We often suffer from twinges of rheumatism or lumbago, sometimes from gout, swollen hands or feet. There is no longer the slightest need of this, however, as the new prescription, "Anuric," is bound to give immediate results as it is many times more potent than lithia in ridding the impoverished blood of its poisons by way of the kidneys. It can be obtained at almost any drug store, by simply asking for "Anuric" for kidneys or backache. It will overcome such conditions as rheumatism, dropsical swellings, cold extremities, scalding and burning urine and sleeplessness due to constant arising from bed at night.

Send to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for a 10c. trial package.

MADERA, CAL.—"I recommend Doctor Pierce's Anuric very highly. I have suffered for the last three years with catarrh of the bladder, having tried every remedy I heard of but without relief. I saw Anuric advertised in the paper, and like a drowning man grabbing at a straw I thought I would try it also, which I did with great success, as it relieved me almost immediately, before I had taken all of the trial package, and having great confidence in the remedy I immediately sent to the drug store and bought a full-size package. I can say to all suffering from any disease of the kidneys or uric acid troubles, try this remedy and suffer no longer. I have great faith in Dr. Pierce's remedies."—S. P. HEMSLEY.

Wearing the Kaiser's "Suite."

A hospital orderly, so a Canadian subscriber writes, startled his patients the other day by informing them that President Wilson was a funny man; he was going to dress up in the kaiser's uniform and take a German warship and go over that way to attend the peace conference! The explanation followed shortly; the man had read a news item to the effect that President Wilson would travel to Europe in the kaiser's suite on a former German vessel, etc.—From the Outlook.

Back Number Old Gentleman—Jimmie, do the little boys and girls still take a big red apple to their teacher to make her happy.

Jimmie—No; we make her happy by bringing a certificate from the doctor that we've had our adenoids and tonsils removed and have been inoculated for diphtheria, scarlatina and influenza, and that we've had our teeth repaired and our eyes examined. Then if we want to make her feel real good we all get up and recite the calory catechism.

Why, Certainly!

Smartallick was showing off his great knowledge to a girl the other evening.

"Can a person strike without having something to strike with?" he asked.

"Certainly," she said, without thinking.

He gave a conquering snicker.

"What do those laboring men strike with?" and he snickered again.

"With unanimity," she replied promptly, and he pulled in his horns.

Sure.

The Pearl Beads

By S. B. HACKLEY

(Copyright, 1918, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Where shall we go, Laurestine—to Sedley's or to Eastbrook & Heath's?" Eloise Farnum, the young blonde, driving the little car down Monteagle street, asked of the girl sitting behind her.

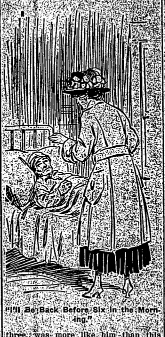
To agree with what was in Eloise's mind was the easiest way of getting along with her, and unless it was in matters of grave importance or something that concerned the happiness of other people Laurestine never disagreed with this spoiled foster sister.

"Sedley's have the best necklaces," she said now gently.

"If only mother had not lost her diamond and pearl necklace!" mourned the young driver. "Aunt Ellen says it was perfectly beautiful, and mother said I should wear it at my graduation party. She put it away for safekeeping somewhere one day when she left the house, and she could never remember where. I don't see why father isn't willing to put as much money in one for me now."

Laurestine saw why. Corey Farnum did not believe in the extravagant style of dress in which Eloise and her mother reveled, and though he usually gave way to the mother's demands, at a time when the hands of millions of hungry little children were stretched out in piteous appeal, his generous, child-loving heart could never sanction a $5,000 pearl necklace for his daughter's graduation gift.

Somehow Eloise would never understand nor sympathize with her father's ideas. Laurestine, the girl adopted at three, was more like him than this child of his blood, born the next year.



"I'll Be Back Before Six in the Morning."

At the corner a little old man, stooped and slightly lame, wearing clean blue overalls and jumper, started across the street. Eloise, frowning heavily, was inattentive to her driving and the old Irishman was knocked down and did not rise. At the hospital to which they took him the two girls, shaken and troubled, waited to learn the extent of his injuries. When he recovered consciousness Laurestine, against Eloise's protest, insisted on seeing him. As she bent over his cot and a pair of bright eyes, as blue as her own, looked up at her out of the white old face she burst into tears.

"It breaks my heart to think we hurt you!" she cried.

"Don't redden your swate eyes for me," he whispered. "If I die 'twill be becuz me time has come."

He put his hand in his bosom and drew out a little package. "I found thot yisterday in the linin' of an old coat whin I were ragpickin'. They ain't worth much, beloike, but they're uncommon purty beads, an' I said to meself when I found 'em, they'd look purty on me girlie's neck. I were aimin' to mail 'em to ye. I didn't know I'd have happiness to put 'em in yer hands meself! Could ye kiss me daughter—fer ye are me daughter—jist wance before ye go?"

"Your daughter!" she cried out.

"Yis, me dear," he answered. "Whin Nora, your mother, died I gave ye to the rich folk that I knowed 'ud give ye a thousand times better chanst than poor Tom Malone! I promised to keep away from ye, and I've done ut as much as was in me. I pined constant to hold me little growin' daughter in me arms, but as thot cud not be I kim to the city where she lived, so I cud sometimes let me eyes rest on her. I were a section hand fer the railroad until I'd got lame, now I pick rags. Wance in a while I've sint ye a present unbeknownst. Do you mind the bunch of American Beauty roses whin ye graduated?"

Laurestine remembered. She had thought Bob had sent them and had not wanted to put his name on them for that was long before Bob knew she loved him. Crying softly, Laurestine kissed the withered cheek many times. "I'll be back before six in the morning," she promised. "Will you [illegible] then?"

[illegible] deeply [illegible] won't [illegible] old [illegible]

That afternoon Laurestine was called to the telephone.

"We've got orders to move in the morning at nine," she heard Lieutenant Vincent saying. "Sweetheart, I'm coming up for a short half hour this evening. [illegible]"

Tomorrow—Bob was going tomorrow! They had not dreamed it was to be so soon! And she had promised him, if her father would consent, that she would marry him before he left. Her father [illegible]

Bob was a Kentuckian, a West Pointer, and proud. What would he say if she told him her father were living, a man who said "ut" for it and "niver" when he meant never—a ragpicker!

That evening Vincent wondered at her white-stricken face. She had always been so cheerfully brave before when they had talked of his going.

"Smile, Laurestine," he besought her. "I'm coming back. And you're going to marry me in the morning as you promised, aren't you? Can you be ready by six for the ceremony?"

At six! At six she had promised to go to her father!

Then Mrs. Farnum's high-pitched voice at the telephone reached them. "You have my lost pearls! My daughter brought them in to be cleaned, you say? Somebody on the street handed them to her? My monogram on the clasp! Can you come right up and bring them?"

She burst into the parlor and Laurestine managed to explain how she came by the necklace. When Mrs. Farnum in great excitement went to look for Eloise, Vincent turned to Laurestine.

"I'll try to arrange for our marriage this evening, my sweet, but I've got to go back now and work about all night to get things ready. Why, Laurie, what is it?"

She had drawn herself out of his arms and stood facing him, a glowing spot on each pale cheek.

"Bob, you've known that my parents are adopted, but you don't know from what people I came! Until today I supposed my real parents were dead—but that man at the hospital who found mother's pearls—he's an Irishman, old and ignorant, and a ragpicker, and—my father! But he loves me—he may be dying—I promised I'd come to him again in the morning. I must keep my promise—so if you—Bob—if you—" She stopped, unable to go on.

He looked at her and guessed her unspoken thought.

"We'll go to him together," he said cheerily, as he drew her to him. "He ought to be given the chance to give me the look-over and to say whether he's willing to let you throw yourself away on me."

"Oh, Bob!" Laurestine cried happily, "I never knew how fine you were until this moment."

At 5:30 the next morning, when Robert, his face set and proud and elate, came for Laurestine, she was wearing the recovered pearls.

The old Irishman's face was radiant when she bent to kiss him.

"This is Lieutenant Vincent, father," she said, "my friend who leaves for France this morning."

Malone looked at the young man with keen, shrewd eyes that read him well, then made him a fine military salute.

"It's a fine, upstandin' frind you've got, me darlin'."

Vincent saluted in return.

"Would I do for her husband?" His voice was humble. "Would you be willing to trust me with her?"

Malone, his eyes twinkling, again made his gallant salute.

"Sure I would. I'd risk ye, lad."

Then Vincent called in the minister.

Death Traps of No Account.

When the fine, rangy soldiers from the Pacific slope celebrated their first entry into the line by attacking the Prussian guard and chasing those once redoubtable troops for seven kilometers, they swept through the little village of Vauquois. Now the once-wooded hills around Vauquois are full of tunnels laboriously dug by the Germans, and in anticipation of this attack they had sown that territory with enough mines to blow to atoms all Vauquois and any one who might be passing through it.

But the Westerners came so fast on the morning of September 26 that the agitated Prussians did not have time to wire their death traps. Later they were removed at leisure by a company of chuckling engineers.—Stars and Stripes.

Fish Rescue Work on Mississippi.

The bureau of fisheries reports that its work in rescuing fishes from the pools due to overflows of the Mississippi river before the drying up of the same was more successful during the past summer than ever before. In July alone the number of fishes saved and replanted was 7,709,700. There was an unusual number of carp and black bass. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1918, the number of food fishes rescued by these operations was 25,680,770. The expense ranged from 9 to 54 cents per 1,000 fish in different fields.—Scientific American.

May Electrify Rails.

The Swedish railway committee was instructed by the king of Sweden at the close of 1915 to investigate the practicability of electrifying the railways of the kingdom. The potential water power of Sweden is immense, of which 4,000,000 turbine horse power is now being developed.

The great reduction in the supply of coal and the increase in the cost has accentuated the importance of developing Sweden's water power. This development has naturally been hampered during the war by the absence of metals necessary for the manufacture of turbines, dynamos, and other machinery and wires for power purposes.

SAFE, GENTLE REMEDY CLEANSES YOUR KIDNEYS

For centuries GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been a standard household remedy for kidney, liver, bladder and stomach trouble, and all diseases connected with the urinary organs. The kidneys and bladder are the most important organs of the body. They are the filters, the purifiers of your blood. If the poisons which enter your system through the blood and stomach are not entirely thrown out by the kidneys and bladder, you are doomed.

Weariness, sleeplessness, nervousness, despondency, backache, stomach trouble, headache, pain in loins and lower abdomen, gall stones, gravel, difficulty when urinating, cloudy and bloody urine, rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago, all warn you to look after your kidneys and bladder. All these indicate some weakness of the kidneys or other organs or that the enemy microbes which are always present in your system have attacked your weak spots. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules are what you need.

They are not a "patent medicine," nor a "new discovery." For 200 years they have been a standard household remedy. They are the pure, original imported Haarlem Oil your great-grandmother used, and are perfectly harmless. The healing, soothing oil soaks into the cells and lining of the kidneys and through the bladder, driving out the poisonous germs. New life, fresh strength and health will come as you continue the treatment. When completely restored to your usual vigor, continue taking a capsule or two each day; they will keep you in condition and prevent a return of the disease.

Do not delay a minute. Delays are especially dangerous in kidney and bladder trouble. All druggists sell GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. They will refund the money if not as represented. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules are imported direct from the laboratories in Holland. They are prepared in correct quantity and convenient form, are easy to take and are positively guaranteed to give prompt relief. In three sizes, sealed packages. Ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL. Accept no substitutes.—Adv.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR.
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUB.

Published every Friday at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

$1.00 a year, in advance.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30, 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam, Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3 1879

The Thief River Falls Times has an editorial in their last week's issue entitled, "An Unfair Burden," relating to the extra taxes caused by pupils attending their high school from outside the district. This is a matter that had ought to be remidied by legislation. Thief River Falls has a high school that they may well be proud of, and a large number of the young people of the east end of the county have been educated there after completing their common school education in their home districts. They are all loud in their praise of the high schools of Thief River Falls, but it is an unfair burden for the tax payers of that city, and there should be a law passed to make state aid available for this purpose, without regard to the tax rate being over 20 mills, or less.

Having recently made a careful inventory of the stocks of knitted articles on hand in all Divisions and Camp Warehouses, National Headquarters has found that these are sufficient to care for the needs of all men now in camps and those returning from the other side, besides allowing a generous shipment to the Foreign Commissions for Civilian Relief work. Therefore, the Red Cross will suspend knitting as one of its regular production activities.

However, each Chapter and its Branches are asked to complete all knitted articles now in process, and to forward these to Division Headquaters as soon as completed. These are to be available for distribution at an early date in order to provide the most effective relief during the present winter.

TAXING IDLENESS

Among the numerous plans for connecting the farmless farmer and the farmless farm is the demand of an organization of Canadian farmers that the owner of idle land must register the price at which he is willing to sell. This value would be used in assessing the land for taxation.

That is the kind of a law that Minnesota needs. Tax the idle lands so high that the land speculator will be driven out of business by taxation. Reverse the present conditions of taxing improvements, and tax the fellows who don't improve their farms, until they will either sell or improve them.

LITTLE CHANGE IN BRITTANY

Land of Romance Today Much the Same as It Has Been Through the Centuries.

Brittany since the early times of history has been the land of romance, saints and archbishops, knights and ladies, hobgoblins and wizards, crusaders and fairies. All of these are with beautiful impartiality scattered through the antique records of l'Amorique, as this region used to be called. Even the fabled sunken city of Is and the lost continent of Atlantis are supposed to lie off its coast. First cousins of the Irish and the Welsh the inhabitants are by tradition, birth and character a race apart, silent, superstitious and devout and obstinate. Fine sailors and tillers of the soil, the Bretons have remained much as their earlier ancestors were. Their native costumes prevail throughout all villages and farmhouses; the men in big blouses and [illegible] hats trimmed with long black velvet ribbons, and [illegible] [illegible]

TOO MUCH WASTED ENERGY

Writer [illegible] Out [illegible] Present Day Hustle and Bustle.

The world is always [illegible] people rushing here and there in what appears to be a futile fashion. Why do we not conserve our energies, save our time and strength for big things? What does the hustle and bustle amount to when we do sit down and rest and think? Nothing; because we could have done what we did without that tense appearance which so many of us think we must assume to make others think we have important business on hand. If we only knew how much more force, strength and ability lies behind a calm exterior, our aim would be to assume that pose until it became our rightful inheritance.

"Out of silence comes thy strength." It brings wonderful results, results that show us how our power is increasing. Try to be calm for a few days and watch the issue. You will marvel at your strength, be astonished at your success.

Be silent, patiently listen, and wait for the strength that is bestowed on all. It is like the ruby in value, a priceless treasure—a life force, in other words, which makes geniuses of men and women.

Begin tomorrow. Go slow but sure, knowing you are doing the right thing. Put aside all nervousness and hurry. You will be amazed at the results; people will come to you because that force being magnetic will draw all good things in your direction. Some may say, "I cannot do this. There is too much to be done in a short time." We need not go to the other extreme and become snails, but by striking the "happy medium," our success will come, perhaps slowly at first, but surely, nevertheless.—Exchange.

SAVAGES USED "POISON GAS"

Ingredients Were Different, but Object Was the Same as That Sought by the Germans.

As is well known, the Germans in the great war were anticipated by some savage tribes in the use of poisonous gas for war purposes. Nature quotes authorities to show that tribes like the Tupinamba and Guaranis of the Brazil littoral and on the Rio Parana used poisonous gases in attacking fortified villages. Men went in front of the attacking party, each holding a pan with embers in one hand and ground red pepper in the other. When the wind was against the Spaniards they sprinkled the pepper on the embers. This was also done in attacks on the Spaniards in Venezuela. In the same way pepper was largely used in exorcising demons and evil spirits. The use of this pepper, known as Aji, would soon be discovered by these Indians, who cultivated the plant extensively. It was only necessary for some one to upset a basin of Aji into the fire and a hut would soon be cleared of its occupants. The use of the smoke in warfare would be a natural development.

Considerate in Death.

When Sir Ralph Abercromby was mortally wounded in the battle of Aboukir he was carried on a litter on board the Foudroyant. To ease his pain a soldier's blanket was placed under his head. He asked what it was.

"It's only a soldier's blanket," he was told.

"Whose blanket is it?" he persisted, raising himself.

"Only one of the men's."

"I want to know the name of the man whose blanket this is," the dying commander insisted.

"It is Duncan Roy's of the Forty-second, Sir Ralph," said his attendant at last.

"Then see that Duncan Roy gets his blanket this night," commanded the brave man, who did not forget even in his last agonies the comfort and welfare of his men.

SEEM TO HAVE HIDING PLACE

Just Where Do Facts Go That One Knows, Temporarily Forgets and Afterward Remembers?

One of the odd things about what we call loss of memory is that it is catching. How often when one person forgets a name well known to him does his companion, to whom it is equally well known, forget it, too. Why is that?

The other day I had an excellent example of this odd epidemic. It was necessary for the name of a certain actor—not a star, but a versatile repertory actor of much distinction—to be recalled in order that a letter to him might quickly be dispatched. I had forgotten his name, but I described him and his methods with sufficient accuracy for every one (there were about six of us) to recognize him. Some of us could even say in what parts we had seen him and compare notes as to his excellence, and yet his name absolutely eluded one and all. Why? We all knew it; why did we unanimously fail to know it then?

We parted intent upon obtaining this necessary information. On meeting again the next day each of us had it, [illegible] and it had broken upon [illegible] [illegible]

EASING THE CARES OF SOLDIERS' FAMILIES

The ten thousand Home Service Sections of the American Red Cross, in their work of looking after the families of the enlisted men, are doing wonders for the morale of the army. Our fighters are not men who are going to worry about themselves, but if they do not get cheerful letters from home, or if anything goes wrong there, they are going to worry, and that delicate thing the army men call morale is going to be disturbed. It is to safeguard against this and also to prevent needless suffering and to promote that spirit of neighborliness and kindly aid that binds each community into an organic whole that the Home Service was organized.

Over 50,000 workers are serving on these ten thousand committees, which reach into every corner of the country, however remote. There is no town or village or crossroads that is not within reach of the Red Cross, not a wife or child or mother of a man in service who cannot claim the ready aid of the Red Cross workers.

More than 300,000 families of American soldiers and sailors have been relieved of money troubles, legal difficulties and worries [illegible] by the [illegible] Red Cross. If the allowances and allotments under the war risk insurance law do not come [illegible] the matter is at once referred to Red Cross Headquarters [illegible] [illegible]

Legend of the Garnet.

The Indians who live in Arizona have a great deal of sentiment about the garnet mines, it is said, and there are numerous legends concerning it, one of which is that centuries ago on a cold winter night the little daughter of a great Indian chief died, and as she passed away Indians standing outside the place where she lay noticed an immense multitude of sparks that flew up from the chief's chimney and settled upon the mountain side, where they shone as brightly as stars, never growing cold and dead.

Later they sank into the earth and formed the garnets that gem the entire mountain.

Inalienable Feminine Right.

"How much is the watermelon, Mr. Brown?" asked a ragged little miss of four years.

"Oh, go long with you," replied the grocer. "Your mamma hasn't given you any money to spend on watermelons."

"Well," rejoined the child, "haven't I got as good right to go shopping as the other ladies?"

Mayor [illegible] and [illegible] of Hazel called on the Board of County Commissioners on Wednesday afternoon and requested them to appoint a committee to make arrangements for the building of a memorial to honor the Pennington County soldiers who took part in the war with Germany. The County Board were prompt to take action and a member of the memorial committee was appointed from each township, and a date has been set for the meeting of that committee to make the arrangements for the building of a suitable monument with all the names of our Pennington County boys, who helped clean up Germany, engraved upon it. Let us all take hold and contribute our time and money freely to let the boys know how proud we are of them.

PEOPLE IN EARTH'S INTERIOR?

Man of Science Believed There Were, and Sought Funds to Make an Investigation.

On November 19, 1822, one of the most peculiar petitions ever presented to congress was brought before that body of lawmakers, which was none other than a request from John Cleves Symmes, asking that aid be given him to make a voyage to the interior of the globe, which he believed to be inhabitable. He was permitted to lecture before Union college, at which he expounded his theory, which, however, was met with universal ridicule.

Notwithstanding which he was greatly respected as a man. He held that all planetary bodies, including the earth, are composed of concentric spheres open at their poles. In one of his memoirs he thus illustrates his conception: "With dividers describe a plane of matter of loose texture and in the center add a very small circle; draw a line through the center. It is evident that either half of the inner circle's [illegible] ground [illegible] by matter must be very little gravitated centerwise, so being suspended, only a rotary motion is needed to throw it compactly toward the outer circle. This being admitted it follows that half way from the outlet to the inner side of this circle of matter thus thrown out, a like rarity, suspension or balance of gravity should prevail, and hence a disposition to concentric circles; therefore it follows that successive similar subdivisions should exist, gradually lessening in force and quantity. By applying this principle to the earth we find the necessity of hollow concentric spheres."

MARKED PROGRESS OF MAN

Invention of Outrigger Canoe Was One of the Greatest in History of the World.

One of the great epoch-making inventions was the outrigger canoe, which is of Polynesian or perhaps Malay origin. It made practicable the exploration of the Pacific and the settlement of island groups separated from one another by vast distances. The great sailing canoes in which migrants from Tahiti voyaged northward over thousands of miles of trackless ocean to the Hawaiian islands nobody knows how many centuries ago, giving to that archipelago its first population, carried 80 or more men and women, presumably with children accompanying.

Captain Cook, the first white explorer to map the Pacific, found all the island groups inhabited. The people did not say to him, "We are discovered at last!" They were themselves the discoverers. Long centuries before Captain Cook was born they had traversed all parts of that ocean, and the Polynesian navigators had mapped it for themselves with curious charts made of little sticks. Children in that part of the world are brought up in boats; they are amphibious. Canoes for themselves they make out of hollowed logs with sticks of bamboo for outriggers. Land and water are the same to them; they are equally at home in the sea or on terra firma. [illegible]

Thomas Sully.

Thomas Sully, the portrait painter, was born at Horncastle, Lincolnshire, England, in 1783. He was brought by his parents, who were actors, to Charleston, S. C., in 1792. In 1806 he removed to New York, and in 1809 he returned to England, where he completed his studies. Two years later he returned to America and settled in Philadelphia. Among his best known portraits are those of Commodore Decatur in city hall, New York; General Lafayette in Independence hall, Philadelphia, and George Frederick Cooke at the Philadelphia Academy of Fine Arts. Other noted portraits by him are those of Charles Kemble, Frances Anne Kemble, Rembrandt Peale, James Madison, Andrew Jackson, and John Marshall, in the Corcoran gallery in Washington, D. C. He died in 1872.

Yperite, New Poison Gas.

J. Bandaline and J. de Pollakoff (Bulletin de l'Academie de Medicine) call the reader's attention to the efficiency of hot air in the treatment of burns caused by yperite, a gas used by the Germans in their offensive of March, 1918. These burns, even when very small, cause extremely sharp pain and sleeplessness. A number of cases were rapidly healed by hot air after various treatments had failed.

SEEM TO HAVE HIDING PLACE

Just Where Do Facts Go That One Knows, Temporarily Forgets and Afterward Remembers?

One of the odd things about what we call loss of memory is that it is catching. How often when one person forgets a name well known to him does his companion, to whom it is equally well known, forget it, too. Why is that?

The other day I had an excellent example of this odd epidemic. It was necessary for the name of a certain actor—not a star, but a versatile repertory actor of much distinction—to be recalled in order that a letter to him might quickly be dispatched. I had forgotten his name, but I described him and his methods with sufficient accuracy for every one (there were about six of us) to recognize him. Some of us could even say in what parts we had seen him and compare notes as to his excellence, and yet his name absolutely eluded one and all. Why? We all knew it; why did we unanimously fail to know it then?

We parted, intent upon obtaining this necessary information. On meeting again the next day each of us had it pat enough, and it had broken upon each more or less suddenly during the night.

The great mystery to me is where are the things one forgets, but suddenly will remember again, while one is forgetting them? Where are they lurking? This problem of their whereabouts, their capacity to hide and elude, distresses me far more than my inability to call them from the vast deep of the brain. [illegible]

IN HONOR OF DR. VAN DYKE

Costly Organ Installed by Grateful Associates in Church of Which Noted Man Was Pastor.

A new pipe organ has been installed in the Brick Presbyterian church, Fifth avenue and Thirty-seventh street, New York, in gratitude for the ministry of Henry Van Dyke. Doctor Van Dyke, who was until recently American ambassador to the Netherlands, was for more than twenty years pastor of this church.

The new organ, which is one of the most complete and is today perhaps the most modern church organ in the United States, is a four-manual instrument of 120 stops and 6,000 pipes, with electric action. It is really a combination of six organs—great organ, swell organ, choir organ, solo organ and echo organ. The installation includes also a set of chimes. The echo organ and chimes will be placed above the ceiling at the rear of the church over the apse. The other parts of the combination are inclosed each in its own swell box and all in one general swell box, placed in the choir gallery over the front entrance to the church. Although the new organ is considerably larger than the one which it replaces, no architectural change is evident, much of the instrument being concealed behind the walls. E. M. Skinner of Boston is the builder of the new organ, which has been under construction since the summer of 1917.

It is understood that the organ cost in the neighborhood of $35,000. The fund was contributed by members of the congregation as a tribute to their old pastor, under whose leadership the worship of the Brick church was greatly enriched and beautified.

WROTE MESSAGES WITH DYE

Material for Invisible Writing Used by German Spy Was Obtained From Silk Hosiery.

A cleverly designed method of outwitting the government officials and furnishing information to the enemy was revealed in the early days of the war by the arrest of a man in Paterson, N. J., by naval intelligence officers.

The man, held as an alleged spy in a jail in Brooklyn, is said to have come from Holland and to have been employed in a silk dyeing establishment in Paterson. His unique method of sending messages to Germany called for the use of silk hosiery of a peculiar dye. It is said that he had received a dozen pairs of these socks from German agents in Holland and that his method was to soak them in water and use the coloring matter which they gave forth as a writing fluid. As this dried it became invisible until brought out by a special process, which, however, the federal agents are said to have worked out.

They in turn, in learning the secret, opened his letters and changed the contents and forwarded the letters. The information thus received by the Germans proved of little use to them.

But for a long time, it is said, there was not enough evidence on which to convict this man, until one day through carelessness he left one of the socks where a naval intelligence officer found it. When confronted with this the man is said to have confessed to the entire project.

Y. M. C. A. in Italy.

The Y. M. C. A. in Italy, as everywhere else, has asserted itself in a most splendid and generous manner. While the red triangle, known the world over as the sign of brotherhood, is much in evidence in the Italian war zone, the four letters "Y. M. C. A." are nowhere to be seen. The reason given for this is that the Italians in general are opposed to any organization of a public nature which is controlled by a religious or sectarian element, a Washington bulletin says. Such initials as that of the Y. M. C. A. would create a certain feeling of mistrust among the Italian people as to the purposes of the association.

The officers of the Y. M. C. A. in Italy have been quick to appreciate this, and in order to work in full harmony with the Italians have changed the name of the association to "So[illegible] Fratellanza Universale," or [illegible] of Universal Brotherhood. Accordingly the letters "S. F. U." have everywhere been substituted for "Y. M. C. A."

Illness and Literature.

There is nothing like a good, long illness for the cultivation of pure literature. It should not be too severe or needlessly painful, for then you may overshoot the mark and be too weary to read or be read to. It is possible to have too much of even the best things. But a proper, comfortable illness, that keeps you in bed, yet leaves you free to read, that banishes all the interruptions of life, the constitutional walks, the stupid visits, the annoying correspondence, the dressing and the undressing, and all the amenities of modern civilization, and allows you to lie at peace and read your fill, is among the best gifts of the gods. You soon forget to be sleepy and lazy, your mind displays an unwonted [illegible] and you become conscious of an insatiable craving for books.—Ohio State Journal.

Arthur Wellesley, first Duke Wellington, was born probably on the 29th of April, 1769, in Dublin. He was an unpromising boy, and his mother decided that her "ugly boy Arthur," was fit food for powder and nothing else, sent him to a military academy at Angers, France. He entered the army in 178[illegible] and rose rapidly, seeing much service, until his great opportunity came when Napoleon returned from Elba, and Wellington was summoned to command the [illegible] of the English and allies in Belgium, in cooperation with the Prussians under Blucher. EPIGRAPHS PROVE A PUZZLE

Explanation of Hieroglyphics Admittedly Very Old Will Surely Be of the Greatest Interest.

Amateur archeologists of California are endeavoring to interest professional scientists of the East in the epigraphs which abound on the rocks of Round Valley, not far from the city of Bishop, and which are believed to be as old, if not older, than the hieroglyphics of earliest Egypt, to which they bear a strange resemblance.

It is believed by many that the strange markings constituted the names by which ancient tribes marked the source of water supply for the benefit of those of their number who lived roving lives.

These hieroglyphics have never been deciphered, although they are matters of record in the leading museums of the country, it is said. The Indian tribes now living in the vicinity declare they are the work of the Indians of North America and that they antedate all aboriginal lore.

Some who have examined the strange markings in the flinty bowlders say the hieroglyphics closely resemble those of earliest Egypt and may replace the latter as the first written language of humanity.

They are found always in the vicinity of water supplies, the same markings discovered near Bishop appearing also on rocks extending through the Canadian border, down through Washington, Oregon and California to the Mexican line and beyond. This fact, it is argued, indicates that prehistoric tribes marked a highway for their migrating members or for their armies, giving specific directions as to the best water supplies [illegible]

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK, CROSS, FEVERISH

HURRY, MOTHER! REMOVE POISONS FROM LITTLE STOMACH, LIVER, BOWELS.

GIVE CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS AT ONCE IF BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels needs a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhœa, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative;" they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Adv.

Distressing Thought.

It's dreadful to think that a pretty little maiden who is now busy with her dolls may grow up and become a movie vampire.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

If you learn a woman's age she cannot hide her rage.

Explaining gets to be a chronic habit with some persons.

In 1848 Sir Arthur Garrod proved that in gout (also true in rheumatism) there is deficient elimination on the part of the kidneys and the poisons within are not thrown off.

Prof. H. Strauss attributes a gouty attack to the heaping up of poisons where there is an abundance of uric acid which is precipitated in the joints and sheaths, setting up inflammation. Before the attack of gout or rheumatism there is sometimes headache, or what is thought to be neuralgia, or rheumatic conditions, such as lumbago, pain in the back of the neck, or sciatica. As Prof. Strauss says, "The excretion of uric acid we are able to effect by exciting diuresis." Drink copiously of water, six or eight glasses per day, hot water before meals, and obtain Anuric tablets, double strength, for 60 cts., at the nearest drug store and take them three times a day. If you want a trial package send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Anuric" (anti-uric) is a recent discovery of Dr. Pierce and much more potent than lithia, for it will dissolve uric acid as hot tea dissolves sugar.

AGREE TO LEAVE GERMAN CABINET

Independent Socialist Members Are Reported to Have Decided On Resigning.

DARK STORM BREWING

Adolf Hoffman Has Aroused Bitter Opposition Among Colleagues by His Course Toward Churches and Schools.

Berlin, Jan. 6.—It has been learned that Independent Socialist members of the Prussian cabinet have decided to resign. Among them will be Adolf Hoffman, whose attitude toward churches and schools has resulted in bitter opposition, even from some of his colleagues.

Sixty thousand Catholics and Protestants of Berlin, after a mass meeting, marched to the ministry of public worship, where there was a demonstration against Hoffman, who holds that portfolio, say advices from the German capital. Dr. Karl Liebknecht and Rosa Luxembourg, the radical leader, were also targets of the crowd's anger. As the throng marched along the streets it sang "Deutschland Ueber Alles."

After reaching the building, entry was gained and a large number of people went in, searching for Hoffman, but he was not found. The crowd then dispersed.

Brunswick Socialists Resign.

The independent Socialists in the state of Brunswick have resigned, it is announced in advices reaching here.

The cabinet has deposed Eichorn, chief of police of Berlin, who refused to vacate his post. Herr Ernst, director of the Vorwaerts Publishing company, has been appointed to succeed Eichorn.

It is reported that the government has decided to adopt drastic measures to suppress the activities of the radical Socialists throughout Germany.

German Delegates in Paris.

Paris, Jan. 6.—The newspaper Echo de Paris says a wireless dispatch from Nauen, Germany, announces that a committee of three Allied officers has arrived in Berlin from Spa, to superintend carrying out of the armistice conditions relative to German airships at Friedrichshaven and Interborg. The procedure in turning over of the airships will be the same as that followed in the surrender of German warships and submarines.

Berlin dispatches report that the agreements between the Poles and the Germans have been rescinded. Kruchwitz has been occupied by the Poles, who are advancing along the Kreuz-Danzig railway, the dispatches add.

New York, Jan. 6.—Captain Emery Rice, who commanded the Mongolia, the first American steamship to sink a German submarine, and who made forty-one voyages across the Atlantic during the war, died at the New York navy yard hospital of pneumonia following influenza. He was ill only a week.

It was on April 19, 1917, a few days after the United States entered the war, that the Mongolian fired the first gun for America.

HINTS AT FIRM STAND

New German Foreign Minister Outlines His Policy.

Intimates Berlin Will Not Yield to Every Peace Condition of Her Opponents.

Copenhagen, Jan. 6.—The new German foreign minister, Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, has issued a statement outlining his policy, but it has not reached Copenhagen.

From comment in the Tageblatt of Berlin, however, it appears he declared that Germany must not yield to every peace condition her opponents may wish to dictate. The Tageblatt adheres to the minister's point of view, and says:

"No peace must be signed which differs by the breadth of a hair from President Wilson's 14 principles which Germany has accepted, and the Entente, willingly or unwillingly, has signed."

The Tageblatt then discusses Germany's illusions before the war and says these were fed by the fatal propaganda which drove America into the war and led to the inevitable catastrophe.

"It is necessary," the paper continues, "to avoid the self-deception of which the minister speaks, but it is not necessary to plunge madly into self-humiliation."

GARY PREDICTS PROSPERITY

Wants to See Germany Punished, but Not Totally Crippled.

Pittsburgh, Jan. 6.—An era of great prosperity for America during the next five years was predicted by E. H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation board of directors, here attending the annual dinner of officials and employes of the Carnegie Steel company. Speaking on "Prices and Wages," President Gary said:

"I want to see Germany punished, but not crippled to the extent that she cannot rehabilitate herself."

PRISONERS IN FOE CAMPS

Great Britain Had Listed 15,000 Missing Men as Dead.

London, Jan. 6.—There are 15,000 more British prisoners in Germany than the British records show, so that a number of men previously given up as dead or missing will return to their homes, it was stated here. The British had contemplated getting the last 20,000 prisoners out of Germany within a fortnight, but the German records show that there remain in German hands 35,000 men, of whom 15,000 had been listed as dead.

FRUIT PICKING IS STOPPED

California Growers Will Eliminate All Frozen Stock.

Los Angeles, Jan. 6.—Orange growers of Los Angeles county here determined not to pick any citrus fruit for ten days. It was estimated that within that time a careful survey of all groves could be made and the condition of the fruit determined sufficiently to prevent any frozen stock going on the market.

AGREE ON KAISER'S STATUS

British and Dutch Governments Keep Details Secret.

Amsterdam, Jan. 6.—The British and Dutch governments have arrived at an agreement regarding the status of the former German emperor, according to a dispatch to the Telegraaf from The Hague. The details of the agreement have not been announced.

WILSON CABLES STRONG APPEAL

President Asks Congress to Provide Funds to Prevent Starvation in Europe.

HELP NEEDED QUICKLY

Message Requesting Immediate Appropriation of One Hundred Million Dollars Is Received by Secretary Glass.

Washington, Jan. 6.—The first legislative recommendation of President Wilson, based on his study of conditions in Europe, looks to the relief of distress of people "outside of Germany" who are threatened with starvation.

Request for immediate appropriation of $100,000,000 to supply food to liberated peoples of Austria, Turkey, Poland and western Russia, who have no recognized government and are unable to finance international obligations, was transmitted to Congress by Secretary Glass on cabled instructions from the President. Mr. Glass went personally to the capitol for a long conference with Democratic leaders of the House and legislation to carry out the President's recommendations will be introduced by them after conferring with Republican leaders.

Billion and Half Needed.

The President's message said that food shipments worth $1,500,000,000 must be made from the United States to Europe in the next seven months. An international organization, directed by Herbert C. Hoover, will supervise the distribution of the supplies, most of which will be paid for by persons able to find the necessary resources. The appropriation requested by the President will take care of the population in other districts, notably in eastern and southern Europe, which have been ravaged by war and where freedom and governments will emerge only slowly out of chaos.

In appealing "to the great sense of charity and good will of the American people towards the suffering," the President said: "While the sum of money is in itself large, it is so small compared to the expenditures we have undertaken in the hope of bettering the world that it becomes a mere pittance compared to the results that will be obtained from it and the lasting effect that will remain in the United States through an act of such broad humanity and statesmanlike influence."

WEST OUTRANKS THE EAST

Bank Savings for United States Show Big Increase.

New York, Jan. 6.—A per capita increase of 10.7 per cent in savings during the past four years in the Eastern states, where the value of savings is the greatest in the country, was lower than in any other group of states, according to a bulletin made public by the American Institute of Banking. Savings for the United States showed an increase of 27.4 per cent, a greater gain than during any previous similar period. The Western states showed an increase of 101 per cent, the highest of any group.

Would Sink German Ships.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Admiral Hugh Rodman, commander of the American squadron in the North sea, has recommended the sinking of all surrendered German capital ships, he told the House naval affairs committee. The submarines, destroyers and other minor craft should be kept, Admiral Rodman said. He said the German [illegible]

LABORER RUNS AMUCK

Slays Six Members of One Family and Commits Suicide.

Tragedy On Iowa Farm Is Believed to Have Been the Result of an Elopement.

Omaha, Jan. 6.—A farm laborer, William Barnes, shot and killed six members of the Wilbur Johnson family on Holman's island, eight miles northwest of Little Sioux, Iowa. He then committed suicide.

The tragedy is believed to have had its origin in the elopement of Barnes last fall with a daughter of Johnson. The pair returned and a partial reconciliation was effected, but a quarrel occurred, which resulted in the shooting.

Barnes is said to have gone to Tekamah, Iowa, after the quarrel and purchased a shotgun and shells. Returning, he is believed to have fired two shots through the window, killing Mr. and Mrs. Johnson outright.

Entering the house, he reloaded his gun and shot the 8-year-old son of Johnson and a younger daughter.

Then Barnes went to the home of Mrs. Mabel Jones, a sister of Johnson, and, going to her bedroom, shot her as she lay in bed beside her baby. Mrs. Jones raised up as he fired and Barnes shot her again, one charge taking effect in her chest and the other in her head.

While the baby cowered beside the body of its mother, Barnes deliberately reloaded his gun, took aim at the infant and fired.

With six victims accounted for, Barnes returned to the Johnson home and entered the kitchen. He pulled up a chair near the stove, reloaded his shotgun, tied a string to the trigger and attached the other end to his big toe. Placing the muzzle between his eyes, he jerked his foot. His body was found, still erect in the chair, with the top of his head blown off.

MORE GOODS TO SIBERIA

Exports Licenses to Be Issued Freely to Approved Consignees.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Export licenses will be issued freely to approved consignees for the shipment of all non-conserved commodities to Siberia, the war trade board announced.

Heretofore shipments to that country had to be consigned to the board's representative at Vladivostok.

REAR ADMIRAL VERY DIES

Naval Ordnance Expert Helped Down Filipino Revolt.

Boston, Jan. 6.—Rear Admiral Samuel W. Very, retired, died at the Newton hospital. He was formerly one of the ordnance experts of the navy. As commander of the gunboat Castine he assisted in suppressing the Filipino revolt and was especially commended by the Navy department.

SCHLEY GETS WAR CROSS

Cousin of Late Admiral Wounded Five Times in Seven Hours.

New York, Jan. 6.—Lieutenant J. Montfort Schley, Jr., a cousin of the late Admiral Schley, wounded five times in seven hours during the second battle of the Marne, has received the Croix de Guerre, relatives here were informed.

New Altitude Record Made.

London, Jan. 6.—Flying a British airplane at Ipswich, Captain Lang, accompanied by Observer Blowers, established a new altitude record, reaching a height of 30,500 feet. Their motor stopped at that height, due to exhaustion of their petrol supply, but they landed safely. Both Lang and Blowers are in the hospital with frozen hands and feet. The latter fainted at 20,000 feet when the pipe through which he [illegible]

DANDRUFF MAKES HAIR FALL OUT

A small bottle of "Danderine" keeps hair thick, strong, beautiful.

Girls! Try this! Doubles beauty of your hair in a few moments.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine for a few cents at any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.—Adv.

"BEST MEDICINE FOR WOMEN"

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did For Ohio Woman.

Portsmouth, Ohio.—"I suffered from irregularities, pains in my side and was so weak at times I could hardly get around to do my work, and as I had four in my family and three boarders it made it very hard for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me. I took it and it has restored my health. It is certainly the best medicine for woman's ailments I ever saw."—Mrs. SARA SHAW, R. No. 1, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Mrs. Shaw proved the merit of this medicine and wrote this letter in order that other suffering women may find relief as she did.

Women who are suffering as she was should not drag along from day to day without giving this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial. For special advice in regard to such ailments write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of its forty years experience is at your service.

Are You Open-Minded?

The average American is open-minded.

American business is conducted by true Americans of vision, open-minded men who believe in their country and strive to meet their country's needs. The men in the packing industry are no exception to the rule.

The business of Swift & Company has grown as the nation has progressed. Its affairs have been conducted honorably, efficiently, and economically, reducing the margin between the cost of live stock and the selling price of dressed meat, until today the profit is only a fraction of a cent a pound—too small to have any noticeable effect on prices.

The packing industry is a big, vital industry—one of the most important in the country. Do you understand it?

Swift & Company presents facts in the advertisements that appear in this paper. They are addressed to every open-minded person in the country.

WOMEN SUFFERERS MAY NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

NEWS OF STATE TERSELY TOLD

Recent Happenings in Minnesota Given in Brief Items for Busy Readers

Melrose.—Paul [illegible], aged [illegible] years, left his family some six weeks ago and has not been seen or heard of since.

Stillwater.—The tax rate for the city of Stillwater will be 66 mills next year, according to County Auditor N. A. Nelson, being an increase of 14 mills over the year before.

St. Cloud.—Private Edward Slivnik, son of Mrs. Mary Slivnik of this city, is reported as severely wounded in action on Nov. 11, according to a telegram received from Adjt. Gen. Harris by his mother.

East Grand Forks.—The schools of the city have reopened after a vacation of one week and all of the teachers have returned. Three more of the boys who were on strike, objecting to the military drill, have returned to the class rooms, making five in all.

Minneapolis.—Retail yards of the Northland Pine company in the Twin Cities have been sold to the Thompson Yards, Inc. The change took effect January 1. The Thompson Yards control by far the largest string of country lumber yards of any concern in the country, but never have entered the city field before.

Ivanhoe.—Ivanhoe suffered a heavy loss by fire when the plant of the Ivanhoe Milling company was destroyed, entailing a loss of $30,000 and practically wiping out one of the leading industries of the town. Eleven hundred bushels of wheat, a carload of screenings and several carloads of flour were also burned.

Stillwater.—R. S. Parkhurst, born and well known here, has been cited for heroic service in the great war, for courage, perseverance and endurance while under most trying conditions in the war zone. Mr. Parkhurst is a son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Parkhurst and a nephew of Judge A. E. Doe of the probate court here.

St. Paul.—Benjamin Fisher, 44, said by the local police to be well known to the police of Chicago, was shot and killed by George Dawson, a local detective. Dawson said that Fisher approached him, while standing in a local hotel, with a drawn revolver and threatened to "get him." The detective claimed he then fired in self-defense.

St. Paul.—Minnesota soldiers and sailors who have been released and returned home since the armistice was signed number 2,114 to date, according to reports from camp agents received by State Director Hugo V. Koch of the Federal Employment service. The majority of these are agricultural workers, and most of the others skilled mechanics.

Virginia.—Virginia is the only town of its size in Minnesota selected for survey by the special Federal agents to obtain reliable information as to the cost of living compared with the average wage. It is to represent the mining section of the state. The only other cities in this state in which like surveys are to be made are Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth.

St. Paul.—Whether telephone rate authority rests with the state or federal government will be decided soon in the courts, according to indications after the state railroad and warehouse commission had denied the applications of the Northwestern Telephone Exchange company and the Tri-State Telephone and Telegraph company for increases in rates.

Moorhead.—The bottom has dropped out of the price of potato sacks and many growers and shippers who have large stocks on hand are heavy losers. Losses range from $48.50 to $96 per 1,000 sacks, depending upon the date of purchase. Sacks used by Red river valley growers and shippers are of two-bushel capacity and 300 are used in each carload, making the loss from $14.55 to over $28 on each car.

Moorhead.—Moorhead may be without a charter commission, it developed at a meeting of the commission, when the proposed construction of a city hall and a school building was considered. To construct the city hall will require an amendment to the city charter to permit increased bonding. Terms of several members of the commission have expired, and it is contended that they are disqualified from acting even though their successors have not qualified.

Minneapolis.—The Ten Thousand Lakes association of Minnesota is preparing a petition to the Secretary of the Interior asking that the head waters of the Mississippi river in Itasca state park be officially set aside as a national monument. The plans include the erection of a slab made from Minnesota stone to mark the spot. The association is also endeavoring to obtain a $100,000 appropriation from the state legislature for the national advertising of Minnesota's outdoor playgrounds.

Sandstone.—The fire that broke out in the Commercial hotel here about 4 a. m. was not extinguished entirely till near noon and the structure was practically ruined, the rear part being reduced to ashes. Fortunately all inmates escaped. The proprietor, A. C. Wingerberg, was in the Twin Cities at the time and the fire is supposed to have originated in the kitchen.

Hibbing.—At the suggestion of the village council the [illegible]

Pine River.—The [illegible] annual [illegible] will be held in the [illegible] building in Pine River on January 23 and [illegible].

East Grand Forks.—On account of the impassable condition of the roads due to the heavy snow the mail carriers did not make the rural routes one day recently.

Moose Lake.—John J. Pukropp has sold the building and machinery of the former planing mill conducted by him about two years ago at Sturgeon Lake to the Bank of Sturgeon Lake.

Virginia.—According to the annual report of the police department there were 1,009 arrests made during the past year. During the same time 1,808 were arrested for sleeping in public places.

Owatonna.—W. B. Thornburgh, superintendent of the Owatonna public schools, has been summoned to New York city to shortly sail for overseas service. He enters the Y. M. C. A. educational service.

Grand Rapids.—C. C. Peterson, chairman of Four Minute speakers during the bond speaking and other campaigns, said that the 110 speeches made in the local theaters reached approximately 20,000 people. An equal number has been made in the neighboring villages and towns.

Lake Benton.—Andrew Strong, 78 years old, one of the best known old soldiers in this part of the state, died at his home here, following an illness of several weeks. Strong saw service in the Civil war as a member of the Forty-fifth Pennsylvania infantry, and was wounded more than a dozen times.

St. Paul.—R. D. McKercher, former chief of police of Duluth, resigned as executive agent of the State Society of Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, after service since December 1. No reasons were given. He resigned as chief of police at Duluth to replace Welcome W. Brady, former head of the society.

Hibbing.—According to Indian Agent Ellis, who conducted a raid in Alice, 1,032 bottles of Jamaica ginger and a lot of Hoffman drops were confiscated to be held pending a reply from the department of justice, as to what disposition to be made of the stuff. The owner of the alleged substitutes is being sought.

Canby.—The citizens of Canby have decided to erect a handsome monument in memory of the soldiers who went from the city. Plans for the monument and the soliciting of subscriptions are now being worked out. It is expected to raise $10,000 for this purpose among the citizens of Canby and vicinity.

Pipestone.—The Rev. Isaac Witcome, the first regular appointed minister to have charge in Pipestone, and the man who erected the first church building here, died at the home of his daughter at Tourton, S. D., at the age of 73 years. Mr. Witcome came to Pipestone in 1882 and organized the Methodist church here.

Virginia.—Mayor Ed. Johnson told the city council no decision had been made as to who would be secretary at war headquarters when George I. Williams assumed the office of postmaster. Mayor Johnson stated that Mr. Williams will devote a part of his time to the war headquarters even after going into the postoffice.

Mankato.—Col. G. A. Lewis of the Fifth infantry regiment, National Guard, has been honored by the officers of his regiment, who presented him with a handsome officer's belt, holster and Colt's revolver, in recognition of his efforts in organizing the regiment. The presentation was made by Lieut. Col. Miller of St. Peter.

Hills.—To be killed in action on a battlefield of France, two hours before the armistice became effective on November 11, was the fate of Otto Dannenbring of Hills. August Dannenbring, a brother of the soldier, has just received word that his relative was killed in action during the great battle that raged at 9 o'clock in the morning of the day that the fighting ended.

Bemidji.—H. M. Clark, president of the city council, received so many complaints from citizens to the effect that the water from the deep wells emitted an obnoxious odor, he called a special meeting of the water committee of the council, to which citizens in general were invited, to discuss what should be done in solving the water problem.

Grand Marais.—Sheriff Lien brought from Bearskin lake Peter Albrom, a Russian, aged about 26, who has been living like a wild man in a ranger's cabin on East Bearskin, and as he refuses to work he may be turned over to the immigration authorities at Duluth for deportation as an undesirable. He presented a sorry sight when brought here, being in dirty rags, having a long beard and much emaciated from hunger.

Bemidji.—Albert Uteck, Sr., 60, of Laying, was killed by an M. & I. train while walking along the track when for no apparent reason he stepped on the track right in front of the onrushing train and was badly mangled. The only witness was Miss Pearletta Wheeler, a teacher at the Laying schools, who had met Mr. Uteck on the way to the depot to board the train for Bemidji.

St. Paul.—The state food administration, which has been in existence for fifteen months preaching conservation and enforcing its orders, has gone out of existence. Meat, grain and sugar valued at millions of dollars were saved by conservation methods, according to records compiled by A. D. Wilson, state administrator.

After the "Flu" —Fever or Cold

Clean the Acidity and Toxic Poisons Out of the Digestive Tract

Millions are now suffering from the after effects of the deadly "flu," a fever or a cold. Their appetites are poor; they are weak, and they are waiting for their strength to come back.

If these people could only realize that the return to health and strength would be greatly helped by giving attention to the stomach—that is, removing the acidity and toxic poisons from the entire digestive tract, making it act naturally, so that the body will receive the full strength of the food eaten—a great deal of suffering would be saved to humanity.

Everyone knows that the disease itself, and the strong medicines that have been taken, upset the stomach, leave it hot and feverish, the mouth dry, the tongue coated, a nasty taste, and no desire to eat. This is a poor foundation to build new strength on.

Now, tens of thousands of people all over this country are using EATONIC for the purpose of cleaning these poisonous after-effects right out of the system and they are obtaining wonderful results—so wonderful that the amazingly quick benefits are hardly believable, just as shown in the remarkable letter which is published upon the request of this sturdy old Civil War veteran. He is 77 years old. Read what he says EATONIC did for him:

"I am an old soldier past seventy-seven years. I had the Spanish influenza and it left my stomach in an awful shape. I tried three different doctors but got no relief. As a last resort I sent and got a box of EATONIC and to my greatest surprise the very first tablet I took helped me. I can now eat anything I want, and feel fine."

Yours thankfully,

Fowler, Indiana

This is only one case out of thousands. You should make the EATONIC test in your own case at once. You have everything to gain—not a penny can you lose, for we take all the risk. Your own common sense, your own feelings, tell you that a good appetite, good digestion, a good stomach, with the fever poisons and effects of strong medicines out of your system, will put you on the road to strong, robust health again.

You want to enjoy life again after you have battled with the "flu," fever or colds, or any other illness that has taken your strength. You want to get back your old-time vigor, be full of pep and enthusiasm—be able to work with ease, instead of listlessly, half-heartedly dragging out a mere existence.

So be sure to take a box of EATONIC home with you today. We cannot urge this too strongly. If EATONIC fails to give you positive beneficial results it will not cost you a penny. There is no risk—the benefit is surely all for you.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30, 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam, Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Of all the condensed and boiled down gall, that we ever heard, is the reported action of England and France in presenting a bill to this country for from one hundred and twenty-five dollars to one hundred and fifty dollars, for every American soldier that they transported to France, to save them from being licked by Germany. They were licked to a standstill, before the United States got into the fight, and that German army was never stopped from their steady march toward Paris, until they were turned by American troops. Now they want to charge this country three or four prices for transporting our boys over there to lick Germany for them. But before they get a final settlement with this country they will find, that they are not dealing with President Wilson, but with a nation that is ruled by the people, who did the principal part of the fighting in that war.

There is one feature about army life that seems to be wrong and that is that the government allows enough "hang ons" around the army camps to get every cent a soldier draws in salary from the government. According to the best information we can get, a soldier would be just as rich at the end of the year, if he got thirteen dollars a month, as he would to get thirty-three dollars, as the twenty dollars extra only helps to keep a larger army of cheap John actors in the rear to bleed the boys out of their pay as soon as they draw it from the government. If this is allowed to continue there will be small encouragement for any young man to enlist in the army as he would be no richer after five years of army life than he would be after five years service in the penitentiary.

A farmer that bought a $100.00 Liberty Bond, remarked that if all the people of America were compelled to buy bonds until their wealth was equal with his, that the United States would have more money than they could use. There is quite a large number of farmers who are compelled to pay as high as ten per cent interest to buy bonds, and it is pretty hard for them to understand why they should pay ten percent for money to loan to the government to be loaned out to foreign nations at 4 per cent interest.

The government will stand by their agreement to pay $2.20 a bushel for wheat this year. After that time they will undoubtedly hand the price fixing back to the speculators, who will get rich one week from the producers and the next week from the consumers.

It seems to be the desire of nearly all the soldiers, that were called to the colors in time of war, to return home again, and become private citizens.

AVOIDS ALL FRICTION

New Plan of Co-ordination Expected to Bring Biggest Possible Sales With Least Possible Effort and Expense.

All the Government's 1919 loan activities in the Ninth District will be directed by the Ninth District War Loan Organization. This means that for the first time the sale of War Savings Stamps and Liberty Loan Bonds are all under the same district supervision and that all efforts to dispose of Government securities will be under the same district supervision and that all efforts to dispose of Government securities will be co-ordinated in a manner that will bring the biggest possible sales with the least possible effort and expense.

For some time past officials of the Treasury Department in Washington have realized that the War Savings Stamp Sales Organization needed National direction. It was evident that the campaign for the sale of these smaller securities had been a sort of hit or miss affair, good, bad or indifferent, depending on the efficiency and enthusiasm of a local organizations. Several months ago it was decided to put the sales organization of War Savings Stamps in the hands of L. B. Franklin, national director of four successful Liberty Loan drives. His official title thereupon became Director of the War Loan Organization and he was given national charge of the placing of the forms of Government securities mentioned above.

The Treasury Department delegated to each of the twelve governors of the Federal Reserve banks the responsibility of building and putting into working order the necessary machinery for the sale of all Government securities in his district. The method of [illegible] was left to [illegible] bank [illegible]

Gov. Theodore Wold.

Mr. Rogers announces that the old Liberty Loan organization, including state, district, county and local chairmen and workers which numbers nearly 40,000 individuals will be kept intact to prepare and carry through the Fifth Liberty Loan drive which will be made some time in April. Distinct from this organization, yet a part of it as far as district direction is concerned will be the old War Savings Stamp state organizations of Montana, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Northern Wisconsin and Northern Michigan. These state organizations will also be kept intact as far as possible and will form the nucleus of the Government Savings Stamp Division of the Ninth District War Loan Organization.

The personnel of the Ninth District War Loan Organization that will have supervision over the sale of these Government securities during 1919 is as follows:

A. H. Rogers, Chairman, Central Committee; Homer P. Clark, Vice Chairman, Central Committee; Beal E. Bull, Director of Publicity; Joseph Chapman, Director of Speakers' Bureau.

Liberty Loan Division: Chas. E. Van Nest, Director of Organization; [illegible] Stuart, Director of Investigation; State Chairmen: Norman B. Holter, Helena, Montana; Wesley C. McDowell, Marion, N. will be directed after the first of January by Mr. Rogers, we are certain that results will be obtained with much less effort and without friction which developed in some localities during the past year.

The Treasury Department at Washington is working out a complete and scientific national campaign to induce thrift and the investment of savings in Government securities. Our district organization will have the benefit of the Government's work and will adapt and put into operation such parts of the plan as meet the conditions in this territory.

We appreciate the enthusiasm and loyal efforts of the men and women who have worked untiringly to effect the sale of War Savings Stamps during the past year in the various states of this district. We know that with the experience they have had and with the aid of new direction and experience they will be able to accomplish very much more during the coming months. While there is to be another Liberty Loan drive, it will be necessary to put more steam behind the sale of Government Savings Stamps than ever before. The Government expects to realize $2,000,000,000 from the sale of Savings Stamps during 1919, this is more than twice the amount sold during 1918 and individuals everywhere must realize that the buying of stamps is a paramount duty.

tion will endeavor to help the people on the firing line. We will do everything we possibly can to show them the necessity for loaning money to their Government and to help convert those who do not understand.

"The great mass of people have never fully realized the importance and the value to individuals and to good Government of buying Savings Stamps. Owing largely to the fact that the Liberty Loan drives have occupied the center of the stage the smaller securities have seemed somewhat trivial. This has never been the right attitude and it is more important now than ever before that we should change our view point. The fact that Government Savings Stamps can be and are purchased by many thousands of people who are unable to buy Liberty Bonds makes this form of security of untold value to the Government. Right now the Government needs large amounts of cash for the payment of debts and the advantageous settling of war contracts. The proceeds of the Fourth Liberty Loan Bonds have been spent. A large purchase of Savings Stamps at this time will give the Government the money it needs and will do much toward making certain permanent peace and prosperity [illegible]

Governor Theodore Wold of the Ninth Federal Reserve District has in turn delegated the work of organizing and directing the Government securities sales forces to the Central Committee of the Ninth District of which A. THE LOCAL NEWS

These beautiful moonlight nights, makes one feel like going out sleigh riding.

According to reports, about all of our Pennington County farm boys will return from soldiering to farming before seeding time this spring.

Our prairie farmers on the north side of Red Lake River are improving the fine weather and sleighing for getting up their year's supply of fire wood.

This has certainly been a fine winter so far the weather being just cold enough so the snow will not melt, and not cold enough to freeze a man without an overcoat.

On last Saturday evening a surprise party was given at the Knute Olson home in honor of Miss Tillie and Olga Olson. The evening was spent in playing games, and a very enjoyable time was had.

That terrible influenza seems to stay right with us, notwithstanding what the weather conditions are. The only safe way is if you are attacked, is to stay in the house, and not go outside, running any risk of catching cold. It seems that people had ought to heed this warning when it has been proven that to go out and catch cold is pretty sure to result fatally.

One of our Mayfield farmer boys wired home from the army that he expected to soon be discharged, and that he wanted money to pay his expenses home. Of course his transportation is paid by the government, but he wanted to stop at Minneapolis and visit some friends, and wanted a little cash. You bet he will get it, and will not be looking for a job in the cities, but will head direct for Pennington county, where he will receive the glad hand of welcome home, Ole.

The Highlanding creamery association held their annual meeting at their creamery last Tuesday, and closed up the last year's business. The creamery was found to be in a fairly prosperous condition, with all bills and debts paid, and a substantial balance in the bank. It was decided to let the creamery for this year, on the same terms as last year. The following officers were elected for this year: T. S[illegible]dobson, President; Wm. Vaughan, Secretary and Treasurer; Board of Directors, Ben K. Kvesto, Lever Nelson and W. G. Hunt. Since the high grain prices have prevailed our farmers seem to forget the faithful old cow that [illegible] them over many hard [illegible] [illegible]

Mr. Gap Johnson Is [illegible] He Never Will Really [illegible] [illegible]stand Women.

"Women is funny folks, most any way you take 'em," philosophically admitted Mr. Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge, Ark. "The oldest man in America can't tell what a lady will do next, and if he could, she wouldn't do it. Day before yesterday, while we was setting around the dinner table, wife slapped a few of the children into shape and then sorter casually asked me if I knowed what day it was.

"'Why, Wednesday or Thursday, I reckon,' says I. 'I hain't paid much attention lately, but it's somewhere along there.'

"'It is Tuesday, the 10th,' says she kind o' sternly. 'Do you know what happened 15 years ago today?'

"'Hum—now! Le'see,' says I. 'Oh, yes—that was the day a tree fell on me and busted me up considerable, I forgot—'

"'No!' hissed she. 'We were married 15 years ago today.'

"'Is that so?' says I. 'Well, I knowed something happened to me, but I sorter disrecollected what. Aw hum [illegible]'

"And then [illegible] riz up like a queen and [illegible] mighty nigh every dish on the place at my head—dishes that cost me good money, too. The longer I live with women, the less I know about 'em."—Judge.

ICELAND PROUD OF CULTURE

Little Nation, Long Isolated From the Rest of the World, Has Maintained Its Spiritual Life.

There are few [illegible] point to a brighter [illegible] than this little nation of [illegible] thousand people (Iceland) practically isolated on their [illegible] island for nearly one thousand years. Why did they not revert to barbarism, as has been the fate of many white groups out of touch with outside civilization? There is but one answer. The Promethean flame which kindled the genius of the old now nameless [illegible] saga authors—has never died [illegible] and it couldn't die so long as the [illegible] lived, firing the spiritual life of the nation.

Each period of national prosperity since the saga age has seen a revival of literary activity. Now Iceland is more prosperous in a material way than ever in its history, and behold there is a pen scratching in every cottage; there is a poet apostrophizing every waterfall, dedicating the summer crop of poppies and daffodils and charming, or at least trying to charm, the innumerable host of fays and light elves, trolls and other sprites and "landvaettir" which have endowed the bleak hills and mountains of Iceland with an immortal soul.—From the [illegible]

EASY MONEY FOR YOUNGSTER

And, Incidentally, Druggist Knows More About United States Currency. So It's Even Break.

The druggist at the corner was passing some copper money in change for a broken dime, the other part of which had been spent in chocolate candy, to an eleven-year-old lad.

"There's your three pennies change," said the druggist.

"Whatcher givin' us?" said the small [illegible] [illegible] pennies."

"No [illegible] not. Them's no pennies. You ain't got no pennies in the house."

"I've more than a hundred of 'em in the cash register."

"I'll bet you ain't got one, let alone a hundred," said the boy. "I'll bet you [illegible] soda waters."

"I'll take you," said the druggist.

"I'll prove it right now. Read what it says on that money. Don't it say 'One Cent'? You don't find any pennies in our coins. Our teacher told us."

The druggist acknowledged his error.

"Now," said the boy, "come on with your soda water. Gimme two glasses chocolate for beginning."

It Didn't Work.

A wee four-year-old was having Thrift stamps explained to her by her young uncle, an enthusiastic canvasser. To illustrate his talk he ended it by giving her two quarters. "Now, these will buy you two Thrift stamps," he said.

"Two Thrift stamps," she repeated, smiling.

A few minutes later her grandmother came into the room. The uncle, eager to display the effect of his oratory, ordered: "Mary Ellen, show grandma what you have."

Obediently Mary Ellen displayed her two quarters. "Now, tell grandma [illegible]

"No, mother, I didn't, because they didn't pass anything I didn't want."

FISH SKIN SHOES COMING?

Quite Possible, Though It Must Be Admitted They Are Not Altogether Desirable Footwear.

When things come to the worst every day is [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] crowded with the aroma of fish. There is a scarcity of leather, as everybody knows, and that being so, tanners are making a diligent search for other substitutes and new sources of supply. Experts declare that the skins of aquatic creatures offer a practically undeveloped resource and it is not unlikely that before long we shall be covering our extremities with the skins of the man-eating shark and the sacred codfish. The reason such skins have not heretofore been utilized for leather is not because they are not perfectly well adapted for such use, but only because the skins of land animals have been so plentiful. Disciples of Izaak Walton dispute the experts about the curing of fishskins. They say once a fish always a fish. If it comes to pass that we adopt fish-skin shoes these fishermen offer some advice to the callow youth who goes courting. "Leave your fish-skin shoes on the front porch, like the Hollanders and Japs, and court in your stocking feet. Otherwise there will be a chilly reception awaiting you." Being married they are talking by the book.

Aviators in Italy.

From the Italian front where many American aviators are now serving comes this note:

"Sometimes at night, after dinner, a little music is indulged in as a relaxation. Of course the Italians shine there. Many a pilot or chauffeur in overalls is humming selections from grand opera. Some of the American boys also are good musicians. One especially was a splendid pianist and would rattle away for an hour at a time selections from Schubert or Mendelssohn's 'Melody in F,' to what seemed almost a sacrilege, that is, play it in ragtime for a change."

Some Grievance!

The railroad official invited the stern citizen to communicate his troubles.

"I want you to give orders," demanded the visitor, "that the engineer of the express which passes through Elm Grove at about 11:55 be restrained from blowing his whistle on Sunday mornings."

"Impossible!" exploded the official. "What prompts you to make such a ridiculous request?"

"Well, you see," explained the citizen in an undertone, "our pastor preaches until he hears the whistle blow, and that confounded express was 20 minutes late last Sunday."—Lamb.

Efficiency Can Be Overdone.

It may be that the new and much vaunted religion of efficiency can be carried too far. A little less of it at times might work no great harm. Not that we would decry efficiency, mind you. Doubtless it is a fine thing. But [illegible] look what it has done to the Germans [illegible]

Illness and Literature.

There is nothing like a good, long illness for the cultivation of pure literature. It should not be too severe or needlessly painful, for then you may overshoot the mark and be too weary to read or be read to. It is possible to have too much of even the best things. But a proper, comfortable illness, that keeps you in bed, yet leaves you free to read, that banishes all the interruptions of life, the constitutional walks, the stupid visits, the annoying correspondence, the dressing and the undressing, and all the amenities of modern civilization, and allows you to lie at peace and read your fill, is among the best gifts of the gods. You [illegible] to be sleepy and lazy, [illegible] [illegible] an unwonted activity [illegible] you become conscious of an [illegible] craving for books.—Ohio State Journal.

He entered the army in [illegible] and rose rapidly, seeing much service, until his great opportunity came when Napoleon returned from Elba and Wellington was summoned to command the forces of the English and allies in Belgium in co-operation with the Prussians under Blucher. EPIGRAPHS PROVE A PUZZLE

Explanation of Hieroglyphics Admittedly Very Old Will Surely Be of the Greatest Interest.

Amateur archeologists of California are endeavoring to interest professional scientists of the East in the epigraphs which abound on the rocks of Round Valley, not far from the city of Bishop, and which are believed to be as old, if not older, than the hieroglyphics of earliest Egypt, to which they bear a strange resemblance.

It is believed by many that the strange markings constituted the names by which ancient tribes marked the source of water supply for the benefit of those of their number who lived roving lives.

These hieroglyphics have never been deciphered, although they are matters of record in the leading museums of the country, it is said. The Indian tribes now living in the vicinity declare they are the work of the Indians of North America and that they antedate all aboriginal lore.

Some who have examined the strange markings in the flinty bowlders say the hieroglyphics closely resemble those of earliest Egypt and may replace the latter as the first written language of humanity.

They are found always in the vicinity of water supplies, the same markings discovered near Bishop appearing also on rocks extending through the Canadian border, down through Washington, Oregon and California to the Mexican line and beyond. This fact [illegible] [illegible]

Important to all Women Readers of this Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Womens' complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and maybe despondent; it makes anyone so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

A good kidney medicine, possessing real healing and curative value, should be a blessing to thousands of nervous, over-worked women.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine will do for them. Every reader of this paper who has not already tried it, by enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. ROOSEVELT DIES AT OYSTER BAY

Great American Succumbs to Complication of Diseases.

RESULT OF BRAZILIAN TRIP

Sketch of the Former President's Remarkable Career as Rancher, Statesman, Soldier, Explorer and Author—Lost One Son in War.

New York.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt died at his home in Oyster Bay early Monday morning.

The immediate cause of death, it was stated by one of his physicians, was pulmonary embolism, or lodgment in the lung of a clot from a broken vein.

Colonel Roosevelt's last illness may be said to date from last February. On February 5, it was announced that he had been removed from his home in Oyster Bay to the Roosevelt hospital in this city, following an operation on one of his ears. Soon after his arrival at the hospital he underwent two more operations for the removal of diseased tissue in his infected ear, and it was admitted at the time that he was seriously ill. He remained at the hospital until March 3.

During May and June the colonel made a number of addresses, speaking at Springfield, Mass., and in New York. In June he made a tour of the West, during which he suffered a slight attack of erysipelas in one of his legs.

Early in November the colonel was taken to Roosevelt hospital in this city for the treatment of rheumatism and sciatica. While in the hospital reports became current that the colonel was more seriously ill than his physicians would admit. Colonel Roosevelt returned to his home in Oyster Bay on Christmas day.

Was Typical American.

Theodore Roosevelt, who was known as "the most typical American" throughout his career, had been famous for "setting records." He was the youngest president the nation ever had, succeeding to the office on William McKinley's death at the age of forty-two. He set a high mark for service to the public, having been a New York state legislator, national convention delegate, United States civil service commissioner, president of the New York police board, assistant secretary of the navy, colonel in the Spanish war, governor of New York, vice president of the United States and president.

Colonel Roosevelt is held to have had as diverse interests and as wide acquaintance with all phases of life as any man in history. In addition to his immense political activities he was the author of many books on travel, sport, history, politics and other subjects, was a fighter for reform from the moment he first appeared in city politics in New York, a holder of many university degrees, an orator, a lecturer, great hunter, athlete, international peacemaker and militant leader of his followers at all times, whether in or out of office.

Was Born in New York City.

Theodore Roosevelt was born October 27, 1858, in New York city. His father was Theodore Roosevelt and his mother, before her marriage, was Martha Bulloch. The boy began life with a small, frail body and not robust health. His ambition from youth was to be strong, an athlete, a doer of great deeds and a scholar as well. His remarkable mental endowment was shown in the way he accomplished the dual object in life, so that after seven years and a half as president, during which he promulgated innumerable reforms and national issues, he went to Africa and for nearly a year was a hunter in the jungles, undergoing hardships, but coming out more robust and active than ever.

It was predicted that Africa would kill Roosevelt, but in a few days time he had changed the hunting shirt for the clothes of the diplomat and was being idolized and showered with honors in the courts of Europe.

Starts His Political Career.

Roosevelt completed his education at Harvard university in 1880, and the same year married Alice Hathaway Lee, daughter of George Cabot Lee of New York. She lived only four years and was the mother of the present Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, wife of Congressman Nicholas Longworth of Cincinnati, O.

Colonel Roosevelt's interest in politics dates from the year after his marriage to Miss Lee. Some of the Republican district leaders in New York had taken an interest in him. He seemed a likely young fellow with vigor, ambition and some money. Two years later he was sent to the state assembly at Albany and began a career which marked him out as a man devoted to the public interest.

After three years of assembly, however, Roosevelt thought he had enough and for a time withdrew from public life. He stepped out cordially hated by the corrupt politicians, disliked by many wealthy New Yorkers and already hailed as the acknowledged leader of the reform element in his party. [illegible]

[illegible] He became popular as a noted hunter, a good shot, and provided himself during the years of roughing it with a good constitution which was to prove invaluable to him later in life.

In 1886 Roosevelt became a candidate for mayor of New York, but ran third. His reputation was enhanced, however, and President Harrison named him for a place on the national civil service commission. He dominated the body and later became its president.

It was in 1886 that Mr. Roosevelt married Miss Edith Kermit Carow while in London. She was the daughter of Charles Carow of New York.

In the Spanish War.

In 1895 Roosevelt resigned from the civil service commission and began a fight on Tammany hall. He served two years as police commissioner of New York city, stirring up the corruptionists, and then President McKinley made him assistant secretary of the navy. When the Maine was blown up he resigned and helped raise the first volunteer regiment of cavalry for the war with Spain. It was the famous rough riders, of which Leonard Wood was made colonel.

Colonel Wood was later given a brigade and Roosevelt promoted to command of the Rough Riders. Colonel Roosevelt was commended for heroic conduct at the battles of Las Guaymas and San Juan hill.

Governor and President.

Coming back from the war, Roosevelt was elected governor of New York. But he would not be bossed by the politicians, so instead of giving him a second term they persuaded him to take the nomination for vice president on the ticket with McKinley. When President McKinley, shot by an assassin, died on September 14, 1901, Roosevelt became president.

President Roosevelt served out McKinley's unexpired term and was elected president in 1904 by the largest majority ever given a candidate for the office. In his seven and a half years in the White House he had ample opportunity to show the stuff that was in him. He lived deeply and broadly and was at once the accomplished man of the world, the student of national problems, as well as of books, the adroit politician, the forceful writer of books and eloquent public speaker.

He had the happy knack of inventing or reviving phrases that stayed in the memory of his hearers and those who heard him usually carried away with them an apt summary of conditions so cleverly worded as to be not easily forgotten.

Colonel Roosevelt's stand, from his first cry for the "square deal" to his fight for a second elective term in 1912, was always on the basis of social justice and on the platform of elevating the condition of the working and middle classes. Along this line developed his demand for the initiative, the referendum, and the recall of judges and judicial decisions.

As president, Roosevelt's activities and scope of endeavor were immense; he became a great international figure through his many negotiations with foreign powers and took in hand many problems at home seldom touched by a president.

Booms Taft for Presidency.

Roosevelt declined a second elective term in 1908 and fostered the candidacy of his secretary of war, William H. Taft, who was elected president. When he left office, March 4, 1909, Roosevelt was the unquestioned leader of his party. Taft was his close friend. Roosevelt went to Africa to secure specimens for museums and also, it is understood, to be out of the country and escape possible accusations of attempting to influence the conduct of the new administration.

Colonel Roosevelt was a mighty hunter. His exploits in killing big game in equatorial Africa are well known through the book which he wrote on the subject.

It was in the summer of 1910 that Colonel Roosevelt traveled through the country promulgating his doctrine of of the new nationalism, and the next year he editorially attacked arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France, proposed by President Taft.

Candidate of Progressives.

At the Republican convention in Chicago, beginning June 18, 1912, Taft was nominated by 21 votes over a majority, but a few hours before the nomination Roosevelt had withdrawn his name as a candidate, and that night at a meeting in Orchestra hall, Chicago, the Progressive party was given its first real impetus in a demonstration for Roosevelt and at which he was named for president by the new party. A formal convention was held later and he ran as the regular candidate of the third party, drawing support from Republicans and Democrats alike. Woodrow Wilson, the Democrat, was elected, however, and the colonel had to be content with defeating Mr. Taft for second place.

In 1914 Colonel Roosevelt led a party for exploration in South America, especially in the interior of Brazil. Then he made another tour of Europe. In 1916 he was again considered as a candidate for the presidential nomination by the Progressives, but at the last minute he declined the honor, declaring his intention of supporting Mr. Hughes, the Republican nominee. Since that time he had devoted his energies largely to the task of teaching the need of military [illegible]

ALL PAY TRIBUTE TO COL. ROOSEVELT

PUBLIC OFFICIALS AND PRIVATE CITIZENS JOIN IN PRAISE OF THE DEAD LEADER.

GREAT LOSS TO THE NATION

Pure Patriotism, Unfailing Courage and Illustrious Service of Former President Extolled by His Countrymen Regardless of Party.

Americans of all shades of political opinion have joined in paying warm tribute to the fearless Americanism of Col. Theodore Roosevelt and to the great service the dead leader rendered to his country and to all mankind. Here are some of the expressions of public men and private citizens telling of the loss the nation has sustained:

SECRETARY OF STATE LANSING—The death of Col. Roosevelt removes from our national life a great American. His vigor of mind and ceaseless energy made him a conspicuous figure in public affairs. Friends and enemies alike recognized the force of his personality and the great influence he had in molding public thought and purpose. His patriotism and devotion to his country will long be remembered by all his fellow citizens, while his sturdy Americanism will be an inspiration to future generations.

ACTING SECRETARY OF STATE FRANK L. POLK—He was one of the most striking figures in the history of this country, and, in fact, of his time. It is impossible to measure today what he did to arouse the political conscience of the American people.

NEWTON D. BAKER, Secretary of War—His relations to the navy and to the army are, of course, a part of the history of those two services, and during his terms as president he brought his powerful personality and energy to bear upon economic problems of the greatest moment. I do not know of any career which combines so many diversified and intensively pursued activities—frontiersman, explorer, naturalist, seaman, soldier, executive and publicist. In each of these relations he was conspicuous and left his mark.

JOSEPHUS DANIELS, Secretary of the Navy—He has blazed new paths and refused to be fettered by conventions that other distinguished men recognized. Original, forceful, courageous, he was the monitor of millions of his fellow countrymen, who will miss his inspiring leadership. Believing in himself and the cause he espoused, he threw himself into every conflict with every power of mind and body.

FRANKLIN K. LANE, Secretary of the Interior—Colonel Roosevelt was a great man, a very great man—great in his soul, great in his personality, great in his conception of America's place in the world. He will sit at one of the high tables.

CARTER GLASS, Secretary of the Treasury—Colonel Roosevelt was an extraordinary figure and leaves a legacy of patriotic endeavor and useful achievement of which those who most respected and honored him will always be proud.

DIRECTOR GENERAL McADOO—Colonel Roosevelt's prodigious activities made him one of the most conspicuous figures in public life. We are too near the event to place a just estimate on his life and career, but he will always be distinguished for one great achievement—the construction of the Panama canal.

FORMER PRESIDENT TAFT—The country can ill afford, in this critical period of history, to lose one who has done and could in the next decade have done so much for it and humanity. We have lost a great patriotic American, a great world figure, the most commanding personality in our public life since Lincoln. I mourn his going as a personal loss.

SENATOR LENROOT of Wisconsin—I regard Colonel Roosevelt's death as a very great calamity for the nation. His usefulness is familiar to all, but I believe that his greatest usefulness might have been in the future.

SENATOR LEWIS of Illinois—The death of Colonel Roosevelt is the loss of a great man, of a great force, and the loss of a great benefit to America. Whatever differences men may have with Colonel Roosevelt on party lines or political principles, all must certify that his fight for cleanliness and integrity in public life did much to rid the nation of corruption in public affairs. All must admit that his labors to force corporate monopoly to yield to private welfare and personal rights started this country upon the course of justice.

SENATOR HARDING of Ohio—He was one of the foremost citizens of the world, in a most extraordinary era, and he was the most vigorous and courageous American of his time. There is no direct legatee to his vast political estate.

SENATOR KENYON of Iowa—His virile American utterances were helping to bring order out of diplomatic chaos. In my judgment he was the greatest American since Abraham Lincoln.

SENATOR NEW of Indiana—Intellectually he was in the first rank among those who have figured in our public life, and for versatility and application he was without an equal. He was a true patriot, a thorough American at all times and in all respects.

SENATOR MARTIN of Virginia—He met all the responsibilities of citizenship in the most courageous manner. A characteristic of his life was his unqualified courage. He never had a conviction in his life that he did not have the courage to follow it. He was a man of unlimited courage, of limitless resources and of unbounded patriotism.

SENATOR LODGE of Massachusetts—He was a great patriot, a great American, a great man. He was devoted throughout his life to his country. He tried always to be a servant of humanity. [illegible]

SENATOR KELLOGG of Minnesota—He was a great commoner who in his heart cherished the causes of the masses—a man of the most intense patriotism who placed the advancement of humanity and the cause of his country above all other considerations.

SENATOR JOHNSON of California—The greatest American of our generation has passed away. He had a finer vision, a higher courage, a wiser statesmanship than any man of our time. I cannot speak of him in ordinary terms. To me [illegible]

SENATOR CHAMBERLAIN of Oregon [illegible]

SENATOR KNOX [illegible]

[illegible] America [illegible]

REPRESENTATIVE MEDILL McCORMICK—He was the greatest American of our time. We are his debtors for his tremendous labors in the regeneration of our public life, for the quickening of our national spirit, for the revitalization of our patriotism.

REPRESENTATIVE JAMES R. MANN—I think Roosevelt was the most wonderful individual character in the world. He was a student of mankind and so prodigiously active that his influence was tremendous and his loss will be deeply felt here and in other countries.

REPRESENTATIVE FESS, chairman of the Republican congressional committee—His death at this moment is a national calamity. Never were his talents so much needed as now.

FORMER SPEAKER CANNON—Colonel Roosevelt's place in history will be as one of the great presidents of the republic. He kept in closer touch with the legislative department than any other president I have known.

REPRESENTATIVE GILLETT of Massachusetts—Colonel Roosevelt was the most remarkable man America has produced since the Civil war. His general knowledge was unbounded, his personal magnetism extraordinary.

REPRESENTATIVE SHALLENBERGER of Nebraska—It is inexpressibly sorrowful that he should be taken away at this crisis in the affairs of government and mankind.

REPRESENTATIVE SHERLEY, chairman of the house appropriations committee—Mr. Roosevelt was one of the really great men of his age and above all else was wholly an American.

CHARLES EVANS HUGHES—The death of Colonel Roosevelt is an irreparable loss to the nation. His virility and courage were a constant inspiration. He personified the Americanism of which he was the most doughty champion. He demanded the recognition and performance of our national obligation in the war. Back of all that was done in the war was the pressure of his relentless insistence. In response to his patriotic call lay the safety of civilization and in this hour of complete victory the whole world is his debtor.

SAMUEL GOMPERS, president of the American Federation of Labor—I regard the death of Colonel Roosevelt a very great loss. He rendered service of incalculable benefit to the world. I knew him for thirty-five years in all his public activities. I worked with him and every one, even those who differed with him, conceded his sincerity of purpose, his high motives and his anxiety to serve the people.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN—The rare qualities which won for Colonel Roosevelt a multitude of devoted followers naturally arrayed against him a host of oponents, but his death puts an end to controversy and he will be mourned by foe as well as by friend. He was a great American and made a profound impression in the thought of his generation. His picturesque career will form a fascinating chapter in our nation's history.

CHIEF JUSTICE WHITE—Mr. Roosevelt's death brings to me a sense of deep sorrow, of personal loss. While he was president his kindly consideration never failed and many opportunities were afforded me for observing the highness of his innate ideals and his courage, all of which combined to make him the distinguished, not to say phenomenal, man he was.

ASSOCIATE JUSTICE WILLIAM R. DAY—Every one appreciates that we have lost one of the greatest Americans, one of the first citizens of the world, at a time when we can ill afford to lose him.

ASSOCIATE JUSTICE WILLIS VAN DEVANTER—The death of Colonel Roosevelt is a great loss to the country.

ASSOCIATE JUSTICE JOSEPH McKENNA—The country has suffered a great loss in the death of Colonel Roosevelt. He was a man of very great qualities.

MAJ. GEN. LEONARD WOOD—The death of my friend, Theodore Roosevelt, brings to me great personal loss and sorrow, but keen and deep as these are, they are but the sorrow and loss of an individual. The national loss is irreparable, for his death comes at a time when his services to this nation can ill be spared. Never was America more in need of his frankness and courage, his honest criticism, and farseeing wisdom than at present. Unselfish loyalty, honest and fearless criticism always characterized the life and work of Theodore Roosevelt and he lived and worked always for his country's best interest. While we shall not have the living voice and presence, we shall always have the example of his life.

PRESIDENT POINCARE of France—Friend of liberty, friend of France, Roosevelt has given without counting sons and daughters, his energy that liberty may live. We are grateful to him. We wish to express to Mrs. Roosevelt our most sincere condolence.

J. J. JUSSERAND, French ambassador to the United States—The unexpected death of one who has upheld all his life the principles of virile manhood, straightforward honesty and fearlessness will be mourned all over the world, nowhere more sincerely than in France, whose cause he upheld in her worst crisis in a way that shall never be forgotten.

HENRY WHITE, one of the American peace commissioners—I have heard of Mr. Roosevelt's death with deep sorrow because of the loss to the nation of a great public servant and to myself of a lifelong friend.

HERBERT C. HOOVER—America is poorer for the loss of a great citizen, the world for the loss of a great man. His virility and Americanism has been one of our national treasures.

COL. E. M. HOUSE—The entire world will share the grief which will be felt in the United States over the death of Theodore Roosevelt. He was the one virile and courageous leader of his generation and will live in history as one of our greatest presidents.

GOVERNOR LOWDEN of Illinois—The nation has suffered a loss it cannot well afford at this time. Theodore Roosevelt has been a dominant force in American life for thirty years. During all his life he has sought and striven for a better, juster society. His robust and fearless Americanism was like a bugle call to his countrymen whenever danger threatened from within or without. Whether in office or private life, he was a leader of thought and an inspirer of action.

GOVERNOR SLEEPER of Michigan—Colonel Roosevelt was especially beloved in Michigan and the state, which always gave him its support and honored him when he was living, will certainly mourn his death and cherish his memory.

FEDERAL JUDGE GEORGE A. CARPENTER—I believe that the great mass of the American people feel as I do, that our country could not suffer a greater loss than by the death of Colonel Roosevelt.

JANE ADDAMS—Colonel Roosevelt was in many ways the most outstanding figure in America. I always admired him very much and had the greatest respect for the tenacity with which he clung to his principles and ideas. While I did not always agree with him in some things, everyone had to admire him.

JACOB M. DICKINSON, former Secretary of War—He was one of the greatest men of the world, a great patriot, and his death is a great loss to the country. [illegible]

LATEST IDEA IN SAUSAGE

Cottage Cheese Made to Resemble What Is Known as the Real Thing in Breakfast Dishes.

As a result of the follow-up work done by the Massachusetts state cottage cheese demonstrator, who is under the supervision of the Massachusetts State Agricultural college at Amherst, and the department of agriculture, a Berkshire county farmer is selling cottage cheese sausage.

The sausage, which resembles in flavor that made from pork, is made from cottage cheese, bread crumbs and nut meats and is seasoned with herbs. Its food value is nearly equal to pork sausage. Another farmer is planning to furnish a supply of the cottage-cheese sausage for the Pittsfield market. This appetizing substitute for meat was originated by the dairy division of the department of agriculture to further the use of cottage cheese.

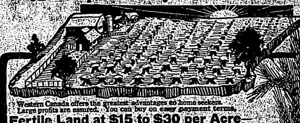
Grow Wheat in Western Canada

One Crop Often Pays for the Land



Western Canada offers the greatest advantages to home seekers. Large profits are assured. You can buy on easy payment terms.

Fertile Land at $15 to $30 per Acre—land similar to that which through many years has averaged from 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre. Hundreds of cases are on record where in Western Canada a single crop has paid the cost of land and production. The Governments of the Dominion and Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta want the farmer to prosper, and extend every possible encouragement and help to Grain Growing and Stock Raising.

Though Western Canada offers land at such low figures, the high prices of grain, cattle, sheep and hogs will remain.

Loans for the purchase of stock may be had at low interest; there are good shipping facilities; best of markets; free schools; churches; splendid climate; low taxation (none on improvements).

For particulars as to location of lands for sale, maps, illustrated literature, reduced railway rates, etc., apply to Supt. of Immigration, Ottawa, Can., or

BOSCHEE'S SYRUP

Why use ordinary cough remedies when Boschee's Syrup has been used so successfully for fifty-one years in all parts of the United States for coughs, bronchitis, colds settled in the throat, especially lung troubles? It gives the patient a good night's rest, free from coughing, with easy expectoration in the morning, gives nature a chance to soothe the inflamed parts, throw off the disease, helping the patient to regain his health. Made in America and sold for more than half a century.—Adv.

WEAK KIDNEYS MEAN A WEAK BODY

When you're fifty your body begins to creak a little at the hinges. Motion is more slow and deliberate. "Not so young as I used to be" is a frequent and unwelcome thought. Certain bodily functions upon which good health and good spirits so much depend, are impaired. The weak spot is generally the bladder. Unpleasant symptoms show themselves. Painful and annoying complications in other organs arise. This is particularly true with elderly people. If you only know how, this trouble can be obviated.

For over 200 years GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been relieving the inconvenience and pain due to advancing years. It is a standard, old-time home remedy, and needs no introduction. It is now put up in odorless, tasteless capsules. These are easier and more pleasant to take than the oil in bottles. [illegible]

Each capsule contains about one dose of five drops. Take them just like you would any pill, with a small swallow of water. They soak into the system and throw off the poisons which are making you old before your time. They will quickly relieve those stiffened joints, that backache, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, gall stones, gravel, "brick dust," etc. They are an effective remedy for all diseases of the bladder, kidney, liver, stomach and allied organs.

GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules cleanse the kidneys and purify the blood. They frequently ward off attacks of the dangerous and fatal diseases of the kidneys. They have a beneficial effect, and often completely cure the diseases of the bodily organs allied with the bladder and kidneys.

If you are troubled with soreness across the loins or with "simple" aches and pains in the back take warning. It may be the preliminary indications of some dreadful malady which can be warded off or cured [illegible]

A concurrent resolution on the death of Robert C. Dunn of Princeton, former state auditor, and for many years a member of the House and Senate, who died during his campaign for re-election to the Senate, was presented by Representative C. H. Warner of Aitkin, who pronounced an eloquent eulogy upon Senator Dunn.

A. L. Lennon of Minneapolis, in the House, obtained the passage of a resolution calling for the appointment of a committee to obtain the names of all Minnesota soldiers who have lost their lives in the war, with a view to preparing a suitable memorial.

Burnquist Takes Oath of Office.

Governor Burnquist took the oath of office and delivered his message before the two houses of the legislature.

The joint session was held in the House chamber, which was decorated with flags.

The House met at 10 a. m. and the unfurling of a six-star service flag featured the opening. Six members of the House, prominent at the last session and some of them members of preceding sessions, have done their bit.

Speaker Nolan delivered an address at the flag unfurling. Other speakers included Representatives Theodore Christianson of Dawson, Colonel R. A. Wilkinson of Washington county and J. B. Hompe, Otter Tail county, who is a Civil War veteran.

Tribute to Roosevelt.

Senators adopted a resolution of sympathy to be sent to Mrs. Roosevelt. It was presented by Senator F. E. Putnam. The house concurred, both bodies registering by a rising vote.

The resolution, adopted unanimously, follows:

Whereas, the foremost citizen of the United States of America, Theodore Roosevelt, is dead, and

Whereas, by his ceaseless energy and courage as a servant of the Republic, as Police Commissioner of the City of New York, as Assistant Secretary of the Navy, as Governor of the State of New York, as Vice President and as President of the United States, and by his fearlessness and ability as a soldier, and by his profound knowledge as [illegible] in literature, philosopher and explorer, and by his unique and original personality, always forcefully expressing itself, whether as statesman, soldier or publicist, he became the greatest American of our generation and a commanding figure whose voice was heard throughout the world, and whose personality has been indelibly impressed upon our life.

Now, therefore, be it resolved, by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring, that in the death of Theodore Roosevelt the nation has suffered an irreparable loss and mankind a friend, and

Be it further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to Mrs. Roosevelt as an expression of our great sorrow and of our sympathy."

House Committees Reduced.

Standing committees of the house are reduced in number from 57 to 42 by the report of the rules committee submitted and ordered printed for consideration. Eight bills were introduced at a brief session of the house, including Frank E. Nimocks' red flag bill, and a bill by W. A. Pittenger of Duluth to repeal the public safety commission act.

Sullivan to Contest.

One only contest has made its appearance before the state senate. George H. Sullivan of Stillwater, former senate leader, defeated on the face of the returns by W. W. Wilcox, has filed his contest with Lieutenant-Governor Thomas Frankson, and it will be taken up at an early date by the new elections committee. The contest is based on irregularities in the conduct of the election.

The house elections committee is expected to take early action on the contest of Henry W. Lauderdale of the 35th district, Minneapolis, against Erling Swenson, who was sworn in. A recount showed Lauderdale 40 ahead but Swenson had the certificate of election and holds the seat.

Nolan Is Speaker.

The 41st Minnesota legislature convened at noon Tuesday in the opening sitting of what promises to be one of the busiest sessions the state ever has had. Singing of patriotic songs followed the opening prayer, which was offered by Rev. A. D. Stowe, Minneapolis, chaplain of the senate, and Rev. W. J. Brown, Mora, house chaplain.

The singing of the national anthem was led by Henry E. Brown of the War Camp Community service. Old patriotic airs were followed by hymns and war camp songs. The patriotic service continued for 15 minutes.

Unlike other opening sessions of Minnesota legislatures, there was no fight for the election of a speaker of the house. W. I. Nolan, Minneapolis, was elected over John A. Urness, of Brandon, Douglas county, candidate of the Nonpartisan league members of the house.

Mr. Nolan was nominated by Ludwig O. Solem, and seconding speeches were made by C. H. Warner, R. J. Parker, Theodore Christianson, Oscar Swenson and T. H. Girling.

House Officials Named.

The slates of the house and senate, drawn up at their caucuses, were carried to the man at the elections which followed the swearing in of the legislators.

After the election of Mr. Nolan to the speakership, Secretary of State Julius A. Schmahl, who presided up to that time, gave up his place and the election of house officers proceeded.

Oscar Arneson, St. Paul, who for a number of years has been chief clerk of the house, was re-elected without contest. A. W. Olson, Walnut Grove, was elected first assistant. Other elections to positions in the house were: M. E. Altman, Duluth, second assistant clerk; Mark W. Wooley, Park Rapids, enrolling clerk; Ralph E. Norgaard, Wheaton, engrossing clerk; Henry Robel, North Mankato, sergeant-at-arms; Samuel Gammel, Spring Valley, assistant sergeant-at-arms; A. R. Kitts, Fergus Falls, postmaster; Rev. Walter R. Finch, South St. Paul, assistant postmaster; Rev. W. J. Brown, Mora, chaplain.

Senate Opens Session.

Lieutenant Governor Thomas Frankson presided when the initial session of the senate opened. Earlier, he announced the personnel of the senate rules committee, one of the most important committees in the legislature, with Carl L. Wallace of Minneapolis as chairman.

Other members of the committee are: Ole O. Sageng, Dalton; F. D. Vibert, Cloquet; John D. Sullivan, St. Cloud; A. J. Rockne, Zumbrota; Frank E. Putnam, Blue Earth; W. A. Nolan, Grand Meadow; J. A. Jackson, St. Paul, and Henry N. Benson, St. Peter.

The membership of the house rules committee was announced soon after the body convened. A. I. Norton, Minneapolis, is chairman, and the other members are: R. J. Parker, Spring Valley; C. H. Warner, Aitkin; R. A. Wilkinson, Lake Elmo; H. A. Putnam, Battle Creek; Elias Nordgren, Sunrise, and Charles T. Murphy, Aurora.

The slate prepared at the senate caucus went through as scheduled after the elections were under way. George W. Peachey, Owatonna, again was chosen secretary.

NO ROOM FOR PESSIMISM

Canada as a Nation Builder.

With Canada's great task in the war before the public, the burdens that she so willingly took and so ably carried, and her recent victory in subscribing $175,000,000 to the 5th Victory Bond Loan more than she asked, he would be a skeptic who would associate the word pessimism with her present condition. Canada deplores the heavy human loss which she has suffered, but even those akin to those lost in battle say with cheerfulness that while the sacrifice was great the cause was wonderful, and accept their sufferings with grace. It may well be said there is no room in Canada today for the pessimist. The agricultural production of the country has doubled in four years. $140,000,000 are the railway earnings today or 8½ times what they were ten years ago, while the bank deposits are now $1,783,000,000 as compared with $133,000,000 thirty years ago.

There is a wonderful promise for the future.

It is with buoyancy that Canada faces an era of peace. She has triumphed over the soul-testing crisis of war. Before the war Canada was a borrower, and expected to continue so for many years. For the past year and a half we have seen her finance herself. She has also been furnishing credits to other nations.

A recent article in the "Boston Transcript" says:

"The people at home have not been lagging behind the boys at the front in courage, resourcefulness and efficiency. The development of Canada's war industry is an industrial romance of front rank. American Government officials can testify to the efficiency of the manufacturing plant Canada has built up in four short years. In Department after Department where they found American industry failed them they were able to turn to Canada. The full story may be revealed some day."

The same paper says:

"It is a new Canada that emerges from the world war in 1918—a nation transformed from that which entered the conflict in 1914.

"The war has taken from Canada a cruel toll. More than 50,000 of her bravest sons lie in soldiers' graves in Europe. Three times that number have been more or less incapacitated by wounds. The cost of the war in money is estimated to be already $1,100,000,000. These are not light losses for a country of 8,000,000 people. Fortunately there is also a credit side. Canada has found herself in this war. She has discovered not merely the gallantry of her soldiers, but the brains and capacity and efficiency of her whole people. In every branch, in arms, in industry, in finance, she has had to measure her wits against the world, and in no case has Canada reason to be other than gratified."—Advertisement.

Back and Kidneys Were in Bad Shape, But Doan's Removed all the Trouble.

"My kidneys were so weak that the least cold I caught would affect them and start my back aching until I could hardly endure the misery," says Mrs. D. C. Ross, 973 Fulton St., Brooklyn, N. Y. It was hard for me to walk up stairs or stoop, and to move while lying down sent darts of pain through me.

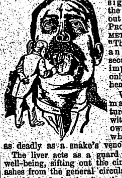
Happy are they who do for others—and whom others do not forget.

A Coated Tongue? What it Means

A bad breath, coated tongue, bad taste in the mouth, languor and debility, are usually signs that the liver is out of order. PROF. HEMMETER says: "The liver is an organ secondary in importance only to the heart."



We can manufacture poisons within our own bodies which are as deadly as a snake's venom.

The liver acts as a guard over our well-being, sifting out the cinders and ashes from the general circulation.

A blockade in the intestines piles a heavy burden upon the liver. If the intestines are choked or clogged up, the circulation of the blood becomes poisoned and the system becomes loaded with toxic waste, and we suffer from headache, yellow-coated tongue, bad taste in mouth, nausea, or gas, acid dyspepsia, languor, debility, yellow skin or eyes. At such times one should take a pleasant laxative. Such a one is made of May-apple, leaves of aloe, jalap, put into ready-to-use form by Doctor Pierce, nearly fifty years ago, and sold for 25 cents by all druggists as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

STOCKTON, CALIF.—"For constipation, sick headache, an inactive liver, indigestion and biliousness there is nothing to equal Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. I have tried other things but like the 'Pellets' best of any."—MRS. F. CAMFIELD, 829 S. Grant Street.

According to the gab of the special interests every day rights like rule of the majority, protection of the law, free speech and free assemblage and liberty to organize, have become socialistic and consequently they are justified in depriving people of these rights by hook or crook—mostly crook. So many good things, in fact indispensible things, are declared socialistic these days, that the word is getting respectable among the common people. COMPLETE CHAOS IN RUSSIA

Inevitable Anarchy as the Result of Insufficient Supplies of Food for the People.

By far the most terrible toll of the Russian winter will be taken in the peasant villages, the home of nine-tenths of Russia's 180,000,000, Oliver M. Sayler writes in the Saturday Evening Post. The sullen and defiant muzhik, who has planted for himself and only for himself, hasn't taken into account the possibility that superior force from the city or from his own or a neighboring village may seize his grain. When the calamity befalls, an endless train of disaster and bloodshed and starvation will follow in its wake.

Reprisal on some weaker peasant will be the next step, and from that the flame will spread to virulent border warfare with whole villages on the trail to plunder the grain bins of others or intrenched to protect their own. In some districts even before I left, this most cruel form of civil strife had broken out.

I contemplated returning from Petrograd to Moscow by sleigh overland in case the German advance enveloped the railroad outlets. Careful investigation, however, disclosed the fact that machine guns, brought home from the front, were mounted on all the roads leading into many villages and travelers approached them at their peril.

Tallow Dips in Denmark.

Denmark has a lighting problem so serious that the Danish government recently purchased 400 tons of tallow from which to make candles, Commercial Agent Norman Anderson reports from Copenhagen.

"There is a scarcity of kerosene also and electricity is of course not available to the isolated farmhouse," says Mr. Anderson, who quotes from the Tidsskrift for Industri, which, in discussing the possibilities for acetylene and alcohol illumination, [illegible] "Acetylene may now legally be [illegible] and may be included in [illegible] risks. ESTATE OF Harry Stucy.

State of Minnesota, County of Pennington in Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Harry Stucy, Decedent.

Letters of Administration this day having been granted to Edward G. Stucy.

IT IS ORDERED, That the time within which all creditors of the above named decedent may present claims against his estate in this Court, be, and the same hereby is, limited to six months from and after the date hereof; and that Tuesday the 15th day of July, 1919, at one o'clock P. Marked Oats.

The appearance of the letter B on oats coming up this season, which is astonishing people in the rural regions of Wisconsin, is less mysterious than what is said to have happened at Zanzibar, where, so report avers, a fish was caught with two inscriptions in Arabic characters on its tail. These, as deciphered by scholars, were respectively "The work of God" and "God alone." However, the Zanzibar narrative is a fish story.—Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin.

Avenues of Honor.

The city of Cleveland has adopted a novel plan for honoring its soldier dead. For each Cleveland soldier who loses his life in this war a victory oak will be planted along one of the boulevards, and each of the oaks will be named for a soldier. This will constitute a beautiful and enduring memorial, with a practical as well as a sentimental value. Other cities [illegible] it desirable to follow Cleveland's example.—Springfield (Mass.) French Live Stock on the Decline.

The United States food administration has called attention to the large decrease in live stock in France since the beginning of the war. In cattle this decrease amounted to 2,[illegible],000 up to December, 1917. [illegible] the decrease amounted to 6,238,000 head [illegible] [illegible] 2,[illegible]00,000 head. In the period since, owing to the food shortage, there has been a still further shrinkage [illegible] [illegible] there will be a large and insistent demand for live stock from this country for the foreign trade for many years after peace is finally established.

Saving Causes Coin Shortage.

Shortage of small coins, complained of by Minneapolis banks, may be due partly to the practice of saving buffalo nickels and the new dimes, bankers believe.

Many persons have formed the habit of putting away the buffalo coins or the new ten-cent pieces on the well established theory that the saver can accumulate considerable funds in this way, and yet miss it so gradually that he never misses [illegible]

Fireproof Celluloid.

Great interest has been excited by the announcement that a professor in one of the Japanese universities had invented a successful incombustible substitute for celluloid, to be manufactured from soy bean cake.

The new product has been given the trade name of "Satolite," derived from the name of the inventor, Prof. S. Sato, and a company for its manufacture has been started with a capital of 2,000,000 yen ($1,000,000).

Satolite is described as a gelatin [illegible] of the glucine of soya bean, coagulated by formalin.

RECLAIM MANY SUNKEN SHIPS

Hundreds of Vessels in British Waters Have Been Salvaged—Possibility of Raising the Lusitania.

Most welcome is the announcement from London that since January, 1915, 407 ships sunk by the Germans in British waters have been salvaged; 147 of them, by improved methods, in five months of the present year.

Britain's coast, like our own, is edged by a broad belt of shallow water. For 200 miles of the channel's length no spot reaches a depth of 100 fathoms; much of it is quite shallow, which accounts for the chop that makes so many who cross it briefly unhappy.

From our own Norfolk one gets well out of sight of land before reaching water too deep for salvage operations. Depth increases more rapidly off the Irish coast, but even the Lusitania lies near the 50-fathom line, below the shatter of the storm, yet near enough the surface so that many practical wreckers have said that it would be possible, though exceedingly difficult, to bring her forth to a nautical resurrection.

That some things can be done as well as others our engineers showed when they raised the U-boats' biggest victim along our coast, the Herbert L. Pratt, and brought her safe to shore. What the improved methods used on [illegible] may be we shall probably not know until after the war. That they are cheating the murderous submarine of their prey in so many cases is [illegible]
